No concern at zoo

SANFORD — Officials at the Central Florida Zoological Park are telling prospective visitors not to be concerned over the recent high water in Lake Monroe.

The zoo is close to the lake, and marketing director Andrea Farmer says the zoo has received numerous phone calls concerning the daily operations and possible flooding.

Although the City of Sanford and St. Johns River Water Management District officials have told zoo officials that the water level may increase slightly in the next few weeks due to tropical storm Gordon, the rise will not affect the animals or exhibits.

Farmer explained that the exhibits have been constructed in consideration of the 100-year flood plain.

The zoo remains open with normal operating hours, having only been closed Nov. 16, when the storm came through producing high water levels that quickly passed through the area.

Annual bike renovation

SANFORD — The Seminole County Professional Fire Fighters are gearing up for their annual Christmas Bicycle Renovation. The fireman's union wants donations of new and used bikes which will be repaired and touched up, then distributed to area community organizations for needy children. The growing program benefits hundreds of children each year. Bikes can be left off at any Seminole County fire station. The vehicles will be repaired during the week of Dec. 12 to 16 for distribution in time for Christmas. Call 298-3473 for additional information.

Lighting contest

Historic District homes decorated for the holidays will be judged this week for the second annual Sanford Historic Trust Lighting Contest. Winners will be announced and prizes awarded during the holiday celebrations following the Christmas Parade at Magnolia Mall this Saturday.

Conference addresses sex, drugs, self esteem

By SHARI BRODIE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Teen pregnancy, drug abuse, self-esteem, education and sexually transmitted diseases. These are the issues that face today's youth. "Celebration of Joy: Youth, Family and Friends," sponsored by the Central Florida Chapter of the International Black Women's Congress addressed how these issues affect black youth and families in their second annual conference held Saturday at Seminole Community College.

The day-long conference included sessions for youth on subjects such as "Feeling Good About Myself," "Who Am I?," "Communicable Diseases," "Teen Pregnancy," "Decision Making and Goal Setting," and "Education: My Future."

For the adults, topics ranged from "Parenting" to "Mental Health and the Black Family" and "Specific Diseases of African Americans."

The presenters of these subjects were noted educators, attorneys, physicians and psychologists from the Central Florida area.

Monique Edwards, CFCIBWC board member and local attorney welcomed the conference. See Conference, Page 5A

Letter writer details deputy's compassion

Editor's note: We would like to thank Richard Fletcher for his letter about Deputy Brady. If you know someone whose act of kindness has touched you, and you would like to see that person featured here, tell us about him or her in a letter to the editor, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford 32771.

SANFORD — He came from Alabama to Florida for a construction job but ended up jobless, homeless, hungry and alone on Thanksgiving after he was laid off. The bleak scenario was made a little brighter by a Seminole County deputy sheriff's act of kindness.

While on routine patrol on the recent holiday morning, Deputy Barry Brady received a radio call in reference to a prowler near a convenience store on State Road 46. When the 12-year veteran of the sheriff's department arrived, he found an older, black male in his 40s. Brady worked for 10 years in criminal investigations before recently being assigned to road patrol.

"Just talking to him, he looked like he hadn't eaten, so I said, 'Have you eaten yet?' He said no, so I took him up to a restaurant to eat. I

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

On Thanksgiving morning I had the pleasure of witnessing an act of humanity by Seminole County deputy sheriff Barry Brady, which I feel is worthy of public praise.

Deputy Brady had picked up a destitute person in the area of State Road 46 and Orange Boulevard and brought him to one of the several eating establishments located at Interstate 4 and SR 46. Deputy Brady then took this person into the restaurant and with his own money paid for this homeless person's meal. Seeing this act, I offered to reimburse Deputy Brady for the meal but he responded, "It's okay. No one should go hungry on Thanksgiving" and drove off on

SANFORD — It could almost be described by the popular holiday song... "city sidewalks, busy sidewalks, dressed in holiday style..." such was the scene Saturday along the route of the Sanford Historic Trust Holiday Tour of homes, in the Sanford Historic District.

Several homeowners along the route had caught the spirit of the day, and dressed their homes for the holiday. While the air was not

SANFORD — Colorful sails danced atop the waters of Lake Monroe Saturday as Sailfest '94 competitors took to the waterway for the first three of five races this weekend.

The rainbow of colored sails on the lake were a stark contrast to the storm clouds which loomed nearby.

Even though the storms did not reach Lake Monroe, the weather did not cooperate.

The wind died down prior to the beginning of the first race and several of the seven race courses postponed racing activities due to the lack of wind.

The latest starting race was the Catamaran division on the west end of Lake Monroe.

Originally slated to begin at 12:10, the race was delayed more than an hour due to the lack of

Growth planners review changes

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County growth planners have begun their review of substantial changes to the Oviedo Crossing commerce park near Oviedo, even though developers plan to annex a portion of the site into Oviedo for a proposed 1.2 million-square-foot regional mall.

The changes would shift proposed offices to proposed stores and a 190-acre site would be taken by Oviedo for a regional mall and adjacent retail area. The annexation would give Oviedo a border with Winter Springs.

County planners are reviewing the scheme now and will present their initial comments Dec. 14. Planning and Zoning commissioners will review the plan Jan. 4. County commissioners will review the plan Jan. 24. The county has received $8,950 for the review.

Oviedo Crossing developers The Viera Co. are seeking to change their 1989 development plan of 156 acres of offices and warehousing, 30 acres of commercial, a hotel and apartments to six acres of office showrooms, 167 acres of retail, no hotel and four homes.

Critical to the plan is a northern entrance off Winter Springs Boulevard, the main entrance to See Growth, Page 8A

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Unemployment climbs to 6.8 percent

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's unemployment rose to 6.8 percent in November, up from 6.5 percent a month earlier, a state economist said Friday.

"Even though the rate is up, it's not (statistically) significant," said Rebecca Rust, chief of the state's bureau of labor information. "We have gains in employment as well as unemployment."

The national rate dropped to 5.6 percent in November, down from 5.8 percent.

In Florida, 6,455,000 people had full- or part-time employment last month and 473,000 were looking for work. The unemployment rate does not count the people who aren't searching for jobs.

A month earlier, 445,000 were looking for work and 6,384,000 had jobs.

Of 11 populous states, Florida trailed only California, which posted an unemployment rate of 7.7 percent. North Carolina had the lowest rate, 4.1 percent.

Florida has created more jobs, however, than any other state except Texas, Rust said. Through October, Florida added 3.7 percent new jobs over the year, she said.

New standards for immigrant doctors?

ORLANDO — Proposals to make it easier for hundreds of immigrant doctors to practice in Florida have raised concerns among the state medical board whether quality of care could be jeopardized.

"They wouldn't necessarily have the same qualifications as American doctors," board member Emilio Echevarria said during a meeting Friday. "Maybe they think they do, but how can we know?"

Lawmakers considered lowering immigrant doctor licensing requirements earlier this year, but the proposal died with Gov. Lawton Chiles' 1994 health plan. Already, new proposals are in the works.

Currently, immigrant doctors must take the national licensing examination and serve a three-year residency, just like new graduates of American medical schools.

That proves tough for some longtime physicians from overseas, who believe their experience should count for something.

The flood of refugees from Cuba, Haiti and other countries only will intensify the pressure to relax standards, said board member Fuad Ashkar, a Miami physician who trained abroad himself.

Those doctors don't want to relearn their basic chemistry or complete a training program, Ashkar said. Often they can't get into a residency program or aren't able to obtain malpractice insurance.

New phones will help lost tourists

MIAMI — Tourists who get lost trying to make their way from the airport to the beaches or other destinations will have the benefit of 14 new roadside telephones.

The phones have been set up in the confusing and sometimes dangerous area packed with hotels and rental car agencies near Miami International Airport. Beginning Monday, the new phones will instantly connect callers to the Tourist Oriented Police for help or directions.

"All a person has to do is pick up the phone and dial '81.' They will automatically be patched through to the tourist police," said Metro Commissioner Pedro Reboredo.

The phones, which are marked by signs in English and Spanish, were specially modified by Southern Bell at no expense to the county. A caller ID program automatically tells the police the location of the phone whenever '81' is dialed. A police unit should be able to reach the caller within minutes.

"We're really excited about this," said Southern Bell representative Spero Canton. "The safety of visitors to our area is a concern to all of us."

Hill waited to kill till wife left town

PENSACOLA, Fla. — Paul Hill waited until his wife went out of town to gun down a doctor and his bodyguard at an abortion clinic because he didn't want to implicate her, he said in Saturday's Pensacola News Journal.

Hill put his plan into action when Karen Hill took their three children to an out-of-town camp, he said from the Escambia County Jail.

"That's probably one reason it happened when it did. I knew the longer I delayed acting, the greater chance she'd find out," Hill said. "I'd probably not have gone ahead because she'd have known and been implicated."

The day she left, he bought the shotgun he used two days later to kill the doctor and his escort and wound a second escort outside the Ladies Center.

Hill, a former Presbyterian minister, was convicted last month of killing Dr. John Britton, 69, and his volunteer bodyguard, retired Air Force Lt. Col. James Barrett, 74. Barrett's wife, 69-year-old June Barrett, was wounded in the July 29 attack.

On Friday, Hill received two life sentences in federal court for violating the new federal clinic-protection law by killing the men.

Still no word on missionaries

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Officials at New Tribes Mission have still not received any radio contact with the kidnapers of three missionaries missing for almost 22 months.

Dave Mankins, Mark Rich and Rick Tenenoff were taken from their post in Panama and no contact has been made since January of this year with the kidnapers.

According to a spokesman with the Crisis Management Committee in Columbia, who was not identified by name, "Of course the length of time without any word of their welfare causes us some concern but we have no concrete information to indicate they are dead."

He continued, "There are reasons why they would keep them alive even though, by now, the kidnapers know that ransom is not paid for missionaries."

Two other missionaries, Tim Van Dyke and Steve Welsh, who were kidnapped in Central Columbia earlier this year, are known to be alive and in good condition as of Oct. 7. They were reportedly still with their kidnapers when spotted from the air by Colombian military aircraft.

The spokesman said efforts will continue to seek any information on the situation of the missing men. He added, "We feel that the political and social climate currently in Columbia is conducive to a benevolent release by the kidnapers. Our missionaries are there only for the good of the poor. The people among whom our kidnapped missionaries worked, love them, and are heartbroken over these tragic kidnappings."

The spokesman concluded, "It is our hope that the people's desire for peace and the coming Christmas season will encourage the kidnapers to show mercy to their victims by returning them to their families by the holiday season."

The New Tribes Mission International headquarters is located at 1000 E. First Street in Sanford.

The Way We Were: Teen center

By GRACE M. STINECLIFFER

Ever since I wrote the article on the Celery Crate back in July, I have been trying to find out how and when it got started. I have talked with various people and looked in Salmagundi so had received a little information, but not until a few days ago, did I find real answers. And I had them, unknowingly, in my possession all this time! While looking through my scrapbooks for a piano recital program, I came across a newspaper article about the Seminole High School Parent Teacher's Association. And in that article, written in the spring of 1951, were my answers! My being a pack rat is finally becoming an asset!

The Celery Crate or Teen Age Club was formed in the fall of 1944 under the sponsorship of the SHS PTA, the city of Sanford provided the City Hall auditorium for its meeting place. The students were assisted by a special committee consisting of Mrs. Hawkins Connelly, Mrs. Ed Meish, Mrs. Phil Bach, and Mrs. R.A. Cobb. The first officers were: Dorothy Crumley, president; Bobby Jones, vice president; Audrey Bach, secretary; and Pat Anderson, treasurer. For weeks after school and on Saturdays students painted walls, scrubbed and waxed floors, moved furniture, and gathered the donations of equipment which came from many interested citizens. They were under the direction of faculty members Mrs. Mae Post and Mr. C.W. Isbell.

The mural paintings back of the stage which carried out a barn motif were done by Charles Dawson. The name "Celery Crate" was chosen by the students. See Stinecliffer, Page 9A

Readers speak: Identify kid criminals

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Recent publicity has revealed that Seminole County schools have initially identified 500 students who are considered felons. A law that went into effect October 1 now allows media to reveal the names of juveniles charged with three misdemeanors or a felony. Within this law, school boards now notify teachers of any children in their classrooms charged with a felony.

Local citizens were questioned about this position of public knowledge as well as teachers having this information on their students. The responses were as follows:

Charles Darrow said, "I think the teachers have the right to know there are felons. It would help if once the kids were convicted they wouldn't be allowed back on campus."

Phillip Falk stated, "Some people want to learn. It would be nice to not have those felons in the school. Maybe a separate school for them. Teachers should know if there are felons in their classroom."

Tom Frennier said, "I think they need to beat the kids that have been convicted of felonies. The kids need a swift kick. Teachers need to know what's going on in the classroom. I don't believe in child abuse."

POLICE BRIEFS

Open container

Rickey Charles Floyd, 39, 1981 Sipes Avenue, was arrested by Sanford police Thursday. An officer reported seeing Floyd standing outside a building near 13th St. and Shepard Ave. holding a can of beer. Floyd was charged with having an open container of alcoholic beverage.

Noise complaint

Sheriff's deputies made two arrests Thursday, in response to a complaint call regarding loud noise coming from 549 Genua Lane. When officers arrived, they said Donald Benevento, 17, of that address, met them at the door, and prevented them from looking inside. Eventually, officers spotted Gregory Robert Lehmkuhl, 18, of 3103 Scarlet Drive, in the house, throwing away what appeared to be drug paraphernalia. Lehmkuhl was arrested on a charge of possession of drug paraphernalia. Regarding the loud music, Benevento was charged with disorderly conduct.

Theft case

Sanford police arrested Heather J. Greene, 18, of 420 Greenspring Circle, Sanford, at a food store in the 3100 block of Orlando Drive Thursday. Officers said she was suspected of removing two packs of cigarettes from the store without paying for them. She was charged with theft.

Warrants

- Anthony Harris, 24, 1601 W. 15th St., Sanford, was located by sheriff's deputies Thursday in William Clark Court. He was wanted for driving with a suspended/revoked license.
- Eddie Earl Macks, 36, 805 Elder Road, Sanford, was located on S.R. 434 early Friday by Winter Springs police. He was found to be wanted on a warrant for burglary, issued in Arkansas. Police said they found he was also wanted on two other outstanding warrants.
- Phillip Wayne Norris, 32, 909 Catalina Ave., Sanford, was arrested by deputies Thursday. He was wanted on a capias for failing to appear on a charge of driving with a suspended/revoked license.
- Daniel M. Perez, 28, 1187 Palm Way, was located by deputies at the Elder Springs Trailer Park Thursday. He was wanted for violation of probation on a conviction of grand theft auto.
- Jerry Lewis Little, 27, 1819 Summerlin Ave., was arrested by deputies near Seventh Street and Pine Avenue in Sanford Thursday. He was wanted on a writ of bodily attachment.

Miss Sanford pageant revived

Competition is prelude to Miss Florida, Miss America

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Here she comes, Miss America.

One young woman from the greater Sanford area may one day hear that song sung as she glides down the runway in Atlantic City.

The Miss Sanford scholarship competition, which was last held in 1982, is being revived.

"I think there is a renewed interest in this sort of competition," said Cheryl Garner, executive director of the pageant, which is an official preliminary for the Miss Florida and the Miss America pageants.

"Leanza Cornett was Miss Winter Park, Miss Florida and then Miss America in 1993," Garner said. "So it can happen."

Young ladies who live within a 75 mile radius of the city of Sanford are being invited to enter the contest in order to win money for higher education.

"They must be well rounded women who are talented and intelligent as well as attractive," Garner said.

The contest is open to young women between the ages of 17 and 24 who have neither been married nor had any children. They must be ready to enter college or be enrolled in a higher education program.

And, Garner said, they have to have a platform.

"They have to have a cause or an issue they actively support and are working with," she explained. "They cannot just say 'I support world peace."

They have to explain how, specifically, they are working to make a difference."

Contestants must be willing to commit to the strict guidelines set for the contestants regarding their behavior. Winners, especially, must never be seen in their official capacity smoking, drinking or alone with a man.

The first event leading to the Miss Sanford contest will be a SHDWA luncheon at the Downtown Colonial Room on Dec. 20 at which Miss Florida, Megan Welch, will be escorted by Dave Farr, executive director of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce. The event is free and open to the public, but reservations are required. To make reservations, call Garner at 323-2166 or Rod Layer at 323-8050.

Local businesses are currently being asked to make donations to the contest so that the winner can take home a $1,000 scholarship and other "fabulous" prizes.

There will be an orientation and registration for the young women hoping to be contestants in the Miss Sanford contest on Jan. 6 at the Sanford Civic Center.

Garner defends the contest, which includes swimsuit and evening gown competitions as well as an interview and a talent portion.

"This is not just simply a beauty contest," she said. "These young women have to be intelligent, poised and active in the community. They can't just look nice in a bathing suit. There may be a not-so-attractive young lady who does well in the other areas and wins."

The Miss Sanford competition will take place on Feb. 18 at the Sanford Civic Center. The interview portion of the contest will take place in private the evening before.

The contest will be showcased in a production that is being put together by John Gilbert of Impact Media Productions. Auditions for that production will take place at The Studio, 202 E. First St. in Sanford.

"This is going to be a spectacular event," Garner said. "And one Sanford woman has the chance to go to the Miss America competition and win a fabulous scholarship."

District 3 votes Tuesday

For slightly over 3,000 Sanford residents, Tuesday will be a day of decision.

Tuesday is city election day in Sanford. The only candidates on the ballot are running for city commission.

Although only registered voters in that specific district will be able to cast their ballots, the person they select will serve as their representative in city government, as well as help make judgments pertaining to the entire city.

For these voters therefore, it is an important day, a time during which a major decision will be made. If only a handful of voters turn out at the polls, the result of the election will be just a few people selecting someone to represent them all. This should never be allowed. Everyone should vote, and make their preference known.

There are times, however, when an election can go beyond what people should expect.

Remember the stories of old, back in the days of political campaigning by such people as Abraham Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt and others? Voters were offered alcoholic beverages at the polls by candidates in order to obtain their votes.

Some times money would be paid and votes bought.

It wasn't just in national and state elections, nor was it done only in big cities such as the tales people have heard about New York City and Chicago.

Just because we are approaching a new century now, doesn't necessarily mean that some of these activities no longer take place.

Yes, people in this day and age may still attempt to buy votes. This may bring a few bucks into your wallet or a cold beer into your hand, but it won't bring better government to a city, state or nation.

The candidates have campaigned. They have made appearances and, depending on whether or not their constituents bothered to take heed, attempted to answer questions on what they would do if elected or re-elected.

The campaigning stops at 7 a.m. Tuesday when the polls open. Then it's time for you to vote and let your voice be heard.

The Sanford Herald has recommended the people elect Kerry Lyons. The recommendation was based on interviews with both candidates by the Herald's editorial board.

Tuesday, the choice is up to the 3,000-plus voters in District 3. Don't waste the opportunity to vote. Your city and its people need your decision.

Editor's note: A map showing the area of Sanford's District 3 is included in today's edition of the Sanford Herald. Only registered voters residing in this district will be eligible to cast their ballots in Tuesday's election.

Welfare reform

In spite of what the GOP wants the American people to think of the nation's welfare system, the system is still serving the purpose that caused its inception. Federal, state and local government have led the nation to believe that blacks are the majority of those who receive welfare benefits when in essence blacks make up only 37 percent of the total welfare recipients. The welfare system came into being to help poor families and people who had lost their jobs and were down on their luck with nowhere else to turn. The system helped people get over hard times and become productive citizens once again. Americans were not troubled by the system because it was a social safety net and on one knew if they would actually ever need the system. But now the welfare system is supposed to be this big bad monster that is leading our great nation to ruin. Abuse of the system prevails but sometimes it is not on the part of the welfare recipient. The bureaucracy itself is the blame. Many caseworkers are lacking the proper training and they sometimes treat recipients like a statistic instead of a human being. The caseworkers need to start explaining what the system is here for. The idea of making welfare benefits available for a limited period of time is not feasible now, because of the economic and social conditions in America today. Although I like the idea of making it a work program for all able-bodied recipients, this can be done by setting up work programs that help to build America's infrastructure and can also train people for private employment. If welfare is eliminated or benefits are cut too much, to the point where people could not get needed assistance, poverty will run rampant and all the things that poverty brings: drugs, under-educated individuals and violence.

Dion Jackson
Sanford

P.S. The welfare system has been in existence for awhile and reform will have to come about with caution, because of the economic and social conditions of welfare recipients. These conditions must be addressed for reform of the welfare system to come about.

Should Sanford hire fired deputy?

Debate in Sanford has focused upon whether an officer of the law discharged by Seminole County's Sheriff Donald Ealinger should be hired by the Sanford Police Department. It was reported that the Sanford city commissioners have indicated that any decision relative to hiring this officer rests solely with the chief of police. Certainly Sanford's chief of police is the appropriate person for making personnel decisions impacting his office.

The salient question is should an officer relieved of duty for disseminating racially derogatory material be hired by another law enforcement agency within the same geographical area? A review of this racially inflammatory picture which negatively stereotyped African Americans left one wondering about the underlying motivation that prompted the officer to act in this fashion. What attitudes does he hold toward ethnic minorities? Attitudes generally reflect an individual's likes and dislikes. How will these attitudes be translated into action? Give the worse possible scenario, if this officer is confronted with a situation he feels warrants the use of deadly force and the suspect in question is an African-American, what will happen?

Day-to-day law enforcement requires close synchronization among law enforcement officials from the cities within the county and the Sheriff's Office. The police departments and the Sheriff's Office form the first line of defense against crime. It would appear that hiring someone the Sheriff has discharged might mitigate against the working relationship between the Sanford Police Department and the Sheriff's Office.

SEMINOLE OPINION

Positive community relations between the Police Department and members of the community should be a priority. Crime fighting necessitates a united effort between law-abiding citizens and officers of the law. This is not the time for fueling the fires of distrust. Citizens need to believe that their race and/or socio-economic condition will not interfere with their receiving equal protection under the law.

Perhaps persons who have never experienced the fruits of prejudice do not fully understand the apprehension generated at the prospect of hiring this officer who has demonstrated insensitivity to the dignity and worth of an entire segment of this community. It would be totally illogical not to have some reservations about having this person in a critical position of authority. What one does as a private citizen is his own business. However, what one does as a law enforcement officer is of public concern.

The population of this city is comprised of diverse racial groups and diversity is something to be cherished and nurtured. Sanford is a small community and what affects one group affects all of us. We exist in an interactive interdependent society that has no room for racial divisiveness.

Throughout the past decade many of us have worked diligently and continue to work for genuine racial harmony. We have invested a great deal of our energy and talents, because we care about Sanford and its inhabitants.

Sanford is a beautiful little city with Lake Monroe as a natural focal point. Sanford has great possibilities and working together we can collectively improve the quality of our lives.

There is only one requirement that has to be observed and that is respect for all members of the community and recognition of the wonderful gifts with which we all have been endowed.

Let there be peace in Sanford, particularly during this season when our thoughts should be focused upon the greatest gift of all, the birth of Christ. May love and goodwill abound.

JOSEPH SPEAR

Angry readers nominate their OPs

One of the most memorable put-downs I ever received came from a kindly woman who wrote in response to one of my tirades, the subject of which I cannot recall. "Remember your dignity, Mr. Spear. You must retain your dignity."

Her admonishment comes to mind at this moment because I have been reading your Outrageous Personage nominations, and frankly, some of you have lost your sense of dignity.

I nominate the infamous "Wild Bill" Clinton as Outrageous Personage of the Year for his steely eyed and lack-jawed (?) impersonation as the commander in chief of the U.S. armed forces," writes R.J. of Dickinson, Texas. "Too impetive (deleted) to go, but brave enough to send others."

"I would like to nominate Joseph Spear," writes J.R. of Attleboro, Mass. "I know you wrote 'media jerks' were not eligible, but I thought you should be the exception."

"For OP honors, I nominate (Slick and Hill) the Clintons!" writes S.M. of Cambridge Springs, Pa. "They are both crazy, crooked, no good liars! I am one of the millions of Clinton haters! Love your articles. S."

Really, people, I know anger is in vogue this year, but a little perfunctory politeness would make the world merrier.

One good thing about the Great Smit of '94, though, is that nominations for the Spear Foundation's sixth annual OP award have been pouring in at an unprecedented rate. Scores of you have tired of Rush Limbaugh's egomaniacal schtick and proposed him for OP honors. Other nominees include Bill & Hill, Parson Pat Robertson, Alfonso D'Amato, Phil Gramm, Joycelyn Elders, Jerry Falwell, Garry Shandling.

Among the lesser known candidates are these:

- David May, a city official in Buffalo, N.Y., who resigned after admitting he had swiped some $200,000 in public funds, then asked for $8,500 in payment for 50 days of unused time off.

- Dr. Raymond Sattler of Wilmington, N.C., a neurosurgeon whose license was suspended when he left a patient's brain exposed while he took a 25-minute lunch break.

- Donna Bray of Bowie, Md., founder of an organization called the Defenders of the Defenders of Life, which offers moral and financial support to those who murder people who perform abortion services. Such force is "justifiable, and we will not condemn it," she told the Baltimore Sun.

The OP judges are admittedly biased in favor of prominent personalities, however, on the grounds that it is more fun to honor someone we know something about. It is with sublime pleasure, therefore, that we accept the nominations of such luminaries as old huff 'n' puff Limbaugh and Parson Pat and that utterly shameless solon from New York, Sen. Alfonso D'Amato.

We are delighted to see that people were offended by the antics of Madonna, who went from risqué to rank in a few short minutes on the David Letterman show, and Burt Reynolds, who ripped up an interviewer's notes, then ground the pieces into the carpet with his booted heels.

Mail your OP nominations to me care of Newspaper Enterprise Association, 200 Park Ave., New York, NY 10166. The contest is open until the ball falls on New Year's Eve. Remember: No foreign nationals, no groups and no Joe Spear nominations (sorry, J.R.). I appreciate the bouquets, but I must consider my dignity.

And frankly, some of you have lost your sense of dignity.

An idea for your loose change

Tis the season... yep, it's time folks, for spending two hours looking for a parking spot over at the mall; for having your car and dear compose greed lists, the cumulative sum total of which would outreach the national debt of several smaller countries; for ceremoniously selecting the most perfect of all Christmas trees (even better than last year's?), and then slowly settling down to watch the drying pine needles fall and scatter themselves in places so hidden, that it will in fact be nearly next Christmas before you finally manage to vacuum up the very last one, maybe. It is also time to be inundated by every charity from Bangor to Seattle for the pittance (you'll never miss it) amount of not less than $10 a "donation." And, for the weaker willed amongst us, those who just can't say no to the persuasive voice appearing on the other end of our phone connection every dinner time from now 'till Christmas eve, that last one can sometimes ultimately be, the most expensive part of the holiday season.

Well folks, I have two recommendations for you today concerning the ever burgeoning (and often profitable) business of professional charities out there. The first is that unless you just like to be parted from your money by needy groups you haven't ever heard of (and won't again until next year's holiday begging season), then get yourself a message service and let it answer your phone during the peak cajoling hours. In my experience, not only do the majority of such telephone solicitation groups tend not to leave messages, but for the few that actually do, you are given the rare privilege of deciding without their high pressure tactics whether or not you actually find them worthy of your hard earned donation or not; (hence the general truth of the first part of this ponderously long sentence).

My second suggestion and the one which I truly believe does more good for the receivers than most of the once-a-year charity causes out there, is this: You know those guys standing around the entrances of every supermarket and department store from here to Maine? The ones alternately wearing Santa suits, funky military uniforms, or just plain street clothes, usually accompanied by those poorly painted buckets, pots or similar collection receptacles suspended from a tripod? You know the ones I mean; they usually do the one man (or woman) bell choir so loudly on their out-of-tune hand bell that anyone within a three block area can hear them. Yeah, those guys, I'm recommending that you give your money to them.

Now wait a minute, I'm not talking about the wno down the street with the barely wiped out greasy old chicken bucket (although he probably could use it too); no, I'm talking about the Salvation Army and Goodwill soldiers who return nearly every single quarter, nickel and dime they collect right back to the purpose for which it was collected: the poor who need it most. Sure, there are lots of worthy charities out there from environmental to medical; but you know what, at this time of year, especially at this time of year, I just don't feel like giving a bonus to some already overpaid research doctor for some esoteric far off in the future bit of research when there are people all over this county and state who don't even have a cardboard box to call home.

Every time I go shopping, I invariably end up with a bunch of change jingling around in my pocket. It's too much trouble to pull it all out at the cashier's counter most of the time. It just sits there in its little cloth home, increasing and multiplying as the day goes along, getting bulkier and heavier with every purchase I make. And most of the year, I end up lugging it home chucking it into a big jar, and then maybe counting it out every few months or so to make up the shortfall in my cigarette money (no, I haven't quit yet!). However, from the weekend before Thanksgiving 'till just after Christmas, there are these guys I was talking about, see; and they're more than happy to take that cloth ripping noisy burden you've been lugging around in your pocket all day. They live for your change, and even personally say thank you upon its receipt; (and get this) they do that no matter how much of your coinage you may actually choose to part with on their behalf.

What a deal! A potential for a quick fix of feeling like you've done a good gold star earning thing, no more having to worry about your sacro-watzi going out from all that metal in your pocket or purse or wherever; And little children will even look up to you... Save the rest of the year for those $20 minimums to the PBA or the United Way. And I don't know about you, but I don't need another PBS magic coffee mug at the moment, so what the heck folks, drop that 37 or 22 cents change into the slot, maybe even a whole dollar or two if you really need a big boost of gratitude (they take paper money too). That insignificant little bit of personal charity just might be part of a really neat birthday present for... I'll give you a hint; there's this holiday named after him.

Ahhh noooooo, that was the father of our country...

Conference

attendees, outlining the purpose of the day's events. "This year's theme is an African proverb in action. It takes a village to raise a child. It will give you the tools necessary to contribute to your community."

Keynote speakers for the opening session were Sanford physician Dr. Willie B. Newman and "R. Joyce" Morley-Ball, a licensed family and divorce mediator from DeSatur, Ga., who issued a "challenge" to the young people.

Dr. Newman said that the information given out in the conference was like a blank check, "you can fill in the amount of this check and that is going to be based on one thing, what you take away from this particular event today. If you learn fundamentals, if you gain access to the tools that we have, there will be quite a large amount on that check. If you take nothing away, then the amount will be zero." Newman spoke of his experiences growing up in Sanford, the lack of role models that he had and how he had to learn to take responsibility for his own actions, "responsibility to yourself, your community and your heritage." Newman graduated from Seminole High school in 1972, attended Florida State University on a scholarship and graduated first in his class from Tulane University Medical School. Newman has a private obstetrics and gynecology practice in Sanford and is under contract with the Seminole County Health Department where he works with high risk pregnancies and specialized gynecological problems.

Dr. Morley-Ball challenged the youth to "choose only positiveness for yourself and for the rest of your life."

In the session that Morley-Ball presented after the opening, she discussed the importance of African American history and what identity is and who to identify with.

According to Corine Varn-Wilson, president of CFCIBWC, the challenge of the chapter is to "empower and embrace our values, culture and wisdoms of survival with joy, happiness and fulfillment."

After all the sessions were completed there was to be a closing panel, "Youth Empowering Youth" presented by the students attending the session.

The International Black Womens Conference was created to provide a networking process well known in African communities. "Our vision," according to the mission statement, "is to bring forth exemplary models of African womanhood by defining ourselves, embracing ourselves and improving ourselves through sociopolitical/economic empowerment." Post-conference workshop sessions are planned by the group to reinforce the information given out Saturday. The CFCIBWC offices are located in Casselberry.

didn't think it was any big deal. I just saw that he had something to eat."

The man came down here to work but got laid off and was just living from day to day, Brady said. "He was looking for a job and I suggested some of the local construction taking place on the highway out here and the mall across the street on (SR) 46."

The man said he would probably have a place to stay that night in one of the local motels. "I said, okay, I'll guarantee you get a meal," Brady recalled. Asked if the man had family back in Alabama, Brady said, "No, he was all alone."

Paying for the $5 meal the deputy explained yielded a two-fold benefit.

"It kind of guarantees that I don't have to have a problem later on being called back out on a prowler and/or the guy knows we are not trying to give him a hard time," Brady said, after the man had enough to eat. "We don't want you to get complained on. You really aren't doing anything wrong but we want to make sure we don't have a problem with somebody else complaining about you."

The deputy, who is originally from northern New Jersey, said he didn't want to make a big deal out of the incident.

"I agree everybody needs to have a little more humanity toward their fellow man," he concluded.

This simple act demonstrates that law enforcement officials do have feelings for mankind. Sheriff Eslinger should be proud to be represented by such a dedicated individual in his organization. I know that as a resident of northwest Seminole County, I now feel that the quality of law enforcement for our area has improved.

Deputy Brady, don't ever lose sight of humanity toward mankind, it's an admirable quality for any man (or woman).

It's gonna snow in Sanford!

Not all over and not just for anyone. But a special snowfall to create a playground across from the old Ritz Theatre for the little ones to romp in. Complete with the fresh scent of evergreens from rows of trees brought in for the occasion, the trees are there for the youngsters 10 and under to decorate with popcorn, citrus, peanut butter in pine cones, bread and more — a Christmas gift for the birds flying in from the North.

And a gift from the Ritz Community Theater Projects, Inc. (RCTP) along with continuous entertainment from approximately 4:30 p.m. (immediately after the parade.)

According to Pat Shafer, chairman of the Ritz event, Santa's Tree Farm is one of many attractions for young and old alike, with many fun happenings sandwiched in between the Christmas parade, which starts at 3 p.m. and Light Up Sanford in Magnolia Square at 6:30 p.m.

For further information, call the Main Street Office at 322-5600.

On their toes

Orlando City Ballet, a pre-professional company affiliated with the Royal Dance Center, will be presenting "The Nutcracker."

Performances will be 8 p.m. on Dec. 9, and 2 and 8 p.m. on Dec. 10 at the Edyth Bush Theatre in the Civic Theatre Complex, 1001 E. Princeton St., Orlando.

Tickets are $12 for adults and $10 for children 12 and under for the evening performance, and $10 for adults and $8 for children at the matinee.

For more information, call 695-4752 or 647-0050.

Sail

wind. In fact, the wind was so calm on the west end of the lake that several competitors had to be towed onto the course to line up for the beginning of the race.

Once the wind picked up, all of the racing activities were underway.

Saturday's official results were not available. However, Sanford's Kirk Schumaker sailboarded his way to two victories.

With Schumaker's strong finishes, he is poised to win the Sailboard division today.

Competition continues today on Lake Monroe with racing action scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. Radio control racing action will also continue today in Fort Mellon Park beginning at 2 p.m.

According to John Gardiner, Jr., event coordinator, more than 700 sailboats, hobbies, catamarans and sailboards, all displaying uniquely decorated sails, took over the lake this weekend.

"This is a really big turnout," Gardiner said. "Seven-hundred-one entries is by far a record. Last year we had 649."

Gardiner said that there are a number of large regattas across the United States, but boasted "this is by far the largest."

"No other even comes close to us," he said. "People just like it here."

Gardiner said Sailfest is successful because Sanford offers great weather this time of year for sailing.

In addition to the regatta, sailing enthusiasts are treated to a weekend of fun, partying, and informative seminars.

The 701 entries featured nearly 3,000 entries from all over, including sailing enthusiasts from 25 states and five countries.

Local entries and their division include, from Sanford: Kirk Schumaker, Sailboard; Rich Connor, Catalina; Jeffrey Laydon, Hunter 23; Charles Davis, Open DisplSlow; from Lake Mary: Kent Thompson, Open Catamaran; from Fern Park: Brad Parlee, Sailboard; from Longwood: Michael Rayl, Sailboard; Larry Millikan, Catalina; Kenny Eads, Hobie 22; Thomas D'Arry, Hobie 18; Rick Finneran, Open DisplSlow; Howard Francis, San Juan 21; from Oviedo: David Ingram, Hobie 18; from Maitland: Chris Awglin, Open Planing; David Guerdan, Open Thistle; from Casselberry: Andy Brandt, Sailboard; D. Matthews, Sunfish; Andrew Gaba, US-1; Bill Rees, Open DisplSlow; Steve Grinstead, Hobie 16; from Altamonte Springs: Brian Roy, Hobie 16; Rob Barker, Open DisplSlow; from Delary: John Ridenour, Sunfish; and from Enterprise: Eric Erickson, Sunfish.

Students are budding architects

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The architecture of a culture often reveals the heart and soul of a culture.

Three young people at Pine Crest Elementary School were honored on Friday by the architects at Burke, Bales and Mills Associates for their original building designs.

As winners of a design contest sponsored by the firm, they were each given $5 in cash and a donut reception at BBAM's Maitland office on Friday morning.

Third grader Elisabeth Stokley, fourth grader Jack Miller and fifth grader Joshua Johnson drew on inspiration from buildings they have seen embellished with ideas from their vivid imaginations.

Johnson's five-story building resembles the slender pyramid of San Francisco's Trans American Pyramid.

"Well, it is like that building," he said, "but it's smaller and has lines that are a little different."

Miller's rendering was a complex floor plan of an imaginary structure.

"I figured not many people would do the floor plan," he said. "I don't know where I learned to do the floor plans, but

Guidance counselor Carol Rumsey is proud of the work of students Joshua Johnson, Elisabeth Stokley and Jack Miller did for the contest sponsored by the architectural firm of Burke, Bales and Mills, represented by Jerry Mills.

I just knew how to do them."

The simple lines of Stokley's exterior rendering attracted the attention of the architects.

"I like to make designs of buildings," she said. "I just start off with something and then I let it get a little bigger and I never know what I'll end up with."

The contest evolved from a career day challenge to the students in the third, fourth and fifth grades to create a fanciful building.

"We just talked to the kids who were interested in a career in architecture and asked them to draw up their designs," Mills said. The prizes were an added incentive.

While Stokley said architectural renderings are "just something fun to do," Johnson and Miller have expressed an interest in a career in architecture.

Agricultural service reschedules elections after reorganization

By NICK PFEIPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

Elections for positions on the Seminole County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Committee planned for this December have been rescheduled.

The rescheduling is nationwide as a result of changes brought on during last month's enactment of the law to reorganize the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The law, which reorganized the USDA, created a new agency — the Farm Service Agency, which encompasses all of the commodity support and basic conservation programs of the former Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, all of the risk management programs of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, and the farm lending activities of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

According to David Greer, chairman for the Seminole County ASCS Committee, the new committee system when fully implemented will exercise increased responsibilities in its enlarged role.

Each county has three persons associated with farming serving on the committee. In addition to Greer, Seminole County is represented by Betty Schlusemeyer and Paul Lukas.

The main headquarters for both Seminole and Volusia counties is located at 124-B S. Amelia Ave. in DeLand. Ray Thigpen is the county executive director.

"Rescheduling the elections on a national basis avoids confusion which could occur from hastily drawn rules and regulations," Greer said, "and will create efficiencies by using funds which would have been spent on this year's election process to be used in training committees in performing their added duties."

Current members of ASCS committees will continue in their positions until the new election is held next fall.

The postponement in elections also affects the ASC in Volusia County with the three-person committee chaired by Alvin Daugharty.

When the elections are rescheduled for the fall of 1995, Thigpen said he does not yet know what will happen. "We don't know if it will still be three persons for a county or three or more for an entire district."

He added, "We also don't know whether the entire committee will be up for re-election next year, or what the situation will be."

Thigpen said he would announce the details as soon as he is advised by the newly formed Farm Service Agency.

NOTICE OF CHANGE OF LAND USE PUBLIC HEARING TO BE HELD BY THE SEMINOLE COUNTY BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TO CONSIDER A DEVELOPMENT OF REGIONAL IMPACT SUBSTANTIAL DEVIATION, COMPREHENSIVE PLAN AMENDMENT AND AMENDMENT TO FINAL MASTER PLAN FOR THE OVIEDO CROSSING (FORMERLY DLI PROPERTIES) DEVELOPMENT OF REGIONAL IMPACT

On January 24, 1995, the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners (BCC) will conduct a public hearing in the County Services Building, 1101 East First Street, Sanford, FL, Room 1028 (Board Chambers) beginning at 6:00 P.M., or as soon thereafter as possible. The purpose of this hearing will be to consider recommendations of the Seminole County Local Land Planning Agency/Planning and Zoning Commission (LPA/P&Z), receive public input, and input from any local government or other agency, on a Development of Regional Impact (DRI) Substantial Deviation, an amendment to the Seminole County Comprehensive Plan, and an amendment to the PUD (Planned Unit Development) Final Master Plan for the Oviedo Crossing Development of Regional Impact.

The County has received a Development of Regional Impact - Application for Development Approval (Substantial Deviation) application for the Oviedo Crossing DRI from the Viera Company (the Applicant) to undergo development-of-regional impact review, as provided for in Section 380.06, Florida Statutes. The proposed Substantial Deviation would amend the approved development plan for the Oviedo Crossing DRI to permit a regional shopping center and medical campus/wellness center as a part of the overall DRI development plan, and would delete the approved multi-family residential use. The Applicant has also submitted an application to amend the Seminole County Comprehensive Plan from Higher Intensity Planned Development (Transitional) to Higher Intensity Planned Development (Core) and from Planned Development (Office) to Planned Development (Retail Services/Office and Wellness Center) on a portion of the DRI property. The request also includes an amendment to the approved PUD (Planned Unit Development) Final Master Plan for the DRI. If directed by the BCC, the request will be transmitted to the Florida Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for issuance of an Objections, Recommendations and Comments (ORC) Report prior to the final BCC adoption public hearing. The Oviedo Crossing DRI is located in the vicinity of the Central Florida GreeneWay (S.R. 417)/Red Bug Lake Road Interchange in unincorporated Seminole County, with a portion of the development being located in the City of Oviedo, and contains approximately 435 acres (see map below).

The general public is encouraged to appear at this hearing and present input in accordance with the procedures utilized by the BCC c/o "Comprehensive Planning Office", 1101 East First Street, Sanford, FL 32771, telephone (407) 321-1130, extension 7394. This hearing may be continued from time to time as found necessary by the BCC. The date of the adoption public hearing will be announced at this hearing. The proposed Substantial Deviation, Comprehensive Plan amendment, amendment to the PUD Final Master Plan, complete legal description, and related information, including any comments received, are available for public review at the address above, Room 3167, between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., Monday through Friday, excluding holidays. Please note that land use amendments on property containing flood prone and wetland areas remain subject to the applicable Conservation land use designation and various overlay zoning classifications and the provisions relating thereto.

Persons with disabilities needing assistance to participate in any of these proceedings should contact the Employee Relations Department ADA Coordinator 48 hours in advance of the meeting at (407) 321-1130, extension 7941. Persons are advised that if they decide to appeal any decision made at this hearing, they will need a record of the proceedings, and for such purpose, they may need to ensure a verbatim record of the proceedings is made, which record includes the testimony and evidence upon which the appeal is based, Section 286.0105, Florida Statutes.

Lottery adds new tuition incentive

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

The Florida Lottery has added a new incentive during the month of December to entice players to try their luck.

In addition to guaranteed $10 million jackpots each week in the Happy Lottodays, a new promotion called Holiday College Dream is being offered. A total of 100 prepaid college tuition contracts are up for grabs.

Each prize covers four years of tuition and can be used for community colleges as well as state universities. The tuition contracts are being offered through the Florida Prepaid College program.

Qualified student beneficiaries must be Florida residents for the past 12 months and not yet in the 12th grade; infants under one year old born in Florida; or a non-resident child of a non-custodial parent who is a Florida resident. The beneficiary of the tuition program does not have to be a relative of a prize-winner. The prize-winner could be a friend or even an anonymous donor.

"A four-year college tuition contract may be the most important gift a child could receive. It is truly the gift that keeps on giving," Lottery Secretary Marcia Mann said.

Lotto players become eligible for the tuition prizes by mailing in special coupons generated by the on-line computer that prints Lotto tickets. Players who purchase five Lotto tickets will receive a Holiday College Dream coupon. Coupon information must be completed and signed and then mailed to the Lottery. Special green envelopes are available from Lottery retailers. Entries must be received no later than Jan. 9. The grand prize drawing will be held Jan. 13 and winners will be contacted by lottery officials.

Tour

crisp, the rain that threatened in the morning had cleared and the dappled sunlight through the trees made the afternoon walk pleasant for visitors.

The first home on the route was John and Juanny Mercer's. Mercer stated that he thought a couple hundred people had visited his home by mid-afternoon. Juanny was stationed in the kitchen, serving punch. She was greeted by old friends, Shirley McCaskill and Wynelle Lanier. "You've done a bang up job," McCaskill said after seeing the home. McCaskill and Lanier said they had seen some old friends coming out of the Higgins House Bed and Breakfast, who had inquired about the activity on the streets. McCaskill said she told them about the tour and they quickly purchased their tickets.

In front of the Mercer's home, Bob and Anita Ackerman, of Orlando, sat with their restored 1931 "Tudor" Model A Ford. They are members of the Model A's of Greater Orlando. Six period cars were parked in front of homes on the tour, adding to the festivity.

"It's been fun," said homeowner Julia Goeb. "Everybody has been appreciative."

Ellen Hinkle, of Winter Park, played her flute in the Goeb living room as guests admired the lovely Christmas tree in the corner. "I thoroughly enjoy playing in that living room," Hinkle said.

Colleen Goehrig and Linda Coach, both of Sanford, commented that it was remarkable how each house had a different character. Goehrig said that she had been on a similar tour of Amelia Island bed and breakfasts. She described them as looking as though they had come out of a book, while the Sanford homes where each unique in their own way.

Homeowner Mark Platts said that he had had many telephone calls after the story about his home had appeared in the Sanford Herald, and had learned more history about his home. The original owner, J.H. Truluck had removed the leaded glass doors that had been on the bookshelves on either side of the fireplace in the living room. Platts said that the article had also been sent to one of the Truluck's children and he expected to get some photos of the home in earlier days, hopefully with the glass doors still in place, so that he might get an idea on what they looked like and possibly replicate them. He also learned that Truluck rebuilt the fireplace at one time, and that "under all this wood is the original brick fireplace."

"It has been the case in years before, local real estate agents have taken advantage of the increased traffic in the historic district, and have opened many of the houses they are trying to sell. One of those homes has been on the tour before and would have been this year. "If we had thought about it soon enough," Amy Gonzalez said. The Gonzalez's are selling their two-story Victorian, but not leaving town. Amy said, with a two-year-old and one on the way, they want to downsize to a more manageable house. Their home, on the corner of Tenth Street and Magnolia, will be open today as well.

One feature of the tour that wasn't as busy as hoped was the carriage tour. Gigi Gillis, of the Historic Trust, said that the prices for the carriage ride in the district have been reduced to $5 for each adult and up to two children 12 and under free.

Tickets are still being sold for the raffle of the Victorian doll house built by members of the Trust. The drawing for the house is scheduled for 4 p.m. today.

The tour of homes continues today, from noon until 5 p.m. Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at the Cultural Arts Center, Fifth Street and Oak Avenue.

Tuskawilla. Residents there strongly oppose the plan to bring mall traffic onto their entranceway. County commissioners rejected a similar entrance when they approved the development in 1989, bowing to the concerns of Tuskawilla residents.

Winter Springs controls a 10-foot-wide strip of land along the northern border of the mall site, being developed by Viera Co. County engineers say a northern entrance is needed to handle the amounts of traffic expected to the mall.

Oviedo officials have said they will condemn Winter Springs strip if they have to do so.

"The city has some difficulty with the conservation easement south of Winter Springs Boulevard," said Gene Willford, Oviedo city manager. "It prohibits us from implementing our road plans for the area."

The strip runs east to State Road 426, blocking access from that road to the proposed "Westgate" commerce area south of the highway, said Willford.

Oviedo city commissioners have called for a meeting with Winter Springs commissioners to discuss the right-of-way needs of the city. Willford said the city will take Winter Springs to court if that city refuses to cooperate.

"We hope it doesn't come to that," said Willford.

Winter Springs city manager John Govoruhk did not return calls.

The annexation doesn't affect the entire 435-acre development, once conceived as a massive commerce park tied to the Central Florida GreeneWay. Plans submitted to the county last week show much of the former office showroom sites will be changed to retail space.

Tom Morgan, spokesman for the Oviedo Crossing property owners A. Duda and Sons, said the theme of the development changed after retailers and mall developers sought to build there. The Rouse Co. was chosen to develop the mall site because the Columbia, Md. company pledged to preserve the "integrity" of the site, said Morgan.

In the 1945 Salmagundi, I recognize Dorothy Morrison and Paulie Robson in a picture taken at the Crate.

In 1945-46, Dorothy Crumley remained as president, Bobby Jones changed to secretary, and Walter Smith and Alvin Alpatrick were added as vice president and treasurer, respectively. Committee chairmen were Laurier Beard, refreshments, Lillian Boyle and Jean Sawyer, recreation, Daphne Connelly and Tot Livingston, decorations, Marjorie Cogburn Tepsic was the director assisted by Joe McCaslin and Miss Joyce Whidden. During that year, the Crate was open on both Friday and Saturday nights and also during the week on special occasions. It was open every night except Sundays during the Christmas holidays. Entertainment included parties, dances, wiener roasts, and picture shows. There was a fund-raising drive that year to provide improvements and additional equipment.

Jean Sawyer was president during the 1946-47 school year and Johnny Alexander served as secretary-treasurer. Fred and Boo Ganas were the directors for 1946-48. Highlights of the year were Halloween and Christmas parties and a Thanksgiving party honoring alumni. Members that I recognize in a Sally picture were Lolo Lee, Simon Dinglefield, Peggy Pippin, and Clarence Grantham.

We find that Herby Stenstrom was president in 1947-48 and his fellow officers were Floyd Cooper, Peggy Pippin, and Dee McLellen. Activities enjoyed that year, according to the "Sally," were dancing, ping pong, pool, cards, and movies. During a Halloween party, students bobbed for apples and nearly choked themselves to death in a pie-eating contest.

Officers during 1948-49 were Richard McNab, Ronnie Garner, Sue Cullum, and Barbara McNab. Directors were Mrs. S.C. Graham, a parent, and Mr. Bernard Black, SHS hand director. In a Sally picture of class chairmen, I recognize Jackie McDonald, Doris Partin and Barbara Pearce. A girl with the first name of Ellen, who I do not recognize, was also pictured. That Halloween there was a spook house and apple dunking.

Walter Graham was president in 1949-50. Clarke Messler was vice president, and Bobby Morris was secretary-treasurer. Class chairmen were Kay Holtzclaw, Beverly Gray, Nora Belle Clause, and Ada Adams. Mrs. Graham continued as director and Mrs. J.P. Holtzclaw was PTA chairman.

In my previous article, I gave you the officers and some of my personal memories during 1950-53. As you can tell, for 10 marvelous years the students at Seminole High School had a wonderful youth center organization and enjoyed many hours of fun at the Celery Crate. This was due, in large part, to the many dedicated parents, teachers, and community members who gave of their time and expertise so willingly.

Caroline Biggers Holtzclaw, SHS Class of 1934, wrote me from her North Carolina vacation home and I have also talked to her since her return. She recalls having dances, some of them girl break, in the same city hall auditorium during her school days and that they called the place the Celery Crate. It was not a formal organization and they didn't have any of the equipment that we did later. Does anyone else from that era have memories of this?

1952-53 was the last year of the Celery Crate. For reasons that I cannot recall even though I was a very active member, the city hall auditorium was considered inadequate for a youth center after that year and the search for a new site was begun. According to articles from both the Sanford Herald and the Orlando Morning Sentinel, this was evidently a community-wide project. The Seminole Youth Council was formed with M.R. Strickland as president. He appointed Mrs. J.M. Stinecpher, Marion Harmon, and Robert Brown to serve on the charter committee, they were to devise a charter which would be presented to Circuit Judge M.B. Smith for approval.

Trustees of the organization were also named. These were two representatives each from Sanford civic clubs: Cliff Ables and Irving Pryor, Jaycees, Brack Perkins and W.C. Hutchinson, Rotary, Earl Higginbotham and Herman Morris, Kiwanis, Volie Williams and Ben Wade, Lions, Mrs. R.E. True and Mrs. G.R. Gilbert, BPW, Rev. Lucian Scott and Rev. S.L. Whalley, Ministerial Association; Gordon Frederick and Joel Field, American Legion; Mrs. George Harden and Mrs. J.N. Azzarello, Woman's Club; John Brumley and Marion Harmon, Cof C; Mrs. M.C. Stone and Mrs. Walter Carter, Pilot Club; M.R. Strickland and Homer Osborne, SHS PTA; Mrs. J.H. St. John and Mrs. John Schirard, Junior High PTA; and Fred R. Wilson, attorney.

The charter was approved, money was raised, and the former Southside Baptist Church (now Central Baptist) building at Ninth and Laurel was bought during the summer of 1953 for $4,500.

Since my mother, Mrs. J.M. Stinecpher, was very involved in the new youth center plans, you would think that I could remember more about his project, but I was busy with many other activities my senior year and did not participate myself in this endeavor. I did report on its progress in my "Seminole Hi" column for the Sanford Herald, and in scanning through these, I found that the project was discussed and plans were made at PTA meetings at least through February 1954, and in December of 1953, the parents held a work night when they painted chairs, tables, and the watercrating. They also repaired the screens.

In January, the Key Club and Tri Hi Y declared a student work night at which time the place was cleaned and more painting was done. In February there was a Youth Center Week when a drive for funds was made so the repairs could continue. Also students worked down there four nights during that week.

I find no other record of youth center activities and know that it did not open that school year, and the next year I was off at college. Can anyone enlighten me on what happened to this project? With such a host of sponsoring organizations and willing workers, it is very surprising that all their efforts did not culminate in another successful youth center for Seminole High School students.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Dahmer 'death squad' letter disclosed

MADISON, Wis. — Jeffrey Dahmer and another slain prisoner were among seven names on the hit list of an inmate "death squad," another inmate told Dahmer's lawyer.

Lawyer Stephen Eisenberg said Friday that the information he received in a letter this week from inmate Derrick Hendricks should be investigated.

Dahmer and Jesse Anderson were fatally beaten during a work detail Monday at the Columbia Correctional Institution.

Hendricks, also known as Melanie Samuels, is a transvestite with a history of personality disorders who was sentenced to prison in 1992 for having sex with teen-age boys in Milwaukee.

The sheriff's office said county officials investigating the deaths were unavailable for comment Friday night.

Inmate Christopher Searver, 25, has been identified as the suspect in the killings, but no charges have been filed as the investigation continues.

Police said Thursday they weren't ruling out the possibility that more than one person was involved.

GM wins in duel with government

DETROIT — General Motors Corp. is the clear winner in a deal that lifts the government's threat to recall millions of its pickup trucks in exchange for $51 million in GM support of safety programs.

Outraged consumer groups say motorists are losers, that dozens will die as a result. Transportation Secretary Federico Pena, under attack now from people who cheered his initial recall proposal, says he made the only logical choice.

That $51 million is a bargain for the world's largest industrial corporation — it took GM only about four days to clear that much in profit during the first nine months of this year.

By contrast, the annual research and development budget for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration is less than $40 million.

I think in any public education system that it's unfortunate that teachers aren't warned against psychological and criminal problems. You can never give a blanket rule. If they know a child can be helped, a judge needs to determine if the child is capable of attending school. Robert Porter said, "I think they need names and photos of the parents as well as the kids. Parents need to be held responsible. Teachers and the public should know if they're all in one school."

McClanahan a leader

It seems that Sanford is forever standing at that proverbial threshold, one attempt after another to revive the once-vibrant hub of interior Florida has come and gone, with no change.

Many are saying that such a promising threshold is the city's best chance for starting an upward climb since steamers quit plying the St. Johns, certainly since the Navy took its planes and went elsewhere. For sure, Waterfront, a development plan for the Sanford lakefront, and Main Street, a downtown redevelopment plan, plus a regional mall opening on the interstate highway next year are reasons for hope.

With those hopes and a history of failed efforts, one might argue that it is time for a change at City Hall, where the last new city commissioner appeared six years ago. Maybe some new blood could help steer a course to success.

Not so. What Sanford needs at this point is a steady hand. That's why voters ought to return A.A. "Mac" McClanahan for another four years as the District 3 commissioner.

Since arriving with the Navy in 1953, Mr. McClanahan has been active in Sanford city and civic matters, including 15 years - not continuous - on the commission. He has a wealth of life experiences from which to draw.

From a hard-scrabble Depression rearing, he joined the Navy and rose from apprentice seaman to lieutenant commander. Perhaps he is best known as head of the former Self Reliant Housing program, which built 141 homes for poor families in and near Oviedo, requiring sweat equity as down payment. The idea best reflects his philosophy that government should help, not provide.

True, Mr. McClanahan and this newspaper have not always agreed. Nonetheless, he has been admired for speaking out, even when alone, and for being beholden to no individual or group.

The Orlando Sentinel recommends the re-election of A.A. "Mac" McClanahan for District 3 city commissioner.

CENTRAL FLORIDA GREENWAY (S.R. 417) AND S.R. 434 SMALL AREA STUDY

PUBLIC HEARING TO BE HELD DECEMBER 13, 1994

ON DECEMBER 13, 1994, THE SEMINOLE COUNTY BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS (BCC) WILL CONDUCT A PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER A SMALL AREA STUDY KNOWN AS THE CENTRAL FLORIDA GREENWAY (S.R. 417) AND S.R. 434 SMALL AREA STUDY. THE BCC WILL CONSIDER RECOMMENDATIONS FROM THE SEMINOLE COUNTY LOCAL LAND PLANNING AGENCY/PLANNING AND ZONING COMMISSION (LP/P&Z), HEAR CITIZEN VIEWS, ANY LOCAL GOVERNMENT OR OTHER AGENCY COMMENTS, AND TAKE BCC ACTION ON THE SMALL AREA STUDY.

THE SMALL AREA STUDY CONSISTS OF FOUR PRIMARY COMPONENTS: (1) OVERVIEW OF THE PROJECT AREA WHICH INCLUDES THE IDENTIFICATION OF EXISTING AND FUTURE CONDITIONS AND FACILITIES AS REQUIRED BY CHAPTER 9J-5, FLORIDA ADMINISTRATIVE CODE; (2) IDENTIFICATION AND COMPILATION OF ISSUES BY INDIVIDUAL HOMEOWNERS, NEIGHBORHOODS, OWNERS OF VACANT PROPERTY, BUSINESSES, AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS AND THE SURROUNDING CITIES OF WINTER SPRINGS AND OVIEDO WHICH WERE ACHIEVED DURING AN EXHAUSTIVE COMMUNITY MEETING PROCESS WHICH WAS DELIBERATELY STRUCTURED TO HELP THE COMMUNITY ARTICULATE THEIR CONCERNS AND ISSUES REGARDING FUTURE DEVELOPMENT WITHIN THEIR COMMUNITY; (3) AN EVALUATION OF COMMUNITY ISSUES AND OPTIONS INCLUDING A SUMMARY OF THE MECHANISMS THAT ARE CURRENTLY IN PLACE TO ADDRESS THE ISSUES IDENTIFIED, AND A SPECIFIC RECOMMENDATION FOR ADDITIONAL ACTION OR ACTIONS THAT WOULD FURTHER HELP TO RESOLVE THE CONCERNS RAISED BY THE COMMUNITY; AND (4) DEVELOPMENT OF LAND USE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE STUDY AREA WHICH INCLUDES THE RECOMMENDATION OF A RURAL AND URBAN BOUNDARY, DEFINITION OF TRANSITIONAL LAND USES FROM THE GREENWAY/S.R. 434 INTERCHANGE, TO THE RURAL EAST AREA, A PROVISION FOR FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OF SPECIFIC CRITERIA FOR EVALUATING FUTURE AMENDMENTS, AND A DESCRIPTION OF THE NECESSARY INTERACTION WITH ADJACENT MUNICIPALITIES TO RESOLVE THE COMMUNITY ISSUES AND TO JOINTLY MANAGE THE FUTURE GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE STUDY AREA.

THE STUDY AREA BOUNDARY, SHOWN ON THE MAP ABOVE, WAS ESTABLISHED DURING A SERIES OF COMMUNITY MEETINGS, AND IS INTENDED TO DEPICT THOSE AREAS WHERE ISSUES AND CONCERNS WERE IDENTIFIED BY THE COMMUNITY REGARDING FUTURE GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT, AND IS NOT A PREDEFINED URBAN BOUNDARY.

THE PUBLIC HEARING WILL BEGIN AT 6:00 P.M., OR AS SOON THEREAFTER AS POSSIBLE, IN ROOM 1028 (BOARD CHAMBERS) OF THE SEMINOLE COUNTY SERVICES BUILDING, 1101 EAST FIRST STREET, SANFORD, 32771. ALL INTERESTED PERSONS ARE URGED TO ATTEND AND BE HEARD REGARDING THIS SMALL AREA STUDY. WRITTEN COMMENTS MAY BE PRESENTED AT THIS HEARING OR SUBMITTED TO THE ABOVE ADDRESS C/O COMPREHENSIVE PLANNING DIVISION, ROOM 3167. THE HEARING MAY BE CONTINUED FROM TIME TO TIME AS FOUND NECESSARY.

PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES NEEDING ASSISTANCE TO PARTICIPATE IN THESE PROCEEDINGS SHOULD CONTACT THE EMPLOYEE RELATIONS DEPARTMENT ADA COORDINATOR 48 HOURS IN ADVANCE OF THE MEETING AT 321-1130 EXT. 7941. PERSONS ARE ADVISED THAT IF THEY DECIDE TO APPEAL ANY DECISION MADE AT THIS HEARING, THEY WILL NEED A RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS AND FOR SUCH PURPOSE THEY MAY NEED TO ENSURE A VERBATIM RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS IS MADE, WHICH RECORD INCLUDES THE TESTIMONY AND EVIDENCE UPON WHICH THE APPEAL IS BASED. (FLORIDA STATUTES, SECTION 286.0105)

IF YOU WISH ADDITIONAL INFORMATION, PLEASE CALL (407) 321-1130, EXTENSION 7394. COPIES OF THE REPORT, ANY COMMENTS RECEIVED, AND RELATED INFORMATION ARE AVAILABLE FOR PUBLIC REVIEW AT THE SEMINOLE COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLANNING DIVISION, ROOM 3167, 1101 EAST FIRST STREET, SANFORD, BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 8:00 A.M. AND 5:00 P.M., MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY, EXCLUDING HOLIDAYS.

Fashions for education

Show real glitzy; Martha marks 75th birthday

All that glittered was not gold, but it certainly dazzled like the real stuff — the real McCoy.

And that's how it was Wednesday at the Sanford Woman's Club at the glittering fashions for education benefit, "Puttin' on the Glitz."

The show was originally scheduled for Nov. 10, but Sanford was too wet that day, thanks to Tropical Storm Gordon, and the event was postponed until Nov. 30.

Clusters of black and gold balloons, sparkling decorations and hundreds of twinkling lights added a fashionable New York supper club ambience to the quaint clubhouse. Lights also outlined the jet black-carpeted runway that extended from the stage out into the audience.

Pat Foster, chairman of the club's education department, was the chairman who headed up a hard-working committee to see that everything went on schedule. Pat looked the part wearing a stunning black and silver pants ensemble enhanced with silver accents.

Jean Clontz, fashion show vice chairman, introduced several workers and individuals who contributed to the benefit.

The fast-paced presentation was narrated by Dara Trujillo, fashion coordinator at Gayler's, who opened the show with two pants outfits accented with splashy, glitzy designs on the front. These casual creations, modeled by Debbie Whitehead and Gail Hill-Smith, were moderately priced at $29.95. Also taking center stage with Debbie and Gail was Steve Harriett who modeled a casual outfit which drew heavy applause from the nearly all female spectators.

The show finale was a setting of formal wear when Matt West and Todd Colvin appeared on stage in elegant Hart Schaffner and Marx suits while Roberta Zittrower showed a flashy, trailing black mermaid gown lavishly embellished in gold and silver designs. Roberta then donned a gorgeous, luxurious ankle length mink coat to totally capture the audience with applause.

Fashions featured casual, short, flouncy, gossamer sheer, plush velvet and lots of colorful sequins and beads...something to wear everywhere from the most casual event to the ul-

Area chefs lead team to world championship

Three Central Florida residents helped Culinary Team USA win two gold medals and the world championship at the prestigious Culinary World Cup Competition for the third consecutive time, proving American regional cuisine can make the grade with the international jury.

Team USA members were just .2 percent of a point behind the Swiss team when they entered the hot food competition, one of two major categories of international competitions sanctioned by the World Association of Cooks Societies (WACS). "We felt very confident with our menus and overall theme going into this competition," stated Keith Keogh, formerly of Lake Mary and team manager of

Minister turns 89; Broadway-type dinner theatre coming

Participants in the Tom Thumb Wedding of 'Little Mr. and Mrs. New Mt. Calvary.'

The Rev. Oliver Glover Sr. was honored with a celebration on his 88th birthday at home in Lake Mary. The Rev. Glover was born on Nov. 25, 1906 in Charleston, S.C. to the late Ely and Clarissa Spann Glover. Four generations of the Glover and Spann families traveled from Charleston, S.C. and the Weald, S.C. area to help celebrate this grand occasion.

The Rev. Glover shared this blessed event with his lovely wife of 64 years, Mabelle Thomas Glover. The celebration was held at the family acreage in Lake Mary, with an afternoon of prayer and praise for a man of God. The Rev. Glover has pastored the Mt. Olive Missionary Baptist Church, Longwood for 37 years and also the Island Lake Missionary Baptist Church, Lake Mary for six years. He was a self-employed fruit grove service manager for over 40 years. He has since retired from pastoral duties.

Over 100 family and friends joined in the full day of celebration with the prayer for the occasion and celebration given by Fred Glover, scripture by Virginia Glover Ward. The welcome was rendered by Cynthia Glover Jackson, Rochester, N.Y. The words of wisdom and honorary messages were delivered by his nephew Robert Glover Jr. of Charleston, S.C.

The praises and spiritual celebration continued with the singing of his favorite hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." A special tribute to "Dad" was rendered by Mercedes Glover Medlock, and a solo to Dad by Claude Glover. The Rev. E.S. Bullard and the Rev. Allen Washington shared in the celebration.

The beauty of love was expressed in this joyous day by the attendance of his family and friends from far and near.

We salute Pastor Glover, the patriarch of the Glover family and Seminole County area.

of Walt Disney World in 1971 as a culinary helper in now a chef position, to be molded into two decades into one of Florida's pre-eminent seafood executive chefs of Walt Disney World Company, captain of the highly decorated Walt Disney World International Culinary team, and manager of the 90 U.S. Culinary Team. Larry Slocum, vice president of food operations at Walt Disney World theme parks, literally grew with pride when asked about Keogh's background. "Understand, first of all, Keith's very creative," he says. "But he's also a product of Walt Disney World culinary training. Because we have so many facilities — such as fine dining, coffee shops, banquets, family dining — and we move our people around, they learn all aspects of the culinary field right here at Walt Disney World," Slocum explains. Keogh, a hard working kitchen hand who helped open the Polynesian Hotel during the Walt Disney World grand opening in 1971 was put through the Disney School of Culinary Arts, an on-the-job classroom that prepared him for a position as area chef. He earned that title in 1973 following completion of the program. During the next five years, he advanced to sous chef and then chef de cuisine at the Polynesian ... and then began a pilgrimage about the world as the "traveling chef de cuisine" — to the Contemporary Resort (in 1979), the Gold Resort, now known as The Disney Inn (in 1981), and to EPCOT Center (in 1982). Then 29 years old, Keogh was part of the culinary task force selected to open EPCOT Center. His role as chef de cuisine involved pre-opening seven World Showcase dining operations. Following the October debut of the theme park, he was the chef responsible for food operations in the United Kingdom, Canada, America and Germany "villages." In October 1985, Keogh was named executive chef of EPCOT Center. That role made him responsible for all day-to-day food production as well as special events that ranged from small, elegant parties for dignitaries to the huge 15th Birthday Celebration (1986) that fed 15,000 special guests. In 1987, he captained a Walt Disney World culinary quintet that collectively took its talents into international competition for the first time ever — at the prestigious IGEHO '87 Salon Culinaire Mondial at Basel, Switzerland. Their efforts produced eight gold medals, six silver medals, and a silver beating dish symbolic of the best regional team among the 120 that competed. In addition, the Disney chefs received a special medal from South Wales as the best of U.S. regional teams. Since 1992, Keogh has served as manager of the U.S. national team, a position he holds through 1996. In the meantime, the Walt Disney World Vacation Kingdom serves as training headquarters for Culinary Team USA. Recently, he assumed the responsibility of Executive Chef, Research and Development — Parks. The first grade boys went to the fire tower on State Road 427 for an afternoon field trip. The first order of business was climbing the fire tower. The boys, along with a few parents and siblings, climbed all the way to the top. The children did fine. The parents were a little winded. The view from the top of the fire tower was great. The children, thankfully, saw no fires, but they did see Lake Mary High, Automobile Association of America in Heathrow and smokestacks on the St. Johns in Volusia County. The towers are seldom used these days. In urban areas, most fires are spotted by citizens and called in. The cellular phone has been especially helpful in firefighting. The towers are now used only if fire conditions are extreme for several days. After looking around a bit, the group went back down the fire tower. This was of course easier physically but a little harder in the fear department. Looking down is harder than looking up. The boys were then given a lesson in the physics of fire. It takes heat, fuel, and air for a fire to burn and a firefighter must eliminate one of these to put out the fire. After the informative talk, a small pine needle fire was lit on the asphalt and the Tiger Cubs became the firefighters and put it out. It was an exciting finale to a great tour. Fair open house The Fall Book Fair at Lake Mary Elementary held an Open House, Tuesday, Nov. 29. It was a star-studded gala with Clifford the Big Red Dog, Curious George and Ms. Frizzle, the driver of the Magic School Bus. Ms. Frizzle was on hand to promote her newest adventure, "In the Time of the Dinosaurs." According to inside information, this sixth book in the series that began with "At the Waterworks" will be going from hardback to paperback rather quickly to make way for the seventh book nearing completion. The next adventure will be in a hurricane. Ms. Frizzle and her Magic School Bus have expanded beyond the written word. "Inside the Human Body," one of the earlier Magic School Bus adventures, is now available on CD-ROM. The Magic School Bus is also on PBS. Students attending the book fair entered a special drawing. The winner will receive $25 in books for himself and $25 in books for his class. Toy display Last week's article about Christmas in Olde Lake Mary, scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 7 at 6:30 p.m., failed to mention one of the groups involved. The Historical Commission will have a display of old Christmas toys and decorations in the Frank Evans Center. The highlight of the display will be wooden doll furniture on loan from Harriet Boyd. After Christmas in Olde Lake Mary, the display will be moved to Lake Mary City Hall. The next meeting of the Historical Commission will be Monday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. at the Frank Evans Center.

Band concert planned

SANFORD — The Sanford Middle School award-winning music department is planning a concert for Monday, Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Louis D. Pelham Gymnasium at the school.

Under the direction of Jennifer Scott, the school's orchestra and jazz bands will perform.

On Thursday, Dec. 15 at 7:30 p.m., the school's choral department will present their annual holiday concert in the gymnasium.

The concert will be under the direction of Madeline Zimmerman.

The public is invited to attend the concert.

Call the school at 322-3063 for more information.

Class reunion

SANFORD — The class of 1965 from Seminole High School in Sanford is making its 30th year reunion.

Anyone wishing to help with the planning of the reunion activities or just desiring information, should call either Kathy (Butler) Skyles at 324-3644 or Pat (Chapman) Rockett at 321-8193.

The class of 1965 would also be interested in coordinating activities with other SHS classes which are planning reunions in 1995.

Aware of the AIDS crisis

By LINDSAY HODGES
Special to the Herald

SANFORD — This past week some students at Seminole High School have had the opportunity to become aware of one of the most sensitive issues in America. That issue is AIDS.

Jeanne Swaynos and Paulette Thomas collaborated on a program earlier this year and the participation of the students in AIDS Week was included.

The week began with the completion of the SHS AIDS quilt that was put on display in the school's media center. The quilt panels measure six feet by three feet, the size of a grave and are similar to some of those on the National AIDS quilt. Only seven schools around the nation had the chance to put together a quilt.

On Tuesday, the focus was moved to some students receiving a variety of information on many aspects of AIDS.

On Wednesday, 12 students had the pleasure of visiting the University of Central Florida for their AIDS Fair. SHS was the only high school invited to participate. Students were educated in shocking statistics, unthought-of facts, and various other bits of knowledge.

On Thursday, SHS sponsored an AIDS informational seminar, presented to the parents and the students separately. This was to eliminate most of the anxiety of being embarrassed. The program was very successful. Red Ribbons were passed out to students to signify AIDS awareness.

Friday was designated as a day without art. Fine arts students wore all black to represent the death of AIDS victims.

Lindsay Hodges is a sophomore at Seminole High School where she is enrolled in the Academy of Health Careers.

Who are your heroes?

By LYNDSAY HOLLIDAY
Special to the Herald

LONGWOOD — Superheroes, Actors, Actresses, Musicians.

All of these can be categorized as "ideals."

Mostly everyone has an ideal and none of them seems to be close, as in parents, teachers, friends, et cetera.

What really characterizes an ideal?

Talent? Looks? Hospitality? What?

When I look for an ideal, I look for someone I want to be or someone that I can look up to.

You might look for an ideal by way of talent and what you wish you can really do.

It depends on what you want.

Jealousy might play a role for some people.

I several ideals.

My grandfather for his writing skills. My grandmother for her art skills.

My mom's a big ideal. She's shown me that life's hard but we will all make it, and not to give up.

A lot of people don't think they have an ideal. But if you think hard enough and look long enough, I'm sure everyone will find someone they wish they could be or that they look up to.

Lyndsey Allyson Holliday

Teachers are a great ideal.

Mrs. Heck, a wonderful woman who will take the time to make sure all of her students understand the material she's teaching or that she's taught.

It takes special people to do such a task.

Anyone can be an ideal. From a rich job to a homeless man or woman.

It only takes your heart and mind to see what they have to offer and accept it for who they are.

So, who's your ideal?

Lyman High School

As part of Lyman High School's Student Recognition Program, teachers there have selected students who are positive role models for others at the school through their attitude or actions.

These Greyhound Elite students have their names read aloud during school announcements and are honored in a variety of other ways on and off campus.

They are also eligible for a drawing for a "free lunch on the town" with principal Peter Gorman.

The November Greyhound Elite students are:

• Ninth grade: Jarod Baker, Candee DeRoster, Mike Goodwin, Will Lopez and Mary Turner.

• Tenth grade: Michelle Malone, Chris Postle, Tom Rose

(2), and Ronnie Webb.

• Eleventh grade: Dollie Bowman, Toby Byington, Jennifer Kiser, Vernon Johnson, Jessica Pearl, and Daryl Presgraves.

• Twelfth grade: Cathy Aho, Eddy Coopens, Kristy Hall, Carolon, Nadege Jean-Paul, Andrea Myers, Anil Persaud, Mandy Stevenson, and Thawn Vaung.

Twelve members of the Lyman High band were selected to play for the Florida All-State Band/Orchestra/Jazz Band.

They will perform in Tampa in early January during the Florida Music Educators' Conference.

They are: Dan Boissy, Joy Bratcher, Katie Golnik, Sarah Kane, Jason Koi, Reece Patterson, Leanne Small, Lisa Smith, Ryan Scott, Tasha Talesnick, and Matt Thompson.

Christmas already???

Kids ready, even if parents aren't

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — While adults may be bemoaning the early start of the Christmas season (sometime around Halloween, this year), little ones are thrilled with the idea of the extended holiday season.

Lyndah Keith, 7, said she thinks Christmas should start in July.

"Then my Dad would have time to shop for all us kids and we'd be able to do more stuff for more of those people who don't have anything at all."

Jamie Mossman, 6, can't wait for the visit from St. Nick. She's been sticking pictures from magazines of the items she "has to have" on paper for three weeks now.

"I got six pieces of paper with pictures for Santa," she said. "My mom says Santa isn't gonna get me all that stuff, but I saw Santa at Fun World and he said he would."

Mishaanda Levitt, 5, likes the lights and the music and the trees.

"And the presents," she said. "The presents are the bestest."

Levitt said she thinks the holiday season is "very, very fun" and that "everybody is so nice" when it's Christmas.

Shimaquana Davis, 7, knows that the holiday season probably isn't "supposed to start" until later this month, but it "can start as early as it wants to."

She's aware that Santa "might have some trouble buying all the things on everyone's list," so he has to start shopping early. However, she's sure he'll get her the dress she has asked for.

"It's at Target for cheap," she said. "My mom says he can get it there."

Miki Lane, 4, is sure that Christmas will be here tomorrow.

"I saw the TV...it said so," she said. "Christmas is tomorrow or today or a million days. I don't know which."

Darion Lane, 8, says it doesn't matter when the holidays start.

"Me and my sister and my mom do cool stuff all the time so we always got Christmas at our house," he said.

Seen at school...

Fire burn and cauldron bubble

Young thespians at Geneva Elementary School have been presenting Shakespeare's "Macbeth" to adoring audiences at the school. The fifth grade students studied the Bard's works and chose the play for its dark and compelling story. The students created their own costumes and constructed the sets. While they might not be ready for the Globe Theatre yet, these youngsters put on some memorable performances.

New procedure in cosmetic surgery Use of endoscope allows for smaller incision

By RICHARD L. BECK, M.D.
Special to the Herald

Finally, plastic surgery has joined orthopedics, gynecology, general surgery and other surgical specialties in offering surgery through a small incision.

This new addition to plastic and, in particular, aesthetic surgery, is the use of an endoscope.

Simply put, endoscopic plastic surgery is surgery performed through a small incision, aided by a special bright light source conducted through a fiberoptic cable attached to an endoscope and to a small camera which projects and magnifies the operative field onto a TV monitor screen.

The initial and widest application of endoscopic plastic surgery to date has been in surgery

of the brow or forehead, as in a brow lift procedure. Through several small incisions placed behind the hairline, the forehead, brows, and upper eyelids can be raised and frown lines relieved without the lengthy scars, possible hair loss, and numbness often found after a classic brow lift. The endoscopic approach to raising the eye brows and eliminating the tired and angry look often associated with brow descent and frown lines is a more precise approach. Elimination of the lengthy cross scalp incision makes the endoscopic brow lift more acceptable to individuals with high hairlines, receding hairlines and thin hair and to those unwilling to accept the classic cross scalp incision. It is also an excellent alternative to those seeking a repeat brow lift. In some individuals with high foreheads or heavy furrows in the forehead, a pre-hairline incision may be necessary. This is an in-office procedure using either general anesthesia or local anesthetic with sedation.

Incision face lifts in younger individuals with lax but not excessive skin redundancy. The endoscope can also be useful in placement of facial implants, some nasal surgery, axillary incision breast augmentation and in minimal incision abdominoplasty.

The endoscope is finding use in reconstructive surgery, as well, i.e., carpal tunnel release, facial fractures, harvesting muscle flaps, etc. Further applications for the endoscope appear on a regular basis and because of the small incisions and fewer complications, endoscopic plastic surgery will become a strong and powerful addition to our practice of the future.

Endoscopic plastic surgery can also be utilized for minimal

Health food store can help you with a healthy lifestyle

By THOMAS ROBARE
Special to the Herald

Operating a health food store is an art. Only a health food store can provide you with up-to-date information on vitamins and herbs, offer you chemical-free foods and all natural cosmetics.

A health food store knows all vitamins are not alike, do you? Your natural foods store carries vitamins that have "state of the art" formulations, providing you with top quality ingredients and standards.

Your neighborhood health food store provides their customers with one-on-one personalized service, educational and nutritional information and ultimate quality and standards.

Most health food stores stock chemical-free milk, old-fashioned "cream on the top," and food alternatives for those people on special food-sensitivity diet programs. There are even healthy foods

Exercise raises enzyme

By IRA DREYFUSS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The heart-protecting enzyme TPA rises with exercise — a finding that may help to explain why exercisers are less likely to have heart attacks, a study says.

Similarly, levels of a substance that renders the enzyme inactive are higher in nonexercisers, the study reports.

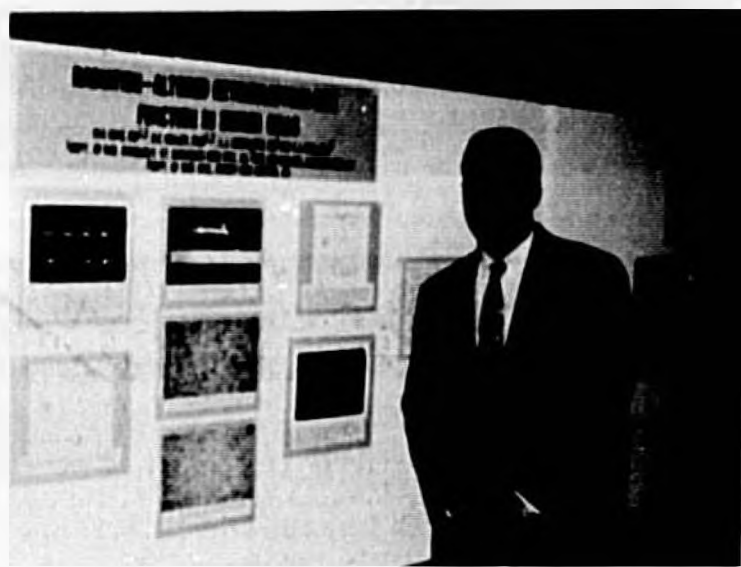

TPA, tissue plasminogen activator, is produced by the inner lining of blood vessels, and breaks up clots in the bloodstream. Genetically engineered TPA is used as medicine for heart attack victims.

The report in the American Physiological Society's Journal of Applied Physiology looked at 45 men ages 26-43. Fifteen did no regular exercise, but were apparently healthy. Another 15 ran for about 30 minutes a day, three to five days a week. The rest, competitive runners, were active 60 minutes a day, five or more days a week, said researcher Linda M. Szymanski.

All were tested on a treadmill at exercise paces designed to wear them out within 11-15 minutes. Blood for analysis was drawn before and after exercise.

The researchers at the University of South Carolina looked at levels of TPA and plasminogen activator inhibitor, PAI-1, which binds to TPA and renders it inactive.

Dr. Michael Wing with his research findings at conference.

Wing reports research at annual meeting

ATLANTA — Dr. Michael Wing, resident oncologist at Emory University presented his research findings to the American Society for Therapeutic Radiology and Oncology at the 36th annual meeting in October in San Francisco. Dr. Wing has been researching radiation altered retinoblastoma gene function in human cells. This research paper dealt with the possible mechanism of induction of oncogenesis (cancer) in the radiated normal human cells.

The paper is a follow through of Dr. Wing's previous work at the New Jersey Medical College at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, studying under Dr. San Filippo. The research work was done in cooperation with Columbia University Medical School in New York City with world famous researcher and author, Dr. Eric Hail.

Dr. Wing's findings also appeared in the International Journal of Radiation Oncology Biology/Physic, 1994, Volume 30, Supplement 1.

Dr. Wing was born in Sanford and attended All Souls Catholic School. He graduated from Trinity Preparatory School in 1983 and from the University of Florida, Phi Beta Kappa, in 1987, with a degree in Microbiology. Following this he attended and graduated from Miami Medical School, in 1991, and interned at the University of Alabama Lloyd Nolan in Birmingham, in 1991 and 1992.

He studied at Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston, N.J., where he was a resident in radiation oncology. In July 1994, he accepted a resident position in radiation oncology at Emory University in Atlanta.

His current plans are to try to choose between academia and private practice of radiation oncology following his chief residency at Emory University Medical School, in 1996.

Dr. Wing is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wing, of Sanford, and is married to Ashley Estes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murl (Bud) Estes of Winter Park and Maitland. Mrs. Wing is currently an executive with Travelers Insurance Company in Atlanta.

Digital television coming to town

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Primestar, the new direct broadcast satellite service, has officially been launched in Central Florida. Sanford area business and government leaders were given an overview of the project recently during a public meeting at the Osprey Room next to the Marina Hotel in Sanford.

Primestar is said to be the nation's first premier digital direct-to-home satellite service. Launched in 1990, Primestar was the first company to introduce all-digital transmission of audio and video signals, enhancing picture quality and CD-quality sound.

After moving from a test market to fully operational mode early this year, Primestar rapidly increased its subscriber base. It now serves over 300,000 homes nationwide, and over 1,000 in Central Florida.

Primestar, distributed by Time Warner Satellite Service in Central Florida, is a joint venture of several of the country's major cable companies including Time Warner, Cox Cable, Comcast Cable and TCE.

"We are very excited to provide potential subscribers with an alternate programming source other than purchasing a satellite dish," said Time Warner Central Florida Division President Bill Brown.

Becky Dellinger, general manager of Primestar added, "With the advent of new technologies, home entertainment will con-

As an example of the Primestar advances, she commented, "Just as the music industry went from platters to LP's to eight-track tapes to cassette tapes to CD's, the end product will still be music."

Primestar serves homes in 11 Central Florida counties where traditional cable is unavailable at this time. The service offers over 70 channels of programming, including sports, movies, local news and special features.

Programming is delivered via a small satellite dish, said to be the size of a small patio table.

Primestar is located in Sanford at 504 Central Park Drive, phone 328-4677.

IN BRIEF

Five star rating

LAKE MARY — Dennis H. Courson, President/CEO of First Seminole Bank has announced that the bank has been awarded its 19th consecutive quarterly five-star rating from Bauer Financial Reports, Inc. The rating is based on the analysis of financial data as filed with federal regulators for the quarter ended June 30, 1994.

A five-star rating, the highest on the scale, indicates that First Seminole's tangible capital ratio and/or its total risk-based capital ratio exceeded the level required by federal regulators by more than twice.

First Seminole Bank was chartered in 1988, and is locally owned.

It has two offices in Central Florida, one at 3505 W. Lake Mary Boulevard, and one in Orange County at 7625 Sand Lake Road, Orlando.

Firm hired

SANFORD — Seminole High School and Pinecreek Elementary School are among two sites involved in the hiring of Orlando-based R. Douglas Stone Associates, a consulting engineering firm. The firm has been selected to design heating, ventilation, air conditioning and plumbing systems totalling over $8 million in construction costs for eight public schools. In addition to the two Sanford locations, the firm will be working with Lake Mary architect T. Gray Frazier on Seminole County's Bear Lake, Lake Mary and Longwood Elementary Schools, and with Orlando-based C.T. Hsu and Associates on Lyman High School addition in Longwood.

The firm has already designed systems for over 2,400 projects including over 300 public schools in Seminole, Volusia, Orange and Osceola counties.

Brian S. Cumming, P.E., serves as principal-in-charge of the 20-person firm which is located at 940 North Ferncreek Avenue, in Orlando.

Happy Flea World

SANFORD — If Thanksgiving weekend was an example, Flea World expects this to be an excellent holiday season.

Flea World's management team had been concerned over the possibility of a slow fall season. However, according to Syd Levy, Flea World owner, "Since the elections, business has been up."

Levy said that food and concession sales, a significant indicator of people's disposable income, were up considerably over last year's figures. Dealers at the 1,700-booth market reported customer buying and sales as brisk.

Whether it is a coincidence or an indication of concern over the economy, it is considered as a welcome event to Levy and the many retailers at the flea market.

Levy also reported that Fun World, the family fun park adjacent to Flea World, had the best weekend in its four-year history during the Thanksgiving weekend. Special reduced holiday rates and good weather are credited for the record weekend, along with new rides and the arrival of Santa on Friday.

Flea World and Fun World are located on U.S. Highway 17-92, just south of Sanford.

SANFORD — Fina Express Mart, 217 S. Park Avenue, corner of Third Street, is one of Sanford's newest businesses. The business opened on Friday, November 25.

Charles Russo is manager of the store, and Victor Hall will be manager trainee. Hall is also known by many as the center for the Orlando Pro Jammers.

The store will be open seven days a week from 6 a.m. until 11 p.m. Food stamps, credit cards and checks will all be accepted.

Russo discussed the move to Sanford "Delco Oil, out of Deland, is the owner," he said. "Steve DeLuca wanted to be a part of the growing and changing area of Sanford. With all the rejuvenating going on, it's a good place to be, and nice to know you're a part of a community that's coming along."

He also commented on the Fina Express Mart offerings. "The Hot Stuff Pizza is a strong product," he said. "I really think the pizza program is a big plus. We'll carry other frozen entrees, nachos and hotdogs with chili and cheese."

Russo commented on Hall's association with the store. "Maybe he'll bring in more business. Although he will be gone for awhile, he sure to be wanted for autograph signings."

According to Russo, another new Fina Express Mart is slated to open in the near future in the Lake Mary area.

Making the cut

Members of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors held a ribbon cutting on Nov. 15, for Sanford Floral and Antiques, 2911 S. Orlando Drive. Shown with Ambassador members, center, owners Carolyn Boatwright, Mike and Cindy Dixon (both with vests) and the Dixon's children Ashley and Tara. The three ladies on the right, Anne Gracey, Pat Tyner and Flora Altobello, are employees of the store.

Plans for expansion at AT&T in Lake Mary

By BANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — AT&T is expanding its operation in Lake Mary increasing the size of the existing building next year followed by the construction of another 90,000-square-foot building.

No new jobs are involved in the expansion but about 700 employees occupying leased space in Maitland will be transferred to the operation on Lake

Emma Road over the next two years.

The existing 150,000-square-foot AT&T building which now houses 650 workers will be enlarged to accommodate another 250 staffers.

AT&T acquired former NCR building last year. The company owns 56 acres at Lake Mary site. The transfer of personnel from two Maitland offices are expected to be completed by the third quarter of 1996 and bring the number of AT&T employees in Lake Mary to nearly 1,400.

The employees at the Lake Mary facility provide internal computer and telecommunications support to AT&T worldwide.

Expansion of the existing building, expected to begin by the third quarter of 1995, will be completed before construction on the new building begins, said Randy Berridge, AT&T district public relations manager.

The specific square-footage expansion of the existing building and exact location of the new adjacent building have not yet been decided upon, the spokesman said.

Some workers being transferred are part of AT&T's Corporate Information Technology Services division. A total of 725 workers, including 585 from Tower Place at the Summit near Maitland Center and 140 from the 901 Building in Maitland Center will relocate to Lake Mary. Not all of the transferred workers are with the corporate ITS division. The transfers mean A T & T will vacate 145,000-square-feet of leased space.

"The transfers are being made so that employees who perform similar functions will be co-located," the spokesman explained. The company anticipates the transfers will increase efficiency and team work from the employees of the division which is manned around the clock.

"This is a direction toward owned-facilities, as opposed to leased, which obviously, we feel, is a sign of permanency and we're glad that's happening on the 56 acres we own in Lake Mary," said Berridge.

Asked if the company plans to acquire more land in the Northpoint area, Berridge said he could not speculate on that possibility.

"I'd love to be able to be the forecaster to answer that," he said. "I wish I could tell the future, we'd probably invest in the Lottery, if we could do that. Unfortunately, that's a speculation that I can't make at this time."

The company will still have about 1,000 employees at the Maitland Center after the transfers. AT&T employs about 5,500 workers in Central Florida. The communications giant leases over 800,000-square-feet in the metropolitan area.

Last year, the company sought proposals for a 600,000-square-foot building along Interstate 4 between Lee Road to State Road 46 in order to consolidate employees from leased office space, however, that plan has been shelved, according to Berridge.

"We will continue to lease space in Maitland Center," Ber-

Scouting for funds

Boy Scouts of Central Florida scored big recently as the result of the Winn Dixie Fall Golf Benefit. Central Florida Boy Scout Executive Wayne Brock, left, receives this year's check from Winn Dixie Orlando Division President Dan LaFever. The benefit, held November 7, at the Heathrow Country Club, drew a crowd of 150 players, and added $30,000 to the Boy Scout fund, bringing the total up to $215,000 since the first golf tournament in 1992.
