Feds 'Unlikely' To Pick Up Half Mass Transit Tab

It's "highly unlikely" the federal government will pay more than half the costs of building an elevated mass transit system in Orange County, says Seminole entrepreneur Jeno Paulucci following a series of meetings with federal authorities.

In Washington last week, Paulucci made a pitch to the authorities to extend the mass transit system into Seminole County as far as Lake Mary if one is built.

Following discussions with Ralph Stanley, administrator of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, Paulucci wrote to confirm their talks: "As I understand it, what you are saying is ... for the mass transit to be a reality, ... Orange and Seminole counties are going to have to find ways and means of raising revenues ... through taxes of one form or another to pay for at least half of the total system... Although some county officials feel the federal government will pay 75 percent of the construction costs, you feel that (is) highly unlikely."

... for mass transit to be a reality... Orange and Seminole counties are going to have to find ways and means of raising revenues...

—Jeno Paulucci

The land developer and food manufacturer said, contrary to prevailing thought in Orange County, if a mass transit system were approved for the area, one for the Interstate 4 area "where the real congestion of traffic is" would have higher priority than a route from I-4 to the Orlando International Airport.

according to his conversation with Stanley.

Paulucci said Stanley promised to make a trip to Central Florida to see the traffic problems first hand and at that time Paulucci will arrange a meeting of Seminole and Orange County officials and state officials to discuss the problem.

Even more important to Paulucci in his Washington, D.C. meetings were pleas for a speed up of planned construction of a cloverleaf interchange at I-4 and Lake Mary Boulevard and a new sixth I-4 interchange in Seminole County at SR 46A.

Holding up any idea of an interchange at State Road 46A is the federal ban on interchanges separated by less than 2 miles.

But Paulucci said he urged a change in that rule.

"I think we'll be able to cross that bridge all right," Paulucci said. He said in his discussions with James J. Howard, chairman of the House Committee on Public Works and Transportation and with old friend,

Rep. James Oberstar of Minnesota, a member of the committee, it was noted there is less than two miles between interstate highway interchanges in New York and New Jersey.

He said he also discussed the two interchanges with U.S. Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Dole, Urban Highway Mass Transportation Assistant Administrator Rex Leathers, Federal Highway Administrator Ray Barnhart, U.S. Sen. Paula Hawkins and U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum.

Paulucci said he believes he got an "A" in homework for the Washington meetings and at least federal authorities are now alerted to the traffic and growth explosion in the area.

He said a major article on Central Florida is slated for the April issue of Forbes Magazine and this should help emphasize the situation in the area. "My work must now be done on the state and local level," Paulucci said.

Honored SCC President Is Chamber's 'Topper'

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The 1983 winner of the "John S. Krider Memorial Topper Award," given by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce for outstanding community service, is Dr. Earl Weldon, president of Seminole Community College since its founding in 1966.

The chamber's most prestigious award for "outstanding leadership and distinguished and unselfish service to the community" was presented to Weldon Tuesday night at the chamber's annual awards banquet held at the Gaslight Supperclub and Restaurant.

And the chamber's Education Committee named the 11 students from Seminole and Lake Mary high schools receiving cash college scholarships totaling $4,250 from the Rich Food Plan and Codisco Inc.

Former State Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr., the first Topper Award recipient a decade ago, presented Weldon, 55, with a plaque commemorating the achievement.

In presenting the award, Cleveland said Weldon is the type of person "who contributes not just the ordinary, but puts forth the extra effort for the extraordinary."

He said Weldon, a native of Gainesville, worked his way through the University of Florida and went on to become a classroom teacher, a high school principal and a consultant in the state Department of Education. He was academic dean at St. Johns River Community College in Palatka before accepting the post at SCC in 1966. He has seen the college grow from its original 776 students to a student body of 23,000 this year.

Weldon is also past president of the chamber of commerce, a member of the board of trustees at Central Florida Regional Hospital, past chairman of the Presidents' Council of Florida Community Colleges and a member of the President's Council of the Prison Ministries' Council and is active in a host of other civic and academic organizations.

Calling community service "a privilege and not a task to be done," Weldon said he was overwhelmed.

Cleveland presented Weldon's wife, Jerry, a teacher at Idyllwild Elementary, with a corsage.

Previous Topper Award winners given special recognition were Cleveland, Walter Gielow, W. Garnett White, Mayor Lee P. Moore, Robert Daehn, W. Scott Burns, John Y. Mercer, George Touhy, Tom McDonald and Ned and Martha Yancy.

Dennis Courson, the chamber's immediate past chairman of the board, recognized Sarah Krider, wife of the late John Krider for whom the award is named. Krider was manager of the chamber for many years.

Receiving the highest of the 11 cash college scholarships — $1,000 — awarded by the Rich Food Plan, was Sonya Franklin, a Lake Mary High School senior. Carrying a 3.6 grade point average during her high school years, Miss Franklin plans to pursue mathematics to the master's degree level.

She is the daughter of Nita Franklin.

Duke Adamson, president of the Rich Food Plan, also awarded cash college scholarships of $500 each to Seminole High School student Julie Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Farr; Jill Janak, Seminole High, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Janak; and Michelle Sawyer, Lake Mary High, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Sawyer.

Awarded $250 cash scholarships by Codisco Inc. were Geoffrey Giordano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Giordano; Susan Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mann; Alison McCall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCall; and Gene Stallworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Stallworth, all of Seminole High.

Students from Lake Mary High awarded $250 cash scholarships by Codisco Inc. are: Jill Faber, daughter of Diane Faber; Philip Halle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Halle; and Deborah Tumino, daughter of Phyllis Doan.

Courson was given a plaque for his service as board of directors chairman during 1983 by Howard Hodges, the new chairman.

Seminole Community College President Dr. Earl Weldon with his wife, Jerry, holds the plaque designating him the 1983 John S. Krider Memorial Topper Award winner.

Seminole Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes congratulates Sonya Franklin on receiving cash college scholarship of $1,000.

Jackson Gains Clout

Mondale Win Slows Hart Momentum

By Laurence McQuillan
UPI Political Reporter

CHICAGO (UPI) — Walter Mondale won the crucial Illinois presidential primary by cracking Gary Hart's hold on young and suburban voters — setting up a "long tough race" for the Democratic nomination.

Jesse Jackson, despite his third-place finish, flexed some political muscle in generating a huge turnout among black voters. That clout establishes the civil rights activist as a force to be reckoned with in the pivotal New York and Pennsylvania primaries.

Mondale actually scored two wins in Illinois — taking both its popular vote contest and a separate vote selecting 171 delegates to the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco next July.

The former vice president, cutting into voter trends that had threatened to derail his own campaign, was able to stop the headlong momentum Hart has enjoyed since winning last month's season-opening New Hampshire primary.

With 80 percent of the precincts reporting in Illinois, Mondale had 542,665 votes or 42 percent. Hart had 481,595 votes or 37 percent and Jackson 236,034 votes or 18 percent.

While the popular vote was close, Mondale swept Hart in delegates by better than 2 to 1. Mondale won 91 of the delegates at stake in Illinois, Hart 44 and Mayor Harold Washington, running as a favorite son in Chicago's black wards, had 35.

With the Illinois delegates, Mondale had a total of 633 delegates, nearly a third of the 1,967 needed for the presidential nomination, while Hart had 362 and Jackson 79, with 268 uncommitted.

Mondale also led in Minnesota, where he was the heavy favorite in his home state, which had 75 delegates at stake in caucuses Tuesday night.

As it is, however, Hart is favored next week in Connecticut — which would give him a clean sweep of New England and some fresh headlines to help out his campaign.

The former vice president won Illinois despite Jackson's impressive showing in Chicago where he polled nearly 75 percent of the black votes. Jackson was shut out of the delegate sweepstakes, because he made an agreement with the mayor not to run against his delegates.

In previous primaries Mondale had to split the black vote with Jackson to defeat Hart.

According to ABC exit polls,

Mondale received 32 percent of the Illinois vote among those in the 18 to 24 age bracket — a group Hart has been sweeping by comfortable margins in recent weeks. The senator from Colorado drew only 26 percent of their support Tuesday.

The former vice president also made substantial inroads into the other "under 50" age categories, while continuing to maintain his support among senior citizens.

In the Chicago suburbs, which account for roughly a third of the state's Democratic voters, Mondale collected 45 percent of the vote, to 41 percent for Hart. In the other two primaries Mondale won — Georgia and Alabama — Hart swept the suburbs.

"It's a good solid win in a tough race," Mondale said in St. Paul, Minn. "We've got a long way to go and a lot of fights ahead of us."

"I think the arguments are mine, I think this case is building and my position is strengthening," he said. "But I'm under no illusion that we're in anything but a long tough race."

Hart, in a concession speech in Washington, congratulated his chief rival, saying: "He and I do agree on one thing, and that is that this campaign will not be over soon. It will be a marathon."

He took a swipe at Mondale's ties to the party's political leaders, saying the Chicago Democratic machine "performed very well" for Mondale.

Jackson was euphoric with his results. "It was a tremendous showing," he said in Chicago. "People have made a major statement about my candidacy."

Unemployment News Is Mixed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seventeen states, and the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, still suffer from double-digit unemployment despite the general national decline, according to new data from the Labor Department.

The highest is West Virginia, which saw its 15.1 percent rate in December jump to 17 percent in January, in unadjusted figures. A year ago, however, the state was at 20.8 percent.

In all, unemployment increased in 42 states during January in figures released today, with the largest over-the-month hike in Indiana, where unemployment went from December's 8.9 percent to 12 percent in January.

We'll Be Ready For Peak Water Demand: Knowles

Sanford will be ready with enough water to serve the city and other customers when the hot weather-high water consumption period arrives, said Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles.

Knowles reported to the city commission that high water consumption peaks about the middle of May. Last year it was at 7.4 million gallons per day and this year because of the addition of new customers, it is expected to peak at 8.07 million gallons per day. Prior to the EDB contamination of the seven city wells at Mayfair, Sanford had a capacity of 9.1 million gallons per day.

At one point during the EDB crisis the city's water capacity dropped to 2.4 million gallons per day.

When the third of three salvaged wells at the Mayfair Golf Course is cleared for use, the city will have 8.7 million gallons daily capacity.

The process used by the city to recapture the wells is forcing a new casing into the old one and taking it deeper. Concrete is poured between the two casings and fills the crevices in the earth to seal out the contamination.

Knowles estimates total costs of recapturing the city water supply, lost because of the EDB contamination, will be about $540,000. A $40,000 state grant will reduce the estimated cost, he said.

Dog Track May Have To Close If Not Sold By May 2

If the Super Seminole greyhound dog racing track in Casselberry is not sold by May 2, there will be no racing there next year.

This year's racing season, from May to September, may or may not be effected, according to a state official.

Track owners missed the March 15 application deadline for racing licenses for the 1985 season because they have agreed to sell the business by May 2, according to Harry Purnell, general counsel for the state Department of Business Regulation.

The owners, William and Jack Demetree and Paul Dervaes, plan to sell the business — starting its fourth year of operation — in lieu of being investigated for "irregularities" in the track's operation.

Since the trio were not going to own the business in the 1985 season, they did not apply for the license, Purnell said.

He said that the new owners will be able to apply for a 1985 racing license as soon as the transaction is completed. If however, the business is not sold by May 2, Purnell said he did not know if the track could operate under the direction of the people who agreed to sell it.

"We'll cross that bridge when we get there," Purnell said adding the issue had not come up before and he didn't know what would happen to the upcoming season activities if the track is not sold by May 2.

According to Purnell, the only parties who have applied to buy the business are the children of the current owners.

Their application to purchase the multi-million dollar operation is being investigated by the Department of Business Regulation, as would any applicant, Purnell said.

A year ago, the state considered revoking the dog track's liquor license and possibly its betting license for business irregularities during its first year of operation, 1981.

According to Purnell, Dervaes and the Demetree brothers are accused of having a convicted bookmaker involved in the track's operation.

Purnell said the state alleged that John Fountain of North Carolina loaned money to minority owner Dervaes who then put the money into use at the track.

The Demetrees own 90 percent of the business.

When the trio agreed to sell the business, the state tentatively agreed not to prosecute, Purnell said.

William Demetree's daughter, Mary Demetree, 23, of Orlando, and his brother's sons, Mark, 26, and Jay, 24, of Jacksonville are, along with Dervaes' daughter, to be the next owners of the $27½-million-a-year business if the state approves.

Demetree said the four were considered as potential owners of the race track after the current owners could not get a fair offer from other investors.

Purnell said an investigation into the proposed sale is underway and will probably be completed before the track opens in May. — Deane Jordan

NATION IN BRIEF

No More Hiding For 'Public Figure Assassins'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has revived a $20 million libel suit against the National Enquirer by actress Shirley Jones in a ruling that will allow similar actions to be filed anywhere in the nation.

"It's about time. To me it is a very healthy decision, with no more hiding out of state for these public-figure assassins," said Miss Jones' husband, producer Marty Ingels.

The justices ruled unanimously Tuesday that Miss Jones could pursue her California lawsuit against a reporter and editor of the weekly tabloid even though they live in Florida, where the newspaper is published.

The ruling was a blow to publishers and broadcasters who argued that subjecting them to lawsuits in faraway states would lead to costly legal fees and possibly crippling damage awards.

The suit was filed after an Oct. 9, 1979, Enquirer article that said Ingels had "terrorized his staff, cheated stars, outraged advertisers and scandalized Hollywood" and that Miss Jones "has been driven to drink by his bizarre behavior."

Barroom Rape To Jury

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UPI) — Only final arguments remain today before the jury starts deliberating the case against four men charged with raping a 22-year-old woman on a barroom pool table.

The defense rested Tuesday in the trial of Jose Medeiros, 23, Virgilio Medeiros, 24, Victor Raposo, 23, and John Cordeiro, 24, all of New Bedford.

They are charged with aggravated rape in an attack on a 22-year-old woman at Big Dan's Tavern in New Bedford on March 6, 1983.

Two other men — Daniel Silva, 28, of New Bedford and Joseph Vieira, 27, of Pomfret, Conn. — were convicted of the rape in a separate trial that ended last weekend.

More Trouble For Meese

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Biotech Capital Corp., recently drawn into the inquiry of Edwin Meese's nomination as attorney general, received government backing for a multimillion-dollar loan, though the program was cut off to most other firms, a government official says.

An official of the Small Business Administration said late Tuesday the SBA granted a special exemption to a Biotech subsidiary, whose stockholders included Meese's wife, which allowed the firm to qualify for $5 million in federally backed loans in 1981.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Colombia Says It Will Continue Cocaine Raids

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Colombian authorities say their raids that netted a record seizure of 12.5 tons of cocaine were just the first battles in a war to wipe out the jungle processing centers operated by drug traffickers under the protection of insurgent guerrillas.

Besides the cocaine — which had an estimated wholesale value of $1.2 billion — the drug sweeps also netted 40 arrests. The government said 11 guerrillas were killed during five days of sporadic fighting in the raids, which happened last week but were not announced until Tuesday.

Common Market Broke?

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — The Common Market faces the worst crisis in its 26-year history with the collapse of a critical summit meeting without agreement on resolving the community's financial crisis.

Leaders of the 10-nation trading bloc Wednesday ended their two-day summit with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher steadfast in her demand for a reduction in her country's payments to the 10-nation community.

Mrs. Thatcher maintains Britain contributes more to the community's coffers than it receives in benefits.

The community is threatened with bankruptcy because it lacks the funds to pay for a farm support program that accounted for two-thirds of the $21.6 billion budget this year.

Truckers Blocking Border

IRUN, Spain (UPI) — Officials pledged to try again today to reopen a French-Spanish border, area blocked by French truckers demanding protection from Spanish Basque mobs.

More than 20 French and other foreign trucks have been burned in Spain by Basques protesting a March 7 attack by the French navy on two Spanish Basque fishing trawlers fishing illegally in the Bay of Biscay off France. Nine fishermen were injured when the navy fired on the ships.

After a four-hour meeting with protesting truckers in Irun Tuesday, truckers rejected as insufficient a promise of increased police escorts on Spanish highways, said Julien Elorriaga, civil governor of the border province of Guipuzcoa.

Ordinance Amended

Animal Laws Clarified

A dog's life may not be so rough in Seminole County anymore.

The county commission recently amended its animal control ordinance to eliminate some of the vague language and spell out just what owners, particularly commercial kennel operators, must do for their pets.

"Nowhere in our ordinance was it spelled out what the rules are," animal control official Bob McIntosh said. "Now I will have something specific to show kennel operators exactly how they must care for their animals."

Bedding must be clean and dry, water must always be available, and animals must be fed at least once a day, including Sundays and holidays. Dogs must be taken out of their cages and exercised at least three times a day, the ordinance says.

Animals must be separated by species, and cages must be large enough so that the animal can stand, turn and lie down flat. The ordinance also specifies the type of materials to be used in constructing cages so as to permit adequate ventilation, proper elimination of waste, and comfort for the animal.

Kennel owners found in violation of the ordinance could be charged with a misdemeanor and subject to a sentence of 60 days in jail and a $500 fine.

In addition, the new ordinance would prevent a kennel owner who has been convicted of, or pleaded guilty to, abuse or neglect charges from getting a license to operate a kennel for three years unless they can convince McIntosh that they have mended their ways.

The portion of the statute dubbed the "leash law," which makes it unlawful for any pet owner to allow his animal to run at large, was tightened even further by a provision making it a violation for owners to let their pets "soil, defile, urinate, or defecate on any private or public property without the owner's expressed or implied consent..."

Violators could have their pet impounded and be forced to pay $20 to get it back, plus $6 for a license if it doesn't already have one, and $5 for a rabies shot if needed.

The old law stated that dangerous animals (attack or guard dogs or such exotic creatures as lions) must be confined. Since such animals are usually kept outside, the ordinance was expanded to call for an enclosure with a fence or wall at least six feet high and an anchoring device such as an inwardly angled portion of fence atop the enclosure.

Also, if a dangerous animal is seized and destined to be executed, the owner must pay all impoundment and other fees six months in advance should he choose to appeal the order. Should the appeal process not take that long, any leftover money would be refunded within 30 days. — Britt Smith

Arrested For Threatening Mom

A 29-year-old Lake Monroe man charged with aggravated assault for allegedly threatening his mother and brother with a rifle and a knife is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

After Seminole County sheriff's deputies responded to a disturbance call at 4731 Douglas St., Lake Monroe, at about 6 p.m.

Tuesday, Alma Colquett Scott, 65, told the officers that one of her sons had threatened her with a knife and had pointed a .22-caliber bolt-action rifle at her and another son, L.A. Scott, a sheriff's report said.

When deputies arrested Edwin Scott, and tried to remove him from the house, the suspect allegedly said "I'm going to kill everyone. You are all going to hell tonight," the deputies reported.

Deputies confiscated the weapons and as he was being transported to the jail Scott, whom the officers said appeared to be intoxicated, threatened the lawmen.

Scott is scheduled to appear in court at 1:30 p.m. today.

Fair Ride Accident 'Spit Out' People, Debris

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — A roller coaster-type ride called the "Super Himalaja" spewed a carload of people through a railing and flung debris into a crowd at the opening of the Sarasota County Fair, injuring 15 people.

"I thought my eyes were playing tricks with me. It looked like people were being spit out," said Gayle Gibbs, whose 9-year-old son, Aaron, had just gotten off the ride Tuesday night.

Hospital authorities said most of the injuries were bumps and cuts.

"We have received 10 people in our emergency room, all of whom appear to have minor injuries," Deborah O'Neill, the Sarasota Memorial Hospital nursing supervisor, said Tuesday night. "We expect them to be treated and discharged."

The worst injury appeared to be to 14-year-old Troy Abner, who suffered head injuries, but a nurse said it did not appear to be serious.

The accident occurred about 8:15 p.m. as the "Super Himalaja" was speeding around its undulating circular track, swinging and tilting its passenger cars as rock music blared over a loudspeaker.

"The Himalaja Ride just kind of disintegrated. A car came off and threw the people through the railing," said police Sgt. Thurman Ray.

Ray said authorities were not sure what caused the accident. "We have the area secured and (the ride) will be inspected as soon as possible," he said.

Kidnap Case May Go To Jury

The case of a Longwood man accused of attempted kidnapping was expected to go to the jury today for deliberation.

Donald Neil Williams, 31, of 390 Wilma St. Longwood, was arrested at 12:18 p.m. Dec. 6 and charged with the attempted kidnapping of Jennie Nix, 25, of Casselberry.

Tuesday, the five-man one-woman jury listened to testimony including how the defendant has changed his appearance since the time of the arrest by shaving a beard and mustache and shortening his hair.

According to court records Ms. Nix told a Seminole County sheriff's deputy Dec. 6 that a man in a van began following her as she was driving east on state Road 46 and signaled her that there was something wrong with her car. She drove to a service station on U.S. Highway 17-92 and an attendant said the car was OK.

Ms. Nix said the man resumed following her, flashing his headlights and pointing to her rear tire. The man told her the tire was going to fall off, the report said.

Ms. Nix told the man her car had been checked and she drove on to state Road 415-A at state Road 4, where the man stopped her again in a parking lot and jumped in her car.

She said he put his hand over her mouth and told her he had a knife. She blew the car horn and screamed, which attracted a passing motorist. As he approached, the suspect ran, a report said.

A description of the suspect and van was issued and within 15 minutes Longwood police stopped a vehicle on Magnolia Street in Longwood.

The man was detained until the victim and the motorist arrived at the scene.

Williams was arrested and charged with attempted kidnapping and is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of bond.

If convicted, Williams, who was also charged with burglary, could receive a sentence of up to 15 years, though the recommended guideline sentence without prior convictions is approximately 2½ years. — Deane Jordan

Woman Sentenced In Baby's Death

DALLAS (UPI) — A woman who told authorities "I can always have another baby" said she was surprised a jury found her guilty of criminal negligence in the death of her 4-week-old girl who was killed by her guard dog.

The jury Tuesday convicted Britt Rognaldson, 36, for leaving her baby alone with the dog, then assessed her the maximum sentence of one year in jail and a $2,000 fine.

The misdemeanor conviction and penalty were far more lenient than the life in prison sentence sought by prosecutors for felony charges of injury to a child.

The child, Cara, was dragged from her crib and partially eaten by the dog on Sept. 3, 1983, as Miss Rognaldson slept in another room of an apartment.

An investigator said the woman seemed upset about the death of her child, but became hysterical when told her 84-pound Rottweiler hound Bryon would have to be destroyed.

Dallas police detective Don Ortegan testified Miss Rognaldson told him, "I can always have another baby, but I can't get another Bryon."

Miss Rognaldson had remained calm through the two-week trial — even when pictures of her daughter's mangled body were shown in court — but wept Tuesday as she spoke to reporters after the sentence was announced.

"I'm very surprised I was not found not guilty," she said, "because I am not guilty."

Her attorney, Vincent Perini, said he would make a decision on whether to appeal the verdict within a couple of weeks.

To convict on the first-degree felony charge, the state needed to prove Miss Rognaldson knew the dog was dangerous and intentionally left the child unprotected.

Testimony indicated the dog had bitten people on two occasions and lunged at a third person on Miss Rognaldson's command.

Couple To Marry In Burning House

STATESBORO, Ga. (UPI) — The marriage of Ralph Deal and Cheryl Buie is going up in flames today, but the groom is used to the heat and the bride says she doesn't mind.

Deal, a firefighter, and Ms. Buie, a Highway Patrol radio operator, plan to be married inside an abandoned house that will be set afire as part of a training drill for the Statesboro Fire Department.

The couple, along with the preacher, maid of honor and best man, will wear protective equipment during the brief ceremony. Firefighters will stand by to hose them down if the blaze gets out of control.

It will be the second marriage for both and Deal said they "hope to be able to burn some of the past and start over anew."

"Firefighting is a big part of my life," said Deal, a 37-year-old fire training officer. "It's more than just a job and this wedding in the burning house is my way of incorporating my job with my wedding."

Ms. Buie, 28, said she was willing to go along with Deal's request — even though it sounded a bit unusual.

"I am not nervous about this. I'm all for it and I think it's unique. It's something different at any rate and Ralph really wanted it," she said.

The Rev. Will Griffin of the Temple Hill Baptist Church will perform the ceremony with the wedding party kneeling so they can breathe fresh air below the flames.

The couple will have just enough time to shout their vows through protective helmets, take off their gloves, exchange rings, and lift their helmet shields for a quick kiss before running out of the burning house.

Ms. Buie will wear a veil treated with fire-resistant chemicals and carry a miniature fire extinguisher instead of flowers.

Fire Chief Joe Beasley said every precaution would be taken to make sure no one is injured.

Reagan: 'Struggle Will Go On' For Organized School Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, soundly defeated in the Senate on his school prayer proposal — a cornerstone of his social issues political package aimed at the Religious Right — is vowing, "Our struggle will go on."

Despite pleas for reconciliation and unity from those who successfully opposed the president's proposal to return government-sanctioned prayer to the public schools, Reagan and his religious fundamentalist supporters say they will continue to make the issue of organized prayer a political one.

Tuesday, the Senate defeated a proposed constitutional amendment to allow organized, vocal group prayer in public school classrooms.

The 56-44 vote — one of the rare occasions when all 100 senators were present for a vote — was 11 votes shy of the two-thirds needed to pass a constitutional amendment. Nineteen Democrats supported Reagan on the issue, and 18 Republicans broke ranks and opposed the president.

The issue was at first thought to be so closely contested that Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., took time out from his presidential campaigning in the Midwest to come back and vote against the amendment.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., flew back from Illinois, where he was mired in a tough primary fight, to vote in favor.

The measure's defeat was hailed by mainstream Protestant and Jewish groups, civil libertarians and education organizations but roundly criticized by conservative and religious fundamentalist groups such as the Moral Majority, Christian Voice and the Christian Broadcasting Network.

"The issue of free religious speech is not dead as a result of this vote," Reagan said in a statement. "We have suffered a setback, but we have not been defeated. Our struggle will go on."

Reagan has made passage of his constitutional amendment, which would overturn Supreme Court decisions of 1962 and 1963 banning state-sponsored prayer and Bible readings as a violation of the First Amendment.

Conservative senators and Reagan's religious supporters joined him in vowing the fight will continue.

The Moral Majority's Jerry Falwell said the religious right will respond by defeating politicians who do not support vocal prayer.

Port Board To Review Work On Marina And Mini-Mall

Progress on an $850,000 combination marina and boat sales and maintenance complex at the Port of Sanford is scheduled for review at today's Port board of directors meeting.

The developer "is to the point of getting his permits from the state (Department of Environmental Regulation) to put in his docks and piers and from the county to put up the buildings," Port Administrator Dennis Dolgner said.

"Everything is proceeding nicely." Construction on Hidden Harbor Marina is expected to begin within the next two or three months with completion scheduled for early summer, Dolgner said.

The port will receive a minimum of $15,000 in revenue from the proposed marina complex during the first year, he said.

Plans for Hidden Harbor is 196 boat slips, dry storage accommodations for more than 300 boats, a full ship's store, a maintenance yard and a retail sales area.

Developer Bill McVay, who formerly operated Strictly Sail, a retail sailboat business at the Monroe Harbor Marina, said he plans to relocate that business, which he now operates out of his home, to the new complex.

McVay hopes Hidden Harbor will attract recreational boaters from the Seminole and Orlando areas who have had to store their vessels in their yards because of a lack of local dock space.

He has said he hopes to add a yacht club/recreation and fitness facility at the marina, an addition which would increase the total value of the project to $1.4 million.

McVay said if the facility is added, it should be completed by mid-1985.

Also today, Dolgner is scheduled to give board members an update on the Port's $200,000 mini-mall.

The building was recently completed and its first tenant moved in last month, Dolgner said. Moulding Technology, previously located at the 1-4 Industrial Park west of Sanford, occupies half of the 16,000-square-foot building under a one-year lease at $2,000 a month.

Dolgner said he has "some good prospects" for the remainder of the mall building, "but nothing firm yet."

Board members are also scheduled to hear a report on the latest legal efforts to obtain materials and equipment from the Richwood Manufacturing co. which failed last year.

Dolgner said the firm went under owing $10,000 in back rent.

Less Corporal Punishment Urged

By Jon Peck

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — County school districts shouldn't be required to perform corporal punishment on unruly students if elected school board members don't want the practice, a special education task force has concluded.

The Task Force on Truancy and Discipline also said districts should try to reduce the rate of corporal punishment and suspensions, which it said were administered disproportionately to blacks.

The panel also encouraged the Department of Education or the Legislature to study what effects if any the tough new graduation requirements enacted last year will have in causing students to drop out of school.

In a 22-page report released by Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington, the task force said its 19-month study convinced it that Florida schools have serious problems with discipline. The Legislature created the task force in 1982.

The task force said the Legislature should amend existing law to give school boards authority to ban corporal punishment in schools. The panel said the change would give school boards the home-rule authority to make the paddling decision for themselves.

'Schools must maintain discipline so students can learn and teachers can teach in a safe, disruption-free atmosphere. Students should assume the consequences of their behavior.'
—special state education task force report school students receives corporal punishment during a year, compared to a national average of one in 28.

Though blacks make up 23.5 percent of the total school population, they represented 37 percent of those who were suspended and 36.8 percent of those who received corporal punishment, the task force reported.

The task force also recommended: — School districts should provide one counselor for every 300 students, and student personnel services should be available year-round where necessary.

— The Legislature should consider paying for race relations specialists, similar to ones formerly provided with federal funds.

— Teachers, counselors and administrators should be required to take courses in positive discipline approaches and classroom management in order to qualify for teaching certificates and to renew the certificates.

— Administrators and education professors should spend five working days, at least two consecutively, teaching in public school classrooms.

— Teacher salaries and working conditions should be improved to attract quality instructors.

Election-Year Push Not Needed

Successive American administrations have been trying for 12 years to negotiate a new, comprehensive agreement with the Soviets limiting or reducing the numbers of long-range nuclear weapons.

The result?

A single treaty signed by former President Carter in 1979 but so flawed and discredited that it could not win ratification in a Senate controlled by Carter's own Democratic Party.

From time to time, the frustrations of these interminable negotiations producing next to nothing move someone in Washington to propose a supposed short cut.

Last week, that someone was Zbigniew Brzezinski, former national security affairs adviser during the Carter administration.

Brzezinski has said complimentary things about the Reagan administration's proposals for deep cuts in the strategic nuclear arsenals of both sides.

But if the Soviets will not agree, and indeed if they have even broken off the negotiations, Brzezinski sees merit in attempting a very general "interim" agreement not unlike that struck in 1974 at Vladivostok by former President Gerald Ford and the late Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev.

Specifically, Brzezinski suggests that President Reagan appeal directly to the new Soviet leader, Konstantin U. Chernenko, for a temporary agreement limiting each side to 1,800 strategic missile launchers and 7,000 warheads.

These limits would require the Soviets to dismantle at least 578 launchers and 1,342 warheads. By contrast, the United States has only 1,613 strategic missile launchers and 7,297 warheads on its intercontinental-range missiles.

So, the 1,800/7,000 limits have a certain appeal for the American side, even if the Soviets would retain their full force of heavy, land-based missiles.

It is these awesome weapons, unmatched by anything in the American arsenal, that give the Kremlin at least the theoretical capability of destroying the U.S. nuclear deterrent in a surprise attack.

The political attraction for President Reagan of almost any arms control agreement with the Soviets this year could hardly be more obvious.

The public is especially eager these days to be relieved of the nuclear jitters and would presumably seize on any agreement as cause for celebration.

So much for all those Democratic television spots attacking Mr. Reagan's record on arms control.

But does all this mean Mr. Reagan should be on the telephone to Moscow today proposing a quickie summit and the Brzezinski formula as the way to break the impasse on arms control?

Probably not.

First, anything Mr. Reagan pushes aggressively now is likely to be rejected by the Soviets, or at least viewed with the gravest suspicion. It is the Soviets who last year broke off the negotiations on strategic nuclear weapons on intermediate-range nuclear weapons and on conventional forces in Europe.

Waiting patiently until the Soviet signal a desire to negotiate in good faith would enhance prospects for success if any of these negotiations were to be resumed.

Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has argued persuasively that repeated Western pleas to the Soviets to resume arms negotiations are viewed in Moscow as signs of weakness.

As such, these entreaties harden Soviet determination to hold out for better and better terms.

The Brzezinski formula has some merit.

But the Soviets will be more receptive if they first see that Mr. Reagan will not allow election-year politics to push him into petitioning Moscow for help.

BERRY'S WORLD

"LISTEN, KID - you'd better stop pickin' on my friend here..."

It's time for Spring cleaning on the Wekiva. The Florida Park Service and The Friends of the Wekiva River, Inc., are planning a 35-mile clean-up of the Wekiva on April 28 and they need all the help they can get. Their pun-in-cheek slogan is "We otter keep it clean."

Thousands of concerned citizens and groups are expected to turn out to help rid the Wekiva, Rock Springs Run and Little Wekiva rivers of thoughtlessly discarded rubbish.

The paper cups along the shore and the beer cans resting on the bottom are an affront to those who enjoy the unspoiled beauty of these springfed streams and they will be helping return these rivers to their pristine state.

Local conservation organizations like SOAR (Save Our American Raptors, Inc.), Rollins College Ecology Club, and the Friends of the Wekiva River will combine their efforts for the day. The river will be sectioned off and color coded to assure each organization will pitch in to do its part. The cleanup will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 5 p.m. To claim your section of the river, call 886-2701.

All groups and individuals must sign up for the cleanup before April 13. The Park Service and the Friends of the Wekiva will then organize this massive cleanup effort to include you or your group.

Engineering, computer science and health science degrees paid off for recent graduates of University of Central Florida, who responded to an annual job market survey taken by the UCF cooperative education and placement center.

Fifty-one percent of the alumni surveyed (those who were awarded a bachelor's or master's degree between July 1982 and April 1983) responded. The average annual salary reported by graduates with bachelor degrees is $17,059, up 4 percent from last year's survey. Those with master degrees averaged $21,396, for an 11 percent jump.

The survey also revealed that 89.3 percent remain in the state, while 71.3 percent work and live in Central Florida. Seventy percent said they work in their field of study. Nine percent are unemployed and 2 percent are self-employed. Engineering graduates drew an average annual salary of $23,389; computer science grads, $22,792; and those with degrees in the health sciences averaged $18,222. On the low end of the scale were humanities and fine arts graduates who averaged $13,339.

Center Director James W. Gracey calls the response "extremely high and informative." He said, "What is really amazing to me is the number of graduates who remain in Florida."

The Super Seminole Saddle Club is sponsoring an English and Western horse show to benefit the Humane Society of Seminole County beginning at 9 a.m. on April 7 and 8 at the Super Seminole Race Track, Casselberry. All profits from the show will assist the society in the care of abused horses and will enable them to increase their efforts to end cruelty to helpless animals.

Refreshments will be sold on the grounds and a veterinarian, farrier, and ambulance will be on call.

For more information, call Tina Hechler at 660-2461.

Poor Planning For Future

It is easy to argue in favor of certain government programs because of their humanitarian nature.

But the economic benefits such assistance produces for most Americans — those who don't get food stamps, those who don't qualify for federally supported prenatal or infant care — aren't always seen.

A recent speech, delivered by an unlikely advocate for increased government spending for children, makes precisely this point: Cheating other people's children of a decent start in life ultimately cheats us all.

The speaker was J. Richard Munro, president and chief executive officer of Time Inc.

Munro waded in against President Reagan's budget cuts in programs meant to help poor people. On March 2, he took aim at Reagan's penny-wise, pound-foolish policies at a strategy session of the Children's Defense Fund.

To neglect the development of all our children today creates a cost we may not be able to pay tomorrow, Munro warned.

Thinking of money spent to assist disadvantaged children as an "expense" is a mistake, he says. Such an expense ought to be considered an investment in our common future — insurance premiums paid today to guarantee a secure tomorrow for us all.

A few lines from Munro's remarks are worth repeating.

"One out of five 17-year-olds cannot read a package label, fill out a form, follow a service manual or write an understandable letter," Munro said. "Many of them simply cannot read or write at all."

"Among black 17-year-olds, 43 percent are functionally illiterate; among Hispanics, 43 percent."

"That amounts to 20 percent of our future work force unsuited for meaningful work, unable to work in a computer room, on an assembly line, in a hospital, in an office; unable to contribute to what is being described as a glorious 21st century of unqualified affluence."

Munro's point is that without the necessary training and help, a larger and larger percentage of tomorrow's work force won't do much work, and what they will do won't be of much use.

They'll fall farther behind their healthier, better-trained counterparts in earning power, and will be less likely to fuel the affluent society most observers see in the next century.

As Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young put it recently, they'll be lucky to find jobs polishing the robots that will do much of tomorrow's work.

"Two out of five of those in poverty are children," Munro said, "13 million in all — 3 million more than in 1980. And in the first three years of this decade, a million children a year fell into poverty."

As each year of President Reagan's term produced more poverty-stricken children, programs intended to assist them were drastically reduced.

Under this administration, a bad situation is getting worse.

DOE Probes 'Moonlight' Business Deals

WASHINGTON — A moonlighting Energy Department official has had close financial dealings with two companies that have received contracts from his office. DOE's inspector general has investigated the apparent conflict, but the official is still on the job.

William E. Richards is head of DOE's ocean energy division. It awards contracts to firms that study the technical and marketing aspects of drawing energy from the ocean.

Solar America Inc., an energy consulting firm, has won a $45,856 contract that was approved by Richards' office. Yet during the same period, Richards' own consulting firm was negotiating a contract with Solar America.

The Richards firm is Pegasus Trading Co. He is president, board chairman and majority stockholder.

Frustration Over Crime

It is difficult for the federal government to do much about violent crime, but a spreading national frustration about what is going on in our streets has propelled a federal crime bill through the Senate, and the New York Times is furious about its toughness. The Senate bill includes a federal death penalty for aggravated crimes, among other stringent measures.

Now whether this would make much difference or not is a matter of conjecture, and a similar bill is being blocked in the House, but one understands the feelings behind it.

Recently, an atrocious killing took place in the South Bronx wasteland of New York City.

Two police officers, a man and a woman, received notice over the police car radio that a man had stolen a moped and got a preliminary description, whereupon they spotted a fellow at a gas pump with a moped that matched the description. When they approached him, he turned around and opened fire.

One of the police officers, Thomas Ruotolo, 30, described as a model police officer, a "cop's cop," and a courageous man who had requested duty in this tough district, was killed instantly at a distance of five feet by a bullet between the eyes.

His companion, Officer Tanya Braithwaite, got off one or two shots and was hit in the hip as she ducked behind the patrol car.

An off-duty officer, Hipolito Padilla, in a nearby phone booth, saw what was going on and opened fire. The gunman hit him in the stomach with a single shot and fled bleeding.

Reporters who are friends of mine tell me that the inspiring thing in the wake of all this carnage was the way the police force responded. They said it looked as if an army of police officers had descended instantly on the neighborhood. Off-duty officers in their pajamas were driving up with their badges around their necks and their service revolvers ready. Trained police dogs were put on the trail of blood left by the wounded bandit.

The prime suspect, wounded, is named George Acosta, and he was turned in by his older sister who said, "He was in jail and he should have stayed there. Why did they let him out? The law is so crazy."

The 24-year-old Acosta indeed had an astonishing record. At the time of this shooting, he was out on parole after serving time for a 1977 killing.

But he had a criminal record dating back to 1976, when he had been arrested for burglary. The record is as long as your arm: jumping bail, 1976; burglary, 1976. Both charges dismissed. In 1977, he was arrested for burglary, sent to prison, and, while in prison, was arrested again for killing one Manuel Griffin, 16. He was tried for murder and convicted of manslaughter and got 5-15 years.

His parole was supposed to last until 1993, but last month he was arrested again for possession of a gun, his seventh arrest. The case against him was dismissed. He walked free again.

And now he stands accused of the moped murder of Officer Thomas Ruotolo; the other two police officers are going to survive.

It is the liberal reflex to blame crime on poverty, but the suspect here was not stealing food or even money to buy food. He allegedly had stolen a moped and was gassing it up at the pump.

"What are you going to do," said Hector Vjetro to a reporter from the New York Post. The local resident went on: "These young people, they don't want to work for a living, so they steal from other people who do. Maybe they kill somebody and get caught. Or maybe somebody kills them and that's the way it should be. But as long as it isn't me, no way I make it my business."

Just another evening in the South Bronx.

In Miami, there are more guns than in Beirut. A grim local joke has it that it's unwise to make a sudden move.

Out in San Francisco, a disappointed politician walked into the mayor's office and shot and killed both the mayor and a member of the city council, which they call a supervisor there. After five years in jail, he's now free.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Roots Of Our Nationhood

Underlying American politics are deep issues of history and philosophy. The policies adopted by our country reflect the basic beliefs of our people.

Happily, the vast majority of Americans are in broad agreement on the ends of government, as set forth in the U.S. Constitution and established in the history and traditions of the United States. Not everyone is in agreement, however. I thought of this in reading a new book entitled Defending A Free Society, a Reason Foundation publication.

This is an interesting collection of essays on various aspects of national defense as seen from a libertarian perspective. The editor, Robert W. Poole Jr., is an intelligent commentator who is concerned with the fundamental question — "What is our government's proper role as defender of the country?"

Mr. Poole is aware that the principal threat to the United States comes from the Soviet Union. But his idea of American nationhood would strike many Americans as strange and not at all in conformity with American history.

In a very revealing introduction, Mr. Poole rejects the idea of American society as an organic unity animated by a transcendent goal. He sees America as a society of atomistic individuals in which people are "sovereign moral agents; they are ends in themselves." From this notion flows his idea that "coercing citizens to join the military is a violation of their basic rights."

The libertarian theorist has a right to hold this idea forth as a personal concept. It is not, however, the American tradition. Certainly, Americans have a strong feel of individualism, which is proper. But they also regard the nation as a true union, spiritual as well as political. The government speaks for the American people, not simply for individuals who have a contractual arrangement with government.

Mr. Poole seems to have forgotten the message of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, in which he hailed government, "of the people, by the people, for the people." That's not a libertarian notion.

In the Pledge of Allegiance, which vast numbers of Americans repeat each week, there is an affirmation of loyalty to one nation under God. Again, in the Pledge, there is a tremendous expression of national unity.

The U.S. Constitution speaks of "We the people" and refers to provision for the "common defense" as one of the reasons for creating a government. Again, this is not a libertarian notion. The United States is a republic. In Latin, that means "belonging to the people," not to atomistic individuals.

Someone has said that a nation is a family "writ large." It survives because there are strong bonds that unite its citizens and make them willing to work and sacrifice for the common good.

Thieves Steal Soap, Booze

Two Sanford businesses have been burglarized, one of them ransacked, in separate incidents.

Between 8 p.m. Sunday and 9:55 a.m. Monday, someone entered Yum Yum eatery at 1926 W. 13th St. through the kitchen window. Once inside, the burglar or burglars ransacked the business then left via the west door.

According to a Sanford police report, it was not immediately known if anything was missing. The amount of damage was also undetermined.

In a separate incident, someone broke into a Sanford grocery store and took soap powder and booze.

According to a Sanford officer's report, between 6 p.m. Sunday and 7:20 a.m. Monday, someone entered Robert's Groceries, 901 Locust Ave., and took $119 worth of soap, bleach, beer and wine.

Listed as missing from the store was one large case of detergent valued at $28, a half-case of laundry soap, worth $23, a case of bleach costing $16, two cases of beer valued at $26 and a case of white port wine, value $26.

The thief or thieves entered the store by prying open the front door, the report said.

BATTERY CHARGE

An Orlando man charged with aggravated battery for allegedly kicking and hitting a Winter Park man is being held in the Seminole County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

The man was arrested at the scene at 10:30 p.m. Monday shortly after he reportedly attacked Charles Ivey, 19, as Ivey wiped the windshield of his car which was parked at his home at 2412 Beamer Court. No reason for the attack was given in the sheriff's report of the incident. Ivey received stitches in his head at the emergency room of Winter Park Memorial Hospital following the assault.

Gene Stanley Salesbury, 21, was arrested in Ivey's yard.

MONEY MAN

Four Sanford men, living behind a house they are repairing on Beardall Avenue at Hughey Street, reported that on March 15 two of them were robbed by a man who entered their living quarters and took change from their pockets.

The man who approached the victims saying, "I'm the money man; give me all of your money or I'll kill you," returned the following day and robbed two other workmen. He made the same threat and reportedly took about $17 from one and change from the pocket of the other.

The victims, Ned Jackson, Levi Robinson, Freddie Lee Griffin and Alonzo Martin said they are afraid the suspect will return.

In the second incident, the robber hit one of the victims on the arm with a railroad spike, the sheriff's report said.

BURGLARIES-THEFTS

Monday.

Drywall plaster and shingles valued at $250 were reported missing from Fairview Camp, Altamonte Springs, between Saturday and Monday.

Lumber and electrical materials worth $307 were stolen from a homesite in the Amberwood subdivision off Dike Road in southeast Seminole County. The items, the property of Continental Homes, Altamonte Springs, were taken between 4 p.m. Sunday and 10:14 a.m. Monday.

Connie Lynn Gearty, 29, of 252 Gary Blvd., Longwood, reported that between 1:20 and 3:45 a.m. Monday a thief entered her home and took a $159 check, a $12 check and $200 cash from her kitchen table.

A radio and speakers worth $565 were reported stolen from a 1984 Volkswagen van parked at Jim Chumbley Volkswagen, U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford. The theft occurred between Friday and Monday.

BOY FATALLY SHOT

An Osteen boy born in Sanford was killed by a gunshot blast to the chest Sunday while he was with another Osteen youth.

Troy Dontaeous Alexander, 13, of Enterprise Road, was dead on arrival at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, after being shot in the chest Sunday at 1:55 p.m. by a .410-gauge shotgun blast, according to a spokesman for the Volusia County Sheriff's Department.

The shooting, which is under investigation, is being treated as an accidental death.

According to the spokesman, Alexander was with an unidentified 12-year-old boy in a bedroom, address not given, when the shooting occurred.

STOLEN CAR, NO SEX

A Sanford man who agreed to meet two men at a motel where they would provide him with a sexual partner was robbed of $25 and his car.

According to a Sanford officer's report, Carl Edwin Griffin, 63, of 2412 Cedar Ave., was approached at about 4 p.m. Friday on 13th Street by two men who asked him if he wanted to buy some drugs. After Griffin said he didn't, the men told him they knew where there was a woman at a motel with whom he could have sex.

Griffin said he met with the men at 7:15 p.m. in a parking lot at 1918 Southwest Road in Sanford. He said the men grabbed him around the neck and arms and then robbed him of $25, a buck knife and his Louisiana-registered 1978 Oldsmobile.

Merit Pay Plan Blasted

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A top union official says that everything he had predicted could go wrong with the merit pay plan adopted by the state last month was, in fact, "going wrong."

FEA-United President Pat Tornillo said Tuesday that local administrators had now learned they would have to pay the costs of evaluating teachers by the end of October. In Dade County alone, he said, that cost is estimated at $1 million.

Tornillo also complained that the state's insistence on a master's degree as a prerequisite for the merit pay program had already eliminated several local teacher-of-the-year recipients from consideration.

"Unfortunately, everything we said could go wrong with the state merit pay plan is going wrong," Tornillo said.

Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet adopted rules last month to implement the merit pay plan. They also set a timetable of evaluating teachers and distributing checks of up to $3,000 during the next school year.

Many critics, Tornillo included, complained that Graham and the Cabinet were moving too fast without taking the time to train evaluators or consider the impact a major program like merit pay would have on local school districts.

In renewing his criticism, Tornillo called on the Legislature to adopt FEA-United's merit pay plan, which is included in a bill (HB 559) sponsored by Rep. Walter Young, D-Pembroke Pines.

The union's plan includes a delay on the master's degree requirement, state tuition assistance to teachers seeking a master's degree and greater opportunities for master teachers to work in areas beyond the classroom, such as the training of beginning teachers or the development of curriculum.

Tornillo said he expected the Legislature to make changes in the merit pay and, for that reason, said he urged all teachers to apply for the program by the April 2 deadline to "protect their interests."

He said, for instance, that even if a teacher does not have a master's, he should apply for the program in case Legislature votes to eliminate or delay the requirement.

He said if that makes it even more doubtful that the state will be able to evaluate all of its teachers.

Cosmetic Restorative Dentistry

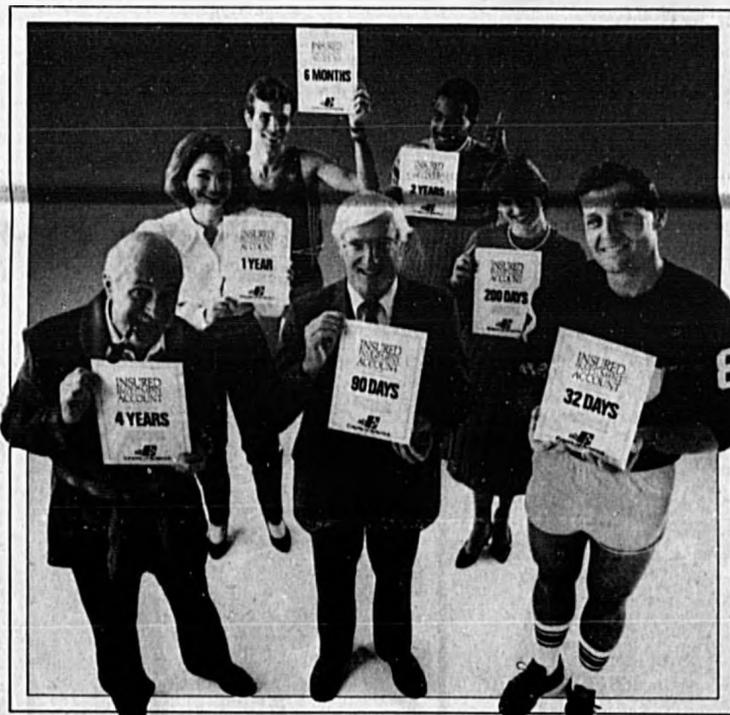

Today, dentists treat the patient as a total personality. The psychology of the individual is important and a mouth that is merely healthy without being attractive, may be unsuited to the patient's urgent psychological need.

An attractive, comfortable, properly-functioning, healthy mouth is required if one is to enjoy a thoroughly happy and productive life. Every face to face contact one has in business, social and home life, is affected to the benefit or detriment of the individual by the appearance of the teeth. Frequently, beautiful effects can be obtained without the loss of healthy teeth. Proper preventive and reparative dental care is worth many times the investment required.

For Art's Sake

Watercolors by Sanford artists Helen Hickey and Ed Bookhardt caught the eye of judges at the 25th Annual Winter Park Sidewalk Art Festival last weekend. Mrs. Hickey, left, is shown with painting of her cat which was selected for judging. Boasting an Award of Merit ribbon, Bookhardt's night street, above, scene reflects street scene on Park Avenue Sunday afternoon as well. He received a $125 prize and is assured of a place in next year's event. But sculptors such as Greg Abbott of Bloomington, Ind., who created this $800 metal sculpture of what appears to be an angry ant, right, did not fare well because judges refused to award any prizes for sculpture other than merit ribbons.

Cordless Phones Help Librarians

Seminole County's Casselberry and Sanford branch libraries have recently acquired cordless telephones for use in their reference departments.

Donated by the Friends of the Library of Seminole County, the cordless phones have helped the county library system meet the growing informational needs of area residents by halving time necessary to answer reference calls.

The annual number of reference inquiries at the Casselberry and Sanford libraries increased from 62,209 in 1979 to 177,671 in 1983. By eliminating the need to retrieve indexes, card catalog trays and telephone directories to the nearest phone, the cordless units enable the librarian to communicate directly with the patron while checking indexes or researching information.

Area residents who need information on anything from a dinner recipe to a stock quote, will find reference staffs at both county libraries eager and ready to help during library hours.

Mixed Doubles Brings Out Best — And Worst — In Partners

I recently overheard a conversation about the upcoming marriage of an avid tennis player in the area. It went something like this:

"I'm really starting to have second thoughts about marrying him. We played tennis last night and he is really not a very good player," said the lady. "I'm really afraid that we would not be a very good mixed doubles team."

Then observing a gentleman on another court, she wondered aloud, "The guy on the court next to us was quite good. I wonder if he's married?"

Of course, I'm not serious, but it's not too far from the truth. Mixed doubles and husband and wife mixed doubles is a serious business in the world of tennis.

In the state of Florida alone, many scores of tournaments are devoted to mixed doubles alone and many others include mixed as one of their divisions.

I have played some of the most highly emotional and witnessed some of the most hotly contested matches on the mixed doubles court. In one match in which I was involved, it lasted over three hours.

I have actually seen physical fights among partners. One man threw his racket at his wife and one woman poured Gatorade over her husband's head.

Marriage counselors would say that what happens on the tennis court is just a tip of the iceberg, that trouble has existed in the marriage even without the tennis.

Well, I know couples who are the very compatible — off the court. Once they step inside the lines, both turn from Jekyll into Hyde. Tennis is funny that way — particularly mixed doubles.

It can be great, though, and once a few ground rules are established, many, many enjoyable years of mixed doubles tennis is in store for you.

Here are a few guidelines that have helped we enjoy mixed husband-wife doubles. Maybe they can help you — even save your marriage.

●Rule No. 1 — I'm talking to the men in this first one. "Get rid of the macho-king-of-the-court attitude. I've seen men tell their wives, "Honey, you stand in this one spot, if a ball happens to come at you hit it, I'll cover.

This won't work — You'll be a bad team and your wife or partner will be humiliated. Play it straight. If the ball is hit to your partner's court let them have it. (It was very surprised at how good my wife was once I started letting her play).

●Rule No. 2 — Please don't try to coach your partner while the match is in progress. I've seen some men and women even try to do it even during the point. To discuss strategy is okay, but to try to change strokes, etc., is not. It will only frustrate your partner.

●Rule No. 3 — Don't glare, growl, hiss, cuss or generally act like an idiot when your wife or partner misses a ball. She doesn't want to miss and you are just going to make her more nervous with your acting up.

●Rule No. 4 — Never refer to the female player on the other team as being good or being steady or being a "great little player." This infers that if you were on her side you would be winning.

●Rule No. 5 — Don't bring off the court problems on the court with you. I heard a man tell his wife during one match if should would be neater around the house and keep it cleaner, she would certainly be a better tennis player. What?????

●Rule No. 6 — Do...praise your partner's good shots and good efforts...

●Rule No. 7 — Do...play a lot of practice matches.

●Rule No. 8 — Do...have fun. It's not life and death to win just one little trophy. (I have known people who would sell their best friend for a $2.95 trophy.)

●Rule No. 9 — Do...relax, have fun and enjoy mixed doubles...It is a great game.

Farr's Hit Lifts Seminole; DeShetler Snares Lyman

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High's outfielders caught everything that came their way Tuesday and kept the Lady Seminoles in the game until Jackie Farr delivered an RBI single in the bottom of the 10th inning to lift Seminole to a 5-4 victory over DeLand's Lady Bulldogs in Five Star Conference softball action on a windy, overcast afternoon at Fort Mellon Park.

Seminole evened its record at 3-3 overall and now stands at 1-2 in the conference. The Lady Tribe is back in action this afternoon at 4 at Lake Brantley.

The Tribe's outfield Tuesday consisted of Katy Barbour, Janet Hauck, Farr and Bert Detreville. All four played outstanding defense and made numerous run-saving plays.

The only outfield error of the day led to DeLand's first run as Hauck tried to throw out a runner at first but overthrew the bag. Hauck would come back later to make up for her error with the defensive play of the game.

A nice running catch by Farr got Seminole out of the third inning untouched and winning pitcher Christy Gonzales struck three straight infield pop ups to get out of the fourth inning.

Seminole jumped into the lead with three runs on two hits in the bottom of the fourth. Sheri Peterson and Barbour both reached on fielder's choices and Beth Nelson then stepped up and ripped a triple over the left fielder's head, knocking in both Peterson and Barbour. Hauck then reached on an error and Nelson scored for a 3-1 Seminole lead.

Prep Softball

DeLand bounced back with three runs in the top of the fifth to take a 4-3 lead and the Lady Bulldogs benefitted from three Seminole errors in the inning. Detreville, the right fielder, made a nice running catch in foul territory to end the inning.

The Lady Seminoles went down in order in both the fifth and sixth innings and still trailed by one going into the bottom of the seventh. Barbour and Nelson led off with back-to-back singles but Barbour was erased at third on a fielder's choice. Gonzales then hit a hard grounder to the shortstop who tagged second for one out but her throw to first got by the first baseman and allowed Nelson to score the tying run and send the game into extra innings.

DeLand got a one-out single in the top of the eighth but Seminole shortstop Alycia "Fat" Dixon scooped up a grounder, stepped on second and threw on to first for an inning-ending double play.

Seminole got a runner to second with two outs in the bottom of the eighth but came away empty. With one out in the top of the ninth, DeLand's long-ball hitter Bridgette Gordon stepped up and drilled a line drive to left center field. Hauck ran down the screaming liner and made a diving catch to save what would have been a sure home run and a 5-4 DeLand lead.

Seminole then loaded the bases with two outs in the bottom of the ninth but Detreville grounded back to the mound for the third out.

DeLand got a runner on with two outs in the 10th but couldn't push across the tie-breaking run.

Sherry Carpenter led off the bottom of the 10th with a single to left and Dixon looped a single up the middle to put runners on first and second. April Gordon then reached on a DeLand error to load the bases and Farr followed with her game-winning single.

"We really hung tough today," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "We made some errors that cost us three runs but we came back well and the outfielders did a fantastic job."

Lyman.....1
Karen DeShetler made an outstanding running catch to save at least two runs in the bottom of the sixth to preserve a 2-1 victory for Lake Mary's Lady Rams in Five Star Conference action Tuesday at Lyman High.

Lake Mary remains on top of the conference with a 4-0 record and the Lady Rams stand at 5-2 overall after winning their fourth straight game. Lyman, which upended Orlando Jones, 10-4, on Monday, fell to 2-4 overall and 1-2 in the conference.

Lake Mary is back in action Thursday at Spruce Creek while the Lady Greyhounds travel to Apopka Thursday.

Lyman, which managed only five hits in the game, took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first. Riane Richardson and Christy MacLeod led off with back-to-back singles but Denise Stevens hit into a fielder's choice for the first out. Kristie Kaiser then walked to load the bases and MacLeod scored as Fleda Jones hit into a force play.

Lake Mary, which had only four hits off Lyman pitcher Christine Gigliore, responded with two runs in the bottom of the second. The first run scored on a single off the bat of Debbie Howell and the second scored via a Lyman error.

Lyman staged its last scoring threat in the bottom of the sixth as it had two runners on base when Jones drilled a shot down the left field line. DeShetler ran down the ball and didn't know she had caught it until she looked in her glove.

Beth Watkins picked up the pitching victory for the Lady Rams who hold a one-game lead in the conference over Lake Howell.

Reichle Blanks St. Cloud Merchant's Clutch Single Keys 1-0 Oviedo Win

Darrin Reichle blanked St. Cloud on three hits and freshman Mark Merchant singled home the game's only run as the Lions trimmed the Yellow Jackets, 1-0, in prep baseball Tuesday at Oviedo High.

Reichle, seeking to regain his form which made him one of the top hurlers in Central Florida last year, had his best outing. The 6-5 righthander struck out seven, walked two and was in trouble just once while improving his record to 2-3. In the fifth, he struck out the first two hitters, gave up two singles around a walk and then fanned the next hitter to escape the jam.

"Darrin's motion was pretty good and he was locating the ball," said Oviedo skipper Howard Mable. "He threw 100 pitches today. That was an accomplishment. Now, we can start working on his acceleration."

Oviedo pushed across the only score against loser Al Purdy in the sixth inning. Jeff Greene walked and Reichle moved him to second with a sacrifice bunt. Lester Cabrera also walked and then combined with Greene to pull a double steal.

Merchant then came through with a base hit to score Greene with the game-winner. Pat McCartney, who led the Lion attack with a pair of singles, flied out to retire the side.

"This was a big win for us," Mable said about the Lions' eighth victory in 15 games. "Now, we have to get a good game out of Greene Friday (against Leesburg) and we'll stay right behind Osceola."

Oviedo, two-time defending OBC champion, is 4-1 in the conference and Osceola is 5-0.

Griffith Rejects Local Offer For Team

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins have rejected a local businessman's offer to buy the team for $34 million because other cities are willing to pay more than $50 million. It was reported today.

The Minneapolis Tribune quoted Twins vice president Bruce Haynes as saying Carl Pohlad, a Minneapolis banker and bottling millionaire, had offered $34 million to buy the American League club.

"We told him that wasn't anywhere near enough," Haynes said. "I'm not going to name cities, but we have received more than one offer of $50 million or more to buy the Twins. The price has gone skyrocketing in recent months."

The Detroit Tigers were sold last year for $50 million and Haynes said he considers the Twins a more valuable franchise.

"We have no debt and we have a better organization," Haynes told the newspapers.

The Tribune said representatives from Vancouver, B.C., Denver, and Indianapolis have contacted the Twins about buying the team. Both Vancouver and Indianapolis have recently built domed stadiums.

A year ago a group representing Tampa, Fla., offered $24 million for the Twins. At the time the club owners — Calvin Griffith, his sister Thelma Haynes and Gabe Murphy — considered the Tampa offer fantastic.

The report said Griffith now considers the Tampa offer "peanuts" and quoted him as saying, "The Detroit Tigers sold for $50 million. The Dallas Cowboys have been sold for $80 million. This is an indication of the big money people are willing to pay for a sports franchise."

The Tribune also quoted Griffith as saying he does not plan to move the club, but doubts the American League would prevent a new buyer from moving in.

Greene Hopes To Alert Scouts With Hits, Arm

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

What's the best kept secret in Seminole County?

When it comes to baseball, Oviedo coach Howard Mable thinks the answer is his all-purpose senior Jeff Greene. "Jeff is an unknown commodity," said Mable Monday. "I don't know why. He's an excellent ballplayer. I think the best in the county. The scouts and colleges just don't know about him."

Greene's talent is no secret to Seminole County baseball fans, though. Since his early beginnings when he advanced up the line at the Seminole Pony Baseball program at Five Points, he has impressed watchers with a strong arm, stinging bat and his great competitiveness.

Mable admits that the 6-1, 155-pound senior's best position is outfield — but he just can't afford to play him there. "Our infield is just so young that we have to have Jeff's steady influence in there," said Mable who has Greene splitting his time between first base and the mound. "As a center fielder last year, he had a great year. No doubt, that will be his position in college or if he's drafted by the pros."

Whether it is the outfield, infield or on the mound, it doesn't much seem to matter to Greene. He excels at all three. Last year for the Lions' Orange Belt Conference champ, Greene spent most of his time running down fly balls in center field and complementing one of the strongest hitting lineup this county has seen.

The left-handed swinging (and throwing) Greene batted .372, slammed five home runs, drove in 20 runs and rapped 35 hits. He also led the county in runs scored with 37 and stole 11 bases.

Mable had a pretty solid mound staff, but when the semifinal district game was on the line last spring, the Lion skipper put out the call to center field. Greene marched, erased a 3-0 count with three fastballs for a strikeout and then got the final hitter on a ground ball.

This year, he has seen more mound work and has responded with a 4-1-1 record. Last Friday, he shut down Bishop Moore on four hits. This Friday,

Prep Baseball

Greene will be on the hill for the Lions' key battle with Leesburg.

Although regular mound work has been known to take its toll on many a batting average, Greene's magic wand hasn't suffered with his upgraded duty on the bill.

At the moment, he is batting .367 with three home runs and 11 runs batted in. "And he's just getting his stroke down," said Mable who counts Greene's smooth swing as one of the best he's ever seen.

"We've had some good ballplayers out here," said Mable. "And Jeff is right in the top two. He doesn't have the strong wrist action of some of the players, but I've never seen a kid work harder to improve. If he keeps improving, he's really going to be something."

He's more than enough for the competition right now.

Lake Mary, still smarting from a 12-6 whipping at the hands of Lake Brantley Monday, tried to get back on the winning track today at 3:30 against Lake Brantley at home.

The Rams, who had an eight-game winning streak snapped, are 11-4 and 6-1. Apopka, 7-1-1, holds a half game lead in the Five Star Conference race, so a win against hard-throwing Bill Lang or junkballer Damon Marlette is a must before taking on Apopka on Saturday.

"We're going with (Mike) Schmit," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle about his pitching choice today. "I want to stay with the same rotation and Lake Howell is pretty tough anyway. We have to beat them before worrying about Apopka."

Apopka, 14-1, hosts Seminole today and Tribe coach Bobby Lundquist feels his team will give the Blue Darters a battle. "I think we're going to surprise them," said Lundquist. "They'll save (ace pitcher Rodney) Brewer for Lake Mary, so we'll probably see the lefty (Trey Brausseur)."

Seminole, 7-7 and 3-4, hasn't had any trouble hitting the ball. Steve Dennis leads the way with a .450 average.

Fisk's Exuberance Isn't Catching For Skinner, Karkovice

SARASOTA (UPI) — Get a ballplayer who has been around a while off by himself, and he'll probably level with you and tell you the everyday grind of waiting around, traveling in planes and buses, practicing, playing, eating restaurant leftovers and perpetually living in a public fish bowl wears out everyone in time.

Ultimately, ballplayers with anywhere from 12 to 15 years in the big leagues become understandably bored of doing the same thing every day, even playing baseball, no matter what they say otherwise, and look for somewhere to "hide" and get away from it all.

Where can they possibly hide? Plenty of places. You probably haven't given it any thought, but they have.

One of the places where they can keep out of sight and out of mind is the bullpen. The manager is the other end of the bench.

Another good spot for concealment is the bullpen if there's enough room, and still another hiding place can be a strange or different position. Any number of players try that near the end of their careers. It's a great place to hide.

But Carlton Fisk isn't bored with catching yet. He's not tired of it either. He's starting his 13th season in the American League and his fourth with the Chicago White Sox and although he has tried some other positions, he has no desire to lay aside the catching tools, this year, next year, or maybe even the one after that. So that has to come as bleak news to young fellows like 23-year-old Joel Skinner and 20-year-old Orlando Boone product Ron Karkovice, hoping to be the club's No. 1 receiver some day soon.

"I'm still a catcher," Fisk says, leaving little room for any speculation on the club considering the fact that he has been in the position.

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

"I thought there might have been some plans to use me at first base or some other position, apparently there isn't. They're even trying Mike Squires at third base."

What makes the third base experiment with Squires noteworthy is that he throws left-handed and there's hardly anyone around who can recall the last third baseman who wasn't right-handed.

1980. He has also played first base and left field and has been used as a designated hitter.

"I think playing another position is refreshing," he says, inserting some snuff inside his lip before leaving the clubhouse to take infield practice. "It's like a day at the beach compared to catching. But I'd never issue any ultimatum to the club that I wouldn't play this position or that one."

Fisk, 36, played in 138 games for the White Sox last season. He caught in all but five of them and the only one in the league who caught more games was Ray Boone of the Angels.

Through mid-June of last year, Fisk struggled along hitting less than .200, but then Tony LaRussa moved him up to the second spot in the order and it was as if the White Sox manager had wrought a small miracle. Fisk came in a strong third to the Orioles' Cal Ripken and Eddie Murray in the MVP balloting after finishing with a solid .289 batting average, 86 RBI and 28 homers. He also caught every pitch for the White Sox in their four-game playoff with the Orioles.

LaRussa is sure Fisk can play five more years if he likes.

"I see the care he gives his body," says the White Sox manager, "but it's not all physical. He has that competitive fire. And so far there's no sign of it burning out. He was our MVP last year at the age of 35."

You ask LaRussa what particular plans he has for Fisk and he smiles.

"Catch him," he says. "With the situation we have with Marc Hill, where he can go in and give us a good job behind the plate anytime we ask him, we don't have to kill Fisk. We don't need him to DH much because we have Bull (Greg Luzinski). Last year, Carlton was the DH for one game in Fenway Park. I like him to get a little rest. To me, the DH is like half a day's rest. But don't tell the Bull I said that."

Hooton Unhappy In Dodgers' Bullpen, Campanis Wants Youngsters In Trade

By United Press International

Burt Hooton would rather hit the highway than the bullpen, and the Los Angeles Dodgers might accommodate him.

Hooton, disappointed with his banishment to the Dodgers' bullpen, could find himself 25 miles down the road with the California Angels, according to officials of both teams.

The Dodgers are also talking to other clubs about the 34-year-old right-hander but aren't about to give him away.

"We have told the teams that we're not interested in someone to put on our major-league club," Los Angeles vice president Al Campanis said. "We're looking for good, young players. Otherwise, forget it."

Angels' executive vice president Buzzie Bavasi said the talks would continue.

"We don't want to rush into anything," Bavasi said. "We don't want to do anything we might regret a month from now. We have three young pitchers (Steve Brown, Curt Kaufman and Ron Romanick) doing very well."

The Angels had one of the worst pitching staffs in the American League last year. Hooton was 9-8 with a 4.22 ERA in 1983. He has a lifetime mark of 143-122 and his best year was 1978 when he was 19-10 with a 2.71 ERA. He has been with the Dodgers since 1975.

In exhibitions Tuesday:

At Tucson, Ariz., Andre Thornton doubled home a run in the eighth inning to spark the Cleveland Indians to a 3-2 victory over the Seattle Mariners. Thornton's shot off the left-center field wall followed rookie Brook Jacoby's sacrifice fly.

At Sarasota, free Agent Art Howe, struggling to make the Chicago White Sox as a utility infielder, broke an .083 drought with three hits in a 5-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Howe, battling rookie Tim Lulett for a backup spot, scored the tying run in the second and scored an insurance run in the sixth.

At Palm Springs, Calif., left-hander Mark Davis and two relievers combined for a seven-hitter, leading the San Francisco Giants to a 9-0 victory over the California Angels. Davis allowed four hits through six innings in his longest stint of the spring and now has allowed only three runs in 19 innings. Al Oliver went 3-for-3 with two RBI and Jeff Leonard slugged a three-run homer.

At Orlando, Rich Gedman, Glenn Hoffman and Jim Rice homered to pace a 22-hit attack which led the Boston Red Sox to a 15-6 rout of the Minnesota Twins.

At Fort Myers, Steve Balboni drove in four runs with a homer and a double against his former teammates to help the Kansas City Royals hammer the New York Yankees 12-2. Balboni's homer far over the left-field fence in the sixth came off Phil Niekro, whose exhibition record dropped to 0-4.

At Lakeland, an error by third baseman Howard Johnson allowed the winning run to score in the 10th inning as the Toronto Blue Jays defeated Detroit 7-5. The Tigers had tied the bottom of the ninth inning on a sacrifice fly by John Grubb.

At Clearwater, Joe Lefebvre drove in two runs and Charles Hudson became the first Philadelphia pitcher to go seven innings this spring in the Phillies' 3-1 victory over the New York Mets.

At St. Petersburg, Ray Knight drove in four runs, three on a first-inning double, to lift the Houston Astros to a 7-3 over the St. Louis Cardinals.

At Yuma, Ariz., rookie Carmello Martinez clubbed his fourth home run of the spring, a three-run shot with two out in the ninth inning, to lead the San Diego Padres to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Burt Hooton is unhappy toiling in the Los Angeles bullpen, but L.A. general manager Al Campanis said he doesn't want to trade the veteran righthander for an established player. He wants some good, young talent which he can farm out.

Chaffin's 2-Run Double Lifts Hogan Past Valencia

Diane Chaffin stroked a two-run double in the bottom of the seventh inning Tuesday to lift Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders to a 4-3 victory over Valencia in the first game of a doubleheader at SCC. Valencia came back to win the second game, 5-1.

The Lady Raiders now stand at 7-12 overall and 5-5 in the Mid-Florida Conference. SCC hosts Lake City Thursday at 3 p.m.

In the opening game, the Lady Raiders rapped 16 hits including three by Mary Stevens, Alison Griner, Donna Dunlap, Dee Hogan and Patricia Steed all had two hits for SCC. Hogan, a former Seminole High standout, picked up the pitching victory.

SCC was limited to just seven hits in the second game but Stevens went 2 for 3 giving her five hits in seven trips to the plate in the doubleheader.

Raiders Trim St. Johns

Sanford's Alton Davis, Mike Sims and Mike Conway each rapped two hits Tuesday as the Seminole Community College Raiders tripped St. Johns River, 4-2, in junior college baseball at SCC.

SCC improved its record to 17-9-1 with the victory. The Raiders play a double-header with McComb (Mich.) Community College beginning at 1 p.m.

Seminole, 5-2 in the Mid-Florida Conference, jumped to a 1-0 lead in the second but St. Johns put a two-spot on the board against starter Max Cornell in the third. The Raiders then pushed across single runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh for the win.

Hoosiers Need Patience To Upset UNC

NCAA/NIT

By United Press International

Used to playing the leading man, Bobby Knight suddenly finds himself in the role of Cinderella.

Knight's Indiana club is a heavy underdog going into Thursday night's NCAA East Regional semifinals against top-ranked North Carolina. Although the Hoosiers are ranked 18th with a 21-8 record, they have three freshmen and no seniors as starters while North Carolina has a pair of All-Americans in Sam Perkins and Michael Jordan.

"North Carolina has had great teams and we've had great teams, but we don't have a great team now," the Hoosiers coach said. "We hope someday we'll develop into a great team."

"This is a situation for us to try and set up what we want to do and have the patience to bring it off. They will try to put a lot of pressure on us and we have to react to that pressure. It's an interesting kind of game to play with a young team like ours."

Indiana freshman Steve Alford is a 91.3 percent foul shooter and hit all 10 of his attempts in last Saturday's 76-67 win over Richmond. Uwe Blab, the Hoosiers' 7-foot-2 center, has been inconsistent, however, and will have his hands full with 6-9 Perkins and 6-11 Brad Daugherty.

Tar Heels coach Dean Smith noted that Indiana has done well against top teams.

"Indiana is a very good basketball team," Smith said. "They have played a five-point game at Kentucky, beaten Illinois and won by 19 at Purdue. We will have to play very well to win."

The other East semifinal at Atlanta features 16th-ranked Syracuse, 23-8, against Virginia, 19-11, a surprise team that was not expected to get this far in its first year without Ralph Sampson.

"A lot of people underestimated us," said Virginia coach Terry Holland after the Cavaliers upset No. 7 Arkansas in the second round of the East Regional. "They felt our players were good only because of Ralph. I think we've dispelled that notion. I hope we've proven our kids play good, smart basketball."

In the Midwest semifinals at Lexington, Ky. Thursday night, cross-state rivals Kentucky and Louisville square off after No. 6 Illinois meets No. 10 Maryland in the opener.

No. 3 Kentucky will play Louisville for the third time in 53 weeks after going 24 years without a meeting. Cardinals coach Denny Crum has two major worries about the game — his team's health and Kentucky's home court advantage.

"It's certainly not fair in NCAA play for a team to play in its own arena," Crum said of the upcoming game at Rupp Arena. "I'd like to see something done about it."

Louisville forwards Manuel Forrest and Billy Thompson and guard Lancaster Gordon are all slowed by injuries.

The Illini and Terps are expecting a rugged game, considering Illinois plays in the physical Big Ten and Maryland also likes to mix it up.

"I would think Maryland is as physical a team as we are going to face all year," Illinois coach Lou Henson said.

The West semifinals at Los Angeles Friday night match No. 2 Georgetown against No. 13 Nevada-Las Vegas and No. 15 Washington against unranked Dayton.

The Georgetown-UNLV clash is a rematch of a game won in overtime by Georgetown in December. The Hoyas, the top seed in the region, barely escaped Sunday with a 37-36 decision over Southern Methodist on a tip-in by Patrick Ewing with less than a minute left. Dayton is coming off a shocking 89-85 upset over No. 8 Oklahoma, fueled by Roosevelt Chapman's 41 points. Washington, the only Pac-10 team still playing, is the first Huskies team to advance this far in three decades.

He's pleased to be alive in the National Invitation Tournament quarterfinal round, yet Tennessee coach Don DeVoe is reluctant to return to the place where it all began for him.

DeVoe began his coaching career at Virginia Tech 13 years ago and returns to that site Friday night for his quarterfinal battle with the Hokies. The arena, however, doesn't sit well with DeVoe, who knows from experience that Tech doesn't lose too often when hosting.

"It's where I got my start in coaching but I don't relish going back to one of the most difficult places in the country to win," DeVoe said. "They have an incredible winning percentage there."

Virginia Tech (20-12) has won 80 percent of its games over the past 23 years at Cassell Coliseum. The Hokies beat 16th-ranked Memphis State there this season on their way to a fourth-place finish in the Metro Conference and have won two straight home games in the NIT.

Roberto Duran takes a gamble to fight Thomas Hearns.

Duran Gambles Title For Hearns

Pro Boxing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roberto Duran will be doing some gambling in June — with his title.

Duran, who battled back from boxing oblivion to win the World Boxing Association junior middleweight title, is prepared to give it away in order to take on Thomas Hearns on June 15 for his World Boxing Council version of the 154-pound title. Duran will give up his WBA title in the hope that a victory over Hearns can boost him into a third bout against Sugar Ray Leonard.

Duran is the only man ever to defeat Leonard but he lost face among his Panamanian countrymen when he quit in the eighth round of their rematch in Nov. 1980. He erased part of the shame by winning the WBA junior middleweight title last year but he feels a convincing victory over Leonard, who is expected to end his 2-year retirement in May, would erase the shame of his "no mas" defeat.

Duran won the WBA junior middleweight title by stopping Davey Moore in eight rounds last June but he has not yet made a title defense. He is willing to give up the title for the chance at Hearns rather than go through with a less lucrative mandatory defense against No. 1 ranked Mike McCallum.

Duran already has been given two extensions of the mandatory period, one to face world middleweight champion Marvin Hagler in November, a fight he lost on a 15-round decision, and the other in February after a hand injury. Duran will ask the WBA executive committee to grant him another extension at its meeting in Las Vegas, Nev. on March 31. Even if he receives the required three-fourths vote of the committee, his appeal is expected to be rejected by WBA President Gilbert Mendoza of Venezuela.

"Roberto says he will give up the title on or before June 15," said Luis Spada, Duran's manager. "We will wait until after the WBA committee meeting on March 31 to determine our course of action but Roberto is prepared to give up the WBA title and fight for Thomas Hearns' WBC title. The WBC already has sanctioned it as a title fight under its rules."

Duran appeared to be finished two years ago when he had consecutive losses to Wilfred Benitez and Kirkland Laing and looked unimpressive in outpointing lightly-regarded Jimmy Batten. But he knocked out former WBA welterweight champion Pipino Cuevas in four rounds to earn another title shot and then dethroned Moore with a savage beating.

The promoters of the Hearns-Duran bout, Walter Alvarez of Miami and Gold Circle of Detroit, said no site has been selected. A spokesman said the sites had been narrowed to one foreign and one United States location and that a decision would be made within a week. The fight will be telecast on closed circuit and on a pay-per-view basis.

Hearns, the former WBA welterweight champion, won the WBC super welterweight (154-pound) crown in December, 1982 with a 15-round decision over Wilfred Benitez. He suffered two hand injuries while training and has made only one title defense, a 12-round decision over Luigi Minichillo last month.

Hearns is 38-1 with 32 knockouts. His only loss was a 14th-round TKO to Leonard in a world welterweight title unification bout in Sept. 1981.

...Lady Hawks

Beach then they did around the bases Tuesday, but the Lady Hawks came up with four runs in the sixth-inning and held on for a 4-3 victory over Mainland's Lady Bucs.

Lake Howell improved to 7-1 overall and 3-1 in the Five Star Conference. The Lady Hawks host DeLand Thursday at 4.

Tuesday's game was originally scheduled for Daytona Beach's Sunnyland Field but was switched to Mainland High. Lake Howell showed up at the high school only to find out a maintenance problem had flooded the field and the game was moved to Daytona Beach Airport field. Lake Howell made it to the game 15 minutes before it started and it took them six innings to get on track.

Mainland held Lake Howell scoreless on just two hits through the first five innings and took a 2-0 lead into the sixth. Cherie Green and Erin Hankins ripped back-to-back singles to lead off the sixth and both moved up when Sandy Gillies hit into a fielder's choice.

Mary Johnson was then intentionally walked to load the bases and Grace Ley singled to drive in Green. Eileen Thibault then drew a walk to force in Hankins. Johnson scored as Barbara Helm hit into a force play and Ley scored on an error on the same play.

Helm held the Lady Bucs to just three hits to pick up her seventh pitching victory of the season.

Lake Brantley.....13 Apopka.....11

APOPKA — Kim Wain belted a two-run homer in the top of the eighth inning as Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots snapped a six-game losing streak with a 13-11 victory over Apopka in a slugfest at Apopka High.

Lake Brantley now stands at 1-6 overall and 1-2 in the Five Star Conference going into today's game against Seminole. Apopka, picked to be one of the stronger teams in the conference, fell to 1-2 in the conference with the loss.

"It was a great team effort," Lake Brantley coach Renny Betris said. "The kids never quit."

Going into the top of the seventh inning, Apopka held a 11-9 lead. But the Lady Patriots rallied for two runs to send the game into extra innings. Debbie Cook smacked a triple to drive in the first run of the seventh and scored on a sacrifice fly by Dana Gebhart.

Apopka loaded the bases with one out in the bottom of the seventh and Karen DeShetler made an excellent running catch Tuesday to save two runs and lift the Lake Mary Lady Rams past Lyman in prep softball action.

Gebhart, the winning pitcher for the Patriots, fell behind the next two hitters with 3-0 counts. Gebhart got out of the jam though and Wain came through with her clutch homer in the eighth to give Brantley the victory.

Lake Brantley collected 15 hits on the day and Holly Hagaman and Laura Davis led the way with three hits each. Kim Longhouser went 2 for 4 with a pair of triples and Cook was also 3 for 4 with two triples and Wain was 2 for 5.

Oviedo.....12 Jones.....11

Jones' strategy backfired Tuesday as Jessica Bradley drew a bases-loaded walk in the bottom of the ninth inning to lift Oviedo's Lady Lions to a 12-11 victory over Jones in Orange Belt Conference action at Red Bug Park.

Sheila Hill led off the ninth for Oviedo with a triple and Jones then elected to intentionally walk the next two hitters to load the bases. But Bradley looked at four balls and the Lady Lions walked away with the victory.

Oviedo improved to 11-5 overall and 5-0 in the conference. The Lady Lions travel to St. Cloud Thursday.

"We played very sloppy in the field," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said. "It was our worst game of the year as far as errors go."

Oviedo banged out nine hits in the game and Mikki Eby led the way as she went 2 for 4 with four RBI. Jill and Tara Boston had two hits each for Oviedo while Hill also picked up the pitching victory and struck out four Jones hitters along the way.

The score was deadlocked at 9-9 after seven innings and Jones scored twice in the top of the eighth to take a 11-9 lead. Candy Williams came through with a clutch two-run double in the bottom of the eighth to tie it at 11-11.

Lewis Leads Kittens Past All-Stars

ICBA

The "Night of the All-Star" was held this past week at Oviedo High School with all three Inter-County Basketball Association Championship teams taking part. In the girls and JV boys divisions, the league champs played the All-Stars from the rest of the division. In the varsity boys game, the National division played the American.

The South Seminole Kittens, girls' titleholders, held off the All-Stars to win, 28-21. Game MVP Tamara Lewis sparked the Kittens with 14 points, a pair of assists and outstanding defense. Eva "The Passing Wizard" Miranda added six points and five assists. Gail Veal, Miranda and Bobbie Kelley snared eight rebounds apiece. Suzanne Hughes of the Jackson Heights Blue Bandits and Shannon Pierson of the Tusawilla Warriors led the All-Stars with five points each. Mary Jo Sanchez of the Walsie Ward Girls Club added four.

Training at the end of the first quarter, the South Seminole Tomcats, boys JV winners, outscored the

All-Stars 19-9 in the second period to take a lead they never relinquished. Larry Watkins, Delmon Simpson and Willy Daunic scored 12 points each for South Seminole. Danny Rubin had nine, Brad Bolton seven, Watkins (14), Simpson (11), Rubin (9), J.J. Miller (7), Bolton (6) dominated the backboards with a 47 rebounds between them. Miller added six assists, Watkins and Daunic five and four steals respectively. Terry Dixon of Winter Park put on a one-man show for the All-Stars with 22 points. Jarvis Watkins of Eastmonte added six. Daunic was named the game MVP.

The National Division All-Stars topped the Americans in the varsity game, 55-51 in a thriller. Ike Felder, the MVP, of Eastmonte scored 24 including 16 in the last quarter to overtake a 38-31 American division lead. He also pulled down double-figure rebounds and assists/steals.

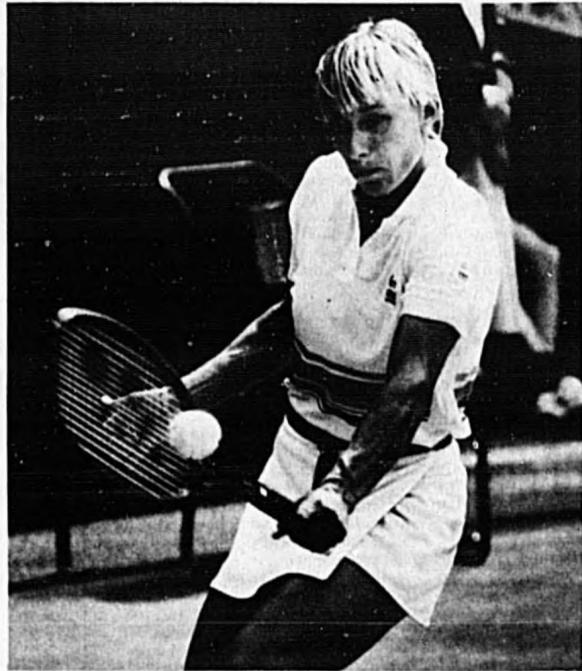

Garth Bolton of South Seminole and Craig Radzak of Eastmonte scored eight each, Robble Bowers of the Jackson Heights Knights had six. Dixon of Winter Park, doing double-duty again, led the Americans with 18. Ed Simmons of Winter Park added 14. Alan Greene of Tusawilla six and Andy Devine of the Jackson Heights Lions five.

MVP Judges included Bill James, Altamonte Springs director of recreation, Mickey Scaletta, Jim Norton, Gary Oetli, Jim Greene, Chris Sarford, Kim Miller and Eddie Norton. Coaching the All-Stars were Lynn Gulleddge and Leigh Lowe for the girls; Russ Whittington for the JV boys and Mickey Scaletta for the varsity boys.

Next on tap for the ICBA basketball players is a trip to Ormond Beach this weekend for a series of games for South Seminole. Next comes the JV All Stars playing in the Daytona Beach YMCA Tourney on March 22-25. The second week in April. The ICBA will enter five teams in the Sunshine AAU boys tournament in Orlando. Finally, the ICBA girls will play host to teams from Philadelphia the last weekend in March. — Mickey Norton

Martina Navratilova hits a backhand return for a point.

Martina Wakes Up With Sore Leg, Withdraws From Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — Martina Navratilova woke up Tuesday with a sore leg and her doctor told her to stay away from tennis for a few weeks.

Suddenly, it has become safe for her competitors to come out and play.

"What this does," said Virginia Ruzicel, "is give every other player a better chance to win the tournament. But you can't really worry about her pulling out. You have to worry about your next round."

Navratilova, the most dominant force in women's tennis, was forced to withdraw from the $150,000 Dallas tour because of a pulled hamstring muscle in her left leg.

Dr. Pat Evans, who serves as team physician of the Dallas Cowboys, said the muscle pull had actually become a slight tear and advised Navratilova to rest for two weeks.

And although the loss of Navratilova automatically means a reduction of interest from the ticket-buying public, it is like a breath of fresh air to those who usually hope only for second place.

Ruzicel, a Romanian who is trying to regain her place among the world's top 10 players, took a large step toward a possible title by defeating glamour girl Carling Bassett Tuesday night, 6-4, 6-2.

Bassett, who reached the semifinals of last week's stop in Palm Beach Gardens before losing to Chris Evert, said she simply could not concentrate.

"It was like my head was not working," said the 15-year-old whose career as a model is being touted as highly as tennis career.

Joining Ruzicel in moving past the first round Tuesday were third-seeded Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia (who beat Elizabeth Sayers of Australia, 6-3, 7-6); fifth-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia (a 6-4, 6-2 victor over Lori McNeil); sixth-seeded Zina Garrison (who defeated Natalie Herremann of France, 6-1, 6-4) and seventh-seeded Barbara Potter (who downed Anne White, 6-1, 6-2).

The withdrawal of Navratilova, however, made more news among the players than did the scores.

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

PSC Says AT&T Should Pay Divestiture Costs

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Public Service Commission has put the phone company on notice that costs of the court-ordered nationwide divestiture should come from AT&T's windfall profits — not customers' pockets.

The five-member panel listened to attorneys and rate analysts for three hours Tuesday, then voted unanimously to cut Southern Bell's $92.5 million request for an interim rate increase to $35.9 million. Instead of increasing consumer-borne rates $1.50 per household and $3.50 per business phone, as the company had proposed Feb. 5, the PSC said for Southern Bell to go to AT&T for the money.

Southern Bell maintained that it was losing about $500,000 a day because of the Bell System's nationwide break-up Jan. 1. The Florida subsidiary said AT&T took over some of the most profitable telephone income sources, including interstate service and telephone rental charges, and that the "access charges" the national company paid to Southern Bell was not enough to "make whole" the Florida profit margin.

Rastas Tied To Crime

By United Press International

Gangs of Rastafarians including "The Untouchables" and the "Jungle-lites" have been tied to smuggling drugs, guns and illegal aliens across state lines and 24 murders in south Florida, a published report says.

About 200 Rastafarian criminals are believed to live in Dade and Broward counties. Some of them belong to a gang known as "The Untouchables" whose members buy large amounts of drugs in Jamaica, then send them to America on ships or planes, the report said.

Rastafarians are members of a Jamaican religious group that believes the late Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie was a living god. They smoke marijuana as a sacrament and wear their hair in long matted "dreadlocks," basing both practices on Biblical passages.

Concorde Comes To Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — British Airways will inaugurate supersonic jet service to Florida next Tuesday when one of its seven needle-nosed Concorde lands at Miami International Airport.

Passengers who pay $2,386 to fly the Concorde from London to Miami will shave two and one half hours off their travel time, said British Airways spokesman Brian Walpole, in Miami Tuesday to promote the new service.

The flights, which stop in Washington D.C., will take about 6 1/2 hours.

Washington has had supersonic service for 8 years. New York has had service for 6 1/2 years. British Airways officials first considered flights to Miami three years ago, but deferred service until marketing studies six months ago found traffic could support the Concorde.

Defendants Found Not Guilty

Two men in separate cases were found not guilty by Seminole County juries Tuesday.

John Silas Jr., 36, of 1506 W. 16th St., Sanford, was found not guilty by jury before Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. of felony petty theft, which is a third charge of petty theft after two petty theft convictions within two years.

Silas had been charged with taking $30 Dec. 13 from a store worker at Richards Grocery while the worker was making change.

He could have received a year in the county jail for the offense if found guilty.

Shannon Wilson was the public defender.

In a separate case, a West Virginia man accused of taking equipment from a South Seminole County business was also found not guilty.

David Wayne Braithwaite, 25, of Piedmont, was found not guilty of grand theft in a trial that began Monday.

Braithwaite had been accused of taking $290 worth of tools from American Auto Shippers, 5490 Howell Branch Road on Jan. 4 and 5.

In early January, Braithwaite and his wife and two young children were living in the cabin of a boat parked at the business and owned by the business owner James Houtenville, of 503 Gilbert Road, Winter Park.

Braithwaite was arrested in West Virginia Jan. 22 where he had moved his family.

On Jan. 27, under arrest and flown to Seminole County by the court, he entered a plea of not guilty. Whether his transportation costs back to West Virginia will be provided by the court is still undetermined.

The public defender was James Figgate.

In other court action: James E. "Jack" Selph, 19, of 453 Jessup Ave., Longwood, pleaded no contest to resisting or obstructing an officer with violence.

Judge Mize accepted the plea and judged Selph guilty. He is scheduled to be sentenced next week in conjunction with another case and could receive up to a year in the county jail for the resistance.

According to court records, Longwood officers responded to a domestic disturbance at 9:20 p.m. Oct. 16 at 469 Jessup Ave., Longwood.

Selph and a woman were arguing, according to the arrest report. She was telling him to get out of the house and he was telling her to shut up.

An officer spoke with the woman to "assure her well-being" and as they were leaving, Selph, who was reportedly screaming profanities, tried to grab an officer's flashlight and after the second attempt was arrested. He was taken to the Longwood Police station where again making threats, he swung about a metal chair to which he had been handcuffed.

The arresting officers noted that Selph appeared to be under the influence of some narcotic at the time.

Donna Ann Darkazalli, 22, of Kissimmee, was sentenced to two years probation and 80 hours of community service for shoplifting before Christmas.

Before Mize, Miss Darkazalli told the court in her written plea that she took $157.13 worth of items Nov. 22 from Super-X in Sanford because she didn't have any money for Christmas items.

Miss Darkazalli, a college student, could have received five years for the grand theft.

Mine Cripples Soviet Tanker

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua charged the United States was waging an "undeclared war" following the crippling of a Soviet oil tanker by a mine planted in a key harbor by CIA-backed rebels.

Just hours before the explosion, Nicaragua warned that ports of other Central American countries might be mined by leftists rebels in El Salvador and Honduras in retaliation for the mining of Nicaragua's harbors.

Five Soviet crew members were "gravely" injured in the Tuesday blast, officials said. The tanker was badly damaged but reached the port's oil terminal.

"This is part of a de facto blockade against the government as part of the undeclared war of the United States against the Nicaraguan people," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said.

The Soviet tanker Dulker sustained "considerable damage" when it struck the mine about 2 p.m. as it entered Nicaragua's main oil terminal in Puerto Sandino, on the Pacific coast 40 miles west of Managua, the Foreign Ministry said. The Soviet news agency Tass, however, identified the freighter as the Lugansk.

Tass blamed the United States for the attack

Stepped-Up War Seen In Lebanon; Talks Fizzle

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Rival militias clashed in downtown Beirut and army troops and Moslem rebels exchanged rocket and artillery fire in the surrounding hills today following the collapse of peace talks in Switzerland.

Mortar rounds and grenades exploded throughout the night and into the morning hours along the so-called Green Line dividing the Moslem and Christian sectors of the city, where at least three people died in fighting earlier Tuesday.

Military sources reported intermittent clashes early today between government troops and Moslem Druze militia in hills outside the capital.

But the widespread bloodshed many had feared would be triggered by the failure of Lebanon's rival Christian and Moslem chiefs to agree on a new power-sharing formula did not immediately materialize.

An escalation of violence in the nine-year civil war was predicted in statements from Lausanne, Switzerland, where eight factional leaders and President Amin Gemayel tried for nine days to forge an accord to satisfy Moslem demands.

Gemayel left Switzerland today for Paris, where he was to meet with French President Francois Mitterrand.

Druze leader Walid Jumblatt, invoking the warning given Julius Caesar before his assassination, said "Beware the Ides of March" as he left the Beau Rivage conference hotel.

"It's now that war will really start in Lebanon," said one conference source after the talks collapsed Tuesday.

Shiite Moslem leader Nabih Berri, whose Amal militia drove the Lebanese army from Moslem west Beirut last month, blamed the failure of the talks on Gemayel and accused him of wanting to preserve the Christian minority's dominance in Lebanon's political structure.

"We don't have a president who wants really to resolve the problem in Lebanon. We need a courageous, a brave president. We don't have one," he said.

A final, unsigned document called for bolstering a 9-day-old cease-fire arranged by the Lausanne conferees that has done little to stem the bloodshed in Beirut. At least 50 people died and 162 were wounded in fighting while the talks were under way.

Is it wrong for a funeral director to enjoy life?

Through the years, the funeral director has been passed off as someone different. He never smiles or has any fun. He always speaks in hushed tones. He perennially wears a just-pressed black suit.

The truth, of course, is that we're people, just like you. We have the same human interests and habits and faults as other people. And maybe that's what makes us good funeral directors: we understand your feelings in time of loss because we feel the same way in our own time of loss.

Outstanding Club Member's Pasta 'Crowd-Pleaser'

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

Although Pamela Tucker has been a member of the Junior Woman's Club Of Sanford for only about a year, she has made a name for herself.

During the recent installation and awards banquet, Pretty Pam was named the club's "Outstanding Member" for her work as chairman of the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program.

During the year she worked closely with Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) and is president of the Seminole County Chapter of MADD which received its charter from National MADD "only a week ago," Pam says.

Explaining the functions of MADD, Pam says members monitor court trials, write letters, work with victims injured by drunk drivers and families of DUI manslaughter victims, and, in general, try to educate the public.

The attractive mother of three active boys, Drew, 6; Brant, 3; and Lee, 7 weeks, Pam is a native cracker who calls all-Florida home. The daughter of a Florida Highway Patrol officer, Pam lived in several Florida cities while she was growing up.

She is married to John A. Tucker, manager of a family-owned Sanford business, Tucker's Farm and Garden Center where she is employed as bookkeeper. They have made their home in Sanford for five years.

Pam serves as a model in area fashion shows coordinated by Lois' Place, Sanford, and in 1983, she was a candidate for Mrs. Florida in the state pageant held at Winter Haven. To keep in shape, she does aerobic dancing about three times a week.

Although Pam says she likes to cook, like other working moms, she doesn't have too much time to spend in the kitchen.

"Italian food is my favorite," she said, and it is John's favorite. Lasagna is my crowd-pleaser."

Pam shares the following recipes as

DEAR ABBY: My husband has made fantastic progress with a large company. (He's in sales.) I am very proud of him and love him very much.

Now the problem: One of his best accounts has social "business" functions for men only. I have asked him to suggest that wives be included, and he said it wasn't his place to make any suggestions. I told him that if enough men, beginning with himself, would turn down such invitations, the company would have to start including the wives.

Last week my husband received another one of those invitations. I begged him not to go, but he said, "When a big shot invites you, you don't turn him down." And he went anyway.

Abby, I feel that my husband has no respect for me or himself. What is your opinion?

Dear Abby

ate for him to suggest that wives be included, then refuse to go unless they were.

If you love your husband, add some confidence to that love and quit hassling him. Your present attitude is a millstone around his neck.

FEELING REJECTED: Assuming that these functions are respectable company get-togethers, your husband's decision to go has nothing to do with his respect (or lack of) for you or himself.

It would be inappropriate

DEAR ABBY: For the last few weeks I have been dreaming that I am pregnant! I know it is not a suppressed desire, and it certainly cannot be the fear of pregnancy, because I am 74 years old!

I have all my marbles, Abby, and this isn't of sufficient importance to justify seeing a "shrink."

What could the reason be?

IMPOSSIBLE DREAMS: DEAR IMPOSSIBLE: Perhaps you have a fertile imagination.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to whether "make

A Sensible Diet Starts In Kitchen

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm 4 feet 11 inches tall and weigh 145 pounds. I can't seem to lose weight. I tried Teanate diet pills and that didn't help.

You mentioned in your column you have a health letter on kitchen power that tells you how to choose and prepare foods and avoid calories. I'd like to try. I've tried lots of diets and I just can't stay with them as they don't give me enough to eat.

DEAR READER - If you follow the concepts in that issue it will control your calorie intake. There are some good studies that show people who are obese don't eat any more weight or volume of food than slim people, but they tend to eat foods that are calorie dense; a lot of calories for the weight or amount of the food.

One study showed that if you tested lean and overweight people in a cafeteria setting and allowed them to eat as much as they wanted, both groups ate the same amount.

The way you prepare foods determines how many calories there are for the amount of food. Fat contains the most calories. Foods that don't contain bulk or water, such as the concentrated sweets and starches like flour, are the foods that are highest in calories per ounce.

If you get the fat, sweets and flour out of food, what's left is the bulky carbohydrates in fresh fruits and vegetables and protein in lean meats and low-fat dairy products. If most people followed such a plan and exercised after each meal they wouldn't have a problem with obesity.

I've outlined this plan in the Health Letter 9-12, Kitchen Power for Weight Control, which I'm sending at your request.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm 55 years old and overweight. I'm 5 feet 2 and weighed 145 pounds. Then I started taking some pills and in a week's time I was down to 138. I notice these pills contain caffeine. You've said caffeine is bad for a person. I've tried a number of diets and do well on many of them, but only for about a week and then I gain on the weekends. Would you look at the enclosure about these pills and see if they are safe or not?

DEAR READER - Not only do the pills contain caffeine, they also contain phenylpropanolamine hydrochloride, an appetite-suppression drug. A number of doctors have been very concerned about its effects. At a recent American Heart Association's stroke conference it was pointed out that this drug can cause high blood pressure, strokes, severe headaches, seizures and acute schizophrenic episodes. In case reports one user attempted suicide and another disrobed at the airport.

Questions have been raised about brain hemorrhaging in animal experiments using the drugs. There is some concern that in some patients it may cause cerebral hemorrhage, even when small amounts of the medicine are used. There are other reports suggesting high blood pressure crises and seizures. The Center for Science in the Public Interest claims that 10,000 emergency visits in 1981 were the direct result of reactions to this drug.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Table with columns for NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH and card suits (A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2).

very sound seven no-trump. Your only problem is to guard against four to the jack in either minor suit.

You can handle clubs safely, so at trick two you play dummy's king of clubs and note that West holds all four. No problem there, so you cross to your hand with a heart at trick three and finesse against the jack of clubs. You are sure of 12 tricks, and Jeff Rubens points out that you lose nothing by cashing all the rest of your major suit winners right away.

You do just that, and something surprising happens. East shows up with an eight-card heart suit. Also he has followed to two spades, so he can't hold four diamonds. You play your ace of diamonds and East shows out.

Now it is easy. You lead a second diamond, on which West must play the nine. Now you see why you left clubs for later. You simply cash out the clubs, stopping in your hand, and repeat the diamond finesse for all the tricks.

Young Sanford Orators To Compete For Title

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Two young Sanford orators will compete with Optimist Club Oratorical Contest winners from seven counties Sunday in Altamonte Springs for the zone title and a chance to go on to regional and state competition.

Shanan Stewart, 11-year-old Sanford Middle School sixth grader, and Kenneth Eckstein, 14, a student at Seminole High School ninth grader, were awarded medals as the top boy and girl winners in the Sanford Optimist Club Oratorical Contest held Thursday night, according to local contest chairman David Haines.

They will be competing with other youths from Flagler, Lake, Volusia and Seminole counties at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Westmonte Civic Center. The seven boys and seven girls will be each giving a four-minute oration on the topic, "My Responsibility — Involvement." The event will be open to the public.

The top winners of the state competition will each receive a $1,000 scholarship.

Five-time first-place winner on the local level, Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Eckstein of 103 Alcan Drive, Sanford. Last year he was winner on the zone level and second in the regional contest. He is president of his class at SHS.

This was the third year Shanan has entered the local contest and the first two years she was runner-up. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roger Stewart of 305 Idylwild Drive, Sanford.

There were six girls and five boys entered in the local contest. Runners-up in the girls' contest were Kristen Merrifield, 15, of Seminole High School, who came in second, and Kenneth's sister, Christine Eckstein, 13, of Sanford Middle School, who was third. Kristen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Merrifield, 416 W. Crystal Drive, Sanford.

Runners-up in the boys' contest were Tim McMullan, 15, of Seminole High School, who was second; and Tim Stevenson, 10, of Idylwild Elementary School, third. The former is son of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. McMullan, of 2634 Sanford Ave., Sanford, and the latter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevenson, Sanford. They received certificates.

Judges for the local contest were Jack Hornor, the Rev. Leo King, and Ricky Howe.

Auction Set To Benefit SHS Band

The Seminole High School Band will hold a fund-raising auction beginning at noon March 31.

Proceeds are slated to be used for a band trip to Ft. Lauderdale to perform in a contest, according to Seminole High Band Boosters.

Donations of auction items are being accepted. Questions or donations, call: Jeannette Stiffey at 322-8234 or Ce Howington at 322-3164.

Satellite Television Comes Of Age

By James Carbone
United Press International

When Bob Travis moved his family to rural Saratoga County in upstate New York, they were disappointed they could not get cable television.

They had been used to such TV fare as Home Box Office, Cinemax and ESPN, but the local cable TV company told them they lived in a too sparsely populated area to be hooked up to the cable system.

So, after some thought and discussion with his family, Travis decided to plunk down about $4,000 for a 10-foot satellite dish. With his new satellite earth station, Travis found he was not only getting HBO, Cinemax and other pay-for-view programs, but also about 60 other channels that are broadcast via satellite.

"I get everything," Travis said. "The reception is beautiful on 80 percent of the channels. None of the channels is so noisy that you can't watch it."

Travis is one of about 384,000 home satellite dish owners in the United States, according to figures supplied by Society for Private and Commercial Earth Stations in Washington. Fred Finn, counsel for SPACE, says the number is growing rapidly.

In 1980, there were only about 5,000 home satellite dish owners. In 1981, the figure climbed to 24,000 and in 1982 there were 144,000 owners. Growth was due to several factors, according to Finn.

In 1979, the Federal Communications Commission deregulated satellite earth stations eliminating a license requirement. Secondly, the cost of a dish went down from about $100,000 to about a present average of $2,500 to $6,000.

While $6,000 may seem to be a lot of money to watch television, home satellite dealers say it's worth it to many people who live in remote rural areas and are unable to get any television reception.

"The majority of people who own one are rural people," said Jack Hanna, technical director for National Satellite Communications in Clifton Park, N.Y.

"They have no cable TV and they're never going to have cable TV. What they're doing is creating their own mini-cable TV system and they're seeing everything," said Hanna, whose firm is a national distributor of home earth stations.

Hanna said home dish owners receive the same signal that cable TV systems receive.

The 12 domestic satellites beam the signal to the center of the country. As the signal travels east and west it weakens, Hanna said. Consequently, someone in Kansas may need an 8-foot diameter dish to pick up the signal, but someone in California or Maine would need a 12-foot diameter dish to pick up the same signal.

There are some very expensive earth stations on the market that will not only pick up the 12 domestic satellites, but also pick up foreign television satellites. Those systems have 20-foot-diameter dishes which rotate to face the different satellites and cost about $15,000.

Hanna said home satellite dishes will likely get smaller in the future, making them more popular. He said he will continue to sell in rural areas and will make inroads in suburbia where they could become the new American status symbol.

"I see an amazing percentage of growth in the next 10 years," Hanna said. "I see virtually every household having a small dish, as opposed to having an antenna. The growth is going to be fantastic."

"In the future, I think everybody will be doing everything from paying their electric bill to shopping through a satellite and a computer."

Hanna said dishes won't become popular in urban areas, because most cities have cable television and dishes need a clear line of vision to a satellite, a problem in some urban areas.

But there may be some clouds on the horizon for home dish owners.

Premium programmers such as HBO are disturbed that dish owners are getting their signal for free.

"The taking of a proprietary signal and not paying for it, we do consider piracy," said Mark Harrad, a spokesman for HBO in New York.

Harrad said HBO plans to scramble its signal by the end of the year so only cable TV systems will be allowed to receive HBO.

Harrad also denied claims HBO has plans to sell de-scramblers to home earth stations owners. "We're not at this point thinking of going into the retail business," he said.

It remains to be seen if other premium programmers will follow HBO's lead in scrambling their signals because it's very expensive and technically difficult. Home satellite earth station dealers say there will always be plenty of channels for home dish owners.

Nouvelle Cuisine Offers Lighter Versions Of Creole Tradition

By JOHN DeMERS
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Nouvelle cuisine has gained a foothold of sorts at one of New Orleans' most famous restaurants — to the dismay of some patrons and the delight of many others.

The changes were gradually introduced at Commander's Palace by four members of the famous Brennan family after they took over the century-old Garden District landmark in 1974.

The original remains a fixture on Royal Street, especially during its famous breakfasts of sauce-covered eggs and popular drinks, including the anise-flavored Sazerac and sautee cocktails.

The dissident faction has created a unique identity at Commander's. "We all have basically the same dishes," says Dick Brennan, who runs the quirky turquoise restaurant with sister Ella, brother John and sister-in-law Dottie. "We feel it's a challenge to have ours totally different, to stay ahead of just the people on the street corner."

Creole cooking has always blended the expensive fare of the rich with the cheapest pot-fillers concocted by the poor.

The latter often worked as cooks for the former, so the spices of Africa and colonial Spain soon found their way into the saucy-rich creations introduced from France.

At a 1983 symposium on American cuisine in New Orleans, food editors and experts from across the nation ended a three-day eating orgy talking mostly about their dinner at Commander's — a feast starring grilled Louisiana pigeon, crawfish bisque and fried softshell crab.

In the old days, the pigeon probably would not have turned up at all at a posh place like Commander's, and both the bisque and softshell crab would have been considered

As served last spring, they represented a brilliant marriage of classical Creole with the proper touch of nouvelle cuisine.

"We figured (New Orleans cuisine) needed a lot of new ideas for all the old dishes," said Ella Brennan, the undisputed queen of local restaurateurs since Germaine Cazanave Wells, of Arnaud's, died in 1983.

Drawing innovations from New York, San Francisco and the dining scene in Europe, the Brennans made almost all their dishes less caloric than their counterparts in more traditional French Quarter establishments.

They also reduced the amount of flour in sauces or turned to reductions of stocks to thicken them and intensify the flavors instead of using the traditional thickening agent called roux, a mixture of flour and butter or oil.

They committed themselves to using local ingredients, including such dishes as oyster soup, eggplant soup, duck fettucine, pompano en papillote and lemon crepes. "Why use almonds in New Orleans when you grow pecans in your backyard?" asks Ella.

Many new recipes the family has introduced in the restaurant are in "The Commander's Palace New Orleans Cookbook" (Clarkson Potter, $17.95), recently published.

They range from drinks to desserts and include such dishes as oyster expresses the Southern tradition of hospitality," Ella said. "Dick and I feel that it reflects the way we were brought up to entertain in our home."

Salade Gourmande

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — In their salade gourmande, the Brennans of Commander's Palace restaurant pay special tribute to the nouvelle cuisine that inspired so much rethinking of their Creole classics.

In their recently published "The Commander's Palace New Orleans Cookbook," Ella and Dick Brennan say the warm salad of green beans, watercress, artichoke bottoms and pate is based on an original recipe from French chef Michel Guerard.

The Creole touches are a special mustard and chopped pecans.

The Brennans suggest serving it as a first course, with a chilled California chardonnay or a full-bodied white burgundy.

1 cup thinly sliced green beans, cooked until barely fork-tender

1 bunch watercress, washed and trimmed

4 canned or fresh, cooked artichoke bottoms, sliced

For the dressing:

1 egg

1 egg yolk

1/4 cup salad oil

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper

3 tablespoons chopped green onions

1 1/2 tablespoons Creole or Dijon mustard

Garnish:

4 slices pate

4 tablespoons coarsely chopped pecans

Watercress

Prepare vegetables and set aside. Put egg, egg yolk and 1/4 cup salad oil in blender container with salt and pepper. Cover and blend at low speed. Immediately remove cover and gradually add salad oil in a thin, steady stream. Mixture will be thick and creamy. Add green onions and mustard and blend at high speed until thoroughly combined.

Put a slice of pate on each salad plate. Beside it put 1/4 cup green beans on a bed of watercress. Put 1 sliced artichoke bottom beside the green beans and sprinkle everything with pecans. Moisten salad with a little dressing and pass remaining dressing separately.

Serves 4 as a side dish.

Live Longer Can You Live To Be 100?

By Lelord Kordel
Number Two of a Series

EDITOR'S NOTE: What is the Kordel Plan? It is a way of living healthily while eating enjoyably. A faulty diet, Lelord Kordel believes, is often both cause and symptom of much physical and mental illness in men and women today. His studies of the effects of food on mind and body have convinced him that proper diet can prevent, even eliminate, many illnesses. Revise your way of eating, says Lelord Kordel, and you will begin to really live. Old age should be recognized for the disease it is.

You don't get old just because the calendar says you are 30 or 60 or even 100.

You get old because certain degenerative changes take place in your body.

Changes that can largely be prevented — and even corrected — by the foods we eat — if they are the right kind of foods.

Hardening of the arteries, heart trouble — dozens of so-called "diseases" are actually a form of degeneration of body tissues caused by improper eating over a period of time.

If you want to carry your years lightly toward a longer, happier life, rather than allow the years to drag you along through a miserable, ailing, premature old age, you must take time to analyze your present eating habits.

It's worth a try — because there's nothing to lose and a lot to gain.

HOW WE AGE
Aging — as opposed to youth — is a process which begins at birth.

Each moment, each day, each year you become "older" — and for a time this is an improvement.

You never regard getting older to be a misfortune when you are 12 — in fact, you can hardly wait.

It is only when you feel yourself slipping past the zenith that getting older is a calamity.

It is then that every year brings on more symptoms of "old age" — and usually they are of our own making.

Though it may be hard to believe — it is not necessary for you to become "old" at 45, 55, 65 or more.

Professor Oscar E. Schotte of Amherst College tells us that our body possesses the seed of perpetual life. This keeps it in good repair — if we see to it that it is fed the proper elements for the repairing process to function uninterruptedly.

Why then are so many of us misfed, underfed, and yes — malnourished?

There is only one answer. And that is a lack of understanding of the nature of sound nutrition.

The two sentences that follow can be your foundation of new understanding.

Read them twice. Memorize them. Think of them whenever you sit down to eat.

RULES FOR EATING

They can help you add years to your life and, what is even more important — life and vitality to those years. Here they are:

1. If you want to live longer — and to keep the body in good working order — you must eat more of the foods rich in protein, vitamins, and minerals. Foods like meat, fish, eggs, fruits, salads, and lightly cooked vegetables.

2. And you must eat less of the high starch foods — like breads, cakes, excess sugars, candies, etc. They may tickle and appease the appetite — but give your body nothing for needed repairs.

With some variations which I shall explain as we go along, it's almost as simple as that for you to maintain health and live a lot longer than you may have thought possible.

If you get plenty of tissue building and hormone stimulating foods in your diet, your body chemistry will be kept in good balance.

It goes without saying that your body's chemistry cannot make the right materials unless it gets the right foods to work on.

The wonderful thing about your body is that, under ideal conditions it can rush to the defense of some injured or worn out part and make needed repairs — quickly. If it has the proper substances with which to do it.

That's where the right kind of foods come in. They help the chemical laboratory within your body to be in good working order.

THE HOUSE YOU LIVE IN
Your body is the house you live in — but, unfortunately, you can't move out of it if you have allowed it to look shabby and worn.

Today much emphasis is placed on outward appearance. For that reason you must not allow your body to look old before its years — and it does not have to. Again, regardless of what the calendar may say.

How often have you seen houses perhaps a hundred or more years old that still look good, are structurally sound?

While others, perhaps half as old, are already falling apart?

It is a matter of the care and attention they were given.

Good health and a youthful feeling must come from within. If you are underfed, or misfed, then you may be sure you cannot look your best.

It is the nutritional pauper who very early loses his glow of vitality. And vitality is the real light of youth in the window of the house you live in.

If you feel you are slipping past that peak of former youthful power, you may be sure something is wrong with your body's chemistry.

If you aren't feeling as fit as you'd like, it is quite possible you are throwing the best food down the drain — instead of giving it to your body's chemistry.

Unwittingly, you may be undoing the forces that can protect your youth and life.

Pacemaker Recall Databank Opens

The Nation's First Pacemaker Recall Databank has opened in Orlando. The purpose of the Databank is to keep the hundreds of thousands of people with implanted pacemakers informed of heart pacemakers that have been recalled by the FDA (Food and Drug Administration).

The Databank will also inform the public, as well as doctors and hospitals of pacemaker advisories that would indicate malfunctioning pacemakers that might be recalled at later dates. The public will not be charged for this service.

The Databank is subsidized by thousands of physicians and hospitals who will be subscribing to a constant real update service. According to the Databank, there has been an extraordinarily high incidence of Pacemaker failure through the years and there has been no sign of it subsiding. National WATS Lines are soon to be installed, and phone numbers will be made available at a later date.

Treat Yourself To A Worldwide Culinary Excursion

Cool weather months are great for entertaining, with foreign dishes among the most popular to serve. It's also a time when many are battling to lose the weight they've gained during the end-of-the-year festivities. It's especially difficult to shed those unwanted pounds when family and friends are enjoying the hearty pastas and sauces so often found in ethnic cuisines. But winter and spring offer excellent supplies of two western produce favorites that are ideal for battling those unwanted bulges...fresh citrus and iceberg lettuce. These produce favorites are low in calories. They also add freshness and pizzazz to today's popular foreign cuisines, with Chinese, Italian, and Mexican topping the list.

Remember it is no longer necessary to forego the flavors of three far-flung countries while trying to reduce one's calories. The exotic flavors, colors, and textures of these diverse cultures star in a trio of lighter and leaner salads. Each recipe starts with plenty of crunchy iceberg lettuce and fresh citrus...juicy oranges, lemons, tangerines, and grapefruit from California-Arizona...all are naturally low in calories, fat, and sodium, but high in flavor and important nutrients.

Now is the perfect time to treat yourself to a worldwide culinary excursion. Throughout the months ahead, California iceberg lettuce and fresh citrus from the West will be in peak season. The compatible duo can star in these and many other nutritious meals. Even those not trying to slim down will find a light and lean diet is a healthy choice.

Oregano salads are no longer only specialties of ethnic restaurants. "Oriental Salad for Two" features fresh snow peas, bean sprouts, and cooked shrimp or chicken, tossed with shredded iceberg lettuce and tangy grapefruit sections. The fresh lemon and sesame seed dressing is made with mild soy sauce and no oil — scaling down fat, calories, and sodium, but leaving abundant flavor.

"California-Style Antipasto" abounds with bold and zesty flavors. Orange cartwheel slices, red onion rings, waffle-cut zucchini rounds, sliced mushrooms, and other nutritious foods are artfully assembled on a lettuce-lined platter. The tangy marinade, a blend of fresh lemon juice, oil, and Italian herbs, adds authentic flavor to this hearty buffet salad.

Anyone craving a taste of Mexico will surely enjoy the "Western Tostada Salad." This entree salad for four owes its characteristic flavor to a blend of cumin and cinnamon. Fresh orange slices, chunks of iceberg lettuce, green onions, ripe olives, avocado slices, and cooked chicken give this south-of-the-border specialty a cool, crisp taste.

CALIFORNIA STYLE ANTIPASTO WITH ZESTY HERBED MARINADE

Zesty Herbed Marinade:

- 1/2 cup salad oil
- Grated peel of 1 fresh lemon
- Juice of 1 1/2 fresh lemons (4 to 5 tablespoons)
- 1/4 cup finely chopped green onions
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1/2 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon tarragon leaves, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1 medium clove garlic, minced

Antipasto:

- 3 California-Arizona oranges, peeled, cut in cartwheels
- 1/2 pound Brussels sprouts, cut in half, cooked, drained
- 2 cups thickly sliced mushrooms (about 1/2 pound)
- 1 medium to large zucchini, diagonally sliced or waffled cut
- 1 small to medium red onion, thinly sliced
- California iceberg lettuce leaves
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, cut in wedges

Zesty Herbed Marinade:

In jar with lid, combine marinade ingredients; shake well.

Antipasto:

In large shallow dish, arrange orange cartwheel slices, Brussels sprouts, mushrooms, zucchini and onion in rows. Pour marinade over vegetables and oranges. Chill 1 to 2 hours. To serve, cover large serving platter with iceberg lettuce leaves. In rows, arrange oranges, vegetables and egg wedges. Spoon remaining marinade over oranges and vegetables. Makes 8 appetizer servings.

Note: Other vegetables may be added and/or substituted.

- 1 medium cucumber, scored, sliced
- 2 cups cauliflowerets

Note: About 133 calories per serving. About 98 mg. sodium per serving.

ORIENTAL SALAD FOR TWO WITH FRESH LEMON SESAME DRESSING

Oriental Salad:

- 1 head California iceberg lettuce, cored, rinsed, drained
- 1/2 cups fresh bean sprouts
- 1 cup snow peas (Chinese pea pods) or 1/2 small green pepper, sliced*

- 1 can (4 1/2 ounces dr. wt.) medium shrimp, drained, rinsed or 1 cup cubed cooked chicken
- 1 California-Arizona grapefruit, peeled, sectioned

Fresh Lemon Sesame Dressing:

- 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine
- 1 teaspoon cold water
- 2 tablespoons boiling water
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- grated peel of 1/2 fresh lemon
- Juice of 1 fresh lemon
- 1 tablespoon toasted sesame seed
- 1 teaspoon milder soy sauce (salt reduced)
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 small clove garlic, minced

Oriental Salad:

Separate two lettuce leaves from head; cover and chill. Shred enough remaining lettuce to measure 2 cups. In bowl, combine shredded lettuce with remaining salad ingredients; cover and chill. Meanwhile, make dressing. To serve, toss chilled salad with room temperature dressing (gelatine acts as thickener to "glaze" salad, in place of oil). Place lettuce leaves in individual salad bowls and spoon salad into each. Makes 2 entree salads.

Fresh Lemon Sesame Dressing:

In jar with lid, soften gelatine in cold water. Add boiling water and sugar; cover and shake to dissolve gelatine and sugar. Add remaining dressing ingredients; shake well. Cool to room temperature and toss with chilled salad. Makes about 1/2 cup dressing.

*Note: Blanch snow peas or green pepper slices in boiling water one minute; then chill in cold water.

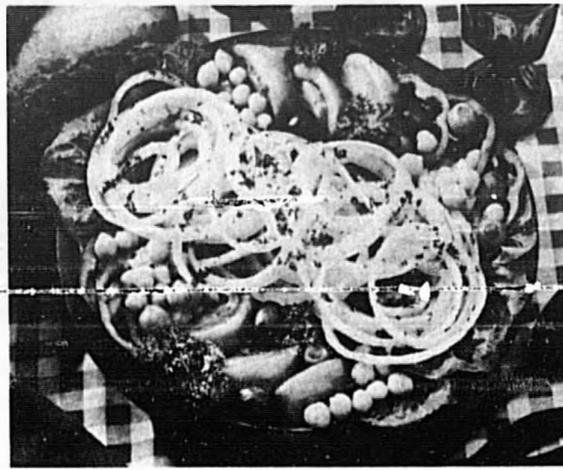

Note: About 293 calories per serving (shrimp and snow peas).

About 254 calories per serving (shrimp and green pepper).

About 352 calories per serving (chicken and snow peas).

ITALIAN ONION SALAD

- 1 large sweet Spanish onion (3 cups onion rings)
- 1 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1/4 teaspoon

(Italian Orange Salad)

On crisp leaves of iceberg lettuce, arrange slices of peeled California-Arizona navel oranges. Sprinkle with fresh ground black pepper and a few slices of pitted ripe olives; drizzle with olive oil to taste.

Tropical Fruit Salad

For a touch of the tropics, arrange an assortment of sliced fresh fruits...apples, bananas, pears, oranges, and grapefruit...in California iceberg lettuce cups. Top with a dollop of low fat pina colada yogurt. To prevent fruit from darkening, sprinkle cut apples, pears, and bananas with fresh lemon juice.

Champignons en Citronnette (French Lemon Mushrooms)

Marinate sliced fresh mushrooms in low calorie French dressing, spiced with a squeeze of fresh lemon juice. Spoon onto crisp iceberg lettuce leaves; sprinkle with chopped parsley.

HOT CAPON SALAD WITH CREAM OF CURRY DRESSING

- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup chopped onion

Cookie Cake

Easter Is Just Around The Corner; Nutritious Dessert Sure To Please

Mr. Webster defines "cookie" as a thin, crisp cake, usually sugared or spiced and cut in fancy circular shapes before baking.

What a broad, matter-of-fact description of one of life's delights — those adorable, traditional, edible tidbits that have been enjoyed for centuries. And with Easter just around the corner! It's positively sacrilegious!

Cookies, which started out in life as "biscocetus" (Latin), have never been as popular as they are now. By professional baker and amateur alike (including multitudes of children) they're being made in all shapes and sizes and are being eagerly devoured. Why some shops which sell nothing else have popped up in some of our larger cities.

Probably because they are relatively easy to make, cookies are extremely popular and, of course, they supply virtually instant gratification. They come in a thousand varieties, from gingerbread to toll house, and with many names — crackers, tablets, wafers, tarts, biscuits and what-not.

In Holland they call them "koekjes." In Spain they're known as "galletas." In France they answer to "pâtisseries." The Italians refer to them as "biscotti," but anywhere in the world cookies conjure fond memories of a warm inviting kitchen and the delicious aroma of spices, fruits and nuts.

The cookie has even worked itself into common slang. For example: "smart cookie," "tough cookie," "that's how the cookie crumbles," and the nickname, "Cookie."

Called the "festive form of bread," cookies first made their appearance with primitive man as offerings to pagan gods. They were the poor man's substitute for the live animals and fresh foods usually sacrificed to their deities. The early custom of scratching symbols and designs on the surface of the cakes was the basis for the elaborate forms, decorations, and pictures that made the cookies and breads of Germany and Switzerland famous, especially at feasts.

Easter is considered the principal Christian feast day of the year. There is a natural blending of the ancient customs and symbols of Spring with the religious significance of the Resurrection. This year we celebrate it unusually late, April 22, which is the Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

Symbols of Easter are the lily, the lamb, the rabbit and the chicken. Some places prepare baked goods in the shape of a lamb or rabbit, or small chick.

For Easter 1984, Grandma's Molasses suggests something different — a giant gingerbread cookie cake filled with such nutritious and tasty ingredients as oats, dates, nuts and apple sauce. It is sure to please the holiday influx when it's time for dessert come Easter Sunday.

And for the Home Ec "whiz kids" who like to help (?) Mom in the kitchen, what better project than a gingerbread bunny and chick? They're easy to cut and bake and they lend themselves to lovely frosting decorations. Perhaps you might like to try these recipes.

EASTER COOKIE CAKE

- ¾ cup of butter or margarine, at room temperature
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- ½ cup unsulphured molasses
- 2½ cups of unsifted all purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup Applesauce
- 1½ cups quick or old-fashioned oats
- 1 package (6 ounces) chocolate chips
- 1 cup chopped dates
- ½ cup coarsely chopped pecans

Prepare cardboard base: Cut a circle, sixteen-inches in diameter, from sturdy cardboard. Cover both sides of cardboard with heavy duty foil. Lightly grease one side. Place base on cookie sheet for easy handling. Prepare cookie batter. In large bowl cream butter with sugar. Beat in egg and molasses. Mix together flour, cinnamon, baking soda and salt. Add to molasses mixture alternately with apple sauce. Stir in oats, chocolate chips, dates and pecans. Spoon 4-cup batter onto prepared base, spreading evenly to ½ inch from edge. (Reserve remaining batter for Bonus Cookies below). Bake in a 375 degree F oven 20 to 25 minutes Cool completely. Decorate in desired fashion with Ornamental Frosting*.

Bonus Cookies: Drop remaining batter by heaping tablespoonsfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Spread into 2½ inch circles. Bake in a 375 degree F oven 8 to 10 minutes. Yield: twelve 3-inch bonus cookies.

Ornamental Frosting

- 1 ¼ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 egg white
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla

Sift together confectioners' sugar, cream of tartar. Add egg white and vanilla. Beat with rotary or electric beater until frosting holds its shape. Cover with damp cloth until ready to use. If frosting is not stiff enough for decorating, add a little more confectioners' sugar.

To Make Colors: Use vegetable dyes and follow instructions, using small batches of frosting for each color.

BUNNY AND CHICK GINGERBREAD COOKIES

- ½ cup shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup unsulphured molasses
- 1 egg separated
- 2 cups all purpose flour, sifted
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon cloves, ground
- 1 ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg

Cream together shortening, sugar and molasses. Add egg yolk. Mix well. (Reserve egg white for frosting). Sift together flour, salt, baking soda, baking powder and spices. Stir in flour mixture. Mix well. Chill. To Make Bunny and Chick Gingerbread Cookies: Roll out portion of the dough, ¼ inch thick on lightly floured board. Keep remaining dough chilled. Use outline of bunny or chick as shown in picture (line drawing) or make your own outline using a cardboard as model.

Bunny outline should yield about 8 to 10 cookies, chick outline 10 to 12 cookies. Bake in 350 degree F oven for 8-10 minutes. Cool.

To Decorate: Use recipe for Ornamental Frosting as given for Easter Cookie Cake, or decorate with nuts, raisins, shredded coconut or small candies.

TENNESSEE HAM

- 1 ham, cured
- 4 cups of water
- 1 cup of unsulphured molasses
- 1 ½ cups of brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon of cream cloves

Preheat oven to 225 degrees F. Place ham in large roasting pan, rind sidedown, add water and Grandma's Unsulphured Molasses. Bake, allowing 15 minutes per pound. Cool ham in liquid. Remove rind carefully. Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. Mix brown sugar and cream to make a paste, rub evenly over ham. Score ham and place a clove in each square. Bake for 1 hour.

You've come a long way, Cookie. And it's a smart cookie who will prepare this tasty Easter Cookie Cake, chock full of goodness including oats, dates, nuts and apple sauce

Brunch Specialties Paired-Down For A Twosome

A simple breakfast is fine for hectic weekday mornings, but the weekend deserves something special. While omelets and French toast are easy to prepare for one or two, quiche, pancakes and other large-scale breakfast specialties can be paired-down for a twosome.

Breakfast and brunch menus are similar but the latter are heartier and served later in the day. For both, chilled fruit juice or seasonal fresh fruit is always a welcome beginning. Small cans of juice are sized just right for one and two and can be stored on the cupboard shelf. Oranges, grapefruit, apples, small melons, papaya, peaches and other fruits which are sold by the piece are great fresh fruit choices.

Main dishes can be simple or elaborate as the occasion warrants. Economical eggs are one of the most versatile choices because they can be prepared in many creative ways. Spinach Mushroom Quiche, for example, is a contemporary variation of the classic. Refrigerated buttermilk biscuits replace the traditional pastry shell. The savory filling pairs Kraft sharp natural cheddar cheese with fresh mushrooms and spinach. Both of these favorites are generally sold in packages too large for one meal for a twosome. However, both can be stored in their original containers in the vegetable crisper for as long as a week. Wait to clean the produce until just before use. Then, cook the spinach until tender, about 3 to 5 minutes. There's no need to add water to the sautépan as the moisture which clings to the leaves is sufficient. For best results, drain spinach well before adding to the filling mixture.

SPINACH MUSHROOM QUICHE

- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese
 - 1 tablespoon flour
 - 1 cup mushroom slices
 - 1/2 cup cooked fresh spinach, well drained, chopped
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 2 eggs, beaten
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - Dash of pepper
 - 1 5-oz. can refrigerated buttermilk flaky biscuits
- Toss cheese with flour. Add mushrooms, spinach, milk, eggs and seasonings; mix well. Press biscuits over bottom and sides of two 6-inch quiche dishes to form shell. Pour half of cheese mixture into each shell. Bake at 350°, 25 to 30 minutes or until set. Let stand 5 minutes before serving, 2 servings.

Variation: Substitute 4-oz. can refrigerated quick crescent dinner rolls for buttermilk biscuits. Accompany the quiche with crisp bacon. Store the extra bacon in the refrigerator or freeze for longer storage. Removing one or two servings will be simpler if you repackage the bacon first. Start by cutting bacon strips in half crosswise. Then, stack four half strips on the edge of a piece of aluminum foil or plastic wrap. Fold bacon and foil over and repeat as many times as needed. Fold in the edges of the foil and seal in a plastic bag. At breakfast time, simply snap off the number of servings you need. When tightly wrapped, bacon can be frozen up to a month.

If Eggs Benedict are a favorite, you're sure to enjoy Brunch Florentine. Lightly toasted English muffin halves topped with poached eggs are only the beginning. Topping both is a rich and creamy mixture of Miracle Whip salad dressing, grated parmesan cheese and chopped spinach. Miracle Whip salad dressing takes all of the guesswork out of sauce making while adding its own distinctive flavor.

BRUNCH FLORENTINE

- 1/4 cup Miracle Whip salad dressing
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - Dash of salt and pepper
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1/2 cup cooked fresh spinach, well drained, chopped
 - 1/4 cup (1 oz.) Kraft grated parmesan cheese
 - 1 English muffin, split, toasted
 - 2 eggs, poached
- Combine salad dressing, flour and seasonings; gradually add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat until thickened. Stir in spinach and cheese. For each serving, top muffin halves with eggs and spinach mixture. Sprinkle with additional parmesan cheese. 2 servings.

Use the remaining fresh spinach and mushrooms to create a wholesome spinach salad. Crisp Spinach Salad can be served as a brunch accompaniment or light main dish. Wash spinach carefully in several changes of cold water and drain well on paper toweling. For a change of pace, toss salad ingredients with heated Italian dressing

Sandwiches Make Well-Rounded Meal

Sandwiches for school or the office can be quite inventive. All kinds of inexpensive containers and coolers for hot soups and entrees are available if you want to take along something extra special.

A tropical croissant stuffed with a chicken, pineapple and peanut mixture makes a good lunch or weekend snack. Another special sandwich combine chicken, ham, cucumber and alfalfa sprouts.

Both of these sandwiches offer a well-rounded lunch and are easy to prepare.

Keep them in mind for spring and summer hiking or biking trips.

TROPICAL CROISSANT

- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
- 1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple drained
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons coarsely chopped peanuts
- 1 can (5 ounces) chunk chicken or chunk white chicken
- 4 croissants or other rolls
- Leaf lettuce

In medium bowl, blend cream cheese and mayonnaise until smooth. Add pineapple, celery and peanuts; mix well. Add chicken; toss gently to mix well. Cover; refrigerate 2 to 4 hours.

To serve: split croissants in half lengthwise. On bottom halves, arrange leaf lettuce and about 1/2 cup filling; replace top halves. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 sandwiches.

CONTINENTAL DELUXE SANDWICH

- 1 can (5 ounces) chunk chicken or chunk white chicken
- 1/2 cup chopped cucumber
- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
- 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed, crushed
- 2 hamburger buns or other rolls
- Spinach leaves
- 2 slices ham (about 2 ounces)
- Cucumber slices
- Alfalfa sprouts

In medium bowl, combine chicken, chopped cucumber, mayonnaise and dill weed; toss gently to mix well. Cover; refrigerate 2 to 4 hours.

To serve: On bottom halves of hamburger buns (toasted if desired), arrange spinach leaves, ham slices and chicken filling. Garnish with cucumber slices and alfalfa sprouts; replace top halves. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 sandwiches.

and serve immediately. Hot or cold, the flavorful mixture of herbs, spices, red bell peppers, onions and garlic adds a zesty flavor as good as homemade.

CRISP SPINACH SALAD

- 2 cups torn spinach
 - 1/2 cup quartered mushrooms
 - 3 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled
 - 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped Italian or golden caesar dressing
- Combine spinach, mushrooms, bacon, egg and enough dressing to moisten; toss lightly. 2 servings.

Round out the menu with a hot bread and beverage. English muffins, sliced variety breads, croissants and individual French rolls are sized just right. Bread can be removed from the freezer a slice at a time, while English muffins can be split before freezing for faster toasting later. Keep soft cream cheese, margarine and an assortment of fruit preserves on hand for spreading. Last but not least, serve mugs of fragrant coffee, tea or hot chocolate.

Salad dressing is the base of rich, creamy sauce in Brunch Florentine, a delicious treat for two

Microwave Magic Companion Vegetable Cookery

Nothing can cook vegetables any better than your microwave oven. Little water, no fat (butter or margarine), and no salt is needed to microwave vegetables. Microwave them at 100% power, covered and keep covered during the standing time. Fresh vegetables need approximately 6-8 minutes cooking time per pound. For best results, consult the manual that came with your microwave oven for cooking and standing times.

When prepared properly, the vegetables will have beautiful intense color, will be fork tender, and retain most of their nutritional value.

Vegetables can be prepared singly or in combinations. Now is a good time to serve those vegetables which are in good supply. Best among those vegetables are broccoli, brussel sprouts, cauliflower, winter squash, and carrots. Cabbage is usually listed in this group, but because of this year's early freeze, the supply is somewhat short and the cost is almost prohibitive.

This combination is pleasing in color and taste.

BROCCOLI AND CAULIFLOWER WITH MUSTARD SAUCE

- 2 cups fresh broccoli flowerets
- 2 cups fresh cauliflowererets
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole Community College

1/4 teaspoon salt

Combine broccoli and cauliflower in shallow baking dish. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 8-11 minutes or until tender. Drain and set aside.

In a 2-cup measure blend remaining ingredients. Microwave at 100% power for 2-3 minutes or until thickened. Stir every minute. Pour over vegetables and toss to coat.

Broccoli combines well with several other vegetables. Try different ones. If your family likes broccoli, they probably will enjoy it in all of the combinations.

BROCCOLI AND TOMATOES ITALIAN

- 4 cups fresh broccoli flowerets
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 2 medium tomatoes, cut into wedges
- 1/2 cup shredded mozzarella cheese

Place broccoli and water in a 2-quart casserole; cover. Microwave at 100% power for 5-8 minutes or until fork tender. Drain. Stir in seasonings and tomatoes. Microwave, uncovered, at 100% power for 2-4 minutes or until tomatoes are hot. Sprinkle with cheese. Microwave at 100% power for 1 minute or until cheese melts.

Carrots are a good buy anytime. This is an especially good way to prepare them.

COMPANY CARROTS

- 2 cups thinly sliced carrots
- 2 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon granular
- 2 tablespoons hot water
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon chopped chives
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Place carrots in a 2-quart shallow casserole. In a 2-cup measure combine bouillon, water, sugar, and seasonings. Pour over carrots. Coat well. Microwave at 100% power for 5-8 minutes or until fork tender. Stir at least once during cooking.

Prepare this recipe as part of a complete oriental meal or as the vegetable that accompanies a meat or as the vegetable that accompanies a meat dish.

ORIENTAL CAULIFLOWER

- 1 small head cauliflower — break into flowerets
- 1/2 cup frozen peas
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon white wine
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 4 ounces sliced fresh mushrooms

Combine cauliflower, frozen peas, and water in a 1-quart casserole; cover. Microwave at 100% power for 5-8 minutes or until cauliflower is fork tender. Let stand, covered, for 2-3 minutes.

In a 2-cup measure, combine soy sauce, lemon juice, wine and ginger. Microwave at 100% power for 45-60 seconds or until boiling. Stir in mushrooms. Drain cauliflower and peas. Add sauce mixture; coat vegetables well. Cover and microwave at 100% power for 1-2 minutes or until mushrooms are tender.
