Not Only Labor's Day

" Is the top services of . Best

Labor Day is such a familiar fixture on the ational calendar that it is somewhat surprising to ealize it is one of our more recent holidays.

True, the first observance in honor of labor was seld in New York City as far back as 1882, and by 894 Congress had given the occasion official status in the territories and District of Columbia. Yet only or the past half century have all the states ofcially observed it.

This is a short time in the life of a nation, even one so young as the United States. But Labor Day is now firmly established as a national habit.

Undoubtedly, this is because the holiday has come to mark the end of summer in our minds, with schools starting up and families split up into their various pursuits. It's the last holiday until Thanksgiving, a long three-day weekend just made for a short trip or an outing, or perhaps it's an opportunity to finish those chores around the house that have been put off all summer This is so much the case that most of us never think of the original reason for the day - that it was established as a recognition of and tribute to the laboring man. But though we still call it Lahor Day, it is no longer labor's day. Very few, even those who carry union cards, will attend a labor rally today. Few cities have parades any more. Yet at one time, Labor Day was a magnet drawing folks downtown to the park to listen to the band and speeches and shoot off the fireworks left over from the Fourth of July. On one hand, it is regrettable that the scene has changed so much, that Labor Day has become a private public holiday. On the other hand, this change is part of the success of the labor movement. With recognition has come the loss of a certain militancy, a sense of separatemess from "other" citizens.

No, this is no longer labor's day alone. It belongs to all, for all of us are laborers in the sense that the work we do contributes to the country's strength. "Portages the news "Labor Day" is a little anachronistic today, almost a misnomer. The word "labor" is not quite broad enough to encompass the meaning the holiday has acquired.

The name for this day should express how we honor the working, doing, accomplishing man by casually taking a day off from the routine. Still, a new name would not change anything really. We all know what Labor Day means.

Uphold Veto

The president's action in vetoing a defense authorization bill was prudent and courageous. It should be upheld when Congress comes back from a summer recess Tuesday and votes on the override issue. Key congressmen were determined to include a $2 billion nuclear-powered aircraft carrier in the bill, despite the opposition of the president and the Pentagon.

The administration proposed acrapping plans for the supercarrier in favor of a small oil-fired aircraft carrier. The Congress restored the supercarrier without increasing the $36 billion defense budget only by cutting $2 billion from other defense spending items - including a top-secret satellite spy project considered vital for monitoring Soviet military activities. There are no headlines and no political glamor in most of the items the Congress proposed to cut - maintenance, operations costs, research and development. But these items are considered important in the Pentagon. They are regarded as necessary to maintain our military

The president has a better overall view of defense needs than most congresmen. He did well to stand by his own view. There is no evidence that this Congress is any wiser in militarystrategic matters than the pre-World War II Congress which refused President Roosevelt the funds to fortily Midway and Wake islands.

The Soviet fleet surpassed our Navy five years ago in the number of major active principal surface combatant ships in active service. That balance should be redressed. But it can't be done if the Congress insists on building only the biggest ships in the most expensive way, regardless of cost.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The mind-boggling figure is a tribute to the success of "convenience seckaging:" The nation's consumers of beer and oft drinks this year will throw away more than 0 billion cans and bottles. Those discarded beverage containers have become a disgraceful symbol of a wasteful society that needlessly depletes natural resources and mindleasly consumes excessive nergy.

Throughout the 1970s, both Congress and numerous state legislatures repeatedly have een implored by citizens groups to end that shameful practice, by imposing a mandatory deposit on beer and soft drink containers. That nominal deposit (the figure most frequently cited is five cents) would provide a financial incentive for the return of bottles and cans, which then could be either refilled or elted down and recycled into new containers. Countiess objective studies, conducted by a variety of disinterested federal agencies, have WASHINGTON WORLD concluded that a national mandatory deposit law would reduce energy consumption associated with packaging and marketing the beverages by 21 to 41 percent. Most of those estimates are clustered around 40 percent, a figure the Federal Energy Administration says would mean saving the equivalent of $1,000 barrels of oil per day.

The Environmental Protection Agency has concluded that almost & billion discarded bottles to 30 percent of all such littler by piece count and

We laughed all the way back to school over the delicious lunch and nickel we had left over. The hot dogs were five cents each and we split a pepsi, a bag of potato chips and a Hershey bar.

The episode resulted in us hoofing it for a month and no more bikes to school But we continued to pocket the lunch money - and fudge off relatives. And we didn't always walk to school. On Mondays and Fridays we were the envy of the

VIEWPOINT Unpopular As That $2-Bill

By DON GRAFF

Disposing of $1.294 billion is ordinarily no problem for your average federal agency. But it's currently a big one for the U.S. Treasury, with that much sunk into $2 bills which, as far as most Americans are concerned. it can keep.

It all dates back to 1976 when the two, withdrawn from circulation 38 years earlier, was rentroduced. It then looked like a denomination rhose inflationary time had come. The old eliable one was losing the battle to escalating prices on small items. A $2 alternative, so the hinking went, would be more convenient fo consumers and business alike. And, since fewer bills would have to be issued, the Treasury would save itself several millions in printing costs. As it has turned out, the two had everything going for it except public acceptance. The Treasury has printed 647 million in two years, but the denomination is still virtually un-circulated. Some have disappeared into ollections. But the bulk remains in reserve or with banks where, according to tellers' reports,

The Treasury still isn't sure precisely what went wrong, but has a number of theories. The established heary traffic in the bills could be a factor, with the public preferring not to take the chance of confusing the smaller denomination with the familiar big bill.

Superstition may also be at work. The old $2 bill was widely considered to be unlucky, possibly through its association with betting. The taint; supposedly removed by tearing a corner, may have been carried over to the new issue by a long-memoried public which newadays prefe its currency unmutilated

That would appear unlikely, however, providing there are no changes in present plans allowed to languish uncirculated.

By JIM HAYNES Herald Sports Editor

Game week has arrived for Seminole County's high school football teams.

No more jamborees. Or boredom of scrimmaging against a buddy. Starting Friday night, it is the real thing.

The menu is five games for five teams. Lyman is opening at home, facing Boone. Seminole hits the road to Spruce Creek, while Lake Brantley visits Apopka, Lake Howell entertains Bishop Moore and Oviedo visits Leesburg.

One major development from last week's jamboree action left Lyman with a new starting quarterback.

Jeff Meyers was slung to the ground by a Wildwood tackler and suffered a separation of the clavical from the sternum - an injury which will sideline him from eight to 10 weeks.

"Tha just about wipes him out for the year." said Lyman coach Bill Scott. "We are fortunate to have two quarterbacks. Jeff was No. 1, but Mark Fricke wasn't far behind him, and we just have to go with Mark. The players and

He's the clouest approach to the late Vince Lombardi I've met yet, not only because of his passion for perfection, his utterly single-minded desire to win and his method of handling men, but also because of the completely open way he speaks his mind. His name is Hubert Vogelainger and it's a good one to keep in mind. The odds are you're going to hear much more about him in the future.

At the moment, the stocky, blond, 40-year-old Viennese native appens to be coaching the San Diego Sochers of the North LPGA American Soccer League, but all you have to do is watch him work and talk with him to recognize immediately that he's destined to go much further. Vogelsinger couldn't speak English when he first came to this 3-Way country from Austria 15 years ago. His wife, Lois, a former Fulbright scholar who is the most important thing to him in his life, not counting soccer, taught him the language and he caught on so quickly, he got a Masters degree and a Bachelor of Science degree from Boston University in three years. Before arriving in the U.S. he played professional soccer five years in Austria's First Division. The muscular, 5-foot-9 little dynamo was an All-Pro with the Donna Caponi Young, in a Boston Metros in 1963, after which he began his coaching career three-way tussle with 10-underat Brandels University. Later, he was head coach at Yale eight pars going in the final round of years, guiding the Elis to the NCAA playoffs for the first time in the $100,000 LPGA Rail Charity

00 years they had been playing soccer. After leaving Yale, Vogelainger signed on as head coach and director of player personnel with the Boston Minutemen of the NASL, winning division titles in two of the three years he was there. On the side, he wrote a syndicated newspaper column on soccer and worked as a TV color man.

While coaching the Minutemen, he ran into a player problem with goalkeeper Shep Messing, the flake, who was with the Cosmos last year and new is with the Oakland Stompers. "People still ask me how I was able to handle Shep Messing."

Acquired by General Manager Marvin Millios before this past season after coaching Team Hawali, Vogeleinger led Sen Diege into the semifinals before the Sochers were eliminated by the Tampa Bay Rowdles, who lost to the Cosmos last Sunday for the triple-bageyed the par-4 18th Vogelainger is all discipline and organization, the same way Lombardi was. He has no "sacred cows" on his team. "Between four walls, they (the players) can call me anything." he says. "On the field, it is different. All I ask is that they perform.

Nogelainger feels he's in a professional business and his primary obligation is to win. Besastimes, others then't fully op-proclate the utter single purposeness with which he goes about it. Two years ago, for example, when Vegelainger was handling Boaton, Kes Furphy, then coaching the Cosmon, automity charged over and ballered at him, "You German, you Mitter!" Without losing his composure, Vegelainger answered, "I'm an Austrian, not a Gorman." "That down't matter," Furphy hept on. "It still goon."

Later, Furphy apol coupled the apology. Aitler waan't German,

In And Around Altamonte Home In Time For Gong Of School Bells

Richard Detwiler, a physical science teacher at Seminole Community College, his wife, Barbara, and their children, Theresa and Patrick, returned from a four-week camping trip in time to hear the gong of the school bells.

They camped all the way except when visiting Barbara's brother, Joe Cain, in Santa Barbara. Calif.; her sister, Agnes Soboda, and husband, Charles, in Olathe, Kan.; and brother, David, and wife, Sue, in Nashville,

It was an unforgettable vacation. It was also hard to decide what they enloyed the most (excluding. of course, seeing members of the family again.)

Touring the Battleship Alabama in Mobile Bay and seeing the Alamo and Mission San Jose in Texas were educational for the children.

Hollywood Theatre and Mann's Chinese Restaurant with the prints of stars were interesting. along with the Museum of Science and Industry in Hollywood. Theresa saw Shaun Cassidy filming, and being a fan, she particularly liked that.

The family learned more about the geology of the country visiting brother. Joe, in Santa Barbara. He had been having lunch in a second-story restaurant when the recent earthquake struck. He and his friend vacated the building just before it collapsed. After visiting San Francisco, the Detwilers moved on to the Grand Canyon in northwestern Arizona, with it's ridges, cliffs and valleys, they were awe-stricken. "It's gorgeous," says Barbara, memories of the spectacular sight flooding back.

They also enjoyed Bryce Canyon in Utah and Pikes Peak in Colorado. "Beautiful, if you're not scared of heights," says Barbara, admitting that the 14,000 foot height made her nervous. Hoover Dam in Utah, the Eisenhower Center in Abilene, Kan., and the Air Force Academy in Colorado and the Morman Temple in Salt Lake City were all viewed with inerest.

But, like most travelers, Barbara says, "It was good to be back.

Ninety-year-old Trudy Wilkins was honored as "Patient of the Month" at the Heritage Center nursing home. She's truly an unforgettable person. A graduate of Winthrop

College in Brek Hill, S.C., and Converse College in Spartanburg, she taugh school for many years in Virginia. And she made a lasting impression on two of her students. One of her students still calls her long-distance from South Carolina to see how she is getting along. Another, a Danville, Va., student always remembered her birthday and Christmas for 50 years, until his death ant year.

After teaching many years, Mrs. Wilkins took over the executive nomensepting position at the Lake Placid Club in the Adirondacks where she remained for 19 years.

Mrs. Wilkins' daughter, Margaret Jones, lives in Caselberry. She has two granddaughters and three great-granddaughters who live up north.

Camp David: 10-Dav Summit? Mideast

By United Press International Gathered today at Camp David, the presidential retreat in the mountains of Maryland, were the principal actors in the Mideast Summit: President Carter, Israell Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. At Carter's request, there is an almost total news blackout over the talks, which could last as long as 10 days.
