Comic Quips Millions

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Hope organized and quipped his way through a $1,000-a-person dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Ballroom Tuesday night to raise more than $2 million towards construction of the Eisenhower Medical Center.

Hope, who already has donated $6 acres of land worth $74,000 for the center, paid $70,000 for the dinner for 1,400 guests. The guests then paid $1,000 each for the pleasure of attending, with the money going to the center, expected to cost $7 million.

$2.6 million contributions were above the $1,000 mark, such as Richard Scull's $250,000 donation. He is a member of the Mellon banking family.

Among those attending were Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, David and Julie Eisenhower, astronaut Neil A. Armstrong and Walter Schirra, Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Cardinal Terence Cooke, archbishop of New York, and actress Raquel Welch, who modeled a mink coat on which $16 chances were sold.

"I didn't expect (President) Nixon here tonight," Hope said. "He doesn't even have a White House in this state."

Little Town Is Focal Point In Instant Mix

By WILLIAM L. VAUGHN
WEST POINT, Miss. (UPI)—This little town in northeast Mississippi apparently is becoming the first real trouble-point in the Supreme Court's "instant" public school desegregation program in the South. Both blacks and whites oppose a federally-approved integration plan calling for split schools shifts and the closing of two black schools, and authorities there say the situation is getting more volatile as next week's reopening of schools approaches.

Within the past three days, a two-story building used by blacks as a meeting place burned Sunday night in what officers called an act of arson. Monday night, several sticks of dynamite thrown from a passing car shattered windows in the Clay County court house. A few minutes after the blast, Kelly Wilson, a white grocery operator, was wounded by a bullet fired from a car. Police questioned two Negroes in connection with the bombing.

The incidents came after 30 Mississippi school districts had carried out the most massive integration ever imposed on any state, without any incident of violence.

West Point's 4,100 students, of whom about 57 per cent are Negroes were absent from classes this week while the school board worked to get the plan ready.

However, a "committee of nine" black leaders strongly protested the double shifts and closing of two black schools under the new plan. The Negroes agreed to resume an economic boycott to gain advisory representation on the school board.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare recommended closing the two schools during the summer showed that few, if any, white parents would send their children to the schools, which are in black neighborhoods. Instead, black students were transferred to the city's five other schools under a double-shift plan.

Elsewhere in the South Tuesday, Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida asked a federal court to delay desegregation in two more counties. But Negro attorney James Matthews said he would appeal the delay from February to September granted the Dade (Miami) County school system because "I've just waited too long already."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Business is no longer the recipient of special favors, designed to stimulate expansive behavior by corporations, under the new set of national priorities depicted in President Nixon's State of the Union message. Argus Research Corp. observes. Argus contrasts the intentions of the 1962 investment tax credit and the 1964 tax cuts to corporations and individuals with 1969 tax reform measures that raised business taxes, took away the investment tax credit and lowered taxes for individuals. And the emphasis has shifted from economic growth to environmental improvement, the firm says.

Halsey, Stuard & Co. Inc. sees a persistently strong upward trend in prices generally that won't abate for another six to eight months, and little prospect for lower interest rates before the second half of the year "closer to December than June." Although current money policy is working, it is still going to require many more months to produce the desired result, the firm says.

J. M. FIELDS WILL NOT KNOWINGLY BE UNDERSOLD

Sanford's Industrial Drive Mounting Attack

There is every reason to expect that one week from today on Feb. 5th a gathering together of the considerable strength which Sanford has, in terms of manpower, will take place.

The keynotes for this arch of progress rests in one word — unification. This has been an elusive if not impossible goal during the controversies of the past few years.

But the past is now long gone. The present is here and the future is already knocking on the door. The pace of the '70s is such that this meeting of the municipal leadership and the organizations seeking to attract industry will have to "double-time" it to hold its own.

We are confident that this will be done. Such confidence is not the child of wishful thinking or of information being furnished by those who are self-servers.

It is based on the caliber and character of the men who will attend this meeting and on the very urgency of the situations which have produced the gathering.

A similar affair took place on Jan. 18th. This was, in more ways than one, a preliminary and not a final event. Since then a lot of progress has taken place with the Sanford City Commission, the Sanford Industrial Commission and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce pursuing lines of thought and action which were set in motion then.

Leaders in each of these groups have expressed openly and in private their own convictions of the need of mustering a common front to attract new industry, expand present industry and to open the vista on a broader spectrum than just the Sanford Airport.

Yet the focal point has been and must, until properly treated, remain the more than 1,600 acres of the vacated Naval Air Base with its structures, its facilities and its unused land area holding the spotlight.

Those who attended the earlier meeting and have taken the time and trouble to respond to the invitation from the Chamber of Commerce to jot down their thoughts and send them in are almost unanimous in separating the airport and the industrial park operations.

In his able response, Warren (Pete) Knowles, Sanford City Manager, made some points which could serve as proper guidelines for the Feb. 5th gathering.

"The primary goal of both the city and the chamber is to represent the entire public in the use of public funds in carrying out our respective responsibilities. (SIC is a creature of the city.)"

"The second goal is the responsibility of obtaining job opportunities for the people of Sanford. Job opportunities relate to payrolls, to dollar flow within the community, to reasons for people to come and settle in the city, to provide a tax base.

"A third goal is to provide a governmental structure for proper administration in order to operate and maintain an airport not for today, but to provide a structure that will be adaptable 20 and 40 years from now.

"The fourth goal is to develop a coordination between the governmental officials and chamber operations so that we can work together, not only on industrial matters, but all matters of mutual concern."

With such goals and with this sort of basic thinking being indulged in by the leadership of the three major divisions of the "Sanford Task Force for the Seventies," the hard-headed expectation of a real break-through on Feb. 5th is realistic and logical!

Coming Of Age

Americans, in the final analysis, have never had to take life very seriously. For nearly two centuries, they have enjoyed a greater measure of freedom under representative government than have any other people in history. Behind the barriers of two mighty oceans, they have used that freedom to bring to fruition the dreams of explorers and pioneers who saw in the limitless expanses of the North American Continent opportunities for unparalleled human advancement.

However, without our quite realizing it, the picture has changed. We can no longer afford to be carefree or indifferent to ruthless outside forces. We are no longer a self-contained nation, and the oceans are no longer giant moats. They are merely bridges over which commerce must move in ships to support our people.

It is hard to grasp the extent to which the U.S. depends upon trade for survival. Of 77 strategic materials needed to turn the wheels of American industry, we must import 66 — and we're relying on foreign flag vessels for nearly 85 per cent of our imports and exports. In the light of this, it is not hard to see why President Nixon has proposed a 10-year merchant shipbuilding program to restore the vitality of the U.S. Merchant Marine.

Commenting on the program, Mrs. Helen Delich Bentley, chairman of the Federal Maritime Commission, says: "... we can at last say there is a program — there is a government policy — to reverse the downward trend of recent years and to build a merchant fleet capable of meeting the Nation's needs on the trade lanes of the world, capable of fulfilling its responsibilities in time of emergency."

Growing awareness of the necessity of reinforcing America's stature as a sea-faring nation is gratifying. It shows that we are coming of age as a truly great nation.

No Mirage!

Washington Window:

Freeman's Dream Nixonized

By LOUIS CASSELL
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Orville Freeman could be excused for thinking he served in the wrong administration.

Freeman, a Democrat, was Agriculture Secretary under John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

His two Presidents admired Freeman and usually took his advice on farm policy. But he was unable to get either of them to give all-out, top-level backing to his most cherished project.

Last week, in his State of the Union message to Congress, Richard M. Nixon embraced Orville Freeman's dream and made it a priority objective of his Republican administration.

Freeman has long contended — and President Nixon now agrees — that many of America's most serious social problems stem from a maldistribution of people.

Too many people are crowded into big cities, where they breathe polluted air, pay high prices for everything they buy, fray their nerves in daily battles with traffic congestion, and generally get in each other's hair.

Too few people live in small towns and open countryside, where air is clean, living costs are lower, traffic is light, and neighbors are neighbors.

The imbalance is strikingly demonstrated by a single statistic: Nearly 70 per cent of the American people now live in metropolitan areas comprising only 1 per cent of the nation's land.

This concentration of population has resulted from a massive migration into urban centers which has been underway since World War II.

Freeman advocated, and Nixon now has formally proposed to Congress, the adoption of a "national growth policy" directed toward reversing the flow of population.

In a free society, the government obviously cannot tell people where they should live. What it can do is to make living in the country more attractive, a place to live and work, so that people will voluntarily choose to

Hal Boyle Says:

About Your Identity Crises

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Have you had an identity crisis lately?

Well, if not then you don't belong with the real swingers set. An identity crisis occurs when someone who knew for sure, or thought he did, who or what he was suddenly becomes a stranger to himself. The affliction has become as common in these confusing times as the common cold.

When you are gripped by an identity crisis, you become pitifully indecisive.

In the morning you stare in the mirror at the face you are shaving and question, "Is that really me, or some impostor who has stolen inside the real me?"

Although undergoing an identity crisis is personally unenviable, it is somewhat like having a baby; it gains you a lot of respect from others. They feel that if a dullard such as you can have an identity crisis surely a smart person such as they can have an even bigger and better one.

If you become bored with your identity crisis, you can always find out who you are by a process of eliminating other possibilities.

Such as:

You couldn't be a porcupine, because you're not that touchy.

You couldn't be a cat, because you've never had kittens.

You couldn't be a lion, because nobody runs when you roar.

You couldn't be a bird, because you have a striking lack of feathers.

You couldn't be a tree, because you've never worn a nest of robins in your hair.

You couldn't be a spinach, because too many people like you.

You couldn't be a jet plane, a bus, or a train, because nobody rides you except your boss.

You couldn't be money, because you are not a medium of exchange and a measure of value.

You couldn't be a member of Congress, because it's your wife who makes all the speeches and you do all the listening.

You couldn't be a television performer, because you are not repeatedly interrupted by commercials.

Step by step as you find out who you really are, you become excitingly closer to the discovery of who you must be.

Your identity crisis is finally over when you look at your bank statement. It says there very clearly who you are. You are number Z12-0034-615—that's who you are.

Good old Z12-0034-615! The digits ring in your ears happily as you repeat them over and over. You wonder how a guy identified Z12-0034-615 could ever have forgotten who he was. Who would really want to be anyone else in the world?

of car owners had seat belts installed and a study showed that 35 per cent of them claimed to be using them "all or most of the time."

By last July—15 months and countless television "spots," billboards, bus posters and newspaper ads later—46 per cent of car owners had seat belts but only 24 per cent were using them all or most of the time.

During this same period, those who used their belts "hardly ever or not at all" increased from 39 per cent to 43 per cent. The percentage is even worse with respect to shoulder belts, which have been required on all cars built since Jan. 1, 1968. Less than 5 per cent of those who have them wear them.

No one is going to tell Americans what to do. As for the 36,000 of us who died on the highways last year, they are beyond telling anything.

New Breakthrough

We have been bemused in recent weeks by the sudden conjuring up of great silent majorities. Sometimes telegrams bearing 10,000 signatures appear within hours of speeches. Other times politicians can state which side is in the majority without even the formality of a poll. This represents another major American technological breakthrough. It is the "instant majority." — Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution

CASE M-528: Luke G., aged 28, has recently been made an office manager.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I feel somewhat uncertain about how to handle many of the problems I confront."

"For several of my employees are older than I am and thus may have had far more practical experience..."

"Yet I must maintain respect for myself since I am now the boss."

"In this dilemma, what would you suggest as an outline of the basic principles of human engineering, for I guess that's what my job involves?"

In my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," I have often stressed various of the following essentials for proper Employer-Employee relations:

(1) Don't reprimand or criticize an employee in public. Instead call him into your private office.

(2) Don't criticize or reprimand an employee just before meal time. Wait till both of you have had a full meal.

"An empty stomach," stated Einstein, "is not a good political adviser," nor is it helpful to a boss or Personnel Director.

(3) Employ your "sandwich method" for administering reproof, correction or reprimand. Start with an honest compliment as the bottom layer.

Then smile and casually insert the nasty (critical) layer by saying: "Joe, maybe it would be better if you did that in this manner, etc."

Since all correction or reproof deflates our ego somewhat, be sure to complete the sandwich with another bit of praise.

Use Seat Belts?

By DON OAKLEY, NEA Editor

According to some critics of the American scene, the people's choices in everything from the dead-enders they use to the men they elect to national office are determined by the image makers, the fashion manipulators, the television program packagers, the Madison Avenue bucketers.

While there is no denying the influence of advertising, just good and ill, like most criticism of American manners and mores the charge is overstated. We are far from being pawns in the hands of those who control or have access to the information media.

As evidence of this is what Marketing/Communications magazine calls "the total failure of a $85-million campaign to convince people to use seat belts when they drive."

Open Letter To A Rapist

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — "Do my screams still ring in your ears?"

A suburban housewife asks this question in a published open letter to a man she said attempted to attack her in a darkened parking lot.

Police Lt. Cecil Terry said the man was being sought but police lacked a good description of him by either the unnamed woman or a store stock boy who came to her rescue.

The woman, a mother in her 40s, wrote in the letter printed on the front page of the local Macomb Daily:

"To the man who tried to drag me into his car on the night of Jan. 20.

"Rape and murder was written all over your face."

"I was terrified."

"I shook all over and you kept holding for me to get out of the car. There was no one around and I realized I was to be the victim of a sex maniac."

"I thought of all the women who were found murdered and raped and the torment they must have endured and I thought, dear God, end my life now, not at the hands of this maniac."

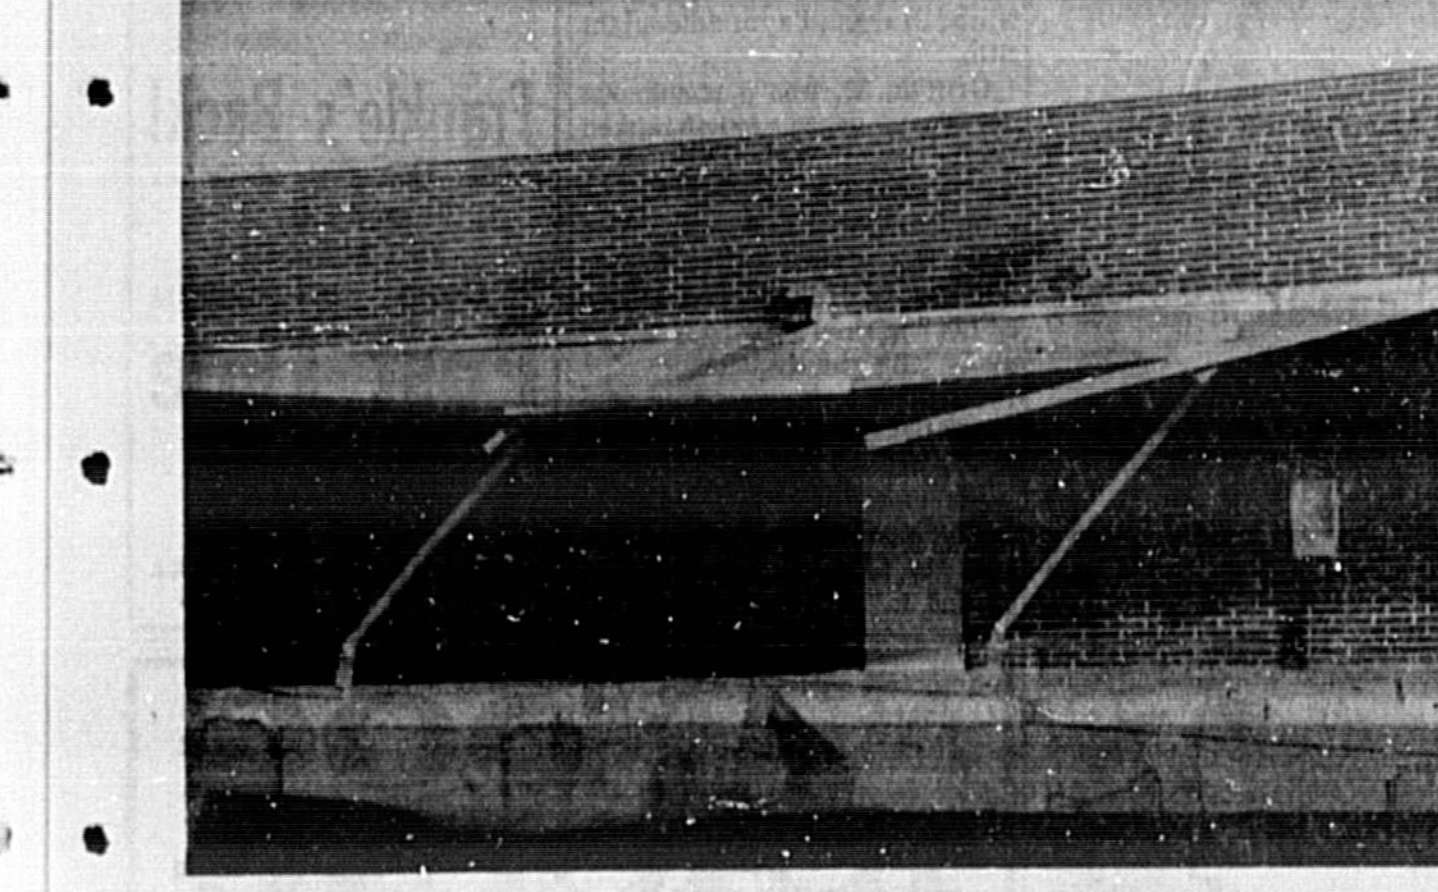

"This guardian angel came to me in the form of a black boy."

"You are the white devil, around 5 foot 7 or 8, driving a Pontiac or Chevrolet of a dark color."

"I hope and pray that your wife, sister or daughter will never be subjected to the agony and torment you put me through."

"If your family and friends know you for what you are and are ignoring your situation, God have mercy on your next victim."

The letter was signed "Wife and mother."

PRACTICE makes perfect but for a student of Sanford High School Miss and her Dad found Sunday afternoon driving lesson an expensive one. It is estimated that it will take $1,800 to repair the damages done to Lyman's South Wing. The aluminum poles (which also serve as drains) and the overhung hunkled after the accidently drove onto the bus ramp from the parking lot. (Melinda Casselberry Photo)

New Draft Chettain Termed 'Think Tank'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles J. DeBona, a young Navy "think tank" expert, Annapolis graduate and Rhodes scholar, has been chosen by President Nixon as the nation's Selective Service director.

DeBona, 37, has served for the past 3½ years as president of the Center for Naval Analyses which helps the Navy and Marines plan troop and ship deployment and determine whether new weapons systems are too costly.

He would succeed Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, 76, who held the controversial post since World War II and who in recent years came under increasing criticism from young anti-draft and anti-war demonstrators because of his tough policy of drafting protesters. Five days before the first of the major anti-war demonstrations in Washington, England, 1967-1969, after being named a Rhodes scholar — was described as an "egghead" by his civilian associates and a "real brain" by former Navy colleagues.

DeBona — a former lieutenant commander in the Navy before taking on civilian Defense Department posts — was described by acquaintances in Congress as a supporter of Nixon's proposals for an all-volunteer Army.

Chief Executive To 'Keep Swinging' Kirk Belabors Supreme Court

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court "left the impression that it condones double standards" for northern and southern schools by its rejection of Gov. Claude Kirk's petition for definition of desegregation guidelines, Kirk said Wednesday.

The governor, who pledged to keep swinging in the federal district courts against forced busing, said he couldn't get to first base with the nation's high court.

The court flatly rejected Kirk's motion for permission to sue the 45 other states and Secretary Robert Finch on grounds Florida is being punished by withdrawal of federal aid while other states continue to receive it.

"It's ironic that a convict can sit in his cell and jot down a few notes on the back of an envelope and get the court's attention, but a governor, who represents 4 million people, can't get to first base," Kirk said.

"Fortunately," he added, "we have always been closer to the people and therefore, more responsive to the real issues."

State Milk Said High Quality

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Florida's dairy industry says its products are of the highest quality even if state law does allow milk sold on the retail market to be one-third pus.

Milk is inspected in some Florida counties by as many as six agencies, said J. R. Antik, executive director of Florida Dairy Products Association.

"Florida milk is of the highest quality and this state is the only one in the nation thus far to include all of its dairy products under Grade A provisions recommended by the U.S. Public Health Service and adopted by the State Legislature," Antik said.

In Jacksonville state epidemiologist Charlton Prather said the term pus is used to describe white blood cells — leucocytes — in milk.

He said, one-third of each teaspoonful of milk can legally be in milk.

Dr. Prather said that, as in humans, excessive pus in milk is an indication of infection.

"An excessive number of white blood cells) is there simply and solely because of irritation and inflammation of the udder," Dr. Prather said.

The amount of pus legally permitted in marketable milk came an issue after the St. Petersburg Times quoted a state health official as saying he found a heavy concentration of pus in the material from sick cows in a northeast Florida herd.

Dr. Prather said Wednesday inspectors had checked two herds and had found no indication disease could be traced to either. The inspections were ordered after unsanitary conditions were reported at one dairy and diseased cows at the other.

"We always watch milk closely," Dr. Prather said. "It is almost an ideal medium for the transmission of disease."

Antik blamed the reports that diseased milk had been sold on problems growing out of state government reorganization, which has left two state agencies responsible for milk inspection.

Two Robbers Shoot Two Bus Passengers

MIAMI (AP) — Two youths burst aboard a crowded bus in Miami's Liberty City Wednesday night and shot one passenger three times while trying to force him to yield his wallet.

The victim was seriously hurt. Another passenger was also robbed and shot, but was badly wounded.

The police officer of them cursed her, then lifted himself out an overhead railing and kicked her twice in the chest with both feet.

The second woman, who apparently blocked the robbers' flight, was thrown through the rear door to the pavement.

Both women were treated at a hospital and released.

Traffic Signal 'Out' At 436-427

Altamonte Springs is not going to obtain a traffic signal at SR 427 and SR 436 intersection. This information was relayed from the State Department of Transportation (DOT) by County Engineer William Bush.

The letter stated that a survey of the area had been made by the DOT and that it failed to meet the warrant for a signal. Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford reiterated his contention to the County Commission at a recent joint meeting that a signal would be installed if the commission would request it and absorb the cost. Swafford stated that concrete trucks were hampered from traveling west and that since state roads were involved a signal light should be paid for "from the gasoline tax."

Swafford continued that the new post office in Altamonte and an extension of the Winter Park Telephone Company would compound the problem. However, Swafford said that he would not vote for payment of the signal from Altamonte moneys. Swafford reminded the county commission chairman, John Alexander that the DOT was tired of being asked for traffic surveys by Seminole County. Swafford replied "I don't want surveys, I want lights." Swafford alluded to the fact that the county was happy to have the DOT usually took its surveys in the summer months when traffic is slow.

Nixon Jubilant Over Victory

Education $$ Unsettled

By JOHN BECKER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House refusal to override President Nixon's veto of the $1.7 billion education money bill has given the administration a surprisingly easy victory, but the issue is far from settled.

Even as a happy President invited the 181 congressmen who voted in support of him to the White House for a thank-you reception Wednesday night, administration and congressional leaders were mapping their next steps.

The immediate problem is reaching a compromise between what Democrats want and what the Republican President will accept to pay for the department of labor and health, education and welfare in the current fiscal year, which has only five months to run. A continuing resolution permitting the department's programs to continue until the end of the fiscal year is expected to be passed by the House.

At their 1969 funding level, the House and Senate passed a bill for $1.7 billion. The House voted 237-181 to override the veto. The Senate voted 67-33 to uphold it.

U.S. forces killed 25 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops at a cost of nine American soldiers. In Saigon, South Vietnamese sources said President Nguyen Van Thieu will announce a 24-hour Allied cease-fire for the Tet lunar new year.

The three-day Tet holiday began Feb. 6. The Viet Cong have announced they will observe a four-day "truce" beginning at 7 a.m. Feb. 5.

U.S. Marines on a reconnaissance patrol clashed with Communist units Wednesday in a Shan Valley in South Vietnam's far northeast corner. Six guerrillas were killed and one Marine was wounded.

EVERYTHING that goes up must come down... especially when the wind stops. A young man rented this glider at Flying Seminole Ranch at Chuluota yesterday and announced he would "sail with the wind" to DeLand. However, the wind stopped and the flyer set his airplane (no engine) down in Donald Dunn's cucumber patch on Cameron Avenue.

Anti-Cancer Drug Is Developed

By FRANK FAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A hitherto little-known experimental drug called BCNU is proving to be "one of the most promising" of the new anticancer weapons developed by a government testing program, the National Cancer Institute said today.

The NCI indicated it is one of the first drugs, for example, to show any progress against so-called "solid" cancers, such as those of the lung and gastrointestinal tract, as well as some much less prevalent non-solid malignancies like Hodgkin's disease.

Carswell OK Expected

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge G. Harrell Carswell will be a major supporting witness before the Senate Judiciary Committee, leaving opponents an uphill battle against his Supreme Court nomination.

With about a dozen witnesses still to be heard by the committee, major opponents of Carswell's nomination to the High Court sought to delay their appearance and gain time to build their case.

Boys Held For Peddling Heroin

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Police arrested three boys they say were peddling heroin on Mernald Avenue in the Coney Island section of Brooklyn. They say the boys—ages 11, 13 and 15—are not users, just passing after school for profit.

The Mermaid Avenue drug problem has grown "terrifying," said Dennis Hare, director of an adult education center for the area. "It has become very, very serious in the last few years."

Burglar Alarm Requested

The recent rash of robberies of neighborhood convenience stores has prompted one resident to initiate a possible solution. Luther Bruce, president of Little Dixie stores requested permission from Altamonte city council at a meeting yesterday to have the telephone company extend a cable from the Little Dixie Store to the Altamonte fire department and install a holiday break in alarm.

Bruce stated that a store was robbed last week, and that it was 20 minutes before he was able to notify the police, giving the culprits a good head start. The council authorized installation of the system at the store's expense.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I recently moved to Virginia, and I'm living here very much, but there is a custom here which baffles and disturbs me. It's giving parties and asking the guests to bring their own food.

We live in a neighborhood where the income range from $8,000 to $30,000 a year. I don't know how many of you have received invitations to social parties, New Year's parties, etc. with the initials "P.Y.O." printed on the invitation. If we were told to bring our own food, it would mean "bring your own bottle."

My wife and I have always felt that the host and hostess should provide ALL the refreshments, so consequently, we have refused all such invitations, and when we have had some of our friends who are not with a group of the shoulders and all.

I recently received an invitation with "P.Y.O." (Bring your own food). Abby, we aren't college kids in a housing project. Are we wrong to feel as we do about this custom?

"HAPPY IN RICHMOND"
DEAR ABBY: Not in my book. Next time you see "O.W." (Bring your own wine).

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago Larry (not his name) and I were married. The plan was that I would work one year and then quit and start a family. Well, I've worked three years and Larry wants to let me quit. He has bought things we can't afford and I have to work to keep up the payments.

Horoscope Forecast

FRIDAY, JAN. 29, 1970
GENERAL TENDENCIES
Until noon, make a point to avoid any sort of arguments with others. Take no chance where your health or your vocational activities are concerned. Leave your best wits to communicate well with others and to make a considerable amount of headway in directions requiring discussions and correspondence.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)
It is difficult to know just what to do if you listen to both experts and close ties—they are bound to have divergent ideas. Mrs. Richard Ostrander's trial and Mrs. Bill Massey, who presented a program on corsage making at the January meeting of the Bear Lake Garden Circle.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)
You won't get much response from a bigwig for that important project you have in mind during day, so have fun and approach him in the evening. Be diplomatic with associates. Get the results you want.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)
Analyze your past life and use the best of such experience to carry through with present activities. Do not put aside the tried and true for the new or you run into difficulties. Study something new in the evening.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)
Handle responsibilities efficiently before going off to amusements. Avoid being along with loved one or you could get into a serious argument. Give a little party in the evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)
Try to clear up that situation between an associate and a close tie or you can have serious trouble later on. If you run away from home duties, you find they only pile up on you. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)
With all that shopping, business, home duties you have, plan time wisely for first things first. Stop fussing much about that letter or phone call. Get the proper perspective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)
Be more economical where recreation is concerned and start building up a little reserve for yourself. You spend too much for clothing, also. Once financial affairs are straightened out, be sure to make other, more cheerful. Entertain them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)
Add to the good will in which friends and associates hold you and don't get into any arguments at home. Then you can easily relax at home this evening. Just remember to thaw the party shells in the refrigerator. They'll thaw in a few hours. Overnight is all right. Be sure they remain cool to the touch, and don't press them into a ball before you roll them out. That interferes with the "thousand leaf layering" which is the very essence of puff pastry. Place the thawed party shells on one side to roll them out. A stocky rolling-pin cover and puff cloth are helpful when working with puff paste.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 30)
If you show bigwigs you know that you appreciate them, you get the support you want now. Don't be so concerned with the materialistic that you lose sight of the more important things in life. Be happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 31 to Feb. 19)
Avoid that higher up who is too demanding and could be quite harsh if you do not meet expectations. Get busy improving your health and appearance. Take care that your credit is good.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Instead of complaining about what you cannot help, get busy at some new outlet that will be interesting and profitable. Take more time for study so that you become better informed. Be wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those wise youngsters who, at an early age, decides that vaccination between the practical at one moment and the idealistic the next is not good. This child will get on the right track and stay on it throughout the lifetime. The personality becomes a great one because the emotional and the intellectual are well combined. Any profession, such as medicine, law or politics, is especially fine here. Give the best education possible. Religion is a must, too.

"The Stars impel they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carol Rignier, Individualized Forecast for your sign for February is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carol Rignier, Forecast, The Sanford Herald, Box 60, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

Gardeners Create Corsages

By MARYANN MILES
Mrs. Joseph Ellis was hostess for the January meeting of the Bear Lake Garden Circle. The members learned the art of corsage making from Mrs. Hazel Pettigrew who made the work seem so easy as she put the corsages together followed by Mrs. Richard Ostrander's trial and Mrs. Bill Massey, who presented a program on corsage making at the January meeting of the Bear Lake Garden Circle.

It was a surprise for one of the circle members, Mrs. James Hoffman as she was presented a clothes line full of dollar bills by what she needed for the anticipated heir to her family. Mrs. Bill Giove, circle president, reminded the members of the following items coming up for the members to work on: Feb. 13, a fashion show and luncheon will be held at the Orlando Garden Club starting at noon; Feb. 13 members will be in charge of the food at the Orlando Garden Club for the anti-ague show; Feb. 23 members will again participate at the Central Florida Fair; Feb. 28 members are in charge of the floral arrangement at the Orlando Library.

Mrs. Giove also announced the members were a blue ribbon for their Christmas tree decorated for Christmas Tree Lane in December.

Jacoby On Bridge

If you can keep from looking at the East and West ends, we will put you in the South seat with the late Frank Perkins, undoubtedly the greatest of all New England's fine bridge players.

You have a problem at trick one. You can win that first club in dummy and promptly take either a spade or trump finesse. You can win in your hand and you can duck trump.

Are you ready? You don't duck. That would be downright silly. Frank is in his hand and played ace and jack of trumps. This was the best percentage play and, while the best play doesn't always win, it will this time. Of course, East wins with the king and leads a spade right back. It will dummy and let Wes hold the trick with the nine. This play gave him an extra chance. If clubs broke 3-3, he would be able to discard one of his losers on dummy's fourth club.

Let's see all the possibilities that Frank's play gave him. He could drop a singleton king of trumps. He could find the king of spades where he wanted it or he could break clubs and make his contract with both major suits kings wrong or him.

If you rose with the ace of clubs in dummy and tried the trump finesse immediately you might still make your contract. East or West might lead a spade at some late stage in the play or you might even work out on the play if they didn't discard to best ability, but your line of play was slightly inferior to the one Frank tried.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY - Please inform Helen, who has trouble with foot sticking and burning on her castorole disk, that she should first wipe the castorole, including the rim where the cover fits, with salad oil. This makes your foot stick to it, with elastic to the horizontal face of the head of your sewing machine. Hair has enough oil

DEAR POLLY - To keep my toothbrushes clean and sanitary as they hang on the holder above the bathroom sink, I insert a small plastic pill bottle over each toothbrush. The pill bottle will not tangle and the brushes dry while they are traveling and a regular toothbrush container is not available, improvise by taking the lid from the same pill bottle and make a slit wide enough to push the handle of the brush through. The brush end remains in the bottle with the lid snapped on.—SARA

Fully's Problem
DEAR POLLY - I find the column so helpful. Just when I was wishing for a satisfactory way to remove paint from clothes I found the answer with the column. Now my problem is that I have so many shades that I picked up along the California and Florida coasts and want to know how to clean that rough film off them and make them shine.—WANETA

Beauty after Forty

If Nature did not give you a beautiful bosom, and you have not improved on it, now is the time. Only the young can follow the mad Fashion of going without a bra. You can take a tip from Hollywood and put on a "false front." You can be fitted with "true to nature pads" and no one will know but you. Remember, a bosom, true or false, adds to your good looks.

There are no exercises which can develop a mature bosom, or even a young one. Swimming, stretching, tennis and such movements which affect the supporting muscles have some help to give.

There is no cosmetic preparation which can aid in developing the breasts. Spraying the bosom with ice or water is stimulating but in no way aids in development.

It does definitely help you to be fitted for bras and corsets, but not on your undergarments. Always go to a good shop, ask for a trained sales

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) - Lay preacher Geri Egan, chairman of South Africa's anti-mini league has prophesied doom and divine wrath ever since local girls insisted their hemlines. The drought he predicted failed to materialize.

Use Frozen Patty Shells For Easy Beef Wellington

Beef Wellington is "in" by pressing together. Brush crust with egg beaten with milk. Prick crust in a few places to allow steam to escape. Roll out trimmed pastry and cut into narrow strips. Lay strips across dough, wrapped beef, lettuce pattern. Brush these with beaten egg and milk. Bake in hot (425 degree F.) oven 20 minutes, or until pastry is golden brown. Serve 12 to 16.

STUFFED MUSHROOMS
1 lb. large mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup green onions, finely chopped
1/4 cup sherry
1 cup herb seasoned stuffing
Remove stems of mushrooms and trim so brown feathery part shows. Sauté caps in about 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine until golden. Remove to baking dish. Finely chop 1/2 cup mushrooms. Sauté with onion, including some green tops for color, in about 2 more tablespoons butter or margarine. Add water or wine.

Sanford Garden Club Presents Area's First Table Show

In a perfectly exquisite setting, Sanford Garden Club presented a Festive Table Show, Jan. 25 and 26, at the Garden Center. The spectacular show, the first ever presented in the Sanford Area, attracted throngs of spectators to get a glimpse of modes and moods for around the calendar entertaining. The imagination of club members went on the rampage in creating the lovely settings to the delight of the "hostess with the mostest".

In all, 18 beautifully appointed tables were featured.

"THERE GOES THE GROOM," an informal bachelor's buffet for six which was created by Mrs. Blanton Owen. The most outstanding feature of this table was the centerpiece which was a mixture of many objects pertinent to "one-last-fing." This conversation centerpiece featured bars, a ball and chain and wires and snarls all painted a sombre black with one five-pointed red asterisk blooming boldly appearing from within the entanglement. Down in the very center of the "trapped" setting was a coy little pair of white alabaster turtle doves appearing to be "nesting." The table was covered over with an extremely tailored black linen cloth accompanied with large, bold black napkins and accented with "Cloud 9" pottery which was quite heavy and gave a truly masculine appearance.

"HEARTS AND FLOWERS," an elaborate formal tea table for a bridal party created by Mrs. Charles Cole, seated, pouring tea for Mrs. Carl Tills. This setting was an extravaganza of what a truly elegant tea should be. The table, covered with a pale pink linen cloth, was overlaid with an exquisite Italian cut-work cloth which was made by the nuns in Milan, Italy. The napkins were matching and all appointments were of hard-painted China, Haviland trower and sterling silver with Repousse silver. The centerpiece was a very formal sterling silver epergne-candelabra which contained a lovely, very airy arrangement of bridal-pink roses and serissa fortida with delicate green foliage. Lakeview Nursing Center Will Open On Sunday

Another community health project will be reached when the Lakeview Nursing Center opens at 410 East Second Street Sunday afternoon. The 166-bed extended care facility will fill a long-needed demand for convalescent, rehabilitative and long-term care for both general and Medicare patients. The public is invited to visit the Center either Sunday afternoon or during the following week when a special welcome is being prepared.

Wilbert Miller, the builder of Sanford Manor and new owner of Lakeview, has contracted with American Nursing Centers, Inc., to manage the re-opened nursing center. The facility's headquarters is in Illinois and they now operate 24 American in nine states. The Orlando American is the second-most facility and its former administrator, George J. Greider, now heads Lakeview. He now resides in Water Park but his family will be moving to Sanford later.

Mrs. Virginia Michalowski, R.N., has returned to direct the nursing care. Special emphasis will be placed on physical therapy which will be regularly supervised by Mrs. Elva Parsons, a registered physical therapist living in Maitland.

Building engineering consultant, Jack Smitherman, of Titusville, was impressed with the construction, floor plans and safety features. He stated that the fire and safety precautions taken should bring reassurance and peace of mind to the patients and their families.

As older persons seem to be more frequently, the American organization will be providing a wide variety of services. The three important phases of total patient care is that of keeping the patient happy and contented. Lakeview will make assisted by visits of beauticians and staff members on appointment.

Greider urges those who have never visited the Center to do so either Sunday afternoon or during the week following. Those who are already acquainted with the facilities are requested to stop by and meet the new staff members and learn of the new programs and services. Visitors are always welcome at any time.

The opening ceremony will be held on Sunday afternoon at 10:30 a.m. and will include a singing-a-long will make each day even shorter. Music will be provided by visits of beauticians and staff members on appointment.

Schoolboy Arrested For 'Peddling Dope'

A 17-year-old Seminole High School student was arrested Thursday at the school by Seminole County authorities on a charge of selling cannabis (marijuana). Deputy D. R. Schreiner booked Edward Carl Schweikert at county jail after the 11 a.m. Thursday arrest at the high school.

Sanford police today were probing the theft of nearly $1,000 from the Trophy Lounge on Onora Road early this morning. Burglars, who apparently hid themselves during business hours until after closing, gained access to the adjoining Jet Lanes bowling alleys but apparently were frightened away when a night cleaning crew came on duty.

County Deputy C. W. Meyer Thursday morning captured five youths, including three juveniles after they are alleged to have tried to enter a Forest City music shop.

Robert W. Morrison, 18, and Charles T. Tuttle, 17, both of Orlando were charged with breaking and entering, attempted breaking and entering, possession of burglary tools and possession of stolen property.

Three juveniles, ages 14, 14, and 15, were also apprehended in the same incident that occurred at Melody City Music Shop on Lakeview Drive.

Several speakers, tapes and other electronic equipment was recovered from an auto in which four of the accused were arrested.

A fourth was charged while he reportedly hid in a nearby phone booth.

Deputy Meyer said all of the youths were from Orange County and were wanted by authorities there in connection with other break-ins.

State Attorney Down With Flu Thompson Trial Is Postponed

Trial of Mabel Frances Thompson, Sanford woman accused of killing her husband, Bob, whose body was found stuffed in a closet at the couple's 404 Fourth Street home, was postponed today because of the state attorney's flu.

County Judge E. Thom Rumberger this morning until 9:30 a.m. Saturday or possibly later this afternoon depending on the condition of State Attorney Abbott Herring, III with flu.

Herring informed Judge Rumberger of his illness today, just before the state was to conclude its presentation of prosecution witnesses.

Thomas Speer, assistant state attorney, advised the court that Herring is in the room while evidence is being presented and for that reason the case could not continue without the state attorney.

Life. First to testify about the murder was Mrs. Thompson, who testified that she had seen her husband on the night of the murder. She testified that she had seen her husband on the night of the murder. She testified that she had seen her husband on the night of the murder.

Later on in the afternoon, apparently a steady boyfriend of Thompson's, testified that he had seen her husband on the night of the murder. He testified that he had seen her husband on the night of the murder.

The children were taken to Mrs. Green's home, where they were staying. Mrs. Green testified that she had seen her husband on the night of the murder. She testified that she had seen her husband on the night of the murder.

Commission Seat Error Fixed

Drummond in rebuttal to the charges stated that everyone residing on his street is properly registered in a different precinct by the office of the supervisor of elections, Mrs. Camilla Bruce. Drummond stated that he could understand the error by the office due to the manner in which the district and precinct were delineated.

Drummond also stated that he was not aware of the error until he was notified by the office of the supervisor of elections, Mrs. Camilla Bruce. Drummond stated that he could understand the error by the office due to the manner in which the district and precinct were delineated.

Drummond continued that he would have to move his residence by District 3 or run against Park for the District 4 seat. This would be a problem for Drummond, as he is currently residing in District 3.

Drummond also stated that he was not aware of the error until he was notified by the office of the supervisor of elections, Mrs. Camilla Bruce. Drummond stated that he could understand the error by the office due to the manner in which the district and precinct were delineated.

Beehive City Hall Draws Criticism

City Commissioner Gordon Meyer today had some critical comments to make over the proposed new "beehive" city hall which was unveiled Monday night by architect John A. Burton IV to the City Commission.

Meyer, while not opposed to a new city hall to replace the present structure, said that the present structure is a landmark and should be preserved. He also stated that the proposed new city hall was too large and expensive.

Oriente Bids Tax Relief

The controversy which has resulted in charges and counter-charges being hurled as to blame regarding the flooding of land-locked Lake Oriente is continuing to "boil."

Lake Oriente Association has sent a letter to County Tax Assessor Guy Allen requesting relief on the tax rolls due to the problem. The residents of the flooded area are asking for a re-evaluation of their property, stating that when property is flooded it is their understanding that it is upon a fair and just market value.

New Bank Officer Installed

In action taken by the board of directors of Sanford Atlantic National Bank, William E. Burden has been elected to the position of senior installment loan officer, according to Howard Hedges, president.

Burden, a former resident of Birmingham, Mich., held a BA degree in psychology with minors in economics and business.

National Banks Face Added Tax In New Act

Sanford banking institutions may be subjected to buying occupational licenses and paying other taxes from which they have been exempt.

The change came about on Dec. 24, 1969, when President Nixon signed into law an amendment to Section 5219 of the Revised Statutes, which authorizes a state or political subdivision to impose any generally applicable tax on a national bank with its headquarters in a state, except a tax on intangibles.

This authorization to tax national banks, because of a Florida statute, extends to state chartered banks.

All local tax assessors, tax collectors and clerks of court are being directed by J. Ed Straughn, State Revenue Department, to assess and collect all such taxes that come within the scope of their duties from banks in the same manner as from other persons, firms or corporations.

City Manager W. E. Knowles told The Herald that local banks would be subject to paying city use taxes, taxes on real estate, taxes on tangible personal property as well as licenses, etc.

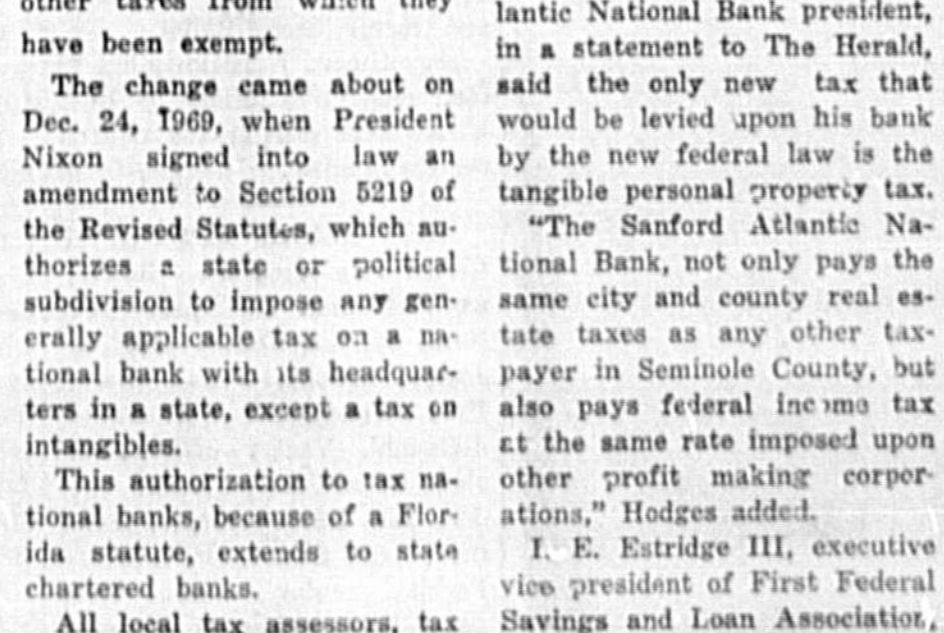

Howard Hedges, Sanford Atlantic National Bank president, in a statement to The Herald, said the only new tax that would be levied upon his bank is the new federal law in the tangible personal property tax.

"The Sanford Atlantic National Bank, not only pays the same city and county real estate taxes as any other taxpayer in Seminole County, but also pays federal income tax at the same rate imposed upon other profit-making corporations," Hedges added.

I. E. Estridge III, executive vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, said that institution already pays a four per cent sales tax and is not sure whether the occupational license is required.

"We pay all taxes except an occupational license and if the banks pay it, we don't mind paying it," commented Estridge.

He indicated a ruling might be sought on the occupational license if the City Commission approves asking the city banks to buy a license.
