Will Firm Give Refunds For Fake Homestead Form?

Seminole County residents who paid an alleged private company for an unnecessary fee for a form to file for their homestead exemption are being told by county officials no one knows if they will get their money back.

County appraisal administrator Johnnie H. Noles said today his office has received several calls from Seminole County residents asking him how to get back $22.75 they paid to a Georgia-based company for a homestead exemption form that is, except for color, identical to the county's form which is free.

"I don't know what to tell them," said Noles whose office had received dozens of calls about the fraudulent form.

The form solicitation was enclosed in an official looking envelope received by many residents this week. It stated on the outside that important tax information was enclosed and told recipients that a simplified application form was available to file for a homestead exemption due by March 1.

The reported source of the bogus forms and owner of Seminole County Homestead Exemption Service, Michael Hines, of Doraville, Ga., could not be contacted today to confirm reports that he has offered to refund Seminole County citizens who bought the unnecessary form.

Hines' attorney, Gorham Rutter of Orlando, declined comment about the issue and said he'd rather have any information about the mail-outs, refunds, and the company obtained from Hines who is the reported owner of Relocator Service Inc., of Doraville. A secretary at the company said Hines was out of the office today.

Neither the company nor Hines is licensed to conduct business in the county or Sanford, according to Noles.

Assistant State Attorney Beth Rutberg said today that the mail-out appears to have included several counties, making the problem "multi-jurisdictional" and it had been referred to the Attorney General's consumer fraud unit in Miami.

Assistant Attorney General Ben Zilberberg said that his office had not yet received copies of the duped forms but would investigate to determine if the mail-outs were unfair or deceptive.

He said his office is involved because residents in at least two counties in different jurisdictions — Seminole and Duval — have reported the forms. He could not confirm, as has been reported, that residents in Orange, Osceola, Duval, Hillsborough, and Manatee have also received the mail-outs.

Tuesday, the telephone answering service which leased a line to Hines in Sanford, discontinued the service.

Betty Campbell, owner of Reliable Answering Service, said Hines' service was halted for confidential reasons.

Preparing bogus designer-name clothes for donation to youth ranch kids are State Attorney Douglas Cheshire, left, and Lloyd Godwin of the Florida Sheriff's youth ranches.

'Sting' Benefits Youth Ranch Kids

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Nearly two hundred neglected or dependent kids in Florida will be decked out this spring in designer clothes...almost.

The recipients, 194 children living at four Florida sheriffs' youth ranches, will receive approximately 4,000 items of counterfeit Polo and Ocean Pacific designer clothes confiscated along with bogus articles of Ralph Lauren, Izod Lacoste, Yves St. Laurent, and Sassoon in a 1982 sting operation by the Seminole County State Attorney's office.

State attorney Douglas Cheshire donated the clothes Tuesday to Lloyd Godwin, vice president of Planned Giving for the Florida Youth Fund of the sheriffs' ranches. Today, the man who headed the counterfeit operation, Glen Siltare, 26, of Orlando, was released from the Seminole County jail after serving 120 days on misdemeanor charges.

The fund Godwin administers helps to maintain four sheriffs' ranches for children who do not have a police record but for some reason cannot stay at their parents' home. The fund, which supports the children year-round, has a ranch for 108 boys near Live Oak, a villa for 46 girls in Bartow, a youth ranch for 30 children in Clearwater, and a wilderness program for 10 boys in Barberville, near DeLand.

Godwin said the ranches will use the majority of the 4,000 knit pullovers and blouses for the children. Those articles not used immediately will be stored, and if necessary, sold to raise money, Godwin said.

The clothing — part of a $40,000 haul — was confiscated when the state attorney's office shut down a Sanford fake fashion operation Oct. 5, 1982.

Investigators from the office — bankrolled by $10,000 from two clothes manufacturers, Polo and Ocean Pacific — infiltrated the counterfeit operation by posing as top fashion pushers — flashing large amounts of cash, driving expensive cars, renting warehouses and expensive hotel rooms, according to Douglas Huth of the state attorney's consumer fraud unit who was one of the investigators.

The successful sting operation — under the guise of World Wide Enterprises — came after two months of undercover work and five "buys." Three men were arrested on charges ranging from petty theft to trafficking stolen property, Huth said.

Huth said Polo and Ocean Pacific bought the clothes with the money provided for the sting operation and decided to donate the clothes to the sheriffs' ranches. The other articles of clothing are being sent to the designers.

Marines Pulling Out Of Beirut; U.S. Targets Syrian Positions

By Steve Hagey

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Moslem rebels in control of West Beirut traded fire with Christian militiamen in East Beirut today shortly after President Reagan announced the withdrawal of Marine peace keepers from the capital.

But Reagan authorized the Navy for the first time to fire on Syrian-held positions — to defend Lebanese President Amin Gemayel's sagging and splintered army.

In the past, Navy airstrikes and artillery fire were used only in retaliation for attacks on the U.S. forces.

In London it was announced that British troops in the multinational peace-keeping force in Beirut began withdrawing to a Royal Navy ship today, exactly one year after they were deployed in the Lebanese capital, the Ministry of Defense said.

The withdrawal of about 110 British troops, the smallest of the four multinational peace-keeping contingents, was ordered after Syrian-backed Moslem rebels took control of most of Beirut amid heavy fighting this week. The British have suffered no casualties in the latest fighting.

"Those who conduct these attacks will no longer have sanctuary from which to bombard Beirut at will," the president said in a statement he finished just minutes before his plane landed in California. "We will stand firm to deter those who seek to influence

Lebanon's future by intimidation."

The withdrawal order came Tuesday as the splintered Lebanese army neared collapse in the face of an offensive by Syrian-backed Druze and Shiite Moslem rebels, and the authority of government disintegrated.

Meanwhile, a marine who was critically wounded during the last skirmish reportedly has died.

The rebels, demanding Gemayel's resignation, pushed to the edge of East Beirut, leaving the Christian enclaves in the city and suburbs virtually the only parts of Lebanon still controlled by the U.S.-backed government.

Automatic weapons fire erupted shortly after midnight near the burnt-out Holiday Inn overlooking the port and the "Green Line" that divides the predominantly Moslem western sector from the Christian-controlled East.

Scattered explosions were also heard near the hotel, seized by the Moslem rebels Tuesday from Lebanese army troops.

Asked what impact the new moves would have on the Moslem rebels controlling West Beirut, a senior Reagan administration official said: "In terms of immediate impact, probably not very much, other than the signal that we are sending to the Syrians... that the U.S. has not given up on the government of Lebanon."

The first 250 Marines were evacuated late Tuesday because of the increasing turmoil in Beirut, a Marine spokesman there said today.

Administration officials said about 500 Marines probably would be redeployed to ships within a month and the subsequent phases would take place "over an indefinite period of time depending on the political situation on the ground."

The Italians pulled out 600 of their 2,200 soldiers last month and lying off Beirut.

Aides said Weinberger's plan will be forwarded to Reagan at his ranch in the nearby Santa Ynez mountains. They also said the president had no plans to return to Washington early.

Reagan said the United States would "vigorously accelerate the training, equipping and support of the Lebanese armed forces, on whom the primary responsibility rests for maintaining stability in Lebanon."

"We will speed up deliveries of equipment, improve the flow of information to help counter hostile bombardments and we will intensify training in counter-terrorism" to help the Lebanese against attacks from militiamen, Reagan said.

Reagan said some U.S. forces will stay on the ground to continue training the Lebanese army and protecting remaining personnel. There are about 100 U.S. Army advisers.

Earlier Tuesday, the United States evacuated 39 "non-essential" personnel and family members from the Beirut embassy.

The decision to redeploy the Marines was praised by some members of Congress, where pressure for withdrawal has been building since 241 servicemen were killed in the suicide terrorist attack on the Marine compound at Beirut International Airport.

'...the U.S. has not given up on the government of Lebanon.'

had planned to reduce the number to 1,000. The French said they were planning to reduce their 2,000-man contingent by a quarter.

Since the Marines landed in Beirut Sept. 29, 1982, to join Britain, Italy and France as part of the multinational force, 263 U.S. servicemen have been killed — most of them in a terrorist bombing attack Oct. 23.

U.S. naval strength off Lebanon's shore is being increased to receive the Marines. The aircraft carrier Independence steamed back to Lebanese waters from a port call in Istanbul to join the carrier John F. Kennedy, the battleship New Jersey and about 23 other U.S. warships

Spacewalk 'Flawless'

A Step For The High Frontier

By Al Rossler Jr.
UPI Science Editor

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The shuttle astronauts have an easy day in orbit today, a reward for the flawless "Buck Rogers" flights that demonstrated America can move forward with space construction projects.

Not only did spacewalkers Bruce McCandless and Robert Stewart lay the foundation for the future, but they gave NASA officials added confidence that the next shuttle crew will be able to rescue an otherwise doomed $77 million satellite called Solar Max in April.

"I think this was great confirmation for the plans that have been laid for the Solar Max flight," said flight director John Cox after Tuesday's spacewalk extravaganza that saw both astronauts fly 100 yards away from the shuttle in one of NASA's new $10 million jet backpacks.

McCandless, Stewart, Vance Brand, Robert "Hoot" Gibson and Ronald McNair were concentrating today on a series of experiments aboard the West German Spas instrument package mounted in the ship's payload bay.

One experiment uses a contamination detector that McCandless fixed Tuesday.

The schedule today also called for McCandless to record television views of the six rats flying aboard Challenger in a unique experiment to see if weightlessness relieves the symptoms of severe arthritis.

The crewmen began their fifth day in space when mission control radioed up a wakeup call at 1:25 a.m. EST.

"Good morning, Houston. Everything's going well up here," said an exuberant McNair.

As a further test for the April

Solar Max rescue mission, McCandless and Stewart will demonstrate in another spacewalk Thursday that Shuttle 11 astronaut George Nelson will be able to use a manned maneuvering unit to capture the broken satellite as it tumbles slowly through space.

The Spas payload, standing in for the crippled satellite, will be rotated slowly on the end of Challenger's mechanical arm. McCandless will use the jetpack to match that rotation and then move in and dock as Nelson will do in April.

Unlike Tuesday's spacewalks, a large portion of Thursday's work outside the shuttle cabin will be televised "live" to mission control in Houston.

One of the first tasks today for McCandless and Stewart was servicing the spacesuits each wore for more than six hours Tuesday.

NASA photo shows simulated jetpack resembling the one used by astronaut McCandless in his historic, untethered flight in space

Victims' Rights

Amendment Looks Like Positive Step, Salfi Says

A proposed state constitutional amendment to give victims of crimes the right to be consulted in trials and plea negotiations is viewed by Circuit Judge Dominick Salfi today as a positive step and expansion of a program he has had underway for more than a year.

Salfi, of the Seminole-Brevard circuit, hears the vast majority of his cases in Seminole County. He requires that victims of crimes be notified by the state attorney's office of sentencing dates of perpetrators of crimes to give the victims an opportunity to confront the criminals and tell them how their actions have affected their lives. Views are also solicited from the law enforcement officers involved in apprehending the defendant.

In about 30 percent of the cases, victims attend sentencing, Salfi said, while in another 40 percent of the cases victims and law enforcement officers involved write to the judge expressing opinions.

"What is really impressive is to have a defendant listen to the effect of his behavior. I find this very powerful," Salfi said.

"I favor the idea [of the constitutional amendment], but I would like to look at the details of the legislation," Salfi said.

State Sen. Betty Castor, D-Tampa, won unanimous approval of her "victim's rights" amendment by the Senate Judiciary-Criminal Committee Tuesday, despite some reservations by the committee chairman, Sen. Kenneth Jenne, D-Hollywood.

Jenne wondered if the U.S. Constitution would permit lawyers for victims to challenge a plea bargain or other pre-trial arrangement. He voted for the proposal, however, as it unanimously cleared his committee.

"The law-abiding citizen has no access to the Constitution," said Bob Preston of Brevard County, whose daughter was murdered. Preston, representing the "Justice for Surviving Victims" lobbying group, said "there is going to be tremendous cost generated by this" if a victim rights constitutional amendment were interpreted as giving victims the same rights as a defendant in court.

If the amendment clears the Legislature this year it will be on the ballot in the November general election.

The Castor amendment states that "in any criminal prosecution, the victim shall have the right to be present and to be heard at all stages of judicial proceedings." The same right is afforded crime suspects, who can have lawyers present at each stage.

Mary Wiley of Mothers Against Drunk Driving told the committee her daughter was killed by a drunken driver whose breath test results were thrown out of court before trial. She said she learned of it when a newspaper reporter phoned.

"We, the surviving victims, are treated like we're non-existent," she said. "The state attorneys treat cases like they're the state's business with the accused. Sometimes, if we even ask about it, we're treated like we're in the way."

Salfi said he has had total cooperation from Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Douglas Cheshire's office in notifying victims and law enforcement officers when sentencing will be held.

NATION IN BRIEF

Kissinger Pressing Case For Central America Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is making the case for increased aid to Central America on Capitol Hill, saying that without it, the United States will be drawn deeper into the region's conflicts.

Kissinger, who led a bipartisan presidential panel on Central America, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that if his commission's recommendations on political and security issues are accepted, "For the first time, the Western Hemisphere itself will become a political and security problem for the United States."

Kissinger was to take his case for additional U.S. economic and military assistance for the region to the House Foreign Affairs Committee today.

Death Penalty Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted to ease federal law to allow use of illegally seized evidence in criminal trials and today began considering a bill reviving the federal death penalty.

Discussion on the capital punishment measure could be hot enough to prompt a filibuster, so Senate Republican leader Howard Baker took the safeguard Tuesday of filing notice to seek a Thursday vote to limit debate.

The Supreme Court struck down the death penalty as unconstitutional in 1972. Many states rewrote their laws to meet the high court's objections, and capital punishment now is legal in 37 states.

The death penalty is the most controversial of several crime bills under consideration by the Senate for two weeks.

Pesticide Defense Loses

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — A jury Tuesday found guilty a 23-year-old lawn caretaker who claims he never harmed anyone until he murdered a woman while he was under the influence of pesticides.

David Garabedian, of Chelmsford, strangled and bludgeoned Eileen Muldoon, 34, on March 23, 1983 following an argument that stemmed from his urinating on the lawn of the woman's Dunstable home.

Defense attorney Robert Mardrosian, who produced a witness who claimed the 6-foot-3, 230 pound Garabedian once asked to quit his high school football team for fear of hurting people, argued his client became irrational after inhaling fumes from the pesticide dursban he used as an employee of the Old Fox Lawn Co. Mardrosian portrayed Garabedian as a gentle man so intoxicated by the chemical fumes that he did not know right from wrong. The jury apparently didn't go for it.

Clerks At Seminar, Police Records Unavailable

Without notice, the record section of the Sanford Police Department was closed today so the clerks could attend a seminar in Daytona Beach.

Police calls within the past 24 hours and all records were unavailable.

Assistant Police Chief Herb Shea said the department's two records clerks were attending a state-sponsored seminar in Daytona Beach and that no one in the department was allowed to take their place for the day and make records available for the public.

Shea was contacted at the police station, but the unanswered calls to the department.

Police Chief Ben Butler said he was unaware of any personnel shortages today at the station nor knew of any reason why the department was not answering its phones promptly.

"Write any story you want to. I have nothing to tell you. I don't know what you're talking about. Have at it," Butler said.

According to the arrest report, a Sanford police officer at 10:19 p.m., Aug. 23, stopped Kennedy for driving his Volkswagen sedan without headlights on at the intersection of Myrtle Ave. and 13th St. When the officer shined his flashlight in the vehicle, he saw the handle of a .22-caliber pistol sticking out of the passenger door side pocket.

The weapon was confiscated and Kennedy was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

After being found not guilty, the weapon was returned to Kennedy.

An Orlando man was found not guilty by a jury Monday of assaulting with intent to kill a security guard at a Casselberry lounge.

Jimmy Martin Roop, 24, of Orlando, was found not guilty by a five-man one-woman jury of assaulting a security guard with a pipe or stick at the ABC Liquor Lounge, State Road 436 and U.S. Highway 17-92.

The case was tried before Circuit Judge Mize.

Executed Men Given Alcohol

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Florida State Prison superintendents shared final drinks with John Spenkelink, Robert Sullivan and Anthony Antone before the three men died in Florida's electric chair, a Florida newspaper has reported.

The St. Petersburg Times said Tuesday current Superintendent Richard Dugger shared a drink of scotch and water with Sullivan before his Nov. 30, 1983, execution and with Antone before his execution last month.

Dugger told the Times he thought he had done the right thing in the Sullivan and Antone cases. He said David Brierion, his predecessor, shared drinks with Spenkelink before his execution in May 1979 as well.

Dugger said he and Brierion had discussed ways to calm Spenkelink before the execution.

"It seemed like a way to maybe calm the fellow down before he was supposed to go to the chair," Dugger said. "We talked about tranquilizers, but we didn't feel drugs were appropriate. Maybe you would say alcohol is a drug. I don't know. We asked Spenkelink if he wanted a drink, and he said, 'Sure.'"

The story was based in part on a report by J. Thomas Wright, staff director of the House Criminal Justice Committee. Wright was stationed near Sullivan's cell because of unsubstantiated prisoners' charges that Spenkelink had been mistreated.

The Times story said Dugger had one drink, while Sullivan had three or four. The conversation was cordial and Dugger reportedly told Sullivan he was "way down on the list of who should be executed."

An autopsy showed Sullivan had a blood-alcohol level of .065 when he died. Antone's autopsy showed a .012 blood-alcohol level. A reading of .10 is considered intoxication.

Education

It's Improving, Reagan Says In Speech

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — President Reagan said Tuesday his back-to-basics policies have stemmed the decline of public schools and he belittled Democrats for saying future progress depends on increased federal spending.

In speeches to a convention of school principals and at a GOP luncheon, Reagan proclaimed that Republicans "are the ones with courage enough to call for basic reform."

The president stopped in Las Vegas on the way to his California ranch, where he planned to stay through the weekend.

Spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan ordered stepped-up diplomatic efforts to improve the deteriorating situation in Lebanon amid heavy fighting between the Lebanese army and Moslem rebels in Beirut. But he said Reagan was going ahead with his five-day ranch vacation as planned.

In Washington, House Speaker Thomas O'Neill criticized Reagan for being away from the White House "as the nation shakes and worries." But at no time in either address did Reagan comment on the dangerous turn of events in the Middle East.

Instead, Reagan extolled his philosophy of better education through discipline — and emphasis on basics.

"We've traveled far in improving our schools, but I don't believe there is one principal in this room who wouldn't agree our journey has just begun," he told the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

"We cannot allow our children to continue falling behind" students of other nations, such as Japan or the Soviet Union, he said.

"Instead, we must insist that all American students master the basics — math, science, history, reading and writing — that have always formed the core of our civilization."

Dismissing those who insist more money is needed to bring about lasting educational reform, Reagan said progress cannot be measured in dollars. He said the alarming decline in the quality of education came during a decade during which spending on public education doubled.

"If money alone were the answer, the problem would have been shrinking, not growing. And those who constantly call for more money are the same people who presided over two decades of unbroken educational decline," he said.

His criticism was directed at Democratic front-runner Walter Mondale, who has the endorsement of the nation's largest teachers' union and whose education proposals hinge on billions of dollars in additional federal aid.

The White House described the speech as non-political, but Reagan picked up on the same theme an hour later at a $500-a-person GOP fund-raiser, where he said Republicans "are the ones with courage enough to call for basic reform" in education.

Voters, he said, must recognize "that it is the Republicans who have a bold vision of the future." After spending 10 months decriing a modern-day crisis in education, Reagan displayed a changed tone in his speech to principals, saying the quality of public schools is improving.

"Just as our schools were in decline during the bad days, today they're playing their part in the national renewal," he said.

The president arrived in Las Vegas Monday night under heavy security after celebrating his 73rd birthday by visiting his boyhood home in Dixon, Ill., and delivering a speech to students and faculty at his alma mater, Eureka College in Eureka, Ill.

His audiences Tuesday kept celebrating his birthday.

The school principals gave him a cake in the shape of a school house — about 3 feet high, fed in red with a chocolate roof and bellfry.

He also was made an honorary member of the National Honor Society — which did not exist when he was a high school student.

Later, at the Republican fund-raiser, about 500 guests, led by singer Wayne Newton, joined in singing Happy Birthday for Reagan, the oldest president in the nation's history.

Drug-Combater Offers Reward For Info

A Sanford non-profit corporation organized to combat drug abuse has reaffirmed its goal of uncovering drug pushers.

War on Drugs, Inc., is offering a standing reward of $200 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of drug pushers among school faculty and $100 reward if the pusher is a student, according to Dr. Merle E. Parker, president and action coordinator of War on Drugs, Inc.

Parker said War on Drugs, Inc., is concerned with identification and conviction of drug pushers and cooperating with law enforcement agencies to accomplish that goal. He said the organization "fills the gap in the fight against drug use by children by attacking the one area ignored by other organizations involved in this effort."

"Parker said the problem of drug abuse has grown steadily worse and one possible reason is that those caught using drugs are not asked where they get the illicit material.

"I find it hard to understand why the first order of business when a kid is caught with any illegal drug in his possession, is not to question that child at great length, using every legal tactic available to find out where and from whom he got the drugs," Parker said.

Parker said War on Drugs — incorporated in December — maintains a 24-hour "hot line" — 322-7011 — for people who want to furnish information about drug pushers. If the information leads to a conviction, the reward will be paid in cash to protect the anonymity of the caller, according to Parker.

"Fear of retaliation appears to be the major reason why more people will not come forward with information about drug dealings," Parker said, adding that situation is especially true among students.

Parker said he has been assured by the Drug Task Force of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department that his organization and all other organizations and citizens will get the full cooperation of that department when useful information is furnished regarding drug activities.

All Souls School Sets Super-Thon

All Souls School will be having a Super-Thon on Feb. 15, 1984 at 10 a.m. at the Athletic Field. The purpose of this Super-Thon is to raise funds to purchase computer equipment and to further the school's athletic program.

The school hopes to raise $5,000 from the Super-Thon.

During a one-hour time period, each participant will walk, run or jog around a 220-yard tract as many times as he or she can.

For the next few weeks, the children will be busy asking neighborhood friends and businesses to sponsor them for so much money per lap.

For example, a pledge of 20 cents per lap would net $5 if the jogger completes 25 laps.

After the event, sponsors will be notified how many laps their jogger completed and the total amount of their pledge.

All Souls School is a non-profit organization, and paid pledges are tax deductible.

Further information may be obtained by calling the school office at 322-7090.

Waiting For Eruption

VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) — More molten rock has pushed into a hardened lava dome inside the crater of erupting Mount St. Helens, triggering earthquakes and building pressure which could cause a volcanic explosion.

Scientists compare the process of watching for an eruption to that of waiting for the delivery of a baby.

When the weather outside is frightful, keep the weather inside delightful.

Plan For Africa's Food Shortage

Millions of starving Africans will get a taste of U.S. generosity if Congress goes along with the Reagan administration's plan to give $100 million in short-term food aid to the continent's drought-stricken nations.

The emergency aid is in addition to existing U.S. assistance of $85 million for the current fiscal year and would launch a five-year, $500-million program to help African nations boost food productivity and adopt more economically viable agricultural practices.

Aid even is earmarked for Marxist-run Mozambique — one of the areas where the food crisis is most acute. According to one administration official, "starving children don't have an ideology." As in the recent relaxation of economic sanctions to Poland, the White House policy toward Mozambique is designed to help people without bolstering their rulers.

Such compassion could put the president in a no-win situation. There will be those who say it is not enough, despite the fact that over half the food going to Africa over the years has come from the United States. Others may complain that the Reagan administration is ignoring America's poor in the process.

Put in proper perspective, the $100 million supplemental request is a pittance compared to the $18 billion the federal government spent on domestic food and nutritional programs in 1983 — an increase of $4 billion over 1982.

It is well-targeted, however. Half of the world's estimated 10 million refugees are in Africa and 22 of the continent's nations are experiencing major food shortages caused in part by several consecutive years of drought. An added factor is the practice of many African governments to subsidize consumers in the cities by holding down the prices paid to farmers for their crops, thus reducing incentives to grow more.

Credit for the sudden policy change has to go to Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., who succeeded in focusing White House attention on Africa's emergency and long-term needs following a two-week fact-finding trip during the congressional recess. Upon his return, Danforth immediately saw the president and showed him color slides of Africa's hungry that had been processed on a rush basis.

The administration's commitment didn't make very many front pages and the domestic political benefits are questionable. But as Secretary of State George Shultz noted, "I think the message is that when people are hungry and dying, America responds."

Regardless of the party in the White House, we might add.

Eyes In Space

The Air Force's announcement of a flight test of an anti-satellite missile threatens to spread the arms race above and beyond the planet, to outer space itself.

Any military advantage created by an anti-satellite missile would be more than offset by the many dangers involved in the militarization of space by the superpowers. There is little reason to suppose that the Soviets would be intimidated by a U.S. satellite-killer; more likely is the possibility that they would speed deployment of their own ASAT system.

As a high-tech superpower, the United States relies heavily on space satellites for civilian and military purposes. That's one reason why this country would have more to lose in a space-based war than the Soviet Union and more to gain by a system to protect satellites.

The best way to protect our satellites is to negotiate an effective treaty banning the weapons that threaten them. ASAT treaty talks broke down after the Soviet Union invaded Afghanistan in 1979. The administration has been cool to resuming them, on the ground that compliance with any ASAT ban would be hard to verify.

Verification is a legitimate concern and it should (and would) be the subject of negotiations. But concern over verification is not a good reason to avoid talks in the first place.

The longer Washington and Moscow delay talks, the more testing the two sides will do, and the more difficult it will be to reach (and verify compliance with) an agreement. The United States should not wait until technology threatens this country's eyes in space.

BERRY'S WORLD

"That's it for this evening from your ALL DEPRESSING NEWS CHANNEL..."

By Deane Jordan

As of Dec. 31, 1983, at least 4,441 persons were entered in the Missing Persons File in the Florida Crime Information Center.

Of that number, 71 percent, or 3,161, were children, according to the missing children bulletin of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

The bulletin announced that the Missing Children Information Clearinghouse, as designated by the 1982 Florida Legislature, is now in operation providing information on missing children to law enforcement agencies, public and private organizations, and Florida citizens trying to find missing kids.

The clearinghouse offers a directory of resources available for additional assistance in locating a child, such as emergency flyers containing physical and situational descriptions of missing children when requested by a law enforcement agency, training for public and private organizations regarding the operation of the clearing house, and assistance to local law enforcement agencies to provide a program to fingerprint children so that the parents can retain the fingerprint card should it be needed for future identification.

The bulletin contains both comments of hope and despair.

One entry says that a boy long missing was found in Puerto Rico and has been returned home, or that another child found in Denver was taken home. One child returned voluntarily.

Then there's the sad note about the body of a little girl found in an orange grove in Indian River County.

Flipping through the pages and photographs, as unlike the children perhaps as the wanted posters of criminals in the post office, one reads that Jennifer is 16, pregnant and has disappeared from her North Carolina home and is believed to be in Florida. Another Jennifer, or "Jenny," is 17 and was last seen in Miami at 9:30 a.m. May 19, 1983. Foul play is suspected.

the bulletin says.

Then they get young, too young to leave home on their own determination.

Gailene was 8 the last time she was seen in Pinellas Park. She was an abused child and may be with a non-custody parent. Raymond was 5 when he disappeared Dec. 2, in Ft. Lauderdale. Police have reason to believe he may be in the Midwest. Malina, 6 years old and three-feet tall, was last seen in Hollywood, Fla., Dec. 2. She too may be living in the Midwest.

And they get younger: April, from Winter Haven, disappeared in March. She is 3 years old. Jodi, from St. Petersburg, missing since August, and Elton, from Ft. Meade, missing since November, are 2 years old.

Sadly, most of the missing children, and missing adults, are never found.

If you need to contact Clearinghouse services, they have a toll-free telephone number you can call 24 hours a day, seven days a week. It is 1-800-342-0821.

Cross And Crude Talk In Senate

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To his everlasting regret, Alan Simpson, the soft-spoken Republican from Wyoming meandered into the Senate chamber.

After listening to the speeches, Simpson uncoupled his 6-foot-8 frame and gave his succinct opinion of the raging debate.

"I never heard so much guff in all my life," Simpson concluded.

The topic of the debate into which Simpson blundered concerned money — the root of all evil in many normal places and also in the Senate and House.

Specifically, the resolution before the Senate would rescind a pay raise for members of Congress. The increase, totaling slightly under $2,500 a year for each of them, slipped automatically into effect on Jan. 1.

Nothing — not budget deficits, not spending cuts, not military outlays — can make the Senate agonize as much as does the question of members' pay.

And almost nothing can reduce the level of debate, which is not always that classy at best, as quickly.

In this case, the original perpetrators were Sens. Don Nickles, R-Okla., Jake Garn, R-Utah, and Dave Boren, D-Okla. They offered the pay cut resolution.

Nickles and Boren, without a wink of the eye, said that by returning the pay scale to $69,800, the Senate would lead the way in making the needed sacrifice to balance the budget.

"I think this is just unadulterated malarkey," opined Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio.

But then Metzenbaum, a wealthy man, could not leave well enough alone. He had to, as he often does, keep going.

The Ohio gadfly proceeded to charge the resolutions's sponsors with lack of "courage" for not talking the lead in closing tax loopholes, cutting down on the number of consultants and cutting defense waste.

"It does not take a whole lot of courage to come out here and put members of this body on the spot as to whether or not they will accept a 3.5 percent increase," said Metzenbaum.

By this time, Garn was pacing the floor. Garn, who is not possessed of a long temper, often paces the Senate floor.

Garn told the senators what he has told them before when the question of pay has arisen: "I do not have wealth. I do not have an inheritance. I do not have a rich wife. I have seven kids and three of them are in college and No. 4 will be in college next September."

Unlike Nickles and Boren, Garn did not consider the pay rescission a "signal" of sacrifice to the nation. He objected because it went into effect without a vote while Congress was on a lengthy recess.

Synfuels Continues Wasteful Ways

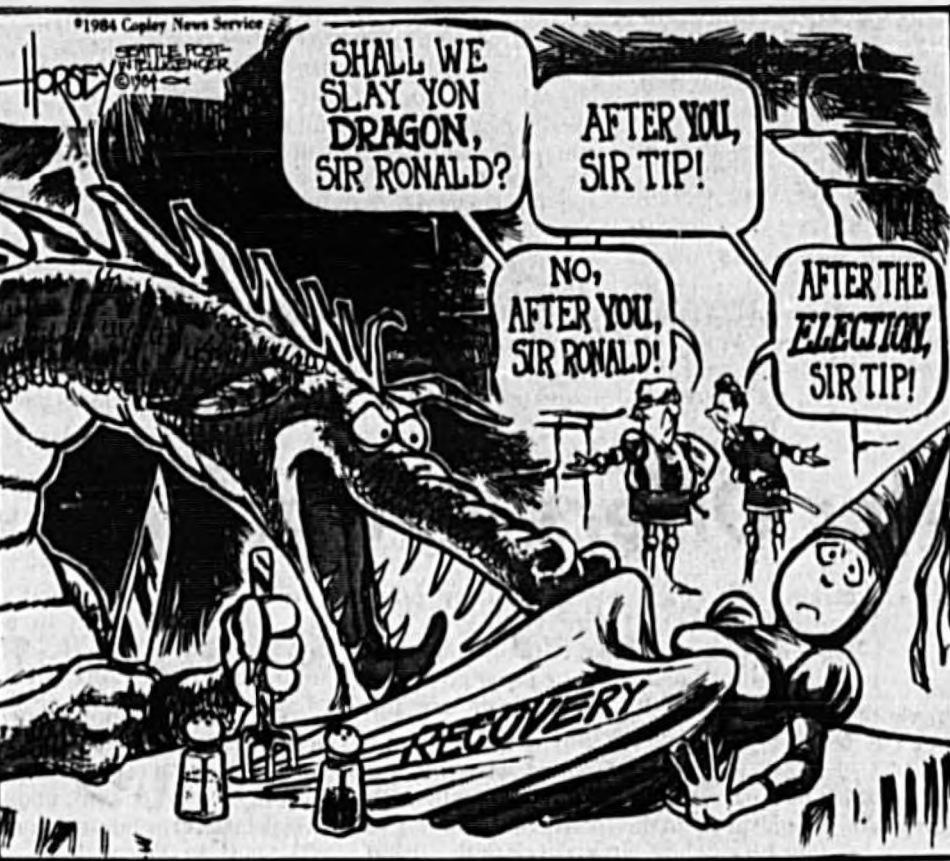

WASHINGTON — For almost a year, I have been investigating the U.S. Synthetic Fuels Corp., which is supposed to help develop alternative fuels to reduce our dependency on foreign oil.

In the wake of my revelations, the president and three vice presidents of Synfuels have resigned. Now Congress is giving closer scrutiny to the taxpayer-funded boondoggle. Yet the wastrel ways go on.

My associates John Dillon and Corky Johnson have uncovered still more dubious practices inside the government corporation:

— Shrinks: Synfuels may be slowly driving Congress crazy, but it's the corporation's executives who are getting therapy. The taxpayers, of course, are paying the bills. Ten top Synfuels executives were flown to Texas to see a corporate psychologist, who charged a total of $5,500.

Synfuels Chairman Ed Noble claimed he couldn't find a psychiatrist in the Washington area who could do the job. He said the mental examinations were to determine job suitability and attitude. Insiders suggested, however,

JEFFREY HART

Dynamic Political Move

WASHINGTON, D.C. — It is very much beside the point that Edwin Meese has been nominated for attorney general because he is eminently qualified. He is. But this is a dynamic political move on the part of the president that indicates the way in which he intends to fight the 1984 presidential election. With the nomination of Meese, certain in the mind of the Senate, Reagan has signaled that he plans to come out fighting on domestic issues, and challenge the Democratic nominee on liberal campaign rhetoric.

CBS-TV's Dan Rather was so excited over the Edwin Meese nomination that he called him "Edmund" Meese, but Rather did proclaim the Democratic objections to the genial Californian, and Reagan apparently is going to fight on exactly that line.

I, myself, have known Ed Meese since 1968, when he was Reagan's assistant chief-of-staff in the governor's office in Sacramento. He later became chief-of-staff.

Meese at that time was not only a successful practicing attorney, but had a scholarly interest in the criminal law. He pursued this by establishing an Institute in San Diego for the study of criminal law and its application, and his institute earned him a national reputation among scholars and legal professionals. He has taught courses in criminal law in the California university system and elsewhere.

The departing attorney general, William French Smith, is a graceful and gentlemanly fellow who has done a good job, but Ed Meese is something different. He has the personal character and the intellectual stature to be the point man on the key domestic issues in the coming campaign.

Whatever the horror, feigned or real, of the media and the Democratic nominees, Meese holds the high ground of majority opinion on the issues under dispute.

Meese supports capital punishment for gross murders. So does an increasing majority of the public. Despite the large percentage of blacks on death row, black voters support capital punishment. The most frequent victims of violent crime, blacks want stricter law enforcement for excellent reasons.

Meese had the courage and common sense to wonder aloud about the issue of "hunger" in America, after our years of spending billions of dollars to alleviate it. But everyone knows that there are multiple causes for bag women, bowery bums, neglected children and lonely sociopaths beyond the reach of food stamps. There will always be cases that no amount of government expenditure and effort can reach.

Meese is against racial and gender quotas, and so is practically everyone else. The Supreme Court has been ambivalent, but it will cease to be so as soon as Reagan appoints three or even four new justices during his second term.

Meese is against racial busing. So is everyone else, including a majority of blacks, whatever their so-called spokesman say.

Walter Mondale, Jesse Jackson and the rest indulged in instant denunciation of Meese, calling him "insensitive" on minority issues.

Setting aside questions of his sensitivity, he is right on the issues. In this political context, sensitivity must mean being wrong on the issues.

By nominating Meese, the president has thrown down a challenge to his eventual Democratic opponent. He has said, in effect, "Well, gentlemen, if you want to fight it out along the line of these issues, I will be glad to meet you — starting right now."

Meese signals a tough, aggressive political approach to the campaign and a bid for an overwhelming electoral majority on the gut domestic issues.

Problem For Free Enterprise

The political Left in the United States makes its claims to power by charging that the American economic system is corrupted by greed and the power of big business. Those who know anything about economics recognize that the accusation is a slander and lie. Free enterprise, after all, has allowed men with bold ideas to create wealth and prosperity in this country that other peoples only dream about, particularly those in nations that operate according to the leftist vision.

Still, the political litany of the socialist Left exerts a hypnotic power over many Americans, including many in influential positions in government, journalism and education. That is because it is a demand for moral purity which simply does not exist. The attraction of the Left is mainly a negative force; since there is no socialist model worthy of anyone's admiration, the Left scores its points by pointing at the blemishes of capitalism.

Conservatives who defend the free economy against the leftist attacks recognize that they consist mainly of disconnected examples of human failure to cope with the demands of freedom. Companies go bankrupt and real people suffer because of greed, stupidity or bad luck, not because capitalism is evil. Thus it is healthy for conservative believers in free enterprise occasionally and soberly to observe how freedom is abused.

In Nashville, Tenn., a manager for a moving company made an unrealistically low bid for a job. He figured he could complete a two-day project in one. Sometime after the move began, the manager must have realized he had been wrong. However, instead of acknowledging his own error, he demanded that his workers finish the work in one day as promised, or lose their jobs. They worked through the day without stopping, hauling desks, furniture, heavy computer equipment, a printing press and literally tons of packing boxes.

Late in the day, the crew was exhausted, but the manager refused to allow them to stop for dinner, or even a short break. They began handling expensive equipment carelessly. Late that night, one of three moving vans was still full at the new location.

Those men were fired. The following day, a foreman with only two new assistants arrived to unload the remaining truck; three men for a job that would have been a backbreaking task for six.

Free enterprise fatalists may say, "That's the moving business." Men who do that kind of heavy, unskilled labor typically change jobs often. But those men did not deserve to be fired. They worked hard, with pep and enthusiasm at first, and were worn down by an impossible task taken on by a greedy, spiteful, incompetent boss. Perhaps they have some narrow claim against their ex-employer under the law. But even if they do, surely none of them will take it seriously.

Footnote: The Ferry search for a new president, already paid for, may have been a waste of money. Synfuels may decide to restructure its executive hierarchy and eliminate the need for a $135,000 a year president.

SPY STORY OF THE WEEK: This is about the spy who came in from the cold and got rolled — by Uncle Sam's sharp-eyed auditors. A National Security Agency analyst (it's now against the law to name her) was transferred from the facility at Menwith Hill Station, Harrogate, England to the agency's headquarters at Ft. Meade, Md. She was authorized to ship her car on the Queen Elizabeth II, which cost her $898.10 up front.

Citing the official authorization, she asked for reimbursement. But the accountant cited the Merchant Marine Act of 1936 and rejected her claim. The act prohibits reimbursement without justification for using a foreign-flag vessel. The comptroller general backed the rejection, even though her boss had given her the go-ahead.

Volcker Warns

Jobs Now Being 'Crowded Out'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker, warning "something is out of control," urged Congress Tuesday to "brink deficits soon or watch the United States become the world's biggest international borrower."

Volcker spelled out the "clear hazards and risks before us," but said only half of the $200 billion annual deficit is dangerous.

The other half is fading away of its own accord, he said.

He explained that he worries primarily about permanent, or structural, borrowing that continues regardless of the state of the economy, a portion now half of the total deficit but growing.

The remaining red ink is cyclical, due to the costs of the recession, and will vanish if the economy continues to strengthen.

The country is squandering its strong international position in trade and investment by becoming addicted to a stream of international cash that may not always be so steady, he warned.

"It is ominous that the recorded net investment position of the United States overseas, built up gradually over the entire post-war period, will in the space of only three years — 1983, 1984, and 1985 — be reversed," Volcker said.

If the numbers are correct, Volcker said, "The largest and richest economy in the world is on the verge of becoming a net debtor internationally and would soon become the largest."

Asked if unpopular spending cuts or tax increases could be postponed beyond this election year, Volcker replied, "I think that's a gamble."

Wreathed by his usual cloud of cigar smoke, Volcker's 6-foot-7-inch frame remained bent over the House Banking Committee's microphone for nearly four hours of testimony and questioning.

Last year's economic recovery, though surprisingly strong, is now slowed to a new year of "very satisfactory" but unspectacular growth — before fundamental economic problems have been solved, he said.

"For all that progress and promise, something is out of control."

High interest rates slow the rate at which new jobs are created and eliminate many of the old ones, he said. "That in itself is the 'crowding out' phenomenon," which he said already is under way as private credit needs lose out to the federal government.

Foreigners also may decide to slow the approximately $80 billion a year rate at which they send money to the United States, he said. Then, if big deficits remain, either another recession or high inflation could be inevitable.

Pressed to choose the annual size of deficit improvement he would recommend, Volcker picked $50 billion a year.

Spending cuts should be tried first, but "if you can't cut spending you have to turn to the revenue side" — taxes, he said.

They Know The Score

Workshop Scheduled

A four-week workshop experience, Assertive Discipline for Parents, will be presented at Lake Mary Elementary School media center on Feb. 16 and 23, and March 1 and 8 from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

Mary Balk, the school guidance counselor, will lead the workshop which will address the following topics: children's misbehavior at home and school, how a single parent can deal effectively with children's behavior problems, and how spouses can work as a team in dealing with their children.

Quake Rocks Solomon Islands

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — A powerful earthquake rocked the Solomon Island today, causing minor damages but no casualties. The epicenter of the quake was southeast of Honiara, the capital of the South Pacific island group.

The Solomon Islands Broadcasting Commission said the quake, measuring 6.5 on the Richter scale struck at 8:53 am local time Wednesday (2153 GMT Tuesday), and was felt across Guadalcanal, the main island, and the cluster of large and small islands that make up the group of islands in the South Pacific.

WORLD IN BRIEF
Islamic Extremists Take Credit For Killing Brothers

PARIS (UPI) — An Islamic extremist group claimed responsibility for killing two exiled Iranian brothers, one a former military governor known as the "Butcher" of Tehran.

In London, a caller to United Press International on Tuesday said the Islamic Jihad, or Holy War, said it killed Gen. Gholam Ali Oveisli, the 66-year-old former military governor of Tehran, and his brother, Gholam Hossein.

"Islamic Jihad is taking responsibility for the murder of Oveisli in Paris and we believe that wherever our opposition is abroad," the caller said.

The two Iranians were shot through the head minutes after they left the general's house in Paris's fashionable 16th district.

Laxity On Jewish Violence

JERUSALEM (UPI) — An Israeli government report on violence in the occupied West Bank accuses police of laxity in investigating cases of Jews shooting Arabs.

The document, suppressed for 22 months and released Tuesday, also found that Jewish settlers have refused to cooperate in investigations of incidents.

The report was compiled by an assistant attorney general, Judith Karp, after law professors in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv alleged that cases against Jews were quashed.

"In many files, the handling of the case took far more than a reasonable time without consideration for the sensitive nature of the subject," the report said.

The commission found fault with investigations of Israeli soldiers shooting Arabs during demonstrations.

'Star Wars' Defense

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UPI) — French President Francois Mitterrand, evoking President Reagan's "star wars" proposals, said the future defense of Western Europe lies in space.

Mitterrand proposed Tuesday that European countries establish a space community that would build a manned space station to defend Western Europe.

He became the first European leader to call for contingencies for a deadly laser battle scenario in outer space. Last year, Reagan's "star wars" speech called for increased American research into development of space weaponry.

'Heroes' 'Zeroes'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Federation of America today released its 13th annual voting-record analysis of Congress, hailing 38 legislators as "Heroes" and dubbing 27 others "Zeroes."

The rankings, which drew smiles from "Heroes" and silence or shrugs from "Zeroes," were based on 13 "key consumer" votes last year ranging from dairy price supports to energy conservation.

All "Heroes" are Democrats. Sen. Edward Zorinsky, D-Neb., was the only non-Republican "Zero."

Sens. Joseph Biden, D-Del., and Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, had the only 100 percent scores in the Senate — meaning their 13 selected votes were what the federation of 200 consumer groups considered correct.

On the other side of the consumer ledger, Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., John Tower, R-Tex., and James McClure, R-Idaho, received scores of zero. Six other senators were declared "Zeroes" with scores of 8 percent.

The only Floridian listed is Tom Lewis under House zeroes.

The Problems Of Non-replaced Missing Teeth

Facial collapse is one of the aging elements and occurs when the teeth are lost and not replaced.

In the dental arch, teeth depend on other teeth for stability and mutual support. The muscles of the face also depend upon the teeth for stability and support.

When teeth are missing, they must be replaced if the patient wishes to maintain the health of the dental arch and normal facial contours.

Replacing lost teeth involves the use of a fixed bridge or partial denture - depending on the circumstances.

Incidentally, behavioral studies on persons who have lost a part of their body - combat casualties, accident victims, amputation or similar operations - have revealed that they feel a profound sense of loss, of being incomplete. These individuals may be repaired physically - but, psychologically, many of them never heal.

We now realize that persons who have lost their teeth share this painful syndrome. But the real tragedy is this, that loss of teeth is almost always preventable. Indeed, there is a devastating impact of being without teeth - the extent to which the loss of teeth can cripple the victim physically, physiologically - and most important, emotionally.

Take good care of your natural teeth. Let's avoid "old age" facial collapse.

Ninth Grade Student Fighting Suspension

PEMBROKE PINES, Fla. (UPI) — A ninth grader who was asked to evaluate her math teacher — and used an obscenity to do so — will go to court to fight her 10-day suspension from school.

The questionnaire administered by teacher Lois Menck asked "What do you like least about this class?" Rachel Stivler wrote, "The teacher sucks."

She was suspended from Cooper City High School Jan. 24 for violating rules that prohibit profanity on school grounds. Students who violate the rule are suspended for 10 days, and are allowed to make up classwork they miss.

In an emergency hearing Monday, American Civil Liberties Union lawyer Joseph Dawson argued Miss Stivler's right to free speech had been violated.

"School children don't shed their constitutional rights once they enter the school house," Dawson said.

Dawson and the girl's father, Robert I. Stivler of Pembroke Pines, asked Circuit Judge Robert Scott to order school officials to take back Miss Stivler immediately.

Scott refused but said he would hear the case at an undetermined later date.

Scott said Monday he was more concerned with Miss Stivler's spelling and grammar than her free speech.

In Barroom Rape Case

Potential Jurors Polled On Ethnic Prejudice

By Ruth Youngblood

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UPI) — Potential jurors in the trials of six men accused of a barroom gang rape were grilled Tuesday on ethnic prejudice and the impact of pre-trial publicity in the highly publicized case.

The difficulty of questioning 500 members of the jury pool about their attitudes toward Portuguese-Americans prompted Superior Court Judge William G. Young to acknowledge he may be unable to meet a Monday deadline he set for empaneling two 16-member juries.

"There's a real chance we won't be able to make the decision Monday," Young said. "Maybe it will be Wednesday or later in the week."

Three women and four men were tabbed for a second pool of 224 people from which attorneys will select 24 jurors and eight alternates. So far, 14 men and four women have been ordered to report to the century-old courthouse next week.

The potential jurors include a cleaning woman, a female bank teller, a fabric cutter, a salesman, a liquor merchant and a foreman.

The six defendants, all Portuguese-Americans as is the victim, are charged in the alleged gang rape of a 21-year-old woman on a pool table in Big Dan's Tavern, a bar in neighboring New Bedford that has been replaced by a bakery.

They are accused of taking turns assaulting the mother of two on a pool table on March 5, 1983, as the victim screamed for help and patrons yelled, "Go for it."

The woman told police she stopped at the tavern to buy a pack of cigarettes. When she tried to leave, she claimed she was pulled to the floor, stripped below the waist and dragged to the pool table where she was beaten and raped for two hours, finally managing to flee half naked.

Accused are Daniel Silvia, 26; John Cordeiro, 26; and Victor Raposa, 23, all of New Bedford, and Joseph Vieira, 26, of Pomfret, Conn. They will be tried in morning sessions. Virgilio Medeiros, 23, and Jose Medeiros, 22, both of New Bedford, but unrelated, are to be tried in the afternoon.

All have pleaded innocent to charges of aggravated rape, which carries a maximum sentence of life in prison. The trials were split into morning and afternoon sessions after attorneys claimed some defendants made allegations that could implicate some of the others.

The defendants, dressed in jackets and ties, sat in a row of straight-backed chairs behind the defense table.

'My Head Is Hurting Again'

DE SOTO, Mo. (UPI) — Investigators said Tuesday that severe headaches and paranoia about "communist" school administrators drove a junior high school science teacher to kill four people and himself.

A charred body tentatively identified as that of George Brandon, 43, was one of two found Monday in his rural home amid stockpiles of machine guns and hand grenades.

He left a note which said: "My head is hurting again. My pain is getting more awful and I can't stand it."

Authorities said Brandon, a teacher in the well-to-do St. Louis suburb of Kirkwood since 1966, killed himself after going on a two-county rampage in which he shot to death his ex-wife, a former school supervisor, the man's wife, and a neighbor.

Brian M. Matheny, 52, and his wife, Betty, 53, were the first victims. They were shot inside their home near Easton about 70 miles northwest of St. Louis. Matheny also was a science teacher and once was Brandon's supervisor in Kirkwood.

Detective David Connor of the Franklin County Sheriff's Department said a note found near the Mathenys' bodies said: "They're all communists. They caused a lot of hell."

After killing the Mathenys, police said Brandon drove 20 miles back toward St. Louis to the trailer house of his neighbor, Joseph Lennemann, 51. Lennemann was shot in the neck and killed.

Though he left no note, police believe Lennemann was shot because of a feud with Brandon over who should pay for improving a dirt road that connected their homes to a highway. Lennemann also had accused Brandon of shooting his dog.

Finally, investigators said, Brandon killed his ex-wife, Barbara Moore, 45, set fire to the house they still shared and shot himself.

Judge Awards $50,000 To Freedom Rider

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI) — A federal judge Tuesday awarded $50,000 to a civil rights Freedom Rider beaten in an Alabama bus station by the Ku Klux Klan more than 20 years ago.

The judge determined the federal government failed to prevent the Klan attack at the Anniston, Ala., terminal in 1961.

Walter Bergman, 84, sued the FBI for $2 million, claiming the beating led to complications during a routine appendectomy four months later that left him confined to a wheelchair.

Bergman asked for $1 million for himself and $1 million for the estate of his wife, Frances.

But both Bergman and his attorney said they were satisfied with the award.

"Nobody was in this case for the money ... The civil rights, that element of the case has been vindicated," said William Goodman, the American Civil Liberties Union's chief attorney in the case.

U.S. District Judge Richard Enslin, who ruled last May the FBI was liable for the beating, awarded Bergman $35,000 as compensation for his physical and emotional injuries. An additional $15,000 was awarded the estate of Mrs. Bergman for her emotional suffering.

But Enslin said Bergman's attorneys failed to prove a "causal condition" between the beating and the surgery four months later, and based his award exclusively on Bergman's injuries in the beating itself.

Bergman said if the $50,000 award stands, he will donate the money to the ACLU and other charities. The ACLU said the case has cost between $70,000 and $75,000.

Neither the Justice Department, which represented the FBI in this case, nor the ACLU indicated whether they would take any further action.

As local police looked on, Bergman and other civil rights demonstrators were beaten by Ku Klux Klansmen on May 14, 1961, when they arrived at the Trailways bus station in Anniston.

This winter, warm up your house with a new heat pump. And we'll pay you up to $600 cash.

FPL will pay you up to $600 cash if you replace your inefficient heating/cooling system with a high-efficiency heat pump.

You save two ways. You get cash back on your installation now, and your new efficient heat pump can lower your heating bills by as much as 50% when compared to the conventional electric heating systems that many of our customers have.

A heat pump both heats and cools your home very efficiently. In the winter, it extracts heat from outside, pumping it indoors. In the summer, it cools by removing heat and humidity from your home.

For qualifying details, contact any heating/cooling dealer displaying the Watt-Wise™ Products Program symbol, or call FPL's Watt-Wise Line™ for a list of dealers participating in this program. And an FPL representative will personally check to see that the completed job meets our rigid standards.

This program benefits you and all our customers. Because it costs less than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient heating/cooling systems.

So pick up the phone. And pick up as much as $600.

We're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

Making A 'Fair' Barbecue

Jaime Bojanowski serves up barbecued chicken as Michelle Rarey holds pan and 4-H Seminole County Council members (from left) Stasi Bojanowski, Renee Seitz, Tiffany Moore, Missy Warner, and Francine Huggins wait impatiently for a taste during meeting Saturday at the home of Extension Agent and 4-H Coordinator Barbara Hughes in Sanford. They owe the tasty bonus to the fact that 4-H'er George Nunnery of Chuluota was practicing up for the Poultry Barbecue Contest at the Florida State Fair which runs today through Feb. 19 in Tampa. After preparing the barbecue with his secret sauce Chef George had to rush home to feed his steer, so he wasn't there to be photographed.

Baby's Condition Good After Bone Marrow Transplant

HOUSTON (UPI) — A 7-month-old boy Tuesday was injected with his father's bone marrow in an experimental operation doctors hope will cure him of a rare disease which prevents his body from naturally fighting infections.

Terrance Allen Davis Jr. of Caldwell, Idaho, was in good spirits and good condition at Texas Children's hospital after the 2 1/2-hour-long procedure which doctors called the child's only real chance to live.

T.J., as he is called, suffers from Severe Combined Immune Deficiency, a congenital condition in which he has no defense against infections.

Dr. William Shearer, professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine, said SCID exists at birth and is inherited in the chromosomes. Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome — commonly called AIDS — harms the body in a similar fashion.

T.J.'s father, Terrance Davis, 22, said the condition was diagnosed in his son in January. A hospital in California refused to admit the baby because Davis carried no insurance, but a research center at Texas Children's funded by the National Institutes of Health is paying for T.J.'s operation.

Shearer said T.J. has a "far advanced infection" in his cheek and nasal passages which doctors said could spread to his eye and brain. That infection, he said, made the bone marrow transplant mandatory.

"T.J. has a small but very real chance," Shearer said. Bone marrow taken from the father was treated for 16 hours to remove all harmful bacteria and infused into the child. The baby immediately developed a high fever and had trouble breathing, but Shearer said both symptoms returned to normal within an hour.

Davis, an unemployed maintenance worker, and his wife, Linda, 19, have been living at the hospital and will stay there until their son recovers. Shearer estimated it could take up to six months before results are evident.

"We are sticking together and keeping a positive attitude," Mrs. Davis said.

A Woman For U.S. President?

(Editor's note: The following Epcot Poll was conducted at Walt Disney World's Epcot Center. Visitors to Epcot are polled daily and their responses are tabulated by computer. The results of the poll are analyzed by the New York research firm of Yankelovich, Skelly and White.)

LAKE BUENA VISTA, (UPI) — While most Americans surveyed for an Epcot Poll can visualize a woman as president, very few feel it could happen in the 1980s.

A total of 15,000 participated in the study at Walt Disney World's Epcot Center. While four out of five indicated they do believe a woman could be elected this country's leader, only 15 percent claim it could happen as early as 1988.

Another 31 percent responded positively when the year 1992 was suggested.

An additional 33 percent saw it as a possibility by 1996 or later. Only 15 percent said there would never be a female conducting this country's business from the Oval Office.

As expected, the response from women participants was more optimistic: 60 percent of the female respondents saw the possibility in either 1988 or 1992, while only 37 percent of the men agreed. Of those saying it will never happen, 20 percent were men, 9 percent were women.

The study was conducted in association with marketing researchers Yankelovich, Skelly and White, Inc.

Suspect To Be charged With 5 Murders

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (UPI) — Police said Tuesday Syvasky Poyner, a 27-year-old fast-food restaurant worker, will be charged with the execution-style slayings of five women in 11 days but refused to discuss his possible motive.

Poyner, of Newport News, was arraigned Monday for the capital murder of Carolyn Hedrick, the latest victim.

Before his arraignment, police had scheduled a news conference for Tuesday, but when it was held they would say only that Poyner would be charged with the other murders.

They refused to discuss motive or evidence.

Poyner had been living in a tiny bedroom littered with girls' magazines and pinup posters. His roommate for the last five months, retired minister Willie Wilson, 79, said money problems forced Poyner's wife, Theresa, to move in with her mother. There wasn't enough room for Poyner, so he moved in with Wilson.

Police said ballistics tests are still not finished. Newport News Commonwealth's Attorney Willard Robinson said two Richmond forensics experts are assisting.

Robinson said tests have been under way for about a week. Police said they searched Poyner's room for a .38 caliber pistol, but they did not confirm they found one.

Robinson would not say if the results of the ballistic tests would be disclosed before the trial.

"We feel he is responsible," Robinson said. "But in discussing evidentiary matters, we will possibly jeopardize the successful prosecution of this case."

Robinson said Poyner will be put into an identification lineup Thursday. A picture of the suspect will be released after the lineup.

Two of the five murders occurred in Williamsburg, two in Newport News and one in Hampton. Each victim was shot once in the left side of the head and each killing took place about midday.

Ms. Hedrick's body was found in a church parking lot in Newport News. Police said they will also charge Poyner with the slayings of:

—Joyce Baldwin, 45, shot to death Jan. 23 in a Hampton beauty shop.

—Louise Paulette, 72, and Christine Brooks, 42, discovered dead Jan. 30 in a Williamsburg motel.

—Vicki Ripple, 17, shot to death Jan. 31 while working alone at a Newport News ice cream shop.

Albert, Tribe Kick Drought

APOPKA — The long drought for Seminole High's soccer team is finally over. And just in the nick of time.

With just two games left in the regular season (counting Tuesday's game) Seminole broke its 16-game losing streak as freshman forward Matt Albert booted in a pair of goals to lead the Tribe over Apopka's Blue Darters, 2-0, in Five Star Conference action Tuesday night at Apopka High.

Seminole, 1-16, hosts Oviedo Friday in the last regular season game. The Tribe then hosts the first round of the district tournament, against Apopka, on Monday. The winner of the first round game plays the top seed in the journey.

"We have some momentum going," Seminole coach Howard Hawkins said. "We're finally starting to create scoring opportunities and we're getting better on defense every game."

Seminole built a 1-0 lead just five minutes into the game as Albert took a pass from Dave Sierpatowski and put the ball past the Apopka goalkeeper. The score remained 1-0 at the half.

The Tribe's defense continued to work hard in the second half and Albert booted in his second goal on a breakaway to give Seminole a comfortable 2-0 lead.

John Frederick was the leading defender for the Seminoles Tuesday as he closely marked Apopka's high-scoring center-forward. Tribe goalkeeper Rob Cohen turned in another good effort with 16 saves. Apopka took 21 shots on goal Tuesday compared to 16 for Seminole. — Chris Flister

The Seminole girls soccer team has a lot in common with the Seminoles boys soccer team. They both get tremendous play in the goal from their keeper and they both get no points from their offense.

The second part of the similarity was the reason that Seminole, 2-8, lost 1-0 Tuesday night in the first round of the district to Trinity Prep. Trinity Prep has "earned" the right to play undefeated Lyman Thursday night.

"One to nothing, that was a good game; it could have gone either way," said a satisfied Seminole coach Suzy Reno. She had reason to be satisfied. The Lady Tribe played the game minus three starters and still only lost by one goal. "The game would have been different if we would have had them (the three missing players)," Reno said. "I had to move them (the remaining players) around and they were playing positions they didn't know."

Trinity controlled the game from the outset, putting offensive pressure on Seminole, giving "Nole" goalie Susan Huaman a workout. Seminole didn't have the ball in their offensive end of the field until 22 minutes were gone in the game.

By contrast, Trinity Prep goalie Amy Williams had to be bored. She didn't have to make her first save until over 25:00 were gone in the game.

Huaman had five unofficial saves by halftime. The Saints struck paydirt, or so it seemed, with 8:04 left in the half on a goal by Cassandra Lassier. But the side judge called an off-sided violation on Trinity Prep and the goal was disallowed.

Seminole's only threat of the half came when Christy Gonzales charged down the right side of the field with the ball and drove a shot into Trinity's Williams.

Seminole almost got out of the half unscathed until with 41 seconds left, Christina Emery got the ball deep on a deflection and hammered a shot past Huaman for the only goal of the half and game.

Huaman was devastated that the goal got by her, but coach Reno felt differently. "She did good," said Reno. "She felt so bad about that goal, she was in tears. But she's a backup; she's never played soccer before in her life before this year. I think she did a tremendous job."

Huaman usually plays forward, where she has scored most of the Seminole goals this season, but an injury to starting goalie Sherri Rumler put Huaman in the goal.

In the second half Trinity hammered away at Seminole but couldn't break through. As in the first half, the Seminole offense was dormant.

"We didn't have any offense," said Reno. "Our offense was my starting keeper (Huaman) and I couldn't take her out of goal."

Thus ended Seminole's first season of girls soccer. But according to Reno, the best is yet to come.

"Those girls have never played soccer in their life so I think they did a tremendous job," said Reno. "That's their first year; next year will be different."

No. 1 Rule: Key The Ball In Play

I suppose the one bit of advice that I give to my students more than any other is to "be steady," or keep the ball in play. Indeed this is considered the number one rule of strategy.

Simply, "keep the ball in play." This rule applies to all levels of the game from the very beginner to the highly advanced player. The following are a few tips that might help you keep the ball in play longer. After all the vast majority of points are ended because of errors and not placements so it just makes sense to steady up.

Assume Proper Court Position

You must know where to wait for your opponent's shot in order to best be able to return it. Each player should stand 1 or 2 feet behind his baseline, approximately in the center of the court. Be careful not to get caught in "no-man's land" (midcourt) unless you are purposely going to the net. Balls will bounce behind you or at your feet if you are in the midcourt. These are difficult shots to return, and you will usually be forced to hit them up (defensively). If you have to run into no-man's land for a short ball, return quickly to your home base behind the baseline or go on to the net. Don't remain in no-man's-land.

Bisect the Possible Angle of Return

Always return to a position behind the baseline that bisects the possible angle of your opponent's hit. For example, if the ball is being hit from Point A, assume a set position at Point B, slightly to the right of the center mark.

Play Percentage Tennis. Make Your Opponent Hit the Ball

This is the first and foremost rule in tennis for the advanced as well as the beginning player. Concentrate on keeping the ball going back to your opponent. Don't let him off the hook by trying an unnecessary shot, missing, or getting caught out of position. You need only hit the ball in the court one more time than your opponent to win the point. If you can keep the ball in play, you can pressure your opponent to hit a placement to beat you.

Try to Balance Errors and Placements

Unnecessary errors — balls that could have been returned — cause 75 percent of all points lost. Only 25 percent, on the other hand, are lost because of placement — shots hit so well they could not have been returned. Three-quarters of the unnecessary errors are because the ball hit the net, and only one-quarter because the ball landed out of bounds.

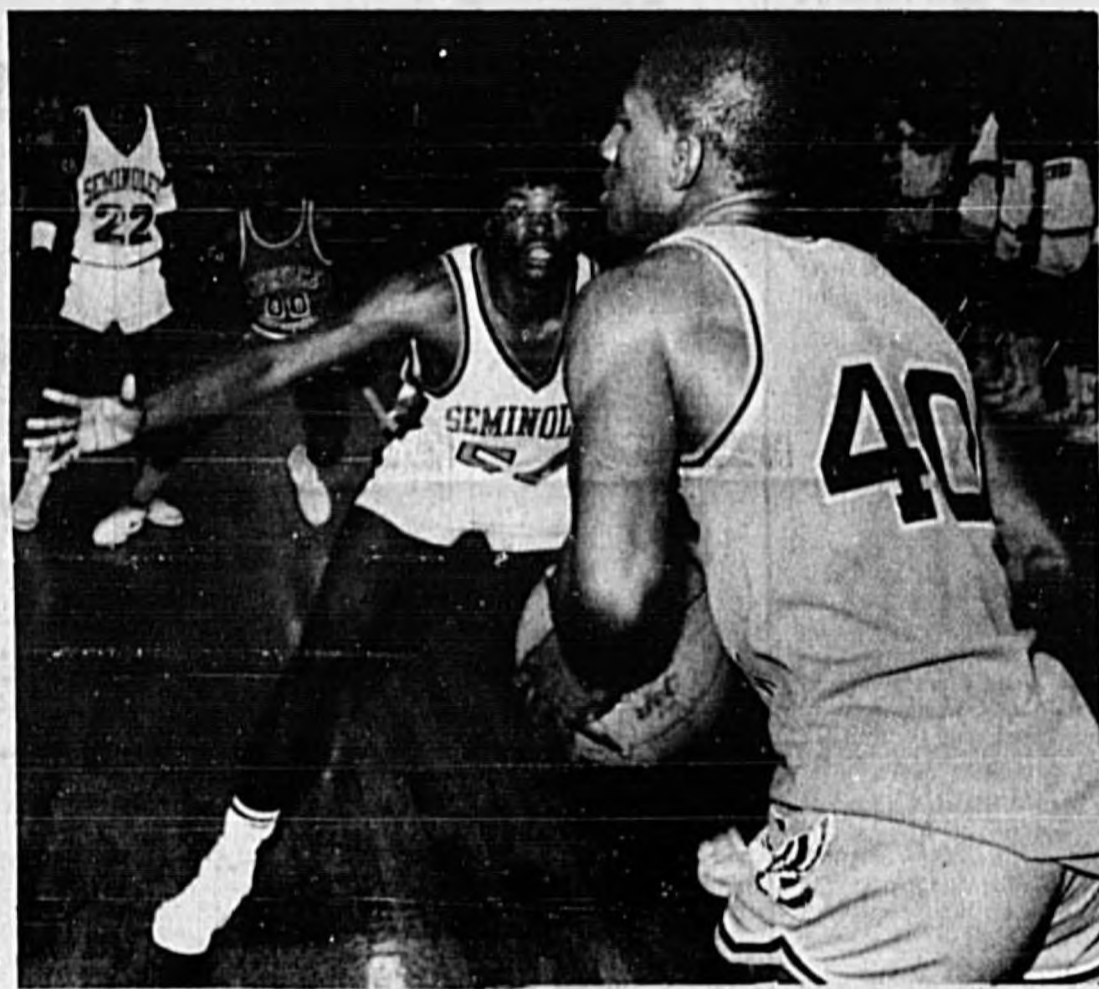

Even more disappointing was Vairo's inability to counter the basic hockey strategem of shadowing a high scorer, in this case star center Pat LaFontaine of Pontiac, Mich. LaFontaine's linemate, David A. Jensen of Needham, Mass., scored both U.S. goals but the checking of Canada's Dave Tippett forced Vairo into a strategy that diminished LaFontaine's effectiveness.

"I told him before the game that if they did that (shadowed him), he should shadow one of their players and tie up two of their players," Vairo said. "There's nothing else you can do."

Rather than stating anything about the 1984 Americans, however, the result probably showed how lucky the 1980 gold medal winners were. A striking example occurred with Canada leading 3-2 at 18:00 of the second period.

Defenseman Tom Hirsch of Minneapolis worked free at the right point and received the puck. His hard shot flew past Canadian

'Punchless' U.S.A. Falls To Canadians In Opener

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Like a boxer who left his best fight in the gym, the United States hockey team lacked both punch and the "eye of the tiger" in a 4-2 loss to Canada Tuesday at the Winter Olympics.

"The next game we'll pick up our intensity," U.S. coach Lou Vairo said.

Even if Team USA summons the drive to beat powerful Czechoslovakia Thursday — which is highly unlikely — it may be too late. Only two teams from each division advance to the medal round and Canada, Finland and Czechoslovakia are now all ahead of the Americans.

"To play at full ability, you have to play at full intensity," said Vairo. "They deserved to win. They outplayed us. We didn't play up to our abilities."

The sluggish performance came as no surprise, either. Vairo extended a practice earlier in the week when the club was listless. Apparently that failed to sharpen the team.

Even more disappointing was Vairo's inability to counter the basic hockey strategem of shadowing a high scorer, in this case star center Pat LaFontaine of Pontiac, Mich. LaFontaine's linemate, David A. Jensen of Needham, Mass., scored both U.S. goals but the checking of Canada's Dave Tippett forced Vairo into a strategy that diminished LaFontaine's effectiveness.

"I told him before the game that if they did that (shadowed him), he should shadow one of their players and tie up two of their players," Vairo said. "There's nothing else you can do."

Rather than stating anything about the 1984 Americans, however, the result probably showed how lucky the 1980 gold medal winners were. A striking example occurred with Canada leading 3-2 at 18:00 of the second period.

Defenseman Tom Hirsch of Minneapolis worked free at the right point and received the puck. His hard shot flew past Canadian goalie Mario Gosselin. It was strangely reminiscent of a shot taken by defenseman Bill Baker in the opening contest of the 1980 Games.

The difference was that Baker's shot went in, enabling the Americans to tie Sweden. Hirsch's clicked harmlessly off the crossbar and out of danger.

"I thought that it was going in and the game was tied," said Vairo.

Instead, in the third period, Carey Wilson, the son of the former team physician of the National Hockey League's Winnipeg Jets, scored to complete his hat trick for Canada.

Wilson set up Pat Flatley for a goal 27 seconds into the game, immediately establishing Canada's credibility and betraying shakiness on the part of goalie Marc Behrend of Madison, Wis.

"The early goal helped us a great deal," said Canada coach Dave King. "One of the things it did was keep us from falling behind, and that's important for us. We don't score goals easily."

In other games, it was Finland 4, Austria 3; Sweden 11, Italy 3; West Germany 8, Yugoslavia 1; and the favored Soviet Union 12, Poland 1.

So with the opening ceremonies scheduled for 8:30 a.m. (EST) today, there already is some misgivings regarding the United States' medal hopes. Is the hockey loss a bad omen for the United States team, or can skiers and skaters keep America from switching its collective dial in the next two weeks?

Favorites for gold medals are Scott Hamilton of Denver in men's figure skating and either Rosalyn Sumners of Edmonds, Wash., or Elaine Zayak, of Paramus, N.J., in the women's event.

John Fedor is a pretty good basketball player right now. Imagine how good he will be when he grows up — physically and emotionally.

The 6-8 Spruce Creek sophomore overcame two temper tantrums in the second half to hand Sanford's Fighting Seminoles their third straight loss, 45-41, in Five Star Conference basketball at Seminole High School.

Fedor hit three free throws in the last 31 seconds, blocked a key shot and pulled down three rebounds to keep Spruce Creek solidly atop the Five Star Conference standings with a 13-1 mark. The Hawks are 17-6 overall.

The clutch effort came after some childish stunts earlier in the third quarter, which Spruce Creek coach Edgar Scott blamed on immaturity. "John is just a youngster," said Scott. "He's only 15 (years old) and he's not used to being pushed and shoved. He's going to make those mistakes. But this kind of game is going to make him a better ball player."

Fedor became excited when he collided with a Seminole player on a drive and was called for traveling. Upset with the call, the big forward fired the ball at the referee, stalked off the court, kicked a chair and headed for the locker room.

For Seminoles' sake, it would have been better if he had stayed away. Spruce Creek held a commanding 26-18 lead at the time, but when Steve Grey notched the technical foul free throw, it ignited a Tribe comeback.

Fedor pouted about two minutes and during that time, Willie Mitchell led a charge which pulled Sanford within 28-23. Fedor, however, returned with 3:06 to play in the quarter to enliven a Hawk comeback with a basket and two great outlet passes to Rod McCray for a 32-25 edge.

Mitchell and James Rouse, nevertheless, pumped in three field goals in last 1:30 to bring the Tribe within striking distance at 34-31.

Unlike the first half when Spruce Creek took a 16-14 edge as both teams played unimpaired basketball, the fourth quarter was a barnburner with the Hawks' patience on offense — and Fedor's superiority on the boards — sending the Volusia County boys home with a victory.

Sanford's Kenny Gordon and guard Bruce Franklin finally pulled the 'Noles even with a steal and basket and a free throw on Fedor's second technical (grabbing the rim) at 39-39 with 3:18 to play.

From that point on, though, the Tribe missed 8 of its last 10 shots to let Spruce Creek slip away with the win.

A crucial call came when Gordon muscled inside, made the basket to pull the Seminoles within one, but was called from charging — no basket.

Fedor put the game out of reach with two frees for a 44-41 lead with 31 ticks left and one more with just four seconds left for the final 45-41 decision.

Fedor finished with 13 points and 13 boards while 6-10 Mark Nichols added 11. Ray Lee had eight points and 15 rebounds. McCray totaled 10. Mitchell led the Tribe with 12 while Rouse and Franklin had eight each. Jimmy Gilchrist had 12 rebounds.

Seminole, 15-9 and 9-6, goes to Lake Brantley Thursday before hosting perennial power Stuart Martin County Friday.

SPRUCE CREEK (48) — Jenkins 2, McCray 10, Fedor 12, Nichols 11, Lee 8, Semparett 8, Tatis 10, 17, 45.
SANFORD SEMINOLES (41) — Mitchell 12, Gilchrist 4, Franklin 8, Rouse 8, Gordon 4, Grey 1, Silfery 6, Holman 2. Totals 192-441.
Halftime — Spruce Creek 16, Seminole 14. Team fouls — Spruce Creek 9, Seminoles 18. Fouled out — Mitchell, Gilchrist. Technical fouls — Fedor 2 (kicking a chair and grabbing the rim).

Raiders Seek 5th Straight Tonight

Seminole Community College's Raiders go for their fifth straight victory tonight as they host St. John's River CC in an important Mid-Florida Conference basketball matchup tipping off at 7:30 at the SCC Health Center.

"This is a big one for us tonight," SCC coach Bill Payne said. "I'm concerned about the kids looking ahead to Florida JC and Lake City."

SCC stands at 18-9 overall and 6-2 in the conference. The Raiders have won seven of their last eight games. The last time SCC met St. John's, the Raiders came away with a 72-53 victory.

"That was probably our best game of the year," Payne said of the Raiders victory over St. John's. "They've played everyone in the conference tough except us. They have one as good a starting five as anyone in the conference. They have a week bench though."

Four players are averaging in double figures in scoring for the Raiders including sophomore point guard Jimmy Payton (13.5 points per game), sophomore center-forward Luis Phelps (13 points per game), freshman swingman Linny Grace (12.2 per game) and sophomore forward Delvin Everett (10.7 per game).

SCC's leading rebounder is Phelps who averages 6.8 per game while Bernard Merthle averages 5.7 boards and 9.3 points per game. Grace leads in assists with a 4.4 average while Payton averages 3.2 per game and Mike Tolbert averages 2.9.

J.C. Basketball

"Phelps had a good game the last time we played them (St. John's)," Payne said. "He's going to have to help carry us if we're going to win the conference."

There is no admission to tonight's game and the Oviedo High dance team will perform at halftime.

St. John's is led by 6-8 forwards Doug Hill and Jim Flynn inside and the outside touch comes from Clifford Reid out of Daytona Beach Seabreeze High.

RAIDER RAP — Former Seminole Community College women's coach Sol Batoon has returned to Hawaii, where he grew up. Batoon, who coached the Lady Raiders last year, accepted a position as assistant coach with the Chamainade Silver Swords, an NAIA powerhouse in Honolulu.

Batoon will be reunited with his good friend and head coach Merv Lopes. Batoon was the driving force last season which made it possible for ex-SCC standouts Keith Whitney and Rudy Kulper to earn scholarships with Chamainade.

Whitney, a Sanford product, is playing third guard for Chamainade while Kulper, a 6-10 sharpshooter, was seeing a lot of action as third forward. Whitney played a key role when the Silver Swords upset Louisville earlier this season.

Tribe Needs Stellar Effort

By Lou Stefano
Herald Sports Writer

"We're in a very good conference this year," observed Seminole baseball coach Bobby Lundquist. "All the teams are strong. We're going to have to play over our heads to beat people."

That's how Lundquist sums up the Tribe's upcoming season in the Five Star, but the way the Fighting Seminoles played in the Alumni game this past Saturday, the veteran coach could be in for some surprises.

Seminole had its hitting on Saturday and looks ready to deal with enemy pitchers for the upcoming season. A few of the Seminoles in particular turned the heads of their coaches and spectators in the stands with their hitting exploits.

Seminole hopes to continue tearing the cover off the ball Thursday at 2:30 p.m. as it meets Oviedo in the first round of the Seminole County Preseason Baseball Tournament at Sanford Memorial Stadium. Lake Howell and Lake Mary meet at 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The two winners play Saturday for the title at 3:30 p.m. while the losers meet for the consolation title at 1 p.m.

"Brian Rogers did a good job hitting the ball," assessed Lundquist about Saturday's 9-8 win over the Alumni. "Ron Clippard, this is his first year playing varsity baseball, hit a couple of doubles. Kevin Smith looked good at the plate and James Hersey hit one out to the wall."

The new hitting talents can be attributed to the work ethic philosophy that Lundquist is employing this season after the team went 9-18 last year.

"We've worked hard on the basic skills that make you a better ball player: hitting, throwing, and defense," he said.

"I hope (the kids have learned from last season). You can only stay down so long. They've worked real hard and I just have a feeling that they will do well," Lundquist added.

The Tribe returns seniors Steve Dennis, Rogers, Smith, and pitcher William Wynn. They also return junior Tony Cox who played on the varsity squad last year as a sophomore. Cox will man third base but looks more suited for blocking home plate or a defensive tackle than ground balls. Bruce Franklin, currently playing basketball, will give the infield depth at shortstop or second when he comes out.

On the mound, the Seminoles look to three pitchers, one from each class year. The senior of the bunch is Wynn, who can throw a ball through a shower of nuclear fallout and have it come out the other side without a glow. Wynn looks to improve on his 3-1 '83 record.

As far as strengths and weaknesses go Lundquist said, "It's too early to tell. I can't speak for us (to say that) we have any strengths when we have to play the type of competition we play this year."

"Our weakness is the good competition we have to play," Lundquist went on to say. "As far as strengths, I'd say (it's) our desire to win to prove ourselves."

Lost from last year's team were .302 hitter Andy Griffith, three-year starter Greg Hill,

Oviedo Rebuilds With Young Talent

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Some coaches lament the youth of their teams and point to the future. But that youth doesn't do a coach much good if you don't have some talent to go with it.

Oviedo coach Howard Mable doesn't have that problem. His team is young and talented. He hopes his Lions are talented enough to add the third straight Orange Belt Conference title in as many years.

Although the Lions probably graduated their best group of seniors ever last spring, there is enough young and seasoned talent left on the farm to make another title run.

Mable gets his first look at his Lions against Seminole Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in the Seminole County Preseason Baseball Tournament at Sanford Memorial Stadium. Lake Howell and Lake Mary meet in Friday's 3:30 p.m. game. The losers battle at 1 p.m. for the consolation title Saturday while the winners go for the title at 3:30 p.m.

Oviedo finished 27-8 last year after dropping its first two games in this tournament. Mable would like the Lions to get out of the box quicker this spring, though.

"We're young. We're going to make some mistakes," said the veteran Oviedo coach. "Our defense overall will be a little better this year, but we definitely lost some power."

Returning power is supplied by versatile senior Jeff Greene. The slim lefty powered six homers last year and led the county in runs scored. Greene will wear many hats for the Lions this year. He will pitch, play first base (Thursday) and center field where he patrols with the best of them and possesses a cannon-like arm.

The second base spot is a two-man battle between Jim Barrett and Lester Cabrera. Shortstop is filled solidly by sophomore Dave Wood. Wood came on strongly for the Lions last year and moved into the key position as the infield midway through the season. Another youngster, freshman Tony Bellow, will handle the hot corner.

The outfield has a little more experience. Junior Larry Grayson has good wheels and a strong arm in right. Bill

Prep Baseball Preview

Shogren has shown enough in center to free Greene as a steadying infield influence at first base and Pat McCartney will handle left.

The catching should also be solid. Junior Mark Hofmann has good size and a strong arm. There is also depth behind the plate with juniors Ed Tremblay and John Lowrie.

Added depth comes from freshman Mark Merchant (second base and catcher), left-handed junior pitcher Kevin Kewley and junior pitcher-first baseman Tim Watson.

Mable figures to have a strong pitching staff, although not right away. The ace, right-hander Darrin Reiche, has a couple weeks of basketball left before he makes his presence felt.

Thursday's starter is sophomore Craig Duncan. He didn't get a lot of work because of last year's solid staff, but in one of his starts he shut down the opposition.

Rams, Tombros Make Believers Of Bucs, 72-71

DAYTONA BEACH — O' ye of little faith. Maybe now you'll come to believe the prophecy of Father Fred Tombros. Interim basketball coach while Father Willie Richardson seeks comfort from an injured disc.

All day at Lake Mary High, Tombros preached the sermon of upset. He reiterated time and time again how his Rams would ride into Mainland High School Tuesday night and come out victorious against the fifth-ranked team in the 4A prep basketball poll.

And all day the Tombros message fell on deaf ears. "Everybody was signing my death warrant at school," said Tombros. "I told them we could beat Mainland but nobody would believe me."

He found some believers at Daytona Beach, Lake Mary blew out the Bucs with a 22-12 blitz in the third quarter en route an exciting 72-71 Five Star Conference victory over Mainland Tuesday night.

The loss may have also signed Mainland's death warrant in the Five Star race. The Bucs fell to 10-4 and trail Spruce Creek, a four-point winner over Seminole, by three games with just four to play. Mainland is 19-4 overall.

Lake Mary, 11-9 and 8-6, hit 25 of 31 free throws to make the difference. The Rams also survived two botched free tosses by usually reliable Kevin Morris with three seconds to play and a missed follow-up effort by Traven Flowers with one second left.

"We had trouble in the second half and we were very, very fortunate it didn't cost us again," said an ecstatic Tombros. "But our kids played super. Billy Dunn had a fabulous third quarter and Donald Grayson was a monster on the boards."

Lake Mary trailed, 36-32, at halftime but soon erased the deficit with its third-quarter outburst. Dunn, who led all scorers with 21 points, swished several key jumpers from outside, and Grayson, who chipped in 16 points, controlled the inside game.

The Rams led by a 54-48 margin going into the final eight minutes. They kept the bulge at five points point guard Fred Miller fouled out with 1:45 to play. "When we lost Fred, we had trouble getting the ball up the court," said Tombros. "But we hung in there."

Lake Mary plays at Wymore Tech Thursday and hosts Apopka Friday.

Lake Mary's boys junior varsity was not as fortunate as the girls Tuesday as the JV Rams dropped a 67-62 decision to Daytona Beach Mainland at Daytona Beach. Lake Mary now stands at 13-6 for the season.

Byron Washington had a fine all-around game for the Rams with 19 points, eight rebounds and four steals. Chris Jackson added 10 points for Lake Mary.

APOPKA — Sophomore Michael Lowman tossed in 16 points Tuesday night to lead the Apopka Blue Darters to 64-44 rout of the Lake Howell Silver Hawks in prep basketball at Apopka High School.

The Blue Darters, 10-13 and 6-9, broke to a 41-20 first-half bulge and never looked back in handing the Silver Hawks their 19th loss in 23 games. Lake Howell is 0-14 in the conference.

Crockett Bohnannon led Howell with 14 points and freshman Terry Cummings contributed 12. Larry Brooks, averaging 18 points per game, was held to just two.

Seabreeze.....61
Lyman.....45

DAYTONA BEACH — The Seabreeze Sandcrabs jumped to a 29-20 first-half lead Tuesday night en route to an easy 61-45 victory over the Lyman Greyhounds in Five Star Conference basketball at Seabreeze High.

Coach Joe Piggotte Jr.'s Sandcrabs, who upset Mainland Friday, won for the 19th time in 24 games while Lyman lost its 17th game in 19 outings. The Greyhounds are 2-13 in the Five Star and the Crabs are 12-3.

Greg Pilot led the Lyman effort with 16 points. Sophomore Ralph Philpot added nine while sophomore T.J. Scaletta chipped in six and Brett Marshall added seven. Lyman hosts DeLand Friday.

Jones boys.....71
Oviedo boys.....39

After a slow first half, Jones Tigers went on a 29-6 third-quarter blitz en route to a 71-39 victory over Oviedo's Lions in Orange Belt Conference basketball action Tuesday night at Oviedo High.

After taking a 28-23 lead at halftime, the Tigers came out with a full-court man-to-man press in the third quarter and never let up until they had a 57-29 lead going into the fourth quarter.

"Our guards couldn't handle their (Jones) full-court pressure," Oviedo coach Dale Phillips said.

Oviedo fell to 9-13 overall with the loss and 5-4 in the conference. Oviedo is 3-4 in district play and has a good chance to get the third seed in the upcoming district tournament which Oviedo is hosting. The Lions are back in action Friday at Osceola Kissimmee.

DeLand boys.....60
Lake Brantley boys.....49

DELAND — Lake Brantley's Patriots stuck close to host DeLand for 29 minutes Tuesday, but the Bulldogs pulled away in the final three minutes for a 60-49 victory in Five Star Conference basketball action at DeLand High. Lake Brantley fell to 7-16 overall with the loss and 3-12 in the conference.

DeLand bolted out to a 14-4 lead in the first quarter and led by 10, 32-22, by halftime. Lake Brantley trimmed the Bulldogs' lead to six after three quarters and then pulled to within two points in the fourth.

Austin Hodges led Lake Brantley with a game-high 15 points and Mike Garriques added 10 and did a fine defensive job on high-scoring Kevin Welckle.

Lake Mary girls.....65
Eustis girls.....50

Andrea Fenning poured in a career-high 19 points and was joined in double figures by three teammates as Lake Mary's Lady Rams upended Eustis, 65-50, Tuesday night at Lake Mary High.

Fenning was joined in double figures by Peggy Glass with 14 points and Kim Averitt and Laura Glass added 12 points apiece. Averitt and Lisa Gregory also hailed out six assists each. Eustis stayed within six, 49-43, after three quarters, but the Rams made a defensive change in the fourth and went on to sew up the victory. Lake Mary now stands at 17-7 overall and 10-6 in the Five Star Conference. The Lady Rams return to conference action Friday as they host Apopka's Lady Blue Darters at 6:15.

In junior varsity action Tuesday, Lake Mary came back after its only loss of the season to post a 52-32 victory over Eustis JV. Lake Mary, which lost to Mainland on Tuesday, now stands at 13-1 for the season.

Karen DeShetler led the way for Lake Mary Tuesday with 16 points. Cynthia Patterson tossed in 14.

Cook Of The Week

An Adventure In Chinese Cuisine

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

"Gung hee fat yai," translated "Happy New Year," was the salutation extended by Chinese-Americans on Feb. 2, the beginning of the year 46892 (in the ancient Chinese calendar).

Among other venerable and traditional customs, the Chinese prepare the best eating of the year to celebrate this day, according to Gilda Chacey of Sanford, an expert on Oriental cuisine.

A foremost fashion authority with inimitable style, Gilda is from Syracuse, N.Y., where she managed a women's retail shoppe. She is the capable coordinator of the popular Wednesday fashion show-luncheon cruises aboard the Star of Sanford, and "I just like to cook," she says.

Married to David Chacey, a retired U.S. Air Force colonel who is administrator of the City of Longwood, the couple have made their home in Sanford for over nine years. "I love Florida and never want to go back to New York," Gilda said. Her mother and other relatives are frequent visitors to Sanford to offset homesickness, at times, for her "close-knit family."

Explaining that she is of Italian descent, Gilda likes to cook Italian food, but there's no doubt about it, Chinese food is her favorite. "Name it and I can make it," the vivacious cook of the week exclaims. Preparing gourmet foods and flaming desserts such as Crepes Suzette, Bananas Foster and Cherries Jubilee is elementary for Gilda whose artistic creativity shows up in other luscious desserts.

Multi-talented Gilda has a flair for interior decorating and is a member of Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club and Sweetwater Country Club. And she is a certified Chinese cooking instructor who has taught classes at Winter Park High School, Webster High School, Winter Park, and Oriental Imports, Orlando.

Gilda explains that three days' preparation time goes into a full Chinese banquet such as the New Year's meal. A banquet menu includes one chicken dish, one beef dish and one fish dish along with egg rolls, wontons and egg drop soup among other specialties.

There is no mystery to Chinese cooking, Gilda claims. It's the advance preparation that takes time, but "the cooking time in this cuisine is very quick."

Although Gilda's home reflects contemporary and modern furnishings and interior design, her spacious and charming kitchen is French-country style with pots, pans and utensils of every description hanging from the ceiling. This is where her expertise and imagination combine for an exciting venture in haute cuisine.

Happy Chinese cooking with recipes from Gilda's private collection.

SHRIMP IN LOBSTER SAUCE

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 lb. fresh uncooked shrimp
- 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 2 eggs
- 2 teaspoons fermented salted black beans
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 scallions
- 2 tablespoons peanut oil
- 1 tablespoon black soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon tapioca starch or cornstarch

1/2 cup soup or water

PREPARATION:

1. Shell and devein shrimp — wash and drain.
 2. Beat eggs.
 3. Crush black beans and garlic together with the side of a cleaver.
 4. Wash scallions and cut into 2" pieces, then shred lengthwise.
 5. Dissolve one tablespoon tapioca starch in 2 tablespoons water.
 6. Mix black soy sauce, dry sherry, salt and sugar together.
- COOKING PROCEDURE:
1. Heat two tablespoons oil in a heated wok. Add black beans and garlic — stir a few times — do not burn garlic.
 2. Add pork. Stir fry until pork turns white — about three minutes. Ladle some of the grease off as it accumulates.
 3. Add shrimp and stir until they turn pink — do not overcook.
 4. Add sherry, soy sauce, salt and sugar mixture — mix well.
 5. Add scallions. Mix again.
 6. Add 1/2 cup water (or soup). Bring to boil. Cook for 3 minutes.
 7. Add tapioca starch mixture and stir slowly until it thickens. Stir in the beaten eggs and immediately take wok off the fire and continue to stir until egg is set.
 8. Serve hot with boiled rice.
- NOTE: It is important that the flame be turned off immediately after the eggs have been added to achieve a smooth flowing sauce.
- (It is called "lobster sauce" not because it contains lobster meat or juice — but because it is one of the sauces used to cook lobster.)
- For Lobster Cantonese — Substitute 2 lb. lobster tail in place of shrimp. Cut lobster lengthwise then cross wise into 1 1/2" pieces (leave shell on).

FRIED WONTONS

- 1 lb. Wonton wrappers, about 60-80 sheets (may use egg roll wrappers cut in fourths)
 - 1 lb. ground pork or shrimp or half and half
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
 - 1/2 can (small) water chestnuts, minced
 - 2 teaspoons minced ginger
 - 2 green onions, chopped
 - 2 teaspoon salt
 - 4 teaspoon soy sauce
 - 1/2 teaspoon M.S.G.
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Enough oil for deep frying
- PREPARATION:
1. Mix pork, egg, water chestnuts, ginger, green onions, salt, soy sauce, M.S.G., and pepper.
 2. Place wonton wrapper in your left hand with one corner pointing towards you.
 3. Place 1 teaspoon meat mixture on top wrapper corner.
 4. Roll skin with meat inside towards you until wrapper forms a triangle.
 5. Moisten one corner underneath.
 6. Bring right and left ends together away from you, allowing wrapper to assume a boat shape.
 7. Pinch corners together firmly.
 8. Deep fry wontons, a few at a time, in hot oil just until lightly colored.
 9. Remove and drain on paper towel.
 10. Allow to cool and then re-fry for three minutes more or until golden brown.
 11. Serve hot with sweet and sour sauce and hot mustard sauce.
- HINT: Wonton may be frozen cooked

Man Wants To Advertise 'Availability' Of Wife

DEAR ABBY: My wife would like to trade me for a kindly gentleman who is well-to-do and no longer interested in sex. Based upon our 45-year marriage, I can recommend her highly as a person of good moral character and an excellent home-maker. She is also a healthy, attractive, conservative and well-informed woman with many friends.

I am prepared to release my 65-year-old wife to any man she might choose because I want her to be happy.

Also, feeling humiliated and frustrated over my long exile from the marriage bed, I would like to be free to love again.

Can you suggest a way in which I might discreetly "advertise" her availability? If successful, the golden years of three senior citizens might thus be substantially enriched.

SERIOUS IN LAGUNA BEACH, CALIF.

DEAR SERIOUS: If you're looking for a kindly, well-to-do, older gentleman who is no longer interested in sex, take an ad out in The Wall Street Journal.

DEAR ABBY: I live alone in very cramped quarters. I have no complaints until unexpected company drops by. Since I have no warning, I to her wedding and was furious when 14 accepted and indicated that they were bringing a "date."

A wedding is a special occasion when the friends and family of the bride and groom gather to celebrate a joyous event. It is not a party for strangers.

Presumably, the single person is a friend of the bride or groom and will know most of the people there. But if the single person can't have a good time at a wedding without a date, then he or she should decline the invitation.

B. IN L.A.

DEAR B. Let's hear from a Canadian reader:
DEAR ABBY: The next wedding invitation I receive that does not include an escort, I will decline.

Do you know how lonely it is to attend a wedding where the focus is on the happy couple, their happy parents and their many happily married friends? Couples, couples, couples! And there you are, all by yourself. Then some well-meaning relative says, "Next it's your turn to get married!"

Believe me, Abby, rather than attend alone, I will stay home where I feel more comfortable.

ELIZABETH IN WINNIPEG

usually ask my guest to stand outside for a few minutes while I quickly tidy up my one room, which serves as living room, bedroom, den and eating area.

One guest said she thought this was very rude of me.

What are my alternatives? I enjoy having company.

CRAMPED IN BURBANK

DEAR CRAMPED: (1) Keep your quarters tidy at all times in case unexpected company knocks on your door. (2) Open your door immediately and bear the embarrassment. (3) Continue to ask drop-ins to wait a few minutes while you rush around trying to make the place presentable.

(P.S. And tell the person who called you "rude" that she won't have to wait outside if she phones first.)

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the bride who invited 31 singles

Heartland Cooking With Flavorful Country Products

The Heartland of America is mostly open land in the Mid-western and Plains States. This open land has plenty of water and rich soil that is ideal for farming and for producing foods which we are dependent on.

Today we use the freshest ingredients available in each region of the country and use American methods of preparing these foods to bring us back to the taste of American cooking. The basic style of cooking in the Midwest is one of generous simplicity. Simplicity and good taste in food is the feeling of our time.

Heartland cooking is also hearty, flavorful country cooking using corn, wheat, pork, beef, poultry, dairy products, fruits and vegetables produced in abundance. Broiled Pork Chops With fresh Vegetable Sauce uses country style pork chops and an array of fresh vegetables. Tomatoes, carrots, onions and green pepper are sauteed in margarine until the vegetables are tender. Broiled pork chops served with the assortment of tender, fresh vegetables is hearty country fare that will be welcomed for its good taste.

BROILED PORK CHOPS WITH FRESH VEGETABLE SAUCE

1/4 cup margarine
2 cups (2 med.) sliced chopped ripe tomato
1/2 cup grated carrot
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
6 (3/4" thick) pork chops
In 10" skillet melt margarine over med. heat. Add remaining ingredients except pork chops. Cook, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are tender and sauce is thickened (15 to 20 min.). Season to taste. Meanwhile, broil pork chops 3 to 4" from heat, turning once, for 15 to 20 min. or until desired doneness. Serve warm sauce over chops. Yield: 6 servings.

GREEN BEANS WITH TOMATO AND BACON

1 10-oz. pkg. French cut green beans (cooked)
4 slices bacon (crisp and crumbled)
1 small onion
2 med. tomatoes

Fry bacon (reserve some drippings of the bacon and saute onion, then add tomato and cook 5 minutes. Add cooked green beans and bacon, simmer for a few minutes.

Put in a casserole; top with grated sharp cheese. Bake 350° until cheese is melted and the dish is bubbly.

BAKED CHICKEN SANDWICH

12 slices bread (crust off; butter both sides)

3 cups chicken, bite size and cooked
1 cup chopped celery
1 small onion, chopped
Mushrooms, optional
2 cups milk
1 cup mayonnaise

2 cups shredded sharp cheese
1 cup cream of mushroom soup
1. Place 6 slices bread into 9x13 dish, buttered
2. Mix chicken, celery, onion, mushrooms and spread on bread
3. Cover with 6 slices bread

5. Just before baking, mix soup and cheese and spread on bread mixture.
6. Bake 350° for 1 1/4 hours.

Dessert Talk

Chocolate and cocoa come from the same source, the kernels inside the bean of the Theobroma cacao plant, but there's a difference in the amount of fat they contain. Even high-fat cocoa contains only half the calories in chocolate, about 75 an ounce. Semisweet and milk chocolate contain between 135 and 150 calories an ounce. Chocolate was discovered in the Americas.

Cocoa beans are machine processed to obtain a chocolate liquor which is further processed to obtain cocoa butter. The butter is ivory colored and has a chocolate flavor. To this, whole milk and sugar cooked to a thick paste is added — and that's white chocolate is. Dark chocolate is chocolate made with the whole of the chocolate liquor.

If you encounter heavy cream that won't whip, even in a chilled bowl with chillers, set the bowl in a larger bowl of cracked ice while you whip. And if it still won't whip, gradually add a few drops of strained lemon juice to the cream while you beat it. (Egg whites, on the contrary, whip best at room temperature, with ah of cream of tartar or salt added to them.)

Thick clotted cream and the French creme fraiche are easy to make. Pour heavy cream (whipping cream) into a saucend warm over low heat, stirring, until the cream is reduced by more than half. Then refrigerate overnight in a tightly covered jar. You'll have cream almost stiff enough to stand a spoon in. It's especially nice with berries.

To keep cream from curdling when you mix it with acidic fruits, such as strawberries, stir a small pinch of baking soda into the cream before you pour.

Experts agree that real vanilla is worth the price. The seemingly high cost is due to the fermentation and curing required. Green vanilla beans are dried in the sun, turned, brought inside to cure, returned to the outdoors in a process that takes six months. The extract is made by macerating the beans in a solution of 35 percent alcohol.

Madagascar exports 80 percent of the world's vanilla. Java exports about 19 percent and Tahiti 1 percent. Mexico produces beans, but does not export them.

Beans from Madagascar are preferred by some as those from Java are picked and cured differently. Java beans are picked before they have ripened and are then cured over a fire, lending a slightly smoky taste and a somewhat thinner flavor.

Vanilla will keep indefinitely when stored in glass as long as it is not exposed to extreme cold or heat.

Enter Beef Recipes In Cook-Off

If you have a beef dish that you're particularly proud of, now is the time to enter it in the Florida Beef Cook-Off. You could win $200 first prize and go on to compete for $10,000 in national prize money.

To enter, send a typed copy of your best beef recipe (using only chuck, round, rump, fresh brisket, plate, shank, or ground beef) to Judy Hamner, Rt. 8, Box 763-P, Ft. Pierce, 33451. Include your name, address, phone number and a brief statement about the origin of your recipe.

But be sure to enter your recipe soon. Deadline for entry is March 20.

Five finalists will compete at the Florida Beef Cook-Off, April 7, at Ft. Pierce. Prizes are: first, $200; second, $100; third, $50 and (2) Honorable Mentions, $25 each.

Additionally, the first-place winner will represent Florida at the National Beef Cook-Off, Sept. 9-11, in Albuquerque, N.M. Prizes at the national level are: first place, $5,000; second place, $2,500; third place, $1,000; five honorable mentions, $300 each.

All recipes must contain a minimum of one pound of beef and not more than five, and each serving must contain at least three ounces of cooked beef. Meat used must be exclusively beef. Cooking time cannot exceed four hours. The recipe must be specific, with no use of brand names, and must state the number of servings and approximate preparation time. All entries must be submitted in triplicate. Entries become the property of the Florida CowBelles Association.

Contestants must be 18 years of age or older, with non-professional food status. Any person who has owned one or more head of beef or dairy cattle (or who lives in a household where any person has owned cattle) in the 12 months preceding Oct. 1 is ineligible. CowBelles or employees of state beef markets or the National Live Stock and Meat Board are also ineligible.

Recipes are judged according to taste, ease of preparation, practicality, originality and appearance. The Florida Cook-Off is sponsored by the Florida

CowBelles. The National Beef Cook-Off is sponsored by the American National CowBelles in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board.

Sausage Cheese Chowder

Winter is the best time of year for snow-skiing and ice-skating, cheery fires and snowball fights. It's also the best time of the year for hot, nourishing soups, even in Florida.

For those who are tired of the same old canned soup varieties, and want to try something deliciously different, here's a recipe that will excite your tastebuds and provide relief for your food budget.

Jimmy Dean's Sausage and Cheese Chowder is a soup idea you won't forget — a tasty blend of chopped celery, onions, and tender green pepper with fresh pure pork Sausage with sage and mellow cheddar cheese soup.

Cold winter afternoons are a perfect time for hot, homemade soup, a family favorite that normally takes a good amount of time to make, this east recipe combines a creamy blend of vegetables, cheese and sausage and can be ready to serve in less than 30 minutes, or you can let it simmer for as long as you like.

Served with piping hot, homemade cornbread and a fresh winter fruit cup, like crisp apples and juicy orange slice, this chowder makes a warm, nourishing and complete meal.

SAUSAGE AND CHEESE CHOWDER

- 1 lb. sausage with sage
- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 2 Tb. chopped green pepper
- 1 (10 3/4 oz.) can condensed cream of potato soup
- 1 soup can milk
- 1 can cheddar cheese soup
- 1/2 can water
- optional: 1/4 cup chopped pimento

In medium saucepan, cook sausage, celery, onion, and green pepper until vegetables are tender and meat is browned. Drain excess fat. Blend both condensed soups, milk and water. Cook and stir over medium to high heat until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat and serve at once. Serve with cornbread sticks. Serves 6.

EGGS FLORENTINE

- 6 servings
- While natives of Florence claim there is no basis for the practice, "Florentine" in a recipe title usually means that spinach is among the ingredients. In this dish, poached eggs are arranged on a bed of spinach and topped with an elegant Mornay Sauce.

- 1/4 cup butter
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups half and half or milk
- 2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well drained
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 12 eggs, poached
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

In medium saucepan over low heat melt butter. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and bubbly. Blend in milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Boil, stirring constantly, 1 minute. Remove from heat.

Mix spinach with lemon juice and spread over bottom of 2-quart baking dish. Arrange poached eggs on spinach. Pour white sauce over eggs. Sprinkle with cheese.

Broil 6 inches from heat until lightly browned and bubbly, 3 to 5 minutes.

Reader Gets Too Many Cola Calories

DEAR DR. LAMB — What can I do to get rid of my large stomach? I can't exercise because I'm scheduled for back surgery soon...

Are there any adverse effects from drinking too much cola (a quart or more every day)? Would that account for being unable to lose weight even though I eat almost nothing?

When a person is restricting calories to lose weight, he should choose foods that not only have the least number of calories, but also provide the greatest number of vitamins, minerals and quality protein.

Keep in mind that carbonated beverages release gas which can contribute to distention. Gaseous distention is one reason a person's stomach appears large even though he might not be overweight.

usually recommend for controlling the abdomen are included in The Health Letter 17-12. Winning the Battle of the Bulge, which I am sending you. But first I want you to discuss an exercise program with your doctor.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'd like to know if there is a hormone that will decrease my desire for sex. I'm 33 and my husband is 38. He's very interested in sex — only not with me.

But sex once every six to nine weeks isn't enough for me. I get so depressed and frustrated that my housework goes to pot and I really don't function well. Is there any hope?

Paul Prudhomme, a native Cajun, is that rarity in the food world - a celebrated internationally known chef born in the United States. His book, Paul Prudhomme's Louisiana Kitchen, will be available at bookstores in the spring

Cajun Cuisine

Chef Shares 4-Star Recipes

They waited six hours to sample his Chicken and Seafood Jambalaya in San Francisco. They stand in line for two hours to dine on his creations in New Orleans. When people talk about American Regional cuisine, the name of Paul Prudhomme is almost sure to be mentioned. Now, the king of New Orleans's famed K-Paul's Louisiana Kitchen, has assembled a collection of his four-star recipes in a 30-page booklet called "Authentic Cajun Cooking."

"My style of cooking is to take wonderfully fresh ingredients and combine them with spices and other flavors to get the best taste I can. In my booklet, I share 17 authentic Cajun dishes, which I hope will make meal times special across the country," said Prudhomme in a recent interview.

Illustrated in full-color and spiced with vignettes from the master cook's childhood, the recipes offered will enable everyone to share the culinary magic that led planner of the recent economic summit in Williamsburg, Va., to invite Chef Paul to prepare Louisiana foods for the assembled heads of state.

One of the popular Cajun specialties featured is Pork Chops with Browned Garlic Butter Sauce. The golden chops glisten with a simple gravy flavored with a healthy dose of Tabasco sauce.

"You take a cast iron skillet and get it really hot," Prudhomme elaborated, "and just drop the pork in the oil pan. It cooks very quickly and has this wonderful smoky taste with a sweet bitter crust on top of it."

Readers of Chef Paul's booklet will find eight other main dishes as well as side dishes and desserts.

PORK CHOPS WITH BROWNED GARLIC BUTTER SAUCE - SEASONING MIX:

- 1 tbslp. salt
- 1 tsp. onion powder
- 3/4 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/2 tsp. white pepper
- 1/2 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/2 tsp. rubbed sage
- 1/2 tsp. ground cumin
- 1/2 tsp. dried thyme leaves
- 12 1/2-inch thick pork chops
- 1 1/4 cs. all-purpose flour
- Vegetable oil for frying
- Browned Garlic Butter Sauce

Combine seasoning mix ingredients in a small bowl. Sprinkle pork chops with 2 tablespoons season mix, patting it in with your hands. Using a cake or pie pan, combine the remaining mix and flour. Set aside. In a lg. skillet over med.-high heat, heat 1/4 in. oil until hot, about 2 mins. Just before frying, dredge each chop in the seasoned flour, shaking off excess. Fry in hot oil until golden brown, about 4 to 5 mins. per side. (Change oil if sediment starts to burn.) Drain chops on paper towels. Serve with Browned Garlic Butter Sauce. Serve immediately.

Yield: 6 servings.

BROWNED GARLIC BUTTER SAUCE

- 3/4 c. (1 1/2 sticks) butter
 - 2 tps. minced garlic
 - 1 tbslp. plus 1 tsp. minced fresh parsley
 - 1 tbslp. Tabasco pepper sauce
- Melt butter in small saucepan over high heat until half melted, shaking pan almost constantly. Add garlic and cook until butter is melted and foam on the surface is barely browned, about 2 to 3 mins., shaking pan occasionally. Stir in parsley and Tabasco sauce; cook until sauce is lightly browned and very foamy, about 1 to 2 mins. Remove from heat and immediately drizzle over pork chops.
- YIELD: 3/4 c. sauce.

CHICKEN AND SEAFOOD JAMBALAYA

- 2 1/2 tablespoons chicken fat or pork lard or beef fat
- 1 cup chopped tasso (preferred) or other smoked ham (preferably Cure #1) (about 3 ounces)
- 1/2 cup chopped andouille smoked sausage (preferred) or any other good pure smoked pork sausage such as Polish sausage (Kielbasa) (about 3 ounces)
- 1 1/2 cups chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 3/4 cup chopped green bell pepper
- 1/2 cup chicken cut into bite-size pieces (about 3 ounces)
- 1 1/2 teaspoons minced garlic
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Tabasco sauce
- 2 bay leaves
- 1 1/2 teaspsoons salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons dried oregano leaves
- 1 1/4 teaspoons white pepper
- 1 teaspoons black pepper
- 3/4 dried thyme leaves
- 1 pound tomatoes, peeled and chopped (about 4 medium)
- 3/4 cup tomato sauce
- 2 cups seafood stock (preferred) or water
- 1/2 cup chopped green onion
- 2 cups uncooked rice (preferably converted)
- 1 1/2 dozen peeled medium shrimp (about 1/2 pound)
- 1 1/2 dozen oysters in their liquor (about 10 ounces)

In a 4-quart saucepan, melt the chicken fat over medium heat. Add the tasso and andouille and saute until crisp, about five to eight minutes, stirring frequently. Add the onion, celery and bell pepper; saute till tender but still firm, about five minutes, stirring occasionally and scraping pan bottom well. Add the chicken. Raise heat to high and cook one minute, stirring constantly. Reduce heat to medium. Add the minced garlic, Tabasco and seasonings; cook for three minutes, stirring constantly and scraping pan bottom as needed. Add the tomatoes and cook till chicken is tender, about five to eight minutes, stirring frequently. Add the tomato sauce; cook seven minutes, stirring fairly often. Stir in the stock or water and bring to a boil. Then stir in the green onion and cook about two minutes, stirring once or twice. Add the rice, shrimp and oysters; stir well and remove from heat. Cover and bake in 350 degree oven till rice is tender but still a bit crunchy, about twenty to thirty minutes. Remove bay leaves and serve immediately.

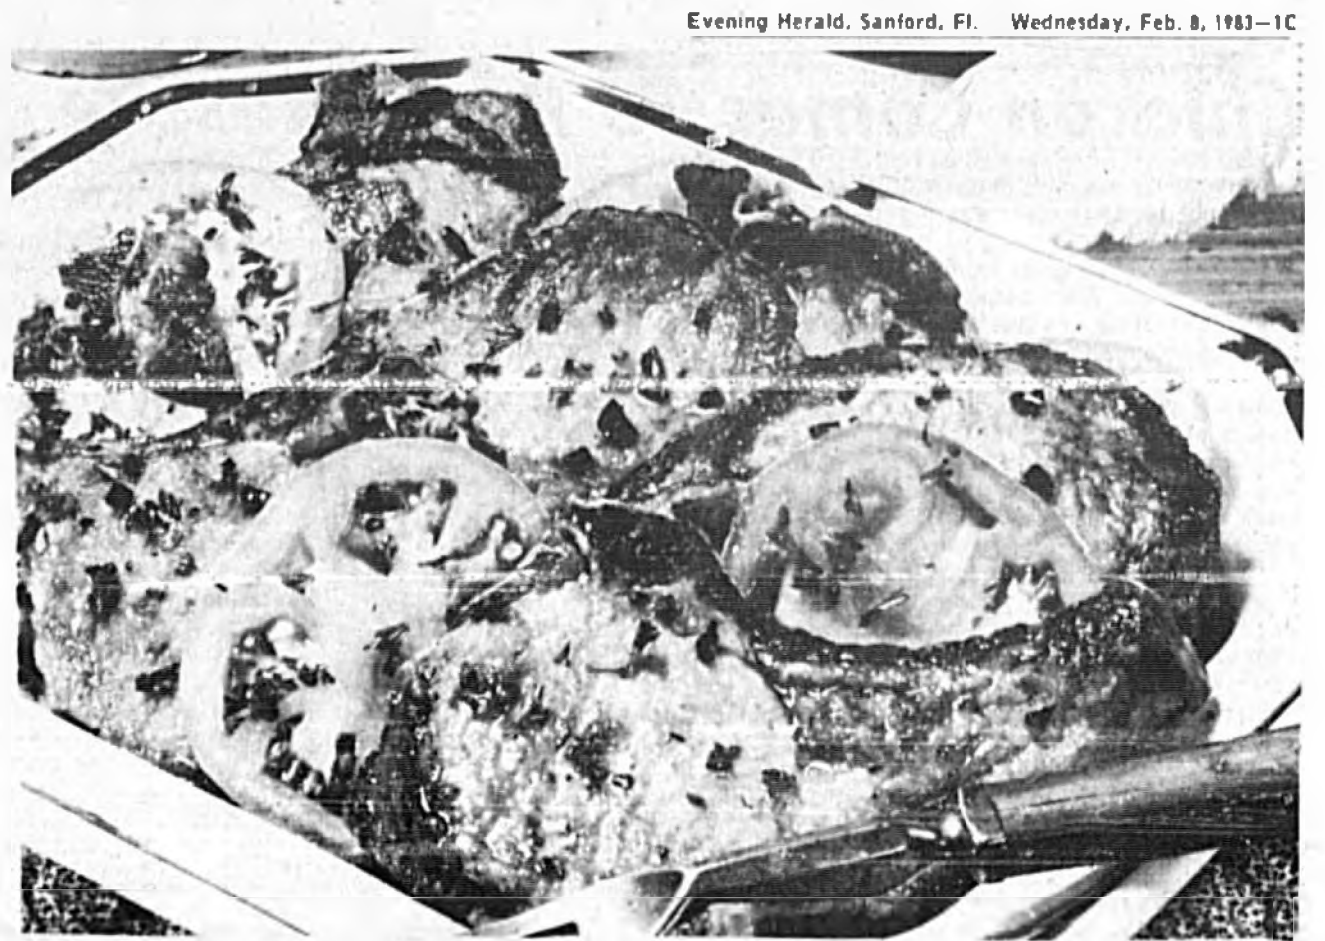

To serve, mold in a cup, ring or decorative mold. Allow about two cups as a main course, or about one cup as an appetizer.

heat and immediately stir in the reserved vegetable mixture with a wooden spoon; continue stirring until cooled, about five minutes.

SWEET POTATO PECAN PIE

- Dough
- 3 tablespoons unsalted butter, softened
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 egg, vigorously beaten until frothy (reserve the other half for the sweet potato filling)
 - 2 tablespoons cold milk
 - 1 cup all-purpose flour
- Sweet Potato Filling
- 2 to 3 sweet potatoes (or enough to yield one cup cooked pulp), baked
 - 1/4 cup packed light brown sugar
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1/2 egg, vigorously beaten until frothy
 - 1 tablespoon heavy cream
 - 1 tablespoon unsalted butter, softened
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 - 1/8 teaspoon ground allspice
 - 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- Pecan Pie Syrup
- 3/4 cup sugar
 - 3/4 cup dark corn syrup
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
 - pinch of salt
 - pinch of ground cinnamon
 - 3/4 cup pecan pieces or halves

For the dough, place the softened butter, sugar and salt in the bowl of an electric mixer; beat on high speed until the mixture is creamy. Add the egg and beat thirty seconds. Add the milk and beat two minutes. Add the flour and beat on medium speed five seconds, then on high speed just until blended, about five seconds more (over-mixing will produce a tough dough). Remove the dough from the bowl and shape into a 5-inch patty; lightly dust with flour and wrap in plastic wrap; refrigerate at least one hour, preferably overnight. (The dough will last up to one week refrigerated.) On a lightly floured surface roll out dough to a 9- to 10-inch thickness. Very lightly flour the top of the dough and fold it into quarters. Carefully place dough in a greased and floured 8-inch round cake pan so that the corner of the folded dough is centered in the pan. Unfold the dough and arrange it to fit the sides and bottom of pan; press firmly in place. Trim edges. Refrigerate fifteen minutes.

Pork Chops With Browned Garlic Sauce a specialty of Chef Paul

For the sweet potato filling, combine all the ingredients in a mixing bowl. Beat on medium speed of electric mixer until the batter is smooth, about two to three minutes. Do not overbeat.

For the pecan pie syrup, combine all the ingredients except the pecans in a mixing bowl. Mix thoroughly on low speed of electric mixer until the syrup is opaque, about one minute; stir in pecans and set aside.

To assemble, spoon the sweet potato filling evenly into the dough-lined cake pan. Pour the pecan syrup on top. Bake in a 325 degree oven until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean, about 1 1/4 hours. (The pecans will rise to the top during baking.)

Cool and serve. Store pie at room temperature for the first 24 hours, then (in the unlikely event any is left) refrigerate.

CORN MAQUE CHOUX

- 4 tablespoons unsalted butter

- 7 cups fresh corn
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup very finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon white pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
- 2 1/4 cups chicken, beef or pork stock (preferred) or water
- 4 tablespoons margarine
- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 2 eggs

In a large skillet combine the butter and oil with the corn, onion, sugar, white pepper, salt and Tabasco. Cook over high heat until corn is tender and starch starts to form a crust on the pan bottom, about 12 to 14 minutes, stirring occasionally, and stirring more as mixture starts sticking.

Gradually stir in one cup of the stock or water, scraping the pan bottom to remove crust as you stir. Continue cooking five minutes, stirring occasionally. Add the margarine, stir until melted and cook about five minutes, stirring frequently and scraping pan bottom as needed. Reduce heat to low and cook about ten minutes, stirring occasionally, then add 1/4 cup more stock and cook about fifteen minutes, stirring fairly frequently. Add the remaining one cup stock and cook about ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in 1/2 cup of the milk; and continue cooking until most of the liquid is absorbed, about five minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat.

In a small bowl combine the eggs and the remaining 1/2 cup milk; beat with a metal whisk until very frothy, about one minute. Add to the corn, stirring well. Serve immediately, allowing about 1/2 cup per person.

Chicken Comes To Party Rescue

Everyone loves a party but few in today's busy world have much time to spend preparing the food. Chicken to the rescue!

Tasty chicken pick-ups are favorites with guests and hostesses alike. And, because it is one of the most economical meats, chicken hors d'oeuvres minimize the cost of entertaining.

The most successful parties are mobile, with guests mingling freely, so finger foods for easy nibbling are important. Drumettes, the meatier sections of the chicken wing, are a good choice. Or, cut chicken breasts into strips for "fingers" or into squares for "nuggets." Oven or pan fry and serve all three with a variety of sauces for dipping.

The National Broiler Council notes that you may purchase drumettes pre-packaged. Or, for even greater savings, buy chicken wings and cut them at the joints, reserving the tips for soup or stock and cooking the other two parts.

The chicken drumettes, fingers or nuggets may be prepared simply by dredging in seasoned flour and cooking in hot oil until brown. Or, dip the chicken in milk, melted butter or a slightly beaten egg and coat with bread or cracker crumbs. To oven fry, place in a single layer on a baking sheet and cook about 10 minutes in a 400 degrees F. oven.

Chicken is compatible with many different flavors so any of your favorite sauces may be used. Or try these dips at your next party.

CREAMY CURRY DIP

½ cup pineapple yogurt
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon orange-flavored gelatin (dry)
¾ teaspoon curry powder
In small bowl, mix together all ingredients. Cover and refrigerate at least 30 minutes before serving with chicken hors d'oeuvres.

DILL DIP

½ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon dried dill weed
2 tablespoons finely chopped dill pickle
In small bowl, mix together all ingredients. Let stand at room temperature about 1 hour allowing flavors to blend.

NIPPY PINEAPPLE SAUCE

1 jar (12 ounces) pineapple preserves
¼ cup prepared mustard
¼ cup prepared horseradish
In small saucepan, mix together all ingredients. Cook over low heat, stirring, about 5 minutes. Cool and serve as dip for chicken party pick-ups.

BLUE CHEESE DIP

1 cup mayonnaise
1 green onion, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, finely minced
¼ cup minced parsley
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
½ cup plain yogurt or sour cream
4 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
In small bowl, mix together all ingredients. Cover and let stand in refrigerator about 1 hour before serving.

Your Valentine will get the message with a delicious double strawberry mousse.

Sweet Treats For Special Valentine

Two simple desserts based on strawberries help carry a Valentine's Day message. A double strawberry mousse and strawberry angel food cake will surprise the most eager friend or love at this sweet time.

These may be made with frozen or fresh strawberries. Keep the desserts in mind for upcoming bridal showers, too — perhaps a follow-up to a successful Valentine's effort.

DOUBLE STRAWBERRY VALENTINE MOUSSE

Mousse:
1 package (12 ounces) frozen sliced California strawberries in syrup, thawed
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup whipping cream

Sauce:
1 package (12 ounces) frozen sliced California strawberries in syrup, thawed
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon cornstarch

Prepare mousse: Drain strawberries; set strawberries aside. In glass measuring cup or small heatproof bowl, mix strawberry liquid and gelatin. Set cup in small pan of boiling water over medium heat. Stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice. Refrigerate gelatin mixture about 15 minutes. Whip cream to form stiff peaks. Gently fold gelatin mixture and strawberries into cream to blend thoroughly. Pour into 3- to 4-cup mold. Chill until firm, at least 1 hour.

Prepare sauce: In small saucepan heat strawberries just to boiling. Mix lemon juice with cornstarch; stir into strawberries. Cook and stir over low heat just until thickened and liquid is clear. Cool, then cover and chill.

To serve: Unmold mousse onto serving plate. Spoon some of the sauce over mousse; pass remaining sauce separately. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 to 6 servings.

STRAWBERRY VALENTINE ANGEL FOOD

1 10-inch angel food tube cake
2 packages (16 ounces each) frozen sliced strawberries in syrup, thawed
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons water
2 cups whipping cream
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
Mint sprigs

Prepare cake from a mix or your own recipe. Cool and turn out of pan. Split into two layers; reserve. Drain 1 package of the strawberries. In small saucepan, soften gelatin in water. Stir in ½ cup of the strawberry liquid. Place over medium heat. Stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Cool, then chill until syrupy, about 15 minutes. Whip cream to form stiff peaks. Stir in gelatin mixture to blend thoroughly, then fold in drained strawberries. Place one of the cake layers, cut-side up, on serving plate. Spread with half of the cream mixture. Top with second cake layer, cut-side down. Spread top with remaining mixture; chill up to 6 hours.

Meanwhile, prepare sauce: In saucepan, combine second package of strawberries with any liquid remaining from first package. Bring just to boiling. Mix cornstarch with lemon juice. Stir into saucepan. Cook and stir just until mixture is slightly thickened and liquid is clear. Cool, then chill. Drizzle cake with a little of the sauce. Garnish with mint. Cut into wedges to serve. Pass remaining sauce separately. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 10 to 12 servings.

Microwave Magic

Pasta Adds Interest To Daily Meals

Pasta can add interest to our winter menus. After the excitement of holiday cooking and the dieting that usually follows in January, we need something to pick-up our interest in preparing daily meals.

The variety of shapes and the countless ways pasta can be used can help us with "cooking doldrums."

There are so many machine made pastas on the market today. There may be some machines with which you are not familiar. Use this mini-guide to help identify some of them.

Fettuccini — a medium egg noodle
Tortellini — a small round, folded, cheese or meat filled dumpling

Tortelloni — a larger, cheese or meat filled dumpling
Tarfalle — butterflies(bows), large and small

Pasta verde — green colored pasta made with spinach
Linguini — flat, square spaghetti

Rigatoni — pipe like spaghetti
The best pasta will be made from durum flour, sometimes called semolina. Pastas made from this flour will not be as soft or pastey.

You may want to try making your own pasta. You'll be surprised how easy it is.

Fettuccini Alfredo is made with a sauce of cream, butter, and Parmesan cheese. This microwave version has been well received in the microwave class at the college.

FETTUCCINI ALFREDO

- 1 8 oz. fettuccini noodles
 - 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 - 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
 - 1/4 cup half & half or milk
 - 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon onion salt
 - 1/2 cup (2 oz.) grated Parmesan cheese
- Cook noodles as directed on package. Drain and rinse in cold water. Set aside. Microwave at 100% power butter and cream cheese in 1 1/2 quart glass serving bowl for 20-30 seconds or until softened. Mix until creamy. Blend in half & half and sauce.

Mix in cooked noodles. Cover with bowl cover or overturned plate. Microwave at 100% power for 4-5 minutes or until heated through, stirring twice. Mix in Parmesan cheese. Microwave at 100% power for 1-2 minutes, uncovered, or until heated. Serves 4-6.

The word florentine found in a recipe means spinach is part of the ingredients.

FETTUCCINI FLORENTINE

- 1 package (8 oz.) fettuccini
 - 1 package (10 oz.) chopped spinach
 - 1 medium onion, chopped
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 cup sour cream
 - 3/4 cup milk
 - 1 cup of canned sliced mushrooms, drained
 - 1/4 cup white wine
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon
 - 1 teaspoon salt
- Cook fettuccini noodles as directed; drain and rinse in cold water. Set aside. Microwave spinach in package at 100% power for 4 minutes or until thawed. Set aside.

Combine onion and butter in 2-quart container. Microwave at 100% power for 3-4 minutes, uncovered, or until onion is tender. Stir in sour cream, milk, mushrooms, wine, bouillon, salt, and spinach. Mix well. Cover. Microwave at 70% power for 13-15 minutes or until heated through. Stir several times. Heat fettuccini if necessary. Serve sauce over the cooked fettuccini.

This is everybody's favorite way to use pasta!

SPAGHETTI SAUCE

- 1 pound of ground beef
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 can tomato sauce (8 oz.)
- 1 can tomato paste (6 oz.)
- 1 can tomato-vegetable cocktail juice (12 oz.)
- 1/2 cup red wine
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon Italian seasoning
- 1/2 teaspoon basil

Cooked spaghetti
Crumbled beef into 1 1/2 quart microwave safe container. Add onion and garlic. Microwave at 100% power for 5-6 minutes or until beef is no longer pink. Stirring once. Stir to break up meat. Drain. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 12-14 minutes or until flavors are blended and sauce is bubbly. Stir twice. Serve over spaghetti or other pasta.

Rice Dishes Popular In Microwave

Some of the most popular dishes in many countries of the world feature rice — plain, seasoned, or mixed with other ingredients. The economy of rice is a major factor in its popularity, and it is a nutritional way to stretch your food dollar. Beef-Asparagus Oriental is a delicious recipe from a Whirlpool microwave oven cookbook which combines strips of beef and asparagus cooked in a delicately flavored sauce and served over a bed of snowy rice. Or try Mexican Chicken and Rice — a savory blend of minute-type rice and peas topped with chicken — for a "south of the border" flavor change.

BEEF-ASPARAGUS ORIENTAL

Total cooking time: 14 minutes

- 1 pound beef flank steak
- 12 fresh asparagus spears
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons dry white wine
- 2 tablespoons chicken broth

Cut flank steak across grain into very thin slices. (Partially frozen meat is easier to cut. Allow meat to thaw completely before cooking.) Cut asparagus diagonally into 1-inch pieces. In a 1-quart casserole combine asparagus and water. Cover and place in microwave oven.

Cook asparagus pieces at high for four minutes, stirring once. Drain; set aside. Place meat strips in an eight by eight by two inch baking dish. In a small mixing bowl combine cornstarch, soy sauce, cooking oil, and sugar; pour over beef strips. Cover and place in microwave oven.

Cook the meat mixture at high for six minutes, stirring every two minutes. Add asparagus pieces. Cover and cook at high for three minutes. Stir in wine and chicken broth.

Cook at high for one minute, stirring once. Serve over rice. Makes four servings.

WHITE RICE

- 2 cups water
 - 1 cup long grain rice
- In a 1 1/2-quart casserole combine water, rice, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cover and place in microwave oven. Cook rice at high for five minutes until boiling. Cook at medium low for twelve minutes till tender. Makes six servings.

MEXICAN CHICKEN AND RICE

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 7/8 ounce can tomatoes, cut up water
- 1 tablespoon instant chicken bouillon granules
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 cups minute-type rice
- 1 3- to 3 1/2 pound broiler-fryer chicken, cut up Paprika (optional)
- 1 cup frozen peas

1 2-ounce can sliced pimiento, drained and chopped in 12 by 7 1/2 by 2 inch baking dish combine onion, garlic, and 1/4 cup water. Place in microwave oven.

Cook onion and garlic, uncovered, at high for three 1/2 minutes till tender. Drain tomatoes, reserving juice in measuring cup. Add enough water to make 1 1/4 cups of liquid. Add tomato liquid, tomatoes, bouillon granules, salt, chili powder, and pepper to onion. Cook at high for eight minutes till boiling. Stir in rice; spread mixture evenly in bottom of baking dish. Arrange chicken atop rice, with meatiest chicken portions to outside of dish. If desired, sprinkle chicken with a little paprika. Cover and return to microwave oven

Cook chicken at medium high for 27 minutes till tender. Carefully stir peas and pimiento into rice, rearranging chicken as necessary. Cook at high for five minutes till heated through. Makes six servings.
