Chamber plans turkey event

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce is setting up an annual turkey give-away event. The actual give-away will be held two days before Thanksgiving.

The event is being co-sponsored by Creative Cribs, Inc., of Sanford, through its president, Michael Mainelli.

According to Dave Farr, executive director of the Chamber, "Mainelli will be purchasing 50 turkeys which will be distributed to deserving families in Sanford."

The turkeys will be allocated to various local clubs and civic organizations, who will be supplying tickets to selected families who might otherwise not have turkey dinners for the holiday.

While Creative Cribs is starting the project with 50 turkeys, Farr hopes the project will grow, possibly even double with donations from others.

Mainelli is challenging other local businesses and civic leaders to join Creative Crib's efforts. "A $10 donation will provide one turkey for a needy family."

Business people as well as citizens interested in giving a donation to the project are asked to send them to the Chamber at 400 E. First Street in downtown Sanford.

For further information, contact the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce at 322-2212.

Woman reports sexual assault

LONGWOOD — A 23-year-old Altamonte Springs woman reported she was sexually assaulted by a professional football player during a recent party at his Alaquia home, according to sheriff's office reports.

The woman, who is not pressing charges, reported the man had given her a tour of his home shortly before 2 p.m. when they entered his bedroom. There, the woman said he threw her on the bed and removed her clothing. She reported the man forced her to perform sexual acts.

She then said the man threw her clothes at her, took $60 from her purse and ordered her to leave. The woman said she was taken home by the roommate of the man.

Although the woman refused to pursue the case according to the report, sheriff's spokesman George Proechel said investigators are looking into leads in the accusation.

Did your vote count?

TALLAHASSEE — About 10,000 Floridians had their votes for president thrown out because of confusing voting machines, but not enough votes were lost to affect the result, said state elections director Dot Joyce.

President Bush won the state by about 85,000 votes in Tuesday's election.

A review of election results found six counties where more people voted for U.S. senator than president, an odd pattern that would indicate some presidential votes were missing, Joyce said Friday.

Those votes were apparently tossed out by the tabulating equipment, elections officials said.

Participants say Golden Age Games ends a success

By VICKI DeBORMIER

SANFORD — Despite increasingly dreary weather conditions the last two days, organizers of the Golden Age Games and the participants said that the week was a great success.

"We've had a great week," said Jim Adams, co-coordinator for the Golden Age Games in Sanford.

Adams said there were no incidents during the week and that many strong friendships were forged between the athletes and between Sanford residents and the athletes.

"They have had a lot of fun out here this week," he said.

Minnie Litton of Richmond, Vir. said she had never been to the games in Sanford before.

"But I like it here," she said. "It's a nice friendly town and the games are so well organized."

With more than 40 different events, ranging from tennis to cribbage to track and field to knitting, the Sanford Golden Age Games are among the largest games in the country, according to Adams.

LAKE MARY — Michael Beckler pulled his cap lower over his eyes and slouched a little in his wheelchair.

But he smiled. Big.

Over the course of the afternoon on Saturday several hundred people stopped by his table to say hello before settling down to eat barbecued chicken, baked beans and corn on the cob at the City of Lake Mary's benefit for Michael, 11, and his friend Arcadio Vergara, 12, who were seriously injured in an accident that took the life of their friend Jeremy Millhouse.

Jeremy's family will also receive some money from the benefit to help pay some expenses. Michael suffered serious head injuries and Arcadio had massive internal injuries. Both boys had broken legs.

Marie Beckler, as shy as her son, did not want to talk about the accident, but said she was grateful to the people of the community who had done so much for her family, especially her son.

"They have been so kind," she said. "Everybody has."

The main meeting room at the Lake Mary Community Center was packed with people eating the meals which had been prepared by the Lake Mary Rotary Club.

"It's been like this all day," said Carol Foster, who organized the event. "People just coming and going. Everyone wants to do their part."

Foster said that more than 400 tickets for the barbecue had been sold in advance and that several hundred more had been sold at the door. DeLoach's Meat Market gave the organizers a deep discount on the chickens to be barbecued and also cleaned and split them.

LAKE MARY — Jeremy Millhouse, 11, was killed in a run-away trailer collision at a school bus stop in Lake Mary on Oct. 9. The accident is still under investigation.

As of Friday, no charges had been filed against the driver of the pickup truck pulling the trailer. The trailer had left its hitch and collided with the youth and his companions, who were waiting for a Lakeview Middle school bus at the corner of Lake Como Drive.

During Thursday night's Lake Mary City Commission meeting, Commissioner A.R. "Doc" Jore, suggested a remembrance.

"Our major sports complex is nearing completion," he said, "and while the entire complex will probably be given a name eventually, I would like to suggest that one of the softball fields be named in honor of Jeremy."

Students with guns nabbed

By VICKI DeBORMIER

LAKE MARY — It isn't problems on campus that motivated four students at Lake Mary High School to arm themselves this past week, principal Don Smith said.

Regardless of why they had them in their possession, it is a felony to have them on campus so the teens were arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies.

The weapons, including a loaded .357 Magnum, were going to be used by the boys in an after-school, off-campus fight, Smith said.

A 15-year old boy was arrested on Thursday after the .357 Magnum was found in his locker.

"We had the cooperation of several students and the school resource officer," Smith explained "and we had reason to believe the gun was in the locker."

Smith said lockers are not routinely searched.

According to George Proechel, spokesman for the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, the teen was charged with possession of a firearm on campus.

The next day, deputies, again acting on a tip from students and the school resource officer, arrested three more students.

A 14-year old freshman was found to have a .25 caliber automatic weapon in his possession. A 15-year old sophomore was carrying a .22 caliber revolver.

They were arrested on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and possession of a firearm on campus.

A 16-year old sophomore was also charged with possession of a firearm on campus after he brought the .22 caliber gun to the other student.

"The students have all been suspended from school." See Guns, Page 5A

Questions jog the memories

It happens everytime. Mornin' folks. I get a call from someone with a question. I can usually find the answer. But it always seems to jog my memory about a related incident. The following is an example:

I got a call from a fellow I don't even know. He said he could remember the University of Georgia having a couple of All-American backs who made everybody's All-American teams.

I had the answer: One was Frankie Sinkwich and the other was Charlie Trippi. Charlie's final year with the Bulldogs was 1946. Georgia came to Jacksonville to meet the Florida Gators. Somehow I came into four tickets and arranged a party consisting of E.G. Kilpatrick of the Florida State Bank, F.D. Scott and George Wells to join me in going to Jacksonville for the game.

Although completely outclassed, the Gators held their own for most of the first half. But Trippi caught fire and the "Dogs" during the second half made lunchmeat out of the Gators.

During one possession in the third quarter it looked like the Gators might rack up a touchdown. Florida fans finally had something to cheer about. At that happy moment Wells turned to me, grabbed my arm and with his other hand, pointed to the sky. I looked up and there was a flight of ducks heading south for the winter. George got a bigger kick out of seeing those ducks than he did a possible Gator touchdown. Watching a gridiron great like Trippi couldn't hold a candle to seeing those fowl winging their way southward.

George died in 1991 at 96 years of age. I doubt if he ever went to another football game but I'll wager he went hunting and fishing a thousand times after that Georgia-Florida affair.

Commissioners review two new county laws

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioners will once again take up a controversial proposal for a new noise ordinance Monday in their review of two new county laws.

Commissioners will also review a "deershining" ordinance proposed by Sheriff Don Eslinger which would make it unlawful to shine powerful lights into wooded areas at night or carry a flashlight with a hunting weapon.

If commissioners give the go-ahead on the two ordinances, a public hearing will be set to consider their adoption.

The proposed noise ordinance raised the ire of airboaters in September during an adoption hearing. About 30 airboat enthusiasts protested the proposal which would have prohibited the loud vessels from Seminole County waters between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. Violators of the proposal would face a fine of up to $500 and a jail stay of up to 60 days.

The restriction had been suggested by commissioner Jennifer Kelley in an effort to curb what Lake Harney waterfront residents have said is a late-night nuisance. Airboaters roar up to the shoreline and shine bright lights into their windows, they say. Airboaters said the practice was simply a part of "gigging" for frogs.

Commissioners wrestled with several options Sept. 8, including a 500-foot "No airboat" zone in front on homes supported by some residents and airboaters alike. They finally voted to delay the hearing to give residents and airboaters a chance to reach a compromise.

Commissioners will also consider a deershining ordinance in an effort to close a state loophole in game poaching laws. The state prohibits the use of strong flashlights for night-time poaching on private property, but not public roadways.

Sheriff's range officials say poachers will shine lights from their vehicles, then shoot the deer frozen by the light. Violators face a maximum of $500 fines and 60-day jail terms under the proposal.

Chiles brings back tax reform

By GARY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

'Tax reform is a major, major issue on our agenda.'

-Gov. Lawton Chiles

Popular write-in candidates

ORLANDO — A popular write-in vote on Central Florida ballots was "none of the above."
Mickey Mouse got plenty of votes for president, as usual. Other contenders included Jesus Christ and John Wayne. And Bullwinkle got a vote for Orange County sheriff.
Some voters went so far as to choose running mates for their write-ins. "We had one with Michael Eisner for president and Norman Schwarzkopf as vice president," said a chuckling Connie Click, Ocala County elections operation manager. "And we always get Mickey Mouse."
Eisner is chairman of Walt Disney Co., and Schwarzkopf the popular commander of Desert Storm.
In Lake County, election officials said they received 50 illegitimate write-in candidates, including Housing Secretary Jack Kemp.
The write-ins aren't counted. Election officials view them as voter frustration with politicians.

Youngest commissioner elected

PORT ST. JOE, Fla. — An 18-year-old college freshman is believed to be the youngest person ever elected as a county commissioner in Florida, elections officials said.
Michael Hammond of White City unseated incumbent James B. "Ed" Cressmer in the Democratic primary runoff Oct. 1 and then defeated independent William S. Quarles by 280 votes — 522 to 533 — Tuesday to win a seat on the Gulf County Commission.
"I've always been politically active," Hammond said Friday, acknowledging he has further aspirations.
Hammond declared himself a candidate in April, a month before graduating from Faith Christian School in this Florida Panhandle city. He is majoring in history at Gulf Coast Community College in Panama City and plans to study law at Florida State University.

HRS employees fired

TALLAHASSEE — Two state employees under investigation for their role in the purchase of a troubled $105 million computer system have been removed from their jobs.
Health and Rehabilitative Services Secretary Bob Williams said he fired Tom Johnson, assistant deputy secretary for management systems, and demanded the resignation of Judy Mitchell, project coordinator for the controversial computer system.
Williams removed the officials Thursday, three days after he spent several hours testifying before Assistant State Attorney Tony O'Rourke of Tallahassee, he said. The Orlando Sentinel.
Quarles is looking into allegations that HRS officials inappropriately favored IBM when they purchased an array of expensive computer equipment.

Employees claim discrimination

ORLANDO — Banquet servers over age 40 were denied work at lucrative functions such as evening banquets at the Buena Vista Palace hotel, according to witnesses at a federal age-discrimination trial.
Older workers were told they did not project the "Disney image," Catherine Oubre testified in the class-action suit against the hotel, which is on property leased by the Walt Disney Co.
Lawyers for the hotel attacked her testimony and suggested she relayed work and initially expressed a preference for younger workers.
Investigation filed Jan. 11, 1989, in the federal court in Orlando. Plaintiff, Catherine Oubre, and her co-workers, including Danie McKeary, Paul Gorman and Edna Valdez, banquet department supervisory personnel.
The trial is expected to take several weeks.

Teens charged in attack on girl

FORT LAUDERDALE — Eight teens were charged in the attack on an 11-year-old girl which occurred on a school bus, police said.
Two boys, aged 13 and 14, were charged Friday with sexual battery after they told police they ripped off the girl's underpants during the Oct. 26 assault and molested her, said Fort Lauderdale Police spokesman Ot Cefin.
Three boys and two girls were also charged with simple battery.
Police said the five stopped, pushed and hit the girl during the bus trip home. All are students at Richards Middle School.
A 15-year-old Fort Lauderdale High School student who boarded the bus through the emergency exit also joined in the attack and was charged with battery and burglary, police said.
The girl suffered facial bruising in the assault.
Cefin said the eight students were not being held in custody and were not arrested.

From Associated Press reports

TALLAHASSEE — Even if a Democrat manages to become president of the Florida Senate, Gov. Lawton Chiles figures to have a rough time persuading senators to approve a tax reform package he is promising for the 1993 session.
Chiles, who failed to obtain passage last year of a $2.5 billion proposal to close loopholes and tax more businesses, is already talking about bringing something similar before the Legislature again.
"Tax reform is a major, major issue on our agenda," the governor said this week. "Nobody wants to be taxed. Everybody wants to have fair taxes. We're going to be working hard to try to provide fairer taxes."
Last time, with Democrats holding a slender 21-19 edge in the Senate, Republicans led by Minority Leader Ander Crenshaw of Jacksonville and Sen. Richard Langley of Clermont blocked most of Chiles' initiatives.
Tuesday's elections resulted in a 20-20 tie in the Senate. Either Crenshaw or Sen. Pat Thomas, D-Quincy, will be the president.

depending on which one is able to persuade members of the other party to switch.

Florida has a chronic problem with astronomical growth in the demand for services and a slow-to-respond tax system to pay for them. An income tax is barred by the state Constitution, leaving business and services taxes as the only real reform alternatives.

"There aren't a whole lot of options," said David Coburn, the governor's budget director.

Chiles was heartened by the defeat of the highly partisan Langley and encouraged by the election of 19 new senators.

"The good news is, it's going to be a kinder, gentler Senate with some of the changes that were made," he said. "We think a lot of programs we're talking about should not be partisan. They were blocked by people that were just opposing change and everything last time."

So far, both Thomas and Crenshaw say the Senate should be less confrontational, particularly with the contentious issue of redistricting out of the way.

"That's over. The desire we all have is to get the leadership issue behind us and get on with it," Thomas said. "It's a strong two-party state, but that doesn't mean we have to go with a hammer toward each other. I think we'll find consensus and move forward."

Crenshaw, who's eyeing a run for governor in 1994, said he would work with Chiles if he becomes president of the Senate, but would only go so far on taxes.

"We've got to be realistic and understand there are some basic philosophical differences," he said. "I fully expect the Senate to come together. I think I can work with Governor Chiles."

The House, particularly with former Chiles U.S. Senate aide Bolley "Bo" Johnson as speaker, is more likely to march to the same tune as the governor. Johnson acknowledged this week it the Senate leaves much of the budget work to the House.

Congress now a new generation

By BILL KASSON
Associated Press Writer

Florida is sending a new generation to Congress that should feel right at home with a baby boom administration.

The 10 new representatives elected in Florida last week average 45.8 years in age. President-elect Clinton is 46. Vice President-elect Al Gore is 44.

Only two of the new Florida members are over 50. They will lower the average age of Florida's 23-member U.S. House delegation by eight years from 60 to 52.

"Of the people that I know, it is a very, very bright, hard-working group," said state Rep. Peter Deutsch, 35, the youngest of the Florida freshmen and the delegation.

Deutsch, D-Lauderhill, got to know most of his new colleagues in the Florida Legislature. He is one of seven who served there.

Only one of the newcomers has not held public office before.

"That's the best combination in many ways — both young enough but also with a lot of experience," Deutsch said. One thing all 10 have in common is that they didn't have to beat an incumbent to get elected. Each ran for one of four seats added through reapportionment or six left vacant by the retirement of veteran congressmen.

Although similar in many respects the Florida freshmen are diverse in others. Half are Republicans and half Democrats. Four are women, three black and one Hispanic. Five are lawyers and three are educators. They come from almost every part of the state except the Panhandle.

Four newcomers were born in Florida. That compares to five Florida natives among the 13 incumbents re-elected. None of the six incumbents who retired had been born in Florida.

Deutsch is one of three under-40 freshmen.

State health care summit starts Monday in Orlando

By JENNIFER HALLGREN
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — The search for solutions to Florida's $30 billion health care system has been elusive, despite state lawmakers' efforts at reform. There's just so much turf to protect.
Hospital administrators, doctors, insurance executives, business leaders and consumer advocates will come face to face this week to talk health care reform.
Meeting organizers are hoping it won't get messy.
"The vision have been very good so far," Gov. Lawton Chiles said Friday when he briefed reporters about the two-day meeting scheduled to start Monday in Orlando. "We're expecting big things to come from our summit."
Although the Legislature in recent years has passed bills fixing parts of the system, a comprehensive solution has been elusive.
Government hasn't progressed far beyond pie charts and graphs, Chiles said. Some 2.5 million of Florida's residents — most of them workers, their spouses and children — can't afford private insurance and don't qualify for government programs.
But the state passed a law last spring that sets a 1995 deadline for providing health care to all Floridians and slowing down the rate of health care inflation, which approaches 8 percent nationally.
"We all know we've got to do something," the governor said. "We've put the gun at our head."

And he added that a Clinton administration in Washington means health care reform will move to the top of the list of national priorities, a point also made by Florida's incoming House Speaker Bolley "Bo" Johnson.
"People involved in health care can no longer sit back and think they can kill an idea they don't agree with," the Milton Democrat said Friday. "They're going to have to be involved in offering solutions. It's bigger than the industry. It's something the nation is saying is going to have to be dealt with."
In addition to setting deadlines for access and cost containment, the new Florida law created the Agency for Health Care Administration and gave it until December 1993 to produce a

Retail theft charged

Donna Jean Evans, 60, 900 Plaza, Apt. 117, Atlantic Beach, Fla. was charged with retail theft when she was arrested by Sanford Police on Thursday.

Police said that she left the Kmart on Orlando Drive in Sanford with two videotapes that she did not pay for. The tapes, Michael Jordan Playground and Batman Returns, were valued at about $40.

Police said she had been arrested approximately two weeks ago on retail theft charges.

She was taken to the JEP and held on $100 bond.

Armed robbery charged

Chris Hamilton, 18, 45 Lake Monroe Terrace, Sanford, was charged with armed robbery and use of a fire arm during a felony when he was arrested by Sanford Police on Friday.

Police said that Brenda Earl was walking home in the area of 3rd and Poplar when a man, later identified as Hamilton approached her and demanded her money.

Police said he hit her over the eye causing a cut that required stitches.

Hamilton was transported to the JEP and held on $4,500 bond.

Shaving kit leads to arrest

Roy Alan Olson, 25, 2715-B Country Club Rd., Sanford, was charged with retail theft when he was arrested on Thursday.

Police said he placed a shaving kit in his pants and attempted to leave the Wal-Mart on Orlando Drive without paying for it.

He was taken to the JEP and held on $100 bond.

Couple arrested after dispute

Denise Ann Humke, 34, and Michael Edward Clarity, 34, both of 112 Autumn Dr., were arrested by Seminole County Deputies on Thursday. He was charged with domestic violence and she was charged with aggravated assault.

Deputies said they had been arguing because she had run into the garage door with the car.

Deputies said she had a bloody lip, nose and eye. They said he had cuts on his face, chest and his right thigh.

Deputies said that during the argument, he punched her in the face and she cut him with a kitchen knife.

She was taken to the JEP and held on $4,000 bond, he was held on $2,500 bond.

Warrant arrests made

• Arthur Eugene Wells, 36, 911 S. Park Ave., Sanford was charged in connection with an Orange County warrant for failing to appear in court on retail theft charges when he was arrested by Sanford Police on Thursday. He was held on $800 bond.

• William Eric Cameron, 24, 1021 West First St., Sanford, was charged in connection with six warrants for obtaining property with worthless checks when he was arrested by Seminole County Sheriff's Deputies on Thursday.

• Andre Antoni Nelson, 30, 90 Hidden Lake Dr., Sanford, was charged in connection with a warrant for obtaining property with a worthless check. He was held without bond.

Incidents reported to the police:

• A lawnmower and a power drill, valued at $430, were reported taken from the garage of a Goldboro residence in the 2900 block of West Airport Boulevard sometime between 8 p.m. Tuesday and 6:30 a.m. Wednesday.

• Stereo equipment valued at nearly $3,300 was reported taken a Rolling Hills residence in the 1100 block of Alberta Street sometime Wednesday between 3:30 p.m. and 5:40 a.m.

• Two watches were reported taken from a Sanford residence in the 100 block of Meadow Boulevard sometime between 5:30 p.m. on Oct. 26 and 6:28 p.m. Wednesday.

• Four wheel covers were reported taken from a Cadillac parked at a Sanford residence in the 600 block of South Locust Avenue sometime between 9 p.m. Saturday and 5:50 a.m. Wednesday.

• The New Salem Church parsonage, 1019 Oleander Ave., Sanford, was reported burglarized sometime between 8 a.m. Oct. 27 and 7:45 a.m. Wednesday. Nothing was taken, although two kitchen cabinets had been moved, according to reports.

Judgment against city commissioner

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The First Union Bank obtained a summary judgment of $90,004 against Sanford City Commissioner Lon Howell Friday after the bank claimed he had defaulted on loans.

Howell, who was not at the Friday hearing, acknowledged financial difficulties but said the foreclosed property at 813 Magnolia Avenue was not his residence so would not affect his standing as a city commissioner. Commissioners must reside in the city to qualify to run for office.

Todd Pittenger, the attorney for First Union, said Howell had defaulted on the loans and had not made a payment to the bank since March.

The property will now be sold on the Seminole County Courthouse steps on Dec. 15.

"A foreclosure is basically against the property, it's not really against the person," Pittenger said, after the hearing was over.

Typically, in these cases, the bank transfers the property to its real estate division for resale.

"Banks are not interested in holding properties," the Orlando attorney said.

Howell said he purchased

Lon Howell

the property, which he described as being a crack house at one time, as an investment for $20,000. He planned to renovate the residence. However, Howell said he experienced financial problems during the renovations which included some people who "were ripping me off."

"After all of this happened, I became unemployed and put the house on the market but, with the economic times, I couldn't sell the house," he said.

"It's not anything I've tried to hide. It hasn't affected my work on the city commission. Everyday people are foreclosed upon. They say we're in a recession but, when it happens to you, you're in a depression."

Recreation program at gymnastics center

By MICK PFEPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — City recreation programs have been held at the Sanford Gymnastics Association building since last week, after the city was unable to reach a financial agreement to continue using the Salvation Army gym.

Recently, the City was able to obtain use of the Gymnastics Assn. building at 601 E. 25th Place, at a cost of $1,000 per month. The six-month lease signed by the city began Nov. 1.

The cost of the facility will be paid for by recreation fees, without the need for any money to be spent from the city budget.

Parks and Recreation Director Mike Kirby said, "This new facility won't change any of the recreation programs we have, and we will be able to continue having an indoor facility which the city needs during the heat of summer, cold of winter, and rain showers."

During the school year, the city will use the facilities during weekdays from 2:30 p.m. until 10 p.m., with the exception of Wednesdays, when the time will be 1:30 until 10 p.m.

During the summertime, the city will have control over the building from 7:30 a.m. until 10 p.m. each day.

The facility will be closed on Saturdays and Sundays.

"We'll be able to continue all of the after school and other recreation programs we have had at the Salvation Army with the exception of basketball," Kirby said.

He explained, "We won't have to start basketball programs until the first of the year, and by that time, we may be able to work out some agreement with schools, or maybe the Crooms School of Choice."

"We have only gone into this on a six month trial basis," Kirby commented. "By the time we have reached that point, we'll know more about how it is working out, and if there are no problems, we could look into extending the agreement beyond that time."

Woman says deputy seduced her, charges against her dropped

By The Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE — Federal prosecutors have dropped drug and weapons charges against a woman who said a deputy seduced her and led her to buy cocaine.

The defendant, Rosemary Little, 35, and Broward Sheriff's Office deputy Peter Stephens were involved in a sting operation that itself is now the target of various probes, according to her attorney.

Chief U.S. District Judge Norman Roettger agreed to drop all three counts against her after a hearing Thursday.

"I think he dismissed the indictment because all the officers involved in this case are under investigation, not only by the Broward Sheriff's Office, but the U.S. Attorney's Office," said Little's attorney, Ed Malavenda.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Terrence Thompson declined to say in court, or by telephone later, why he asked that charges be dropped against Little. Thompson once described Little in court documents as a "pistol-packing drug dealer."

"I felt it coming," said Little, of North Miami. "It's done a lot of damage to my life, my marriage, my state of mind. My reputation has been scandalized."

Little's was the last pending court case in Operation Trade Winds, a controversial sting operation in which undercover deputies allowed young thieves to repeatedly commit crimes — some at gunpoint.

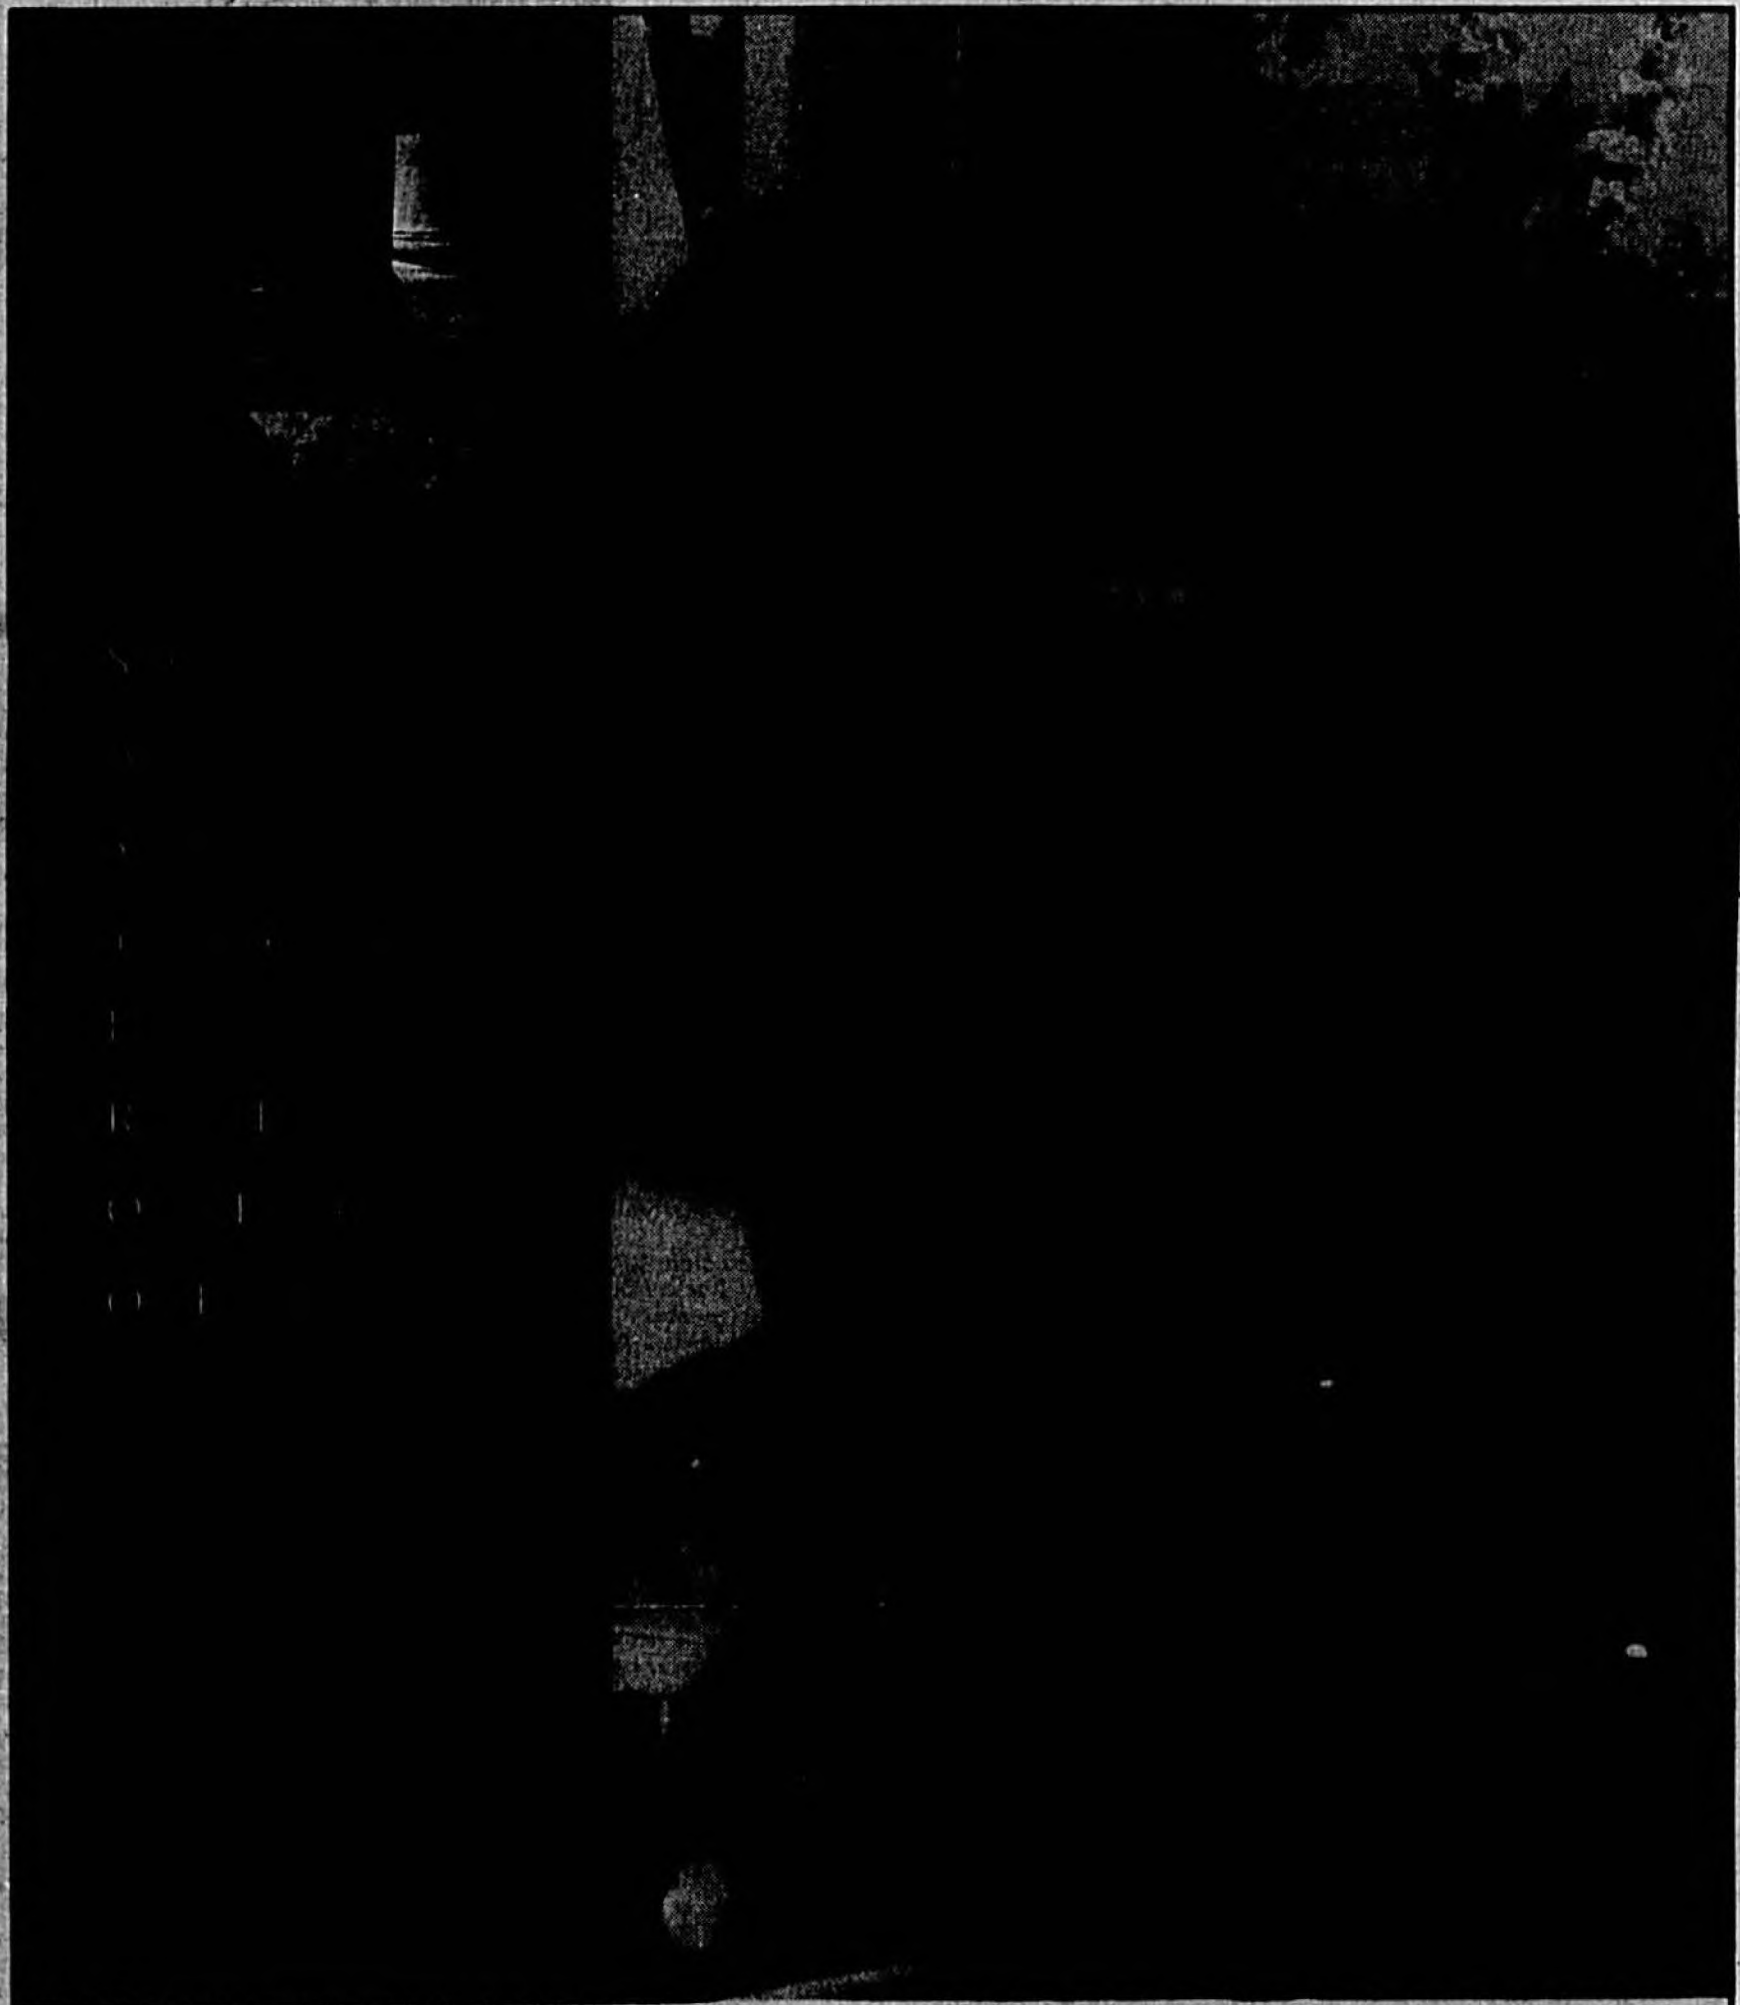

Operation Trade Winds and a subsequent sting called Operation Second Wind are part of a lengthy, ongoing federal investigation of the sheriff's office.

Federal officials became interested after Sgt. Ralph Capone showed deception when asked during a polygraph test whether he or others in his unit had kept cash or goods obtained in the stings.

The sheriff's internal affairs unit, also is investigating the officers who participated in the two stings.

Little was arrested on two cocaine-trafficking charges and one weapons charge in July 1990 after she and another woman allegedly tried to buy 10 kilograms of cocaine from Capone and Stephens, another deputy involved in the stings.

Little contended she was entrapped by Stephens, with whom she said she had a nine-month affair at the time of her arrest. Stephens denied having an affair with Little.

Unsnarling Lake Mary Boulevard

Lake Mary Boulevard from Country Club Road to I-4 is a mess. Work on the widening project is stopped, and during rush hours, many of the cars on the boulevard are stopped as well.

Efforts to get the work back underway however, have not stopped. They are continuing, and a resumption of the project is expected by early in January.

Seminole County officials still estimate the work will be completed by next June, which was the original deadline when work began. Had the prime contractor, Mahoney Construction, not pulled out of the job, work would still be going on, and traffic would probably be as big a problem as it is now.

Though many believe nothing is being done, getting agreements approved, transferring responsibilities to the bonding company, and working toward obtaining a new contractor cannot be construed as "nothing".

The paperwork between the county and the bonding agent takes time and requires legal caution. It must be done properly to allow bids to be taken in the search for a new prime contractor.

The City of Lake Mary, operating on a separate project, is dealing with a different bonding company, protecting the city in the undergrounding of power lines along the boulevard. The project is separate from the road widening, but was also placed in the hands of Mahoney, to be accomplished at the same time as the widening.

Suppl. info: Although the Lake Mary City Council has approved the widening of Lake Mary Blvd. from Country Club Rd. to I-4, the project is still in the hands of Mahoney Construction Co. St. Paul Bendure, to sign for new contract bids for the widening. The city is expected to end up saving $100,000 through a lower bid that has been obtained.

Tuesday, County Manager Ron Rabun will present a request to the County Commission to approve releasing of over a half million dollars that has been held up since Mahoney dropped the project. The money will go to the bonding agent to pay sub-contractors for work they have already completed, but have not received reimbursement. Mahoney should have done that, but it was never accomplished.

Meanwhile, in Lake Mary, merchants and business people along the construction damaged boulevard have been holding meetings to urge the county to take more rapid action in getting work re-started.

Rabun has asked the merchants to submit, in writing, a report on any serious construction problems they have, so county maintenance crews can attempt to ease traffic, access or safety problems.

Only a few letters have been submitted. We agree that it is important to get the widening project back underway. We also believe however, that a bit of caution to ensure everything is legal and in the best interests of all, is just as important.

The Lake Mary merchants have a right to be concerned. The county has a right to be cautious. But the project is not at a standstill. On paper, at least, the Lake Mary Boulevard widening is indeed underway.

The role of school psychologist

Governor Lawton Chiles proclaimed Nov. 4-8, 1992 School Psychologist Day in Florida. The proclamation recognized the role of school psychologists in facilitating positive educational and social-emotional development of all students. "For more than 30 years the school psychologists of Florida have provided our public schools with comprehensive psychological services: such as consultation with parents and school personnel; development intervention programs for individuals and groups; psycho-educational assessment; program development and research."

Central Florida's Altamonte Springs Hilton and Towers was the site of the Florida Association of School Psychologists (FASP) Annual Conference.

Wednesday's general session featured a keynote address by Kathy Durbin, president of the National Association of School Psychologists (NASP). A welcome from Seminole County's superintendent of schools was delayed because he wasn't present at the designated time.

Kathy Durbin charted a course for school psychologists as we all move toward the 21st century. Themes expressed were: Pro active involvement in system wide educational restructuring; participation in comprehensive school improvement plans; incorporating conflict resolution into the curriculum, creating preventative and intervention mental health programs, participating in the pre-referral process.

SEMINOLE COUNTY

developing a holistic look at children's needs.

Durbin stressed the fact that psychologists should have professional autonomy to select appropriate test instruments for each child based on each child's individual needs. Psychologists in Seminole County are not extended professional autonomy and must follow a prescribed list of test instruments whether they are appropriate or not. School psychologists in Seminole County are not even permitted to interpret their test results or make recommendations. Instead they are required to complete a formatted psychological report that does not permit individualization of test results.

School psychologists are mental health professionals particularly trained to address children's psycho-social needs and should not be administratively placed in a straight jacket. Each child is a unique individual and should be treated accordingly. Generalizing psychological services is a disservice.

During these stressful times the goal of all school staff members should be to utilize the expertise of all employees fully to create a school environment that is rich with preventative and intervention programs and that link assessment practices to intervention.

Multiple workshops were on the conference agenda. Workshops were: A Classroom and Curriculum-Based Evaluation System for Assessing LEP students; Arena Assessment; Transdisciplinary Approach to PL90-457; The Time-Management Strategy; A Six Week Curriculum For 9th Grade Learning Strategies; Developing Responsible Behavior in Schools; Enhancing the Affective Development of Pre-K Children; Sexual Victimization: Why Children Won't Disclose; Strategies for working with ADHD students. There were many more workshops to interest school psychologists.

Workshops, seminars, symposiums are all utilized by mental health professionals to sharpen and update their skills as they strive to provide effective, individualized services to children. Psychologists are the cornerstone of the school system's health programs.

It's time. Turn the music up

BOSTON — It was just midnight by the time Bill Clinton and Al Gore arrived. The stated and unspoken goal of the final concert of a grueling national tour.

They were puffing around the eyes, and reedy around the vocal chords. But if, as Paul Simon once wrote, every generation throws a hero on the pop charts, this was their moment. The baby boomers' last tour was, finally, headed for Pennsylvania Avenue.

In the din of victory celebration in front of the Old State House in Little Rock, the music played the national message of this campaign. "Don't Stop Thinkin' About Tomorrow." The two men in their dark suits and white shirts, requisite presidential attire, reached down into the crowd against the Red refrain: "Yesterday's gone, yesterday's gone."

At that hour and in that place, it was possible to see and hear our era ending and another beginning.

At the end of this exhausting election, George Bush, a 69-year-old World War II veteran, the last Cold War president, has been replaced by Bill Clinton, a 46-year-old baby boomer and veteran of the war over the war in Vietnam. When all is said and counted, we have witnessed the most striking generational change since the 70-year-old Dwight David Eisenhower was replaced by the 43-year-old John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

But what a different change it is this time. At JFK's inaugural, the incumbent president issued the clearest and most direct declaration of his generation's ascendancy. "Let the word go forth from this time and place," he said, "to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans...."

In that same sentence, JFK offered up the clear, unadorned description of the man who had just taken power. They were, he said, "born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by a hard and bitter peace, proud of our ancient heritage."

Where could Bill Clinton find such a clear description for the transition of his generation? There are the baby boomers who have gone through the population like the proverbial pig through the python. Until now, demography is all they've had in common.

Everything that united the World War II generation, divided the baby boom generation. George Bush's war was "the good war." Their generation knew what was expected of men and women. They shared a single attitude toward authority — respect. They even agree on their goals — careers and families.

But their children disagreed, and often bitterly, with each other. They disagreed about war, about the roles of men and women, about sex, drugs, rock 'n' roll. They disagreed about being military or questioning it.

As the years went by and the predictions of boomer victories went sour, it seemed that the baby boom generation had trouble coming into power because they couldn't resolve their own deep divisions. In a tough and grueling way, this campaign did some of the work of resolution. In many ways this campaign was about generational change.

Bill Clinton's life showed all the fault lines of the baby boom years. Indeed he often had a foot on each side of the great divide. He opposed the war in Vietnam, though he didn't head for Canada. He admitted trouble in his marriage, though he didn't get divorced. And he tried marijuana, but he didn't inhale.

His wife too worked this fault line. She kept her name and then took his. She earned four times his salary and delivered his message. She wrote briefs and baked cookies.

The Last Warrior of the Cold War generation let the bank that he could divide and conquer the baby boom generation one more time. The Bush campaign followed hard feelings about the Vietnam War, got national against non-traditional families, working against non-working mothers.

Some of it backfired. Much of it just didn't work. It sounded like ancient history. The stuff of the Cold War.

It may be that this generation has been through enough, seen enough, to make peace with itself. To put aside the conflicts of its wonder years for its middle years.

It may be Bill Clinton's place in the intergenerational wars that fuels his real passion to mediate conflicts, to find a center that holds. As he said again to the crowd, "We need a new spirit of community, a sense that we're all in this together."

One thing we do know. The bumper crop of postwar children were Young in capital letters. They were often less eager to take power than to challenge it. They didn't trust anybody over 40. As a young boy I learned addition, got off marriage, postponed parenthood. And delayed believing they could run the country.

Now, guess what. There's a baby boomer going to the White House. Turn the music up. It's time.

Now, guess what. There's a baby boomer going to the White House.

Senate POW probe edges toward end

WASHINGTON — The Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs may have saved the biggest fireworks for the finale of its year-long investigation in hearings set for next month: exposing the profiteers accused of preying on the hope and grief of POW families.

But the probe into these groups began an even more intriguing political question: Why did the Justice Department neglect to thoroughly investigate these cases long ago?

Five years ago, Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., and others first wrote then Attorney General Edwin Meese III requesting an investigation into reportedly fraudulent POW activist groups. They attached a six-page Defense Intelligence Agency report detailing specific examples of misinformation in their fund-raising pitches.

Justice opened an investigation, then passed on the allegations of mail fraud to the Postal Service, where the probe eventually died. Postal Service officials point to the inherent difficulties in proving false claims about POWs. However, some critics believe that politics may have also colored the probe.

The Reagan administration, which in 1983 deemed the return of POWs "the highest national priority," didn't stand to gain by launching what might be perceived as a witch hunt into the ranks of politically potent veterans and conservatives echoing Rambo theories.

While provably fraudulent claims were rare, Operation Rescue, a California-based POW/MIA charity headed by retired Air Force Col. Jack Bailey, was featured prominently in the 1987 DIA report for penning heart-rending appeals based on what the DIA branded "demonstrably false claims."

Prior to October 1986, Operation Rescue issued letters asking for up to $40,000 a month to operate the 275-ton Akuna III, a ship Bailey said was on the high seas rescuing Vietnamese boat people — who allegedly provided him intelligence on POW whereabouts.

"In truth, the Akuna did not leave its mooring at Songkhla, Thailand, for at least three years and according to the harbormaster there, it was in a state of total disrepair," the DIA report charged. Bailey calls the DIA report "a damn lie," and says his boat was out of port more than 195 days during this period.

In a March 1987 fund-raising pitch, Operation Rescue announced that Bailey discovered the remains of two U.S. helicopter crewmen. The Army, however, determined that the remains Bailey sought credit for returning were those of a single Southeast Asian individual.

The DIA was delivering these apparent smoking guns to Justice in 1987. But the referrals seemingly fell into a black hole. Bailey claims no fraud was found in his case. Postal Service officials say the alleged misinformation in Bailey's fund-raising pitches was "impossible to substantiate" and that he had stopped using the flyers by the time they got wind of them.

Records show that Operation Rescue's chief fund-raiser at this time was direct-mail specialist Bruce W. Eberle. Eberle served as the fund-raiser for Ronald Reagan's 1976 presidential bid, and other prominent conservative causes — including the 1984 re-election race of Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and independent efforts to raise money for the Nicaraguan contra. Operation Rescue's board of advisers in 1988 also boasted some prominent conservative congressmen.

Why did they neglect thoroughly investigating these cases long ago?

NASA panels caution on satellite rescues, repairs

By Barbara Stuenkel
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — NASA should continue to perform satellite rescues and repairs but only when the benefits outweigh the risks to the space shuttle and its astronauts, a task force said Friday.

Another panel formed by NASA concluded Friday that a protruding bolt prevented shuttle astronauts from fully unreeling a tethered satellite in August.

NASA Administrator Daniel Goldin established the satellite rescue task force soon after shuttle astronauts captured a stranded communications satellite in May. It took three spacewalks and, ultimately, an unprecedented three spacewalkers to catch the Intelsat satellite.

"The unique ability to accomplish satellite rescue and repair should not be forfeited," said task force chairman Eugene Covert, professor of aeronautics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. "But these missions pose inherent risks to the shuttle and should be undertaken only when the benefits outweigh the risks."

U.S. government customers should pay the cost of adding or deleting one mission from the shuttle manifest, estimated by NASA officials at about $45 million, the task force said. Commercial and foreign customers should pay that plus all costs of the mission, the group said.

The owner of the satellite rescued in May, the International Telecommunications Satellite Organization, or Intelsat, paid $63 million toward NASA's estimated $363 million cost of the mission. Intelsat also paid for the rocket motor that spacewalkers attached to the $157 million satellite to boost it into its proper orbit.

NASA currently is updating its pricing policy.

In its report, the task force also suggested that NASA put more emphasis on improving spacewalking tools. A 15-foot bar designed to snare the Intelsat satellite, for instance, failed to snap on and prompted the spacewalk.

The failed tethered satellite mission occurred three months after the Intelsat rescue. The crew of Atlantis abandoned the $379 million experiment because of snags in the electricity-generating cord linking the spaceship and Italian satellite.

The protruding, quarter-inch bolt caused the tether to jam at 587 feet and 840 feet, the farthest the satellite ever got from Atlantis. The cord was supposed to be unreeled to a distance of 12 1/4 miles.

NASA has yet to schedule a second tethered spacecraft mission.

College. I also told you about Mrs. Dean's unusual style of using a typewriter. I also mentioned the Dean couple's son — S. Bobo Dean II and printed his address.

My longtime friend, Dr. John Morgan, clipped the article and sent it to Bobo — a Washington lawyer. Young Dean penned a nice missive to me saying he remembered when I worked for The Herald. Young Dean also said he had considerable memorabilia related to The Herald, his father, Rolland, and his uncle, Gordon Dean who was the newspaper's business manager. At some date in the not too distant future Bobo wants to itemize them and donate the items to the General Sanford Library and Museum.

Young Dean said he was delighted to read about Martin Brahm and Bishop Henry Louthitt, both former rectors of Holy Cross Episcopal in Sanford during his childhood.

Then Bobo corrected me about a couple of items. I was always under the impression that Bobo's grandfather, S. Bobo Dean, once owned the Detroit Times as well as the Miami Metropolis. Young Bobo said that was not true. He said his grandfather started with a newspaper in West Palm Beach and later went to Miami and founded the Metropolis which he owned and edited from 1903 until 1923. He did not own the Detroit Times.

I also wrote that young Dean attended Exeter Academy as did his father, Rolland. But Bobo said his dad did not attend Exeter. His father, young Dean wrote, attended Miami Senior High for three years before his schooling was interrupted by World War I. When that conflict ended Rolland was allowed to enter Yale University. While there he did captain the Yale polo team.

If you folks stayed with the Chapter 11 "Lakegate" story recently completed in The Herald, you will recall Bobo's father played a very prominent role in bringing about the resignation of Forrest Lake as mayor of Sanford and his subsequent indictment, trial, conviction and imprisonment.

It was indeed a pleasure to hear from the fine young man I knew as the son of two people I dearly admired — Rolland and Nina Dean.

By the way, I don't think I've mentioned the fact that when the Deans sold The Herald Rolland and Mrs. Dean moved to Winter Park. Rolland became the executive editorial editor for The Orlando Sentinel. Also, from time to time he prepared and contributed articles about Sanford's pioneer families to the Sentinel's "Florida Magazine." In the mid 1970s Rolland did a feature article for the magazine about my grandfather, Nels Julius Stenstrom, who started this area's first dairy about 1873. My grandfather later became a celery farmer on Sanford's west side.

It was from Rolland's articles I got the idea for these "Way Back When" Sunday columns which you good folks have told me you enjoy so much.

By the time you folks are reading this I'll be in the Bay area — no, not Tampa, but San Francisco.

No, I'm not going out there to try and get the Giants to move to St. Petersburg. But if I found an opportunity I would.

Back in 1952 I was instrumental in organizing and establishing the California Baptist Foundation. This year the Foundation is observing its 40th anniversary. The organization has invited me to be its guest of honor at the annual meeting of the Southern Baptist General Convention of California.

school," said Smith. "They will be considered for expulsion at the next hearing before the school board."

The school board will meet on the issue on Nov. 17.

Smith said he was surprised by the incidents, which he said were unrelated. He maintains, also, that the guns were not brought to school to be used on campus.

"I was under the understanding that this was not an incident among our students," he said. "It was a misunderstanding between these students and other kids in the area. It was my understanding that they were to be used off campus."

Regardless, Smith said, the district and school handgun policy will be reviewed with the students next week.

He said he hopes that the arrests will send a message to the other students at Lake Mary. "We will not tolerate this kind of behavior," he said.

Fidel Castro government may survive short term

By The Associated Press

MIAMI — A Rand Corp. analyst said in a report for the Pentagon that Cuba could become "explosive" two to five years from now but Fidel Castro will remain in power at least until mid-1994, a newspaper reported Saturday.

"Cuba still retains a strong state" and most Cubans "still have a strong stake in the system," Ed Gonzalez wrote in the report obtained by The Miami Herald.

No intellectual or student movements appear poised to challenge the government and Castro remains a hero to Cubans who benefited from the revolution, especially its black and working-class majority, Gonzalez said.

They fear "the clock will be turned back by the white upper class" returning from exile, he said. Even Castro critics are frightened by the breakup of the former Soviet Union, Gonzalez said.

"In the eyes of many in Cuba, they feel they still have a genuine national government," he said.

But Gonzalez said the communist government eventually will fall prey to its own rigidity. Castro stood firm in the face of perestroika and glasnost and his government has adopted only meager political reforms during a time of economic collapse.

The day after Tuesday's election, Castro held out an olive branch to President-elect Bill Clinton.

McDonald's and Burger King raised doubts for the barbecue. All with the donation of 4500 each from Lathan Construction and associated firms that made the event possible, Foster said.

In addition to food, there were raffles, a silent auction and t-shirt sales, all for the benefit of the JAM (named for Jeremy Arcadio and Michael) trust fund that has been set up to aid the families.

Walt Disney World donated passes, golf games and other items to the cause.

The Timespan and Alaqua Country clubs offered golf packages.

"We had people from all over donated for this," Foster said. "It was not just companies, but lots of individuals as well."

Foster said that they hoped to raise between $4,000 and $5,000 on Saturday.

"I think we'll come very close," she said.

The Power To Make A Difference.

Sometimes a company's most valuable assets are those it gives away.

There are children in Nashville, Tennessee, who will now have the opportunity to attend day care.

There are families in Atlanta, Georgia, who are seeing positive things happen in their schools.

And there are entire neighborhoods in Dade County, Florida, that are finding the resources they need to rebuild after the storm.

In many different cities and in many different ways, there is one bank that is making a difference in the lives of the people it serves.

It is a bank that leads the nation in community reinvestment, with a $10 billion commitment to bring new money, new jobs and new hope to our cities.

It is a bank with the nation's first Child Care Center Development Loan Fund, bringing affordable day care to those who need it most.

And it is a bank that freely shares its most valuable asset — its people — who, as part of the NationsBank Education Initiative, bring the spirit of volunteerism to schools from Baltimore to Miami to El Paso.

It is no wonder that this bank, dedicated to making a difference in the neighborhoods of a nation, would today be called NationsBank.

Athlete doesn't plan to settle down soon

By VICKI BOBROWER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Donelda Smith retired a few years ago, but she didn't settle into her rocking chair with her knitting and hot tea.

"My children keep asking when we're going to settle down and relax," Smith, 57, said.

Smith and her husband Donald Sibigroth spend most of their time on the road traveling from one senior olympic event to another.

"We're always on the road," she said. "Sometimes we fly, but a lot of the time we drive. It gives us an excuse to see the country."

Smith, whose main event is the race walking, said that each year she hopes to add several events to her repertoire.

It's, for her, an exciting challenge to see what she can do and to try to increase her level of competence in each sport.

"Last year I was only entered in a couple of events," she said. "This year I tried eight."

She said that in addition to the race walking, she participated in tennis, bowling, cycling, golf, the pancake race, leisure walking and the dance contest.

"I did something every day," she said.

Smith describes participation in the games as "very addictive." She said that she doesn't smoke or drink. The Golden Age Games are her addiction.

A retired homebuilder, Smith said she has always been athletic so she has just continued to participate in sports after her retirement.

"It's a great way to stay in shape and make new friends," she said.

Smith said that the Sanford games are "very, very friendly," and she has made many new friends here in the two years that she has been coming here.

Smith said she and her husband have traveled to Biloxi, Miss., Dayton, Ohio, Huntington, West Va., Boulder, Co., Houston, Tex., Springfield, Ill. and here to Sanford this year.

"The best part about the games here is that the community is so supportive," she said. "It's not just the businesses, which are so supportive, but the people who just come out to watch."

Smith said that at most games, there are one or two big companies which sponsor the games, unlike Sanford where many organizations and companies which lend their support to the games.

"I think that's great," she said.

Seniors excel

Seniors participating in the Golden Age Games had a variety of events in which to excel. Above: Bernie Kleinschmidt, Annandale, Fla., hedges the javelin while (right) Ruth Beharler, Mt. Dora, and Shirley Mills, Sanford, play their hands at Contract Bridge.

Running is a way of life for her

By GEORGE BURGAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Running is not just an exercise or competition to Pepper Davis, 66, of Orlando. It has been a way of life.

"I was a hyper child and I enjoyed running. I'm 66 and I've been running every since I was four, they tell me," she said.

She started running in the rural lands of Pennsylvania where she grew up. But this week she is running in the Golden Age Games and hoping to qualify for national competition.

"Tuesday, I qualified for the nationals in the 5K run," she noted.

Davis runs in the longer events up to and including the half-marathon, a 13.1 mile race competitors must have stamina to face.

Her "professional" running includes races at the first Tangerine Bowl Classic in Orlando in 1977. An Orlando resident, she came to the state in 1947.

"Although my husband calls me a tourist. He's been here since 1935," she said.

Even among seniors, competition is stiff, particularly at the national level, she said. Although she won a gold medal in the 5K run at the national competition in St. Louis in 1987, she only won a bronze in similar competition at Syracuse and "missed the silver by less than two seconds. That shows you the level of competition at the games."

Although "Pepper" might seem like a good name for a runner, Davis said it sounded good when she was younger but she's not sure it fits a 66-year-old. "Although even my grandchildren call me Grandma Pepper."

Davis and other competitors Thursday at the Seminole High School said it was a perfect day for running, overcast and cool.

However, in looking at the track around the football field, the veteran runner noted, "The breeze is going to be stiff coming around that curve."

As some competitors ran the 100-yard dash, others threw the discus and still others began warming up for the long jump. One of the 100-yard dash competitors had the typical complaint of runners.

"I have done it two seconds faster," she said, when informed of her time.

Games

"There may be bigger ones," said Libby Dennison of Washington, D.C., "but there aren't any better ones. I come every year even if I don't compete."

Dennison did not enter a single event this year because of a sprained ankle, but she made a trip to Central Florida to visit her grandchildren in Ocala and Walt Disney World in Orlando. A stop in Sanford for the week was a "must" for her.

"I wouldn't miss the great action," she said.

Donelda Smith of St. Charles, Ill. said she travels across the country from Colorado to Florida to participate in senior olympic events.

"I haven't seen any games that are as nice as these," she said.

Lisa Jones, a member of the Golden Age Games executive committee and employee of the Sanford Recreation Department, said the games are a lot of hard work, but they are fun.

"I've had a great week," she said. "Everyone has had such a good time this year."

Madeline LaRue of Eustis said she had come out to the games this year to "check them out" and was impressed with what she saw.

"Next year I'll be old enough to participate and I'm very serious about the conditions under which I will compete. These games are run very professionally. I like that," she said.

Adams said that he was pleased with the number of participants that had come to Sanford this year, though he did not believe there had been a record number this year.

"We had quite a few sign up, but I think we can accommodate a few more next year," he laughed.

No quick response to trade sanctions

By EDITH M. LEDERER
Associated Press Writer

LONDON — The divided European Community has ruled out a quick response to Washington's punitive tariffs on $300 million worth of French wines and other exports. EC indecision serves to lessen chances a trade war will break out soon.

Dominique Strauss-Kahn, France's foreign trade minister, said Friday his government would not act for a month, but could demand retaliatory measures against the United States.

Washington announced Thursday that it would impose 200 percent tariffs on some European products — mainly French white wine — within 30 days if the EC refused to slash payments to farmers. Trade talks on the farm subsidy dispute broke down Tuesday in Chicago.

France, Europe's biggest farm producer, has opposed efforts to slash agriculture payments as deeply as demanded by the United States. Its farmers have protested any cuts, and the government is worried about the farm vote in legislative elections next March.

Britain, Germany, the Netherlands and others have pleaded with the French for a compromise.

"We have to do everything to avoid a trade war," Jacques Delors, the president of the 12-nation community's executive commission, said Friday as EC trade ministers began two days of talks at a country manor north of London.

But some question the EC president's commitment to resolving the dispute. Ray MacSharry, the EC's agriculture chief, stepped down this week as negotiator in the farm subsidy talks, complaining that Delors has interfered and held up a settlement with Washington.

Delors, who is said to be considering a run for the French presidency in 1995, on Friday vehemently denied suggestions he sabotaged the Chicago negotiations.

British Prime Minister John Major said in a statement after an emergency meeting with Delors that the two agreed the talks should resume "without delay."

The farm subsidy dispute is the main obstacle delaying a 105-nation accord on liberalizing world trade, known as the Uruguay Round of talks sponsored by the Geneva-based General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. GATT has called an emergency meeting next Tuesday.

For now, the dispute raises the possibility Americans will have to pay $50 for a bottle of wine from France — about three times what they're paying now. But a full-blown trade war between America and Europe, which which conduct $200 billion worth of two-way commerce annually, could threaten hundreds of thousands of jobs on both sides of the Atlantic.

In a phone conversation, Major and German Chancellor Helmut Kohl discussed means of prodig the French to modify their position.

"I hope that this is not the last word of the French government," German Economics Minister Juergen Moellemann told Channel 4. "You can't put pressure on France. You can try to convince, and that's what we do."

The EC appears ill-equipped to respond to the Bush administration campaign.

"The EC is facing a very serious crisis," said Yehuda Lukacs, professor at American University in Washington who monitors the EC.

"If there is going to be a trade war, because of a lack of unity inside the EC, there are going to be some very serious problems," he said. "You have to speak with one voice and that's not going to happen."

Washington says the farm subsidies keep prices for European farm goods unfairly low and rob American farmers of export sales. France says deeper cuts could drive many of its small farmers out of business.

A community official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, suggested that American farm goods might be targeted if the dispute was not defused. EC nations import $4 billion worth of U.S. soybeans, soymeal and corn gluten each year.

That could trigger a second round of penalty tariffs by Washington.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Officers may be charged in beating

DETROIT — The fatal beating of a motorist in an incident evoking the Rodney King case may result in criminal charges against the seven police officers involved, the police chief said.

Malice Wayne Green, 35, was beaten to death with a flashlight by two plainclothes officers who stopped his car on Detroit's west side. Chief Stanley Knox said Friday. The five other officers watched or took part, he said.

Criminal charges will be sought against some or all of them depending on the results of an internal investigation, Knox said. The seven have been suspended without pay.

Knox said he couldn't say whether race was a factor in the beating Thursday. Green, an unemployed father of two children and three stepchildren, was black. The seven officers, whom Knox did not identify, included blacks and whites.

Woman suing Magic not identified

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — A federal judge has refused to identify a woman who claims Magic Johnson infected her with the AIDS virus, saying the woman's right to privacy is more important than the public's right to know her name.

Johnson declined to answer questions about the lawsuit Friday at the Los Angeles Lakers' season opener against the Clippers in Los Angeles. But he added, "You know people are going to come out when there's money involved."

The woman sued Oct. 30 in federal court, claiming Johnson gave her the human immunodeficiency virus when they had sex in June 1990.

U.S. District Judge Richard Enlen said Friday the privacy rights of the woman and her 4-year-old daughter outweighed the public's right to know who she is.

Carpet factory raided, enslaved children freed

By BARBARA WALTON
Associated Press Writer

JOPA, India — In a small, dark hut, 9-year-old Lallan Chowdhary was nimbly operating a carpet loom, weaving, knotting and cutting the wool, as he did 15 hours a day, seven days a week.

The door burst open and police rushed in. Lallan crouched behind the other boys in terror, then fled.

"I called out Lallan's name twice before he saw me," his father said. "He thought the loom owner would kill him if he ran to me."

Wednesday's raid freed six boys, aged 8 to 15, from a childhood of slavery. Two were Bansari Chowdhary's sons.

Jopa is just one of many villages in India's carpet region in eastern Uttar Pradesh state.

Over the last eight years, similar raids have rescued more than 5,000 children from un-rewarded drudgery in village sweat shops, said Kailash Satyarthi, chairman of the South Asian Coalition on Child Servitude.

But during that time, tens of thousands more boys became bonded laborers in the carpet industry — kidnapped or sold into slavery for a few dollars by parents with more children than money.

Parents are sometimes paid up to $18 and are promised more — but never again hear from either children or employers.

If parents do trace a kidnapped child, loom owners intimidate them with threats of violence or imagined debts. They may demand up to $180 for child care, Satyarthi said.

Child labor laws are flouted. Apathetic or corrupt police and local politicians share in the profits of an industry that generates at least $350 million a year in exports.

Activists strive to arouse the public against child enslavement and for prosecution of offenders.

Satyarthi invited a foreign TV crew and local and foreign reporters to observe his latest raid in Jopa — a dozen mud houses set in fields of corn and mustard seed.

In nearby Nadini, owners were apparently tipped off and the children had vanished by the time raiders arrived. Looms stood idle in cramped rooms in a compound surrounded by a 10-foot-high wall topped with broken glass.

Three boys were brought in later from hiding in the fields. Madan Ram, a 7-year-old with thin, scabrous arms, looked bewildered and frightened as he told of his one year crouched at the loom.

"I missed my mother and cried for her, but there was nobody to listen," he said.

More than 1 million children under the age of 14 work up to 18 hours a day in carpet factories in South Asia. They are usually not paid, underfed, beaten mercilessly if they make mistakes or weave too slowly, Satyarthi said.

India's carpet region has 300,000 child weavers in 1,500 villages stretching more than 150 miles over one of India's poorest and most backward regions. At least 70 percent are bonded laborers.

Most of the children are Harijans, "untouchables" on the lowest rung of the caste system, and traditionally the poorest.

"Untouchability" is abolished and its practice in any form is punishable. But that is just the law.

"For slow weaving, I was often beaten on my back with a stick," said Charitra Chaudhary, 12, seized from his village in rural Bihar two years ago.

Saying thanks

Delores Lash and Tony Gonzalez, on the board of directors for the Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival of the Arts, gathered with other organizers to say thanks to friends and supporters of the festival at a cocktail party Thursday night. The event at the Country Club of Heathrow was also hosted by Chairman Joanne Lucas.

Police caught off-guard when voters pass curfew

By MITCH WIGGS
Associated Press Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio — Police officials say they were caught off-guard Election Day when voters approved a curfew for teen-agers. Now they have to figure out how to enforce the people's mandate.

"I didn't expect it to pass and, quite frankly, I wasn't prepared for it to pass," said Deputy Chief James Wiegand, head of police field operations.

The curfew takes effect Dec. 4. Police Chief Marti Felker said he would meet with city leaders to discuss how to make it work.

The referendum was passed by a margin of 55 percent to 45 percent in response to growing concerns about crime in this blue-collar city of 330,000. In the past two months, seven young people have been killed in drive-by shootings or robberies, and most suspects have been teen-agers.

The law bars children 11 years old and under from city streets between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. for children 11 to 15, the curfew applies from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. The curfew for 16- and 17-year-olds will be midnight to 5 a.m.

Clinton dwells on assembling economic team

By TERENCE HUNT
AP White House Correspondent

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — President-elect Clinton's transition planners are focusing quickly on building an economic policy team for a fast start on addressing the problem that was the top issue in his campaign.

"It's clear from the campaign that the economic issues are the pre-eminent ones," Warren Christopher, the newly named director of the transition team, said Friday. Nevertheless, he said Clinton would move swiftly to fill administration jobs in all areas.

Christopher, who was the No. 2 official at the State Department in the Carter administration, will oversee the day-to-day operations of the transition, while Vernon Jordan, a Washington attorney and former civil rights leader, will be chairman of the transition board.

Together, they will draft recommendations for selecting a Cabinet, building a White House staff and filling upwards of 3,000 government jobs.

"We'll proceed in a brisk, but nevertheless a conscientious and orderly, way," Christopher said.

He said the appointments would be made under "the most stringent set of ethics rules that have ever been promulgated for our country."

Nursing a raspy voice, Clinton remained out of sight at the governor's mansion, taking his first weekend off in months.

His 12-year-old daughter, Chelsea, stopped by his campaign headquarters and lugged away a box full of her belongings.

The headquarters was fast becoming deserted as many campaign aides scattered for home and some rest following Tuesday's election, harboring hopes they'll have a job in the new administration that takes power in 74 days.

"Everybody's a little exhausted," spokesman George Stephanopoulos said.

In Washington, the White House said President Bush's chief of staff, James A. Baker III, and his deputy, Robert Zoellick, would represent the administration in dealings with Clinton's transition team.

Christopher said he wanted to open lines of communication with the administration to "get the necessary information so there is no gap between our takeover of the government in January on the 20th and that it'll be able to proceed in an orderly fashion without losing any momentum."

Jordan, former president of the National Urban League, and Christopher, a Los Angeles lawyer, served on Clinton's vice presidential screening team, and also have served for the past month on Clinton's transition planning board.

Joining them on the transition board are the other members of the vice presidential panel: Mickey Kantor, who was campaign chairman; former San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros; former Vermont Gov. Madeleine Kunin; and longtime Clinton friend Thomas F. "Mac" McLarty, head of the Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co.

Moral Majority resurrected?

By The Associated Press

LYNCHBURG, Va. — The Rev. Jerry Falwell said he may resurrect the Moral Majority if President-elect Clinton turns out to be "the reincarnation of Jimmy Carter."

Falwell said he has had "a tremendous amount of contact" by mail and telephone from people urging him to revive the conservative organization he founded in 1979.

The Moral Majority took credit for registering millions of voters to help defeat Carter and put Ronald Reagan in the White House in the 1980 election. Falwell shut down the Moral Majority in 1989, saying it had reached its goals under the Reagan administration.

"No decision has been made," Falwell told the Roanoke Times & World-News for a story published Saturday. Organizing a new Moral Majority "would be a last resort," he said.

But "while I don't need anything else to do and I don't savor the idea, I might be forced" to reactivate the group, Falwell said. The political-action and lobbying organization once claimed millions of members and raised millions of dollars a year.

Falwell said he would watch carefully to see if Clinton extends abortion rights, supports homosexuals in military service and public office, dismantles the military or takes an anti-Israel stance.

Falwell has been preoccupied for several years with trying to salvage the crumbling finances of Liberty University, where he is the chancellor. He expects the restructuring of more than $70 million in debts at Liberty to be largely in place by the end of the year.

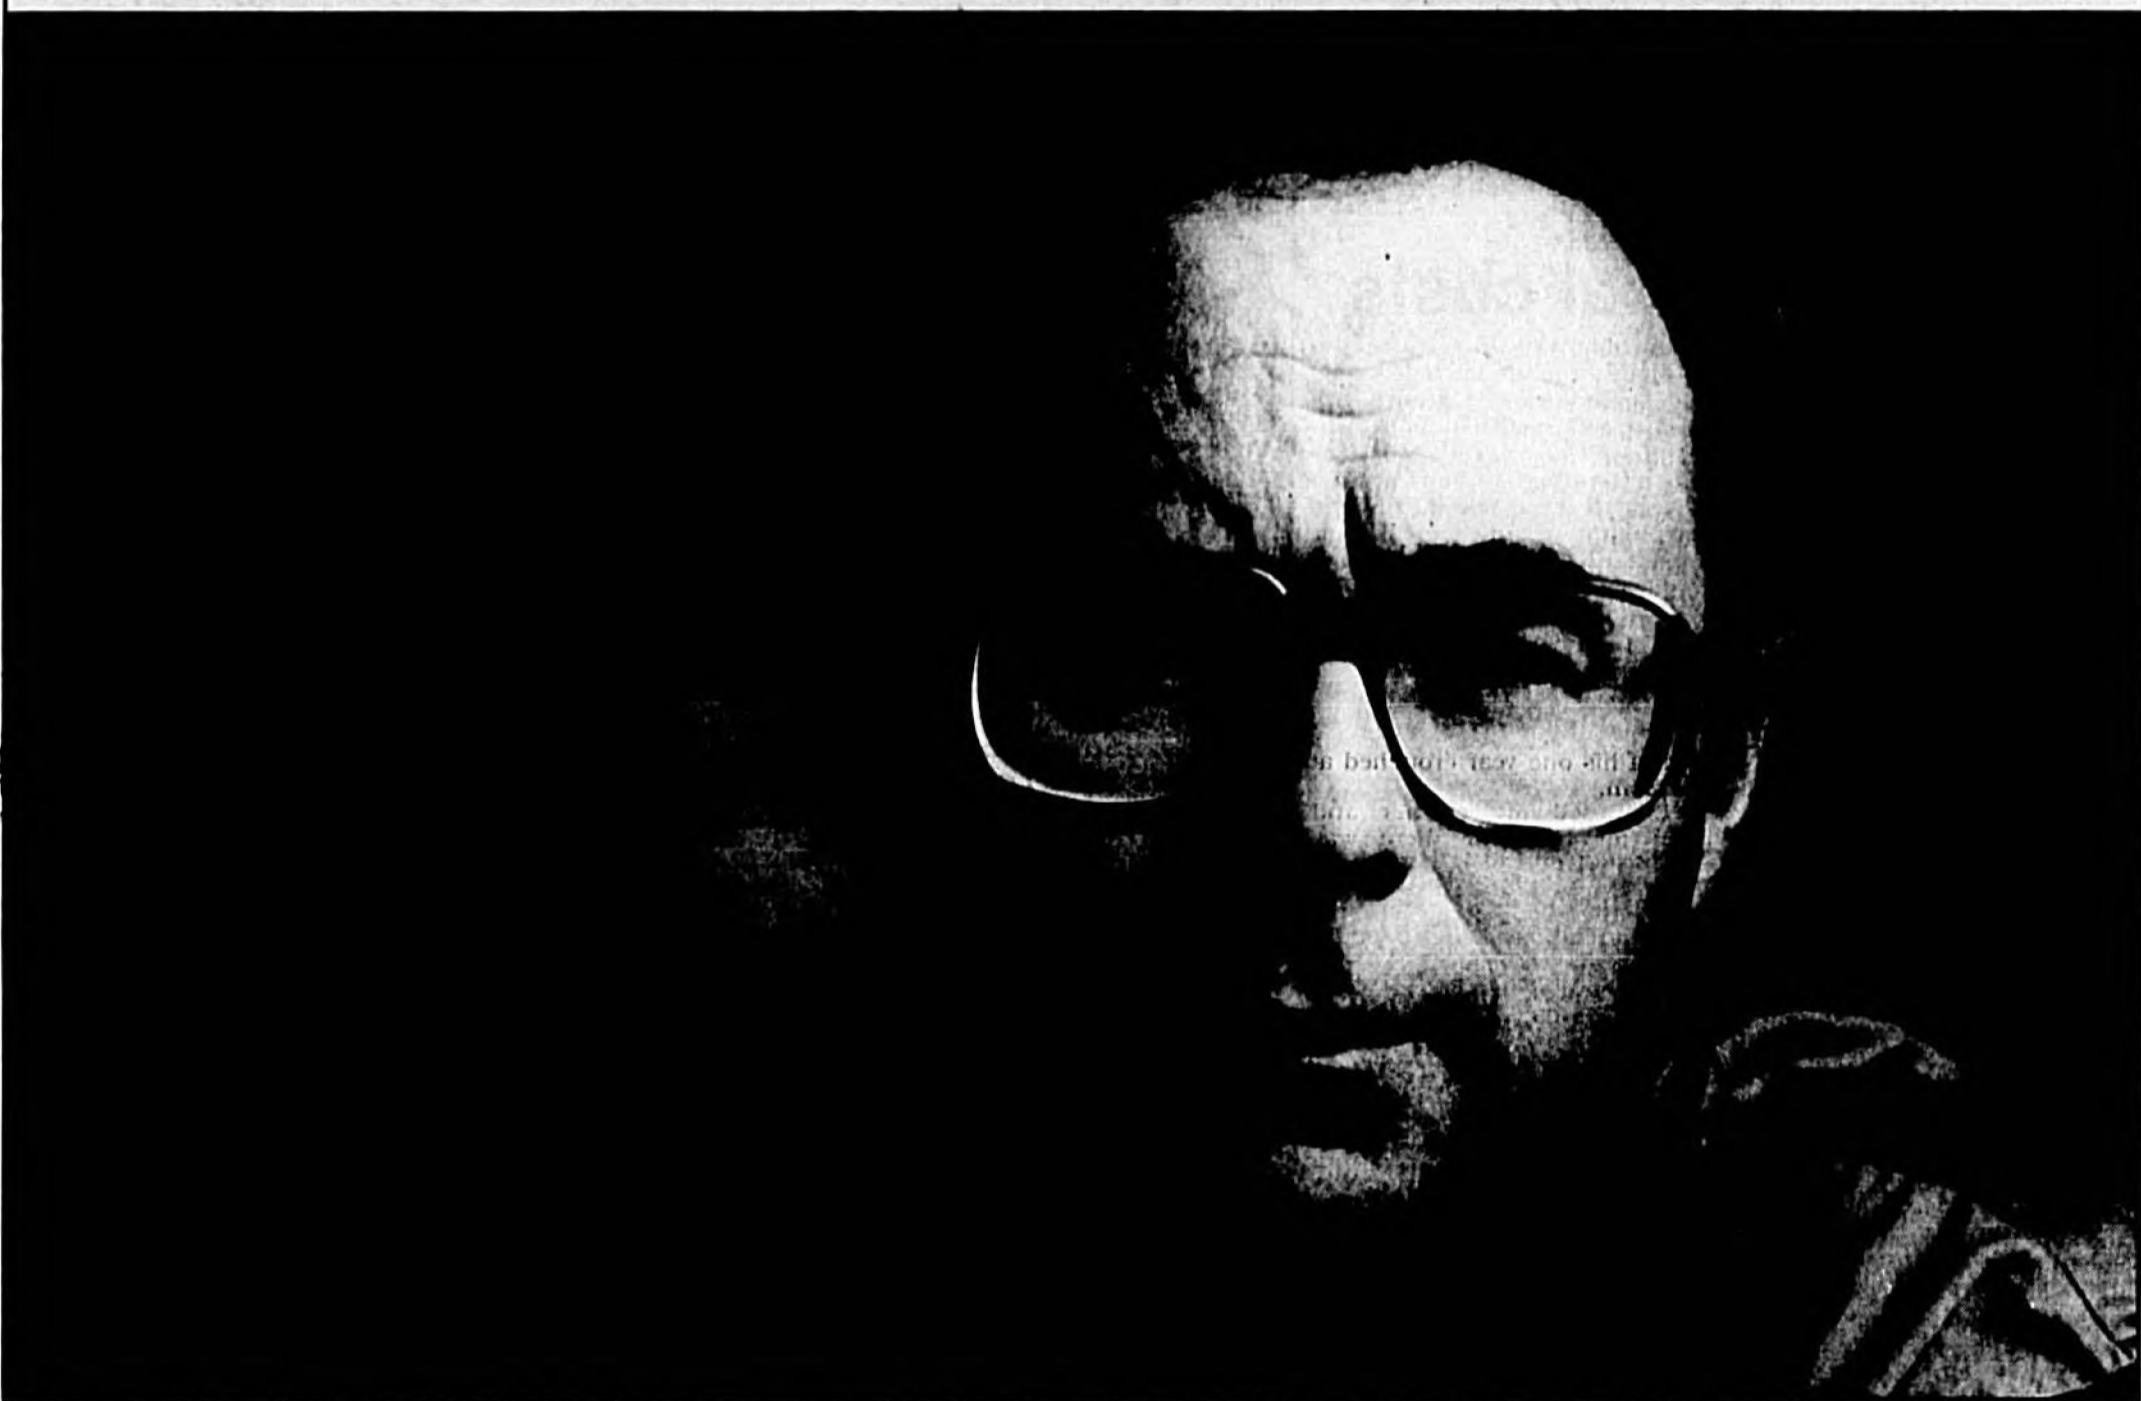

In recent months, Falwell also has concentrated on revitalizing his television ministry.

Jim Desler, deputy press secretary for the Democratic National Committee, said Friday he hopes "Rev. Falwell, as well as his followers, will take an objective look" at the Clinton presidency and "judge him by his actions."

Falwell said now that Clinton has been elected, "As a Christian, we owe him our prayers and respect, and he will get that from me."

But, he said, "We will watch carefully to see if he does to America what he's done to Arkansas for the past 12 years. If he does, we will do what we need to do to guarantee that he is a one-term president."

Physicians formalize agreement to help decrease medical costs

Physician members of the Florida Medical Association are mobilizing to lower health care costs and provide more access to health care to thousands of needy Floridians.

The Association, through individual physician members and county medical societies, is in the final stages of formalizing an agreement with the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services which will allow doctors to donate free care through county public health departments.

This program, according to HRS officials, could save Florida taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars and is a major step toward reforming the state's health care delivery system.

"No one is more dedicated to health care reform than the physicians of Florida," said FMA President A. Frederick Schild, M.D.

"Through this innovative program we are proud to have initiated with HRS, we will be providing medical care to thousands of Floridians who presently lack adequate access to the system," he said.

Speaking for HRS, Charles Mahan, M.D., Deputy Secretary for Health and State Health Officer, said, "We think this program has remarkable potential as a mechanism to expand the provision of services to uninsured and indigent people throughout Florida."

"The reason why this is important," he said, "is that we are experiencing severe cutbacks in primary care funding at the state and local level. With the volunteer efforts on the part of local county medical societies we can make up for that shortfall in services."

Dr. Schild added, "We believe our members will offer enough free care to relieve the pressure on hospital emergency rooms where the indigent and uninsured too often go for treatment when they need immediate care or cannot be seen at public health units."

The volunteerism effort will reinforce the efforts of the newly created Agency for Health Care Administration to bring meaningful reform to Florida's health care system.

One of the most intractable problems confronting the Agency is the vicious cost shifting cycle where hospitals raise charges to insured patients to pay for care they must provide uninsured patients. In turn, insurance companies raise their rates to cover these higher charges. The higher insurance premiums force businesses to drop their employee health care coverage, increasing the number of uninsured Floridians.

An increase in volunteer physician activity is also critical to state plans to provide primary health care services to an estimated 900,000 indigent Floridians who are currently not fully served by the state's 67 county public health units.

HRS officials have estimated that extending public health services to these 900,000 Floridians without any increase in physician volunteer activities would cost the state $400 million per year for additional paid medical staff, support staff and clinic space and equipment.

Such volunteers are even more important in the wake of a new and controversial state policy which sets priorities for care that, as a practical matter, means only women, children and teenagers will receive care in most financially strapped public health care units. All other patients are being referred to hospital emergency rooms and other sources of care, according to HRS.

Recurring headaches may mean trouble

Millions of Americans suffer from headaches everyday. Most of them require no more than "two aspirins." For some, it is a chronic debilitating condition. Vascular headaches are thought to be related to the malfunction in the "biological clock" of the body, exact cause and mechanism remains a mystery. Sometimes headaches are related to specific diseases.

Most headaches fall into the category of migraine, cluster, and tension headaches. A wide variety of causes are behind the headaches. Temporomandibular joint dysfunction (TMJ), cranial neuralgias, craniofacial pains, neck strain, posture, stress, and certain foods are other causes of benign headaches.

Mostly women suffer from migraine headaches while men suffer from cluster headaches. Though most of the headaches are benign, a sudden onset of severe headaches in a previously headache-free person of any age at any time is alarming

Vascular headaches are thought to be related to the malfunction in the "biological clock" of the body.

-Sampathkumar Shanmugham, M.D.,

especially if these headaches are associated with other symptoms and signs, then one should seek medical help immediately. These headaches may be the sign of serious neurological conditions like cerebral hemorrhage, stroke, ruptured aneurysm, meningitis, inflammation, etc. Treatment of headaches begin with seeing a family doctor. A good physical examination is a part of routine investigation and sometimes advanced diagnostic techniques like CT Scan of the brain is necessary. Only selected cases need consultation with a neurologist or treatment at a specialized headache treatment center.

Headache treatment is an art as much as a science. No two headaches are similar and there is no universal treatment. Advances in treatment are made everyday, still therapy should be customized for an individual patient. Therapy should be optimized by trial and experience.

The majority of chronic headache patients can be helped by simple prescription medications. Physical therapy, behavior or postural modifications, biofeedback are sometimes necessary. Stress reduction, change in lifestyle, and food habits are occasionally helpful. With the above measures, most will feel better with less headaches and improved quality of life.

Sampathkumar Shanmugham, M.D., is a neurologist with an office at 1480 Medical Plaza Dr., Sanford.

The health column is provided as a community service by the Seminole County Medical Society. Inquiries may be directed to the medical society.

Strep check called for by doctors

By BRENDA G. COLEMAN Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO — All pregnant women should be screened for a bacteria that causes meningitis so that the potentially deadly infection can be treated before it afflicts their babies, according to a national group of pediatricians.

Group B streptococcus bacteria is the biggest single cause of life-threatening infections in newborns, afflicting 12,000 annually, said Dr. Donald S. Gromisch, a member of the Committee on Infectious Diseases for the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Most newborns get the infection during childbirth. More than 1,800 of them die each year and another 1,600 suffer permanent brain damage from meningitis, Gromisch said.

Perinatal Program provides guidance for teenage mothers

The Perinatal Program, a Child Abuse Prevention Program administered by the Children's Home Society and sponsored in part by the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, provides an opportunity for caring, committed women to do something toward preventing incidences of child abuse and neglect in Seminole County, according to Jo Howard, volunteer coordinator of the program.

Formerly known as The Sunshine Connection, the support program is for first time pregnant teenagers and young mothers under age 25 who live in Seminole County.

The program's staff train women to work one-on-one with pregnant teens to provide emotional and practical support in preparing for the birth of their baby and coping with the demands of an infant during the first years of life. Through ongoing services provided by the volunteer and staff, the teens have an improved chance of completing their educations and becoming productive, self-supporting members of society.

Low birth weight babies and babies born to teen mothers are more likely to have short and long term medical problems, are more difficult to care for and comfort, and are more likely to be abused and neglected. Only through the early intervention and education of teenage at-risk mothers can we help ensure that these babies have a healthy start.

During the 1991-92 program, Perinatal Program provided education and support to 110 young mothers and their babies.

Current services:
• Provide an opportunity for clients to be matched with carefully selected and trained volunteers to provide support and guidance.

• Refer clients to existing community agencies and services for individual needs.

• Provide opportunity for clients to meet with their peers to learn about prenatal and postnatal care, infant and toddler care and positive parenting.

• Lending library and information pamphlets, magazines and video tapes.

• Mothers store consisting of community donated infant, toddler and maternity items.

Volunteers are a vitally important component of the program. Interested persons should call the Perinatal Program Office at 830-8774 for details of the next training session.

SOUND ADVICE

NICK SPINA

CHELSEA HEARING SPECIALIST
The most common complaint heard in a hearing aid dispenser's office is "I hear people speaking, but I don't understand what they say." If you find this to be your problem, it may be time to have your hearing tested.

The first permanent public school for the deaf in the United States was established in Hartford, Connecticut in 1817 by a young, blind student named Thomas Gallaudet.

As hearing loss worsens, so can family relationships. One person's hearing loss can make life difficult for everyone. If you suspect a hearing loss, have your hearing evaluated. If a hearing aid is indicated it might benefit all involved.

Question - How long should a hearing aid last?

Answer - The most recent national statistics published indicate that on the average, people replace their hearing aids every four years. Actually, with good care they can last longer than this, but are often replaced because new and better products are available.

OCS Rams win district title

MAITLAND — Scott Armstrong netted three goals and assisted on two others to lead the Orangewood Christian School Rams to a 7-1 rout of Montverde Academy in the finals of the 1A-District 2 boys' soccer tournament Friday.

Orangewood Christian (15-3-2) advances to the 1A-Region 1 title game against defending state champion Tallahassee-Maclay. The game is scheduled for 3 p.m. this Tuesday at Orangewood Christian.

John Stirman, Hunter Tolbert, Jakob Hardrick and Chris Hill each scored a goal. Marshall Dickerson contributed three assists while Rex Dix had two.

Orangewood Christian outshot Montverde Academy 20-17 but the visitors had a 3-2 edge in corner kicks over the Rams. Orangewood goalie Ben Maynard came up with 13 saves while his Montverde Academy counterpart made five.

UCF romps over Buffalo

ORLANDO — Senior Bret Cooper scored four touchdowns, three on receptions and one on an end-around run, to lead Central Florida to a 63-21 victory over Buffalo Saturday.

Cooper set two UCF season records with 14 touchdowns and 13 reception TD's as he caught eight passes for 181 yards and ran twice for 21 yards.

Two other Knight seniors set records as kicker Franco Grilla kicked nine extra points to break the NCAA I-AA record of 105 consecutive PAT's, giving him 106 over a two-year span. The old record was set by Tim McMonigle of Idaho set in 1984, which also spanned a period of two years.

It was a day of records for UCF as All-America linebacker Rick Hamilton collected seven tackles for a career record of 430 stops.

Central Florida is now 5-3 for the season while the Bulls are 4-6.

AROUND THE STATE

FSU caps perfect ACC run

TALLAHASSEE — Charlie Ward passed for 394 yards and four touchdowns and sixth-ranked Florida State rolled up an Atlantic Coast Conference-record 858 yards in a 69-21 homecoming victory over Maryland.

Ward also ran for 83 yards and a touchdown as the Seminoles (8-1 overall, 8-0 ACC) climaxed their unbeaten maiden season in the ACC with a record-setting offensive showing that included an league-record 40 first downs.

John Kaleo, the nation's leader in total offense, grossed 299 yards for Maryland (2-8, 1-6). He completed 20 of 33 passes for 262 yards and two touchdowns.

Gators hold off Southern Miss.

GAINESVILLE — Erriet Rhett's 3-yard run in the fourth period and a late defensive stand helped No. 14 Florida shake off Southern Mississippi 24-20 on Saturday.

Rhett, who rushed for 120 yards, put the Gators ahead a little more than five minutes after Southern Mississippi had taken a 20-17 lead on Tommy Waters' 17-yard pass to Mark Montgomery.

The victory was the fifth straight for Florida (6-2), which will try to move a step closer to winning the Southeastern Conference Eastern Division title when it resumes conference play against South Carolina.

Southern Mississippi fell to 6-4, with three of its losses coming on the road against SEC teams.

Florida extended the nation's second-longest home winning streak to 17 games, all of the victories coming since Steve Spurrier arrived as coach in 1990.

AROUND THE NATION

Giant decision due Tuesday

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — San Francisco Giants or Tampa Bay Giants? By Tuesday, it should be known.

After three months of talks, owners finally will debate and decide. Does Robert Lurie get to sell the Giants to Florida investors for $115 million? Or must he sell them to a Bay area group for $100 million?

Wind swept hills with a chill? Or a new home in the Florida Suncoast Dome?

"I think some people know how they're going to vote," deputy commissioner Steve Greenberg said Friday, "but I think a lot of people will go to the meetings, want to hear a discussion and see if there's a recommendation before they commit themselves."

Whatever the outcome, the matter is going to wind up in court for years. National League president Bill White knew that two months ago. "There's always litigation," he said.

Tribe tops Pats; Leesburg up next

By TONY DeBORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

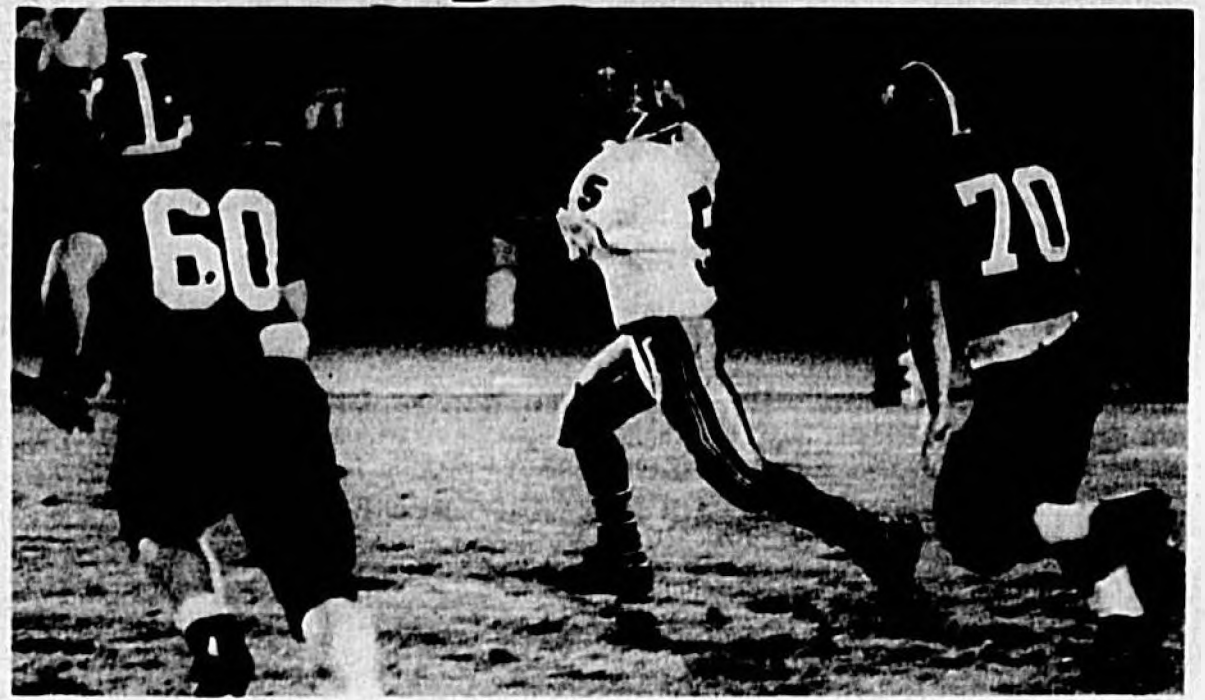

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — It was perfect. If Coach Emory Blake could have been given free reign to design the ideal game to get his Seminole High School football team ready for its 4A-District 7 championship-deciding game at Leesburg next Friday, he couldn't have come up with a better game than the Seminoles' 18-14 win over Lake Brantley on Friday.

Not only did Seminole come from behind to win at Lake Brantley's Tom Storey Field against a defense that's as accomplished as its own, the Tribe received contributions from all three elements of the team:

• Defensively, the Seminoles recorded a safety (when Quentin Hunt tackled Chris Howell in the end zone), forced seven fumbles and recovered four, and twice turned away the Patriots on third-and-goal plays from the Seminole 1-yard line.

• Offensively, quarterback Travis Perkins hooked up with Tony Duncan on a 78-yard touchdown pass play

Seminole quarterback Travis Perkins (No. 5) managed to avoid Lake Brantley's pass rush long enough to complete six passes for 129 yards, including a 78-yarder to Tony Duncan.

Rams run down DeLand

By BILL KERNS
 Herald Correspondent

DeLAND — You can't help but wonder what might have been of this year.

Hampered by injured running backs and an inexperienced offensive line, the Lake Mary Rams finally complimented quarterback Jason Rasmussen, Seminole County's leading passer, with a steady running game Friday night at DeLand's Spec Martin Memorial Stadium.

With 133 of their 203 total yards coming on the ground, the Rams beat the Bulldogs 14-13 to spoil DeLand's homecoming.

Lake Mary improves to 5-3 overall, 3-3 in the 5A-District 4 standings. Although out of the district race, the Rams will need a balanced attack to finish strong against dangerous Lyman and arch-rival Seminole.

"I'm proud of the guys," said Lake Mary head coach Doug Peters. "It's a nice time of the season to finish strong. Our inexperienced line is getting experience, and our passing game was there when we needed it. Our defense has played well all season. This is exactly what we needed."

"Our offensive line was coming off the ball well tonight, and that's nice to see. It was a total team effort, and although that may be an over-used cliché, it's also nice to see. We just needed a win. We've had a lot of adversity this season."

Otis Wellon seemed like the backfield mainstay that Lake Mary's yearned for, scoring both touchdowns for the Rams while running for 59 yards on 10 carries and having what Peters called "great game." Dexter Graham also picked up 31 yards on nine carries while Jermaine Hartsfield added 25 yards on five carries.

DeLand also ran well, setting the

Greyhounds rip Edgewater

From Staff Reports

LONGWOOD — Lyman's version of Batman and Robin was at it again Friday night.

And the result was another win for the Greyhounds. The "Dynamic Duo" of Todd Cleveland and Bobby Washington combined for five touchdowns and all of their team's points as Lyman hammered visiting Edgewater 34-6 in the Greyhounds' homecoming game.

The Greyhounds improved to 5-3 with the non-district win in their final home game of the year. They will travel to Lake Mary for a 5A-District 4 game at Don T. Reynolds Stadium next Friday night starting at 7:30 p.m. Lyman's final game of the season will be at Lake Brantley on Nov. 20.

Edgewater fell to 3-5 on the year and will finish its season with home games with University and Boone.

For better than a half, the game was a nip-and-tuck affair as the only score of the opening 24 minutes came on a 57 yard punt return by Cleveland that gave the Greyhounds a 6-0 halftime advantage.

The Eagles came back to tie the score early in the third quarter on a 31 yard run by Tony Evans, but Washington, a running back/defensive back/place kicker, gave Lyman the lead for good on a 14 yard run, that capped a 10-play, 73 yard drive with 5:55 left in the period. His extra point made the score 13-6.

Lions enjoy homecoming romp

By RYAN ANDERSON
 Herald Correspondent

OVIEDO — Every team hopes for an easy win its homecoming game. Not only is it a chance to show off in front of the home fans, the players on the team can enjoy the festivities and still get away with a victory.

The Oviedo High School Lions did just that Friday night, romping to a 47-22 victory over the Spruce Creek Hawks at John Courier Field.

Mainland wins district on 'prayer'

From Staff Reports

DAYTONA BEACH — Mainland's prayers were answered.

Trailing 12-10 with only three seconds left on the game clock and facing a fourth down and 21 from its own 37, the only way Mainland could beat Lake Howell was with a miracle.

And they got it.

The Buccaneers lined up for the "Hail Mary" pass and quarterback James Mayes completed a 40-yard pass to Antwan Wyatt at the Silver Hawks 23 as time expired. But a facemask penalty was called on a Lake Howell defender, and since a game can't end on a defensive penalty, Mainland was given one more play.

Kicker Jesse Johnson then nailed a 29-yard field goal.

Four of five county 4A schools going to regional harrier meet

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY — But for 10 points, all five of Seminole County's Class 4A high schools would be preparing for next Saturday's Region III cross country meet and a chance to go to the state championship meet on Nov. 21.

As it is, only the boys' and girls' teams from Lyman, Lake Brantley, Lake Mary and Oviedo will be making the trip to Lake Worth next weekend, having finished among the top six in the team standings at the 4A-Region 5 meet run Saturday morning at Lake Mary High School.

The Lake Howell Silver Hawks were seventh in both team standings, the boys missing the cut by four points while the girls missed the mark by six.

Lyman's girls, led by individual champion Ktanh Bresnick (11:38), won the team title easily, outscoring second-place Winter Park 51-73. They were followed by Lake Brantley (80), Lake Mary (91), Oviedo (152) and Boone (210).

Bresnick and Lyman teammates Linda Davis (ninth, 12:26) and Laurie Elias (10th, 12:35), Oviedo's Tracey Kotses (third, 11:52), Angie Olson of Lake Mary (sixth, 12:08) and Lake Brantley's Danielle Leaf (seventh, 12:21) were the county representatives who finished in the top 10.

Beth Whitehead (25th, 13:23) was Lake Howell's top finisher.

In an odd twist, the same six schools who qualified for the regional meet in the girls' race saw their boys' teams qualify as well. This time, though, it was the Lake Brantley Patriots who were easy winners, outdistancing runner-up Boone 49-63.

Also qualifying for the regional meet were Lake Mary (85), Lyman (97), Oviedo (212) and Winter Park (227).

After nearly three miles, the boys' individual championship was won in the final 50 yards as Lake Brantley's Dan Lucyk caught and passed Lake Mary's Toby Ayers, posting a winning time of 15:42. Lake Mary's Chris Taylor was a close third at 15:46, two seconds behind his teammate.

Other county runners who finished in the top 10 were Lyman's Jon Scott (fifth, 15:48) and Lake Brantley's Dan Hilley (ninth, 16:10) and Shaun MacKenzie (10th, 16:11).

Oviedo was led by Scott Thelen (28th, 17:03) while Matt Bowman (30th, 17:06) was Lake Howell's top finisher.

Individual champion Ktanh Bresnick led Lyman to the girls' team championship at the 4A-District 5 cross country meet Saturday morning.

Individual Statistics. Rushing - Seminoles: Shroy 19-58, Foster 1-24, Perkins 13-4, Griffin 5-1, Lake Brantley: Shaw 17-124, Better 16-77, Pagan 5-28, Howell 5-13, Hayes 5-13, LeCrosier 1-9.

That was fine with Blake. "If we can get within 30 or 40 yards, then we call on Jason and let him do what he does best," said Blake.

By comparison, Lake Brantley's Tim LeCrosier only attempted one field goal and that ended in a 9-yard loss when the snap went awry.

Lake Brantley had taken a 14-3 lead on a pair of touchdown runs by quarterback Jeff Shaw. When Shaw intercepted a Perkins pass in the second quarter and returned it to the Seminoles 25, it looked like the Patriots might be able to put the Seminoles away early.

Perkins then threw a 78-yard strike to Duncan, who left the Patriot defense flustered. While Seminoles (6-2, 3-1 in the Seminoles Athletic Conference) will be playing for its district championship at Leesburg next Friday, Lake Brantley (5-4, 2-2 in the SAC) will take the week off before hosting Lyman on Nov. 20.

Oviedo

The Lions went on an offensive marathon after that, scoring on their next seven possessions. Oviedo's first score came on a 49-yard run by Oscar Duncan with 7:25 left in the first half.

Ervin Alexander was the catalyst of the Lions' offense, rushing for 209 yards and three touchdowns on 19 carries. Alexander also turned a bad snap on a punt into a 24-yard gain to keep a Lion drive alive.

The Hawks had a late surge in the fourth quarter, scoring on passes by Hawk quarterback Tracy Holmes to David Lynch. The two-point conversion pass after the second Hawk touchdown finished the scoring for both teams.

The Lions (5-4, 4-2 in the district) will travel to Daytona Beach Municipal Stadium next Friday night to play the Mainland Buccaneers.

Lake Mary

Lake Mary needed to gain only 26 yards to tie the score midway through the second quarter after DeLand's Jon Deveaux shanked his punt. The Rams barely hung to a tie at halftime, as Brian Milner sacked Brent Marshall to stop a first-and-goal threat with 0:15 remaining.

The Lake Mary defense ended DeLand's first drive in the second half on its own five, with Greg Menello taking running back Willie Robinson down for an 8-yard loss. Following Deveaux's 31 yard punt, the Rams needed only 56 yards to take the lead. Welton capped the drive with a nine yard sprint to the end zone.

Then came apparent proof that the Rams carry lucky talismans. Rogers brought the Bulldogs within one point early in the fourth quarter with a two-yard lunge that capped a 60-yard drive. But the snap on the extra point was bad, and holder Jeremy Neiman's desperation pass fell for naught.

Rasmussen and his offense ate up the clock to ice the game, while the defense held DeLand to just seven more plays on two drives, recovering one fumble. Rasmussen finished a solid 7-for-13 with 70 yards.

Individual Statistics. Rushing - Lake Mary: Welton 10-29, Graham 5-31, Harrelson 5-25, White 3-11, Clayton 2-4, Rasmussen 2-11, DeLand: Rogers 14-108, Cherry 14-55, Johnson 7-32, Marshall 3-4, Robinson 2-11.

Lake Mary will host Lyman and then travel to Seminoles in consecutive Friday night affairs of honor, with both games starting at 7:30. "Lyman scares us," said Peters. "They have a lot of speed, and Seminoles is always a big rivalry."

Lyman

Washington added a 10 yard run later in the third stanza to make the score 20-6. Cleveland, who plays quarterback when not returning punts or filling in at defensive back, completed the scoring on a pair of fourth quarter runs of six and 19 yards.

The Greyhounds wound up with 200 yards rushing and for the second time in three games did not have to attempt a pass. Washington led the way with 178 yards rushing.

In the last three games Washington has rushed for 500 yards, scored 10 rushing touchdowns, thrown a touchdown pass and kicked nine extra points. His 60 points have accounted for 62.5 percent of his team's 116 points scored over that three week span. Cleveland has scored another 40.

District

Continued from 1B Stadium gives the Buccaneers their first ever district crown and improves their record to 7-1 overall and 6-0 in SA-District 4.

Lake Howell fell to 3-6 overall and 2-3 in SA-4. The last second play was not the only lucky break for Mainland as the Silver Hawks looked like they had the game in hand when Chris Tolliver poked off a pass by Maves at 1:30 left. But on third down Mainland got the ball back with 0:55 left on a fumble, setting up the "miracle".

Mainland's victory celebration was marred by an ugly melee that broke out as the teams were shaking hands at mid-field after the game. A fight broke out between players and coaches, during which Lake Howell's Steven Roberts, who was not wearing his helmet, was hit on the head by a helmet and was taken off the field on a stretcher with his head immobilized and taken to Halifax Hospital.

His condition was not immediately known, but he was expected to be released late Friday night.

The Silver Hawks got on the scoreboard first on a four-yard run by Jackson Patton in the first quarter, but the ensuing extra-point kick was no good, a play that would loom very large later.

The Buccaneers came back to take a 7-6 lead in the second quarter on a 35-yard scoring strike from Maves to Arthur Williams and Johnson's extra point.

But Lake Howell took the lead back going into the halftime intermission on another four-yard scoring run, this one by Torrey Dempa, to cap a 65-yard, 12-play drive. But the lead was only 12-7 as the try for two failed.

Mainland set up the fourth quarter heroics when Johnson kicked a 29-yard field goal in the third quarter.

BANKING

First Seminole names vice president

LAKE MARY — Dennis H. Courson, president/CEO of First Seminole Bank, Lake Mary, has announced the appointment of Barry N. Roderick as the Vice President/Manager of its new Dr. Phillips office, to be opened in early December.

Barry has been in banking for over 14 years in Maine and Florida banks. He resides in the Dr. Phillips area.

First Florida, Barnett merge

LAKE MARY — The Federal Reserve Board has approved the merger of First Florida Banks, Inc., with Barnett Banks, Inc.

The approval is conditioned on the divestiture of four offices in Citrus and Highlands counties, containing approximately $99 million in deposits as of June, 1991.

After the merger, Barnett will be the 17th largest banking company in the United States, with $38 billion in assets.

According to information released by media representatives of Barnett, there will be no change in the operation of facilities in Seminole County.

Barnett Bank of Central Florida is located at 3094 Orlando Drive, and 704 W. Lake Mary Blvd., in Lake Mary.

First Union performance

SANFORD — First Union's Capital Management Group investment performance ranked in the top three percent of the nation's money managers for the 10 year period ending Sept. 30, 1992, according to a national study released by the bank's Charlotte office.

First Union's management group is the trust and investment arm of the bank. It offers investment management and administrative services to corporations for various needs.

First Union is the nation's 11th largest bank holding company, based on assets of $48.3 billion as of Sept. 1992. It operates 898 banking offices.

Locally, First Union is located at 101 E. First Street downtown, and at 1801 S. French Avenue in Sanford.

REAL ESTATE

Prudential Florida's ranks grow

LONGWOOD — Moureen Dantel, Cal Hay, Stephen DeGaetano, Judy Marsh, Scott Smiley and Gentle Wilson have recently joined the Prudential Florida Realty's Northside office in Longwood.

Dantel and Hay teamed up in 1991. They are both active in the Heathrow Country Club, and specialize in selling country club community homes. Both are members of the Million Dollar Sales Achievers.

DeGaetano had a broker's license in the state of Indiana before moving to Central Florida. He has also been a construction superintendent and building inspector, which he finds valuable in selling real estate property.

Marsh has been in real estate since 1985, and has reached the level of the Million Dollar Club status.

Smiley has been in real estate since 1990, and has also become a member of the Million Dollar Club.

Wilson has been in real estate since 1980, and previously worked for Harlequin Books.

The Northside office is located at 120 Crown Oak Centre Drive, Longwood.

Century 21 Oviedo top producer

OVIDEO — Century 21 Oviedo Realty, Inc., was among the top producing franchises in the Century 21 of the Southeast, Inc. Region during the month of August, according to President and Regional Director George Handley.

The Oviedo based franchise was listed among the top 50 offices in the region, based on both gross closed commissions and units closed during the 31 day period.

Century 21 of the Southeast, Inc. encompasses approximately 218 offices throughout Georgia and Northeast Florida.

Locally, Century 21 is served by Oviedo Realty, Inc., 235 S. Central Ave., Oviedo, and A.A. Carnes Inc., 1399 W. S.R. 434 in Longwood.

BUILDING

Lighting project handled

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary Sports Complex, nearing completion, is one of five stadium lighting projects being handled by Tri-City Electrical Contractors, Inc., of Altamonte Springs. Other lighting projects include the Seminole Sports Complex, Boston Red Sox spring training facility in Ft. Myers, the Oviedo Sports Complex and the Maitland Soccer Field.

Tri-City was founded in 1958, and is ranked as the 24th largest electrical contracting company in the U.S. by a leading trade publication.

Landscape planner contracted

SANFORD — HOH Associates, Inc., has been contracted for landscape planning and design for 1 1/2 miles of roadway at Seminole County Expressway Authority's planned interchange at Highway 17-92 and Airport Blvd. in Sanford.

HOH, was founded in 1946. It is headquartered in Alexandria, Va., with local offices in Winter Park.

The company has won local, state and national awards from a number of major professional landscape architecture and planning organizations.

Homes on 'Street of Dreams' selling well

LONGWOOD — Five of the eight luxury homes now open to the public at Alaua in Longwood, were sold before the show opened Oct. 24.

The homes, in the $835,000 price range contain 5,300 square feet. They were built and furnished in Mediterranean style. The buyers of the homes also purchased approximately half of the homes' $250,000 furniture and furnishings.

The Street of Dreams display is located at Alaua. From the Lake Mary Interstate 4 exit, travel west on Lake Mary Boulevard to Markham-Woods Road, then south approximately one half mile to the Street of Dreams parking area.

Limited edition Viper is here

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Chrysler Corporation recently announced it was sending a few limited edition Dodge Vipers to selected auto dealers. Bob Dance Dodge, 5152 Highway 17-92 in Longwood, was to receive one of the vehicles.

According to salesman Benji Futrell, "It came in last Tuesday morning, and was already in the hands of a new owner by Tuesday afternoon."

Futrell said the car had been pre-ordered and the deposit put down almost three years ago.

"This is one of the hottest cars on the new car circuit," Futrell commented. "We have five more coming in in the near future, and although we don't have all of them pre-ordered, I'll bet they don't last long."

The sticker price for the Dodge Viper RT/10 is approximately $56,400.

According to Terri Houtman at Chrysler Corporation, "Bob Dance Dodge was chosen to distribute the Dodge Viper RT/10 in this area because of its location in one of the top 40 markets for premium-priced sports cars, as well as its ability to meet Dodge's Customer Satisfaction Index."

The Viper received this past

The new Dodge Viper, a limited edition, didn't last long on the sales room floor.

week was the 1992 model. Houtman said customers will already be allowed to order the 1993 model.

Only 200 1992's were made at Chrysler's plant in Detroit. The company plans to manufacture between 3,000 and 5,000 annually beginning with the 1993 models, depending on the market demand.

According to Chrysler specifications, the Viper is capable of speeds, 0-60 in 4.5 seconds, and 0-100 in 14.5 seconds.

It has a six speed manual transmission, seats 2 persons, has a tubular space frame, power rack and pinion steering and power-assisted disc brakes.

Houtman said, "The Viper is a thoroughly modern automotive package featuring a wealth of technological innovations, unique engineering methodology, and fast-paced development strategies."

"In fact," he added, "the Viper is being used as a test bed model for advanced technology with Chrysler."

"We are certainly going to let everyone know when we receive the next five Vipers at Bob Dance Dodge," Futrell said. "They are beautiful cars, and everyone should see them."

Worm device is declared unsafe, may be fatal to users, passers-by

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Fishermen beware. The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has declared a device called "Worm Gett'rs" as dangerous. The CPSC says they "could be fatal to users and passers-by."

The device uses probes that are to be stuck into the ground, then plugged in to an electrical socket. When the power is turned on, the manufacturer, P&M Enterprises, of Caldwell, Indiana, said the shock would drive the worms up to the surface. The Worm Gett'rs were sold with two, six and twelve probes, ranging in price from $8 to $27. While they were not sold in retail stores in Central Florida, they were available through catalog sales across the country.

Chuck Volk, at the Monroe Harbour Marina said, "The soil we have around here isn't conducive to the kind of worms that are used for fishing, but that doesn't mean some people wouldn't try it."

Although the marina sells sporting equipment, Volk said they would not stock such an item. "I would question the safety of anything like that," he said.

About 30,000 P&M Worm Gett'rs have been sold since 1983.

CPSC is urging owners of the probes to discontinue their use immediately, and to destroy the products. Although no specific figures are available on this particular product, functionally identical worm probes have been involved in at least 28 deaths according to CPSC.

Although the product has been declared dangerous, P&M is not recalling any of them. The company is bankrupt and completely out of business.

BellSouth to cut work force

From Staff and Wire Reports

ATLANTA — BellSouth Corp. said Friday it plans to eliminate 8,000 jobs in its nine-state telecommunications unit over the next four years. BellSouth is the parent company of Southern Bell, supplier of local telephone service in Florida, including Seminole County.

"These latest moves are a part of our ongoing effort to maintain our competitive position in the rapidly changing marketplace, while continuing to provide our customers quality service," said BellSouth Chairman and Chief Executive Officer John Clendenin.

The company said in a statement "a substantial number" of the jobs will be reduced through attrition. About 825 jobs in the comptroller's organization and 150 in economic forecasting already have been targeted for elimination within two years.

Other jobs will be eliminated when BellSouth merges its headquarters staff with that of its BellSouth Enterprises subsidiary next year.

BellSouth, an international telecommunications company based in Atlanta, is the parent company of Southern Bell and South Central Bell. It offers local telephone service in Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

IN BRIEF

DISTINCTIONS

Danielle Hevey

Dazzler of the Week

SANFORD — Danielle Hevey, a tenth grader at Seminole High School, has been named Dazzler of the Week by her teammates of the Dazzler Dance Team at Seminole High School.

Danielle says her hobbies and interests include shopping, dancing, the beach and long walks.

She is proud to be a Dazzler, she said, because it helps her to show the community an example that "there are great things happening at Seminole High School."

Danielle added, "The team has taught me the importance of team work and to respect authority. I strive to be a good student as well as a good dancer by setting my standards and goals high along with faith and a love of family and friends."

Roadrunner Patrol honored

SANFORD — Boy Scout Troop 34, sponsored by the First United Methodist Church, participated in the fall camporee of the Semoran Springs district at Camp David Hedrick.

The Roadrunner Patrol finished third overall for all events scored. They participated in orienteering, stretcher relay, patrol cooking and chariot racing.

ORGANIZATIONS

Hagerty to address educators

The general meeting of the SCREA members will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 10, at Homestyle Buffet, 556 Lake Howell Road (the southeast corner of Howell Branch Road and Lake Howell Road), Winter Park at 1 p.m. for lunch and 2 p.m. for the general meeting.

Dr. Paul Hagerty, superintendent of schools, will be the guest speaker. All members are asked to attend and greet the new superintendent.

In order to provide baskets for the needy on Thanksgiving, members are asked to bring a non-perishable item for the Thanksgiving basket.

Silver anniversary

30 alumni dancers return for Ballet Guild celebration

By Deborah Yingling
Herald Correspondent

You can feel the energy emanate from effervescent sisters, Valerie Weld and Miriam Doktor. The glamorous pair are the heart and soul of the Ballet Guild of Sanford Seminole (BGS). Their enthusiasm and love of dance are contagious. As the artistic directors of BGS, they have been inspiring and motivating local dancers, giving them a chance to become professionals.

This year is the 25th anniversary of BGS. To celebrate this auspicious event, the guild sent letters to dancers who had belonged to the company over the past 25 years. The response has been overwhelming. The alumni of BGS are spread across the country but that has not quelled the number of replies. Thirty alumni dancers plus 40 regular company members will appear in at least 10 different ballets that have been audience favorites over the years. The cast will also include other dancers and special guests. The company of over 100 dancers has been rehearsing since September. Many of the alumni dancers travel to rehearsals as far away as Gainesville and Jacksonville.

BGS is a dynamic dance company that is continually growing and

Thomas retires from school district

By MARVA HAWKINS
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Mayor Bettye D. Smith and the city of Sanford proclaimed Oct. 30, 1992 as "A Day to Honor Robert 'Bob' Thomas Jr." for his dedication, distinguished achievement, and contributions to the city of Sanford and his community. Mayor Smith presented the proclamation to Commissioner Thomas at the retirement celebration held in his honor as he retired from the Seminole County School District. The retirement celebration was held on Thursday, Oct. 29, at Timacuan Golf and Country Club, Lake Mary. Toastmaster for the evening was co-worker Leon Brooks. The invocation was given by his pastor, the Rev. John H. Woodard of Allen Chapel AME Church. Musical selections in his honor were presented by the Allen Chapel men's chorus of which Bob is an active member.

The tributes began for Thomas with a video presentation of his life in a "nutshell" presented by Victoria Smith and Francis C. Oliver. The reflections of the life of Thomas came from J. Ivan Bowers, director of student services at the Seminole County school district where Thomas has worked as a visiting teacher for more than 30 years.

Sanford City Commissioner Herbert "Whitey" Eckstein spoke of Thomas as a humble person, a role model for the youth of today, and how people look up to him. The Rev. Nolan Pitts, pastor of St. James AME Church and founder and organizer of Concerned Organized Men of Action, spoke of Thomas, the spiritual part of him and his ability to inspire young adults. He measured this leader "a man not by words but by action."

The tribute continued with his best and longtime friend James Baskerville who spoke as a true loving friend. He said after 30 years of service to the system, Thomas deserved respect and that he, indeed, has seen the promised land.

Sanford City Commissioner Lon Howell presented his co-worker with a new red pair of boxing gloves so they can continue to go many more rounds on the commission to help make Sanford a better place in which to live.

Alexander Wynn III, his fraternity brother, spoke of how Thomas has influenced his life and how as a Kappa man, Thomas' love and friendship encouraged special feelings for his fellow man. Bruce Scott, also his Kappa brother, gave honor to Thomas for his achievements in the area of education, knowledge and for his great desire to continue helping the youth of the community.

Don Miller, the director of the West Side Boys and Girls Club, presented Thomas a plaque on behalf of his dedication and concern for youth and of his concern for the success of the club.

Special presentations were made to Thomas by Bobria Alexander from Allen Chapel AME Church; Celery City Lodge No. 542 Order of Elks by Bernard Mitchell; Seminole County branch of NAACP by President Turner Clayton; and Student Services by Algerina Bradwell. A special tribute was offered on behalf of the Thomas family by his daughter Monica Thomas.

The musical expressions throughout the evening were presented by Cheryl Clayton. She sang Thomas' favorite song, "I Want Jesus to Walk With Me" by Rayfield Humphrey with

The wedding will be an event of April 10, 1993, at the First United Methodist Church, Sanford.

Judy E. White, Curtis Sousley Exchange vows

LAKE MARY — Judy Elaine White and Curtis Randolph Sousley are announcing their marriage today. They were married Aug. 29, at 6 p.m. at Markham Woods Presbyterian Church, Lake Mary. The Rev. Don T. Debevoise performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Garnett White, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jacqueline Royalty of Lexington, Ky. and Dr. Curtis B. Soualey of Lexington.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal candlelight satin and lace gown with cathedral-length train designed by Eve of Milady. The fitted dropped waist bodice was overlaid with Alencon lace embellished with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The Alencon lace sleeves featured double bows with centered pearl brooches and cascading pearls. The straight skirt and train, trimmed with Alencon lace, were fashioned with Alencon lace inserts and embellished with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. A Juliet cap overlaid with Alencon lace decorated with seed pearls and a satin bow held her veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of roses, tulips, lilies, larkspur and freesia.

Loreen Fletter of Sanford served the bride as maid of honor. She wore a formal midnight blue faille gown accented with rhinestone buttons and wrap skirt. She carried a cascading bouquet of iris, lily and delphinium.

Kimbury Winkle of Sanford attended as bridesmaid. Her gown and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Lance Royalty of Lexington, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Usher was Edward White, Sanford, brother of the bride, and groomsmen was Joseph Mullins, Lexington, uncle of the groom.

Crystal Cason, the bride's cousin, served as flower girl and T.J. White, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Randolph Sousley

Following the wedding a buffet reception was held at Timacuan Country Club, Lake Mary. "Wind Beneath My Wings" was sung by Catherine Royalty, sister of the bridegroom.

After a wedding trip to Key West, the newlyweds are making their home in Heathrow.

The bride is technical representative for Mifes, Inc., out of Kansas City, Kan., and the groom is regional representative for Luitpold Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Shirley, N.Y.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goodhue Cross

Coulter-Cross nuptials spoken

FOREST CITY — Alexandra Louise Coulter and Thomas Goodhue Cross were married Oct. 10, at 5 p.m., at Bear Lake United Methodist Church. The Rev. Cecil Radcliff performed the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. Ransom Harvey Coulter, former attorney for Forest City, and city judge of Apopka. She is the daughter of Mrs. Lucinda Coulter Burbach and retired Army Col. Fred J. Burbach of Apopka. The bridegroom is the son of Professor and Mrs. James T. Cross, Sewanee, Tenn.

Given in marriage by her brother, Charles Ransom Coulter, the bride wore an antique white satin, hand beaded gown featuring a lace inset V-neckline, off shoulder leg-mutton sleeves, and enhancements of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The long cathedral train, topped with a large double butterfly bow, was inset with beaded lace accents. The bride's three-tier fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and lace and cascaded to the floor over the train. The bride carried a bouquet of pink and antique white roses framed with lilies of the valley.

Rachel Anastasia Coulter, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a long teal satin gown with dropped waist and sweetheart neckline.

Daniel Aronowitz served the bridegroom as best man.

Ushers were Mark Kipling Burbach, Jeffrey Brian Burbach, Walter Neilson and Warren Sama.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Japanese garden of the Burbach residence on Mirror Lake. The lawn was bright with lanterns, candles, pink and white azaleas, impatiens, mums and roses. Over 150 dinner guests danced to the music of the "Buttons and Bows" band.

Following a wedding-bicycling trip to the Loire Valley in France, the newlyweds are making their home in Atlanta.

The bride is a member of the Florida Bar and in November will join Parker, Hudson, Rains and Dobbs law firm in Atlanta.

The bridegroom is an associate in the law firm of Griffin, Cochrane and Marshall, Atlanta.

JoJo Dancer boosts area youth

The Grove Counseling Center's Goldboro Family Support Service is continuing to help the community in becoming a more positive and productive place to live for youth. The program offers an employability skills activity every Monday night from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Gary Mathews is the counselor of employability skills. The activity Mr. Mathews facilitates, helps youth find the skills to get better jobs and to reach their future goals. All activities of the Family Support Service are free to the public. The Family Support Service is there to educate youth to become more productive, to encourage positive thinking and to turn them onto education, and not the streets.

On Monday night, Oct. 19, JoJo Dancer, from 102 JAMZ, visited the Family Support Service to talk with the youth about education, being positive about themselves and having high self-esteem. Ms. Dancer also talked about how she started her career with radio, how she started with WORL radio and later moved to 102 JAMZ. She explained to them how education helped her in getting these jobs, and that getting an education plays an important part in reaching their goals in life.

JoJo Dancer is from DeLand where she attended DeLand High School and later attended the University of Central Florida. From there she became a radio announcer. The youth and staff of the Family Support Service were fortunate to have JoJo Dancer as an honored guest.

The Goldboro Family Support Service will continue prevention services with youth in drug education, employability skills, social skills and family education. The community needs these services to help build strength and education in their youth.

Sorority celebrates

Red was seen everywhere as the sorors of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc. from throughout the state converged upon the Radisson Plaza Hotel in downtown Orlando, Saturday, Oct. 24, for their first state cluster meeting.

The theme for this meeting was "The Delta Launch 2000 — A New Leadership for a New Century," led by sorors Lois J. Gilder, regional director, Renee Bryant, regional representative and Artie P. Williams, state coordinator. The organization of college-educated women shared issues and concerns of the sorority. One of the main missions was to reinforce the commitment to public service as we move toward the 21st century.

The Sanford Alumnae Chapter was well represented with sorors Elnora Holt, Shirley Baker, Evelyn Clark, Ella Robinson, Beria Robinson, Rosa Lee Cook, Linda Gaines, Lenora Mobley, Ruth Walker and Sylvia Stallworth attending the session.

Treats for village

Ghosts and goblins visited the Longwood Retirement Village last Friday but there were no tricks, just treats and games, as the residents partied in the afternoon. The best costumes were Natalie Villani as a pregnant clown, Rosella Morris as an Indian maid, Patsy Murphy as a cat, Othelle Bagley as Doly Parton and Blanche Kline as Grannie. Richard Tolin, Daniel and Shannon DeFazio and Kristy Veenen-Meyer assisted with the games and served the treats.

Retirees honored

Friday, Hazel Smothers and Rhelda Brewster attended the USX semi-annual luncheon for retirees of U.S. Steel, Marathon Oil, and TSO at Indigo Lakes Country Club located in Daytona Beach. The speaker for the event was Donald M. Lass, General Council of the U.S. Steel group.

Couple visits parents

Verma and Arthur Martin of Longwood are being visited by their daughter and son-in-law, Lta. JoAnne and Steven Dovalle of Fort Benning, Ga. Steven has just graduated from Range School and is currently attending Pathfinder School which is an honor given to top graduates of the U.S. Army. JoAnne is also attending military classes.

Irritated guests have tip for innkeeper and maids

DEAR ABBY: To celebrate our 25th wedding anniversary, my husband and I revisited the quaint European-style inn where we had spent our honeymoon. We had loved the place and found it very much like it was on our honeymoon, but there was one change that we did not care for, and we let them know about it when we checked out. In our room, we found an envelope with the following message: "In the custom of the old world inns, a pittance was a voluntary gesture of appreciation for tidy accommodations. Your room has been carefully prepared by Louise and Emma. Thank you."

The following morning, after our room had been made up, a second envelope was placed beside the first. This one was signed by "Louise, Emma and Debbie."

ADVICE

blem, we learned that generally, hotels have a higher turnover rate of chambermaids because most people do not want to make a career of housekeeping. Thus far, the "tip envelope" has been very successful. Our staff is thrilled with the response from our guests, and it has been a major morale booster.

"We carefully worded our message, using the words 'voluntary pittance' so the guests would know it was not required or demanded. We would appreciate your suggestions on how our message could be better presented."

Also, will you please review the rules for tipping at a hotel? AN INN-GRATEFUL GUEST
DEAR GUEST: The standard tip for a hotel maid currently is $1 to $2 per night ($2 to $3 if two people occupy the room) depending on the class of hotel or motel.

If a guest requests extra service (towels, washcloths, soap, etc.), something extra should be given for the maid's trouble.

However, for the establishment to leave a "fresh" tip envelope in a guest's room every night as a "reminder" strikes me as coercive, regardless of how the message is worded.

The high turnover rate of maids is the problem of the innkeeper, not the guest. And to impose that upon the guest is not only bad manners - it's a bad business practice.

DEAR ABBY: Well, here I am again! I am the widow who wrote to you saying that I had just had a mastectomy and was very apprehensive about getting intimate with a man again. I signed my letter "Inhibited and Embarrassed."

Abby, you filled an entire column with wonderfully reassuring letters from women who had been down the same road - and included one from a loving husband who reaffirmed the fact that it didn't make one speck of difference to him.

Now I am no longer filled with apprehension and am deeply grateful to you for publishing my letter.

To those who care enough and took the time to reply, instead of "Inhibited and Embarrassed," I am now ready to sign myself...

TAKING A CHANCE ON LOVE

improving. "I think the one thing that has made it continue to work is the newness of it all," Weld explains. "Miriam and I are the thing only that's the same. The board changes and we get a rejuvenated group of people after a while. We always almost cry whenever a board member leaves but at the same time it's always been for a good reason and then it's left a spot for somebody to come in new and the same thing applies with the dancers. They grow up, they go away and a new group comes in and then you have your new rejuvenated enthusiasm from a fresh group," Weld continues. "It's evolved with every group of good dancers going through. It's gotten better and now when the alumni dancers come back they can look at it and say 'Goah, were we that good?' When they look at it with that attitude, yes, they're proud to be a part of it."

The 25th anniversary celebration is a tribute to the spirit of BGS. To have a group of dancers with such different careers, ages and lifestyles unite for the purpose of helping the guild celebrate their past and present triumphs, demonstrates the deep feelings members have for their dance company. The alumni dancers are a diverse group. Some have careers, some are homemakers and some have become professional dancers.

The fact that this eclectic group has reunited is proof of their dedication and loyalty to something that made a difference in their lives. "Some of these women are extremely successful business women and extremely successful moms and extremely successful in everything that they do and it just makes Val and I feel so lucky to have felt like we were a part of their growing up," says Doktor.

Past and present company members must work hard and devote long hours to perfect their craft. Company members must keep up their school grades and sometimes work part time to earn college money all while trying to learn various dance routines for BGS performances. Still, the members manage to build a rapport with one another and enjoy group activities in addition to dancing. The sisters say that all of the dancers have a commitment to excellence. "The common thread in all of this is their willingness to work hard and make the necessary sacrifices," Doktor says.

The special place that BGS earns in the hearts of its members is the reason that so many alumni dancers are willing to take the time away from their busy lives to participate in the gala silver anniversary dance celebration. Some of the BGS alumni are now dancing professionally in places such as Las Vegas, Atlantic City, the Bahamas and Japan.

The theme of the special anniversary performances on next April 24 and 25 will be "Everything Old is New Again."

Weld and Doktor are hard at work on the choreography for the numbers which include such past favorites as the "Blue and Gray" and the "Grand Tarentella." The sisters like to provide an eclectic mix of dance numbers in BGS performances. Weld and Doktor must work for at least two hours to produce one hour of choreography to teach the company. This one hour of practice in the dance studio will result in only 30 seconds to one minute of performance time on the stage. They enjoy preparing story ballets which require the dancers to perform in mime to a sound track that includes both words and music.

The 25th anniversary performances will certainly prove to be exciting for the dancers and the audience. If anyone would like to learn more about how to become a sponsor of BGS or get information on tickets for the event, the guild can be contacted by telephone at 407-323-1900 or by writing to P.O. Box 1381, Sanford, FL 32772.

Both Weld and Doktor say that it is exhilarating to see the alumni dancers working with the current guild dancers. Both groups have a true sense of admiration and respect for each other. "It's such a thrill to see these accomplished dancers come together with the 1993 company," Weld says. "With no questions asked they work together forming an amalgam of talent which is down right inspirational!"

Bobria Alexander accompanying on the keyboard.

The community shared in the honor of saying thank you to Thomas. He was born to the late Mr. R.B. and Mrs. Leale Thomas. He received his education in the school system of Seminole County and further studies were completed at Florida A&M University, Tallahassee; Stetson University, DeLand; and Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va.

An active member of many organizations and a recipient of many outstanding awards, his greatest honor was being elected the first black Sanford city commissioner. He has served two terms on the commission and is running unopposed for the third term.

The honoree expressed his appreciation and thanks to his co-workers, friends and family for the evening of special tributes, praise and love shared with him as he steps into new changes in his life. He spoke with humility to all who have helped him reach this stage. A special thank you went to his family - his son Darryl, daughter Monica, granddaughter Dana, his sister Francina, and other family members attending the grand affair.

Overjoyed and humble, he talked of his early life as a boy, student, and how inspiration came to him from his mother who gave him strength and who always kept the family together. Guidance by his second grade teacher at Goldsboro "Red School," Salye F. Bentley, who helped him to believe in himself and gave him the self esteem he needed to become an educated, self-motivated man who has chosen to be a community leader.

The retirement committee included Jackie Kinser, Algerna Bradwell, Leon Brooks, Martha Bradwell and Carol Kotkin.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

Nov. 8, 1992

It will be possible for you to be lucky both materially and socially in the year ahead. This could be an exciting cycle with lots of travel and pleasant adventures.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your friends will be willing to go to bat for you today, but don't demand them to do so. Let their desire to help you be self-inspired. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Scorpio's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You should do well today in situations where you strive for some type of personal gain. However, timing is critical, and if you push things too fast, you might stumble over your own two feet.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If your motivation is to do the greatest good for the largest number today, your involvements should turn out quite successful. If the emphasis is the "me" factor, they might not.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're striving for an important objective today that also involves others, use your initiative instead of waiting on them. It will be up to you to establish both the timetable and effort requirement.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be hopeful regarding the outcome of events today; positive thinking will determine the end results. If you nurture self-doubts, you'll impede your progress.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Possibilities for gains through joint ventures look promising today, yet the rewards you anticipate might not live up to your expectations. Thus, don't think excessively.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your cooperative nature will be appreciated by friends today, but there is a chance someone you had problems with previously might not see this splendid side of your character.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In order to get something you want today, it might be necessary for you to first prime the pump. However, don't put in more water than you can get out.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Seek activities today you can enjoy yourself in without having to spend an arm and a leg. Expensive pursuits don't carry guarantees that they will be the most fun.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Focus your efforts today on matters that are meaningful to you materially. This is where you are most likely to long, the day could be over before you know it. Results today will be determined, to a large degree, by the way you anticipate the outcome of events. This is not the time to focus on the negative.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today is a good day to analyze your spending patterns to try to find the holes that have been draining your budget. Improvements can be made - if you're earnest.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Under most conditions, you're not the type of individual to back off from a challenge. However, if circumstances look too difficult today, you might not even make an attempt.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be as helpful as you can to others today, but also be cognizant of your own needs and limitations. If you take on more than you can manage, no one will benefit. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Sometimes when we push too deeply into another's personal affairs, we learn things we're better off not knowing. Don't let your curiosity create this condition today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be extremely tactful today with important associates whose support you presently need. You're on shaky ground in this critical area.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Distasteful tasks you have to perform today could be compounded by a negative attitude. You might not be able to think of them as easy to do, but you can think of them as necessary.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The temptation to take financial risks might be rather pronounced today. Unfortunately, where speculation is concerned, Lady Luck may not be there to back you up. (C)1992, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

IN BRIEF

Lake Mary PTSA meeting set

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary High School PTSA will hold its next general meeting on Monday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Media Center at Lake Mary High School, 685 Longwood-Lake Mary Rd., Lake Mary.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office's CCIB division, will be making a slide and video presentation about the drugs that are effecting our students today.

All parents, students and teachers are encouraged to attend. For more information, contact Debbie Pelo at 334-0289

Poinsettia sale has begun

LONGWOOD — The Lyman Athletic Booster Club is hosting its third annual Poinsettia Sale from now through Nov. 25.

The plants, when they arrive, will be attractive, colorful and full of blooms. All plants are six-and-a-half inches in size and the two cuttings will have about eight to 11 blooms.

The plants will come trimmed with a colorful pot color. The poinsettias are on sale for $6.80 each. Orders should be pre-paid and checks can be made out to the Lyman Booster Club, 885 S. County Road 427 in Longwood.

Delivery will be on the afternoon of Friday, Dec. 4. Pick-ups can be that afternoon or on Saturday, Dec. 5 from 8 a.m. until noon.

For more information call Tom Lawrence in the school's athletic department at 631-5600.

Idylwild Advisory Council to meet

SANFORD — The Idylwild Elementary School Advisory Council will meet on Monday, Nov. 16 from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m.

The topic to be discussed will, once again, be student performance. That topic generated much parent interest last month.

The PTA meeting has been planned to coincide with the PTA-sponsored skating party at the Melodee Skating Rink in Sanford. The skating party will begin at 6:30 p.m.

For more information, call the school at 323-8923.

Retired teachers feted

Gov. Lawton Chiles has signed a proclamation making Sunday, Nov. 15 "Retired Teachers Day."

Local retired teachers will be honored at their churches, organizational meetings and other places.

Engineering a new experience

Horace Garrison, manager of training and development for the Orlando region of Star Enterprises, a subsidiary of Texaco, spoke with students at Lakewood Middle School recently about the ways in which they could use engineering in their education and their future professional lives. He visited the school as part of the Southeastern Consortium for Minorities in Engineering (SECMIE).

Rams plan for a big Homecoming

LAKE MARY — Since September, the Leadership Class has been preparing Lake Mary students for one of the most exciting weeks of the year.

Months of blood, sweat and tears have gone into this year's Homecoming, themed "Southern Nights."

Students involved in Leadership and Student Government have formed committees to discuss and plan activities for the week of Nov. 9-13.

The first major event of the week is the annual drag queen pageant, Miss Ewe, on Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 7 p.m.

At lunch, male contestants will show off their legs in the Miss Legs contest.

Students can vote for the best pair of legs for one cent. Representing different clubs, the participants must dress as women and perform a talent to try to win the Miss Ewe title.

Sponsored by the junior class, this is a fund raiser that will help bring in money for the Prom in the Spring.

The third annual Homecoming Parade will be Wednesday, Nov. 11 at 3:30 p.m.

Twenty parade entries, including the Homecoming court, the football team and the Lake Mary Marching Rams will troop up and down Greenway Boulevard. According to the leadership class, this will be the biggest parade we have ever had.

The Clash of the Classes also will be on Wednesday. The Marionettes, cheerleaders and senior class will present skits, and afterwards, members of each grade will compete with other classes, in contests like tug-o-war and Wacky Olympics, to show which class is best.

The competition starts at 7 p.m.

On Thursday, Nov. 12, the administrators will hold a wall decorating contest. In their first period classes, students will decorate one classroom wall. The subject will be the Homecoming game against Lyman rather than the Southern Nights theme.

The Homecoming game is Friday night with a 7:30 kickoff time.

JV football team earns some respect

SANFORD — In high school, a majority of the time, the spotlight is fixed on the "big shooters" and the small guys are just forgotten or are given little attention at all.

A group of kids that have earned a lot of respect around Seminole High, and the rest of the county, are the players on the Seminole High Junior Varsity football team.

On Oct. 29, they completed their second undefeated season with a trouncing 40-0 victory over the DeLand Bulldogs.

The Seminoles have compiled a 14-game winning streak and no one is more proud of these hard working kids than Ernest McPherson, the Head JV Coach.

During the five seasons McPherson has been head coach, his teams have lost a total of only five games.

When comparing last year's team with this past season's team, McPherson has to consider that three-fourths of last year's team is now playing varsity football, while last year's freshman team and a large number of new players form the bulk of this season's team.

"Defensively, we were the same as a year ago, but offensively, I felt like any play I called we could make a touch down, from coast to coast," McPherson said.

Overall, this year's team stacked up higher due to the great athletic abilities of Clifton Branch, Torion Foster, Willie Jones, Andre Rawlings and many other players.

"At the beginning of the season, I challenged them not to break the streak. So, so we took each game one at a time and beat most of the teams convincingly," said McPherson proudly. "The first step was to make the kids believe they could win and after a while, they thought they couldn't lose."

Local writers, artists named as winners

The Lake Mary-Heathrow Chamber of Commerce recently hosted a Fairy Tale Festival to celebrate the oral, verbal and visual arts.

In addition to a book sale and story telling sessions, the festival focused on the works of members of the community from drawing to writing.

Prizes were given in the categories of coloring, poetry and short stories.

Coloring contest
First prize — Miranda Weber.
Second prize — Erin Brender.
Poetry contest
First prize — Erin Brender.

Michael Reeves, Amanda Coho, Judy Troxell and Terri Sullivan. (Prizes were given in the various age categories.)

Second prize — Chelsea Meska, Sharon Brender and Terri Sullivan.

(Prizes were given in the various age categories.)

Third prize — Erin Martin and Rosella Bonham.

(Prizes were given in the various age categories.)

Short Story contest
First prize (tie) — Jennifer Alexander and Judy Troxell.

The contests were judged by the Seminole Community College Toastmasters Club and the Omni Toastmasters Club of Orlando.

The contest drew quite a few entries from the community though several people entered multiple items and more than one category.

The Chamber of Commerce plans to host the celebration again next year.

Ready to support new principal

SANFORD — There aren't many personal items decorating Bill Moore's office at Sanford Middle School yet.

Moore, the principal, just started in that position last week.

Dan Pelham who had been principal for more than two decades at the helm of the school, retired last month after being offered an early retirement incentive from the school district.

Amid some controversy, Moore was hired to replace him and the school staff, teachers and parents have pledged to work with him for the good of the students.

"We are ready to work with him to help keep this school on the track as one of the best schools in the district," said assistant principal Roger Gardner. "We think Mr. Moore will do a fine job here at Sanford Middle."

Bill Moore

The school is located on a newly-built campus that opened with a great deal of fanfare last year.

The new classroom and administration buildings were built behind the site of the old school, which was built in the 1920s. After the new campus was completed, the old school which had fallen into some disrepair over the years, was demolished.

The school prides itself on working with students to prevent behavior patterns which might later lead the students to drop out of school.

"We work very hard on prevention," Gardner said. Resource officer Mike Taylor has developed a strong drug education program at the school as well.

The Sanford Middle School PTSA is working hard to make sure the transition to the new principal runs smoothly. Principal Bill Moore works with president Kathy Miller, assistant principal Roger Gardner, resource officer Mike Taylor and recording secretary Edwin Midull.
