

SOKC Has New Timing System

LANSWOOD—A new timing system which should meet with the unanimous approval of racing fans will be installed this season at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club. It will be ready when the meet opens December 14.

Speed of the fast-stopping greyhounds will be timed to the nearest hundredth of a second for the first time here. For the past two seasons, dogs have been clocked to the nearest tenth of a second and before that, timing was limited to fifths of a second.

But now, thanks to intricate eye in the sky photo-timing, Central Florida racing fans will know how their favorites perform down to the exact hundredth of a second.

A conversion table, to be printed in the Sanford-Orlando track program, will enable handicappers to accurately match time to distance.

Seven hundredths of a second, for example, equals one length in distance. Even the time consumed by the space covered by the nose of a greyhound can be determined. This is one hundredth of a second.

Evaluating the ability of a greyhound is made easier by another timing feature of the Sanford-Orlando track inaugurated two seasons ago. The actual running time of each greyhound is shown although this will also be in hundredths now instead of tenths. Few tracks anywhere offer the complete and accurate timing system which will become standard procedure at Jerry Collins' oval during the coming season.

GRAND FELLOW

LONDON (UP)— Superintendent's clerk William Wood was the hero of the day to the other members of the Brixton police force today. He picked the soccer pool ticket that won them $120,000.

Wood, 78 other policemen, and one policewoman at Brixton are in a syndicate which collectively bets $22.40 in a soccer pool each week. After many months of disappointment, they learned Tuesday that Wood picked this week's winner and that the whole group will share the top prize.

Blind Newsdealer's Stand Is Designed

By BOB QUINN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)— Dick O'Connor, a blind newsdealer who has peddled papers and magazines on the same corner for 21 years, says he may not be the richest newsy in the world but he's the only one whose shack was planned and designed by an architect.

This wasn't any old architect. The firm that blueprinted O'Connor's three-by-six-foot newsstand happens also to be the one that designed the United Nations buildings and helped with the Rockefeller Center complex.

In addition, he works on a sidewalk which in cold weather is radiantly heated, an underfoot condition to be appreciated by a man who works outdoors nine hours a day.

Gala Opening Day

The day Dick opened his new stand was like opening day in a new office building. Two lady customers sent baskets of flowers, and they made a fine show among the stacks of papers.

The architecturally acceptable stand is on the corner of 26th st. and Madison Ave. In front of the new building of the CIT Financial Corporation, a decorous, smooth-faced structure of polished black granite, stainless steel, and green glass.

For two years, during demolition and construction work on the site, O'Connor had to move his old wooden stand, painted green in the New York tradition, across the street. But when the shiny new building was completed, he demanded his corner back.

"He told us his entire business career had been on this corner, that it was home to him," a CIT man recalled. "We decided to have a newsstand designed for him to conform with the new building."

The CIT building architects were Harrison & Abramovitz, whose Wallace K. Harrison was director of planning for the U.N. buildings. Architect T. De Falco who worked on the U.N. project, designed a newsstand of special sliding glass-and-aluminum windows and a built-in, fluorescent-lighted magazine stand on one end.

Were Trouble Than U.N.

"Just between you and me," O'Connor said today, "I don't think they had as much trouble designing the U. N. as they did this stand. They never had designed a newsstand before. They had to go to the city to find out the building ordinance on newsstands and then ask me and others for ideas."

The finished work has such features as an aluminum pull-out extension roof to protect papers from rain, short leveling device legs, and a built-in folding seat.

"That inside seat is only for use if I want it," O'Connor said. "But I don't, except for coldest weather. I'm strictly an outdoor boy."

"Some of Dick's steady customers even got the idea that this million-dollar fancy heated sidewalk was put in just for him," said Davy, the cop on the corner. "Dick's been here so long, he's even acquainted with the wind on this corner."

Christian Church Hoping To Raise Money For House

Sunday at 11 a. m. the First Christian Church hopes to raise $2500 to apply on the 7-room house at 1613 Sanford Ave. recently acquired for additional classroom space. Pastor Perry L. Stone said today.

In June, following a sermon on "the Parable of the Pounds," 60 families were given $10 each as working capital to use in earning money for the building fund. A wide variety of methods have been employed to increase the capital. Sunday is the deadline set for the return along with its earnings. It is expected that sacrificial offerings will be added. If the $2500 goal is reached the church will be able to pay off a mortgage which was placed on the parsonage in October when the new property was purchased. The money borrowed, plus the amount on hand in the building fund, were used to buy the seller's equity in the house and two lots at the corner of Sanford and Rosalia Avenue.

The acquisition of the new property made it possible to enlarge the main 75' x 125' parking lot south of the sanctuary, so that a greater number of cars may be accommodated. This week a second entrance on Sanford Ave. was opened and an exit on Rosalia Dr. was made. The improvement was made by men of the congregation under the direction of Chandler Vall, chairman of the church property committee.

Homecoming To Be Observed Tomorrow At Childrens Home

The 29th Annual Homecoming of the Florida Methodist Children's Home will be celebrated tomorrow with church services beginning at 11 o'clock at the Barnett Memorial Church.

The Rev. E. Kircher, a former pastor and now of Oakland Park, will be the guest speaker. Homecoming will continue throughout the day. A feature of the celebration will be dinner served at the Methodist Children's Home followed by what has been described as "a period of reminiscing and chatter".

The Alumni meeting will be held immediately following the talk and conversation.

A spokesman for the Children's Home said that all alumni of the home are invited to attend the annual event.

Many, Varied Prayers Are Heard On Thanksgiving Day

By UNITED PRESS

Thanksgiving Day was a day of prayer—prayers for President Eisenhower's early and complete recovery, prayers for world peace, prayers of gratitude, and prayers that the nation's travelers return to their homes unhurt.

Long before American families sat down to the traditional feast, religious services had been held by many denominations. Reflecting the mood of the country, the president of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, The Rev. Paul M. Robinson, urged "all churches, not only here but everywhere," to pray for the President.

Traffic fatalities rose slowly as millions of cars thronged the highways on trips to family gatherings. A United Press count showed that at 3:30 a. m. (est.), 17 persons had been killed since the four-day weekend began at 6 p. m. Wednesday.

New York, with six persons killed in traffic accidents, led the nation. Florida reported 4 traffic fatalities and one in a miscellaneous accident, Tennessee 2 and Kentucky, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin reported 1 each. Pennsylvania also reported 1 fatality due to fire.

The National Safety Council, although it gave no estimate of how many persons would lose their lives over the holiday week end, pointed out that a non-holiday four day count for November would approach 500 fatalities.

Normally, the council's safety experts said, about 40 million motorists crowd the roads on a Thursday. They predicted the figure might be less because industrial drivers, such as truckers, were taking a day of rest with their families.

Americans got an added bonus for their holiday from the U. S. Weather Bureau. Most of the nation will enjoy fair, mild Thanksgiving weather, the bureau said.

In the East, however, a warning trend was accompanied by general cloudiness, with the possibility of snow in northern New England. Farther south, rain was forecast for the Gulf and Middle Atlantic states.

Weather

Fair and mild through Friday; low tonight 18 to 23.

Survey Shows Big Citrus Industry Growth Here

There are a total of some 1,179,279 citrus trees planted in Seminole County according to a tree-by-tree survey of citrus recently completed and released by the State Plant Board. The reports show an acreage of 15,339 acres of commercial grove in Seminole County. This is an increase of some 5,911 acres over the acreage reported in the 1954 census of agriculture.

These figures show the tremendous growth of the citrus industry in Seminole County within the last few years, and the acreage is still increasing. At least 300 more acres of land are known to have been cleared for citrus production since the completion of the tree survey in the spring of 1957. No doubt there are more.

This places Seminole County eleventh in the ranking of the 23 citrus producing counties in Florida in the total number of citrus trees in commercial groves; Seminole County ranks fifth in the number of mandarin type fruit trees growing in the citrus producing counties of Florida. These rankings are particularly interesting in the light of the fact that Seminole County is the third smallest county in land area in the state.

While citrus production is only one segment of the agricultural picture in Seminole County, it does play an important role in the economic picture of the county. The on-the-tree value of all Seminole County citrus production in 1955-56 (latest figures from Florida State Marketing Bureau, Statistical Summary) was $4,196,900. It might be added that a considerable part of this 4.2 million dollars (Continued on Page 4)

VAH-11 Flight Crew Sights Sputnik II

While on a routine training mission Tuesday night, a Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven (VAH-11) flight crew sighted the earth satellite Sputnik II. Cdr. Floyd L. Harris, Executive Officer of VAH-11, was the plane commander of an A3D "Sky Warrior" that was on a Radar Bomb Scoring (RBS) mission over Georgia and South Carolina.

Cdr. Harris said that they heard on their radios a Civil Aeronautics Administration (C. A. A.) controller advising another aircraft that Sputnik "was due over Atlanta at 1816 (6:16 p. m. est.)." "It was a clear night, and about 1817 we sighted the satellite," Cdr. Harris stated, "it did not twinkle like a star but was a bright sphere, illuminated by the setting sun."

The other crew members of the jet bomber were Ens. William H. Foulk, Bombardier Navigator; Ens. William Malczowski and Murray T. Lewis, AOI.

Ens. Foulk also stated that Sputnik appeared to be "like a bright star" and "that it did not flash but held a steady southeasterly course."

Normally the "Sky Warrior" carries a three man crew. However, on this flight a fourth man, Ens. Malczowski, was aboard as an observer. He said that Sputnik "was about 45° above the horizon of our aircraft."

This was the first sighting of Sputnik by a Sanford-based crew.

Lyman Junior Wins Writing Contest

The Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees announced today the winner in the Voice of Democracy contest conducted in the high schools.

Sibyl Grant, a Junior at Lyman High School, was judged as this year's county winner. Runners up were: Mary Ann Tesinsky of Oviedo High School and Peggy Westgate of Seminole High School.

The Voice of Democracy contest is sponsored by the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees in co-operation with the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, and the Electronics Industries Association.

The contest is a broadcast script writing and voicing competition in which students prepare three to five minute scripts on the subject, "I Speak for Democracy". The county winner's script has been tape recorded and entered in the district finals to be judged in Orlando. All district winners will be entered in the state finals.

The state winner will receive an originally designed VOD trophy and will also receive an all-expense paid trip to the annual national convention in Washington, D. C. (Continued on Page 4)

Board Hires Road Superintendent

Fred W. Stopher, presently employed in Ocala as superintendent of street, sewer and water work, has been employed by the Board of Seminole County Commissioners as Road Superintendent.

Stopher will start to work in Seminole County Monday. The new county road superintendent has been in the road construction business all of his life and is also an engineer and surveyor.

J. W. Yarborough, the present county road superintendent, will work with Stopher as his assistant. Selection of Stopher was made from 24 applicants at a special meeting held to interview the top applicants for the local county for the position.

Nixon To Attend NATO Confab For President

Jaycees Are Urged To Offer Services For Yule Parade

The Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees did not hold their regular luncheon meeting today because of Thanksgiving.

John Alexander, Parade Chairman, this morning asked members of the organization "to contact the various committee heads on their own to volunteer their services for next Wednesday's parade."

"As this is the largest project the Jaycees undertake," Alexander said, "it will be necessary to have 100 per cent participation by the membership."

Alexander said again today "This year's Christmas Parade appears to be the biggest yet."

Bob McKee, chairman of the balloon sales committee, has asked that all members meet with him on the evening of Dec. 3 to blow up the balloons that will be sold during the Christmas Parade. Object of the balloon sales is to give the children of Lutheran Haven an opportunity to have a very merry Christmas. Funds derived from the sale of balloons are distributed between the children of the home and then taken on a shopping tour of Sanford stores.

PARIS (UP)—The NATO allies agreed unanimously today to press on with next month's "summit" conference and give Vice President Richard M. Nixon his first opportunity as a world leader.

Nixon will stand in for President Eisenhower at the Dec. 16-18 session called to marshal the Western resources against Soviet scientific gains, unless doctors tell the President he can go. It would be the first time the 44-year-old Nixon has taken part in the highest councils of the Western Alliance.

The decision to proceed with the summit talks despite the President's illness was announced here

A total of $1,610 has been received from the sale of Christmas Seals up to this time. Next meeting of the group was set for Jan. 27 at 8 p. m. in the First Baptist Church Educational Building.

after a two-hour conference of the NATO permanent council of ambassadors headed by Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak.

Red Carpet For Nixon
The NATO permanent council expressed regrets that President Eisenhower himself probably will not attend the conference but unanimously welcomed Nixon to the unprecedented gathering of the 15 chiefs of state.

The delegates already had agreed that the Dec. 16 meeting was too important to be postponed or to be changed into a meeting of the 15 NATO foreign ministers. Many called it the most important session in the eight-year history of the alliance.

Eisenhower is tremendously popular in Europe and there was great disappointment that his illness probably would prevent his attending.

Concern Over Health
Most segments of the French press, for example, showed more concern over the President's health than doubts as to Nixon's ability to stand in for Eisenhower. Nixon is an unknown quantity in Europe but it was conceded in Western European capitals that the conference might not have as much impact with Nixon there.

The defense committee of the West European Union WEU meanwhile met in special session in Paris today to discuss whether and how nuclear arms production should be divided up among WEU's seven member nations. The union operates closely with the NATO organization.

A Real Thanksgiving

By Lt. (jg) Richard A. Beck
Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven
Sanford Naval Air Station

In the November 3rd issue of "The Envoy", a weekly newsletter of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Sanford, Florida, Rector: The Rev. John W. Thomas, was the following comment:

"Those Planes: Will the noise get worse? Now that all groups at the Naval Air Station have jets, the noise of planes overhead probably will get louder. If we are thoughtless, small of nature, and selfish of purpose, we will complain. Here at Holy Cross we understand that these men are protecting our country, and are not flying for fun. It is the policy of this parish that anytime a plane flies over the church during service, so that the noise drowns out everything, we will stop (unless in a group action such as a hymn or the Creed) and everyone in the church will bow their head and say a silent prayer for the pilot and the crew. It is recommended that you do this same at home when a plane flies over your house. A good prayer is: 'God bless and guide that crew. Return them safe again to the ground and to their family. Amen.'"

Note to pilots: As you circle over Sanford, we invite you to fly over the Episcopal Church and we'll pray for your safety."

Thank you, Reverend Thomas. The truly patriotic and Christian attitude you have exhibited increases our gratitude for the warm hospitality that has always been shown to the Navy in Sanford. Everyone acknowledges that the country must be defended, but usually people would like the defenders to be based in some other town or county. In particular, the ear-splitting noise unavoidable created by military aircraft is difficult to live with 365 days a year. It is a sound most Americans like to hear only when a potential enemy rattles his weapons and emphasizes to us that our precious freedoms come at a high price.

We also thank you, Reverend Thomas, for reminding us that our flight crews are not alone in the sky. No matter how high we climb into the stratosphere, we are still in God's presence, and no matter how well our aircraft are built, our fate ultimately rests in His hands. Therefore the old saying "The more we sweat in peace, the less we will bleed in war" should be changed on this Thanksgiving Day to "The more we pray (Continued on Page 4)

AN EDITORIAL

Sincere Thankfulness For All We Have Now

It is not uncommon to hear someone ask, at least in partial seriousness, "What do I have to be thankful for?" This is usually followed by a citation of the various ailments, troubles, perplexities and disappointments that beset the one who asks the question.

Certainly there are those about us who seem to have little for which to be thankful. Life has treated them badly, and one might forgive them for being rebellious. Yet thankfulness is by no means always in direct proportion to how fortunate one is. Thankfulness is an attitude, the expression of a philosophy that recognizes our debt to something beyond ourselves. And often those who feel this debt most keenly, and are most profoundly grateful, are those who possess comparatively little of the world's goods.

By the standards of our day, the Pilgrim Fathers were not blessed with abundance. Nor did their first service of thanksgiving center about their gratitude for abundance and ease. They thanked God because they had enough for their needs and because they were grateful for the opportunity to go on living, not a life of ease and comfort, but a demanding and challenging life in a hostile wilderness.

As we sit down to our turkey and trimmings on Thanksgiving Day in 1957, there is something to keep in mind—the thoughts and feelings of thankfulness that welled up in the hearts of those men and women so many generations ago. They are far removed from us in time and circumstance. But we too should be sincerely grateful not only for the material things that surround us, but for the precious chance to go on living in a free society.

The First Thanksgiving Perhaps But One We Should Remember

A story, perhaps unfounded, purports to give the origin of Thanksgiving. The Massachusetts Pilgrims, so we are told, were at the brink of starvation. All they had to eat was five grains of corn apiece.

So they doled these out, and ate them slowly, to make them last. As they finished the last grains, they looked up, and there in the harbor was the long-hoped-for ship from England, bringing food in abundance.

Some families recall this experience by setting five grains of popcorn at each place on the Thanksgiving dinner table. The host then tells the story, and requires each to eat his five grains of corn before starting on the holiday feast.

Thanksgiving should not be devoted entirely to feasting. The courage of our earliest settlers ought not to be lost to mind. The day is properly one of jollity, but it need not be the less jovial if an element of seriousness is added. We do well to recall those early times of adversity.

Congratulations Out Of Order

Communists the world over are celebrating this year as the 40th anniversary of the Russian revolution. Despite some recent remarkable scientific achievements by the "Motherland of the Revolution," it may be wondered whether there is any real joy in the celebration.

When the czar was toppled from his throne there were few humane-minded people who regretted it. He had ruled a backward land where personal liberty was unknown, where the suffering of the poor was in horrible contrast to the luxury of the rich. If ever a people deserved relief from despotism, it was the Russians.

But the revolution did not bring freedom, nor did it bring bread. An attempt by the moderates to govern fell before the wiles of the Communists. Lenin emerged as the leader, and he gave his people economic theory instead of liberty. A new tyranny grew up worse than the one it succeeded.

Today, 40 years after, the illusions and the dreams are gone. Russia is ruled by a small group of men who sacrifice their people for personal power. A constant struggle for power goes on; a ruthless disregard for human rights prevails that would have appalled the most dedicated czarist.

The free world looks with pity on the Russian people. They have had no real revolution; it was an exchange of masters. On the 40th anniversary of the new despotism, free people can offer the Russians only sympathy. Congratulations would be quite out of order.

The Public Interest Is Served

Newspaper people and doctors have a great deal in common. That is the unusual theme of an editorial in the Louisville Courier-Journal, entitled "Press And Medicine Both Serve The People."

The Journal says: "The two professions—medicine and journalism—have some notable points of similarity. Both are concerned with important functions of human life. Doctors strive to preserve and restore human health. . . . Journalists deal with the health of human minds in a democracy by trying to keep them adequately informed."

"Both professions are practiced by men and women who are passionate believers in their calling. Here is perhaps the root of some misunderstanding. A doctor believes that all must recognize the nobility of his profession. A journalist is just as convinced that the satisfaction of the people's right to know is a duty of a high moral order. Such pride can lead to arrogance on both sides. The practitioners of both professions sometimes fail to explain their actions fully to each other or to the public, because they forget that any explanation is necessary. . . ."

Happily, misunderstandings born of such cases are much less common than they used to be. More and more doctors—along with medical societies—now recognize the need for good public relations, within the framework of medicine's high code of ethics. More and more newspaper people, on their side, are showing a keen interest in the

13 Bands To Appear In Christmas Parade

The number of bands appearing in the gigantic Christmas Parade on Dec. 4, said John Alexander, Chairman of the Jaycee Christmas Parade Committee, "has increased to 13."

It's the biggest array of bands ever to appear in one parade here, the committee chairman said as he released the names of schools to be represented in Sanford's finest parade to be staged

Survey

(Continued from Page 1) was spent by the producers to pay for fertilizer, spray materials, labor, etc. In fact, we used the operating cost of the average producer over the state, and apply it to our Seminole County production you would find that approximately $2,141,002 was returned by the farmer to the trade and business channels to pay for this operating cost, excluding taxes.

The hands to be seen in this year's Jaycee Christmas Parade are: Winter Park High School, DeLand High School, Sebring High School, Leesburg High School, Apopka High School, Winter Garden High School, Mount Dora High School, Florida Military Academy, Seminole High School, Sanford Junior High School, Lyman High School, Creola Academy and the Apopka Colored High School.

"With such an array of high school bands to be seen and heard in the forthcoming parade Wednesday, we are assured of having one of the finest parades ever held here," said Chairman Alexander.

Last moment preparations are beginning to get underway and excitement is reaching its climax as committees complete their plans for the next week parade event.

Schools will be let out in time for children to see and take part in the parade, Alexander said.

Weir Is Elected Officer Of State Hospital Assn.

It has been announced by A. B. Peterson Sr., chairman of the Board of Trustees of Seminole Memorial Hospital, that Harry M. Weir, hospital administrator, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Florida Hospital Association at the annual meeting in Clearwater.

During his term in office he will also serve as a member of the Association Board of trustees. He formerly served as secretary-treasurer to the Central Florida Hospital Association, vice-president of the Central Florida Association and vice-president of the Seminole County Cancer Society. He is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says dew is an important source of moisture, and tests in Ohio showed dew accumulation accounted for 10 inches of moisture in one year.

Mrs. Pittard Talks On Forest Park, Primrose Schools

Mrs. George Pittard, who for the past five years has transported children from Seminole County to the Forest Park and Primrose Schools for Exceptional Children in Orlando, held her audience spellbound when she spoke before members of the Pilot Club Tuesday night at the Yacht Club.

Recounting the wonderful progress that has been made with mentally retarded, cerebral palsy and speech children, Mrs. Pittard, who works closely with the children in a great many phases, displayed large photographs of children who attend the schools, depicting their efforts to be "like other children."

She also displayed some ceramic art work that had been done by a mentally retarded child and a miniature weaving machine which is mastered by the children as part of their therapy treatment.

Starting out with only a small jeep to transport the children, Mrs. Pittard stated that through the efforts of the School Board, a 50 passenger bus has been provided for the 18 children from Seminole County now attending the schools.

Mrs. J. P. Hall, a member of the Education Committee of the club, introduced Mrs. Pittard. She also introduced Mrs. Marguerite Graham, Speech Consultant for Seminole County for the past eight years.

Mrs. Graham defined the various types of speech defects, such as stuttering, articulation, voice problems, lisp and cleft palate defects and explained methods in each instance of correcting the problem. She also explained the term "exceptional child" which is now used in reference to mentally retarded or crippled children, rather than the former term "handicapped" children. She stated that the children themselves, do not think in terms of being handicapped. They are exceptional in that they have to work so much harder than normal children, to accomplish the least little feat.

Mrs. D. K. McNab presided over the meeting and introduced W. L. Grambow, chairman of the Tuberculosis Seal Sale, who spoke briefly on behalf of the educational phase of the T. B. Association in regards to a recent news article that declared that x-ray is dangerous. He quoted part of a letter from the Public Health Service which stated that x-ray is not harmful to the people receiving them.

Mrs. McNab announced that the annual Christmas party will be held on Dec. 10 with a short business meeting to follow. Families and guests of the members are invited to attend the party.

A letter was read from Mrs. Ellen Rosenstihl of Ft. Lauderdale, Lieutenant governor of District Four, who visited the local club this morning, in which she highly commended the Sanford club for its outstanding community service.

In conjunction with the Mental Health Christmas project, members will bring $1 in a gay Christmas card to be forwarded to the mentally ill patients in the two Florida hospitals for Christmas.

Members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club were taken on a tour of the Sanford State Farmers' Market which will be dedicated on Dec. 13. Leo Butler, manager of the market, conducted the tour which took Kiwanians through the stalls of the market, onto the mezzanine which houses offices, and then through the office portion of the sprawling cement and steel structure.

Butler explained that each stall contained 2,000 square feet of floor space, an office on the mezzanine, and two loading platforms. The rent is $55 a month, he said.

Tour of the market was in keeping with Farm-City Week which has been observed nationally. Locally, the week was set aside by the five mayors of Seminole County when they signed a proclamation.

The Sanford State Farmers' Market manager told Kiwanis Club members that the Texas Oil Co. would build a $40,000 service station on the southeast corner of the market's property and a large, modern restaurant would also be built in the near future.

There are 22 stalls in the new building, Butler said, as he led the group of civic club members from one section of the building to another, "and all of them are rented."

"I could rent more space," Butler said, "both for offices and for stalls."

The nearly $400,000 market improvement will be dedicated on Friday, Dec. 13, the market manager revealed with Gov. LeRoy Collins invited as the top guest for the occasion.

J. Brantley Odham will emcee the event, according to the program already set for the dedication. Expected to be in Sanford for the official opening of the new Sanford market are Nathan Mayo, Nell Rhodes and H. L. Lewis.

Welcoming the visitors to the event will be Mayor David Gatchel and speaking will be Senator Douglas Stenstrom.

Cordell is a graduate of Seminole High School and a 1957 graduate of The Citadel.

Church Of Air Will Have Christian Science Program

The Columbia "Church of the Air" program on Dec. 1 will feature a Christian Science program entitled, "Prayer Made Practical." Leonard T. Carney, Trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society, will be the speaker and music will be supplied by a quartet and soloists.

This program, originating from the facilities of The Mother Church in Boston, Mass., will be carried by Station WDBO at 10:30-11:00 p. m.

Holiday Bowl Will Be Staged Dec. 21 In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG (UP)—The Holiday Bowl, a post-season football game for small colleges, will be staged here for the first time Dec. 21.

Plans for the game were completed Tuesday and Hillsdale College at Hillsdale, Mich., was named as one of the contestants in this year's inaugural contest.

Officials said an opponent will be named soon and that top candidates include Middle Tennessee State College and Pittsburg, Kan.

The name of the bowl was chosen through a contest which attracted thousands of entries, officials said. The game will be played at Stewart Field with a seating capacity of about 5,000.

The bowl replaces the Alumni Bowl which was staged last year at Little Rock, Ark., by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. The association moved the game from Little Rock because of the racial situation there since many eligible member teams have Negro players.

This year's game will be televised over 107 stations by CBS.

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The Baltimore Colts not only took over first place in the Western Conference of the National Football League but also took over again as the leading ground gainer, the weekly statistics showed today.

The first running Colts rolled up 486 yards winning their sixth game, the most they've ever won in one NFL season. It raised their season total to 2,900 for nine games, and lifted them from their third place rating of one week ago.

Jimmy Brown, of the Cleveland Browns, who set a single game record of 287 yards against Los Angeles, led the individual rushers with 700 yards, a lead of 197 yards over second-place Dick Casarone of the Chicago Bears.

Tommy O'Connell of the Browns led the individual passers with a 16.48 yard average. Eddie LeBaron of Washington held second place, Johnny Unitas of Baltimore led in touchdown passes with 19.

Detroit, the leader in total offense one week ago, dropped to second with a 2,988 net, while the shuffle dropped Los Angeles to third with 2,663 yards. New York 2,884 and the Chicago Bears 2,704 maintained their fourth and fifth positions.

Defensively, Baltimore had the best mark against rushing with an allowance of 2.3 yards for each opponent rush, while New York's pass defense limited opponents to 42.6 per cent of completions.

SCRIBES PICK NORTON

Citrus Mutual
Revises Shipping Estimate Upward

LAKELAND (UP) — Florida Citrus Mutual today revised upward its estimates of how much state-produced citrus will be shipped overseas as a result of reports that West Germany and other European markets are buying fresh oranges and grapefruit at an "unexpected clip."

Reports of adverse weather conditions in foreign citrus-producing countries also stimulated this season's exports from the United States.

Mutual, however, received bad news from the United Kingdom. Martin E. Hearn reported to the company's advisory committee that the British government stated flatly it will obtain the views of British Commonwealth citrus-growing areas before taking any action on purchasing Florida citrus. Such British Commonwealth nations as Jamaica, Cyprus, South Africa and Australia are in the citrus business.

Meanwhile, Mutual's Assistant General Manager Herman F. Steele reported that "evidence is building up indicating the official government estimate for oranges" is too high. He said adverse weather conditions in Florida had resulted in heavy droppage of fruit and failure of the oranges to "size up" as expected.

"...Reports... from veteran growers and fruit handlers indicate the total orange crop may fall to reach the 102 million box figure now officially forecast by the USDA," he said.

Mutual reported that new estimates for fresh fruit exports this season are 1,250,000 boxes of oranges and 250,000 boxes of grapefruit. Only fresh fruit is covered as Mutual said it cannot estimate yet what might be expected in cans.

The reports presented to Mutual's advisory committee and board of directors said 375,000 boxes of oranges and 150,000 boxes of grapefruit already have been shipped overseas. This compares with 370,000 and 38,000 boxes of oranges and grapefruit respectively at the same date last season.

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

GOP Group Rejects Non-Partisan Approach To Missile Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The word today is that Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) takes a dim view of the idea that the Senate investigation of the atom-missile program should be strictly non-partisan.

Symington was secretary of air in 1947-50. Then and thereafter in the Senate, personally he never doubted a fight when he felt the air defense of the United States needed a defender. He backed the Democratic White House and all comers on such occasions.

These battles gave Symington a favorable political identity, sufficient to include his name among those contending in 1956 for the Democratic presidential nomination. Now comes the missile controversy set off by the Russian Sputniks. This controversy had the public's urgent attention from the moment it began. When a matter of national policy obtains the public's sustained and anxious interest there exists the substance of a such political issue.

Such political issues win elections, for political parties and make careers for political individuals. Symington apparently sees that clearly. The senator is a member of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee chaired by Sen. Lyndon W. Johnson (D-Tex.). Johnson opened the hearings this week with emphasis on the seriousness of the inquiry into missile and satellite development and his own disinterest in assessing blame.

What the committee would do, the chairman said, would be to find out what should be done to correct the missile situation. "We will not," he said,

"reach that goal by wandering up any blind alleys of partisanship." Symington need not interpret that remark as any change of blind partisanship against himself. Moreover, if Symington himself can be patient, there will be enough partisanship in the missile inquiry to satisfy everyone, including the voters of this republic who may by now feel that they have a right to know who was responsible for the lag in the United States outer space and missile performance which causes scientists to say the setback is comparable to what happened back there at Pearl Harbor.

Pearl Harbor was an all-time shocker until Sputnik I directed attention to something which never men assert is even more catastrophically shocking. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former President Harry S. Truman each are maneuvering to persuade the public that the other political party was at fault. You might almost say that these two have begun a public debate on the subject. If that debate develops into partisanship will be weak for the scope of it. There is personal feeling these two fit to heat a litical issue white hot.

However that may turn out, the Republican National Committee rejected the non-partisan approach to the missile issue as the Senate hearings began. The committee issued an eight-page pamphlet full of facts and figures. The purpose: lay the blame for Pearl Harbor No. 2 right in the lap of Harry S. Truman.

What happens next is likely to be quite lively because Mr. T. is not going to like that.

Weather
Partly cloudy and mild today. Increasing cloudiness with scattered showers tonight and Saturday.

Authorities Confiscate Still Under House

One of the largest and most cleverly hidden moonshine whiskey stills was discovered last night by Sheriff J. L. Hobby.

Two men were taken into custody by the Sheriff and "will be turned over to federal authorities," Sheriff Hobby said that both men had charges pending against them in Federal Court on moonshine operations.

The still, located not more than 100 feet off 17-92 about six miles south of Sanford, was torn down this morning.

It was constructed under a concrete back porch where excavations had been made large enough to house three vats and the still.

State and federal men, at the scene, said that the still was a 500 gallon capacity outfit and vats held approximately 1,750 gallons of mash.

The only way to reach the still was through a tunnel from the back porch which was hidden by a screen. Sheriff Hobby said the still was not from being operated when he arrived at the dwelling near the site of the former San-Orio Club.

One man was taken into custody last night when Sheriff Hobby and two deputies approached the dwelling. Three dogs were turned loose on them at the time.

Hobby identified the one man taken last night as E. F. Prange whose address was given as Box 403, Fern Park.

The other man, identified as E. H. Brannon, P. O. 801, Fern Park, did not return to his home and the scene of the still until about 7 o'clock this morning. According to the Sheriff, Brannon had just returned from a trip to Lake Worth.

Very little whiskey was found at the scene but the vats contained fermenting mash and the still was full and apparently ready to be put into operation. Heat was from propane gas and a burner under the still.

Sheriff Hobby called both State and Federal agents to the scene.

A. W. Ansley and William L. Wain were both assisting in dismantling the huge still. Two federal men, unidentified, were also assisting. Also confiscated at the scene last night was a loaded rifle.

"This was the most cleverly hidden still I have ever seen," Sheriff Hobby said this morning.

Asked how he discovered the still, Sheriff Hobby replied, "I found small the stuff from along the lake where we were hidden and searching."

Brannon's three children watched the dismantling operations by the Sheriff, State and Federal agents from an upstairs porch.

Santa Claus To Visit Kiddies Here Dec. 4

Santa Claus will arrive in Sanford for a brief visit with Seminole County and surrounding area children on Dec. 4, according to an announcement made today by the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees.

The arrival of the "Jolly Old Gent" from the North Pole will coincide with the gigantic Christmas Parade, sponsored by the Jaycees and the Sanford Merchants Association.

"The response to the parade by local churches, civic clubs, schools and businesses this year has been terrific," said John Alexander, chairman of the Jaycees Christmas Parade Committee.

"We are looking forward to the largest parade ever held in Sanford with beautiful floats and 13 bands participating," said Alexander.

"Everything is fast shaping up and all the details will be worked out to assure both the children and adults of the Sanford and Seminole County trade area one of the finest parades ever seen here," Alexander remarked as reports from committee chairman began to come into the local Jaycees headquarters at the tourist information booth.

Bob McKee, chairman of the balloon sales committee said today that there will be plenty of balloons available to make the parade an exciting one for the children. "All funds derived from the sale of the balloons," said McKee, "will be divided among the children of Lutheran Haven for their shopping tour in Sanford stores."

These children have a wonderful time buying gifts for each other with funds from the balloon sale," McKee said.

This year's parade will most certainly be the most spectacular ever staged here, John Alexander said today. Colorful floats, beautiful floats, prancing majorities, and martial music with Christmas as its theme, will all go toward Sanford and Seminole County's most exciting day.

The parade Wednesday will get underway promptly at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Alexander said this morning. Schools will let out in time for children to get to town to witness the gigantic event and to get a glimpse of Santa himself.

"We don't want a single child to miss this year's parade," Alexander commented this morning.

Rotarians To Get Advanced Info On PGA Tourney

Rotarians, at their regular weekly meeting next Monday noon at the Yacht Club will get some advance information about the forthcoming San Francisco Giants Third Annual PGA Golf Tournament, scheduled to be staged on the Mayfair Country Club course starting Dec. 12.

Frank Mebane, general manager of the Giants' facilities here which comprise the Mayfair Inn, the Mayfair Motel and the Mayfair Golf Course, will tell members of the Rotary Club about the $15,000 tournament and, if plans materialize, will introduce some of the outstanding golfers expected to participate.

President, Mamie Motor To Farm Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower hoped to take another step today in his rapid recovery from a cerebral attack five days ago by motoring 80 miles to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm for the weekend or longer.

The 67-year-old President, who surrounded a churchful of worshippers by suddenly appearing at Thanksgiving Day services Thursday, planned to leave with Mrs. Eisenhower after a morning's checkup by his doctors.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said if the doctors approved Eisenhower would leave some time between mid-morning and early afternoon.

The plan to journey to the country was taken as another sign of the President's continuing "excellent" progress from the attack Monday which caused a temporary speech difficulty. It also kept alive hopes that he still might be able to attend the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO

"summit" meeting in Paris Dec. 18-19 to take the lead in rallying Western nations against Russia's space missile and scientific threat.

Decision Expected Later

Hagerty said Thursday the President's doctors "will decide later" on the Paris trip. He did not say when.

Hagerty said if Eisenhower does not go to Paris he will send Vice President Richard M. Nixon in his place. The NATO nations agreed Thursday to go ahead with the high-stakes meeting in either case.

Hagerty said the President will conduct government business at Gettysburg "if there were matters that needed his attention."

Male Chorus Will Practice Monday

The Male Chorus will hold its regular rehearsal next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church.

Harry M. Wier, chorus director, urges all members to attend, that proper preparation may be given to the Christmas music being planned for next month.

Collins To Attend Market Dedication

The dedication program is all set for the Friday, Dec. 13 dedication of the Sanford State Farmers' Market, Manager Leo Butner revealed yesterday.

Governor LeRoy Collins will be the guest of honor. He is slated to speak to the crowds attending the ceremony which begins at 2 o'clock.

J. Bralley Odham, local developer, will be master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Other dignitaries invited to speak during the ceremonies include Nathan Mayo, Neil Rhodes, Senator Douglas Stenstrom and H. L. Lewis.

The market is now in operation with a number of dealers already occupying stalls in the nearly $400,000 modern, fireproof structure of concrete and steel.

However, paving remains to be completed before the entire area is ready to get into full swing for the winter season here.

All of the 22 stalls and the complete complement of offices provided for related services, have been rented, said Butner "and we could rent additional space if we had it."

Not yet started, but slated to get underway in the immediate future will be a $40-thousand Texaco filling station and a new, modern restaurant. Also restroom facilities for trucks will be constructed outside of the market platform facilities.

Butner pointed out the new facility for housing electricity panels and meters. He said "There is no other market in Florida that can equal the one here in Sanford." Restrooms for employees of market platform dealers are conveniently located and 12 water coolers are conveniently located in the platform areas.

Mayfair Inn Starts 10th Year Dec. 7

The Mayfair Inn celebrates its 10th anniversary opening this year on Saturday night, Dec. 7.

Invitations to the annual gala affair have been mailed and reservations are coming in "excellent," according to the Mayfair Inn's General Manager Frank Mebane Jr.

The San Francisco Giants Mayfair Inn this year will welcome its guests with many improvements. Since closing for the summer season this year, the Mayfair Inn Motel has been added along with many other additions throughout the Hotel's facilities.

Already, renovations are underway at the Mayfair Inn's club house at the golf course to take care of the growing membership and increasing reservations.

Mebane, in announcing the Mayfair Inn opening this year, said that cocktails will be served at 1, dinner at 8 and dancing will begin at 9:30 when the hotel's doors are thrown open for another season.

Music for dancing and entertainment this year will be furnished by Pete Bukur and The Populares with Paul Caskey playing the bass viol and furnishing vocal arrangements. Jack Rossman and his accordion, and Pete Bukur featured on the saxophone, clarinet and drums.

With the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open getting underway only five days after the formal opening of the hotel, it is expected that many dignitaries will be in Sanford for the Dec. 7 event.

The Mayfair Inn opening for the 1957 season signals the opening of Sanford's gay social season and a whirl of events which immediately get underway.

Shormaker Smith Enters PGA Open

DANVILLE, Va. (Special)—Al Smith, one of the great shormakers of golf, said here today that he has entered the Mayfair Inn Open to be played December 12-13 at Sanford, Florida.

A former touring pro on the PGA circuit, Smith is limited to five tournaments a year now through his contract at the Danville Golf Club.

"Hub has been asking me every year to play in the Mayfair Open," Smith said, "and I just decided to go down and play at Sanford this year."

The "Hub" referred to by Smith is Carl Hubbell, farm director of the San Francisco Giants. He and Smith play golf together during baseball season while Hubbell is in Danville looking over Giant farmhands. Danville is the Class B farm in the San Francisco system. The Danville Giants, with two tournaments of his choice, other 'Frisco farm clubs, train at Sanford.

For five years, Al Smith followed the tournament trail with the golf pros, constantly finishing in the money and winning several of the top prizes. His best finish in one of the "Big Three" tournaments was at the National PGA in Louisville in 1950. In the quarter-final round against Cary Middlecoff, Smith was eliminated although he had a birdie on the first hole of the sudden death playoff when Middlecoff eagled the hole with a shot from the rough 75 yards away.

Smith accepted the golf pro job at Danville seven years ago, when his daughter reached school age. His contract permits him to play annually in the National Open, the National PGA, the Master's, and two tournaments of his choice.
