HERRIOT MADE CHAMBER HEAD AS FISTS FLY

Selection of Former Premier As Leader Comes After Being Slighted At First

Vote Is Unanimous On Second Ballot

Calliaux May Endure Second Hot Session Today Before Senate

PARIS, April 23.—Edouard Herriot, former Premier, was elected to the coveted presidency of the Chamber of Deputies Wednesday in one of the fiercest sessions ever staged here. He suffered a studied front from the opposition, however, as Mr. Herriot was the only candidate who failed election on the first ballot, his supporters 206 of 313 constituting a majority of the Chamber majority, necessary for a win.

On the second ballot he was re-elected, 267 to 1, the negative vote, it was learned, was cast by Mr. Herriot himself.

Fight Reaches Rostrum

Fight fighting is no novelty in the French lower house, but Wednesday the fighting officers expressed the greatest indignation that the deputies should carry their rioting into the rostrum itself, even up to the chair of the speaker. He was immediately ordered to rise, but as a signal that the session was suspended.

This conflict ensued during the second balloting, when Deputy Ballastras charged that 10 deputies had violated the rules. Two Socialist deputies attacked him, and the fight became general.

Cabinet Triumvirate—Painlevé, Calliaux and Briand—Face the Senate Today and Will Ask for a Vote of Confidence on the Ministry

The cabinet presented Wednesday morning a bill to amend the law of a body, half the members of which sit in judgment upon him when he is sentenced to imprisonment and exile, stripped of his civil rights.

Through it is expected that the Senate will not oppose the bill, there is no concealment of strong hostility to Calliaux in the upper house.

Tradition Is Followed?

The Senate is credited with the tradition of following tradition and allowing the new ministry to propose definite plans and specific bills before it passes judgment. M. Calliaux's tactics in refusing to propose the traditional Wednesday program are taken as proof that he will confine himself to financial matters before the Senate.

FLORIDA'S MELON RAISERS SEEKING FREE SHIPMENTS

Four High Grade Milkers State Raiser, Are Giving Five Gallons Each Daily By Proper Care, Feeding

GAINESVILLE, Apr. 22.—With the shipping season only a few weeks distant, watermelon growers of the state are making an effort to prevent the shipping tie-up which resulted last year from refusal of Georgia authorities to permit Florida watermelons packed in pine straw from areas infested with cattle fever tick to enter the state of Georgia. According to Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, who enforces the Georgia law, two classes of packing material are acceptable to the authorities of the state.

The first of these two classes is clean excelsior. The second is pine straw, hay, bagasse, etc., grown and baled in tick-free territory and handled so as to prevent infestation while in tick-infested territory.

Part of Dr. Bahnsen's letter to the agricultural college authorities of the University of Florida in response to a request for his ruling on the subject follows:

"The following materials, properly handled so as to avoid cattle fever tick infestation, are acceptable to Georgia when used for packing or bedding in shipments from the tick-infested and quarantined areas.

"Native excelsior or other new mill products.

"Hay, straw, bagasse and similar material grown and baled outside of the tick-infested or quarantined area and shipped therefrom in cleaned and disinfected cars. Such materials must be handled at all points in the infested and quarantined area so as not to become infested with ticks.

"When hay, straw, or bagasse are used, the shipper must make affidavit that the materials used did not originate in the tick-infested and quarantined area and that it has been so handled, since shipped into the tick-infested and quarantined area, as to prevent infestation with the cattle fever tick."

Showing Up, Says Research Bureau

NEW YORK, Apr. 23.—The continuing investigation of income in the United States and its change year to year, as reported by the research bureau of the National Bureau of Economic Research, of this city, both the birth rate and the death rate are falling, while immigrating accounts for only one-fifth of the annual population increase of continental United States. The total population figure for Jan. 1, 1924, estimate of 112,634,000 on Jan. 1, 1924, and the census count of 105,711,000 in 1920.

Continuing the bureau says that the estimated gain during the year 1924 was 1,627,000, which is approximately 100,000 less than the average gain for the last five years. This year of greatest gain since 1920 was 1923, when the population grew by 1,996,000. In the 16 year period the year of greatest gain was 1909 when 2,177,000 were added.

The natural increase of population through excess of births over deaths was four times the amount added by net immigration in 1924, the bureau's figures declare.

In 1923 net immigration was 215,000, while births are estimated at 2,392,000 and death at 1,333,000. Since the number of deaths has tended to remain constant, while births have increased by nearly 11 per cent and the population has grown by some 21 per cent.

Of the total population, 38 out of every hundred persons are engaged in some gainful occupation that is working for a direct money income.

This study of population growth was made by Dr. Willford I. King, of the bureau's research staff, as a part of the bureau's general and

Has Bright Future, Edsel Ford Thinks

DETROIT, Mich., Apr. 23.—An optimistic outlook for foreign trade at least as far as it affects the automobile, was expressed here recently by Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, who at the same time made public the fact that a new company has been incorporated in Japan to be known as the Ford Motor Company of Japan, Ltd., and that an assembly plant will be established in Yokohama, the first to be opened in the Orient.

"Improving economic conditions abroad have made a large expansion program imperative and the formation of our new company in Japan is simply a part of the general plan," Mr. Ford said.

All Past Records Declares Walthall

But good as winter business was, our April sales are going at a rate just twice as fast," says W. E. Walthall, Hudson-Essex dealer.

"For example, the first part of April has a volume of new Hudson-Essex cars sold and registered—about 90 per cent of them being coaches—which is double our average volume for the year. This is despite the fact that our winter business was consistently good," he declared.

"It all goes to show that there is something in the air of spring that wakes up a man's motoring

Push from the sod.
The trees and fields that were so bare
Just seem to know it's time to wear
A new attire.
The brooks and streams now raise their song,
Since for a while that seemed so long
They could not speak.
The wooded hills send back their lay,
When countless feathered throats
Warble in tune.
The fragrant scent of new-turned ground,
The leafy stirrings—all these sound
The call of spring.
It seems always in days of spring
That mother Nature wants to bring
A new, clean world.
For there is something always near
In spring's most wholesome atmosphere
Your spirit calls.
And even in the sunset's glow,
Or twilight notes that lull us so,
All there is a calm.

...monial ties. Not often, but sometimes you wonder why these men are like they are and when you do, perhaps you can't find a logical solution.

But the New York Times has some pretty good ideas on the subject and may be it knows why the bachelor you know is a bachelor. At least the Times knows a lot of good reasons why many married men should have remained single. It says the man who should have never married is:

"The man who talks about 'supporting' a wife when she is working fourteen hours a day, including Sundays.

"The man who thinks it is 'all nonsense' for a woman to want a ten cent bunch of pansies or violets, when she hasn't seen a flower for five months.

"The man who thinks a woman's bonnet ought to cost seventy-five cents.

"The man who thinks his wife exists for the comfort and convenience of his mother and sisters.

"The man who provides himself with a family and trusts Providence to provide the family with a home and something to eat.

"The man who thinks that women are angels.

"The man who thinks that nobody but an angel is good enough to be his wife.

"The man who thinks that a woman ought to give up a thousand-dollar salary and work in his kitchen for her board and a few clothes, and be glad of the chance.

"The man who thinks a five-year-old worsted street gown is the proper sort of toilet for a dinner party or a reception.

"The man who labors under the delusion that his wife's money belongs to him.

"The man who thinks a parlor carpet ought to last fifteen years.

"The man who has seventy-five dollars' worth of fishing tackle and can't afford a new set of curtains for the dining room.

"The man who always leaves his wife at home when he takes his summer vacation.

"The man who doesn't know what on earth a woman wants with money when she has a bill at the dry goods store.

"The man who thinks a sick wife would feel better if she would 'just get up and stir around.'

"The man who forgets his manners as soon as he crosses his own threshold.

"The man who thinks he can keep house better than his wife does.

"The man who thinks there is 'no place like home'—for grumbling and growling?

IN AN advertisement W. L. George, British writer, mentions five things that interfere with success. They are shyness, impatience, working too hard, which destroys originality, forgetfulness and talking too much.

ALL THOSE things can be conquered. Louis XI was shy, but one of the greatest kings France ever had.

Napoleon was outrageously impatient; he kicked the great philosopher Volney in the stomach when he couldn't answer his arguments.

Buffon, who worked too hard was one of the greatest naturalists. Tycho-Brahe worked too hard, so did Copernicus, Kepler, Galileo, Descartes, Newton, and almost everybody else that ever amounted to much.

AS FOR forgetfulness, it doesn't matter if you remember important things. And talking too much is a matter of temperament. Disraeli Prime Minister of Great Britain, made Victoria Empress of India, and bossed many Britishers who said very little, because they thought very little.

TWO MISFORTUNES do really interfere with success. One is conceit, which keeps you from trying; the other is lack of brains, that causes failure even if you try.

SECRETARY MELLON understands business and money, having gathered together four or five hundred millions dollars—perhaps more.

The people are fortunate in having him to look after their money and they will up to the mark in protecting the Federal Reserve from attacks which he believes are to be made upon it.

By the Federal Reserve this country was saved from the blackest kind of panic after the war, and a panic almost, as black in the beginning of the war, when frightened speculators closed the Stock Exchange and prepared for doom. Thanks to the Federal Reserve Bank that instead of the doom they feared they had a boom.

THE LIST of stockholders in the big steel company shows that President Coolidge owns 50 shares, worth a little less than $8,000 at present prices. That ought to put steel up a little and have more effect than the buying of 50,000 shares by some professional speculator.

THE PRESIDENT has contributed this to the language of the poultry dealers: Asked whether you should say "a hen sits or sets" he replies, "That isn't important. But when a hen cackles, it is important to know whether she is laying or lying.

That will interest your small boy. It applies to politicians, editors, etc., as well as to hens.

When the French do anything it's done thoroughly. They apply especially to their determined effort to keep control of the new great world ocean, the air above us.

To facilitate night flying, France establishes on a high spot near Dijon the first great air light house.

THIS GIGANTIC light of one billion candle power, covering a radius of 800 kilometers, will light French fliers from Paris to Algiers. A few such lights would make night flying possible around the world.

Fifty years hence, high powered telescopes on another, older planet, may reveal our powerful night lights for fliers. The Martian will say, "That backward little 'earth' is waking up."

FOUR MORE railroads will be made into one system, if there is no government objection — and there probably won't be any. The Union Pacific, M. K. & T., I. R. & N., and Kansas City Southern will be under one control.

The bigger the better; combination means economy, and that's good for the public, even if it doesn't get the money saved.

THERE OUGHT to be one gigantic railroad system in the United States, owned by the people, managed and run in their interest, purchased at a fair price from the present owners. But it seems our government lacks the ability or the honesty to undertake that. They do it well in Canada, France and Germany. We shall learn here eventually.

WITH HIS hand on his sword, tens of thousands of trained men, "goose stepping" before him, old Hindenburg, a powerful fighting Marshal of Germany, most heroic figure of the war on the German side, says he will revive the German army if he is made President, and will get for Germany her place in the sun.

His election as German President would mean a new shift in the European kaleidoscope.

THE SOFT ANSWER
BY ANGELO PATRI

Bringing up children is a life-size job. If a woman has four children, the oldest of which is little more than five years old, and does the work of the household herself, there will be no time left for much else than sleep and even then that will not be guaranteed. Under the conditions it is not too much to ask that the father try to understand a little of the task his wife is struggling under and do the very best he can to help a little. Most men can do nothing with a baby. That is merely the lack of practice for when a man sets himself to the job he can handle an infant as easily and gracefully as any woman. All he needs is a little practice, a little encouragement from his wife, and a desire to be of service to his children.

Of course he is tired when he comes home in the evening. He has been working all day and the worries and vexations of the struggle have left his nerves lumpy and perhaps his temper a little edgy. But his wife has worked all day, too, and she is quite as over-tired and weary as he. Instead of allowing the situation to induce him to explode in wrathful denunciations of "these children," he ought to take a tighter hold on himself and lend a hand.

By and by, when he gets too wrought up to hold in another minute he can go down cellar or out in the backyard and let it out in the nervous world at large. That will relieve his feelings and do nobody else any harm. If it does any good to kick the door out under the steps that won't hurt either.

But don't use the children and their mother as an outlet. That does no good and plenty of harm. Children who are brought up in that atmosphere carry it abroad with them and it shows in their bullying tone and manners. They make use of harsh terms, they take the short cut in the amenities and soon, too soon, they are without friends but "friendly" world.

"These children have no manners. They are bossy and very selfish. The best way to do with them is to give them a wide berth. Let them stay by themselves," people soon say.

This happened because the children listened to harsh words, impatient tones, selfish tirades and flat findings. They have imitated the spirit of those about them in word and deed, and the result is unhappiness for everybody concerned. Mother is worn out and dispirited and the bad reports from school are the last straw. Father has discovered that there is nothing in his home but discord and recriminations and is downcast and disheartened.

It takes two to make a family and father is by no means the lesser of the two. His work is not done, his share has not been offered, when he has supplied the money for the material things of the home. Fatherhood goes a long way past the financing stage. It reaches into the spirit of the household itself. Food and shelter given and love withheld, sterve the soul and kill the body. Love will provide all that is necessary either way and the children will carry successful living from the home that is so truly served. Father counts.

TAMPA'S POPULATION
ORLANDO REPORTER-STAR

The rise of Tampa to first place in the populations of Florida cities is no surprise to those who have been watching developments in that city and who have kept in touch with the general business trend of the world. Tampa is a seaport city. It is a business city. There is no getting away from the fact that cities grow by their year-round pay roll. All purely resort cities soon reach their climax and then either stand still or go backward. Tampa has built on the solid rock of industry; and Tampa has won on the basis. America is a country of sturdy men and women. This is what has made it the greatest nation in the world. The fiber and the person of a sturdiness of inherited wealth have not made any city in America. It's the busy people with some definite aim in life who lay the foundations for government and build cities. This accounts for Tampa's growth. Jacksonville will always remain an important city because it will always be the gateway to south Florida. Jacksonville can not hope to compete with Palm Beach, Miami or St. Petersburg in attracting tourists. But Jacksonville, too, has built up permanent industries and is a great railroad center. It is a beautiful city possessing good stores, hotels and parks. It will entertain visitors to south Florida both going and coming. Jacksonville will continue to grow.

Cities like Orlando and Lakeland that have reached the places of importance in the development of south Florida, have the double advantage of being so favorably located that they are popular with a substantial class of tourists, and they are surrounded by the most productive lands of the state when we take into account the citrus industry, which is both an industry and an attraction, and the general farming and gardening that is carried on. Both these cities are railroad centers with many thriving industries. There is no escaping the fact that the country designated by the federal agricultural department as "the backbone of Florida" and extending from Sanford to the Gulf, taking in all the ridge country of Lake Alfred, Lake Wales, the Babson Park section, on down to Sarasota and Bradenton, and west to include Alachua, Marion and other counties reaching to the bay, constitute the backbone of Florida in a double sense. And this section will continue to flourish and grow in prosperity and population.

THE FORD METHODS
MIAMI TRIBUNE

The Ford Motor Company made an average profit of $47 on every car, truck and tractor sold last year. This includes the sale of parts and supplies. The profits of the company for 1924 were more than $100,000,000. More than $47,000,000 of this went into expansion of new work. The total investment in machinery, equipment and real estate is $227,130,618. The book value of the stock of the company is $3,123 per share.

H. C. Forbes discusses the question of how far her Ford can continue to expand without becoming too-heavy, but finds no ready answer. He assigns twenty reasons for Ford's success—every one of which have been and yet are available to every business man and corporation. They have generally been rejected because tainted with socialistic tendencies—but his contented workmen and $100,000,000 a year profit stand out as an irrefutable answer. Many years ago the Standard Oil Company adopted similar methods, and today the General Electric and a number of other public service corporations are following the same path. What one man, without special business training, can accomplish within a few years ought to be easy for a group of so-called efficiency experts.

JOHNSON PROVES PUZZLE TO NICK CARTER'S BUNCH

Lakeland's Hurler Holds Celery-Feds to Three Hits and One Run, While Visitors Tally Ten Hits, Four Runs

Johnson pitching for the Lakeland Highlanders was too puzzling to the Cartermen in Wednesday's game, and held them to only three hits and one run, while the visitors touched Alverson for 10 hits, which netted a total of four runs.

The visitors scored three runs in the first inning and Sanford got one, and after that the Celery-Feds never even threatened the small lead of the visitors, which was increased to four in the seventh inning. The game was the fastest played here this season, taking only one hour and 28 minutes.

The visitors began scoring in the first when Kowalski singled to center; Brazier sacrificed him to second; Surface walked; Welch hit to first and was safe on error of Bailey, filling the bases; Ery hit a sacrifice fly scoring Kowalski; Spreitzer hit a bounce over second; Surface and Welch scoring; Spreitzer was caught between first and second.

Sanford's lone tally was made also in the first when two out Walzak hit for three bases to left field and then scored on a wild pitch. Thompson walked and stole second, and Bailey retired the side on a strike out.

The visitors made one more tally in the seventh, when Welsh got a double scoring Brazier.
