

Sanford Has New 40,000 Armory For Guard Units

Ten Commissioned Officers, 125 Enlisted Men Located Here

Sanford, like many other American cities, is fortunate in being the home of three units of the Florida allotment, National Guard of the United States. These well trained organizations add a great deal of interest to everyday life in Sanford, and the new 40,000 Armory is an asset to a section of the city that is being developed into beautiful Lake Front Park.

The units located here are designated as Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, Company D, 1st Regiment, 124th Infantry, and the 194th Infantry. Ten commissioned officers and 125 enlisted men comprise the strength of the local organizations. Weekly drill periods are well attended and the facilities of the Armory are taxed each drill night, as the instruction periods are well attended, often by many citizens who are interested in the work carried on by the military units.

Although the primary duty of the National Guard units is to assist the regular police authorities in time of riot and other civil disturbances, it is a fact worth noting that the Guard units have never been mobilized for duty in Sanford, although the local companies have been called for duty in other sections on numerous occasions.

Sanford's military post, under command of Lt. Col. Joseph C. Hestehon always cooperates with all civic bodies, not only individually, but as military units, and the well disciplined units are often seen in military formation on Sanford's streets. The spacious assembly hall of the Armory is used frequently by many organizations in the city for dances, lectures and other entertainment features. The hall seats approximately 800 persons comfortably.

One of the most valuable assets to the city, gained through the military organizations, is the radio station, under the direction of Lt. William D. Hoffman. The station is a member of the Florida Net and is equipped with the latest development in two way communication sets, operating from commercial power, or in emergency, from power generated by its own gasoline power plant. The radio room is an interesting spot and is visited weekly by citizens whose interest is in modern methods of communication. The station has been in contact with hundreds of like stations in almost every state and many foreign countries, and is given a very high rating by Brig. Gen. Vivian Collins, Florida's Adjutant General.

Mather Furniture Co. Stocks Complete Line

Possessing a complete line of furniture and accessories for making a home livable and attractive, the Mather Furniture Company is one of the leading merchandising establishments in Sanford, and boasts a wide assortment of chairs, davenport, beds, linoleum, dressers, dining-room suits, circulating wood heaters and radios.

No piece of furniture which is needed to make a home a place of comfort and beauty is lacking at the Mather Furniture Company, whose management points out that during the metamorphosis of man from a wild savage, with the floor of a cave for a bed, to the modern human being, the appreciation of good furniture has become a universal trait, and the public is ever more demanding the ultimate in quality products at reasonable prices.

Psychology Blamed For Slump In Stocks

BLACKBURN, England, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Sir Joseph Stamp, one of Britain's outstanding economists, warned Britons last night against following America in "blindly" and "grandmotherly" following into a slump.

Speaking to the Blackburn Chamber of Commerce, Sir Joseph, a director of the Bank of England, said: "America is much more necessary to the financial health of the world than we are."

Sanford Receives Honors At F. F. A National Conclave

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25.—(AP) Two Florida boys were among the 100 who received national awards at the National Future Farmers of America convention here.

The awards made for superiority in improved farming, went to Myron Greenell of Homestead, and John R. Jones, Jr., of Sanford. Each state is entitled to one award for each 1,000 boys enrolled in vocational agriculture classes of high schools. There are 143,000 Future Farmers in the United States.

Florida had two official delegates at the national Future Farmers convention. They were J. Lester Poucher of Gainesville and Earl Falcloth of Trenton. They represented the 2,172 members of the organization in this state.

The Seminole Chapter of the organization in Sanford, although not so large as many of the clubs throughout the nation, was tenth place at the national convention.

120 Acre Citrus Grove Bought By C. C. Fosgate Co.

Sale of the 120 acre Arthur S. Cecil citrus grove, located between Altamonte Springs and Forest City, to the Chester C. Fosgate Company, was announced recently. The big grove is planted mostly to oranges, but a considerable acreage of grapefruit is included. The amount of the transaction was not stated.

The youngest trees in the grove are between 12 and 15 years old, while some of the oldest citrus include some big seedling trees. The land is rolling and located in the middle of an important citrus growing district—not far from the Fosgate packing house in Forest City.

Purchase of the 120 acre tract brings the Chester C. Fosgate Company's grove holdings to more than 1,000 acres, it was learned. Fosgate Company also cares for an additional 2,000 acres for growers each season. The blocs are located in various parts of the Central Florida area. The Fosgate packing house, while not the largest in size, is nevertheless the busiest producing unit among the State's packing plants, the seasonal shipments from this single house having exceeded by a considerable margin the total for any other single citrus packing plant in the State last season. State figures, compiled by Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo, show that Fosgate's Forest City packing house, which is located only a few miles northwest from Orlando, shipped exactly 675,007 boxes of citrus fruit during the 1936-37 shipping season.

Figures showing what prices were paid for fruit-on-the-tree (net to the grower) last season were compiled recently at Forest City headquarters and showed that early and mid-season oranges averaged $1.33 2-10 per box; grapefruit, 83 1-2 cents; tangerines, 53 1-2 cents; Valencia oranges, $2.33. These were the average amounts paid growers by the Fosgate organization.

Trade Body Has Large Membership

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has the largest per capita membership of any commercial organization in the State of Florida, and one of the largest in the entire South, according to T. E. Simpson, Chamber President. "We are justly proud of our large representative membership," commented Mr. Simpson, "but we are even prouder of the high rating given our organization because of its accomplishments, for the worth of any organization is measured by the service which it renders. The past twelve months saw many definite accomplishments; the coming twelve months will bring to fruition many efforts already initiated.

"The Chamber is proud of its long and successful record, and toward the future it looks with confidence in its ability to continue and improve its service to Seminole County, to Florida and to the South," concluded President Simpson.

Mr. Simpson might also have mentioned the fact that the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce closed its fiscal year September 30 with all bills paid and a substantial cash balance on hand. That is news for a Chamber of Commerce.

DIRIGIBLE SERVICE
MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Regular dirigible passenger service between Moscow and Sverdlovsk, a distance of 850 miles, is planned for next year, following test flights with a 12-passenger airship that made the trip in 26 hours. It is planned to extend the line to Krasnoyarsk, Siberia.

Farmer's Market Fulfills Need Of Buyer And Seller

Produce Mart Strives To Lighten Burden Of Agriculturists

By J. G. MICHAEL
Before arriving at any conclusion as to the advantages, or disadvantages, of the Sanford State Farmers' Wholesale Market to Florida farmers and growers, or as to the progress that it has made since its establishment in January 1935, many things, not generally apparent, should be taken into consideration. These cannot all be taken up in this article.

However, in order for a farmer to sell his product, a buyer must be available, and also, in order to get a buyer, and keep him, the farmer must be in position to supply this buyer with the various commodities he needs. The grocer must have a customer, the customer must have the grocer.

No one section of Florida grows all commodities needed by the buyers at any one time. Our own County of Seminole has plenty of celery, cabbage, and a few other commodities during the winter months. It does not have the more tender vegetables such as tomatoes, beans, squash, peppers, etc., to supply during these months. Therefore, no Seminole County farmer can completely "supply the trade" during the Fall, Winter and Spring shipping seasons. If the "trade" cannot be taken care of properly by "us" in the commodities it needs, volume business cannot be transacted.

One of the purposes of this Market is to provide a point where buyers can come and secure the many different commodities they need, and where farmers can assemble and sell to these buyers.

Truck buyers are "volume buyers," generally, in only five or six commodities, namely, citrus, cabbage, beans, tomatoes, celery, and, to some extent, red bliss potatoes. Other commodities are sold in quantities, yes, but the loads are usually "built around" the six commodities mentioned, and we believe, most loads leaving the State are mixed loads. Therefore, if a truck buying a mixed load the bulk of which is tomatoes or beans, he would very likely go to some other section of the State for those items, and also fill in the balance of his load with other items that he might be able to pick up in that section. Seminole County farmers would not be able to sell him his celery, cabbage, root vegetables, etc. It is for that reason that so much effort has been made to make available to buyers all varieties and kinds of fruit and vegetables possible.

The Market could not hope to have the number of buyers it has if only grown produce is available.

A farmer, to sell on the Sanford Market, does not have to rent a "stand" by the day, week, month, or year. Any farmer in Florida can bring his produce to the Market and by paying a small fee, averaging less than one cent per package, sell his own goods to any buyer. We do not believe that farmers are taking advantage of this method of selling as much as they should and we hope that in the future advantage will be taken of this feature to a greater extent.

The Market is always striving to provide better, and more convenient, facilities for those who patronize it. Full telegraph service is available, including money order service, through the telegraph office on the platform. An up-to-date citrus packing house has just been completed. An ice house is on the ground and also a complete gasoline filling station. The Federal State Market News Service has its office in the building and State citrus inspectors are located on the platform. Federal inspectors are available during the celery shipping season. At this writing, it seems that a complete restaurant, barber shop, and shower bath, to be housed in a new building, are assured.

Don't sell the Sanford State Farmers' Wholesale Market short! Its growth and development will be in proportion to the backing it receives from the farmers themselves. Commissioner of Agriculture, Nathan Mayo, said on Dec. 11, 1934, "Farmers, the Market is yours, USE IT!"

Walter L. Cooper Recommends Home And "Hunk Of Dirt" For Contentment

By WALTER L. COOPER
The greatest material value in the world is "A Hunk of Dirt." Our very existence depends on it. Nearly everything we use in life comes from it. The food we eat. The clothes we wear. The fuel we use for heat and power. The lumber, brick, minerals, chemicals, paints and a hundred other things necessary to build homes, public buildings, palaces, railroads, ships that sail the seas and planes that fly through the clouds. Mountains, valleys, parks and farms. Grand estates, landscapes, highways and boulevards. Beautiful trees, flowers, fruits, vegetables, even the birds, insects, animals and humans depend almost entirely on life from "A Hunk of Dirt." A double handful has been known to be worth more than a million dollars when it contained a diamond. The careful examination of "A Hunk of Dirt" has revealed the deposit of gold, silver and other valuable metals worth billions of dollars.

If you have never owned "A Hunk of Dirt" you have missed a great thrill in your life. It is your first step to wealth and happiness. It is something that is real.

God created "A Hunk of Dirt" that you may enjoy the beauties of the world and have a place for a home, a garden where delicious vegetables grow from the seed, for you to watch the gorgeous rose bloom in all its glory and be soothed by the sweet fragrance of many flowers and the song of the birds in the trees.

Real contentment is the treasure for those who own a home and a "Hunk of Dirt."

Standard Group Has Been In Van Of Co-Operatives

Growers Association Has Sought To Improve Grade, Pack

In 1930 an organization was formed among the vegetable growers of Seminole County for the purpose of furthering the interests of growers, dealers and consumers through co-operative effort in improving and standardization of grades and packs, as well as the reduction of production and marketing costs.

The name Standard Growers Association was given the organization, and each year since its birth its members has received help in every way, its field force supplying information and assistance in production and harvesting practices, and its sales force constantly searching for advantageous markets.

Celery is the principal item produced by the organization's members, although other crops such as lettuce, escarole, romaine, cabbage and beans are also produced in considerable volume, all of which is marketed throughout the United States and Canada.

John Melech, Sr., is President, R. B. Chapman, Vice-President, and J. B. Cagburn, Secretary and Treasurer, and Sales Manager, who, together with the board of directors and members, have made Standard Growers Association a "Hall Mark" of honesty and fair dealing among the entire growing and vegetable shipping industry.

Seminole County ranked second in the shipments of lettuce from Florida to northern markets last year.

A New Problem Arises

Some of those who have been bickering the government's spending policies with optimism, and have predicted predictions of serious inflation if such policies persist, are having a great time these days showing the conservatives how wrong they were, now that the stock market has actually gone into a slump, and instead of an orgy of inflation, or reckless boomtime period, another depression seems almost upon us.

One of those writing in a metropolitan newspaper purports to show that in spite of the abandonment of the gold standard, of the devaluation of the dollar, of the borrowing of over twenty million dollars in the past few years, and the circulation of this enormous amount of money among the people, and in spite of numerous other devices which have been employed for inflating the currency of the country, not only have Wall Street prices gone into a slump, but the prices of agricultural products and manufactured commodities in general are dropping.

The trouble is, he says, we haven't inflated enough. If this man and others like him had studied the history of the German inflation, or inflation as it has been carried out in practically every other country, he would know that he is merely repeating the argument of every other inflationist who has brought his country to ruin. He says the money has ever deliberately destroyed the value of its currency. No responsible person has ever advocated that inflation should be carried to the point where piles of paper money are needed to buy a cheap cigar.

What they do advocate is "just a little inflation" to boost prices to former levels, to give the debtor a chance to pay with the same kind of money that he borrowed, to start money circulating again. Governments which have tried this have found an immediate stimulus to business. As the money is printed, or borrowed, by the government and put into the hands of the people, they promptly spend it and of course business picks up. The inflationists promptly claim they have been vindicated.

But when the money which the government has handed the people has been spent, and the government tries to halt its inflationary process, refusing to give them any more, ostensibly on the pretext of balancing the budget, then business begins to slump again, prices decline, and unemployment increases. Whereupon the inflationists immediately cry out, that what is needed is a little more inflation. "The government didn't give us enough," they say. A little more inflation, and normal prosperity would return.

That is what they are saying now in this country. And we have no idea what our country is going to do about it. But in Germany shortly after the war when that cry was raised, the government gave them a little more inflation. It helped for a while, and then as the government tried to call a halt, business slumped again. Hence a little more inflation was needed. This went on and on, with the government never quite courageous enough to face the music and bring its expenditures within the limitations of its receipts. As a consequence the value of German currency was totally destroyed, and none suffered more than the poor.

And so the economists who have said that the unbalanced budget of the past few years was a dangerous policy leading to inflation have not yet been completely disproved by the events in Wall Street during the past few weeks. It remains to be seen with what courage the government faces its new problem.

The Elks Accident Campaign

Thoroughly aroused by the rapidly increasing toll of highway accidents, the national Order of Elks, under the able leadership of Charles Spencer Hart, has undertaken a National Safety Plan by which it is hoped to convince the motoring public of the importance of careful driving, the necessity for eliminating dangerous crossings and curves, and the importance of rigid enforcement of traffic ordinances.

Pointing out that last year 1,800 Elks were killed in automobile accidents, the Grand Exalted Ruler remarks that as a consequence no less than six lodges, with estimated membership of 300, were completely wiped out. This is an appalling toll of life and one which should give rise to concern among other organizations. How many Rotary clubs were wiped out last year? How many American Legion Posts?

But carrying his statistical analysis a bit further, Mr. Hart says that 37,400 persons were killed in auto accidents last year, that more than 1,800,000 were injured sufficiently to necessitate their going to a hospital for treatment. This means that one person out of every hundred was so injured, that one person out of every twenty families was sent to the hospital by a highway accident. Think of the grief and the suffering that this carelessness causes! Think of the hospital and doctors' bills which have to be paid!

But what is infinitely worse, it seems to us, is that next year another 1,800,000 persons, and perhaps more, will be sent to the hospital by auto accidents. The accident toll is constantly increasing. The situation is getting steadily worse. More and more people are being killed every year. More and more people are being injured. Perhaps your family is not included among these statistics showing the number of those sent to hospitals. But what about next year? And the year after?

Unless drastic action is taken to prevent automobile accidents, sooner or later practically every family in the country will be bereaved because of the death of a serious injury of some member of it as a result of an automobile wreck. We are infuriated over the cruel bombing of helpless Chinese and are almost ready to go to war to put a stop to it. But what about careless reckless killing of women and children? Every year thousands of them are hopelessly maimed, crippled for life or killed outright.

We are glad to see the Elks organization preparing to do something about it. It is high time that the steady climb of these death figures be halted. All right thinking people will co-operate 100 percent and wish them the utmost success in their undertaking.

WHERE THERE is one Englishman there is a garden. Where there are two Englishmen there will be a club. But this does not mean any falling off in the number of gardens. There will be three. The club will have one, too. A. W. Smith in The Atlantic Monthly.

MEN BEAR trouble the machine of their lives, and create a machine they call money.—John Oliver Hobbes.

CIO Proposes Lewis Control Of Federation

He said the Federation groups wanted to know "who these new unions are, with whom they are affiliated, and what they are."

"We asked the Federation committee to submit to us the same kind of information relative to the newer groups brought into the A. F. of L. since the C. I. O. was organized," Murray added.

Agreed with this information, both groups are preparing specific proposals as to how the 4,700,000 organized workers claimed as members by the C. I. O. and the 2,000,000 claimed by the A. F. of L. can be reunited under one banner.

Such unity, President William Green of the Federation warned last night, must be under the banner of the A. F. of L. The C. I. O. has no objection to rejoining the Federation provided—and this "if" is the crux of the whole dispute—their principles of industrial unionism are accepted.

The A. F. of L. group had entered negotiations fully authorized to sign a "peace treaty" or effect a truce. The C. I. O. delegates were committed to a four-point program:

1. Recognition of industrial unionism.

2. Guarantee that the present C. I. O. membership be guaranteed in the A. F. of L. intact and not partitioned among the Federation's craft unions.

3. Delay of final consideration of these two issues until a joint "unity conference" of 80 to 100 from each side is convened.

4. Agreement by the C. I. O. to return to the "banner of the A. F. of L." and to accept William Green as president.

McLucas Preps Seminole Warriors For Clash With Ocala Friday Night

Indian-Wildcat Clash Will Be Feature Game Of Conference Play During Coming Week

Local Eleven Emerged From DeLand Tilt Safe From Injuries And Squad Also In Good Mood For Friday Battle

Head Coach Leonard McLucas and his 1937 edition of the Seminole High School Indians went through their initial workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for their contest with the Ocala Wildcats that will be played in Sanford's own backyard stadium Friday evening of this week.

Ocala will bring to Sanford a team that has yet to be defeated in Northwest Conference play and a team that will be hard to beat but Coach McLucas' boys say that it can be done. Ocala has won four Conference victories while Sanford has won two and dropped one and that to Lake City after wins over Bufile and DeLand.

The winning of the game Friday night by the local aggressives would mean that they will win a great bid for the leadership of the conference but a defeat would mark their near failure. The Indians are not over-confident or not under-confident but have the right spirit needed when they are scheduled to go into a hard battle.

The local group has two of the hardest games on the 1937 schedule planned for the next two weeks as they are with Ocala and Orlando and an advantage will be held over both eleven in weight division, experience and also the home grounds will be the setting.

If Sanford wins over Ocala this week and Orlando upsets Lee, Sanford can expect one of the largest crowds in the history of the school's football season to see the Indian-Tiger war. The team emerged from the DeLand game in excellent condition and they are working hard on their double wingback plays which chiefly combines many returns and razzle-dazzle style of play. The hidden ball system in the double wingback division will be another of the advantages that Seminole will have over Ocala. Although the double wingback plays were used in the DeLand tilt they are still not run as Coach McLucas wants them so that will probably be the Indian mentor's chief motive in this week's practice session.

Casey Stengel Returns To Major League With Bees

Will Replace Former Manager McKechnie As Boston Leader

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The Boston Bees yesterday named Casey Stengel, former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, as their pilot for 1938, succeeding former Manager William H. McKechnie.

Stengel was named to replace McKechnie, who was fired after a losing record in 1937. Stengel, who played for the Boston Braves and New York Yankees, is being offered a contract for two years.

Stengel managed the Brooklyn club three years, finishing sixth in 1934, fifth in '35 and seventh in '36 after a distinguished playing career with the New York Giants in the early 1920's. McKechnie, who piloted the Bees to fifth place last year, with mediocre material, left Boston to go with the Cincinnati Reds at a substantial increase in salary.

It was the second time Quinn had signed Stengel as manager. In 1934, when Quinn was directing the Brooklyn club, he closed a deal with Stengel after the Dodgers management had decided to let out Manager Max Carey.

Quinn said he had been in doubt of signing Stengel for the Bees until he reached him on the telephone. "I turned down Casey's request for the job the day after the World Series," he said, "explaining that I had two others in mind—Donnie Bush of Minneapolis and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs. When I couldn't get either of them I feared Casey might already have taken any one of five minor league offers he's had, including Kansas City. 'Casey,' asked Quinn, 'do you want to come with us next year?' 'I'd be delighted to,' came the metallic reply. 'Okay, you've got the job.'

Backfield Ace Of Hatters Is Again Injured

Stew Ryan Suffers Second Injury In Past Three Weeks

DELAND, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Stew Ryan's hopes of defeating Erskine College here Friday night took a mighty tumble when he was out of the Tampa game with a head wound, injured his left ankle in practice at Hulley field yesterday afternoon.

Just rounding into shape after a slight concussion suffered in the South Georgia teachers game here Oct. 2, Ryan was expected to play a leading role against the seceders.

More misery for Hatter supporters came with the announcement by Coach Brady Cowell that Lynn Warren, triple-threat backfield star, "probably" would not see action Friday because of a bad cold. And just to make the picture complete, Ed Furlong, Giant tackle, is watching the sidelines because of a leg injury suffered in the Tampa battle.

With the squad reduced to 24, it was necessary to call on the game-worn freshman for an hour's scrimmage, but the Baby Hatters, bruised from a terrific 49-12 beating in Miami Saturday, were no match for their big brothers and the varsity marched through their flimsy line for consistent gains.

"They look pretty ragged," Cowell said in reference to the general all-around play of his gridders. "and they'll have to do better than they're doing this afternoon if they expect to stop that 'flying fleet' from Erskine." The only optimistic feature of the session was the accurate placement kicking of Willard Anderson and the fine-plunging of Lanier Smith, diminutive fullback. Some flashes of brilliance were quickly overshadowed by "boneheaded" plays and ineffective blocking.

Freak Play By Yale Back Is New Problem To Game Rule-Makers

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Clint Frank, Yale's All-American back, found himself spotlighted yesterday as the leading man in a football play that threatens to become a new problem for rule makers and officials.

The play occurred late in the third quarter of the Yale-Cornell game here Saturday which Yale won, 9 to 0. With the ball on the loser's 23-yard line, fourth down and 10 yards to go, Frank faked back to the 40 and shot a long, high forward pass deep into Cornell's end zone without

Cincinnati Not To Have Agreement In '38 With DeLand

DELAND, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, National League baseball team, informed officials here last night it would not renew its working agreement next season with the DeLand Florida State League team.

Warren C. Giles vice-president and general manager of the Cincinnati organization, said in a letter that "for various reasons" he was restricting class D operations. The Florida club is in a class D league.

The letter was in reply to overtures to have the Cincinnati buy the DeLand Reds outright. A working agreement had been in effect for two years.

"The geographical location of DeLand makes it difficult for us to handle and follow the progress of players," wrote Giles. "Therefore I hope you are not counting on any affiliation with our club next year. For various reasons I am going to restrict our class D operations and those we are interested in will probably be nearer at hand."

A single Yale player leaving the line of scrimmage. The question today was whether "Frank had deliberately grounded a forward pass to gain ground, which involves a technically by the rules. The officials called the ball a touchback and handed the ball to Cornell on its 26. An advance of eight yards for Yale.

Henry L. Gray Is Again Named State Loop Head

Gray's Salary Also Named At $1,200 For Coming Season

At the annual Fall meeting of the Florida State Baseball League Board of Directors held yesterday in Palatka, Henry L. Gray, a Gainesville attorney whose first year's term as president of the loop found him tendering an annual report revealing a treasury balance of $2,304.94, was re-elected by acclamation by the group and became the league's first salaried president.

Directors, meeting in the Analea City, voted to give Mr. Gray an annual salary, $1,200, and also pay his entire expenses to the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs yearly meeting to be held in Milwaukee during the first week of December.

In a harmonious session attended by representatives of all clubs save Leesburg, the directors also re-elected Al Combs of Gainesville as vice president, and Peter Schaal of Orlando as secretary-treasurer. When Director Rex Packard of Sanford raised a point as to the president's authority in leaving a Sanford victory over Leesburg, President Gray pointed out that rules approved by Minor League President W. G. Bramham, he was within his rights in applying a disciplinary measure of this type.

He explained that the fine followed a warning that Sanford would feel a stiffer penalty should spectators again swarm upon the field, and added that the forfeiture was imposed as a penalty aimed at protecting the fans from themselves.

Bolles Academy Of Jacksonville To Play Here Nov. 11

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 24.—Coach Kenneth Eppert of Bolles Academy last night expressed fear that two of his regular backs would be unable to play in Thursday night's game with St. Paul's on Cawthon Field.

Timer O'Reilly, star punter and quarterback, had to be treated for a stomach ailment yesterday and Edward Beverly, right half, may not be eligible for the fray because of a temporary scholastic deficiency.

Eppert, of course, hopes Beverly can make up his work and O'Reilly's ailment will not prove serious. If O'Reilly is able to play, he will take over the tailback spot and Charles Nuckola will take over the quarterback assignment. The Cadets were instructed yesterday in the defense that will be used against St. Paul's and heard their mentors point out the mistakes they committed against Fletcher last Friday.

Waldo Block, regular end, has a painful Charley Horse but he should be able to play Thursday night. Out in Riverside, Coach Charlie Jones drilled his charges on protesting the Kicker. St. Paul's has had four punts blocked this season in three games and Jones wants no more of it. The Riveriders also polished up their aerial game. St. Paul's, if Capt. Alfred Price recovers from a bad cold, will be in the best shape of the season for the Cadets.

St. Paul's scored out a 7-8 decision over Bolles last year and another close game is expected this season. Bolles will outweigh St. Paul's, but the Riveriders hope their superior speed will offset their lack of avoirdupois.
