Today was the day that was.
How many of you parents waddled off to the bus stop for his first day in the first grade? Also, wonder how many mothers heaved a sigh of relief.

We wonder how many mothers wept when little Junior waddled off to the bus stop for his first day in the first grade? Also, wonder how many mothers heaved a sigh of relief.

Now, mother, be honest!

The Student Council at Seminole High announces that it has completed its 1964-65 edition of the Student Handbook. The new booklet was on sale this morning when Seminole swung open its doors. They're available at the school store.

Not too long ago The Herald reported that a contract was to be let by the State Road Department in August for four-laning SR 46 from French Avenue west to Melonville.

Because the lawyers involved have not been able to get all the required right-of-way acquisition completed, it had to be postponed until September. But, according to County Engineer William Bush it's doubtful if the legal work will be completed by that time.

"It looks more like the latter part of October," Bush said this morning, "before the SRD will be ready to let the contract."

One Clock Watcher called to compliment WESH-TV (Channel 2) for its all night hurricane watch last Thursday night and Friday morning. The Herald appreciated it, too, and is passing the pat on the back along to General Manager Tom Gilchrist.

Several other callers have inquired as to why school is opening a week early this year. Superintendent R. T. Milwee explains that the laws of Florida call for 180 days of school.

"Normally we open on the day following Labor Day," he said, "but since Labor Day this year falls on Sept. 7, we had no choice but to open today to avoid keeping the schools open an extra week in June of 1965."

By the way, this is the second time in the last 17 years that this has happened.

According to our almanac, World War II officially began 25 years ago tomorrow when Germany invaded Poland. (Gosh, time doesn't just fly anymore, it jets along!)

But about the war, let's hope mankind is never cured with another world conflict. It could mean the end of this civilization.

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — Noble Prize-winner Harold Urey today was in disagreement with scientists who believe Ranger 7's historic moon photos prove the lunar surface is strong enough to support manned spacecraft.

Storm Delays School Start

BOCA RATON (UPI) — Registration at Florida Atlantic University was delayed today until Sept. 8-10 because of wind damage from hurricane Cleo, school officials said.

Dr. Kenneth Williams, president of the state's new school, said classes will begin on Sept. 14. Registration had been scheduled for today through Wednesday.

Several other callers have inquired as to why school is opening a week early this year. Superintendent R. T. Milwee explains that the laws of Florida call for 180 days of school.

The problem commenced with a Marine ambushing force occupying a bivouac area. Action was not long in coming as a friendly native agent observed and reported a small guerrilla band moving along a trail in dense growth

CD Chiefs Check Cleo Capers

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — State Civil Defense officials and engineers were making a detailed Florida hurricane damage survey Monday for submission to Gov. Farris Bryant.

The national hurricane center in Miami has estimated that Hurricane Cleo did at least $200 million worth in a sweep up the state's east coast last week.

The governor said he will not tour the damaged areas in person, but added that detailed reports by state officials will determine how much

All telephone service disrupted by Hurricane Cleo has been restored in the Sanford area, Robert Shelden, local Southern Bell Telephone manager, said today.

"There may still be some incoming maintenance problems where water has seeped into connections, but it is being given first priority for restoration," Shelden said.

Shelden said that the out-of-state men have reported in at Gainesville for assignments to various cities in Florida.

located at a junction of two trails and a small clearing which offered the maximum "killing ground." After security elements were posted along the trail, the ambush commander hastily set about positioning the men and checking camouflage. The ambush now set in, the commander conducted a final inspection and removed all evidence that Marines were in the area.

Absolute silence now prevailed over the area for even a snap at a mosquito could betray the ambush. Nothing more can now be done except to remain alert and wait, and the question in every Marine's

15,300 Children Make Tracks To County Classes

By Julian Stranstrom Associate Editor

It was a record!

The 15,300 Seminole County children who were greeted by 612 teachers plus principals, administrators and guidance counselors when the 1964-65 school term got under way this morning was approximately 100 more than "answered the bells" a year ago.

"In all probability," said Walter Teague, school board administrative assistant, "we'll have a new record for first grade enrollment."

Twenty-three schools opened this morning plus the Seminole Business School. R. T. Milwee, school superintendent, said that reports from the various school principals indicate the opening went as he put it — "smoothly."

He added, "We had, of course, some transportation problems. But we always have them and we're confident they'll be worked out by the end of this week or early next week."

For Milwee, it was the 11th time he had supervised the "answering of the bells" during his tenure as school system superintendent. Prior to that the late T. W. Lawton was the school's chief for 38 openings. And, even further back, D. L. Thrasher — the county's first superintendent — was in charge of the opening of two terms.

The term began this morning with 612 of the 614 authorized teachers on hand, Stewart Gatchel, in charge of teacher procurement for the system, said that two more teachers were needed to complete the county's teaching staff.

"We have one teacher on the way," he added, "and I'm sure we'll engage the other within a day or two."

According to Gatchel, Seminole is fortunate in that teacher procurement is a real problem in some of the surrounding counties. "In fact," he said, "one nearby county was short some 40 instructors as of last Friday."

Teague said that a complete enrollment report would be available Tuesday. He added that he anticipated enrollment increases to bring the number of Seminole County school children to 16,000 by Christmas.

Major B. T. Chen, commanding Marine barracks, said that "while physical security of the Naval Air Station in Sanford, all Marines, regardless of duty station, must continually receive training in the tactics and techniques of warfare, both conventional and unconventional."

"With continued emphasis on guerrilla type operations and the always existing possibility that Marines may have to fight this type action, this field exercise gives us an excellent opportunity to practice in the field what we have been learning in the barracks classroom for the past several months."

Police Keep Tricky Calm

By Gene Harris

United Press International PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A weekend of Negro rioting, plundering and bloodshed waned into sporadic outbreaks of vandalism and looting today.

Mayor James H. J. Tate declared the situation under control but kept in force a 24-hour curfew and a guard of 1,500 policemen in the ravaged Negro area in North Philadelphia known as the "jungle."

A total of 348 persons were injured, seven of them in brief skirmishes with police Sunday night. More than 100 of the injured were policemen. The mayor said "damage costs" would amount to several million dollars, including overtime pay for 3,000 patrolmen.

The number arrested by police during the three days of conflict total 369 men, women and teenagers. A special court was set up at City Hall to dispose of the charges against them. A total of 197 cases had been disposed of before Judge Vincent A. Carroll adjourned court shortly before midnight until this morning. Most of the defendants were held in jail.

Patrolmen armed with riot clubs patrolled the six-square-mile area constantly. Some rode in buses as complete squads ready to rush into various sections where trouble

Mix Barriers Fall In Biloxi Schools

By Al Kuetner

United Press International BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — Racial barriers fell for the first time in Mississippi public schools today when two Negro students walked peacefully in Gorenflo Elementary School in this coastal city.

Biloxi school Supt. R. D. Brown announced that two of the seven Negroes registered for that school entered at 8:15 a. m. CST, largely ignored by white students beginning a new term.

Seventeen Negroes were to enter four Biloxi schools in one of four areas in Mississippi desegregating the first grade this year under federal court orders.

In contrast to racial violence that has swept other sections of the state, a peaceful transition was indicated on the school front here.

Biloxi was one of four areas in Mississippi desegregating public schools this fall under federal court orders.

School Supt. R. D. Brown said he anticipates "no problem whatsoever" over the integration. He said several meetings of faculties and principals of the schools involved have been held to pre-

Sanford - Based Marines Conduct Guerrilla Warfare Operation

Central Florida today was the scene of simulated enemy guerrilla activity as Marines from Marine Barracks, Sanford Naval Air Station, took to the air and ground to launch operation "Little Squeeze," a counter-guerrilla warfare field training exercise.

Reports from the field gave the following account on the initial phase of the operation:

The problem commenced with a Marine ambushing force occupying a bivouac area. Action was not long in coming as a friendly native agent observed and reported a small guerrilla band moving

Mother Burns 3 Tots, Herself

By G. S. Carlson
United Press International
ATLANTA (UPI) — Steve Martin, an eight-year-old Little League, was supposed to start school today. Instead he lies in a hospital bed, his mind a muddle of confused thoughts.

Steve was the victim of a nightmarish tragedy which took the lives of his mother and three little sisters.

Police said the mother, Katherine Martin, a winoemaker, 28-year-old, drenched Steve and the three girls with gasoline Saturday night, doused the fluid over her own body and struck a match. All four were turned into human torches.

Mrs. Martin and Jean, 6, Susan, 3, and Sarah, 18 months, were killed.

But Steve made a dash across the front yard, his flesh aflame, and a neighbor spotted him. The neighbor, W. F. Wolfe, threw him to the ground and extinguished the flames with a blanket.

The tragedy shocked the middle class neighborhood in the industrial suburb of Chamblee where the Martins lived.

Little Steve mumbled from his hospital bed that his mother kept saying, "I've got to do it; I've got to do it," as she poured gasoline on the children and lit the matches to their bodies late Saturday night.

Steve was in critical condition at Georgia Baptist Hospital with burns over 40 per cent of his body.

Police said Mrs. Martin had filed for divorce from her husband, James, but later withdrew the suit. The couple was living together at the time of the tragedy.

Soviet Leader, Czech Confer On Red Woes

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev retired to a country castle today for talks on communism's problems with Czech President Antonin Novty.

The agenda for the talks was not made public, but the two leaders were reported concentrating on these subjects:

—The Sino-Soviet split, Czechoslovakia supports the Soviet position on a world summit meeting to deal with China's opposition to Moscow policies, Khrushchev is expected to seek Novty's aid in winning over other Communist leaders who now may be wavering.

—The Czech economy. Khrushchev was expected to ask Novty to integrate his economy more closely with those of his neighbors in the Soviet bloc. Some observers predicted Novty would get permission to reduce the large amounts of arms and industrial equipment Czechoslovakia sends to the underdeveloped world.

Khrushchev Sunday ran into trouble on two fronts Sunday in his campaign to expel Peking from the world Communist ranks.

Radio Peking broadcast China's second rejection of the Soviet invitation of a preliminary meeting of 26 Communist parties this December.

Italian Communist leaders made a series of speeches Sunday to underline the opposition of their party, the largest in the West, to any Soviet move to expel China.

Congress Back In Session, Key Issues Pondered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress returns today to continue wrangling over several key issues — with the added prospect that a dose of presidential politics may be thrown in for good measure.

The lawmakers, in recess during the past week for the Democratic national convention, were eager to wind up business and begin the campaign. But leaders indicated that it might be three to four weeks before Congress can adjourn.

Among issues still facing the House and Senate are Medicare, state legislative reapportionment, foreign aid and one portion of President Johnson's $1 billion proposal for revitalizing the depressed Appalachia region as part of his anti-poverty program.

Although both Johnson and GOP presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater were on pre-campaign vacations and were not on hand as Congress got back to work, the session was expected to have political overtones.

Both Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey and Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., the two vice presidential nominees, returned to Washington for the resumption of Congress.

In addition, 35 of the 100 Senate seats and all the House seats are at stake in the November election, giving many members a campaign interest in the final legislative action.

Congressional leaders had hoped to finish their work before the Democratic convention, but the issue of legislative reapportionment stalled the drive.

It is also expected to be a possible stumbling block to a quick cleanup of the post-convention session.

The reapportionment dispute revolves around a bipartisan compromise proposal in the Senate aimed at postponing the effect of the recent Supreme Court order that state legislatures be districted on the basis of population only.

The proposal has been introduced as a rider to the administration's $3.3 billion foreign aid program, which has already been approved by the House. Senate liberals are pledged to oppose the reapportionment amendment, blocking final approval of the aid program.

To add to the tangle, the House has passed a stiffer reapportionment bill which would take the matter out of the jurisdiction of federal courts.

Other measures still pending are a $135 million increase in the administration's area re-development program and an added authorization for the accelerated public works program.

The Senate has already approved the additional funds for the re-development program, but the measure is reported to be in trouble in the House. Neither House has acted on the public works bill.

President Returns To Duties

By Alvin Spivak
United Press International

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. — (UPI)—President Johnson returned to the formalities of office today that ended a relaxed ranch country weekend which ranged from moments of sentiment to hilarity.

Two Chief Executive aides, a presidential running mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who returned to Washington for the Senate's reconvening.

Johnson scheduled a phone call to the plasterer's union meeting at the Sheraton Hotel in Philadelphia. Then, he planned to sign into law the 1964 measure extending the food stamp program.

Johnson, who arrived here with Humphrey and their wives on Friday from Atlantic City, N. J., scene of the Democratic National Convention was uncertain Sunday when he would head back to Washington. He said he was thinking of staying at his LBJ ranch near here for "a couple of days" more.

Saturday night, Johnson was honored by more than 1,000 of his neighbors at a barbecue celebrating his 56th birthday, which was Thursday. He made a speech forecasting a "long and tough" election campaign and keyed largely to a defense of his administration's policies in Vietnam and other crisis areas.

But Sunday, from a warm, personal standpoint, brought the highlight of the weekend when President and Mrs. Johnson took Humphrey, his wife and their 16-year-old son, Douglas, for a 15-minute tour of the ranch.

A score of cameramen and reporters trailed along as the President and his running mate shouted "yaboo" and chased cattle for the photographers. During one such ad-

Keating To Get Tepid Support

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a Republican moderate, will be nominated for a second term today with the indirect blessings of the conservative wing of the party.

Keating, at odds with Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, will be given the official "green light" by the New York state Republican committee. The committee acts in lieu of a state convention.

The White-haired senator's stops in their campaign to hold the Senate seat. Dewey and former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, old political pros in semi-retirement, took charge of the Keating drive.

The withdrawal of Mrs. Luce, it was reported, came after a series of calls from all top Republican leaders, including Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Dewey, Sen. Jacob K. Javits and others.

paradox

This five-passenger family car regularly contradicts its peaceful appearance by running off competition-equipped and winning international races and rallies. Score to date: more than 140 firsts in 23 countries. Because of its "outstanding performance, reliability and versatility in competition around the world," Cortina has been named "International Car of the Year" by Auto-Universum, a leading European motoring publication. Imported and distributed by Ford Motor Company, Cortina is now available in the GT, 2- or 4-door deluxe sedan and the station wagon. The 2-door deluxe lists for only $1755* and, like all Cortinas, offers bucket seats, a four-speed synchromesh floor-mounted gearshift, five-passenger comfort, American size nuts and bolts, ample luggage room and up to 32 miles to the gallon. Automatic transmission is also available on most models. (Cortina's four-passenger counterpart, the new Anglia Deluxe, offers most of the Cortina advantages and lists for only $1598*) Meet Cortina, the 1964 "International Car of the Year," the economy compact that is the new look in race winners. Your English Ford Line dealer invites you to explore this paradox.

Keeper Of Human Liberty

"It (the government) must exist to serve the needs of the people. It is to be helped as long as it serves the country well and changed when it neglects its duty."

Thus did President Johnson talk to some 60,000 Boy Scouts at Valley Forge recently, on the site where the flame of American freedom flickered to its lowest 189 years ago.

These few words contain not only an essay on the democratic philosophy of government and the uses of responsible citizenship. They go to the heart of some fundamental questions confronting Americans in this election year.

Has the government—the federal government in Washington—served the country well in the posture of power it has adopted over the past few decades? What are the real needs of the people, and might they be better served in other ways?

The corollaries are: Have the other partners in our government—the states—fulfilled their roles in this matter as they should?

What has been gained and what lost in the shift of leadership and initiative to Washington in so many areas?

There is no dispute over the federal concept of government itself, whereby the states surrendered certain sovereign powers, under the Constitution, to a central administration—"in order to form a more perfect Union."

The great debate is and always has been over matters far less definite and restricted. It revolves about such ringing phrases in the preamble to the Constitution as: "...establish justice, insure domestic tranquility ... promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

There is nothing new to this debate, but it has become intensified in our lifetimes. We are swimming in full flood of revolutions in population growth, industrial technology, urban living, economic and social patterns.

Each of these revolutions has resulted in greater and greater involvement by government—on all levels—in our daily lives and the seeming engulfment of the individual by laws, forms, reports, numbers, deductions. Throughout it all, in the making of laws and the granting of powers, there is one touchstone we strive to keep within reach—human liberty.

Yet even this is no certain guide, for one man's liberties rub up against another's. No man is truly free to do whatever he pleases.

The touchstone has another side—the greatest good for the greatest number. Yet even here, there is always the danger that the needs of minorities may be overridden by an inflexible devotion to majority rule.

There are no simple answers to our complex problems, no easy way to meet the myriad modern challenges to tranquility and liberty.

Responsible citizenship in 1964 requires more than that we take the trouble to cast our votes for the representatives of our choice.

It demands that that choice be informed by careful study of the basic issues often obscured by slogans and shibboleths—that we register our decision not out of mere habit, or prejudice, or wishful thinking, but only after deliberate consideration as to what we believe best serves the needs of the people and the country.

Shotgun Partnership

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Should a businessman ever be forced to take a partner? Such shotgun weddings have for years been the law of gangland where crooks demand partnerships in businesses and give "protection" in return. A more respectable kind of forced-partnership has occurred when Nationalist or Socialist governments around the world take over private enterprises by acquiring the stock, physical assets and opportunities, in whole or part.

Well, last week something of the sort happened here. It is not a clean-cut case of shotgun partnership, for that would arouse public resentment and would bring the business-wool Johnson Administration under suspicion of being anti-business. But it is a tricky transaction in which a quasi-government agency gets the help of a government commission to fasten unwanted wedlock upon private business.

What with Viet Nam and Cyprus, Negro street rioting and a presidential election cranking up, there was little publicity on August 14th when the Communications Satellite Corporation (Comsat) petitioned the Federal Communications Commission for exclusive "ownership and operation" of four projected ground-stations which would serve a global satellite system of commercial communications.

The ground-stations would be located in New England, the Southeastern States, the Northwestern States and in Hawaii. Three large private companies now operate in these regions. They have 30 days to respond to the Comsat petition and are not speaking for quotation. But this reporter has discerned certain signs of anguish in corporate circles since the petition was filed, and upon investigation draws these conclusions:

American Telephone and Telegraph Corporation would be adversely affected in the Northeast where it already owns a ground-station in Maine, and in the Southeast where its affiliate, American Cable and Radio Corp., runs virtually all the communications with Latin America. In the Northwest, the General Telephone and Electronics Corp., is dominant, and stands to lose an opportunity if Comsat moves in with a ground-station. In Hawaiian Telephone Company, a private concern, would be denied a chance to build a station if FCC rules in favor of exclusive ownership by Comsat. The case would be clearer if Comsat were a slon-pure federal entity (like the Post Office) instead of being a quasi-federal agency with mixed public-private corporate ownership and management. When Congress in 1962 set up this unique corporation, the matter of ownership and operation of ground-stations was left to future decision. The law provides that FCC shall rule on an arrangement which "will best serve the public interest, convenience and necessity."

The basic arguments of Comsat vs. the private companies are easily predictable. Comsat speaks for central planning, speed-up and American-controlled supremacy in this international field. The companies will probably plead for competition, higher quality, economic opportunity and profits. But deep in the background is an eerie struggle for the overseas communications trade. The American Tel. and Tel. (with $58 million of its own money in Comsat) has developed a transistORIZED submarine cable which can do almost everything that the Space-borne satellites can do.

With cables vs. satellites in the market, will there be business enough for both? The cable-owning companies contend that there will be. The Comsat-backers fear that there will not be. And the effort of Comsat to gain exclusive ownership of ground-stations looks very much like the attempt of a quasi-government utility to injure a private-enterprise rival.

in comparison with other youngsters of its own calendar age and standard home surroundings.

I. Q. is thus similar to the horsepower of your automobile engine.

But a low horsepower engine may still haul more loads if it keeps steadily on the road, than a high powered car that rusts in idleness in the garage.

So I. Q. alone is not the only requisite for success. You need to add "elbow grease," honesty, plus education, etc.

The "Army Alpha" was the first successful adult Intelligence Test. It was developed during World War I.

But even without such special I. Q. testing, you can estimate a person's I. Q. fairly well just by his school record.

For example, anybody who graduates from a first class high school has an I. Q. of approximately 110 as a minimum.

College graduates would average close to 125.

"Yes, Dr. Crane," Ellen protested, "but suppose a person never had a chance to complete even the 8th grade."

"Maybe he had to drop out of school to help a widowed mother and a houseful of younger brothers or sisters. "How could he then know if he had a normal I. Q., especially if he never had an official psychological test?"

Well, you can make a shrewd estimate by means of this newspaper!

For example, if you read this educational column regularly, your I. Q. must be 110 or higher.

For people of lower I. Q. are not concerned with college stuff and this column is really a university clinic in modern psychiatry and psychology.

As such, it automatically can indicate if you have a high I. Q.

Now don't get the wrong notion, for many people of high I. Q. also relish newspaper features that are liked by those of lower I. Q.

Contrast the two columns below. You can enjoy the items at the left with an I. Q. of 90 to 100, whereas it usually requires from 110 to 125 to relish the items at the right: 90-100 I. Q. 110-125 I. Q.

Comics Worry Clinic

Crime Stories Editorial page

Sports Financial page

You can easily expand these two lists, but please remember that this simple newspaper test is a quick yardstick for estimating I. Q.

Beware, however, for this rule does not work both ways. Thus, a person of high I. Q. may enjoy comics, sports, etc., but a reader of lower I. Q. tends to avoid the items listed in the right hand column!

Moreover, some hillbillies who couldn't even read and write, still had an I. Q. to match that of college professors, so mere lack of education is not a sure sign of low I. Q.

Letters

To The Editor

Editor, Herald:
Several letters have recently appeared in a newspaper attacking the John Birch Society calling them a hate organization. Since these writers do not deal in specifics, this puts them in the position of hating something they know nothing about. That is being a hate monger, the very thing they are accusing the John Birch Society of.

I have read the Congressional Record of the rules and principles of the JBS. It is a most honorable organization, composed of members who realize the danger of the Communist conspiracy to our country, and dedicated to eliminating it from our shores, most completely.

They have been most effective because the Communists and the pro-Communists are howling plenty loud about that "awful John Birch Society," without saying why it is awful.

But for the JBS, the Communists would be in complete control now, without little doubt. Thank them, if you are interested in preserving freedom for you and your children. Goldwater is an ardent anti-Communist. Let's put him in office—we can't afford not to.

About Ben Adam
Editor, Herald:
My answer to E. O. Cronan:

First, there was a slight error in the spelling of my name. It's Daniel, I'm a male.

Now in regards to Goldwater. He does not believe in Social Security. He wants to declare war on every country that doesn't agree with him. In all his speeches he contradicts himself, always changing his mind. He cannot make up his mind; a good trait for a president.

So he was a major general in the Army Reserves. If he was not a senator he would have been a buck private, a janitor.

Where do you get your news? All the leading newspapers, radio and TV say that no one knew about the shooting of the Commies at Tonkin Bay until it was all over.

We should all be concerned about nuclear weapons. He wants to give nuclear weapons to all the small countries. Do you have any idea what the outcome would be? But Goldwater would allow any impulsive trigger happy person handy to push the buttons.

I know a little about war. I am a veteran of two wars. Was in the trenches in 1917 and was in Eritrea, East Africa, in 1942, also at Okinawa. Anyone that says they are not afraid of war, lies.

Editor, Herald:
Later we will vote on a permanent group to run our society. I do hope at our next meeting we will have a crowd of animal lovers. Also a large attendance of people who will back up our project. We will have membership cards at that time. Thanks again for your cooperation.

R. T. Johnson, Chairman
Editor, Herald:
I am compelled to acknowledge Mr. Bobrow's gracious, if somewhat backhanded compliments of August 24, 1964.

Of course, the issues before the voters of Seminole County at this time are not their wisdom in declining to elect either George Bobrow or Bob Petree. The real questions revolve around Barry Goldwater and simply stated are, can we afford to have a President:

(1) who talks as loosely of using the H-bomb as a frontiersman did his rifle?

(2) whose economic philosophy considers Hoover's "chicken in every pot" socialist?

(3) whose foreign policy enlightenment ends somewhat around the time of the charge up San Juan Hill?

(4) who seems to believe the race problem was settled by the Missouri Compromise?

(5) who openly says he doesn't have a "really first rate mind"?

(6) who is being used by a potpourri of disgruntled groups to promote racial aims.

Finally, George, the question of whether I would vote for a "cross eyed hobo" if he ran on the Democratic ticket is moot since I have never come any closer to that test of party loyalty than when I voted for you in the primaries. In any event, it is our Republican friends that will have to make that decision this November as they evaluate nearly their entire slate.

Robert G. Petree

Editor, Herald:
Thanks for the front page plug and you and Mr. Morris are right about the marina being a great thing for our visiting fishermen, particularly for those who would like to bring their own boats.

But not about the inland fishing capital of Florida, for Sanford is already known all over as the Shad Capital of the World.

In fact, in Sweden, the St. Johns River is known as Crowe's Creek, at least it so referred to in an article on Florida shad fishing in Svenst Fiske published in Stockholm.

S. B. (Jim) Crowe

Editor, Herald:
I see that George Bobrow struck a tender nerve on Robert G. Petree when George stated in a letter to the editor that a real Democrat should vote for Barry Goldwater.

Obviously, Mr. Petree's rebuttal only proves that Goldwater is for an addle-brained age, if they put it on the Democrat ticket and called it a candidate.

As for me, and millions more real Democrats, — we put principle above party politics. We'll still vote for Barry Goldwater.

Barry To End Vacation, Form Campaign Strategy

Senator Plans Movie-Making As Dirve Help

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Republican presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater planned to end his six-day pre-campaign vacation cruise today and begin the earnest final preparations for his campaign to win the White House.

The Arizona senator, who has been cruising California coastal waters for nearly a week, planned to leave the borrowed yacht Sundance here in late afternoon. He was scheduled to make some film strips in the Los Angeles area Tuesday and then leave for Arizona, where he formally launches his presidential campaign in Prescott on Thursday.

Some business was mixed in with the final day of cruising Sunday. Campaign director Denison Kitchel was expected on board the Sundance for talks on scheduling and other campaign plans.

Goldwater cruised southward to Santa Catalina Island off the coast here late Saturday.

ODD BIRD — In its final taxi test, the RS-70 moves up and down the runway at Palmdale, Calif., accompanied by a convoy of fire-light-vehicles. First test flight is expected shortly.

Experts Avoid 'Cane Seeding' Meet Postponed

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane researchers did not "seed" killer storm Cleo with silver iodide in an attempt to cut down its force because they weren't sure what the effects of such a move would be.

Dr. R. C. Gentry, chief of the National Hurricane Bureau here said the matter was discussed as Cleo approached Florida before an estimated $200 million destructive sweep up the coast.

"We don't know enough about hurricanes to begin a program of reckless seeding," said Gentry.

"We need more information about plain unseeded hurricanes before we can determine the effects of seeding."

The seeding process consists of dropping silver iodide crystals into a storm from a hurricane hunter plane.

Dr. Gentry said results of two seeding tests in Hurricane Beulah last year are still being analyzed and are incomplete. He said no such tests are planned this season, but this does not mean the program is over.

There was a sharp drop in wind intensity in Beulah after the first seeding, but the second produced a change in the storm, which stayed far from land in the Atlantic.

"We don't know whether the drop in wind intensity was due to the seeding or whether it was a normal change," Gentry said.

Gracie Allen Funeral Rites Planned Today

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — Comedienne Gracie Allen takes her final curtain call today, but for the first time in more than three decades there will be tears, not laughter.

The great and near-great of Hollywood were expected to attend funeral services for Miss Allen today at the Church of the Recessional in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Miss Allen died last Thursday night of a heart attack. The wife and comedy partner of George Burns for 36 years, Miss Allen had suffered several minor heart attacks in the past, but appeared in good health until she was stricken Thursday night. Burns rushed her to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital and was at her bedside when she died within an hour.

The 58-year-old actress-comedienne was born into a theatrical family in San Francisco and made her stage debut at the age of 4.

The Legal Profession — guardians of justice, protectors of freedom!

Justice under the law and freedom under the constitution are inseparable. For, without freedom, justice is a mockery... without justice, freedom is an empty word.

The men and women of the American legal profession — the lawyers in private practice, the district attorneys, judges and justices — all are free of socialistic dictatorships... free to invoke the laws of a free nation to protect every individual from persecution, prejudice and lawless acts of others... free to chart a course for all who seek advice and aid.

Florida Power and Light Company is proud to salute the members of the legal profession... in Florida and across the nation... the men and women who translate the theory of freedom which is our nation's constitution, into freedom-in-fact... which keeps our nation powerful!

Freedom inspires growth... and Florida Power & Light Company is constantly building to keep abreast of our growing need for power. FPL's past achievements, as an investor-owned, tax-paying member of the world's greatest power system, have been possible only because our nation is free from the oppression of socialistic dictatorship. We hope, through even more outstanding performance, to encourage the trend in America today which proposes more freedom for private enterprise... so that business and industry may serve our country even more efficiently tomorrow!

White Sox Nip Birds; Phils Survive Their Roughest Week

Moose's Blow May Be Homer Of The Year

By Fred Down
UPI Sports Writer

"If Moose gives us the muscle, we can win."

It was July 15 and the Chicago White Sox were in third place in the American League when General Manager Ed Short made that comment after obtaining Bill Skowron in a waiver deal with the Washington Senators.

Now it's the head of the September stretch run, the White Sox are in second place only a half game behind the Baltimore Orioles and Skowron is making Short look like a mighty fine prophet, indeed. In fact, if the White Sox go on to win the pennant they may look back on the homer Skowron hit Sunday, Aug. 30, as their most important single hit of the season.

The blow came off Robin Roberts and snapped a scoreless tie in the fifth inning of the White Sox' clutch 3-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

By going on to win the game, they remained only a half game out of first place.

When the 23-year-old Skowron joined the White Sox he was hitting .271 with 18 homers and 41 runs batted in. Since then he's raised his average to .285, has hit two key homers and driven in 25 runs.

The New York Yankees kept to within three games of the lead with a 9-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox, the Minnesota Twins shaded the Washington Senators 6-4, the Los Angeles Angels nipped the Detroit Tigers 5-4 and the Cleveland Indians topped the Kansas City Athletics 6-5 after a 9-3 defeat.

SHS Gridmen Begin Third Week Of Workouts For Fall Campaign

By David Higginbotham
Herald Sports Writer

The Seminole High grid squad got its third week of workouts started this afternoon at the SHS athletic field as they prep for their Sept. 18 engagement with the Titusville Terriers.

The Seminoles have played in the Orange Belt Conference for the past seven seasons and were the OBC title holders four of those years. This season the Tribes leave the OBC to compete in the rougher competition of the Metro Conference. Seminole is the only school competing in the Metro that is not in Orange County.

The Terriers have been edging closer to defeating the locals for a number of years and are expected to have a hard hitting grid machine this season.

From all reports the Tribes will be outwitted by most of its opponents, but it may make up that difference by their high spirits, their love for the game, their pride in the team, and their pride in SHS. Most of the 21 returning lettermen have put on weight, some of which will be kept and the rest to be transformed in to muscle before Sept. 18, it's hoped.

Police Officer Named Certified Gun Instructor

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sanford police officer Donald E. Brumley of 1514 Summerlin Ave., has been appointed a certified rifle and pistol instructor. It was announced here today by the National Rifle Association of America.

The new instructor passed a series of tests and served a prescribed period of time in training activities before receiving certification. He is now qualified to conduct local classes in firearms operation, safe gun-handling, and the techniques of shooting on the target range and in the field.

Brumley joins the ranks of selected personnel maintained by the NRA throughout the country in its small arms education program. The program has been in operation since 1970; since that time many millions of people have been taught to handle and enjoy firearms safely.

Sandy May Sit Out Remainder Of NL Season

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dodger pitcher Sandy Koufax apparently will sit out the last month of the baseball season for treatment and rest of his sore left elbow.

Team physician Dr. Robert Kerlan, who was to examine Koufax' elbow today, said Sunday, "I would say it's doubtful he will pitch again this season."

E. J. (Buzze) Bavasi, Dodger general manager, said there "was no sense" having the ailing outpaw, who is one victory shy of becoming a 20-game winner this year, travel with the team on the current road trip.

"I told him to come home. I want to find out what's wrong," said Bavasi, who said he talked with Koufax by telephone before the Dodger-Carolina game Sunday in St. Louis.

Koufax told manager Walter Alton before Sunday's game that the arm felt worse than ever.

Plans Set For Boat-A-Cade

KISSIMMEE — When some 300 or more boaters from all parts of the United States arrive here Thursday to participate in the 18th annual Kissimmee Boat-A-Cade, they will have to face King Neptune's Court.

The Boat-A-Cade is an annual cruise leaving here and going down the Kissimmee River Valley, the heartland of Florida, to Lake Okechobee. This year the southernmost point will be Clewiston, and the cruise will return here on Monday, Sept. 7.

King Neptune's Court will be patterned somewhat after the "Crossing the Equator" ceremony conducted on ships plying between the two hemispheres. There will be the court and trial, the possible walking of the plank, and other nautical penalties; and when it is all over, the captain of each boat will receive a certificate allowing him to proceed "south into the wild and little known Sea of Okechobee."

Mantle Breaks A Ruth Record

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Mantle tops Babe Ruth today in at least one respect.

Mantle struck out Sunday for the 1,331st time in his major league career, surpassing Ruth's all-time major league mark of 1,230. Mantle is playing his 14th season while Ruth played 22.

Between Us Fans

By Bob Sadyk
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

To the grand old game's greater myths — that many things happen only to the Mets, that Yogi Berra is funny — we would add, THE BEANBALL!

Sportswriters who have made the inept Mets a funny team and Yogi Berra a funny guy can now take credit for inventing the beanball. I mean the intricacies of the infield fly rule can get boring.

Ask any ballplayer and he'll deny that such a pitch exists. Invariably they'll tell you, "Beanball? Why I never seen one thrown in my life (especially the three that hit him between the eyes)."

Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews once said, "I think that the beanball is something that the sportswriters have made up."

The Twins' Tony Oliva, who is so good he may report directly to the Hall of Fame, swings a bat so swiftly that one pitcher remarked: "All I ask is that he wait till I let go of the ball."

Pitchers have decided their only out is homicide. Oliva leads the league in batting and head X-rays. If it weren't for his batting helmet which covers everything but his eyes, he wouldn't need a number. He'd be the one with blood leaking from his ears.

Recently he was given the highest honor for a rookie — a concussion. If he keeps hitting, he may need his own ambulance. Blue Cross may ask out of the deal.

"I have been beet maybe 12 times... here, here, over here and back here," he said, gingerly touching his tender badges of course. "I don't know why it happen... it don't bother me. I bet better because I get two free balls (brushback pitches) when I bat. Three strikes and two balls for walk is good, eh?" he laughed.

Cincinnati pitcher Bob Purkey agreed that the brushback pitch doesn't always work the way you want it to: "Sometimes you brush a hitter back and wake him up and all of a sudden you can't get him out. You don't throw at him (the batter), though. If you did you wouldn't hit him."

Well, if the pitchers aren't hitting the batters, somebody better check for footprints behind the mound!

Another hurler brilliantly added recently, "It's a beanball only when a close pitch hits a batter on the head."

Harmon Killebrew, who hits homers faster than any man in history except Babe Ruth (every 12.8 times at bat — the other 11 times he strikes out) says, "The beanball is overpublicized. A lot of hitters get brushed back a little. A close pitch keeps you sharp. But they don't throw at you..."

Yet to hit 60 home runs, he would have to get at least a dozen of them from a seat in the dugout.

Philadelphia's Jim Bunning once explained, "There are guys who stand close to the plate (like in the batter's box) and the only way to get them out is to pitch them tight. But nobody purposely tries to hit a batter."

Purkey added, "If you can change a fellow's mental attitude it gives you a better chance of getting him out." Well, there's nothing like being hit on the head by a hard missile traveling about 90 mph to provide a mental adjustment.

But pitchers will still knock down batters... the batter will still get mad... and they will both deny it. That's the grand old game's way.

LYMAN HIGH'S Greyhounds this season will be getting the all-out support of the vigorous and peppy Varsity Cheerleader Squad. Norm's Vikings Only Unbeaten Club In Both Pro Grid Leagues

By Curt Block
UPI Sports Writer

Norm Van Brocklin, who once made headlines firing touchdown passes for the Philadelphia Eagles and Los Angeles Rams, now makes news by standing on the sidelines.

Actually, the fiery Dutchman's proteges do the physical work but he's the mastermind behind professional football's only undefeated team, the Minnesota Vikings.

Van Brocklin has been head coach of the Vikings since their inception in 1960 and started paying dividends last year when his squad held the champion-to-be Chicago Bears to a 17-17 tie late in the season and finished with a 5-8-1 record, good enough to share fourth place in the Western Conference with the Detroit Lions.

Saturday night, the Vikings claimed the Los Angeles Rams as their fourth straight victim in pre-season games, scoring 17 points in the third quarter and going on to a 24-23 win at Los Angeles.

The New York Giants received a pleasant surprise when first-year quarterback Gary Wood threw three

Reds, SF Nurse Headaches, 5 1/2 Tilts Behind

By Fred Down
UPI Sports Writer

"The week that was" is over for the Philadelphia Phillies — and happy they are that it's history — but king-sized hangovers are being nursed by the Cincinnati Reds and San Francisco Giants.

How long does it take to get over a hangover? Well, it could be over in 24 hours for the Phillies but it could last all winter for the Reds and Giants. Because it was a week in which the Phillies gave the other two contenders a golden opportunity to make up important ground but in which the Reds and Giants failed to make a strong move.

In the last seven days, the Phillies won only three of seven games but the Reds did no better than win four of seven and the Giants won only three of their seven games. And so the Phillies' National League lead remains a tidy 5 1/2 games and 11-m.e., the strongest ally a team can have in a pennant countdown — is more and more on their side.

It was more of the same Sunday when the Pittsburgh Pirates clobbered the Phillies 10-3 but the Reds and Giants could get no better than a split of their doubleheaders. The Reds rallied to shade the Houston Colts 7-6 after a 8-3 loss and the Giants whipped the Milwaukee Braves 13-10 but then suffered a 7-4 setback.

The St. Louis Cardinals drubbed the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 and the Chicago Cubs downed the New York Mets 7-3 in other NL action.

Newspaper Will No Longer Back Golden Gloves

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Nashville Tennessean will not sponsor the Southern Golden Gloves in 1965, the newspaper reported Sunday.

Newspaper officials said it will be the first time in 32 years that they are not sponsoring the boxing event.

Sports Editor Raymond Johnson said "a general decline in boxing interest throughout the world... and a lack of training facilities within reasonable access" to local youth was considered behind the withdrawal decision was made.

Johnson said the newspaper would "take another look at the boxing situation" before the 1965 season and determine whether to reinstate the program.

The Amateur Athletic Union has scheduled a Sept. 11 meeting at Birmingham in connection with the future of the tournament.

Catholic Guild Hears Talk On Teenagers

By Donna Estes
 Rev. Hubert J. Renson, pastor of St. Mary-Magdalen Catholic Church in Altamonte Springs, spoke on "Misunderstood Parents, a Discussion of Teenagers," at the meeting of the church's Women's Guild last week.
 He explained his knowledge of the subject by enumerating many of his experiences in working with young people over the past 15 years.
 Father Renson pointed out that lack of communication between parents and children is the greatest cause of teenage problems and advised parents to have more confidence in their youngsters.

 He stated that children must know they are loved but that they also want authority, discipline and direction from their parents. He particularly warned of dangers and resentment caused by comparison of one child to another in the family or in the family of acquaintances.
 The talk, spiced with wit throughout, as well received by an approximate 50 men and women of the parish in attendance. The discussion concluded with a question and answer period.

Commencement Exercises Held To Conclude VCS In Geneva

By JoAnn Hays
 Commencement Exercises for the Geneva Methodist Vacation Church School, which began on July 10 and was in session each Wednesday through last week, were held at the church last Wednesday morning with all departments taking part on the program.
 Mrs. W. G. Kilbee served as superintendent of the school which was conducted around the theme "God's Word To Us."
 During the closing program Johnny Sberman of the Intermediate Departments was awarded a gift for learning the most Bible verses and Diane Schulsemyer received a New Testament for answering the most questions on the Kindergarten and Primary Department's theme.
 Two very busy ladies during the school were Mrs. J. W. Yarborough and Mrs. W. B. Heath who were in charge of the nursery and were commended for their excellent services in caring for small children of the other workers.

 The Kindergarten and Primary groups were combined to form one large department with Miss Carol Sue Torres as teacher and Mrs. Imogene Yarborough and Mrs. Virginia Hughey as assistants. As a handicrafts project these children made piggy banks from plastic bleach bottles using colored scraps of felt to make the eyes, ears and nose. Wood pegs were attached for legs.
 Mrs. Joan Ford was teacher for the Junior Department with Mrs. Grace Murley as her assistant. Mrs. Murley also prepared and served refreshments each day the school was in session.
 The Juniors made Teddy Bears with bars of soap and a washcloth and placemats from bottle caps which were covered with cloth and attached together to form a cluster.

Survey Discloses JD Signs Show At Toddler Age

CHICAGO (UPI) — Juvenile delinquents often display symptoms of delinquency as early as the pre-school years, an Illinois physician says.

Consequently, the pediatrician can save many children from becoming delinquents if he helps correct anti-social behavior when it is first detected, said Dr. James B. Gillespie, chief of the Department of Pediatrics at Carle Clinic and Memorial Hospital, Urbana, Ill.

Gillespie, writing in the Illinois Medical Journal, said five social factors in the life of the pre-school child that may help determine whether a boy becomes a delinquent include: discipline of the boy by the father; supervision of the boy by the mother; affection of the father for the boy; affection of the mother of the boy; and cohesiveness of the family.

Gillespie cited a research project in which one-half of the delinquents studied were less than eight years old when anti-social tendencies first became prominent.

In the same project, nine out of 10 of the delinquents were less than 11 when such tendencies appeared.

"The treatment of the vulnerable child and the delinquent is more effective if it is given before or at the beginning of puberty," Gillespie said. "At such times the child is not confronted with the additional problems of normal adolescence."

"Eradication of delinquency cannot be relegated to law enforcement agencies alone."

Research Reveals Cervical Cancer Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Victims of cervical cancer are likely to show feelings of hopelessness, arising from childhood problems and unrelated to the disease, before the cancer appears, say two University of Rochester Medical Center researchers.

Following interviews with 40 women, Drs. Arthur H. Schmale and Howard Iker, chose 14 as being probable victims of cervical cancer. The 14 "ability" which previous experience had led the researchers to suspect was connected with cancer. Of the 14 women chosen, biopsies later revealed cancer in eight. Of the remaining 20, cancer was found in only six.

Household Hints

Don't try to oil the lock of a door or car. Oil the key and insert it. Turn key back and forth a few times.

Tack down curling linoleum edges with a staple gun. Glass fibers do not absorb water and therefore dry rapidly. They do not wrinkle and rarely need pressing.

The Jack Crums' Enjoy Vacation In New York

By Maryann Miles

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crum of Minnehaha Drive have recently returned from New York, where they combined pleasure with a business trip. Highlight of the trip was a visit to the World's Fair, with side trips to other points of interest in the area.

Their son, Gary, who is in the Air Force, is home on leave, before reporting to a new assignment in Florida.

The Crums are expecting their daughter and her family. Capt. and Mrs. Jerry Weisenfeld and children, Karen and Bobby, from Germany where they have been stationed for the past two years. Capt. Weisenfeld is retiring from the armed services, and the family expects to enjoy civilian life in Florida.

French Perfumer Sniffs Sweet Smell Of Success

NEW YORK (UPI) — All the merchandising skill in the world won't sell a perfume unless the fragrance is unique and in some subtle way deeply satisfying to the soul.

This is the word from Suzanne Thierry, the French woman who created a fragrance which in the last 10 years has been climbing among the leaders of fine and expensive perfumes — the $30 an ounce kind — on the world market.

The perfume is Ondine, the first important Parisian fragrance to be "discovered" by a woman since Gabrielle Chanel brought out her famous "No. 5" about 30 years ago.

Most "noses" as the French call the creators of new scents, belong to men.

During a visit to the United States, Mlle. Thierry said she couldn't figure why. "But it is the same with the wine and brandy tasters of France — they are all males. I never heard of a lady wine taster in the trade."

Mlle. Thierry, a native of Orleans, the city of Joan of Arc, studied chemistry in college but she is not a professional chemist. She got into perfume manufacturing from the retail side. Soon after World War II she opened a small perfume shop near the opera in Paris — "there are no shops of that kind in the United States," she said.

"I wanted to create a new perfume, partly that is the way to make money, and partly because I was fascinated with the idea," she said.

So she bought a supply of oils, hired a chemist as a consultant and went to work. It took several years and assorted combinations from 5,000 different oils before she found a fragrance that satisfied her.

The formula for the perfume is a company secret, but Mlle. Thierry said it had 49 oils, two of which are rose and jasmine.

When she decided to market it in the United States, she sought — and received advice from Edouard Courmand, the head of Lanvin, New York, who is regarded as a wizard of the perfume business.

She put it first in one Fifth Avenue quality store. And as she gradually expanded sales, set up an American distribution subsidiary with headquarters in Miami Beach, again with Courmand's advice.

Now, she said, she has 300-plus outlets in America and has established the perfume in the European market.

Mlle. Thierry said that in her many trips to the United States she has concluded that American women tend to buy too many different scents.

"They keep bottles which have been opened and end up with a 'cocktail of smells,'" she said.

She offered these suggestions to American women: —Use more perfume. In France, the average woman uses one ounce a month while the American woman uses about one ounce a year.

—Use the same scent in toilet water and cologne as you use in perfume. Never mix scents.

—Use an atomizer to apply. Application with the fingers is like handling food too much. The acids and oils in the skin hurt the fragrance.

The Este's Host Picnic For Order Eastern Star

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Estes were recent hosts at their Mullet Lake Camp to the annual picnic of the members and their families of Seminole Chapter No. 2 Order of Eastern Star, in honor of Robert Morris, founder of the order.

Mrs. Estes, Worthy Matron, extended a warm welcome to all members, their guests and visiting Eastern Stars, with Mrs. R. W. Turner giving the invocation.

Approximately 40 persons were present to enjoy a most delightful afternoon.

Mrs. Margie Oglesby, sister-in-law of the groom, attended the bride as matron of honor, and she was attired in a royal blue suit with white accessories and her flowers were pink carnations.

Fred Oglesby served the groom as best man.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding, a blue floral print frock with a white carnation corsage.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the home, with the young couple departing immediately for a wedding trip, after which time they will reside at 218 W. Laurel.

Among the out of town guests were Frank Nobles and Ira Nobles, Jr. of Titusville.

Mrs. Allen Shower Honoree

By Mrs. H. I. Johnson Mrs. H. E. McSwain was hostess recently at her Park Avenue home to a stork shower honoring Mrs. James (Janet) Allen. Mrs. Charles Jarrett and Miss Linda Davis were co-hostesses, with a pastel color scheme used in the decorations.

The gifts were presented to the honoree in a frilly white umbrella placed upside down on a table, and the guests enjoyed participating in games and contests befitting the occasion.

Mrs. Charles Jarrett baked and decorated a beautiful white sheet cake with a blue hootie, stork, and pink and blue roses. Nuts, mints and soft drinks were served from the table, which was overlaid in sheer lace.

Other guests were the Meses. H. T. Jarrett, Georgia Colvin, Larry Bergerson, Mary Clinton, Linwood Twyman, Mary Easter, Steve Barnes, Todd Nelepinski, James Triplett, Herbert Aseel, Joe Thompson, Charles Bridges.

Also the Meses Sharon Whitten, Anna Smith, Alene Moore, Barbara Moore, Dick Fillingier.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Though I am supposed to solve political problems, I have one which I have wrestled with for some time and I need help. It pertains to skunks. Two of my grandsons want to adopt skunks. I told them that I would go along with them. Confidentially, I even encouraged them. When I was young, I used to trap skunks (some people say I still do). A good de-scented skunk, regardless of his politics, is not too bad to have around the house. However, Mrs. Pearson objects. She says she will not tolerate skunks in our home. Since my grandsons are visiting this summer, and I did promise them some skunks, what is your advice?

DREW PEARSON: A promise is a promise. Get the grandsons the skunks. They make wonderful pets! But be sure they're deodorized—otherwise I predict your life won't be worth a cent!

DEAR ABBY: I am 17

and I hope you won't think my problem is too silly to answer. You see, my parents do not allow me to date a boy unless he is the same faith as I am. You can't always tell by their looks, or even by their names, and I don't think it is very nice to come right out and ask a person what church he belongs to. Yet there would be no sense in starting to like a boy who doesn't go to my church because, if he liked me, I couldn't date him anyway. So how can I find out what religion a boy is without coming right out and asking him?

PHILADELPHIA: There is nothing wrong with "coming right out and asking him." In fact, that's the best way to get an honest answer to a serious question.

DEAR ABBY: I am the youngest of six children. And to make matters worse I was a "change of life" baby, and it was almost like being an only child. My mother was 51 years old when I was born. Well, whenever my mother introduces me to any of her friends, she says, "... and this is my baby." I am 36 years old, Abby, and this is pretty embarrassing. Should I correct my mother?

"A 200-pound baby" DEAR ABBY: Your mother is lucky to have a 36-year-old "baby," and you are even luckier to have an 81-year-old mother. I don't recommend correcting one's mother—at any age.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE CLAIROIL KID ON LAKE CALHOUN": No woman who has been "30" for the past ten years has the right to call a car dealer a crook because he set the speedometer back.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

The word is out that men are expected to provide tougher competition for women seeking jobs in the decade ahead.

What can women do to meet the stiffer competition? There's plenty they can do if they will just get busy doing it—right now.

Girls just coming out of high school can be far more serious about preparing themselves to earn a pay check—instead of thinking that they needn't bother because what they want as soon as they can get it is a husband. (In those times having a husband doesn't necessarily mean that a woman won't need a job, too—sooner or later.)

Once a young woman gets a job she can make sure that she doesn't hurt her chances in the business world by failing to guard against developing any of the faults employers so frequently charge against working women.

What are those faults employers regard as particularly "feminine"? Absenteeism is one. Maybe women can never quite equal men's record of days per year on the job—but they can come closer if they try.

Taking everything personally is another fault many employers ascribe to women. There's really no place in the business world for hurt feelings over criticism, for petty gossip about fellow workers, or for office feuds.

Another criticism of the woman worker is that she doesn't like to work under another woman—but prefers a man as a boss. Yet if women go on resenting women bosses how do they ever expect to be anything but underlings?

Women are also often charged with being too chatty during business hours. If you've ever stood impatiently waiting for an employee to notice you while she tells the girl working beside her all about last night's date—you know there's some truth in this complaint.

The best way for women to compete successfully against men for jobs is for women to rid themselves of the faults employers think of as being feminine faults—whether all of them actually are or not.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

The one revolutionary part of the Jacoby method of asking for aces is the use of five clubs directly over any three no-trump bid by partner as the demand for aces. It is revolutionary in that up to now the only bids used as ace demands have been four no-trump and four clubs.

It is not much of a revolution since the bid won't come up often but it makes possible the use of both four clubs and four no-trump as natural bids in this situation. It also loses nothing since the presumption is that you will be able to stop at five no-trump if two aces are missing.

The responses to five clubs are: five diamonds—no aces; five hearts—two aces; five spades—two aces; and five no-trump—three aces.

Today's hand does not represent any triumph for this method of asking for aces. As long as you have some way to ask for aces you will get to the right contract after your partner opens with three no-trump.

The great advantage of this method is that it releases both four clubs to show clubs and four no-trump as a no-trump raise immediately over partner's three no-trump bid and costs you nothing since the number of times you will want to go from three no-trump directly to five clubs is about as close to zero as it is possible to get in bridge.

Highlights

7:30-9 p. m. NBC, Monday Night Movie, "Man on Fire" (rerun) Bing Crosby plays a straight dramatic role in this well-produced story of divorce, a man's battle to regain the custody of his 11-year-old son from his former wife, and the effect of the divorce on the child. This 1957 release has a cast of many present TV stars with E. G. Marshall ("The Defenders") playing Crosby's lawyer, Inez Stevens ("Farmer's Daughter") as the lawyer assistant, and Anne Seymour ("Empire") as the judge.

8:30-10 p. m. ABC Wagon Train, "The Fort Pierce Story" (rerun) the action is sporadic and the dialogue is only occasionally meaningful, but consistently interesting are guest stars Burt Reynolds and Ann Blyth. He is an Army captain and she is his wife, so worried about his dangerous assignments she becomes strident and endangers the fort's discipline. When the Wagon Train reaches the fort, the colonel (John Doucette) asks Chris Hale (John McIntire) to take the controversial woman with him.

9:30-10 p. m. CBS The Danny Thomas Show (rerun) When this series focuses the plot on the adults rather than the kiddies, more laughs are assured, particularly when Danny Williams (Danny Thomas) has to pull himself out of a tight corner. Hearing that an old schoolmate is in town, Danny assures Kathy (Majorie Lord) she was the homeliest girl in grammar school. Kathy has Danny invite her to the house and, sure enough, "homely" Beverly (Marilyn Maxwell) turns up as a voluptuous blonde.

9:30-10 p. m. CBS The Andy Griffith Show, (rerun) It's a corny plot that might have been lifted from "Lassie," but Don Knotts makes it a solid chuckler in his Deputy Barney role. Barney is the laughing stock of the town when he mistakes the bank president for a robber, and he takes the ridiculous pretty hard. But he redeems himself at the town picnic after Sheriff Andy (Andy Griffith) and his girl friend are trapped in a cave.

9:30-10 p. m. NBS, Hollywood and the Stars, "The Birth of a Star." If you've never been exposed to these cliches before, you might find this one clinically interesting. It's a hack examination of what it takes to become a Hollywood star with Stefanie Powers as the subject.

10-11 p. m. CBS, Meredith Willson Special, (rerun) A musical hour with Meredith and Rini Willson spreading wholesomeness and good cheer. In addition to a load of peachy-keen dialogue there are some charming and entertaining guests headed by Sergio Franchi and Caterina Valente with a look-in by Robert Preston. The best moments of the show come when Sergio does his popular Italian version of "Chicago" and when Miss Valente sings "Falling in Love with Love" and "Moon River." The show is augmented by a 36-member singing group, "The Young Americans." The hour concludes in a big way with a monster production number to what is probably Willson's most rousing composition, "76 Trombones."

10-11 p. m. ABC Breaking Point, "A Child of the Center Ring" (rerun) There are sensitive portrayals by everyone concerned, from regulars Paul Richards and Edward Franz to guest star Susan Strasberg and particularly Jack Oakie, but there is so much misery in this episode you could not be blamed for mistaking it for "The Great" Show on Earth." Miss Strasberg plays a psychonatically crippled trapeze artist whose father died in action under the Big Top. Oakie is the aged circus clown who helps provide the key to her disability.

Horoscope Forecast

Tuesday, September 1, 1964
GENERAL TENDENCIES:

You now have one of your best days and evening to put across the ideas, the principles, and the material possessions which are yours that you wish to expand into some new outlets for the mutual benefit of everyone concerned. The interesting offers you have recently had should be snapped up quickly.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Much effort on your part is necessary if you are to achieve an up-trend in all your affairs now. Plan to relax at home in P.M. Closest ties will be devoted — show appreciation.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) This is the day to get in touch with the individual who can make your daily job more efficient, profitable. Have long talks. Iron out all sorts of little problems.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Analyze present holdings and position and see where to make right investments for increasing income, abundance. Contact right parties. See that you have your feet on the ground.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have wonderful ability, which others would quickly recognize if you went about more socially. This will also lead to increased personal happiness. Show that you are practical, alert.

LEO (July 22 to August 21) A day for planning a more satisfying and lucrative future and then also giving a helping hand to the needy. Look upon problems as steppingstones to greater success. Work with care.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22) Exercising finest attributes makes others cognizant of them and you increase circle of valuable friends. Don't neglect social affairs of note in P.M. State your aims.

LIRKA (September 23 to October 22) If you make the effort to entertain big-wigs, you can increase prestige and opportunity for advancement. Be gracious, charming, with all and you become very popular. Be happy.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You are looking toward a new horizon, but it requires serious study before you make decisions. Growth then comes quickly. Out-of-towners can be very helpful, also.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Follow your intuition and be very sure you do precise, accurate work. Be very devoted to loved one in P.M. Fine rapport can be reached at long last. Be kind.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) Take time to learn what partners desire from you, then by being very cooperative, excellent results occur. Reach agreements quickly. Dine out together in P.M. Have fun!

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) Working with zeal is most necessary, as well as profitable now, so dive in enthusiastically. Don't be disappointed with co-workers. Do more than your share, cooperate in all ways.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) You wish to come to some agreement with others and invitations to healthful sport could be very enticing. Play favorite hobbies. This increases happiness and prosperity.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those fascinating people who is very much interested in dietary and health matters and could be a fine salesperson who would be most helpful to the public in general. Teach early not to pick so much on others and to listen more, then the success here can be truly phenomenal.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Kennedy's Power To Stay With Party

Magic Brushes Other Members Of Democrats

By Bruce Blossat
Washington Correspondent
ATLANTIC CITY (NEA)—The "Kennedy phenomenon" runs far beyond the lingering lament of Democrats and others against the irretrievable accident of history which struck down the late President last November.

It is a hard, enduring fact of political life in the Democratic party and the nation. It is a force to be reckoned with, perhaps for many years to come.

John F. Kennedy's brothers, Bobby and Ted, are, of course, its most powerful embodiment. But this curious magic brushes such others as his sister Eunice's husband, Sargent Shriver, and his former press secretary, Pierre Salinger.

All but Shriver have a strong prospect of holding high political office by early 1965. Ted, already senator from Massachusetts, is nearly unbeatable this fall. Attorney General Kennedy may well win a Senate seat from New York. Salinger is greatly favored to keep the seat from California he now has by appointment.

Shriver one day may enter the lists in Illinois as a candidate for governor.

In the view of some Democratic leaders attached to this group, there is more to the force, however, than just the sum of John Kennedy's family, his friends, and his close associates.

Sustaining the force, says one leader, is an all-pervading idea: That the new problems cascading down upon us in the turbulent 1960s demand fresh, youthful, vigorous and highly inventive assault.

Tough-minded men in the Kennedy wing of the party insist nevertheless that should both President Johnson and the "Kennedy group" win election this fall, the President will not — in 1965 and thereafter — find himself confronted by some sort of "Kennedy axis" bent on pushing him from the scene at the earliest practical moment.

The Kennedy group, trained in a hard school, is not given to careless judgments. A Johnson victorious in November could conceivably go on to another triumph in 1968 and a presidency lasting to January, 1973. Politicians eager to prosper at the polls will accommodate to that prospect.

To attempt serious undermining of the President's position would be to court disaster as potential wreckers. Tough though they may be, the Kennedy men know what rules they must at all costs observe.

Accommodation to Lyndon Johnson is one rule they dare not violate. They must learn to live with him for as short or as long a time as he sits in the White House.

Yet party professionals say the same strictures will lie upon the President in the event his tenure stretches beyond next January. He must then learn to live with the Kennedy group.

In the hands of those of that group who may hold office will be substantial power the President cannot control or strip away.

Their voices, perhaps more numerous later, may offer the nation different, more liberal political inclinations than those heard from Johnson. If effective, they could be a curb on him.

These are prospects the President clearly would have to accept if realism is to govern.

The Kennedy phenomenon cannot easily be crushed or shunted aside. Its steady substance lay beneath the surging emotional wave which broke over the 1964 convention on its closing night when Bobby Kennedy stood in the bright glare.

One party professional, young still, argues that Johnson could do no better than to accept this force for what it is, drawing on its strength wherever possible, giving it room flourish as an identifiable entity which admittedly might gain party dominance when the opportunity develops.

ALSAC Officials Set Annual Fund Drive

By Donna Estes
State and local officials of ALSAC met with district area and platoon leaders of Central Florida last Wednesday evening at the Syrian Lebanon Building in Orlando to discuss and make plans for the teenagers march against leukemia scheduled for Sept. 13 from 1 until 5 p.m.

The march is held annually to solicit monies to maintain St. Jude's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. Two main functions of the hospital are endless research in childhood catastrophic diseases, particularly in leukemia and related diseases, and to provide the very best in diagnostic, out-patient and hospital care for its patients.

ALSAC is pledged to keep fund raising expenses to less than 10 per cent with the resulting more than 90 per cent of contributions being used to support the hospital.

Joseph F. Hatem, state director of ALSAC, in his talk at Wednesday's meeting, especially commended the 1,461

Dropouts Get New Training Course Offer

School dropouts who desire to continue their education by obtaining vocational training may do so, according to Joe Foy, manager of the Federal-State Employment Service, by taking advantage of a program being projected by the Central Florida Development Committee.

Foy said today that his office is assisting school officials in Seminole, Brevard, Lake, Orange, Volusia and Osceola counties in getting dropouts to obtain vocational training in the new Manpower Development Training Act program.

Beginning Sept. 8, classes in auto parts, appliance repair, small engine repair, air conditioning and refrigeration, mail service, clerk-typing, sales training and service station attendant will be offered by the MDTA organization in Orlando.

Students who are interested in continuing their school work but in a vocational field have been urged to participate. They may obtain additional information by contacting Foy at the local employment office, 200 S. French Ave.

Any young man or woman between the ages of 16 and 21," says Foy, "who has dropped out of school for a year or longer is eligible for the training the school will offer. It's a real chance for them to become skilled in one or more of the occupational trades which will be taught."

Other area officials present last week were Sheriff Dave Starr of Orange County, Mrs. Jim Hillman, general campaign chairman; Mrs. Rosette Lewis, secretary and Mrs. Lillian Metz, teenage march chairman.

Mrs. Sylvester Elgin, Seminole County district leader, who also attended the meeting is in need of area and platoon leaders and teenage volunteers. Anyone in the county wishing to work on the drive may contact her at her Longwood home or by calling 838-3044.

"On Valor's Side" is the title of a new book about a Marine's own story of Parris Island and Guadalcanal.

The book, fast becoming a top seller — perhaps maybe a best seller, was written by a former Sanford youngster, Grady Gallant, who graduated from Seminole High School in the late 1930's.

Grady is now a staff writer for the Chattanooga News-Free Press. His book was published by Doubleday. He's the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gallant of Lake Markham.

E. S. Douglas provides the word that the adult high school program will open at Seminole High in Sanford on Sept. 8. Registration, says Douglas, will begin at 7 p.m. The school provides courses for credit toward obtaining a high school diploma.

Happy birthday, U. S. Coast Guard. This branch of the country's armed forces was established on this date back in 1790.

As the general election approaches, our readers will find some mighty interesting reading on The Herald's editorial page. Seems that many of our readers become writers and submit their opinions — via the Letters to the Editor section of our editorial page — to other readers. Other readers become writers and openly express their views. Regardless of whether you're a reading writer or a writing reader, here's your chance.

This election ought to be a banner year for the button makers. There's Democrats for Johnson, Democrats for Goldwater, Republicans for Goldwater and Republicans for Johnson, and independents for everybody.

It appears you'll have to wear a button so people can tell what you are and who you're for. Nobody need a program? Get 'em here. They're only . . .

The Red Cross and Civil Defense teams worked a total of 250 man-hours during the approach, visit and aftermath of Hurricane Cleo. The estimate was made by A. B. (Tommy) Peterson, ARC disaster director, and he says the figure is of "key personnel" only. Many, many others devoted all the time necessary to cope with the impending trouble, Peterson added.

There were 256 persons sheltered in six strategic spots in the county and of these 175 received one meal and 50 were served two meals when they decided to ride out the night in the shelter even after the all-clear was sounded.

The list of volunteers, the director said, is impressive and ranged from Navy and National Guard members to local Boy Scouts. "Everyone co-operated fully," said Peterson as he reviewed the situation and, way in the back of his mind, began planning for the next crisis.

The cost to the Red Cross is estimated at between $150 and $500. Some of the supplies will be preserved for future use should the need arise.

Viet Nam Boss Sees Quick Saigon Return

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Premier Nguyen Khanh said today he hopes to be ready to return to Saigon and take up his duties in about two weeks. Khanh met with Western newsmen at the resort city of Dalat where he has been convalescing in the wake of the riots and governmental upheaval which ended his one man rule last week and left at least 331 persons dead. U. S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor visited Khanh at Dalat Monday and later issued a statement saying the prime minister hoped to return to Saigon in "the next few days."

Virginia Coastline Deluged By Remains Of Dying 'Cane

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (UPI)—Dying tropical storm Cleo deluged the Virginia coastline with nearly a foot of rain Monday night and early today, contributing to the deaths of three persons. Floodwaters in low-lying areas of this seaside resort forced more than 40 persons from their homes. Two persons in an emergency rescue vehicle died of carbon monoxide poisoning. A traffic death also was attributed to the rainstorm which flooded many streets. Lt. J. J. Waterfield said Vernon Wilson, chief of the Davis Corner Volunteer Fire Department, and Steln May Forehand, 40, were asphyxiated in the vehicle Wilson was driving. Wilson picked up

Bob Kennedy OK'd By New York Demos

NEW YORK (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy today was "adopted" by the New York Democratic state organization, paving the way for his nomination for the U. S. Senate. The state committee overwhelmingly gave its legal approval to Kennedy so that he can become the party's senatorial nominee. The nomination will be made later today at the state convention. The committee vote was 232 to 49 with nine members absent and not voting. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N. Y., the attorney general's

Johnson Calls Demo Aides To Legislative Study

By William J. Eaton United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, fresh from a post-convention weekend at his Texas ranch, called in Democratic congressional leaders today to discuss prospects of his legislative program. One of the cornerstones of Johnson's "war on poverty" program was enacted Monday night when the President signed a measure extending food stamp program, which is Mighty Titan In New Orbit Test For U. S.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—An Air Force Titan-3A rocket, first of a new breed of big military space boosters, raced into the sky today on its maiden flight—an all-out orbital test.

The 124-foot Titan roared into life at 10 a. m. EST to open a 17-shot series designed to develop a powerful new workhorse for manned military space missions.

The black and white rocket, carrying a 3,750 pound lead satellite, thundered from its launch pad atop a transparent column of flame and began a 13 minute climb toward a 17,900-mile-an-hour orbit 115 miles high.

After a sweep around the globe, the Titan's third stage was to kick the dummy payload into a separate orbit.

The launch, postponed from yesterday because of a seven-hour bout with technical troubles, followed a 11 1/2 hours countdown today.

Star performer of the debut was the maneuverable top stage and its sophisticated guidance system, although the shot was a test of the whole Titan-3A system.

The rocket is the heart of a more powerful Titan-3C scheduled to hurl a two-man laboratory into a month long orbit in 1968. It also will orbit eight communications satellites on one launch in 1969 and could send military satellite inspection ships of the future into space.

The Titan-3C, set to fly in April, packs a million more pounds of thrust than the 1.5 million pound thrust Saturn-1 super rocket, now the world's most powerful known booster.

Both Titan-3 models, quick reaction rockets designed to be launched with only two minutes notice, are capable of a variety of manned and unmanned missions.

Kiwanis Club To Tour Cape

Members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club will journey to Cape Kennedy Wednesday to take a tour of the moon-park, which has been arranged by W. Henry Decker, protocol officer of NASA. Dr. John Darby, president of the Kiwanis, has announced. The group will leave the Civic Center here at 11:45 a. m. and meet at the south gate of the control area at 1 p. m. where they will board an air-conditioned bus for the escorted VIP tour. The route will take them to the gantry site and the block houses as well as many other points of interest. Arrangements for the trip were made by Roger Harris, local Kiwanian.

Police Capture Slaying Suspect

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UPI) — State police today tracked down a 16-year-old boy in whose home the bodies of two small children were found.

The suspect, Richard Dabekski, a former mental patient was apprehended as he walked along the Lake Michigan beach at New Buffalo, Mich., about 10 miles north-east of here.

"We tracked him down," said an Indiana state trooper.

York In Coma

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Sgt. Alvin York, who won fame during World War I, was reported "gravely ill and in a coma" today at Veterans Hospital.

Oath Given

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — William T. Mayo was sworn in Tuesday as Florida's newest public utilities commissioner.

Court - ordered reapportionment of state legislatures, and the $1 billion Appalachia bill.

Johnson touched on these and other programs in a speech by telephone from his Texas ranch yesterday to the International Plasterers and Masons Union convention in Philadelphia.

He urged a Medicare program saying "we want our citizens who enjoy a longer life to know that the savings of their productive years will not be wiped away by hospital costs in their later years."

School Tallies Set New Record Peak Figures Due Next Week After Holiday

Parents Attack Limiting Of School Bus Ride Zone

By Julian Stenstrom Associate Editor
It was still a record . . . despite the fact that Monday's enrollment for the 1964-65 school term was 724 less than Seminole County school officials had anticipated. Walter Teague, administrative officer for the board, previously had estimated that 15,300 children would enter the county's 23 schools on the first day of the current term.

A tally this morning revealed the actual count was 14,576. The figure, however, was still 827 more than the 13,747 which entered school at this same time a year ago and is a record.

"Usually, we don't miss it that much," said Teague as he explained that it was probably because "we opened school this year a week before Labor Day and normally we don't open the doors until the day after Labor Day."

But Teague stuck by his guns—or his estimates—when he ventured the opinion that by next Tuesday morning, "We'll have no less than 15,000 pupils enrolled." He added, "And, we'll have 15,000 by Christmas."

R. T. Milwee, school superintendent, said this morning, "We had as smooth an opening day as we've ever had."

The largest enrollment was reported, as expected, by Sanford Junior High. The figure there was 1,337. Close behind the Sanford school was South 1,171—which, by the way, had the largest increase of any school over opening day figures for last year. The school registered 103 more that year than in 1963.

Crowds had 1,000, Seminole High 800, Pinecrest Elementary 921, Goldsboro Elementary 911, Lyman High 764, Lake Mary Elementary 731, Osiedo 687, South Seminole Elementary 645, Bear Lake Elementary 614 and Altamonte Springs Elementary 604.

Midway Elementary had 508, Longwood Elementary 539, Westside Grammar 539, Southside Elementary 539, English Estates Elementary 424, Jackson Heights Elementary 369, Rosenwald Elementary 358, Monroe - Wilson Elementary 281, Hopper Elementary 281, Geneva Elementary 83 and Bookertown 76.

Southside, Pinecrest, Longwood and Geneva reported less enrollment than they did a year ago.

Soviet Boss To Woo W. Germany Friends

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today was reported preparing a diplomatic offensive to improve relations with West Germany in advance of his planned trip there.

Khrushchev is visiting Czechoslovakia. He held a surprise meeting near Prague Monday with the foreign ministers of Bulgaria, Hungary, and Poland, in talks paralleling those he had with Czech President Antonin Novotny. Czech sources said the division of Germany was high on the agenda.

It was noted that the foreign minister of Communist East Germany was not present. Romania, which has been following an increasingly independent course, also was not represented.

Khrushchev has been invited to pay his first visit to West Germany next year. The invitation was extended by West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard. Although Khrushchev has not yet responded, he was assumed to have sought out the invitation through his son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubel, who visited Erhard at the time it was extended.

Patients noted several new buses have been bought this year, but this was offset, Milwee said, by the fact that several old buses have been retired from use and the school population has greatly increased.

Milwee told parents the board makes policies, which he is responsible for executing, but he would talk to the board members, ask them to note the routes which would have to be traveled by the walking children and the congestion of bicycles and cars around the school.

"We recognize your problems, and we hope that you will recognize ours," Milwee said.

In relation to the change of hours, parents asked if school opened at 9 a. m. whether a bus would then be available. The answer to this was "no."

Milwee later suggested some compromise might be worked out, and advised parents to return at 1 p. m. Sept. 10 when they could meet with the school board.

Pet Owners Receive Warning Of Need For Innoculations

All pet dogs and cats should be vaccinated against rabies for the protection of the family, the community and the pet," Dr. Frank Leone, county health officer, said today.

"Although the prevalence of this deadly disease has been greatly reduced," he added, "it continues to be a threat. The possibility always exists that unvaccinated pets may be bitten by a stray dog, cat or wild animal which has had the disease."

The chief of the Seminole County Health Department declared that "the rabies virus is present in the saliva of infected animals and even the lick of a rabid animal on a cut or an abrasion of the skin can cause the infection. If an infected person develops symptoms of the disease and medical treatment is not provided then death is inevitable."

"Animals such as stray dogs, skunks, squirrels, foxes and racoons are among the most frequent spreaders of the disease. Recently," he said, "bats have been found to be an important source of infection. In the United States more than 100 attacks on people by rabid bats have been reported."

"Children should be taught to avoid stray animals and not to feed squirrels or other animals by hand in camping areas, preserves or parks. Campers, hunters and fishermen should be cautious of con-
