Sanford's Outstanding Residential Development. Artistic, Unique, Distinctive, Different. In a Class by Itself.

High and Dry-Water runs from it in all directions.

Far removed from the smoke and soot and noise and unsightliness of railroad trains,

All public utilities—sewers, water, and gas—already in stalled all over the entire property.

Paving under way and almost completed on all its beautiful winding drives.

Close in Exactly midway between the city limits on the north and south.

Right in the center of the broad white belt extending south between the Goldsboro and Georgetown Districts, and with Sanford growing at its present rate, sure to be in the heart of the built up part of the city within three or four years.

Convenient to the new high school and yet in not too close proximity.

Easily accessible to the main arteries of travel-Park A ve., to be the main highway to Orlando; Hughey Street, soon to be the main route to the rolf course; French Avenue to the west and Geneva Ave., not far to the south. These main highways will naturally carry the through and heavy traffic for this part of the city, but none of them passes through Highland Park, which will be still further relieved from the annovances of heavy hauling, by the curving indirectness of its drives.

Three Parks, To Be The Most Beautiful In Sanford, Within Its Borders.

RAINBOW POOL and Garden, on which several thousand dollars has already been expended and hundreds of flowering shrubs and vines have been planted.

SWAN OVAL, beginning at the beautiful Main Entrance and extending south from the big fountain. A water sprinkler system is now being installed over the entire area, and landscaping planting and beautification are under way.

REVONA PARK, occupying a full city block at Oak Ave., and Franklin Street, now partle covered with a fine growth of pines and palms. Here, as the development of Highland Park or ceeds, will be constructed a swimming pool, for which the sewer connections have already been made and the grading is now under way. Courts for tennis, roque and croquet will be built and eventually a club house erected, all these social and recreational facilities to be for the exclusive use of property owners in Highland Park.

Where else in Sanford can you find a site on which to build your home that combines a these advantages? And what other location is so entirely free from every objectionable feature?

And yet, with all these advantages recounted, only half the reasons have been stated that set Highland Park aside as regidential development distinctive, different, in a class by itself. When I bought this property nearly two years ago, two course were open to me -- one, to cut it up in the conventional checker board arrangement of streets and lots, throw it on the marks without restrictions, and, as I could easily have done by reason of its superior location, make a quick clean-up and a handsome pro-, it the other course, to take advantage of this superb location in working out a development such as Sanford needs and of which de might always be proud. The second course meant careful planning, and a large preliminary outlay. It meant real arms in the landscaping of the property, in the planning and development of parks within its borders, in the planting along the design and development of parks within its borders, in the planting along the design and development of parks within its borders, in the planting along the design and development of parks within its borders, in the planting along the development of parks within its borders, in the planting along the development of parks within its borders, in the planting along the development of parks within its borders. ways, in the architecture of the houses even to the extent of how they should stand upon the sites they occupied, in short it meant to develop on this forty acre canvas a picture which should appeal to all the senses of harmony and beauty and in ever increasing mesare as building proceeded and nature worked with me in bringing the picture to perfection.

THE RESTRICTIONS of forth in every deed to building sites in Highland Park control its development along the lines which set it apart in a class by itself. All planting along the driveways will be done by me, and if any tree or plant dies, it must be replaced with another of the same kind. No more than one dwelling and that a single family dwelling, can be erected on any one lot, and I expect most of them to occupy more than one lot, although some lots are nearly three times the size of the ordinary city lut. Then can be no busine a houses, no apartment houses, no two family houses and no apartment garage except such as may be occupied by the servants of the owner. Houses may be built in various styles of architecture, Colonial, English or Mediterranean, which includes Span ish, Moorish, Italian, Venetian, but definite styles of architecture are limited to certain districts and all plans as to exterior appearance must be approved in writing by my architect, as must also the location of all buildings on the sites they occupy, the purpose being to prevent unfair sucroachment by any builder on his neighbor and to insure that all building shall harmonize with the entire scheme of development. There are restrictions against owners not of the Caucasian race, and against cows, chickens and other livestock Restrictions as to cost of buildings when this property was first of fered for sale in the latter part of January, 1926, were higher than conditions now will justify. They have been materially reduced for the reason that the cost of building is now much less than then, and busine a conditions have changed decidedly in the last twelve months. But restrictions are still high enough, couple with the careful supervision as to the style and appearance of the houses crected, to insure that Highland Park will be, as I have planned from the first, the most attractive residential development in Sanford.

When prices on lots were fixed in Highland Park a year ago, they were actually less than lots with few of the advantage I had to offer, were selling for all around it. My prices were conservative at the time. Those prices are still conservative if and looks forward and forgets the temporary luli in Florida real estate. Lexpect to maintain those original prices and eventually sell most of the property at a big advance, for when lots, simply as lots, begin to move again, as they surely will, Highland Park lots will come into their own. But in the meantime, with all the city utilities in, with the paving done, with the development proceeding along the lines at first laid out, and with all the manifold advantages which Highland Park has to offer, the stage is a set and ready for the builders of high class homes, and to them I am prepared to offer for a short time and to a limited number such inducements in price and terms as can not be matched else-where,

If you are ready to build a high class house and can pay cash for the building site, you will be astonished at what I will If you can finance a first class house if you had your lot free and clear, but cannot also pay cash for the lot, I might furnish you the building site and take a second mortgage for its cost.

If you already have a lot or house paid for somewhere else in Sanford and want to build instead in Highland Park, 1981 might be able to arrange a trade with me.

If you want to buy a lot, just simply as a lot, for speculation, expecting to make a quick turn and a profit, I have not list to offer, for Highland Park lots will sell some day (and that day not so far distant) at several times the price put on them a year and none of them will go on the bargain counter now excepting building sites for immediate improvement with high class homes, in a very limited time and in a very limited number. If you are ready now, or will soon be ready, to build, come and see me at my office, corner Park and Commercial, and it us talk it over, or telephone me and I will call on you. I have a number of books of house plans, by the way, showing many attrative designs, with estimates of costs, in which you will be interested. W. M. Young, Park Avenue and Commercial St.

"Do's" And "Don'ts" For The Road

An Orlando business man says that making traffic safe for all is more a matter of "do's" than "don'ts." "Too often," stered as Second Class Matter, he says, "the emphasis is placed on what motorists should not do, rather than what they should do." According to his statement there are five fundamental rules which every driver should observe under present conditions. 1. Keep to the right side of the road; be sure the way is clear before going around a car ahead and sound your horn before passing. 2. Always signal to drivers following you when preparing to stop or to turn right or left. Remember the most dangerous turn is the left turn,

Be sure you have the right-a-way and a clear road, front and back, when making this turn 3. Have your lights well focused. Poor lights do not show you the road and glaring lights blind oncoming motorists-either is hazardous to both 4. Observe all speed laws-for the safety of others and for your own safety. 5. Be sure your brakes are in perfect order. They must be well lined, tight and equally effective on each wheel. On slippery roads apply brakes with-out throwing out your clutch. This also applies in descending hills. Always make the motor help hold back the car by leaving the clutch in.

These rules are all right, but what about cutting corners, fish wife said when the philosopher parking on public highways and driving with one hand? As pipedon." an isosceles paralleoa matter of fact we have seen somewhere a "Ten Commandments" of "don'ts" for automobile drivers which were pretty good and which would make accidents almost impossible.

We don't remember exactly what they were, but some of them were like this:

them were like this:

Don't put your car in reverse without first looking back to see if the way is clear. Don't allow anybody to ride on your running board, your rear bumper, or tow from a bimanagement and age entitled to management and age on the Governor Smith course. cycle behind.
