STOCKS RALLY AFTER ERRATIC FLUCTUATIONS

Final Prices Mostly Above Yesterday's Close Which Saw Extreme Losses

NEW YORK, July 22.—(A.P.)—Stocks closed with a rally today after two strenuous hours in which fluctuations though extremely erratic were much narrower than those of yesterday.

Final prices were mostly above yesterday's close. Shares showed a net loss well above their loss of the mid-morning setback. The market had a number of one to three dollar advances.

Stocks recoiled downward yesterday in the weakest, widest market since 1923, but finally rallied a rally that substantially reduced extreme losses of $3 to $17 for hundreds of leading issues.

Turnover mounted to 6,982,570 shares, largest since Oct. 30, 1929, when 10,737,300 shares changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange.

For more than an hour yesterday afternoon trading was demoralized. Heavy offerings from erstwhile bull pools—strong groups of professional traders who had helped build the long spring upturn—from weakened margin accounts and from frightened owners of stocks fell in a virtuous circle of selling. Support seemed entirely lacking and a very nervous Wall Street, wondering when the bottom would be reached.

About 2:30 o'clock, with the tape running half an hour late, the market found relief and staggered upward. United States Steel Common, which had collapsed to $4.00, snapped back to $4.25, a price of $5.25, still a net loss of 25 American Telephone, plummeted down to $114 where it was $9.16 lower.

The Associated Press-Standard Statistical average, due to this late recovery, showed a smaller net loss than on Thursday—$7.40 a share against $8.30 yesterday. There was many net declines of $2 to around $10, and a few still larger.

Wall Street was stunned by the abruptness of the break, which developed suddenly around 1 o'clock. With leading grain markets closed, the market may have taken fright at a plunge of $5 a bale by cotton. There was nothing in the day's price of news that might cause alarm, and prices had been moderately higher throughout most of the morning.

At a slow increase of selling orders quickly disclosed the vacuum of bids which the market harassed. As this situation became more apparent, offerings swelled and prices faded, until early in the last hour the break had reached proportions unequalled since the previous bull cycle was swinging downward. Whether organized support was finally thrown together, or "barricade hunters" appeared in force along with "short" covering, was not disclosed but presumably the upswing of the final half hour represented a natural recoil from so violent a decline.

Bondholders Seek Interest In Budget

SEBRING, July 22.—The Sebring bondholders' committee has requested the city council to include in the 1933-34 budget an appropriation for interest on the $2,125,000 bonds they hold or control.

The interest will approximate $70,000 and, according to the report, it is to be levied exclusively for the committee. The council recently adopted a tentative budget of $175,000, including $22,000 for bond debt service to pay federal court judgments and to comply with mandatory writs, one of which was obtained by the committee.

The council has taken no action on the request but is awaiting word from all the creditors on the city's proposal to refund the nearly $2,000,000 debt over a long period.

Flying Mollisons Hop Off For U. S.

PENDINE, Wales, July 22.—(A.P.)—The famous flying Mollisons, Jim and Amy, took off today for New York on an ambitious adventure in which they hoped to fly to Baghdad after crossing the Atlantic twice. They planned to reach New York Sunday night and after a short rest cross the ocean again seeking the distance non-stop record. Mollison, who made the first solo east to west flight over the Atlantic last August said "this may be my last spectacular flight. I hope it isn't too great a venture."

FIGHT ON FUTCH BILL IS UP FOR ACTION BY COURT

Three Cases Seek To Prove Unconstitutionality Of Act

TALLAHASSEE, July 22.—(A.P.)—Three cases attacking the validity of the Futch law, an act of the 1933 Legislature, are under advisement by the Florida supreme court.

The court received the cases after listening to more than three hours oral argument on the bill, with nearly a dozen attorneys in the debate.

General effects of the act in question are to grant a five to 10-year moratorium on payment of delinquent taxes and allow county and district back taxes to be paid with bond.

Attacking the constitutionality of the act were a prospective purchaser of a state-held tax certificate, a school teacher whose salary is in arrears and a taxpayer.

Defending the bill were the state and a certain taxpayer seeking benefit under its provisions.

Opponents of the law claimed it showed undue favoritism to taxpayers who are delinquent, thereby penalizing prompt payers.

It violates the constitutional requirement of equal and uniform taxation, they said, by making it possible for delinquent taxpayers to pay less than those who pay on time.

Further, they said, without legal justification it set up three classes—those who pay promptly, those whose property had outstanding against it tax certificates held by individuals and those whose (Continued On Page Six)

Back-To-The-Land Movement Is Seen In Executive Order

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(A.P.)—An early beginning of the back-to-the-land movement was envisaged today in the order by President Roosevelt authorizing Secretary Ickes to expend the $25,000,000 made available for relieving congestion in industrial centers under the national recovery act.

The President has long believed congestion in over-populated industrial districts would be relieved if provision is made for purchase or rental of land to enable these people to get back to the soil.

The $25,000,000 was made available to be used through such agencies as are fit aid in removing unemployed urban dwellers to where they can grow their own food. The executive order today was the designation for Secretary Ickes to carry out the program.

ROOSEVELT IS CONFIDENT OF RECOVERY IDEA

Administration Thinks Success Will Mark Plan To Bring Wage Raise To Employed

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt and Hugh S. Johnson, his administrator on national recovery, were confident of success today as their plan to bring all the country's employees into the wage-raising column began to obtain results.

First reactions to the program launched Thursday came in a score of telegrams from important employers and organizations pleading to do their part in coming under the voluntary agreements to increase the pay of their workers and make new jobs by limiting hours.

The President was represented as well satisfied at the progress already made by American industry in entering the new order, and as feeling that the co-operation to date had been excellent.

He plans to outline his views in a speech to the nation next Monday night.

Among the employers who did not wait until July 27, when the first agreement blanks will be distributed, to join the volunteer movement were:

Allied Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors.
The Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, classed by Johnson as among the largest employing corporations in the country.

The Florsheim Shoe Company.

Johnson felt that the weight of public opinion would be such that no businessman would want to stay out after the move gains impetus.

A much larger stock of telegrams accumulated in his office in reply to his messages asking the assistance of chambers of commerce and civic organizations in shaping the public drive which will begin at the end of the month.

Seminole County Bank Building Is Sold To Touchton

Sale of the two-story Seminole County Bank Building to Dr. W. C. Touchton, Avon Park chain store owner, was announced here late yesterday afternoon by J. W. Moser, Orlando, liquidator for several closed banks in this area. The purchase price was $150,000, part of which sum was paid in cash.

Dr. Touchton, who was in Sanford yesterday completing arrangements for the sale, declared that he will cause certain repairs and alterations to be made to the property at once.

He stated that he purchased the property primarily as an investment, but that all improvements to be made would be of a permanent nature. The improvements will include work on the bank annex, housing the Sanford Electric Co., and the Briggs Jewelry Store on Magnolia Avenue, which was included in the sale price.

The building was erected by the DeForest interests in the early 1900's. For years it housed the Caldwell Department Store, but in 1916 it was purchased by officials of the Seminole County Bank which had occupied a room in the old Court House, now the Valdes Hotel.

President Decides To Let Stock Market Work Out Of Its Own Difficulties

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt is leaving Wall Street and stock speculators to their own troubles and contemplates no action with regard to the gyrating securities market, but definite efforts are being undertaken by the administration to curb grain price fluctuations.

Farm administrators yesterday called a conference of organized groups in the grain trade for Monday morning to consider "what steps can be taken under the farm adjustment act to maintain fair and stable grain prices."

Administrators have under consideration a proposal for creating a marketing agreement under the farm act, which will be broached at the meeting and through which administrators hope that price fluctuations for

TENNESSEE DRYS CHARGE FRAUD IN REPEAL ELECTION

Campaign Chairman Says Vote Outcome Is Being Studied

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 22.—(A.P.)—Charges of fraud and threats of court action yesterday were the reply of prohibitionists in Tennessee to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, that left the state with a narrow lead of 8677 votes.

With the vote standing 123,728 for repeal and 115,111 against and 193 small precincts missing, the Rev. John P. Baggett, chairman of the dry campaign, which failed to prevent Tennessee from becoming the nineteenth state to endorse repeal, said there was the "grossest possible fraud" and that the vote was being "carefully studied" with a view of contesting the election.

The condemnation of the drys was directed especially at Nashville where the wet majority was 2000 and at the 15 to 1 vote for repeal in Memphis.

The prohibitionists had come over the mountains from the strong Republican section of East Tennessee with a good lead only to see it swept away when Shelby (Memphis) County reported more than 82,000 wet votes against 2,001 for the drys. Nashville and other cities followed with wet majorities.

Mr. Baggett said "all right thinking people" knew "we deserve to have won."

He said the prohibitionists had evidence to justify the conclusion (Continued On Page Six)

Silver Countries Hope To Get Accord At Meeting Today

LONDON, July 22.—(A.P.)—Representatives of 15 silver producing and producing nations planned to meet with Senator Key Pittman late today in the hope of signing a tentative agreement designed to stabilize the silver market.

Silver experts, however, were extremely guarded in their optimism over the effect of the expected measure which it is understood will contain several reservations. It is pointed out the plan would require ratification by the interested governments and will not be effective for six months. Hence, it is said it would be slow in operation.

The projected pact must be ratified by next Apr. 1 to make effective Pittman's resolution approved in the monetary commission economic conference under which the nations would agree to cease debasement of silver coinage and refrain from other actions likely to demoralize the market.

Five Persons Killed In Automobile Plunge

SEASIDE HEIGHTS, New Jersey, July 22.—(A.P.)—Five persons were killed today when an automobile plunged through an open drawbridge into Barnegat Bay. The dead are: Mary Atkins, 17; Mary Burns, 17; Leonard Nathan, 31; Marcus Matthews, 20; and Joseph Farrell, aviator.

C. OF C. ACTS TO CO-OPERATE ON RECOVERY

Meeting Is Called Of Business Men For Consideration Of Roosevelt Request

The national movement to speed the return of prosperity reached into Sanford this morning with the receipt at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce office of a telegram from General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the National Recovery Act.

The telegram, a duplicate of one sent to every Chamber of Commerce or Commercial Club in the United States, urges immediate action in organizing a committee to conduct a campaign of education along the lines outlined by General Johnson and other Administration heads.

B. F. Haines, vice-president of the local trade body who is in charge of the office, during the absence of both H. M. Papworth, trade body president and Karl Lehmann, its secretary, moved into action at once.

First he dictated the following answer to General Johnson: "The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce stands ready for instant action in compliance with your telegraphic request. We have named a temporary chairman of an organization which holds its first meeting next Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock. Suggest you rush further details to us at once."

Then he again read General Johnson's telegram, which was as follows: "Will you take the initiative immediately in organizing a campaign committee in your community, to be composed of the Mayor, the official heads of the Chamber of Commerce, the Clearing House Association, the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions Club, the Retail Merchants Association, the Federation of Labor, the Advertising Club, the Federation of Women's Clubs, welfare societies, the Ministerial Association, the Real Estate Association, and any other civic organization which in your judgment is representative of an important element in the economic life of your community."

"The function of this committee is to direct a campaign of education and organization which is to be a part of a national movement to speed the return of prosperity through the expansion of the consumer's purchasing power in accordance with principles set forth in the National Recovery Act."

"I will commiserate with you covering the further steps in this campaign upon receipt of your reply. It is an inspiring thing to be a part of a great national movement to restore economic security to our people, and I appeal to you marshal all forces of your community in one united effort to get rid of unemployment."

Then Mr. Haines, explaining that he is not fully acquainted with all the various groups outlined in the telegram and who are at the head of these groups, scanned a list of trade body members and decided to ask the following persons to attend next Tuesday's meetings as temporary spokesmen for the group to which he is attached:

Mayor V. A. Hoyer and all members of the City Commission; Paul Sims of the Rotary Club; Howard Overlin of the Kiwanis Club; Forrest Gatchel, of the Independent Retail Grocers Association; Roland Dean of the Press-Tribune; T. L. Dumas, of the Railroad; W. M. Scott, J. C. Hutchison and R. B. Chapman, representing the farmers; E. O. Shindler of the Manufacturers; John Meisch, as head of the County Commission; Rev. E. D. Brownlee, of the Ministerial Association; Mrs. Helen T. Morse, of the Welfare Board; Otto Caldwell, of the River Lions; Max Stewart, of the Lions Club; Mrs. Walter Morgan head of the Women's Civic Committee; L. H. Connolly of the Bar Association; R. L. Glenn, representing the labor group; H. H. Coleman, of the large industries, and T. W. Lawlin of the School Board.

Realized that there are scores of other persons who should be present at this meeting, Mr. Haines, pointing to the telegram, said "It speaks for itself and all patriotic citizens should respond by attending the meeting."

It is expected that General (Continued On Page Six)

Oregon Joins "Wet" Parade In Country

PORTLAND, July 22.—(A.P.)—Oregon took her place today with states approving repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment thereby making it 20 to nothing in favor of blotting national prohibition from the Constitution. The latest returns from yesterday's election gave repeal a lead of more than 19,000.

WALT WINCHELL AND AL JOLSON HAVE FIST FIGHT

Black Face Comedian Resents Reference Made About Spouse

HOLLYWOOD, July 22.—(A.P.)—Walter Winchell, gossip columnist, took it on the button from Al Jolson at a legion boxing show last night in a fight not carried on the program.

Four thousand persons saw the brawl and 4,000 versions were extant today but the fact remains that Jolson knocked Winchell down twice because he did not like him, because he resented things Winchell put in movie scenarios reflecting disparagingly on Jolson, said Al Jolson, Jolson's wife.

Jolson swung on Winchell's chin as the columnist advanced toward his seat near Jolson. Winchell ran through the boxing show with apparent enjoyment and said later "two guys hit me." Jolson said he would attempt to halt the Winchell picture.

Citizens Reminded Of Big Savings By Paying Their Taxes

Sanford property owners who were so far lulled by pay their city taxes today were being reminded of their accounts by a special notice which called their attention to the fact that it is up to the property owners of this city as to whether or not they wish to see a $90,000 interest item against the city canceled.

The notice reads as follows: "Did you know that the City of Sanford's creditors agreed that if 40 percent of the 1932 taxes are paid, approximately $90,000 in past bond interest would be canceled as a general obligation of the City?"

"This goal has now been reached and the co-operation of all our citizens is needed to accomplish this much desired result."

"By paying these taxes you not only assist in obtaining the cancellation of this large amount of interest, but save yourself, as well, the costs and penalty which will shortly be added for their non-payment."

Mark Wilcox Will Be Speaker On Program

Mark Wilcox, of West Palm Beach, Florida's Fourth District Congressman, has accepted an invitation to be the guest of honor and principal speaker at Sanford's Labor Day celebration, it was announced this morning by Clarence E. Adams, general chairman of the event.

Plans for the staging of the celebration, scheduled to be one of the largest ever held in Sanford, are progressing smoothly at present. Mr. Adams and several committee heads are working quietly securing the assurance of various groups and individuals that they will participate in every way possible.

J. E. Fox, of Paola, who is credited as being mainly responsible for the large Progress Day parade here in 1931, has again been named to head the important parade committee. He invites the suggestion and co-operation of all residents of this section, as does Mr. Adams, and all members of the committee in charge.

STRANGLED BY LOLYPOP

NEW YORK, July 22.—(A.P.)—Edward Platon, 2 years old, skipped for joy when his mother gave him a strawberry lollypop. Running down a flight of stairs, he tripped and the sweet was jammed down his throat. When they got him to a hospital he was dead of strangulation.

POST DEPARTS UPON LAST LEG OF WORLD HOP

Leaves Edmonton For Gotham, 2300 Miles Away, Twenty Hours Ahead Of His Record

EDMONTON, Alberta, Canada, July 22.—(A.P.)—Wiley Post hopped off for New York on the last leg of his trip at 9:41 A. M. (E.S.T.) today. He had stayed here only one hour and 34 minutes, to refuel his ship and get a brief rest after flying overnight from Fairbanks, Alaska. When he left here he was 20 hours and 15 minutes ahead of the record he and Harold Gatty set in 1931. He determined to make the 2,300 miles to New York in one hop "if I can make it."

Guided to Fairbanks by Joe Crosson, pioneer Alaska pilot, Post came to this city in the heart of the territory, after a flight of three hours and 14 minutes from Flat.

The aviator expected to hop off again at 4 P. M. (P. M. E. S. T.) for Edmonton, Alberta.

Refreshed by six hours sleep last night while mechanics repaired his damaged landing gear, Post seemed to be fit when he brought the Winnie Mae to a perfect landing.

An hour after he came down, he attended to details of servicing the plane with gasoline, oil and was setting a substantial meal.

He said he expected to reach Edmonton, 1450 miles away, at 4 A. M. Edmonton time (8 A. M. E. S. T.) this morning, pass there half an hour and speed on toward New York, a distance of 2300 miles.

He lost about 20 hours of his lead over the old record by himself and Harold Gatty in 1931, when he became lost over the interior of Alaska Thursday and then needed his plane over in the emergency landing at Flat.

He still was 11 hours, some minutes to the good over the Post-Gatty schedule when he set down on the field here, however, and still considered his chances for a new record good.

The Post-Gatty elapsed time to Fairbanks was 164 hours, 39 minutes. Post used up 156, 32 minutes in getting here. The Post-Gatty record he is trying to eclipse was eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes, and his flight representative in New York said he has until 8 P. M. Sunday night to break the old record.

Unfavorable weather which befell Post as he flew in the clouds over the network of rivers in Yukon Valley Thursday, also delayed his start from Flat, yesterday morning.

Both Post and his plane were ready to resume their task several hours before the weather permitted them to get off. When the Winnie Mae did get into the air again, Post chose to follow Crosson and his plane into Fairbanks, explaining that he had become so confused in getting off his course Thursday that he preferred the slower but safer method of following Crosson.

Post and Gatty flew from Fairbanks to Edmonton in 10 hops, 11 minutes, after a six-hour stop in Fairbanks. Post expects to negotiate the flight in nine hops. Post and Gatty were halted at Edmonton slightly more than eight hours while Post hopes to be there only 30 minutes.

ABLE VERSE FOR TODAY: THE UNTAMED TONGUE: He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life; but he that openeth his lips, shall have destruction. —Prov. 10:13.

A prisoner who had escaped from Mafford is recaptured. Now that is news.

Senator Thomas threatens to close the stock exchange if investors don't quit unloading their stocks. The surest way to make them sell is to make them think the stock exchange may be closed. They all rush forward to unload before it closes. Senator Thomas is fast full of brilliant ideas.

It strikes us it's about time for an attempt to draw up a code of ethics under the National Recovery Act. None of us should work more than six hours a day, and if we haven't enough paragraphs to fill up by that time, the government should supply them at its own expense. And personally we don't care what the minimum wages are, just so they're paid.

Great Britain doesn't like the idea of borrowing money for public buildings in order to give jobs. The experience of that country has been that the jobs last only as long as the borrowing continues and then paying the money back gives everyone a headache. That's been the experience of Sanford too. But the United States is a very big and rich country. Maybe it will be different.

Young Denver parents testify in court that they do not want their six weeks' old baby, that they "simply detest it," and ask the court to commit it to a children's home. Maybe the parents are crazy. Or maybe they are simply victims of the depression and can't earn enough to support it, and rather than see it suffer from want of proper food prefer to turn it over to a charitable institution.

If General Balbo would take his 24 seaplanes on to Washington, fly around the war and navy buildings, and let as many as can realize that it is possible to send a fleet of ships on a peaceful or hostile errand across the Atlantic to the United States now, he would do this country a favor. Arthur Brisbane, if he'd drop a couple of bombs on the capital building, you might not see a million men spring to arms overnight, but we'll bet some of that 25,000,000 public works money would be spent on airplane building and army equipment.

Newspapers today are more important to the public and to the government, as well as to the business and industrial recovery program, than ever before. At a time when constant changes in our social and economic life are being brought about by a veritable flood of new and experimental legislation, the importance of a well-informed public opinion, which largely must control the trend of this legislation and its application, cannot be too strongly emphasized. The public owes it to itself and to the country to read the newspapers and to remain constantly alert upon all that's going on.

Voluntary Co-Operation

When the National Industrial Recovery Act first made its appearance in Washington, and even for some weeks after its actual enactment, it was known as the Industrial Control Bill. And as a matter of fact, it does confer real "control" powers upon the President. It gives him the right to arbitrarily establish hours of labor, minimum and maximum wages, prices, and everything else pertaining to all industry. It makes him virtually dictator of all business within the United States.

But to anyone who has had the slightest experience in managing even a small business, it was known early that the President would not, and probably could not, exercise the full powers granted him under the Recovery Act. Anyone who has ever tried to run his own business to reconcile the irreconcilable differences between capital and labor, between skilled and unskilled labor, between day laborers and white collar workers, and to establish fair rates of pay which would permit legitimate profits, must have known that the very complexity and ponderosity of attempting to manage all the industries in the country would make the entire scheme crash of its own weight.

Immensurable illustrations of the problems which have confronted the administrator of the "control" bill are to be found in the preparation and adoption of the code for the cotton industry. The original code included not only minimum wages but also provided for wage increases equivalent to the minimum wage increase in all classes above the minimum wage. In other words if an employee had been receiving $5 above a former minimum wage of $8, his wage must be raised to $5 above the new minimum wage of $14.

It soon became apparent to the manufacturers that such a sudden and wholesale increase in payrolls would bankrupt everyone of them. They were down on Washington like a hive of bees and General Johnson was subjected to a barrage more severe than any he had ever known in actual warfare. The result was that this provision was eliminated and only the minimum wage was allowed to remain. Employers could pay higher classes of labor what they pleased.

But that looked like, and was, a severe defeat for organized labor. Leaders had told employees that all of them were to have their pay raised, proportionately, and regardless of all other considerations. Then they suddenly discovered that only the lowest paid classes were to be benefited. What had been given them was being taken away. So General Johnson's office was again a beehive of activity as organized labor presented its complaints.

It now appears that "control" of industry is giving way to "voluntary co-operation" by industry. The President has invited employers to increase minimum wages and reduce hours of labor in order to spread work among the millions of unemployed who have been out of jobs for a year or more. Agreements will be presented to employers for their signatures to a proposal to institute the wage increases on August 1 and to maintain them until the first of December.

The agreement includes a minimum wage of 30 cents an hour for women laborers, and 40 cents an hour for men laborers, with a 35 hour week, and $14 and $15 minimum wages with a 40 hour week for women and men white collar workers. The plan is entirely voluntary on the part of employers, but it is expected that public opinion will weigh heavily in encouraging employers to adopt the agreements.

Undoubtedly in some instances it will be extremely difficult to meet the minimum wage requirements, but if every employer raises his wages at the same time, the difficulty should be materially mitigated. As more people have more money to spend, prices can be raised proportionately and employers will be better able to meet larger payrolls. Few employers object to high wages which are justified by their earnings. The object is to increase purchasing power immediately so that earnings can accommodate the higher wage scales.

However successfully this plan may eventually work out, it is encouraging to know that it is based upon "voluntary co-operation" and not upon any "industrial control" idea. The Administration is moving heaven and earth to bring about an end to the depression and promote better conditions for everyone and deserves every bit of co-operation which business leaders can give. The President has the unlimited confidence of a vast majority of the people and without any doubt public opinion will make it extremely uncomfortable for those who do not co-operate with the President's plans.

An Elevator Stops

So efficient is the modern machine age that one scarcely ever stops to think what would happen if we were suddenly left without the use of such commonplace things, as, for instance, elevators. Of course, where there are no tall buildings, the cessation of elevator service would be a matter of only minor significance, but in New York where the skies are scraped by huge piles of steel and mortar such a contingency would be almost a major calamity.

That this is so was demonstrated recently when the Chrysler Building elevators suddenly gave out of breath, or electricity, or something and left thousands of people stranded in the streets and marooned equally large numbers in the upper floors. Fortunately the thirty elevators were carrying only 14 passengers at the time of the breakdown and they had to make the most of a 41-minute delay while electricians and mechanics repaired the trouble. Electric signs, lights and telephones helped to prevent panic within the elevators, which might have been serious, if they had been crowded.

Various emotions attended those who waited either to go up or come down. Some with appointments with dentists were probably elated that they would be forced to forego the ordeal, and the same might have been true of customers seeking extension of credit from brokers; office boys, blocked in the corridors, undoubtedly looked at the stoppage as a great sport and as a chance to beat the boss out of a little time.

However, there were probably many who suffered disappointments at missing their engagements, who actually might have been "kilt" financially by the delay of 40 minutes, who might have lost a big contract by not arriving on time. The whole complexion of a big business deal might have been changed because some tycoon missed a directors meeting.

There were some brave souls who refused to be daunted by a mere breakdown in elevator service and who trudged up the stairway, some clear to the top of the 77-story building. — How many an opportunity for lads to play a bad trick, what with all the chances for over-strained hearts and weakened lungs. We suspect that many a big muscle and ankle bone was sore the next day.

An elevator stoppage today should cause people to remember how completely at the mercy they are of their own mechanical devices.

INFLATION ILLUSIONS

Discussing the Administration's price-fixing program in yesterday's Herald Tribune, Mr. Mark Sullivan remarked on the "forgotten fact" that "no actual inflation has been practiced so far" and that the only inflation to date has been "psychological."

In the sense that we have had no net expansion of currency and credit in the last few months it is true, of course, that we have had no inflation; and this is what Mr. Sullivan clearly has in mind. But this concept of inflation—a concept which unfortunately is shared by a great many persons besides Mr. Sullivan—is a totally unrealistic one. There should be no illusions concerning the fact that we have had inflation, and that we are having inflation, whatever may be one's views as to its necessity or desirability.

Inflation comes, under a monetary system such as ours, not when the volume of currency in circulation rises, but when the integrity of the currency is brought into question. The result of such a loss of confidence in the currency is that people flee from money into commodities, securities and other forms of property. Hence, we invariably find its accompaniment is violently rising prices, particularly in the first two categories. Now, this process of undermining confidence in the currency may be—and, as a matter of fact, it usually is—accomplished by the printing of irredeemable paper money, but not necessarily. It may be accomplished, though possibly without quite so much violence, through the mere threat of a fiat money. That, in effect, is what has happened in this country. When we placed an embargo on gold we removed the first line of defense surrounding our currency; when the Thomas inflation bill was passed the President took into his hands the instruments with which, if he so desired, he could debase the currency; and when the President announced his determination to raise prices at all hazards, he said in effect: "If necessary, all the devices at my command will be employed to that purpose."

And if he did not say that in effect that was most certainly the interpretation that was placed upon his words. When the American dollar depreciates 20 per cent or more in terms of gold currencies it is inflation, let there be no mistake about that. In such circumstances it is academic and a little bit ridiculous to pretend that there has been no hyperinflation in the

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

One of the old landmarks of the city is being torn down to make way for the march of progress. The old hotel building that has weathered the storms of 20 winters and so many summers at the corner of Second Street and Sanford Avenue could not withstand the ravages of the fire that occurred there several weeks ago and the owner, Mrs. DeForest, would not allow the building to be repaired, being progressive and desirous for a better Sanford. Contractor Spinhofler has a force of men on the building dismantling it and in a few weeks a fine building will arise from the foundations.

Frank Parker, of St. Augustine, will arrive in the city today and take charge of the bicycle store of W. S. Parker in the Phillips block.

E. E. Brady has returned from a trip to Americus, Ga. where he was called by the illness of Mrs. Brady. He left her greatly improved and her many friends here hope for her speedy recovery.

Horace W. Way, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Terhoun, left for his home in Savannah on the early morning train Sunday after a delightful visit.

Miss Bertie Elley and Mr. Milm Casaday stole a march on their friends and were quietly married Wednesday morning, July 14, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Elley, only the family and two or three friends being present.

Work is now going ahead on the mammoth four-story department store in Orlando. A local firm has the contract for the iron work and all metal work, and this alone amounts to over $12,000. The new building will be a credit and an ornament to Orlando.

Hereafter, he said, all emergency unemployment relief funds will be spent on activities that will last and that will give the men who perform the work the feeling that they are actually doing something worthwhile and are not merely the recipients of thinly disguised charities.

Grass Cutting To Relieve Jobless Is Declared "Out"

TAMPA, July 22.—Spending of half a million dollars a month for grass cutting to relieve unemployment is definitely "out" in Florida, and expenditure of this money for permanent public works is "in," declared Marcus Fagg, Jacksonville man recently appointed State Administrator of Emergency Relief Work who was here yesterday conferring with Carl D. Brown, chairman of the Hillsborough County Relief Committee. Mr. Fagg stated the "made" work paid for by local, county, and Federal funds was good enough for quick and serious emergencies, until something better could be provided, but that it was merely a stopgap and has now outlived its usefulness. Hereafter, he said, all emergency unemployment relief funds will be spent on activities that will last and that will give the men who perform the work the feeling that they are actually doing something worthwhile and are not merely the recipients of thinly disguised charities.

Marion Davies Will Star In Milane Film

As a play "Peg O' My Heart" is some twenty years old and yet on the talking screen it is brand new.

The reason for this is in the apparent agelessness of the charming story. In the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature playing at the Milane Sunday and Monday, Marion Davies breathes new life into the captivating character created in the theater by Laurette Taylor.

In her deft hands, Peg seems to have a new personality and yet with it loses none of the crystal romance of the Irish gamine we knew so well on the stage. Miss Davies' performance is assuredly the best of many recent appearances. She has endowed her Peg with a finer understanding and sympathy that might be traceable to her own Irish ancestry.

The comedy moments of the story abound in richness of dialogue and situations and the love theme, with Onslow Stevens as Sir Gerald, adds a poetic gentleness. The story of Peg is so well known to dwell upon but comes upon the screen with a freshness that is delightful, stirring at the same time fond reminiscences of another day.

"Necessity" Test Will Be Used In Raising Tariffs

LONDON, July 22.—(AP)—The United States will apply "the precise test of necessity" before raising tariffs under the farm relief and industrial recovery acts. Secretary of State Cordell Hull told the world economic conference yesterday in a final appeal for perpetuation of the tariff truce.

As the world congress ended its consideration of trade policies Secretary Hull presented a tentative resolution setting forth the American position which he urged as a basis for study during the recess which begins next Thursday.

The document which the American chief delegate submitted provided the ground for continuation of President Roosevelt's tariff armistice. It indicated that the United States proposed to raise only import duties as may be made necessary by higher costs through higher wages and shorter working hours, only as an emergency measure and after due notice to the countries affected.

As the United States prepared to enter negotiations for separate special trade agreements with countries in the Western Hemisphere, the resolution made it clear that the American program intends to maintain the principle of equal treatment for all nations.

One-Fourth Of State Cotton Will Be Lost

GAINESVILLE, July 22.—(AP)—One-fourth of the potential 1933 cotton crop in Florida will be taken out of production as a result of the cotton adjustment plan declared in effect by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Officials of the state agricultural extension service yesterday said more than 4000 growers in 21 Florida counties have signed agreements to abandon 22,000 acres. While this is not quite one-fourth of the total state acreage, they said, it is estimated that the 22,000 acres have a potential yield of 8000 bales which is fully one-fourth of the expected production for this year.

President Decides To Keep Hands Off Market Activities

Informed at his regular conference yesterday with newspapermen that reports had been circulated in Wall Street concerning his health, to drive prices down, the President simply replied: "Look at me."

The view was expressed in administration quarters that many people attached undue importance to fluctuations in stock prices.

It was added that if speculators and investors insist upon bidding prices up above their real value they must realize that these prices are very apt to come down.

There was no doubt that the President had been watching the recent movements on the exchanges to determine the possibility of their interfering with his domestic recovery campaign. It was made clear that no drop in prices was particularly desired but also that Mr. Roosevelt and his cabinet do not want another speculative boom that might lead to a tailspin.

ROOSEVELT IS CONFIDENT OF RECOVERY IDEA

Yesterday the President spread the benefits of the cotton code's labor terms to the knit underwear and textile finishing industries, which together employ workers estimated at considerably more than 200,000. He signed an order permitting these two lines to come under the promulgated agreement voluntarily, as they offered to do, until such time as they have costs of their own in force.

There is no enforcement power back of this temporary provision, which strictly applies to silk, rayon and the thread industries.

Other hearings proceeded again with labor protesting wage and hour terms. William Green, president of the federation of labor, humbly put in a vigorous attack against lumbermen's proposal to fix minimum wages.

Preparations were hastened for next week's major hearing on the oil industry, but at a preliminary round-table among oil men a sharp discussion among themselves indicated agreement on the creation of a central or "police" committee to supervise operation of the code once it goes into force.

Coal operators from the north-east and southern fields were requested to have terms together on a basic wage scale at the $4-a-day level, with a 40-cent daily differential for southern fields and a 4-cent differential for the Fairmont district, West Virginia.

For the present Johnson and his associates were refusing to give official interpretations of the agreement's many-sided provisions. Informally they say that it applies to everybody everywhere who employs more than two workers.

There is no provision for blanket exemption of any class of employers and only individual cases complaining of hardship will get consideration.

Organized public opinion and individual conscience will be the only support. All signers pledge themselves to speed in a code of fair competition to supplement the voluntary agreement by Sept. 1, but the law makes no provision for presentation of a code by professional groups such as doctors, lawyers, architects, specifying only trades and industries. If professionals present one it will be given consideration.

In meeting working hours to 35 for mechanical and factory workers, hourly rates must be raised above the minimum of 40 cents if necessary to give the employee at least the same pay he received each week on a longer schedule.

Family operations which are not partnerships, where a father employs his children, are subject to exactly the same terms as all other businesses. Newsboys and salesmen on commission generally may be exempted but that is up to personal decision by Johnson himself.

A few individual specialists are to be allowed under the special exemption or hour limits for certain processes no big class of workers being let in.

MEETING TO BE HELD

Survey Discloses Farm Management Is Important Thing

CHESTERTOWN, Md., July 22.—A study of account books on 24 farms in Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline, Talbot and Dorchester counties, indicates that the degree of financial success of a farmer's work depends largely upon the variety of his enterprises and the management of his books as well as his skills, coupled with a definite agricultural plan that will make the most out of the farm investment.

The survey further reveals that the large farms and large flocks of birds do not make for success. The profit depends upon the management, no matter what the size of the farm.

The survey was directed by P. H. Myerson, expert of the University of Maryland Extension Service, after the service had sponsored the use of account books on eastern shore farms in order that its farmers might keep accurate records of his business.

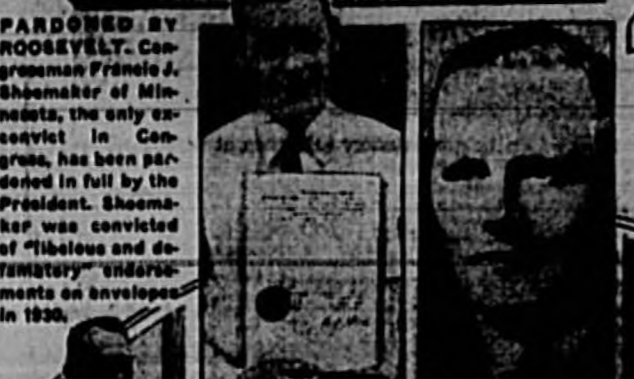

The greatest incomes, the report shows, resulted from the cultivation of a variety of enterprises. The operator had his labor distributed throughout the year rather than depending upon one or two major crops. The farms leading the list kept dairy cattle and poultry and grew truck crops and grain. The operator's total production was no greater than that of the others, but his farm was so managed that little hired help was necessary save that which was kept busy throughout the year. The operator produced the greater portion of his live-stock feed and did not depend on buying feed for his cattle.

Purely grain farms were at the bottom of the list because of poor prices. High yields, however, showed a profit in 1933 on a good market, as did fruit, but fell short when the market dropped. Quantity of production was an important factor in these units.
