Advance Is Retarded Owing To Fears Of Currency Inflation, Federation Reports

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(A.P.)—The American Federation of Labor yesterday called November business developments "encouraging" and reported that "unemployment, which usually increases at this season, has been held close to September levels."

In its monthly survey the federation reviewed the Roosevelt gold policy in some detail, pointing to moderate price rises it said were consistent with the depression of the dollar abroad and again warned against direct currency inflation.

"Any form of inflation which threatens violent declines in the dollar or a loss of currency control is of the greatest danger to workers," it said. "In the flat money inflation of Europe after the war workers saw their savings swept away and their incomes cut down by rising prices. Strong government control over the currency is essential."

MEMO VERSE FOR TODAY

A CRY OF DISTRESS: Save us, O God, by thy name, and judge me by thy strength. Hear my prayer, O God; give ear to the words of my mouth.—Psalm 141: 1, 2.

FORSAKE EVIL: Thus saith the Lord of hosts; Turn ye now from your evil doings.—Zechariah 1: 16.

Yesterday the Blue Eagle gave us for the time being a very blue turkey indeed.

SAFE STEPS: The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way.—Psalm 37: 23.

Buy your auto license tag now and help the schools to keep going until the tax money begins to come in.

Cheer up! Sanford has a new industry with a ten thousand dollar a week payroll. The Civil Works Administration.

If business recovery suffers a relapse and dies, it might be well to write the following epiphany upon its tombstone: necessitated the death.

Currency inflation is a popular notion with lots of folks who won't be so keen about it when they have to plunk down a dollar bill for a loaf of bread.

Spending a dollar today may hurt a little but it will make spending $500 practically painless in a few months.—Haines City Herald. Something new in anatomy.

Some people are thinking about moving to England where they can obtain kidnaping insurance. However, they don't need insurance there since there has never been a case of kidnaping for ransom in all its history.

We hope that the unemployed who have been given jobs by the Civil Works Administration realized that they have something to be thankful for as well as those who have been fortunate enough not to have yet lost their jobs.

Will Rogers occupies one of the most advantageous positions during the present crisis of any newspaper writer in the country. If he happens to agree with you, he has hit the nail on the head. If he takes the other side, he is only kidding. It's a natural. He simply cannot lose.

Miami has heard a plan advanced to sell Miami bonds to Miami citizens. They could use the proceeds to pay taxes. Something like that could be done in Sanford. Bonds could be sold by the City to the citizens at par, and the proceeds used to purchase outstanding bonds at ten cents on the dollar. Such a program if financed far enough would quickly reduce the City's debt to something less than one million dollars. Perhaps the difficulty might be in selling the City to its citizens.

The old crowd, dear old, all giving way to the new, but always interesting to recall. The new crowd, dear old, all giving way to the new, but always interesting to recall. The new crowd, dear old, all giving way to the new, but always interesting to recall.

Slavia

One of Seminole County's most favored agricultural communities has recently come in for some excellent publicity when the Orlando Reporter-Star devoted one of its leading editorials to a discussion of Slavia, the little community located on State Road No. 2 about half way between Oviedo and Winter Park. The Times-Union picked the Orlando paper's editorial up and, reproducing most of it, made some very favorable comments of its own.

The Reporter-Star related that the people of Slavia are "industrious and thrifty and are proud of the fact that they are American citizens by adoption. They are all farmers and are recognized as among the best celery growers of the Sanford area. Their homes are well kept and they take keen interest in county affairs. Slavia's male population is enrolled one hundred per cent as members of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and has three directors on the board."

Continuing, the Reporter-Star declares: "These people from a foreign land are doing in the heart of Florida what representatives of other foreign lands have done in other parts of the country—developing a community that is a credit to the state and that will dovetail nicely into the Florida scheme of utilizing natural resources in building individual and collective prosperity. And these people, as have the people of other communities transplanted from foreign lands, will become full-fledged Americans in the fullness of time because they are taking a deep and abiding interest in all things American. Florida can well afford to extend the glad hand to such people as these. The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce is to be commended for giving this progressive community recognition on its board. Nor will Orange County hesitate to co-operate with these worthy citizens of Seminole in the pursuit of their ambitions to be good and prosperous Americans."

Helping The Farmer

With all that the government is doing to help the American farmer, the fact remains that nothing which can be done for him can have half so potent an effect upon his lasting well being as what he can do for himself. In the final analysis the future prosperity of the farming population depends upon how wisely and how effectively the farmers make use of the credit and marketing agencies which the government has put at their disposal.

There is no magic cure-all for the farmers' plight. Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture makes this clear in an article called "Our First Planned Harvest" in the current issue of the Cosmopolitan. We wish we had space to reproduce it all, but what particularly appealed to us was Secretary Wallace's division of the country into two main schools of economic thought, the Aladdin School and the Personal Devil School. He says that we need not expect miracles from either group.

"Millions believe," he writes, "that when prices go down, the matter may be fixed by shouting in a loud tone of voice at Wall Street, or the Chicago Board of Trade. Other millions believe in government price fixing. They say the government is all powerful and that by a simple wave of a magic wand, cotton prices may be changed overnight from ten to twenty cents a pound. This Aladdin School of economics is still the most popular in the United States."

"Still others think that if the government would only enter into agreements and licenses with the packers, the milk dealers, the cotton spinners, and others, it would be possible to give the farmers much higher prices on the one hand, and the consumers much lower on the other. These people hold to the Personal Devil School of Economics, envisioning the manufacturer and the middlemen as terrible beings with long horns and tails, rampaging around the country, seeking whom to devour."

Secretary Wallace believes that under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration it is up to the farmers themselves to work out a particular plan to meet conditions in a given commodity. If the plan brought forward by them is illegal or unworkable, the government will tell them so frankly, but will never try to jam any plan upon them. The government's aim, he says, is not toward a dictatorship, but a democratic use of centralizing power.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. W. E. Gore of Orlando is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bothamly, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard, winter residents of Geneva, were shopping in Sanford this week.

Some time ago the Hill building adjoining the City Hall was purchased by the County officials for a County Jail, and as the fixtures have arrived work will be begun at once to put the building in shape. All steel cells will be used and the ceilings and floors will be of stone and concrete, making one of the best jails of its class in the state.

Louis Smith is in Sanford again and will probably leave the Florida Queens' Association for the winter. The winter season is the best time to visit Sanford.

MONEY BATTLES HAVE RECURRED IN U. S. HISTORY

Sprague Resignation Seen As Opening Gun In Bitter Campaign

EDITOR'S NOTE: The monetary program which unshipped the U. S. dollar from gold started an argument which is hardly new. Today the controversy that Americans are witnessing is one that has been stirring since colonial days. This is the first of four articles dealing with high points of this historical background.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Again discordant notes of the call to battle are sounding in the rival camps of the "inflationists" and the "sound money" advocates. The resounding resignation of Prof. O. M. W. Sprague from the treasury, with the declaration that he plans to fight the "drift to unrestrained inflation" may prove to be the opening gun in open warfare that has been waged behind the scenes for months as a result of President Roosevelt's monetary policies.

It may presage another of the famous money battles which stud American history from colonial days—battles which usually have cut through party ranks and which often have been on a sectional basis.

In Alexander Hamilton's time the issues were the "doctrine of discrimination" and "assumption" in Andrew Jackson's day the fight was over the U. S. bank.

The monetary issue gave rise to Daniel Shay's rebellion in Massachusetts after the Revolution; it gave birth to the Greenback party about 1876 and later to the Populist party; it introduced William Jennings Bryan, his "cross of gold" speech and the "16-to-1" coinage of silver issue. And there was the march of Cooey's army about the same time.

Urgent with the rise and fall of the value of the monetary unit has been a feature of almost every serious financial stringency, usually most vocal in agrarian districts. And now President Roosevelt has declared for a policy of "experimentation" with the "sound money" group warning that previous experiments always have failed to disaster and that the gold standard is the best system yet found.

On the other hand, Prof. George F. Warren says the dollar must be rubber in weight or rubber in value, and urges the compensated or commodity dollar that would be variable in weight.

In successive steps the President has gone off the international gold standard, acted against gold hoarders, cancelled the gold clause in public and private securities, rejected the pleas of the European "gold bloc" for stabilization, moved toward an international silver agreement, and initiated his gold purchase policy to depreciate the dollar and lift commodity prices.

American colonists began having their monetary difficulties as soon as they reached shore. Having brought little money and almost as little credit with them, they used wampum and beads to trade with the Indians, and instituted barter for commerce among themselves.

They declared some commodities, such as tobacco, corn, and furs, legal tender, and some of the colonies had storehouses to accept payment of taxes in this "money."

As time went on many colonies began issuing paper money, and set up banks and loan agencies to issue bills of credit. What silver there was usually disappeared because it was over-valued by law. The paper currencies soon depreciated. In 1740 Massachusetts currency had depreciated to three-fourths its value.

Finally, in 1751, the English parliament forbade further issue of paper money in the New England colonies, a restriction that was extended to all the colonies in 1764.

Benjamin Franklin said resentment at the ban on paper money had much to do with fomenting the American Revolution.

Lamb Tells CWA Workers How To Get Pay Checks

The checks will be retained and given the worker at a later date. In order to facilitate the handling of checks at the fire station tomorrow, Mr. Lamb expects all foremen to arrange his workers in a single line and by number. Worker No. 1 is to be first in this line, and so on until the last man is in the line.

Because it is necessary that there be no delay in handing out checks, Mr. Lamb also requests all foremen and workers not to gather around the fire station until the hour or time when they are to be paid off.

If these suggestions are followed by foremen and workers, it will be possible to hand out all checks at the fire station by 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Finally, if a worker is not in line at the hour designated below, he must wait until after 5:00 o'clock before he can receive his check, and he must call at the Court House with his white card.

Here is the schedule which will be used in paying off workers. Foremen and workers should note carefully the time when they are to call at the Fire Station:

Bing Crosby Heads All Star Film Musical Show

Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher, Judith Allen, Harry Green, Lillian Tashman and Ned Sparks head the star-studded cast of Paramount's sensational musical comedy smash, "Two Much Harmony," which opens Sunday at the Milano Theatre.
 The film, directed by Edward Butler, centers around the group-and-stage activities of a group of show people. Interposed in the action are the novel plot untravels and eight brand new hit tunes and several lavish production numbers, staged by the famous dance director, LeRoy Prinz, with a huge chorus of Hollywood's foremost beauties.
 Crosby, just seen in "College Humor," has the stellar role of Eddie Brown, musical comedy star who falls in love with Judith Allen who discovers her doing a small-time vaudeville act in the west. He brings her to Broadway for a big act in his own show, and then the fun begins. For along with her comes her fiancée, Jack Oakie, and Skeets Gallagher. Events both hilarious and dramatic occur with lightning-like rapidity, as Oakie and Crosby and Miss Allen attempt to solve the unfortunate triangle. The film comes to a highly amusing conclusion when Oakie impersonates a Texas millionaire, in order to alienate the affections of Crosby's scheming fiancée so that Bing and Judith can get together.

CONNIE MACK IS MAKING UP ONE OF THE FINEST TEAMS

Plan to Start All Over Again At Building New Nine

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Connie Mack, tall, lean, dean of professional ball players, is dispersing

another great Philadelphia Athletics ball team.

Simmons, Haas and Dykes went last year. Before the start of another season, unless all signs and portents are amiss, Mickey Cochrane, George Earnshaw, Rube Waddell and Lefty Grove will be wearing the uniforms of rival teams in the American League, and Mack will be starting all over again after 50 years in the game.

It's a long road the A's veteran pilot has traveled since he first broke into organized baseball as a pitcher. Today, at 71, he can look back over a panorama of faces that have come and gone, the the greats and near-greats developed by him and other managers.

He is said never to have forgotten a face he has seen in association with the diamond, to remember almost play-by-play every game played by his Athletics since he took the helm in 1901.

"Who was the greatest among the A's in the last 31 years," he is asked. Two names drop from his lips almost immediately—Rube Waddell and Eddie Collins.

"Rube Waddell was the greatest pitcher who ever lived—when he was right." That qualifying clause is always added when Connie mentions invariably with a smile his great pitcher, the happy-go-lucky fellow who mized his baseball with his comedy.

About Collins—Edward Trumbull Collins—present general manager of the Boston Red Sox, Connie speaks with glowing eyes. He admits Collins probably was the greatest second sacker of all time, the genius of them all, and he gives Eddie the post as field captain of the All-Mack team.

Invariably he recalls an anecdote when speaking of Waddell—and there were many.

"Once in spring training I missed him from camp," Mack relates. "I started a search. On the way we heard a band approaching. The circus was in town. As we waited for it to pass, Bris Lord, who was with me, suddenly jerked me behind a pole.

"Look Connie, look at the band leader," he said. There he was—Waddell. He had on the drum major's coat and wore a high fur hat. You should have seen him strut with that big baton, left-handing it 80 feet in the air."

Mack goes on down the list of faces and performances that have thrilled him and picks out the first-string nine of Athletics' history. Complete, the lineup comes close to being an all-time—big league club. Of the six pitchers, and one each for other positions, a half dozen still are in the leagues. His all-star team would

GATOR FINANCES OUT OF RED INK DUE TO CROWDS

New Deal Is Credited With Bringing Cash Into School Coffers

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 1.—Athletics at the University of Florida, thanks to the "new deal" in football, are seeing the light after being submerged in the "red." Win, lose or draw in their remaining game with Maryland, the Gators will finish their first grid campaign under alumni figures on the right side of the ledger.

The Alligator, under-graduate publication at the university, comments editorially on the turn for the better.

"After the flood of red ink which covered the athletic department's records for last year, the following figures, written in blue ink, are very easy on the eyes," the Alligator says.

"The season started off with the Stetson game. The gross receipts amounted to $1,328 and after the expenses and opponent's share were deducted the University netted $170.08. Two thousand students saw the game. The figures given above and following did not include a pro-rate share of the student fees but are for cash gate receipts only.

"The Sewanee game grossed $5,340.41. The expenses were $2,035.50, the opponents received their $4,000 guarantee and the University made $364.91. Thirteen hundred students made the trip to Jacksonville and witnessed the game.

"For the North Carolina State game, we received our $5,000 guarantee and spent $1,348.73. That left a nice net of $3,651.27.

"When the Gators tangled with the Tarheels on Florida Field, the gate was $4,720.62. The expenses were $1,003.80. We gave North Carolina $3,500.00 and were left with a net of $216.82. One thousand, nine hundred and eighty-nine students saw the game. Evidently 11 of them had

Labor Encouraged Over Past Month's Record By Business

(Continued From Page One) prices on world exchanges it is impossible to tell in so short a period what ultimate changes dollar devaluation will cause."

With reference to inflation it said: "Tampering with the currency is a very serious matter, for the buying power of a dollar is of the greatest concern to every American citizen. Since we left the gold standard in April, devaluations for inflation have caused alarm in the business world and acted as a brake on recovery.

"Banks, business concerns, men and women with savings—all have hesitated to place their money in investments because as long as the dollar declines, dollars they lend are worth more than the dollars they will get back in the future. Credit for business undertakings has been hard to get; investments fled to government bonds for security.

"Larking in everyone's mind is the fear of inflation by fiat money. If we ever started to issue greenbacks without gold value, in answer to demands from farm areas, an orgy of unconceivable inflation might follow. It is feared, such as that in Germany after the war.

"The president's method of devaluing the dollar by stating the gold price daily differs greatly from inflation by fiat money. For fiat money has no gold value; it is worth only what people will give for it, and there is no means of control.

"Since the administration has deliberately depreciated the dollar, distrust of our currency has increased, money has fled abroad in amounts estimated from one to four billion dollars, prices of high grade bonds have declined 7 percent, and government bond prices have dropped considerably below par in the last few weeks."

The federation estimated unemployment at 10,078,000 in October. Its September estimate was 10,065,000. It added that trade union reports for November "show only a small increase" over October.

"Payroll totals were still moving upward in October and as living costs rose only 0.1 percent workers' total 'real' buying power increased from 20.5 percent (September) to 23.1 percent (October) above the March level," the survey said. "Farmers' buying power has also been increased by the gain in farm prices in November and by government payments of more than $100,000,000 to farmers who agreed to reduce crops in cotton, wheat and tobacco."

"And remember that coaching salaries are not the liabilities that they have been in the past. At one third of the former cost we have secured competent, enthusiastic coaching."

Ten Commandments Given For Avoiding Winter Colds

NEW YORK—Plenty of sleep and a balanced diet, including plenty of vegetables, fruits and a quart of milk every day.

1. Keep in through the balanced diet; include plenty of vegetables, fruits and a quart of milk every day.
2. Keep far away from persons who have colds.
3. Keep your mouth shut; breathe through your nose.
4. Keep good hours; sleep eight or ten every night.
5. Keep clean; take a bath every day.
6. Keep comfortable; dress according to the weather.
7. Keep the house and your office at a temperature of between 68 and 70 degrees.
8. Keep the body exercised; walking in the open is the best form of exercise. Walk briskly; your head erect, swing arms and breathe through your nose.
9. Keep away from public meetings and meetings; if you have a cold get to bed promptly and call the family doctor at once.
10. Keep the house well aired; windows in every room should be opened for a time each day; and all night in sleeping quarters.

Dr. Wynne called his list "keeps for keeping clear from colds," and declared if everyone would follow a few simple rules, less suffering from colds would result, as well as fewer cases of pneumonia and influenza, and fewer deaths from those diseases.

Prompted by increases in pneumonia cases and deaths and influenza cases in the last four weeks as compared with the same period last year Dr. Wynne made public a "code" for the avoidance of colds.

Dr. Wynne's list of "keeps" follows:

HOOPER GIVEN SHARP REBUKE BY GOVERNOR

The former president promptly issued a statement from his home on the Stanford University campus, breaking the long silence of his retirement.

"One trouble with Governor Hooper's statement is his gross ignorance of the facts, not a single person was injured by the troops called out in Washington in response to the appeal of local authorities. The troops ended the bloodshed which was then in progress through conflicts between rioters and police.

"The issue here is plain, and not to be obscured by such misstatements. The governor has been advocating lynch law. It is a subversion of the very spirit of organized society. It is un-American and is a reflection on the state of California. It is not supported by

VICKS COUGH DROPS

As a matter to question yesterday, Governor Hooper emphatically declared he was not reacting or apologizing for his previous statement that the lynching was "a fine lesson to the whole nation" and that kidnapping would be stopped in California, "no matter what the cost will be."

After word of the Hoover reply to his statement yesterday had reached the governor here, he again issued an answer.

"I do not think that the ex-president's statement calls for any response by me," he said. "His statements and mine will speak for themselves, the American people think for themselves. It is unbecoming for me, as governor of this state, to be carrying on a controversy with the ex-president.

"I cannot allow to stand, however, the ex-president's statement that I 'advocated lynch law.' On the contrary I have said and I repeat that I always shall have profound respect for law and the sane and orderly conduct of justice through the courts. And I repeat what I said in my original statement that while the law should have been permitted to take its course, the people by their action have given notice to the entire world that in California's kidnapping will not be tolerated.

The following is a list of the names of the persons who have been named in the Governor's statement as having been injured by the troops called out in Washington in response to the appeal of local authorities.

PUBLIC DEBT IS AT NEW HIGH IN TIME OF PEACE

Total Jumped Nearly Half Billion Last Month As Funds Are Pumped Into Nation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The United States public debt increased $483,500,000 during November to a total today of $23,534,115,771, a new peacetime high. Receipts during the month were slightly less than $200,000,000. Ordinary expenditures were slightly less than $200,000,000. But emergency expenditures for various phases of the recovery program were nearly $200,000,000 to make November's outlay about $400,000,000.

While the emergency expenditures accounted for approximately half of the increase in the public debt, a gain in the general fund accounted for another $200,000,000 with the Treasury balance at the close of the month $1,177,000,000 compared with a $979,000,000 at the close of October. The deficit at the end of the first five months of the fiscal year, including the emergency expenditures, is $773,000,000 plus estimated to a $1,151,000,000 at the same time last year.
