Rangoon, Burma Road Imperiled By Jap Assault

British Admit Enemy
Might Have Captured Important
Center Of Thaton

Artillery Fire
Roars At Batan

Intermittent Infantry Fighting Is Reported By U. S.

(By Associated Press)
From Rangoon, two Japanese columns, supported by dive-bombers and machine-gunning fighter planes, drove perilously close to Thaton today in the drive to choke off supplies to China over the winding Burma Road.

A London military commentator said the fighting was "obscure" and that Thaton now might be in Japanese hands.

The battleground is only 85 miles from Rangoon.

In Washington, heavy enemy artillery fire and intermittent infantry fighting are reported in progress on the Batan peninsula in the Philippines. The War Department added Japanese war planes are active on the fighting front.

General MacArthur reported yesterday that while fighting was limited to unimportant points along the coast, the enemy were evidently being regrouped for a resumption of the offensive.

Front line units of the enemy, which had suffered heavy casualties, are being retrained by troops, said a War Department spokesman.

This latest report, added to reports of recent days, indicated that a heavy Japanese attack was in the making. Yesterday Gen.
MacArthur's report contained the comment that in some sections of the Batan front the Japanese were "retrenching their positions."

While Gen. MacArthur made no explanation of this development, it was noted here that in making ready for an offensive an army usually provides trench positions to defend against the enemy.

Artillery recently broke an offensive against his left flank by counter-attacking with his right.

Heavy guns also appear to have been brought to the beach. From concealed positions the Japanese have been hammering incessantly at Corregidor and the other American islands in the bay.

Reds Repulse Many German Counter-Blows

Italians Claim Sinking Of Destroyer,
Eight Other Ships
In British Convoy

(By Associated Press)
Travelers reaching Istanbul today said German propaganda in southeastern Europe include measures difficult to explain except as the groundwork for a move against Turkey. They include: 1—the construction of invasion barges in southern Aegean ports; 2—landing practice by Axis occupation forces on the Aegean islands off Turkey; 3—the development of airports on these islands.

(By Associated Press)
The Russians continued their assault today against the German winter defenses established by Hitler. They said Nazi counter-attacks were repulsed everywhere with bloody losses to the invaders.
Meanwhile the Italians claimed the sinking of a British destroyer, a patrol boat and seven merchantmen in the past three days from a large convoy bound for Malta.
The British reported only seven patrol activity in North Africa some 40 miles west of Tobruk.

The Red army reported last night that one division of Soviet partisans had killed 30 miles through enemy lines in a swiftly closing pincer drive on Smolensk, recapturing scores of places in a running battle across the snowy plains. The government newspaper, Izvestia, reported that all but 600 men of the original 12,000 comprising the 284th German Infantry Division had been destroyed in one running battle.

Unofficial accounts of the collapses operating in White Russia outlining the "miserable" strength of the German position, indicated that the 30-mile advance was part of a systematic offensive aimed at driving the enemy out of western Russia.

The Russians reported the first penetration of White Russia, westward of the Soviet republics whose eastern border is 48 miles beyond Smolensk.
Last Friday and the operation seemed to be developing rapidly.

The Soviet vanguard was believed to have crossed the upper reaches of one of Russia's principal rivers bisecting the occupied territories.

Work at the airport is contin-ing along its scheduled lines, although the future of the airport has not yet been decided by the government. Several weeks ago an Army official requested that the base be used as an auxiliary air base, while a few days ago Representative Joe Hendricks stated in Washington that the Navy Department is studying the possibilities of the airport, along with four others in Florida, for possible use as a secondary naval base.

Meanwhile, the work is going on as usual. Mr. Williams said the initial construction project, embracing the grading of the runways and of taxi strips has been virtually finished, and work now is being done on a second supplementary project.

Among the jobs remaining to be done are the paving of the entrance road, completing the grading of the taxi strips, and finishing the remainder of the necessary clearing and grubbing.
In addition, the fence, as specified in the original plan, must be built, and 275 feet of sewerage pipe must be laid. The pipe is expected to arrive in the next few days.

Nips Claim Capture
Of 60,000 In Con-

WILLEMSTAD, Curaçao,
Dutch West Indies, Feb. 16.
(AP)—The Dutch News Agency reported an enemy submarine attacked Aruba today and torpedoed three tankers and shelled the refinery of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The dutch did not specify the names of the tankers, but results of this first attack on shore objectives in the Western Hemisphere, but the warning indicated they were American troops, recently arrived in Aruba, which is a most of the shore of Venezuela and only about 800 miles from the Panama Canal, to protect oil installations there. The fourth tanker was torpedoed near Willemstad Harbor and both damaged but not sunk.

The Japanese, however, now in complete possession of conquered Singapore, today turned their war machine southward into the rich East Indies Archipelago.
The Dutch acknowledged the fall of the Sumatra oil center of Palembang, but added Allied planes inflicted great devastation on thousands of invaders who continued to land along the south Sumatra coast.

The Dutch said oil installations were bombed by bombers before the Japanese took possession. Severe fighting continued today in southern China.

The British admitted, little known, that they had been driven from Singapore. The Japanese and the captured numbered 60,000 troops.

Headquarters of the Japanese army in Malaya announced at 7:30 P. M. Tokyo time, at 5:30 A. M. EWT, that Gen. A. E.
Periwal, commander of the British army, and Gen. G.
Tomoyuki Yamashita, the Japanese commander in chief, had signed the surrender terms at 7:00 P. M., which called for resurrection of hostilities three hours later at 9:00 A. M. EWT.

In London Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced the fall of Singapore in a solemn radio speech to the British Empire in which he pleaded for unity in the grim hour since the fall of France.

The battlefield ceremony took place at the Ford Motor Plant in the town of Bukit Timah, a hill northwest of the city, where the bitterest and bloodiest fighting of the entire seven-day battle on Singapore Island took place.

Imperial Headquarters said all hope of a British evacuation had been destroyed by the Japanese navy which had sunk, damaged or beached 32 ships, including many warships, to the south of Singapore.

Sanford's air raid siren will receive its second test Wednesday, when it will be blown at various times throughout the day at several points near the water plant, H. James Co., assistant chairman of the Civilian Protection of the Defense Council, started this morning.

"The siren should disregard the noise," Mr. Cut said, "as we may be testing it. I hope we are successful this time in producing the desired result."

In an attempt to achieve sufficient volume of noise from the machine recently purchased by the City Commission, it will be blown from the top of the water reservoir, from the top of the water works building, and from the siren itself. It was located when the first test was made, about 12 feet under the water tower. Officials also plan to hang it on a long pole and test it.

"We use our own generator to the water plant, and because of this, it is advantageous for us to station the siren somewhere near the plant," Mr. Cut said.

Rock Hauled For Runway Bases At Municipal Airport

City Engineer States
Work Continues
According To Plan

About 5,000 tons of rock screening is being hauled by truck from a rock quarry near Brooksville to the new municipal airport to be used as a base to stabilize the runways, City Engineer Fred T.
Williams disclosed today. The rock, hauling of which started yesterday will be used to form a "runway base."

Work at the airport is contin-
ing along its scheduled lines, although the future of the airport has not yet been decided by the government. Several weeks ago an Army official
requested that the base be used

Churchill Says Policy Based On U. S. Entry Into Conflict

Selectees Depart
for Camp Blanding Induction Center

After stating that more than 600 men between the ages of 20 and 44 have been registered at the designated place at the corner of Second Street and Magnolia Avenue and that a report is not yet received from the military department, the prime minister announced that he was in a stirring plea for the very life of his government declared that he was now with the United States in the war, "we are no longer alone."

Broadcasting to the world in a sober, 21-minute speech, the prime minister answered rising clamor against his regime with the declaration that his policies had been based on the United States' entry into the conflict.

"It is what I have dreamed of, aimed at and worked for, and now it has come to pass," he said.

"When I survey and compute the power of the United States and its vast resources," he said, "and feel that they are in it with us, with the British commonwealth of nations all together, however long it lasts until victory or death, I can not believe there is any factor in the whole world which can compare with that."

Praising the Russian unity in their "most dire peril," Mr.
Churchill exhorted the allied peoples the world over to follow their example.

"The Russian people did not fall to bickering among themselves," he told critics. "They just stood together and worked and fought harder."

"They did not lose trust in their leaders. They did not try to break up their government."
"Fitter had hoped to find Quintin and fifth colonists in the wide regions he overran and among the unhappy masses who fell into his power. He looked for them, he searched for them, but he found none."

Mr. Churchill did not mention the escape of the German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst and the cruiser Prinz Eugen last Thursday, a flouting of Britain's cherished sea power, which with defeats in the Pacific, had added fuel to the growing against his government.

He made it plain that neither today's fall of Singapore, which for 123 years had been the proud symbol of empire strength in the Pacific, nor Japan's other quick victories could cloud his faith in eventual Allied victory.

Firemen Put Out
Two Small Fires

Firemen put out two fires Saturday in which the total damage was estimated at $15. Chief Cleveland said this morning.

An oil heater overflowed at Roberta Grocery Store, at First Street and Palmetto Avenue, but firemen quickly crossed the street and extinguished the flames. The damage was placed at $5.

A cigarette, left on the back porch of a house on Third Street between Avocado Avenue and Olive Street, was considered to be the cause of a blaze, which resulted in about $10 damage to the porch. There was no insurance on the house, which is owned by Fred Leonard.

Winston Churchill is always at his best when defending himself against his most vigorous critics. He was in the minority for so long while he was warning the various appeasement governments which preceded his against the dangers of the Nazi regime that he has had considerable more experience than most people in defending his position, whatever it may be. He is well prepared in the present instance to cry down all opposition.

And yet it seemed to us that his speech to the Empire yesterday in which he sought to present the best possible case for his government left much to be desired even among his most ardent admirers. The burden of Mr. Churchill's text seemed to be that Britain is strong today not because of her own strength but because of the strength of her Allies.

Singapore has fallen, he admits. The British are being pushed back in Libya. He cannot even mention the escape of the German battleships from Brest or the defeat of the Royal Navy in the English Channel. He passes lightly over the sinking of the Prince of Wales and the Repulse and he says nothing whatever about the continued failure of the British to take any offensive action anywhere in the world, either on land, on the sea, or in the air.

Ah, but there are victories to which he does point with pride. There is the marvelous success of the Russian armies from Leningrad to the Crimea. "The Russian armies have not been beaten, have not been torn to pieces," he boasted. "Russia's armies in the field are not holding a line in the Urals or a line in the Volga, but they are advancing victoriously, driving the foul invader from that native soil they have guarded so bravely and loved so well."

And then there is that other great British victory. The United States is now in the war. "When I survey and compute the power of the United States, with its vast resources, and feel that now they are in it with us how ever long it lasts—till death or victory—I cannot believe there are any other facts in the whole world which can compare with that."

That is what I have dreamed of, aimed at and worked for, and now it has come to pass," he continued. That is the substance of Churchill's defense of his government. Britain's strategic retreats and successful evacuations are counterbalanced by the Russian counter-offensive and MacArthur's defense of Corregidor. This may save the Churchill government. It may destroy Britain's enemies. But it will not save the British Empire.

Curing A Tube

Prior to December 7 the only contact which millions of American motorists ever had with their tires was when they bought a new set. They didn't even know how many pounds of pressure they were supposed to carry. Now they talk glibly of retreads, recaps and camelback as if they had been economizing on rubber all their lives.

But for the convenience of those who may not yet be wised up to prevailing conditions, the following glossary of common words and phrases is supplied, free of charge: Camelback: The rubber compound used in replacing the tread on a worn tire. It can be made with varying percentages of crude rubber, reclaim rubber, other ingredients.

Top Cap: Camelback applied just across the top of the tire after the worn tread has been buffed off. Skid Depth: The distance between the top and the bottom of the tread design on the finished recapped tire. Buffing: Roughening the old tread surfaces and taking off surface rubber to present uniform surface for the camelback.

Cementing: Applying cement to the roughened tire surfaces. Carcass: A tire body exclusive of the tread. Maki: A piece of equipment designed to convey heat to the tire so the new tread, or recap, may be vulcanized or "cured" and the cement flow so uniform adhesion takes place.

Matrix: A circular metal shell, which impresses the tread design into the camelback during the cure. Curing Tube: A heavy rubber tube inserted in the tire and inflated to provide pressure which forces the camelback into direct contact with the matrix, thus assuring that the tread design will be correctly imprinted in the recap.

Cure: The application of heat for definite periods to vulcanize or cure the recap and adhere it to the tire.

A City Discovers Itself

Half a century of trying to be a cog in Michigan's mechanized industry brought only financial loss and a receding population curve to St. Johns. "Today," writes Delbert Clark in the current Rotarian magazine, "St. Johns is studied by planned experts as a model for other Midwestern towns."

Nearly 20 years ago the city did an about-face, and determined to develop its rural neighborhood relations. Instead of factories, it sought to become a distribution center for the rich farmland about it. It made itself the civic center of the county and established urban conveniences for the neighborhood. Today the results show in increased business, increased facilities and increased population.

Many Things Can Happen to Dogs At Field Trials

By LYDIA SIMS
 GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., Feb. 15. (AP)—Things happen to dog handlers and owners that ought not to happen to a dog.

A few examples from the National Field Trial and Stakeholder Association show that things can happen to dogs and their handlers.

One handler, who was a member of the association, was told that his dog was a champion. He was told that his dog was a champion because it had won a stakeholder.

Another handler, who was a member of the association, was told that his dog was a champion. He was told that his dog was a champion because it had won a stakeholder.

The Lion Loses Face

Winston Churchill is always at his best when defending himself against his most vigorous critics. He was in the minority for so long while he was warning the various appeasement governments which preceded his against the dangers of the Nazi regime that he has had considerable more experience than most people in defending his position, whatever it may be. He is well prepared in the present instance to cry down all opposition.

And yet it seemed to us that his speech to the Empire yesterday in which he sought to present the best possible case for his government left much to be desired even among his most ardent admirers. The burden of Mr. Churchill's text seemed to be that Britain is strong today not because of her own strength but because of the strength of her Allies.

Singapore has fallen, he admits. The British are being pushed back in Libya. He cannot even mention the escape of the German battleships from Brest or the defeat of the Royal Navy in the English Channel. He passes lightly over the sinking of the Prince of Wales and the Repulse and he says nothing whatever about the continued failure of the British to take any offensive action anywhere in the world, either on land, on the sea, or in the air.

Ah, but there are victories to which he does point with pride. There is the marvelous success of the Russian armies from Leningrad to the Crimea. "The Russian armies have not been beaten, have not been torn to pieces," he boasted. "Russia's armies in the field are not holding a line in the Urals or a line in the Volga, but they are advancing victoriously, driving the foul invader from that native soil they have guarded so bravely and loved so well."

And then there is that other great British victory. The United States is now in the war. "When I survey and compute the power of the United States, with its vast resources, and feel that now they are in it with us how ever long it lasts—till death or victory—I cannot believe there are any other facts in the whole world which can compare with that."

That is what I have dreamed of, aimed at and worked for, and now it has come to pass," he continued. That is the substance of Churchill's defense of his government. Britain's strategic retreats and successful evacuations are counterbalanced by the Russian counter-offensive and MacArthur's defense of Corregidor. This may save the Churchill government. It may destroy Britain's enemies. But it will not save the British Empire.

Home Demonstration Agent Explains The Importance of Saving On Utilities

"Just as food conservation is essential, so is conserving public utilities during war time," Mrs. Quila Wilson, county home demonstration agent, stated this morning when she disclosed means of saving fuel, electricity, water and gas.

Persons can save fuel for heat by checking equipment for maximum operation; painting radiators light brown or cream color rather than aluminum or bronze. The latter colors decrease the heat output by 7 percent, as compared with an unpainted iron heater; turning off heat in bedrooms at night and in rooms not used during the day; lowering thermostat rather than opening windows to cool room.

Mrs. Wilson listed the following ways of saving electricity: by switching off lights when not in use; by painting rooms light colors for maximum reflection; by seeing that house wiring is in good condition and adequate for the load put on it; by checking wiring of appliances; by placing refrigerator where air will circulate as an aid to the motor.

Water may be saved by checking leaky fixtures, connections and pipes; running water only when necessary; washing dishes in pail, not under running water; keeping bottle of drinking water in icebox instead of running water until it becomes cold.

A number of means of saving gas were suggested by the demonstration agent also, by checking leaky fixtures, fittings and piping; by discontinuing the use of a pilot light, if practical; by adjusting air and gas supply for perfect combustion; by eliminating draughts that deflect flame from cooking vessel; by lighting gas only when ready for use and turning gas down after cooking begins; by turning gas off when not in use; by using utensils which require little heat after food starts to cook; by heating only the amount of water needed.

Recipes Suitable For Lent Season Listed

By Mrs. Alexander George, Wide World Features Writer.
Lent begins Feb. 18 as every good cook chafes her calendar. She's smart in juggling down the date because sooner or later she's apt to entertain a guest who observes Lent even if she doesn't, and she certainly wants to be ready with "tasty" dishes to fit the schedule.

Here are some seasonal suggestions for meat substitutes, including a hearty main dish of spaghetti for cold weather appetites, one appetizer of deviled eggs in a more masculine appeal, and one out-right fish salad that's delicious.

Spaghetti, Stuffed: 4 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup minced onions, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, 2 cups tomatoes, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ground sugar, 3 cups cooked spaghetti, 1/2 cup mushrooms, 1/2 cup grated cheese. Brown onion and peppers in the fat, melt in a frying pan. Cook spaghetti and tomatoes separately, add spaghetti. Cook 15 minutes. Mix in the mushrooms and cook 15 minutes. Serve sprinkled with cheese.

Mr. And Mrs. Wright Give Party For Son

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Edward Wright, Jr., entertained on Saturday afternoon, honoring their son, Gordon Edward, who celebrated his twelfth birthday anniversary. Guests were reserved at the Rita Theater for the guests, who were chartered by Mrs. J. A. Varn and Mrs. Harry Robson.

After the picture show the guests returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wright where refreshments of ice cream and birthday cake were served, and Gordon opened his many gifts.

The tables in the studio were placed to form one long table, covered with cloths carrying Valentine motifs, with an arrangement of red and white gladioli forming the central decoration.

At each end of the table red and white crepe paper ropes extended to the ceiling. On one side of the central decoration was placed two ship cakes, one housed in red, holding 12 red candles, while on the other side was a large chocolate cake decorated in the same theme.

Places for the guests were designated by small white cards, shaped like ships, and baskets holding 11 red and white hearts.

Kentucky Cagers Are "Hot" Team In Southeastern

ATLANTA, Feb. 16, (AP)—This is as good a time as any to warn members of the Southeastern conference not to count chickens before they're hatched.

That advice goes for Tennessee, Alabama, Auburn and a few more who are eyeing the forthcoming conference basketball tournament at Louisville, Ky., Feb. 26-28. The University of Kentucky is a tough customer in the blue grass country and nobody had better count it out until the last round is played.

Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats put a black eye on Tennessee's conference Saturday, beating the defending champions at Lexington, 36-33, in a game which had the famous Mehen brothers pretty well covered.

Earlier last week, Kentucky bowled over Alabama 50-34 in a game at Lexington.

Kentucky's win over Tennessee coupled with Auburn's one-point upset by Mississippi State, 40-41, moved the Wildcats into third place in the conference standings and dropped Auburn to fourth.

Louisiana State with two victories over hapless Tulane, moved past Mississippi State to fifth.

Tennessee, with five wins and only one defeat, continued to pace the league, with Alabama second.

The leaders (conference games only):

Team	W	L	PF	PA	Pct.
Tennessee	5	1	217	182	.833
Alabama	12	3	527	457	.800

Two Dogs Clash In Ninth Race; Hi-Guide Loses

LONGWOOD, Feb. 16, (Special)—Extra Special and Grand Sia will hook up again tonight in a renewal of their engagements that have featured several of the ninth races at Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club lately.

In their last out Friday night, Grand Sia triumphed by a neck over fast-closing Extra Special.

Time before, it was Extra Special that romped to the wire in front. Meanwhile, the feeling of suspense was shattered by the defeat of Hi-Guide Saturday night; C. M. Hall's ace greyhound was beaten in his attempt to extend his victory string to eleven.

Many WOMEN get 2-Way help!

CARDUI is a name you ought to remember, for it may help you in 2 important ways: If your male trouble is periodic, functional distress, start 3 days before "the time" and take it as directed. If you are rundown, undernourished from functional distress, use it as a tonic; it should help stimulate appetite, increase the flow of gastric juices, and so improve digestion, help build you up.
