SHS football coach resigns

By JEFF BERLIMOKE Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — An era came to an end Friday as an emotional Seminole High School football coach Ernie McPherson walked off the football field for the final time.

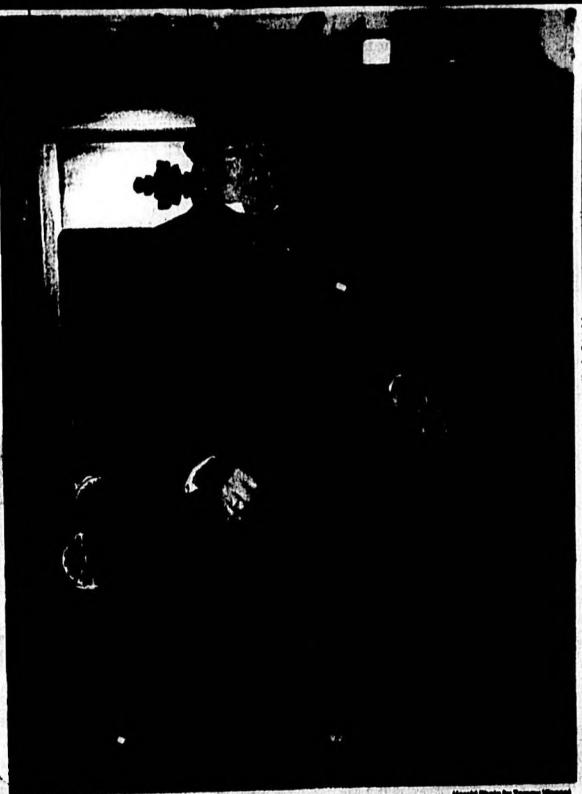

His team had just pulled a 13-7 upset of crosstown rival Lake Mary just three days after McPherson announced his resignation to his players. As the final gun sounded on McPherson's

By MOK PPEIPAU Horald Staff Writer

SANFORD - When Truman Capote was a youngster in Alabama, an elderly and rather eccentric cousin, who referred to him as "Buddy," told him one brisk morning, "Buddy, it's fruitcake weather."

The two would then take off pushing a dilapidated baby carriage to gather pecane to be used in making 36 fruitcakes (containing "simul" moonshine) which they sent to strangers

Beginning Friday, Nov. 29, the Rits Players will present the Capote epic "A Christmas Memory." Young Truman will be portrayed by Clancy Tondorf. 11, of DeLand, who has an extensive background in theater, film and television, as well as shows, festivals and appearances at special events.

Fred Rogers, producer and director of the Ritz Players said. "The set is simple, letting the audience use their imagination and savor their Christmas memories as the actors point images with Capote's words."

Opening on Friday, Nov. 29, additional performances are scheduled for Nov. 30, as well as Dec. 15 and 14, at 8 p.m. There will be another performance at 2:30 p.m. on December 15.

Heroin: The insidious drug

Too many people are committing suicide in Central Florida. There seems to be little anyone can say or do to prevent it. The only person who can avoid killing himself or herself is the person involved.

We are referring to the rapidly increasing number of deaths caused by heroin. Central Florida appears to be one of the worst areas for deaths caused by heroin. As of the end of for deaths caused by heroin. As of the end of last month, Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties have reported a total of 18 deaths.

Webster's dictionary describes heroin as "a habit-forming narcotic derived from morphine." The person writing this for submission to the Sanford Herald Editorial Board is allergic to morphine. (An unknown amount would kill me).

But most people don't know if they are allergic to morphine or not. Many are, and the result of ingesting what may be a small amount, or a large amount, when turned into heroin, (not can) but WILL kill you.

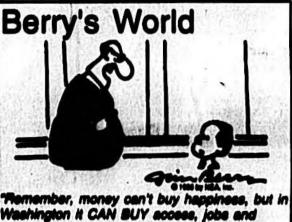

But time after time, people are using it and suffering the most serious consequences of all, death.

It can not only end a person's life, but de-stroy many others, mentally as well as physically, such as family members, friends or loved ones.

Our law enforcement officers will continue to seek out persons selling heroin or in possession of it. Hopefully, they will be apprehended and given their due punishments. We hope to see more and more of these people listed in the Police Briefs carried in the Sanford Herald.

For others who may not use the stuff, but know who does, turn them in a taken to they are proving they are instruction logical judgment by themselves. It may be the only way to save their very lives.

Therefore - It is up to you: the user, the person who knows the user. In which Sanford Herald column would you prefer to have you name listed; the crime reports, or obituaries?

Election Day: Glorious day indeed

It was glorious, the sun was shiring and the day were a hel a peculiar to November days in Florida. I swelled with pride as I steed in line politely and patiently, awaiting my turn to vote. I found pride not in the fact that I was essercising the franchise. It wasn't as important that I could stand in this community and lend my voice and opinion to a wide range of issues, as it was the realization that members of my community had joined me, and were centinuing the join in a steady stream, throughout the day.

Upon reflection my jay with the exercise of voting a week ago Tuceday was not related to who won or lost. Some of my favorite candidates, and the one proposition that I championed in this column went down in fames. Some races were close and others were landslides, some were surprises, and others were landslides, some were surprises, and others were all too predictable. There are issues and candidates who were victorious throughout this nation who I am convinced will make my life and that of my children more difficult, and others which I took delight to seeing succeed.

Many people complain that to vote is unimportant—that it makes no difference who is elected, and that some message is seet by avoiding the polle and turning out of the political process. As I reflected that Tuesday, nothing could be further from the truth. On Tuesday the franchised stood with the formerly disenfranchised, the rich beside the poor, the young with the old. #### Unpleasant experience

Dean Ray-Please Not For Mayor:

I've reed some of your campaign articles, and I must say it is the kind of honesty I like in a person running for public office, but I have trouble believing them.

You sold my son a GE refrigerator that was supposed to be new but slightly damaged with a 13 month warranty. It lasted approximately 13 or 14 months and quit working properly. You came out, check it and installed a small device-a freezer thermostat, I think, charged $45.00 and left. Needless to say, it did not help. You came out again to check it and told my son those GE rotary compressors had a history of going bad or short lives. You then offered to sell him another refrigerator at a discount.

Another dealer in Seminole County told my son to call in the serial number to him, and he would check to see if it had a warranty from the GE factory on it. The serial had been removed. so my son (being without a refrigerator for three weeks) went and purchased a new refrigerator. I took his old one to my garage, had a man check it out, and he repaired a freen leak in it. It is still running over a year new!

I came to you hoping you would give my son the $45 service call back, but you refused. Ray, I still den't believe you when you say the factory removed the serial number on the slightly damaged refrigerator. You are also welcome to come to my home and see this miracle refrigerator operating without a new rotary compressor.

Don't do anybody in Sanford any favors if you clan on running the mayor's office like you do

Amazed and appalled

I am amased, appalled and insulted!

Commissioner Lon Howell was recently responsible for George Currie from Stooges har being arrested for bribing a public efficial (Howell). Mayoral candidate Larry Blair also is an owner of Stooges and helds the liquor license, which has been under investigation by the state licensing department.

On Monday, October 25th, following Currie's arrest on October 25th, I attended the Sanford Commission meeting where the agenda included a request to waive the restrictions between Stooges and area churches so Stooges could serve liquor. Mr. Howell knew there were underhanded dealings at Stooges based on the bribery alone and yet, he voted in favor of waiving the restrictions so Stooges could serve liquor.

Neither Blair nor Currie attended the commission meeting. I was one of the last to leave the commission chambers, and when I entered the parking lot. I was startled. Standing together and laughing were Low Howell, Larry Blair and Occorpe Carrie. This was a fifeen minute grad-did-hardest alapping meeting between a commissioner as the party who was arrowed for bribing his three days earlier. I was not the only person who witnessed this display.

Living with, treating scleroderma

By GUSAN WEXHE Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Little is known about the disease scleroderma. but it is classified as a disease of the immune and vascular systems and a severe connective tissue disorder. It results in fibrous (hardening) of the skin and multiple organs.

Joyce West, a Lake Mary resident and her daughter, Ronda Galloway, of Sanford, both wish to educate the public about the disease, symptoms and the effect it may have on a person. A movie, "For Hope," airing tonight on ABC, Channel 9 at 9 p.m., follows the life of actor Bob Saget's sister through her diagnosis and treatment of the

According to Galloway, her mother was diagnosed with scieroderma over one year ago but began having symptoms almost two years ago. "My mother began having symptoms of red, swollen joints of the knees, elbows and hands seven months before she was diagnosed," she said. "She was at Emory in Atlanta when she was diagnosed with connective tissue disease first because none of the tests were coming up with any real clues to what she had. Then in October of 1994 she was having shortness of breath and swelling in her feet. By the end of January she had fluid on her lungs and around her heart. Because scieroderma is not a disease that doctors see frequently and none of the tests clearly showed scleroderms, she was not diagnosed until February of 1995. At that time her kidneys failed and she is still on dialysis."

There are two forms of scleroderma. Localized affects the skin, subcutaneous tissue and occasionally muscle and bone. Systemic strikes the esophagus and internal organs as well as the skin and can be life threatening.

Scleroderms, whether as part of an isolated skin finding or as part of a multi-system disease, leaves high deposits of collagen. When too much collagen is deposited in the skin or other organs the result is damage to that involved organ.

'My mother has mostly systemic but parts of her skin are affected," said Galloway. "When a person is diagnosed with any disease it is important to know all about the disease. You should know that medications such as lastx, ansaids and steroids are to be used very cautiously when dealing with a scleroderma pattent. As with any disease, never be afraid to ask questions or seek a second opinion and educate all health care workers who care for that patient."

She continued by sharing that over the past two years something as simple as a cold exam toom generated much discomfort for her mother and caused her hands and feet to turn blue. "She felt bud for days after that," said Galloway, "If all of uswould slow down and listen to people's concerns and have empathy for them we could be more helpful. They are the only ones who know how their body

Galloway offered a few tips to ease some of the problems associated with the disease. "There are things that people can do to help their skin from further hardening, like cutting red ment from their diet and drinking large volumes of carrot juice. My mother is unable to do this while she is on dialysis."

Although seleroderma can strike any sex, age or ehtnic background it is four times more likely to affect females during the child bearing years. The frequency increases with age in both sexes.

it is believed that there are hundreds of thousands of cases of scieroderma in the nation. This disease is frequently undiagoned or mindiagnosed so the numbers may be higher than suspected. It affects more people than Muscular Dystrophy, Multiple Scieronis or Cyntic

West, a retired Sanford nurse, and Galloway, presently practicing as a registered nurse, both admit that "more than anything the support of family, friends and the greatest strength of God's love and belief in Him" have bonded the group through these pertious times. They hope that through this knowledge others will see symptoms early on and get immediate medical attention and through their experience someone may avoid some of the pitfalls in the road they have traveled.

One may obtain further information by calling the Scleroderma Federation at 1-800-422-1113.

Ted Kaplan, MD, the newest pediatrician in town, has joined Dr. Vann Parker and Dr. John Terwilleger in the practice of pediatrics at Sanford Pediatrics. Beminole County's pediatric practice.

Dr. Kaplan is a native Floridian, born and raised in the Miami area. He was an Eagle Scout, a National Merit Scholar, and graduated second in his class at Coral Gables High School. His only time living outside of Florida was for college. He went to Harvard University, where he obtained a bachelor's degree with honors blochemical sciences in three years.

He then returned home to Miami, where he attended the University of Miami School of Medicine. He remained to do a residency in pediatrics, during which time he developed a special interest in the medical care of athletes and the use of exercise for wellness and for chronic diseases in children.

He became a team physician for Coral Gables High School and other local schools and sports events.

His interest in this area also led him to do dozena of research projects that led to over 60 publications and national presentations.

His private practice in South Miami and his clinical program at the University of Miami, where he is an Associate Professor of Clinical Pediatrics, were the first to bring pediatric sports medicine and exercise medicine services to this part of the country. He was also the first pediatrician in Florida to earn a Certificate of Added Qualification in Sports Medicine from the American Board of Pediatrics.

Home damaged by fire

AN RTEVE GARNES Herald Staff Writer

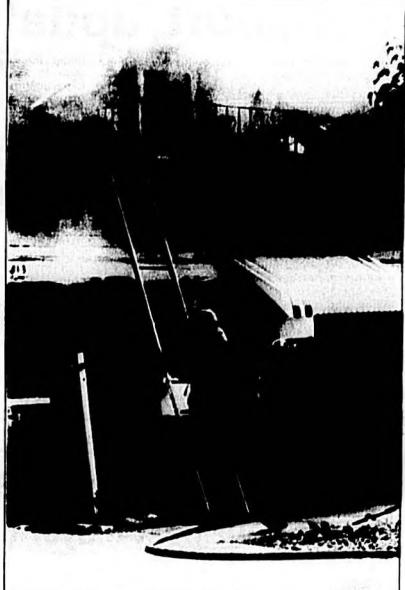

SANFORD — Three people escaped serious injury Saturday morning after fleeing from their burning house.

Sholanda Spurling, 21, shepherded her little sister, Lauren, 11, and brother Brandon. 4, out the back door of the home at 513 Cypress Ave.

According to the children's mother. Stephanie, who was not at home when the fire broke out, Sholanda was alerted to the danger by a smoke detector. She tried to call 9-1-1 for help, but the phone was out of order. The children escaped through the back door and hurried to a neighbor's home to call for help.

Firefighters on a nearby routine training exercise quickly responded to the emergency. Sanford Fire Department Sat-talion Chief W.E. Ellenburg directed the effort to doube the flames and the structure fire was quickly brought_under control. According to Ellenburg, the entire front bedroom was gutted by the fire and the rest of the house suffered severe smoke damage. Firefighters on the scene did not yet know the cause of the blase, but did focus on the home's heater. No serious injuries were reported.

"In a way we had become our own worst enemy," explained Longwood Police Chief Greg Manning. "That's why we've come up with a new, friendlier look."

The area's police departments (Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood) and the Seminole County Sheriff's Office definitely present a proud and proper Look of the Law for the 1990's. No more Barney Fifes allowed.

The basic Seminole County police uniforms are the traditional dark blue, little if any contrast from one agency to another. Sanford officers wear a distinguishable Indian patch on their left shoulder.

Florida rules mandate that all sheriff's deputies wear green and white/grey - which makes Sheriff Don Ealinger's deputies easy to spot.

"The key to everything is to exude profes-sionalism," said Undersheriff Steve Harriett of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office. "We want the public to see in each deputy a competent. omnipresent friend and protector."

Officers (other than undercover agents) are not allowed to have beards or long hair. They may have well-trimmed mustaches. The barbershop-singer look is not accepted - unless the wearer can really sing.

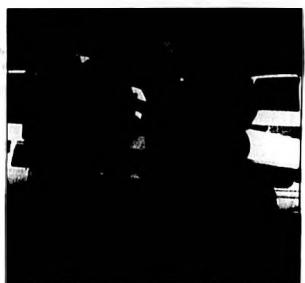

Police patrol cars, perhaps more than the officers themselves, are dramatically changed from what they used to be. When was the last time you saw a plain black and white vehicle?

Today's patrol cars are fast, fashionable and friendly. "You've probably noticed the red, white and blue striping on our cars." said Capt. Sam Belflore of the Lake Mary Police Department. "We went to this softer look four years ago."

Sanford's police cars also have red, white and blue markings.

Police uniforms are extensions of standard military uniforms that evolved in the 17th century to prevent armies from shooting their own soldiers. In the beginning most police were very touchy about uniform fashions and the statements they made.

In 1843, when New York City put its officers in blue, double-breasted frock coats, there was a mutiny. The men finally agreed to a single-breasted frock coat with a round cap. Later, the Statson, Balow: Brunelle, Collazo, Bryant and McLenna provide some comic relief before heading back to dangerous duty.

department adopted a domed felt helmet - providing the Keystone Cop look.

Most area agencies have opted for Stetsons or Smokey the Bear hats except Sanford, which retains a flat, round hat.

Hats, most officers say, are a nuisance except for times when it is cold or raining or the officer is under the hot sun for a long period of time. Sheriff's Deputy Eric Bryant, who likes bike duty. is miffed that some agencies require their bikers to wear too much equipment, enough so to make them less effective.

Law enforcement officers, to be sure, wear far more gear than ever before.

Semiautomatic pistols have replaced the classic six-round .38-caliber revolver; aspa or expandable batons have replaced the old billy club or nightstick. Protective gloves have been added.

An officer's gun belt has become higher and thicker. In addition to the gun and ammunition. it also contains pepper spray, flashlight, handcuffs and a notebook.

When an officer completes his duty each day, he removes more than 25 to 30 pounds of equipment and protective gear.

"We soon may need to get everyone suspenders to keep their pants up," said Longwood Chief

"it's not easy, especially here in Sanford," she said. "The people are here and the drugs are here. It'd be real easy to fall back in with them."

For others, she said, the choice to stay off drugs and out of prostitution is not so simple. And, she said, they aren't making that choice.

The merchants and residents downtown have become ag-gressive about demanding they not be allowed to ply their business on the street or from the windows above the shops. The police arrest them nearly every day. It's becoming harder and harder to be a prostitute downtown.

'So it's cleaned up down there," said Stuart, who is in the John E. Polit Correctional Facility on a warrant for driving with a suspended license. "They lust rotate these girls in and out of there. They aren't changing

Stuart said a lot of the prostitutes look at jail as "a little bit of R&R" and not as punishment. They have no incentive, she said, to change from their life of

"Some see it as a chance to fatten up and sleep a lot." she noted, explaining that on the street they often stay awake for a week or more, that they are almost always high and they rarely eat.

Stuart said she applauds the neighborhood patrols and police efforts to clean up downtown Sanford. She said it was "awful" before and is quite nice since the groups have come in to try and clean it up, but there needs to be another aspect to the cleanup.

"There needs to be community-supported rehabilitation along with groups to reinforce neighborhood security," she said. "Prostitutes aren't required when they go to jail. They just go in there and talk to the other prostitutes and drug addicts about how to not get caught."

Sheriff Don Ealinger said the women (and a few men) who are arrested on prostitution charges are out of jail in 24 hours.

"There's no way to get them oriented in a drug or alcohol treatment program that quick-ly," Ealinger said. "They are given information about drug treatment programs on the outside and encouraged to go there after they're released."

Stuart said most of the girls remain in jail from the time of their arrest until their court date and are not released immediately. She said she had her mother bond her out the first time she was arrested, but after that she was "too embarrassed" to call home and remained in jail about 20 days each time.

Another prostitute, Linda (she did not want to reveal her last name), who is currently in the Sanford correctional facility and has eight prostitution charges in the last two years, said she has been in jail for 17 days (on other occasions, she spent 30 days and 32 days in jail) and has been offered nothing in the form of treatment or even counseling.

"There's nothing," she said."They said I needed it, but they didn't court order me to nothing."

Stuart eaid most of the prostitutes who work in downtown Sanford are dying of AIDS. Three of her close friends who are prostitutes are dying. "I'm really lucky to be alive," ahe said.

Stuart added the courts have no compassion on the prositutes and that has the additional effect of perpetuating the trade.

"They give them probation and fines," she said. "These girls don't know anything else, where does the court think

Stuart left Sanford when she wanted to get out of prostitution and worked various construction jobs, making as much as $15 an hour, but she came back to

Sanford to check on her friends. When she isn't in jail, Stuart said she lives away from downtown with a friend who keeps watch over her and tries to keep her off drugs.

"When I walk downtown I see that it looks better," she said. But it just looks that way because they're putting these prostitutes in jail. The only thing is, is they're not helping them."

County, city ambulance transport update report

y EVELYN COHEN pocial to the Herald

the Council of Local Governments in note County (CALNO) meeting on mber 6, 1996, City of Longwood Fire Chief Charles Chapman presented an update on the fire department versus private ambulance transport. As Fire Chief for the City of Longwood for 18 of the 30 years with the Longwood for 18 of the 30 years with the Longwood Fire Department, he gave a brief history of the situation ory of the situation.

in the 1960s fire departments were manned by volunteers, except the City of Sanford. Emergency Medical Services (EMS) was non-existent. Funeral homes provided the only means of transport to hospitals. In the 1970s, a number of the volunteer fire organizations consolidated into the County Fire Department. It was at this time fire departments began hiring paid personnel and a two-tier system was established-the public sector was providing first response and a level of care until the private sector ambulance arrived on the scene to provided transport. As a concept, EMS was

In the 1980s, Seminole County was not a choice area to have an ambulance as there was not enough population. For most of the 1980s there were only two ambulances in Seminole County, one was run out of the Casselberry area and the other out of the Sanford area. It was at this time the City of Longwood got its first ambulance as the fire departments found a need to provide back up to the private service. In the 1960s the private ambulance service had two units in the Sanford area-one in the Redbug/Tuscawilla area and one at their main office in the south end of Longwood.

Most cities which had an ambulance passed an ordinance which gave very strict guidelines about when fire departments could and could not provide transport to the ill or injured. If the private ambulance was not available and it was absolutely a life threatening emergency and/or if it was a city employee or their family member. then the departments would be allowed to transport. Local fire department ambulance units came into being to support the five private sector ambulance locations because of the increasing number of times when there would be no private transport available to Seminole County residents. The fire departments felt they had to do something. Fire personnel were the first on the scene, provided immediate care to the injured or ill, and then had to wait around until a private ambulance showed up on the scene. The City of Casselberry Fire Department asw an opportunity back in 1969-1990 and went into the transport business.

The Fire Chiefs of Seminole County formed and Executive Group to discuss common problems, look for solutions, and do the best with what each had in the way of resources. In 1995, the Executive Group's EMS Sub-Group examined the current system, looked at what was being done and who was doing it, looked at numerous alternatives, generated pros and cons for those alternatives, and returned with a statement of what would be best for all Seminole County residents. Their findings noted fire denominants were altered. noted fire departments were already providing dispatch-not only to the fire department units but the private units and first response. Calls coming in to 911 came to the fire departments, and they responded with units to take care of the sick and injured. Fire departments trained all EMPs in the County. Every time a patient has something seriously wrong, fire department medics have to supplement private sector ambulance personnel because of State requirements. It was pointed out in the report fire departments were doing everything but the actual act of transporting and the billing. The EMS Sub-Group recommended dissolving the two-tier eystem, going to a single tier system, with the fire departments providing 911 transport. In 1996, four cities in the southern part of Seminole County joined Casselberry in the transport business. January 1, Oviedo; January 15, Winter Springs; February 15, City of Longwood; and March 15, Altamonte Springs. Since January 1996, these four cities have transported over 2600 patients; the fire departments have billed out over $650,000 of which over $350,000 has been collected. Based on those numbers, there has been a direct savings to the citizens using the system of over $200,000.

The City of Longwood Fire Department has transported almost 600 individuals with their one unit since February 15, 1996. In 1995, the Longwood Fire Department ran over 5000 calls, of which more than 1950 were EMS-related.

Pire personnel was already doing everything except the transport.

Chief Chapman acknowledged there were only a certain number of people in the County who would need transported regardless of who did the transporting. What the fire departments have done would not increase or decrease that number. While the revenue generated from transporting patients by fire departments would not offset operating a fire department, it would help offset part of the cost. For example, the City of Longwood's ambulance is over 10 years old and needs to be replaced. The revenue generated from transporting citizens would help offset the cost of the new ambulance. The Fire offset the cost of the new ambulance. The Fire Department would still do the same amount of work it was doing, required the same number of personnel, but instead of a private contractor taking that money and buying their new unit and paying their people, the money would be put back into the City to defray the cost of maintaining or purchasing needed fire department EMS-related equipment.
Benefits derived from fire departments being in the transport business include continuity of care, reduced number of units responding, every

The Fire Chiefs Executive Group are constantly reviewing what the fire departments can do to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the service with the intent of building the best system to take out citisens to the faiture of managed medical care.

Currently, Seminole County, Senford and Lake Mary still use a private provider. Seminole County provides Lake Mary with EMS at this point in time. The County's Project Review Committee recommended on October 30, 1996, that the County Fire Department set into the that the County Fire Department get into the transport business, that the hospitals be issued their Certificate of Need and Necessity to allow them to do their interfacility transfers. The County will take the recommendation under advicement at their Newspher 26 meeting advisement at their November 26 meeting.

Sanford has stated they are not in a position to enter into the transport business at this time. Lake Mary was looking at the possibility of providing their own EMS with transport as a possible future option.

The Brown's Gymnastics Level 4 Team tumbled its way to the top this past weekend at the Third USGA Qualifier held at Broadway Gymnastics in Winter Springs.

The Level 4 Team finished first ahead of Brown's Metro and the Melbourne Academy of Gymnastics.

Daniella Goldenberg and Ashley Parr led the team, taking the Gold All-Around titles for their respective age groups. Both of these gymnasts finished first on Bars, Beam and Vault. Brianne Bullock finished third All-Around while Monica Doctor placed second on Beam to finish fourth All-Around. Ashley Connolly's Vault score of 8.75 carned her the Silver Medal in that event.

In session #2, Stephanic Wessler finished second All-Around on the strength of first places finishes on Bars and Floor. Megan Morrel was crowned Beam champion.

Session #3 saw Stephante Fetbelman take the Bronze All-Around title with a first place on Beam. Christina Loper placed first on Floor and second on Beam to finish fourth All-Around. Leighton Brown won the Gold on Bara and Silver on Beam and her All-Around score of 35.75 was good enough for second place.

For host Broadway Gymnastics, 16 gymnasts were entered at Level 4 and the team finished fifth.

Rachel Davis placed first on Beam. second on Vault and third on Bars and Floor which was good enough for first place All-Around for the 12 year olds with a score of 34.60.

Erin Jacoby placed third on Bara. Beam and Floor and was second All-Around with a score of 35.35. Deanna Staats placed third on Bars and Beam and was third All-Around with a score of □See Gymnastics, Page 3B to an end last week with a Seminole loss to Merritt Island and Lake Mary's last second loss to Lake Brantley. With even an invitation to the Rotary Bowl out of the question. it came down to pride.

"To win against this team is the greatest feeling in the world," quarterback Shawn Esson said. "We tried to forget about Merritt Island and put every other fees out of our minds."

A fired up Seminole team came out and stuffed Lake Mary on its first drive which ended with an Antoine Casanova interception of Lake Mary quarterback Shaun St. Dennie' first pass of the game. The Tribe was stopped but got on the scoreboard on its next drive when Eason snuck it over from the five. The extra point was no good and Seminole led 6-0.

The rest of the first half became a punting The rest of the first half became a punting contest until Seminole made its only mistake of the night. Lake Mary faced a fourth-and-two from the Seminole 12 and the Tribe stopped Drew Young at the line of scrimmage to force a loss on downs. Then, on the ensuing play, Eason fumbled the snep and Lake Mary recovered at the Four plays later, St. Dennie went in from the one and the extra point made it 7-6, Lake Mary. It proved to be the Rama' final visit to the end sone for the season. McPherson pulled out all the stops at halftime and the fire and brimstone worked. On the third play of the second half, Walter Bryant went through the arms of most of the Lake Mary defense and went 53 yards for a touchdown. With McPherson on their minds and the advantage on the scoreboard, the defense took over. St. Dennis barely had time to think as the Seminole defence tried to beat him into the ground. For one of the few times all season. Young didn't run wild and Lake Mary only came close to threatening one more time. Putting it all on the line in the final game, Lake Mary recorted to some resale-decale when they got to the Beminole 12. St. Dennis pitched to

Earlier this season, Young completed his only pass for a touchdown against Lake Howell. He completed this one also but it was to Seminole defensive back Doug Hughs to end the drive.

A few minutes later, the Rama tried another sadget play. St. Dennie hit Shane Burke who tried to pitch the ball after making the reception. It didn't work.

Seminole recovered and only had to hold on for one more drive. Nine seconds remained in both teams' seasons and McPherson's career. Things were wild on the Seminole bench and McPherson started looking out for the oncoming rush of players carrying water coolers.

Meanwhile, on the field, St. Dennis launched a desparation pass, T.J. Martin picked it off, and the water, Catoraid and tears started to flow. "We were well prepared for this one."

McPhernon said, "We knew everything they (Lake Mary) were going to do. If they had a guy going to the restroom, we were going to know about it."

Benior Tracie Bass also stressed the importance of beating Lake Mary.

'It was like winning a Super Bowl to us," Bass said. "At this point, it just came down to besting Lake Mary."

Next season, Seminole will have another ceach patrolling the sidelines but the last one won't be far away.

Monday night.

"In my heart, I'll always be a Fighting Seminole," McPherson said.

Injured knee will sideline Hardaway up to six weeks

ORLANDO - The Orlando Magic's earlyseason fortunes suffered a blow Friday when the team learned that Penny Hardaway's alling left knee will require surgery that'll sideline him up to six weeks. The all-star point guard has been slowed since training camp by soreness that also contributed to a problem with his left hamstring. Earlier tests revealed no damage to the knee, however the pain persisted.

The team said Hardaway, 25, will undergo exploratory arthroscopic surgery on Sunday and will be sidelined two to six weeks, depending on what doctors find. "The reason we are performing this procedure instead of an MRI is because we believe Penny has some torn cartilage," said Dr. Jim Bernett, who excitated Hardaway Friday and consulted with Houston specialist Dr. Walter Lowe out of Houston. "Once we perform the procedure, we will have a better idea about the prognosis and subsequent time off." The Magic is off to a 3-1 start with Hardaway assuming a bigger role in the offence because of the departure of Shaquille O'Neal, who signed a $120 million contract with the Los Angeles

The fourth-year pro, hampered by an inflamed hamstring tendon as well as persistent pain behind his knee, is averaging 21.3 points, 6.3

rebounds and 5.3 sectors.
"Some days I couldn't even hardly walk," Hardaway said. "I just played because I thought the team really needed me ... You can look at it two ways. The good part is that when I come back, I'll be healthy. The bad part is that I'm missing games." Hardaway is not sure when he injured the knee, but thinks it might have in a collision with Detroit's Joe Dumars during the first round of last year's playoffs. Although the knee bothered him the rest of the playoffs, he didn't experience as much pain while playing with the Dream Team in the Olympics during the summer.

An MRI two weeks didn't reveal ligament damage. Hardaway was given medication and accompanied the team to Japan for two games against the New Jersey Nets. He scheduled another doctor's appointment after playing 41 minutes in Orlando's 45-89 victory over Charlotte on Thursday night.

victory over Charlotte on Thursday night.

"The medicine made me feel a lot better and we thought the problem was almost solved antil last night's game when I really couldn't jump. I said: We have got to do something about it.

Hardaway scored 14 points, going 4-fer-15 from the field against the Hernets. He also has given rebounds and seven assists, but coach Brian Hillington he clearly was not the player he's accustomed to watching. "He made some moves around the backer and didn't finish them, plays he would normally just explode over guys and dunk," Hill said. But there was no explosion."

Gerald Wilkins will replace Hardaway in the starting lineup.

What's Up in the NFL 1996...Week No. 12

Morning folkel I guess you realise that I need to take a moment to reflect (brag about) on my picks from last week.

I took no prisoners, as I was the only sports writer in the country to pick Arisons (+ 10) to win outright, AND Houses City as underdons over the Fusikers, AND the Buss as underdons over Cakland, AND the Cowbey's clutch victory over the invored 40ers, AND even the Rammies as underdons in their crushing of Atlanta. ---- Atlanta

These selections have again brought up the old allegations that I am tampering with games and have certain players on the payroll. Instead of being concerned about those suspicions, I have been deeply flattered.

By the way, if the Rame game had been a boxing match, they would have stopped it after three rounds.

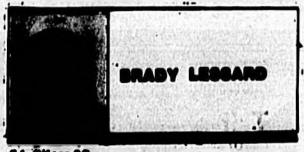

Speaking of boxing, I certainly hope none of my readers fell for Don King's latest Pay-Per-View scam. Nobody finds it odd that the first time they charge by the round in a Tyson fight it goes to the

This was fixed about as well as a piece of chewing gum fixes a blown radiator hose. Remember the last time Tyson lost? Buster Douglas, in Japan, the same scenario, people had stopped buying Pay-Per-View. It says a great deal about intelligence in our nation that people have obviously fallen for King's latest escapade.

Let's get to today's schedule and find some

With the Delphine coming off a big win, the Otlers will need to be prepared for battle. Houston has the advantage on the defensive side of the ball while Marino, well it's Marino. Look for a hard fought game as both teams try to become significant in the playoff race again. Desputes

Once again the worst team in the N.F.L. is giving points. Stevie continues to 'wonder' how his team could be so bad. This one won't be as easy as last week, but still falls in the 'easy money estegory. Saints 28, Falcane 17.

BUFFALO [-7] VS. CINCINNAT!

The Bengala are coming on lately, so look for the Bills to have trouble with this team. Jeff Blake would love to win this on in a shootout, but Mary Levy will keep the ball on the ground for most of the afternoon. Bille 24, Beagain 17.
INDIANAPOLIS (-6) VS. NEW YORK

The Colts are killing themselves with mistakes, and their recent losses provide sufficient evidence. Look for this squad to rebound in a big way against the team that continues to battle the Falcone for the worst team in the league designation. Can accreboards got higher than 99?

Celts 47, Jets 10.
PHILADELPHIA (-6) VS. WASHINGTON
This rivalry will be a great game to watch. The Skins and the Kagles were named, by me, as two of the most over-rated teams around. Today we see just which team is better. I have to go with the Eagles, but only because of the home field.

Great game to bet. Begies 21, Bedskins 20, BAN PRANCISCO (-12) VS. BALTHSONS The Niners have to win this game. Last week's loss to the Cowboys did nothing for their confidence, and now they have to be thinking home field advantage for the playoffs. The Ravens, bless their hearts, just don't have the talent to stop the bleeding Young and Rice will cause. Winers 48, Navene 22.

ARISONA (-1) VS. NEW YORK Who cares? I kind of like the Cardinals because of their uniforms, but I like Dan Reeves because he dumped the Broncos for another team. This game will have about as much offense as an Alabama game. Cardinale 6, Giante 2.

OARLAND (-6) VS. MERNBOOTA

The Vikings are horrible. The Raiders on the other hand, if they get their act together in time, can be a factor in the playoffs. They are the feature and distinct term in the least term. fastest and dirtiest team in the league.

Hostetler should be Man of the Century right behind Evel Kneival. He has been so beaten up that his mother no longer recognizes him, yet he atili comes ready to play.

Do you remember how 'The Hoss' got his start? Phil Simme was injured for Super Bowl 25, which l attended, so Hosietier got the start. He best my beloved Bill 20-19, and the rest is history. It is truly amazing what one good game can do for a career. Raiders 81, Vikings 18.

DALLAS (-4) VS. GREEN BAY

The painful times continue for Skats and Crew. The Cowboys will continue their annual domination of a team that showed such promise just three weeks ago. I hate to see such a classy organization fall prey to a vicious cycle of injuries that has devastated the team and jeopardized a once inevitable trip to the Super Bowl. Cowboys 27, Packers 20.

Each week I issue what I consider to be the best pick against the spread in the schedule. This is the game that after research and contemplation. I feel most confident about releasing as my patented LOCE OF THE WEEE.

Because of my recent 'fire-streak,' as Sports Illustrated calls it, I've decided to go for the gold with a DOUBLE LOCK OF THE WHIRE week. I'm going to start the day with SAN FRAN-CISCO (-11) OVER BALTIMORE. After counting my money from this win, I will surprise everyone with a confident wager on GAZLAND (-6) OVER THE MAPLESS VIEWGS.

Good luck today, and if my wife ever buys me a barbeque, I'll have a feast to celebrate our

Take caution to prevent hypothermia

As colder weather sets in across Florida. boaters and sportsmen need to be aware of the dangers of hypothermia-related accidents while on the water.

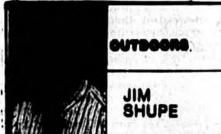

"Hypothermia-a loss of body heat from cold water after a boating accident-may cause victims to lose concloueness and lead to drowning." said Captain Paul Quellette, the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission's (GFC) boating safety coordinator. "You could lose your life in less than an hour from drowning as a result of hypothermia. Drowning was the cause of death in 80-percent of Florida's boating fatalities last year, including six directly related to hypothermia."

Water doesn't have to be cold or icy to cause hypothermia. It just has to be cooler then the victim's body temperature. Ouelietts said the most effective precaution ragainst drowning is to wear a personal flotation device (PFD) when boating, A PFD can beep your head out of water and provide your body with some insulation from the cold water.

His A law enacted last year requires a I-wearable PFD for everyone on board a vessel. The PFDs must be U.S. Coast Guard approved Type I, II or III.

The law does not require everyone to andv.

wear a life jacket, but rather have enough on board for all occupants," Oueliette said. "We hope boaters realize they might be able to prevent tragedy simply by wearing life vests. In addition, all children under the age of six (6) must wear a life vest on board a vessel less than 26 feet while under way."

McClanahans wed 50 years; DAR welcomes state regent

It was love at first sight when Ashby Allen (Mac) McClanahan met the girl of his dreams. Carolyn "Candy" DeLost at Virginia Beach, Va, where he was stationed some 50 years

She was vacationing from her home in Maryland when she met the tail, good-looking satior from Florida who had orders to report to the Keys, "I fell in love so fast I didn't know what hit me," Candy laughed.

Ten days later, the lovebirds were married in Valdosta, Oa. in a civil ceremony performed by Judge Holcomb. Mac said Candy did not return to her home in Maryland from the vacation, and as the fairy tale love story might conclude, they have lived happily everafter. Mac chuckled when spe aking of Candy's five brothers who he feared may not be too pleased over the elopement.

in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, the couple reaffirmed their wedding vows at the church where they are active, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, on Nov. 9. The Rev. E.A. Reuscher performed the religious ceremony. Admitting that she "was kind of scared," Candy proved she would marry Mac all over again. "I have always loved him," she said. Young newlyweds were never respiendent. Candy exchanged her vows wearing a street-length off-white dress with a lace top and white rose coreage tinged in rose and gold, Mac wore his Navy officer's uniform.

A reception in the church social hall followed the ceremony. Attending the event were Mac's two sisters from Orlando and Clermont, Candy's eister. Edna Haines, and her husband, Larry, of Sanford. The McClanahans are the only ones in their families on both sides to reach this memorable milestone before death.

The couple's family includes: A son, A.A.McClanahan Jr. and his wife, Sunny, of Sanford; John William McClanahan and his wife. Jeanine, also of Sanford, and Patricia Ann (Patry) Harring and her husband. Mike, of Boynton his are nine There are nine ndchildren ar great grandchildren.

The children presented their parents with a trip back to Key West at the same hotel where they honeymooned. And Mac proved his love to Candy by repeating his yows again. "It's never been dull," he said.

The family first moved to Sanford in 1953 where they purchased a hone. Although Navy duty called afterward, they always called Sanford home. Candy spent most of her time as a homemaker and is a real estate broker. Her family has always come first. Her hobby? "My grandchildren are my hobby, she said.

Hobbylst of the Week

Embroidery, Albees keep Avon lady busy

world revolves around her Avon business. In fact, much of her hobby of embroidery waita until the orders are in and busevening, but her collection of Albee's only shows her consdedication perseverance to her trade. Parker has been in Avon for 19 years.

"It consumes me," she said. "I work with over 100 people a week in homes and businesses with 40 to 50 customers a campaign. All this hard work shows that Parker has 18 Albee's, several savings bonds, a tea cup and saucer set, and an Albee porcelain pin surrounded by gold filigree and a recent addition Sprint of Avon plate. given as an honor by the district manager to one representative in the district that has helped them the most. The Albee figurines are awarded each year when you make President's Club," she said. "The first two years I was in Avon, 1 got $25 saving bonds but since then, I have gotten the Albees. Albees are figurines of the first Avon representative, Mrs. P.F. Albee. Avon is 100 years old, so she was a lady in the 1890's."

Pillows and throws also grace the living room couch of Parker, bearing the beloved Albee resemblance. They are different each year, she said. You must make sales from March to March of $16,700 for honor society and $8,700 for President's Club."

She added, "I recently took over a new job as a new representative manager. recruit and train representatives, keep them for three months and then they go on to a team captain. I am the momma to them, and then I have to cut the apron strings."

Yet, when Parker isn't adding to her Albee collection, she enjoys unwinding with her embroidery: "I graduated in 1970," she said. "I did my first embroidering project in the ninth grade as a home economics project. It needed to be 15 hours long. A neighbor of mine suggested I try embroidering. I have been doing it ever since. Parker cited that embroidery is her "tranquiliser and how I keep my sanity." She mentioned she finds her hobby She a helpful way to calm down and wind-down after a busy

About 11 years ago, she egen entering her work in state and county fairs. To date, she has over 35 ribbons: at least 20 blue first place, 10 red second place. Ive white honorable mentions.

Recent awards include a blue first place ribbon from the Seminole County Fair for an embroidered pillow and a red second place ribbon for a tablecloth. In 1995, she won a red second place for a pillow and a blue first place for a tablecloth.

She has entered such items as baby bibs and pillows as well as full size pillows, tablecloths and table runner. "I have kept a lot, sold a lot and given a lot of them as gifts," she said. "A friend of mine sews the pillows together and stuffs them."

Most difficult of her creations was cited as a tablecloth with "thousands of French knots." Parker always used DMC floss in various colors.

A challenge is the shaded colors," she added. "I love the way they come out different every time. They are never the same and are so beautiful. 1 love to do satin attiches. I do that very well."

Parker said she "mainly does floral designs" but loves to decorate her table with the holiday patterns she has sewn in tablecioths. "I buy the tablecloths already stamped from books like Herschners or American Needle Woman," sho said. "I like to get ideas from the books I order from. I get so much pleasure in seeing others admire my work. There is so much enjoyment in seeing people look at the embroidery you have done." Beautiful, intricate patterns of cloth line the quilt rack in her dining room. Many local residents rave about the hundreds of items she has patterned with her hands. They say her pieces are a much sought-after item for gift giving.

Parker and her husband, Donnie, have been married for three years. They have three cats and a dog they claim as their children. Parker attends the Truth Church.

Heathrow Elementary honors veterans

Many times when you say the word veteran, elementary school age children do not know what you mean or think you mean an animal doctor. Heathrow Elementary has made sure that its fourth and fifth graders know what the word means and, more importantly, know about the sacrifices of being a veteran.

On Tuesday, Nov. 12.
Heathrow Elementary held its Veteran's annual Recognition Program. Veterans from World War II. Kores, Vietnam and the Gulf War were all present. Nine of these veterans shared their stories with the children.

This was not just a program that children came and watched. Prior to the day. each fourth and fifth grader was asked to research their family history and find out if there were veterans in their family currently or in the past. Some found relatives who had served in the wars listed above. Some found relatives in their family tree who had served in World War I, the Civil War and even the Revolutionary War. Kay Boehart, a fourth grade teacher at Heathrow, held a aimilar program last year for her class. Other fourth and fifth grade teachers were so impressed by what they heard that this year, they asked Kay to organize the event for all fourth and fifth graders.

Many of the speakers were related to the children at the school. Kay found the first speaker in a little more unusual way. Kay was behind Clint Westbrooke at a traffic light and noticed his "I Survived the U.S.S. Arizona" bumper sticker. She followed him into a K-Mart parking lot and chased him down. Besides being at the outbreak of World War II, Mr. Westbrooke was ulan there at the end of World War II. He was at the signing of the surrender by the Japanese in Tokyo Bay. He also served in the Korean War.

The second speaker was Aileene Durek. She was the first female rear admiral of the Navy. Admi. Durek served our country for 32 years. She served during World War II, the Korean War and Vietnam War. She designed the dress uniform hat that Navy women wear. She also designed the Navy Air Corps flag. Adm. Durek's uniform hangs in the Smithsonius Museum in Washington.

Other speakers from World War II included Joe Calderone. who served as a manager of Prisoner of War camps in Germany, While serving in Italy, Jack Weeks was wounded and received a Purple Heart. The children loved seeing Jack because he came in his full uniform. Peter Ritz served in the Supply Division for Europe and delivered the food to the soldiers in the field.

Bob Zbikowski served in the Panama Canal Zone. Panama was a free or neutral country with no ties to either side. Bob said it was not unusual to do out in the evening and find yourself rubbing cloows with German soldiers. The canal did present some unusual problems. Aircraft carriers were too wide to go through the canal, so welders would cut the side turrets off before going

The big surprise for many of the students was one of the Vietnam War veterans. It was none other than Mike Townsley, Heathrow's principal. Townsley was just 18 years old when he went to Vietnam as a Marine. Mike spent many months only a few miles from the front. During a 10 month atretch. Mike only had five hot meals. The rest of the time, he had to cat C. rations. Water was in short supply, so soldiers could only shower about once a month.

Another Vietnam veteran was Ralph Offer, who served in a missile unit. Raiph told the story of the man he was named for. Offer's Uncle Ralph was in the marines in World War II. Uncle Ralph was incensed that the German prisoners he was guarding could drink from the water fountains, but because he was black. Raiph could not. His complaints got him sent to the Pacific where he was killed.

The last speaker was David Hodill. He was a platoon leader in the Marines during the Gulf War. The Gulf War brought many new advances. and therefore dangers, for the soldiers. When David's platoon was being bombed, the enemy rounds containing sensors that would set them off before they hit the ground to maximize the amount of damage. Previously. artillery exploded when it hit the ground, lessening its impact.

After the speakers had concluded, the chorus Joined the veterans on stage and sang songs from the Army, the Coast Guard, the Marines, the Air Force and the Navy. The children were then allowed to view the displays of uniforms and other memorabilia the veterans had brought.

History Consortium
The Lake Mary Historical
Commission held its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 12. Members were thrilled to learn the commission soon will be getting the use of a used computer. A lot of work will be involved in setting up a database and computerising the library. Luckily, help may be forth coming. Margaret Wesley reported that UCF was taking submissions from historical groups looking for interns. The graduates and undergraduates would receive liands-en training and help with major projects. The commission voted to submit the request.

On Monday, Dec. 2, the commission will host the

oday's kids are not all bad

DEAR ABBY: I thought you

DEAR ABBY: I thought you might enjoy a story that restores my faith in today's youth. When you read about all the children in gangs who rob, kill, and destroy property as well as their lives, I'm happy you won't read about my children.

I have five. They are 11 to 14 — four girls (one set of twine) and a boy. I have kept them involved in all kinds of activities — cheir, hand, sports, cheres at home. They attend church with my father every Bunday. I have always hoped this could keep them out of trouble and on the right path. Their grades are good and they have aspirations of attending universities. That will be teagh for a single parent like me to afferd, but we'll manage. We always de.

Last spring, my 75-year-eld father had two immoral hypess surgeries. One became severely infected, and he was hospitalized for a week not tee long after the kide got out of school for the summer. When Dad was released from the hospital, the desters wented to put him in a nursing home because of the care he would require. His leg had to be flushed every four hours and his IV changed every four hours and his IV changed every sight hours. It meant around-the-clock nursing.

I werk 10 to 14 hours a day, as does my recommete (a nurse). But I just couldn't put Dad in a home, and my kide wouldn't hear of it either. Hy 14-year-old, Elizabeth, packed up and moved into Dad's

Here's what they did:

My 14-year-old, Elizabeth, packed up and moved into Dad's house. The nursing service and my roommate taught her how to take care of him. Kit, Kate and Ashley rode their bikes over there every day to wash, cook, clean, shop or whatever else was necessary. My 11-year-old sen, Michael, would go over and mow the lawn, wash the car, etc. All of the younger children took turns watching TV or visiting with

Their entire summer was devoted to taking core of the only man in their life. They skipped going to the movies, awimming with their friends at the city pool, viciting the mall, attending slumber parties and birthday parties, and everything else kids do in the summer. I was so proud of my children.

I'm happy to tell you that my father attended the twins' football game yesterday, beaming with pride for all five of his grandshildren.

I know this is a long letter, and I certainly don't expect you to print it. I just wanted to share it with you, to let you knew that there are still some good kids out there.

Ace award

SANFORD — Sanford Ace Hardware, Inc., has been pre-ented an engraved plaque recognising it as a premier hardines dealer in its market area and saluting the store's commitment to its customers.

To receive the plaque, Sanford Ace had to meet 30 high performance retail standards, which it accomplished readily. Presented by Ace Hardware Corporation, the plaque honors the Sanford store for excellence in practicing high retail standards, and attests to commitment to a process which the company calls "Ace 2000" whose goal is to have Ace dealers become the best independent hardward retailers in the industry by the year 2000.

Sanford Ace's President, Bob Parsell said, "We've worked hard to provide legendary customer service ever since this store was opened in 1978. Our employees are really the ones resonable for this award. They are knowledgeable and their goal is to satisfy the needs of our custo Parsell also offered appreciation to Ace's loyal customers, and pledged a continuation of the service which earned this award.

What's your promotion strategy?

During my counseling sessions every week, I run into clients who believe the old adage, Build a better mouse trap and the world will be at your door." Unfortunately, in this fast moving technological world, there are many better mouse traps. In many cases, the life cycle of products has shortened from years to

What does this mean to you? It means that you have to be aggressive in seeking out sustainers. You need an effective program of promotion if you want your business to exist on more than "walk-in" sales.

The two most serious errors that most small business people make in promotional activities are easy to overcome. entrepreneurs waste their dollars on consumers who are not potential customers. Second, the promotion is viewed as a one-shot deal. Frequently, it is planned as a way to boost sales in a slow period.

Your promotions should be a planned program to continually reach your identified market segment. Promotions should be thought of as a special form of communication intended of as a special form of communication intended to influence your targeted customers. Promotions can take many forms: advertising, personal selling, publicity, or sales promotion.

Advertising should be designed to get your message to a large number of potential customers simultaneously. Advertising would include: Direct mail, Storage Signage, Radio and TV, Magazine and Newspaper, Outdoor signs, Novelties, etc. Advertising should support your personal selling efforts through its nonpersonal communication. If your advertising is doing it's job in support, you probably can spend your personal time answering specific question.

You need to sak yourself three questions about your advertising. First, how much should I spent? Second, what media should I use?

Third, what should I say, and how should I say

There is no pat answer on how much to spend. One common method is the percentage of sales. This is the most common strategy. This percentage varies from industry to industry. The most common amount is three to seven percent of gross sales. Another common method is a fixed amount per unit sold or made. You work off your projections to develop your budget. Matching your competition is a reactive mode and eventually shows a lack of managerial ability. Oh, yes, I have heard of the affordable method-this is the most dangerous method of all, in that it shows no strategy at all.

I cannot emphasize enough the requirement to know who your market is. How can you buy space in a media that is not targeted at your market? Reach out to professionals to help you in planning and executing your media buys. They can help you select the right media to carry your message. The buzz word today is niche marketing, so know yours and go after than come from?

There is nothing more difficult to take in hand, more perilous to conduct, or more uncertain in its success, than to take the opening lead — or so Machiavelli almost wrote. Well, West certainly found a Machiavellian open-ing lead in this deal.

After this auction, in which South, a regular rubber-bridge player, decided not to give anything more away, the "natural? lead is a heart. However, South will win with dummy's ace, unblock the spade jack, draw two rounds of trumps ending in hand, and cash two top spades, discarding dummy's remaining hearts. Then he will play the ace and another club. Aided by the friendly 3-3 break in that suit, the con-tract rolls home.

Instead, West led the club queen.
Declarer won with his ace, played a spade to dummy's jack, and drew three rounds of trumps, ending with his queen. South cashed his top spades, discarding two hearts and one club from the dummy.

Now South led his remaining club, pausing for thought when West con-tributed the four. If West had led from a doubleton, it didn't matter which card was played from the dummy. However, as South knew West to be a tricky customer, it was just possible he had led the queen from K-Q-4. So South called for dummy's jack.

After winning with the king, East re-turned a heart to dummy's ace. Now came the club nine, and when East played low, South discarded a heart loser, taking the ruffing finesse against East's supposed 16. Imagine his shock when West produced the 10, as if by prestidigitation.
