

Hagood's Case Threatens To Become Issue

Removal Of General Is Criticized By Congress Leaders In Both Parties

Called Example Of 'Terrorism'

Chief-Of-Staff Ought To Be Impeached, Democrat Declares

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Senator Hastings, Republican, Delaware, said today that there was no better illustration of terrorism in government than the removal of Major General Johnson Hagood from his command of the Eighth Corps Area for speaking his mind before a House committee. Hagood, in what has already threatened to become a political issue, was ordered home to "wait orders" shortly after telling a House subcommittee that the Works Progress Administration funds were "fatiguing money."

There is an effort on the part of the commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy to see to it that nothing reflects on his administration, not of the Army and Navy but of general affairs of the administration," the senator said.

Asserting he would "fight to a finish" against the War Department for the "punishment" of Hagood, Representative Blanton (D., Texas) declared that Secretary Dern, Assistant Secretary Harry H. Woodring, and General Malin Craig, chief of staff, themselves should be impeached and removed from office.

The War Department under its usual daily list of assignments in offices and assignments, read:

"By direction of the President, Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, United States Army, is relieved from assignment to the command of the Eighth Corps Area, and further duties at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Major General Hagood will proceed to his home and await orders. The travel directed is necessary in the military service."

Controversy Over Power Companies Claims Attention

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The controversy between power companies and private power companies shared capital attention today with the new housing program.

Secretary Kibbe urged power firms to permit the FWA to proceed with the municipal power project or "irreversible" enough to carry a fight against them to the Supreme Court speedily. The Association of Gas and Electric Companies challenged claims it owes the government $40,000,000 on income tax profit taxes for five years ending in 1912. It asked the board of tax appeals for reconsideration.

The power question was also pushed to the fore in the Senate where it was voted to take up the Norris bill authorizing a $1,000,000,000 10-year rural electrification program. Conference for the Senate and House were summoned to meet today to reconcile differences on the $90 million dollar soil conservation and subside farm program.

TALMADGE OUSTS COMPTROLLER

Comptroller General William B. Harrison of Georgia is shown leaving his office in the capitol after he was served with an order issued by Gov. Talmadge for refusing to countersign a warrant drafted by the governor under his "financial dictatorship."

Atlanta, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Gov. Eugene Talmadge yesterday ousted two state officials on charges of misconduct in office for their refusal to honor warrants under the financial "dictatorship" he set up Jan. 1.

National Guardsmen stood by as Adjutant General Lindley Camp served the orders upon Comptroller General William B. Harrison and Treasurer George E. Hamilton but none was in uniform and the papers quoted civil, not martial, law.

Talmadge immediately named two supporters in the office, C. B. Carreker, for comptroller general and J. R. "Toby" Daniel of La Grange, Ga., for treasurer, to claim endorsement of a $139,000 board of control warrant Harrison and Hamilton had refused to honor.

Other treasury employees were escorted from his office by Camp. Other crises developed quickly in the Georgia political situation which forced Talmadge last week to cancel out-state speaking engagements and the administration of President Roosevelt.

Harrison issued a statement "to the people of the State of Georgia" warning that "this unwarranted and illegal attempted assumption of my office by Mr. Carreker may subject those who pay taxes or other funds to him to double payment, as he has no lawful authority to receive them."

Clement E. Jones, Wilkes County legislator, advised tax collectors their bonds "can be held responsible" if funds are transmitted "to a person illegally placed" in the office of comptroller.

Over the protests of Talmadge's friends, the Wilkes County Democratic committee unanimously called off a Roosevelt-Talmadge presidential preference vote which was to have been held Wednesday. Candidates for county offices signed a petition protesting the injection of national affairs into the ballgame.

Tax Adjusting Can Be Tried, City Is Told

Bondholders Reserve Right To Stop It If People Do Not Seize Opportunity

Adjustment of delinquent taxes can be tried in the City of Sanford and if the plan meets with success it may be allowed by the Bondholders' Committee to go through. But the Committee holds the Sword of Damocles and reserves the right to wield it if the tax adjusting plan fails. Such was the information given the City Commission by City Attorney Fred R. Wilson last night.

W. Shanda, attorney for the Bondholders' Committee, advised Mr. Wilson over the long distance telephone from Jacksonville shortly before the Commission meeting, the latter stated, that the Committee is not planning to seek a Court injunction to prevent the Commission sitting as a tax adjustment board, but that the Committee reserves the right to seek in such proceedings if the plan proves a failure.

The Commission is agreeable to the Commission trying out its tax adjustment program, and that if property owners who are delinquent in their tax payments show a prompt desire to avail themselves of the opportunity to adjust their taxes and pay up there probably will be no objection raised.

Commissioner W. R. Dupree said that he thought it would be right to "go ahead" with the tax adjustment board as far as possible, "as we have nothing to lose" since the City Attorney advised that if a halt was later called proceedings such a halt would probably not affect adjusting that had been reached. Acting Mayor S. O. Shinkholer did not agree with this view as "after we get a lot of steam up the Committee might shut us off."

Chain Store Tax Law Upheld In Major Part By The Supreme Court

Blue Laws Passed In 1918 May Be Revived In Sanford If Some Stores Keep Open

Remember the blue laws of World War days? They are still on the statute books of the City of Sanford. They were passed in March, 1918, and have never been repealed.

While strict enforcement has not been attempted since about two months after their passage, they can be enforced if necessary, it was stated at the meeting of the City Commission last evening, but none of the Commissioners expressed a desire for strict enforcement to the letter. Acting Mayor Shinkholer said it was "terrible" during the two months they were enforced. "I wouldn't even buy a package of cigarettes on Sunday," he said.

The ordinance of 1918 prohibits the sale on Sundays of "goods, wares, merchandise or other chattels," though while it stated that merchants "can not keep open doors" it permitted the sale of articles "necessary for the comfort" of the people. Under this clause, after the brief period of strict enforcement, more and more latitude was allowed until at present some of the smaller stores in the suburbs are keeping open all day on Sunday, the Commission was advised by a petition signed by the owners or managers of most of the larger downtown meat markets and grocery stores.

The petitioners asked that the ordinance be enforced, but the Commission deferred action until it can be determined if some agreement cannot be reached whereby all stores will remain closed for at least the greater part of Sunday. The chief of police will endeavor to obtain information before the next session.

Reversal of judgment in Circuit Court of Seminole County whereby Josephine Cassidy, young negro girl, was awarded $2,400 damages in her suit against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, has been handed down by the State Supreme Court. G. A. DeCottes was attorney for the girl, but he said today he had nothing for publication" when asked if further action would be taken in the case.

The Cassidy girl was struck by an A. L. C. locomotive while walking on the railroad tracks at the First Street intersection on Oct. 14, 1933. She brought suit for $100,000, but the jury brought in a verdict for $2,400 and costs. The verdict was returned on Jan. 11, 1935, and judgment was entered on Feb. 2, 1935.

City Won't Order The Removal Now Of Slot Machines

Salvation Army Hall Is Not A Church, Attorney Declares

Slot machines within 300 feet of the Salvation Army hall will not be ordered out by the City Commission. That was the decision reached at last night's meeting when it was reported no formal complaint against them had been filed and the board was informed by Attorney G. A. DeCottes for the operator of the machines that "in a legal sense" the Salvation Army hall is not a church. The Attorney quoted Capt. F. S. Feren of the Salvationists as saying that while he does not approve of slot machines he is not objecting to their location since the state has legalized their operation.

State inspectors informed Chief of Police Roy G. Williams that slot machines in five locations are within 300 feet of the Salvation Army hall and that such religious organizations had been classed in the capital as being "in the church classification, but that the state would take no action in the matter, leaving it to the municipality to decide.

In arguing that the Salvation Army is not a church, Mr. DeCottes said that the Salvation Army Corps in Winter Park carried to the Supreme Court a case wherein it sought a share of an estate that was to be divided equally among the churches, and lost as it was held not to be a church.

Two Officials Are Ousted By Gov. Talmadge

plan for meeting state expenses with $7,500,000 in unpaid appropriations of the past four years in which he called upon the two finance officers by proclamation to honor drafts on 1936 revenue.

The removal orders, almost identical, were in the form of suspensions.

Harrison, elderly one-time fire department captain, "grossly neglects his duties and... demands himself in office to the hazard of the public funds and credit of the state," Talmadge charged.

The order for removal of Hamilton alleged gross neglect of duties and conduct "plainly violative" of duty.

The financial "dictatorship" was brought on by the failure of the 1935 legislature—in which the House was hostile to Talmadge—to pass an appropriation bill for the ensuing two years.

Talmadge declined to call a special session and his spokesman asserted that state legislative machinery "has broken down."

Both the comptroller and the treasurer are elected by the people. Hamilton once was appointed to his present office by Talmadge to fill a vacancy when the state treasurer died. He ran for the office in an election later and was named to succeed himself.

Talmadge said the statutes authorized the governor to suspend a state official for misconduct in office until the next session of the legislature—in this case, January, 1937.

Chain Store Tax Law Is Upheld By The Supreme Court

of 16 or more. Also upheld was the provision for a flat tax of one-half of one percent on gross receipts from retail businesses, including chain stores.

A provision of the legislative act for graduated gross receipts taxes ranging up to 5 percent on companies operating 16 or more stores was killed by the entire Court on holding it was unequal taxation. The same holding was made in the original decision. The Court denied an effort by chain store operators to kill the taxing law by ordering some proceedings expunged from the legislative record.

The chain store tax law went to the record books as a measure designed to produce $4,000,000 to $4,500,000 annually for the public schools, but even as it was enacted chain store operators opened a fight against it with the assertion it violated the Constitution.

A Supreme Court decision invalidating parts of the law caused the revenue estimates to be reduced to $2,750,000, and it was on this decision that the Supreme Court granted a rehearing. The Court's second ruling on the law, following the rehearing, was announced today.

Almost from the beginning of its session, the 1935 legislature haggled about chain stores, sometimes individually and sometimes in connection with school and governmental revenues and other pending legislation, and finally the chain store tax bill moved through to passage on the last day of the session, with a provision its revenue should go to schools.

The chain store tax law which was passed classified retail businesses according to the number of units operated by a company, and levied two types of taxes.

First it provided for an annual occupational license of $10 for a single store, commonly known as "independent," and then it started with $50 on each store in chains of three and graduated the license up to $400 on each store in chains of 16 or more.

Second, it started with a tax of one-half of one percent on the gross receipts of a single store, then jumped to one percent on the gross of a chain of three stores, and graduated up to five percent on the gross receipts of a company operating a chain of 16 or more stores.

It was in this form that the Legislature counted upon the law to produce $4,000,000 to $4,500,000 annually.

Flea Circus With Marine Exhibit In Sanford Two Days

Smallest Animal Is Quicker To Learn Than The Elephant

The whale is the largest animal known to man, and the tiny flea is one of the smallest. Yet regardless of their sizes the flea is quicker to learn.

A whale depends largely on its friend the pilot fish to guide him and they do so, by attaching themselves with their suction cups to the whale near the head.

The little flea is an apt pupil, as W. E. Alexander of the big whale marine exhibit proves daily with his performing trained fleas. They give a real circus performance—ride bicycles, draw chairs and sulks, run a merry-go-round, dance, kick foot balls, and do many other real feats. It took quite some time and a lot of patience to train them but now they seem to enjoy it.

In London, England, where Alexander first started his flea training, he became famous. During a visit to London, by Capt. Dolan of the whale exhibit, he thought it would be a great idea for the children to see this exhibition of what tiny little fleas could do. He persuaded Alexander

Veto Written By President On Seed Loans

Disapproves Of Plan To Extend Credit To $50,000,000 To Farmers Of Nation

Emergency Cases Will Be Handled

Executive Order Will Be Issued To Make New Crop Possible

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—President Roosevelt today vetoed the $50,000,000 seed loan bill.

The measure was returned to the Senate with the remainder by the President that in approving a $40,000,000 seed and feed bill in 1934 "I did so on the theory that it was proper to taper off the crop loan system which had been initiated on a large scale as early as 1931." The President added, however, he would issue an executive order in the next few days to meet any needs for loans to produce new crops.

"I am convinced," Mr. Roosevelt said in his veto message, "immediate and actual needs to which I have referred can be met during the year 1936 by the expenditure of funds materially less than that proposed in the bill under discussion. Furthermore, needs can be met without authorizing legislation through allocation funds by me from the appropriation provided in the ERA Act."

The President's veto was challenged by Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, who said he would insist on a vote to override as soon as the time is possible.

Senate and House conferees reached agreement yesterday at their first meeting to adjust differences over the Administration's soil conservation subsidy bill.

House changes were accepted in most instances. The conference report probably will be called up in the House today. Senate action also will be required before the AAA replacement legislation can go to the White House.

The conferees accepted the controversial House provision requiring the Secretary of Agriculture to re-establish as fast as practicable the pre-war parity between the purchasing power of farm and non-farm net income without discouraging production below the normal domestic human consumption in the years of 1920-25.

This so-called "consumer protection" amendment had been overwhelmingly rejected by the Senate when offered by Senator Wagner.

Bondholder Chief Will Confer With City Commission

Keefe Is To Be Here Tomorrow To Talk Adjusting Of Tax

The perplexing question as to whether adjustment of delinquent taxes due the City will be permitted may be answered tomorrow, because Kenneth M. Keefe, chairman of the Bondholders' Protective Committee, is coming to confer with the City Commission.

City Attorney Fred E. Wilson said today he had been assured that Mr. Keefe would come to Sanford some time tomorrow, and a meeting of the commission will be arranged when he arrives and the whole situation gone into thoroughly. It is expected that J. W. Shands, Jacksonville attorney for the Bondholders' Committee will accompany Mr. Keefe.

Members of the City Commission are reluctant to proceed with the proposed adjustment of back taxes unless they are assured the holders of the City's bonds will not call a hat mid-way in the effort to get in some of the money due the municipality. If there is to be any adjusting, however, they are anxious that the adjustment board be allowed to function at once before the county commissioners adjourn, next month as a tax adjustment board.

Bond Adjustment Move Is Made By City Of Leesburg

LEESBURG, Feb. 26.—Initial steps towards an adjustment of the outstanding bonded indebtedness of Leesburg, permitting reduction of the present 340 mills to a normal even lower total tax than last year, were taken at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday with Roy Crummer, representing a large number of bond owners.

Long discussion of the situation brought out that three members of the commission were in favor of entering into a refunding program and reducing the millage so that taxes will be paid. Two members and the city attorney took an unfavorable attitude.

Finally the following motion was written and presented by Commissioner Fahs:

"The city commission goes on record as approving a readjustment of our 1935 tax levy whereby a new levy of $40,000,000 be made, the proceeds of which shall be paid to the obligees now in court with the contingent requirement that the obligees referred to enter into an agreement with the City of Leesburg that the funds so collected be impounded in a special fund of the city of Leesburg and be ratably disbursed to all creditors of the city of Leesburg in such percentage as the majority may agree upon.

"All the mechanics of effecting and arriving at the above arrangements to be agreed upon, as to legality, by the city attorney and attorneys representing the above obligees."

Commissioner Boutwell seconded the motion and when it was put to vote Commissioner Fahs voted against it and Commissioner Walling asked that it be recorded as not voting. Then it was passed.

Local Stores May Not Feel Tax On Chains

Levy Is Expected By Local Managers To Be Taken Care Of By Head Offices

Local managers of most of the chain stores said today they are confident that head offices of the companies owning the mercantile institutions will absorb the new state-tax against such stores and that it will not be passed on down to individual stores and by them to the customer.

Under decision of the State Supreme Court which yesterday sustained major features of the chain store tax law each store in chains of 16 or more will be assessed graduated occupational taxes up to $400 per store.

Both Manager Lyles of the Piggly-Wiggly store and Manager Nelson of Riley's asserted that the tax will not result in a rise in the price of groceries. Mr. Lyles said that the tax will be absorbed in head offices of his concern, while Mr. Nelson said that under a new arrangement there are only three Riley stores in the Sanford unit and that he is in complete charge, with merchandise consigned to him personally. Under this arrangement, he said, the Riley stores will not be affected by the new chain store tax law.

Manager Smalley of McCrory's and Manager McKinney of Woolworth's each asserted complete confidence in the belief that the New York officers of their concerns would absorb the occupational tax as they have the one-half of one percent sales tax for the last several months. They said it would be "non-sensical" to pass the tax on to the consumer, though Mr. Smalley said the charging against the store of the tax would lower the rating of the local store.

There are about 30 McCrory's and about a dozen Woolworth stores in the state.

Vandenberg Will Not Enter Ohio G. O. P. Primaries

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Senator Vandenberg of Michigan in a letter made public today, formally declined to run in the Ohio presidential primary, but did not close the door to his future consideration for the Republican nomination.

Writing to the Republican State Committee of Ohio, in reply to an inquiry as to whether he would run, Vandenberg asserted his sole interest in the Republican convention was that it should make the "wisest possible decisions respecting both party leadership and party policies." He was not, "seeking instructed delegates" to the convention, he said, but he did not flatly assert, as he has many times in the past, that he was "not a candidate."

Various Ordinances Govern Operation Of Slot Machines Since Devices Became Legal

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Slot machines, much in the courts since they were legalized and taxed by the 1935 Legislature, have traveled a road of municipal legislation ranging from zoning ordinances to a requirement that all who play must register their names and the amount of money played.

Fort Myers, on the lower west coast, enacted an ordinance requiring operators to maintain a book in which must be registered the name, age and address of each person who plays the machine. Also, the book must show the amount of money deposited, and the amount returned by the machine.

The ordinance was passed last December, and since then only slot machine has been offered for play in Fort Myers. Even it was confiscated by police when an operator was charged with violating the city ordinance.

Lights To Be Placed On Lake Front Drive West Of Park Avenue

Lake Shore Boulevard between Park and Myrtle Avenues is to be illuminated in accordance with instructions given by the City Commission to Street Superintendent James Moughton this week. Five white standards will be erected on the south side of the Boulevard at a cost of only $56.40, since the City has the standards and cable on hand. The farthest west lamp will be at the Legion Hut corner.

The commission, received the report that a large blinker sign will probably be erected at the Boulevard intersection with French Avenue, Street Superintendent Moughton has taken the matter up with the State Road Department and Commander L. F. Boye of the Legion has taken it up with Asher Frank of the Governor's Safety Committee, and between the two it is hoped the warning will be erected without cost to the City.

Bank Won't Cash Check Drawn On Georgia Treasury

Appointee Can't Get Mail Addressed To Treasurer Of State

ATLANTA, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Closing of mail and banking channels to fiscal offices of Georgia created a new crisis today in the financial dictatorship of Governor Eugene Talmadge. The Fulton National Bank of Atlanta today refused to cash a check for $100,000 presented by J. B. "Tobe" Daniel, who was named by Governor Eugene Talmadge as state treasurer to succeed ousted George B. Hamilton. The check was made out to cash and presented in person by Daniel.

The banks had been warned by the ousted treasurer that he still is officially state treasurer and that they pay out of state funds at their own risk. The postoffice was said to be holding mail for the ousted treasurer pending a decision by department officials.

State funds were deposited in an Atlanta bank by the ousted state treasurer, George Hamilton, shortly before he was ousted by Governor Talmadge, it was disclosed.

Marine Corps Is To Have Base In Virgin Islands

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A plan for extending the national defense through the creation of a permanent Marine Corps aviation base in the Virgin Islands now carries the formal approval of President Roosevelt.

A Presidential executive order, transferring the necessary land on St. Thomas Island, a part of the Virgin group, from the civil jurisdiction of the Interior Department to the Navy was made public at the State Department yesterday.

Navy officials, it was revealed, regard the project as an important adjunct to the maneuvering of the fleet in the Caribbean, and the Pacific. The island, located on the imaginary line between the Atlantic Ocean and the Caribbean-Sea, is within easy flying distance of the Panama Canal.

Political Speeches Are To Be Delivered At 1st And Magnolia

Political spellbinders during the 1936 campaign who wish to tell Sanford voters how they ought to vote will henceforth hold forth at the intersection of Magnolia Avenue and First Street. That location has been designated by the City Commission as the politicians' stamping ground.

Many complaints were received after Jerry Carter's sound wagon paraded up and down the City streets a fortnight ago, Chief of Police Williams reported, and City Attorney Wilson was asked to prepare an ordinance restricting the use of such noise making contraptions.

British Proposed Naval Treaty Not Liked By France

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Seemingly alarmed by the British proposal to salvage something out of the waning naval conference by a tripartite with the United States and Germany, France last night proposed that the conference proceed to conclusion of a four-power accord signed only by Britain, the U. S., France and Italy.

France was willing for Britain to seal a separate naval pact with Germany but she shied from a three-power agreement between Germany, Britain and the U. S. which would leave France and Italy out.

While France sought to counteract proposals for a three-power agreement, the German cabinet met in Berlin to consider a draft treaty providing for qualitative naval limitation and an exchange of naval building programs as evolved during the present conference.

Premier And 2 Other Cabinet Members Are Assassinated By Young Officers

'Law Of State' May Be Ordered

Relations With U. S. Won't Be Affected, Ambassador States

(By The Associated Press) Premier Okada of Japan and two of his brother cabinet members were assassinated today by young Japanese army officers apparently angered by civil opposition to the military's aggressive policy in China. A Nationalist government more to their liking was ordered installed by the Emperor.

Bitter against what they called "corrupt influences" around the throne of Emperor Hirohito, the army clique struck quickly in a move backed by bayonets. Tokyo grew quiet as soldiers policed streets.

The Japanese embassy in Washington announced that complete order had been restored and that leaders of the uprising did not intend to take over the government. Ambassador Saito said they merely wished to protest against some of the government's actions.

The Emperor commanded a Nationalist, Fumio Goto, to form a new government. Ambassador Saito said the designation of Goto, former minister of the interior, indicated there would be no fundamental change in the empire's form of popular government, adding that relations between the United States and Japan would not be affected.

In London Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons the Bank of Japan had temporarily suspended business.

Don't Put Best Apples On Top, Kiwanians Told

Speaking on "Business Standards," the Rev. M. E. Johnson of Orlando told the Sanford Kiwanis Club not to be content with putting "the best apples on top." He recalled his boyhood days on an orange grove near Palatka and his father's injunction to pack the same grade of fruit at the bottom of the crate as at the top, and said they always receive a little better price because it was known that all the fruit was good.

The honest man, the clergyman said, will hunt up a customer and correct an error if it was discovered that the customer had inadvertently been short changed.

Visiting Kiwanians at today's luncheon session in the Mayfield Hotel were Dr. Harry P. Ross of Richmond, Indiana; D. J. Scott of Chicago, and Marshall Reardon of Jacksonville. The Rev. Mr. Marshall is a member of the Orlando Kiwanis Club. Don A. Cameron of Boston and A. A. Attachur of Hackensack, N. J. were also visitors.

County Agent C. R. Dawson joined the Kiwanis Club at today's meeting.
