Kidnap Mystery Which Began Jan. 17 Ends As Federal Officer Announces Finding

ST. PAUL, Feb. 8.—(A.P.)—Ransomed with the announced amount of money, Edward Bremer was home today after a 23 day imprisonment in an unlocated hide-out.

Wounds about the head, suffered when he was spirited away by a gang, were healed. Dr. Joseph Sprafka said, though the victim was weak, exhausted, and "very, very nervous," Dr. Sprafka was summoned soon after the son of Adolph Bremer, wealthy brewer, returned home after being thrown out on a highway near or at Rochester, Minn., last night. He was released by three members of a gang of (Continued on Page Four)

Five Railroads Report Increase In Incomes

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 8.—(AP)—An increase in net railway operating income of $18,268,000 in 1933 as compared to the preceding year was shown for five principal railroads of the Southeast in a statement furnished to the United States district court here by receivers of the Seaboard Air Line railway.

The five roads—the Seaboard Air Line, the Atlantic Coast Line, the Southern, the Florida East Coast and the Central of Georgia—showed net operating income in 1933 of $22,675,000, as compared with $4,100,000 in 1932.

The statement showed that the operating revenues for the five roads last year was $184,481,000, an increase of only $2,321,000 over the preceding year.

The large increase in net incomes as compared with the net revenues is reflected in the decrease in operating expenses, for the five roads were cut by $12,180,000 for the five roads in 1933 under the 1932 figures.

Copies Of Celery Pact Available At City Hall

Sanford celery growers and shippers who wish to give closer study to the celery marketing agreement which is being proposed for the industry may secure a copy of the tentative agreement by calling at the Chamber of Commerce office in the City Hall at any time. They are free to the public.

A supply of copies of the agreement was received this morning by J. C. Hutchison, sales manager for the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers, who at once sent them to the trade body office. Mr. Hutchison pointed out that the principal features of the proposed pact are the articles dealing with how the control committee is to be selected, and how celery shipments are to be prorated.

Gasoline Firm Quits Opposition To Code

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(A.P.)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey withdrew last night from its first major battle with the oil administration over provisions of the oil code.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard of New Jersey, informed Secretary Ickes his company had discontinued its boys' prize contest against which the government was seeking an injunction on the grounds it violated the oil code's prohibition of premiums.

"In the contest, known as the 'Babe Ruth' radio contest, baseball equipment and 50 free trips were offered by the company as prize for children turning into filling stations a required number of slips signed by adults."

CONGRESS TIED UP WITH STUDY OF CWA RELIEF

Compulsory Action To Lower Surpluses On Farms Gets Support Of Administration

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(A.P.)—A change from voluntary to compulsory action for a reduction of agricultural surpluses took firmer shape today in the Administration policy while the CWA embroiled Congress.

The Hayden amendment to provide a limited workmen's compensation for the 4,000,000 CWA employees was put off for a time for a Senate vote on the bill itself.

The momentum which swept the $250,000,000 appropriation bill for relief and civil works through the House blew itself out in the Senate yesterday before a demand for liberalization of the measure.

A day of inconclusive debate began before the bill was formally brought before the Senate with Republican charges of "graft" and "pork-barrel," but Administration leaders predicted the measure would reach a vote today.

There appeared to be no doubt about its passage as even the most severe critics would not commit themselves against it.

MAITLAND MAN IS MURDERED WHILE PICKING CITRUS

MAITLAND, Feb. 8.—Carl Thompkins, 33, grove owner of Maitland, was shot and fatally wounded early last night by an unknown assailant a few minutes after he had entered the grove in back of his house presumably to pick tangerines.

The shooting, which occurred at 7:00 o'clock, was heard by neighbors and came shortly before Mr. Thompkins planned to attend a party with his wife at the home of Forest Stone, a neighbor.

The bullet entered Mr. Thompkins' left side in the region of the heart. He ran to the home of Mr. Stone, a distance of about 50 yards calling out that he was shot and to call for a doctor. When he entered the living room of the Stone home he collapsed on the floor and died a few seconds after A. W. Clark, a neighbor, who ran to his assistance, lifted him to a sofa.

Both Seminole and Orange county officers were called on the case and a coroner's jury was impaneled to view the body.

Coroner's jury, headed by J. C. Roberts of Sanford, and composed of A. H. Fuller, H. E. Fuller, H. C. Tyler, R. C. Livingston, A. E. Cline and Ray Butler, examined the wound, then adjourned the inquest until Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock in Sanford.

Cuban Groups Fail To Rally For Big Strike

HAVANA, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A 24-hour "general strike" called by the Communist confederation of labor was only partly successful yesterday, and last night it appeared the firm policies of the Mendizola government had served to stave labor agitation for the present.

Few of the unions affiliated to the confederation answered the call of its Communist leaders. Although these were port workers, including stevedores, ferrymen, and truck drivers.

The strike in the harbor, however, was broken yesterday when shipping companies, working together with Port Captain Alejandro Butari, employed out-of-town labor to work "for the duration" of the strike.

J. C. Hutchison Sees Proposed Celery Marketing Pact As Guarantee Of Fair Return

The proposed celery marketing agreement which is expected to be aired at a public hearing somewhere in Florida within the next 10 days will, if approved, permit every celery grower in Florida to make a fair return on his investment year after year, in the opinion of J. C. Hutchison, sales manager for the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers, Inc.

As executive manager of the largest and oldest co-operative marketing association handling miscellaneous vegetables in Florida, Mr. Hutchison's contacts for the firm since 1919 have brought him into the limelight as an outstanding expert on all problems associated with the celery and vegetable industry.

Mr. Hutchison has been a leader in the movement to place the celery industry of the nation under a workable marketing agreement which has federal sponsorship.

On behalf of the organization which he represents, he was one of the first of the shippers' representatives to sign a petition appealing that Secretary Wallace order a public hearing on the agreement held at once with a view of placing the industry under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

His statement in support of the proposed agreement is as follows: "The marketing agreement that certain shippers and growers are endeavoring to perfect for the Florida celery industry is highly desirable in that it makes possible the formation of a control committee with authority to regulate (Continued on Page Two)

FAGG MOVES TO PREVENT GRAFT IN CWA PROGRAM

ADMINISTRATOR WARNS COUNTY COUNCILS HE EXPECTS THEIR HELP

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 8.—(A.P.)—Marcus C. Fagg yesterday moved to prevent "graft, corruption, nepotism, wrong doing or improper political influence" in Civil Works and Emergency Relief programs in Florida.

"I have been told," Fagg, executive officer for the State Civil Works Administration and the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, would county councils, "that there is less graft, corruption, wrong doing and improper political influence in Florida than in many other states, but I am aware there is altogether too much greed, too much nepotism, and too many counties in which there are unfortunate political influences that are holding Florida back from making the fine record that I am determined we will make in these great Civil Works Administration and Federal Emergency Relief Administration programs."

Stocks Have Sharpest Reaction Since Oct. 30

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The sweeping advance of the past several weeks in American stocks and bonds was interrupted by a sharp setback yesterday.

The reaction in stocks was the sharpest since Oct. 30, and corporation bonds, which had been experiencing one of the most striking recoveries in the history of the New York market, registered the most pronounced reaction since September.

While there was some inclination in Wall Street to link this selling with the grave political crisis in France, most brokers pointed out that the markets had been growing increasingly wobbly since the start of the week. It was felt that the protracted advance had left the securities markets topheavy, and some correction of their technical position was to have been expected.

Rotarians, Kiwanians Hear DeCottles, Herring Lecture On John Marshall

John Marshall, said to be the most famous of American jurists and a Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court for 34 years, was the subject of brief addresses delivered before members of the Sanford Rotary Club and the Sanford Kiwanis Club at their meetings this week.

Rotarians meeting Tuesday at the Vukira Hotel, heard George A. DeCottles, local attorney, in an address which was devoted to an expansion of the statement that John Marshall was the greatest constitutional jurist ever known to the United States.

Mr. DeCottles stressed the fact that because of Marshall's great learning, his masterful power of analysis and clearness of statement, he had dominated the Court for 34 years to earn an undying place on the supreme bench, mark a turning point in his life, and an epoch in the legal and constitutional history of the nation.

During the meeting, President Russell Mason announced that Kiwanis Education Week, starting next Monday, would be observed during chapel exercises at Semple High School where members of the club will deliver 16 minutes vocational talks each day of the week.

S. E. Andrews was welcomed into the club by Kiwanian Julius Dingfelder as the "baby" member. Announcement also was made that the Club will join the Women's Club in the presentation of a musical production "The Rose Maiden" on Friday night, Feb. 23.

MONOPOLY IS CHARGED TO RAYON FIRMS

Federal Trade Group Issued 1st Formal Indictment Of Concern Using NRA Code

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(A.P.)—The first formal charge of monopoly against an industry operating under an NRA code was filed yesterday by the Federal Trade Commission against ten companies that produce the bulk of rayon in this country.

The commission charged that these ten companies entered into an agreement in October, 1931, to eliminate price competition among themselves and "have since carried out and are still carrying out" this agreement.

Not only, the commission charged, did the companies fix prices so as to form a monopoly, but they forced the fixing of prices of rayon cloth by knitters who had purchased the yarn from the ten respondent companies.

The effect of the industry's NRA code on the complaint or on the further disposition of the case was not discussed by the commission.

It was said authoritatively, however, that codification would constitute no defense, and that the present charges were the result of investigations covering periods before NRA officials previously have stated that monopolies were not permitted under a code.

The commission's complaint said they had "unreasonably restrained interstate commerce."

Franc, French Bond Rally In Principal Markets Of World

The prospect that former President Doumergue might be able to set up a strong government in France and successfully bridge the political crisis prompted a sharp rise in French francs and a recovery in French bonds in principal world markets today.

The dollar closed lower in Paris to the equivalent of 64 1/2 cents to the franc and in New York the franc later rose to 6 1/2, the closest it has come to the parity of the devalued dollar. The dollar held steady in London but the pound strengthened in New York.

The selling wave which swept through the American securities markets yesterday tended to subside.

Dean Attorneys Claim Kennedy Was Suicide

GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Attorneys for Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, on trial for murder for the alleged poison death of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, yesterday laid testimony before the jury that Dr. Kennedy had once been ill from an overdose of drugs several months prior to his fatal illness.

Still hotly hunting at a suicide theory to rebut the state charge that Dr. Dean gave Dr. Kennedy, who was on the stand during a midnight meeting at his clinic, the defense sought as well to show the dead physician was a "drinking man," but this was repeatedly denied by the state's star witness, Dr. Henry Kennedy, who was on the stand for the second straight day yesterday.

Doumergue Said To Have Ended Paris' 2 Days Of Rioting

PARIS, Feb. 8.—(A.P.)—Premier-designate Gaston Doumergue, whose new cabinet may be formed tonight, seemed today to have ended Paris' two days of rioting and terror.

The 71-year-old former president took only 15 minutes to tell President Albert Lebrun what he meant to do. Then he immediately started to carry out his program.

On all sides it is freely admitted that France was close to civil war and revolution in the bitter fighting between the rioters and the mounted guards which swept Paris.

Today re-inforced bands of laborers went to work cleaning up the debris left of last night's conflict. The riot dead were counted at 12 and the injured and wounded into the thousands.

Prevalence of the trouble is expected to be greater this spring in the grove areas where little rain has fallen during the winter months.

Control measures of an efficient type are the objective of investigations and experiments now under way. In this effort, experiment station workers have cooperation from the United States department of agriculture.

WEEKLY YEAR FOR TODAY

THE FEAST OF HARMONY: Better is a dry morsel, and quietness therewith, than a house full of sacrifices with strife.—Proverbs 17:1.

BE IT REMEMBERED

So the year goes out with an ugly tale

Of pact and pledge forsaken, Of a Conference met without avail, And a League decreed and shaken;

And our only safety is that which comes From guns of longer range, And it isn't the moment to clear the slums

Or the barriers to exchange, Yet Hitler's homage to peace was paid

In echoing words and routing, And Buncekin prated of helping trade,

And Hilton Young of housing; And the French declare they would fain disarm,

And the Fascists denounce intrigue, And Simon has promised to find a charm

For strengthening the League, Then, if ever our statesmen should turn aside

From their "rows and revolutions" To humble their hearts and physic their pride

With New Year resolutions, We will pardon their follies and quit their score

When they've pledged upon headed knees To doing the things in thirty-four

That they talked of in thirty-three. By MacFlecknoe.

Add similes as popular as a president in Cuba.

You seldom get stuck with a girl that you are stuck on

We have been having a bull market in Wall Street lately but it's the price of beef that's got the Administration worried.

Paul Mellon says that F.D.R.'s chief ambition is to have Teddy Roosevelt go down in history as his fifth cousin.

Congressmen are becoming more independent. The other day one of them voted against an Administration measure.

If J. J. Mendenhall has never been guilty of any wrong, he certainly has the most marvelous aptitude of anybody we ever knew for getting into trouble.

We are delighted that gold is being drained from France to the treasury vaults of this country and we view it as the thought that France, too, may be forced to abandon the gold standard. But we left the gold standard because our dollar was too high in proportion to the value of other world currencies. Now if France leaves gold, her currency will depreciate just as ours did, and the advantage which we gained through devaluation will be lost. If we were right smart we would hope that France might be able to adhere to gold.

Under the terms of the compulsory cotton control bill, did you know that if you own a hundred acres of land in Georgia which has been lying idle for several years, and you have ten thousand dollars of your own money in the bank, you decide that you would like to make your idle acres work for you and would like to invest your idle funds in the production of a cotton crop which would pay the laborers to work the Secretary of Agriculture will let alone you to do it? But if you own a hundred acres that's planted with sorghum and you are unable to finance another crop, will you be able to abandon the compulsory cotton control bill and work for the government?

Gate Crashing

The cities of Miami and Miami Beach had gained enviable reputations for staging financially successful entertainments. Whether horse races, dog races, football games, prize fights, or whatnot, they were always well attended by persons glad to pay the admissions. Probably on this account Miami has been a popular place among the sporting gentry for the holding of first class shows. It paid to do so.

But the Rosenbloom-Knight fight, they say, was a flop. That is, they didn't take in enough money to pay off. It wasn't because the crowd wasn't there. It was. But they didn't pay. Thousands of fans crashed the gate and didn't pay a nickel to see the fight. Exactly 7,257 persons who had bought $1.30 seat tickets climbed the barriers and located themselves in the 3580 seats without troubling themselves to make additional contributions.

Col. Kilpatrick, who managed the affair for Madison Square Garden, says it will not happen again. In making arrangements for the coming Carnet-Loughran bout, he proposes to see to it that no one gets in who doesn't pay, and that no one gets any better seat than he buys. He promises to use wartime tactics in keeping out the gate crashers. He will call upon his A. E. F. experience, when as an army engineer he constructed many a barbed wire entanglement, to aid him now in keeping people where they belong.

We are afraid, however, that the barbed wire will not suffice. While Col. Kilpatrick was gaining his experience in laying barbed wire, thousands of other young men were studying with equal earnestness the most advanced methods of penetrating such entanglements, of climbing over them, through them, and of cutting them. It will not be easy for them to forget so easily the lessons learned from expert teachers during the war.

It would perhaps be more effective for Col. Kilpatrick to be prepared to resort to machine guns and hand grenades, or to conduct an educational campaign along another line. Loud speakers might be brought into play at the proper time in an effort to teach the fans that what was perfectly proper during the war is hardly the right method of gaining entrance to a peace time fight.

If they could be shown that wholesale gate crashing is merely killing the goose that laid the golden eggs, they might come to terms. Most of those men really want to see good fights. Else they would not go to the trouble of crashing the gate. But they cannot expect promoters to continue to provide the shows if the public is not willing to pay the price of admission.

Perhaps some of them could not afford to pay. Then they should stay home. We can understand a riot to get food for hungry mouths, but it is hard to explain the stealing of a ring side seat.

Foreign Born Americans

Something which we must confess has taken us rather by surprise and which we believe will be a new thought to you, is the assertion of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in a recent newspaper article that out of our 120 million Americans, something over 14 million of them are foreign born. Mrs. Roosevelt goes even further and says that in addition at least 20,000,000 Americans are the children of foreign born parents. Altogether that makes some 43,543,522, or at least one-third, of our Americans who are either foreign born, or the children of foreign born parents.

Mrs. Roosevelt explains the tremendous problem which this high percentage of foreign population puts upon our schools and social institutions. In the cities particularly class rooms are found where several different languages are spoken far better than the English language is. Children are being taught to speak English when they hear nothing but Greek, Italian, or Slavic at home. No wonder they are puzzled at what it is all about.

While recognizing that this foreign element has contributed much to American progress, culture, and social development, Mrs. Roosevelt insists that the time has come when it is necessary to think of America as a whole and not as a collection of many isolated communities, some of which are wholly German, Swedish, or Russian. The "Little Italies" of our big cities have got to become Americanized if America is to continue.

"We must be Americans in thought and deed," Mrs. Roosevelt writes. "Their original nationality, as well as their ancestry, may be of tremendous help because they may be able to interpret for us the people of the countries from which they sprang. They must never, however, allow themselves to think except as Americans. It will do no good for our various national groups to face our problems as Germans, as Scandinavians, or as Italians and to continue here the quarrels which may be rending their former countries. That way, nothing but danger lies."

We believe that this is particularly true when we realize that the age old animosities which have kept Europe in constant warfare for hundreds of years still persist. The reports which come from Europe indicate that any day the nationals of one country may be again flying at the throats of the nationals of another. Will the brothers and sisters who live here be able to forget their European ties and remember that now they are Americans?

If not, 43,543,522 persons could have a powerful influence on the future trend of American life.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

T. W. Hansell, former superintendent of the Jacksonville Terminal of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, who has been appointed assistant superintendent of the Jacksonville District of the same road, with headquarters in Sanford, was yesterday the recipient of a handsome gold watch and chain, the presentation being made by Agent L. T. Edwards in behalf of the employees of the Jacksonville freight department of the Atlantic Coast Line.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Biggers, a fine baby boy, Paul may be able to get to work tomorrow but not today.

The Achievements Of A Bankrupt People

(Ed. Note: The following paper was written early in the year 1910 by the late J. N. Whitner, former Sanford resident and writer who was one of the first celery growers in this section. Mr. Whitner delivered many addresses in Florida and other states in the interest of the Sanford celery. It is worth the study of our present celery.)

Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the Sanford development is, that it was conceived and accomplished by people without money and some of them heavily in debt. For, this development of the "Sanford Celery Delta" was the direct result of the freeze of February 1895, which destroyed the orange groves and made all poor. Those who were too poor to leave, or loved Florida too well to desert her, had to turn to new ways of making a living.

The lands where our dead groves stood were practically all the cleared land we had. On them we grew corn, potatoes, peas, beans, and hay, and we began to live, as nearly as possible, at home. Our trucking lands were in the woods, and they had no known value.

It took about a year to get our bearings and begin work, and in five years we had perfected the Sanford system of sub-irrigation and had demonstrated that these trucking lands were the most productive known, not only in crops, but in revenue.

It would be interesting to some people to recount some of these struggles and tell who made them, but in this paper it is sufficient to say, that in the winter of 1896 and 1897, J. E. Pace shipped the first head lettuce from Sanford, and he, B. F. Whitner, Sr., E. S. Harold, and the writer, shipped the first celery.

It may be well to note that at this early date the Sanford flat celery crate was adopted and used, the length of which was determined by the use of old orange sides we had on hand.

In the spring of 1898 we shipped four car loads of celery under refrigeration by the advice, and with the assistance of S. O. Chase.

In February 1899 we had a hard freeze, notwithstanding which, fine celery was made which brought good prices.

Having solved the problem of irrigation, and in a large measure those of plant raising and culture, the progress was more rapid, and others joined the farmers. Notably the lamented Mr. Terwilliger who had been growing tobacco, to whom we are perhaps more indebted than any other for perfecting the sub-irrigation system. A. Robbins, A. McDonald, A. B. Cameron, H. H. Chappell, C. F. Williams, and R. J. King.

With one exception, I think we all started with practically no money. I am well within the limit when I make the assertion that for the next five years, 90 percent of those who joined "the game" came into it in the same financial condition. I venture the further assertion that up to the last two years 75 percent were in the same boat.

Does this mean that this is a rich man's proposition? I don't think so. Celery Avenue from Sanford to the St. John's has been developed by poor men. It is the most famous section of the famous Celery Delta, the traffic on this avenue was so great it became necessary, in record time.

Tampa and return in record time. Coming back from Tampa he made the trip in six hours and 40 minutes, taking the good and bad roads as they happened and any one who has been to Tampa over those roads knows that Stanley and the Overland were going some.

J.C. Hutchison Sees Celery Agreement As Necessary Pact

"Practically every year there is a period during Florida celery shipment when prices are so low that the shipping of celery is unprofitable. During the last three years our market has been low throughout practically all of our shipping season.

"During such periods of low market values, when the quantity of celery available is entirely too much for sale at profitable prices, it is necessary to curtail shipments in order to obtain a fair return for the grower.

"It has been impossible, in the past, to get all the growers and shippers to agree upon a program of curtailment, and likewise it has been impossible to get all growers and shippers to carry out a program of curtailment that was approved by the majority.

"If the proposed marketing agreement is approved by a large majority of growers and shippers of Florida celery, and it is signed by the Secretary of Agriculture, all shippers will be compelled to abide by decisions of the control committee regarding curtailment.

"If this marketing agreement is approved, I believe that it will be possible in the future, to regulate shipments so that growers will not only get their cost of production back, but will also make a fair return on their investments."

"The Sanford-Orlando Truck Growers, Inc. was organized, locally, in 1918 by a small group of prominent growers. At the present time it controls approximately 900 acres of celery set out in the Sanford-Orlando area. During the season of 1923-30, it handled more than 2400 cars of celery and other vegetables.

This means that after growing big money crops in winter, we can use the same land for farm crops and make as much as anywhere else, and after harvesting them have the lands to plant again in the fall. Thus, each acre is worth both the price of farm and truck lands.

Add to this a climate in which man can live out of doors in comfort every day in the year and grow crops and have the conveniences of city life in the country. This makes life in the "Sanford Celery Delta" ideal.

Mrs. Hannah Benson Principal Speaker At Animated Magazine

Mrs. Hannah Benson of New Haven, Conn. was the main speaker at the fourth annual "Animated Magazine" sponsored by the Literature Department of the Sanford Woman's Club which was presented yesterday afternoon at the club house before a large audience with Mrs. J. C. Bill as chairman. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. J. T. Newby, Mrs. B. P. Haines, and Mrs. Walter L. Cooper.

Mrs. Benson's talk was based on Iceland and made more interesting by the showing of many slides of the country with the assistance of Volie Williams, Jr. She was well suited to give a talk on Iceland since she attended the one-thousandth anniversary celebration of the founding of the country in 1930.

She said that visitors during the celebration included representatives from every country in the world and accommodations were made for them in a tent city erected on a vast plain six miles long and three miles wide. The meetings were held outdoors in a large crevasse where the first colony was formed and the first laws read in 980. The most important outcome of the celebration was the peace pact signed by Iceland, Sweden, Norway, and Denmark at that time in which they agreed to settle all difficulties by arbitration.

According to Mrs. Benson, the whiskey in Iceland is under government control and three days before the celebration, without any warning, all liquor shops were closed so that no intoxicating beverages were available throughout the anniversary festivities.

She mentioned the industries of the island, fishing, farming, and cattle-raising, stated that the population was 100,000 persons among whom there is no illiteracy, and spoke of the warm springs, for municipal bathing and the electrically lighted, unusually large homes. The inhabitants obtain their higher education in Denmark and Germany.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Benson's talk the following musical

The club was decorated with a profusion of baskets of gladioli, sweet peas, snap dragons, calceolarias, and bowls of nasturtiums. The tea table was overlaid with a lace cloth and decorated with a silver basket of roses and sweet peas. Candies in silver holders cast a soft glow about the table.

Mrs. Benson Presides At Meeting Of P. T. A.

Founders' Day and Fathers' Night were observed by the members of the Seminole High School P. T. A. at their regular meeting held Tuesday evening at the school auditorium with over 100 persons in attendance. Mrs. J. C. Benson presided over the business session which was preceded by a board meeting.

Main speaker during the meeting was Mrs. Frank Petrie of Orlando, state chairman of High School P. T. A. work who talked on the subject "Motives and Aim of the P. T. A." After her talk Mr. Petrie spoke briefly on the meaning of Founders' Day.

The meeting was opened with a selection presented by the school orchestra after which group singing was conducted by Miss Clifford Shinholser. A demonstration by the girls of the gymnasium class was made on the stage with Mrs. J. M. Stinchipher as director.

During the business session reports were made by Mrs. Wurt W. Warner, finance chairman, and Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, welfare chairman. Mrs. Warner suggested a membership drive and the raising of an entertainment to raise funds to give the Senior Class a gift for its Salamagundi. Mrs. Roumillat reported that all needy children in the school who have come under her observation are being provided with lunches daily and all bills have been paid up to date.

The members voted unanimously to sponsor social activities in the school and decided to present a petition to the county board asking that they be permitted to use the gymnasium for the various activities. Talks on the subject were made by Mrs. F. S. Vernay and other members.

At the conclusion of the next refreshments were served in the luncheon by Mrs. A. M. Phillips and other members of the hospitality committee.

FCA To Make No Loans For New Production

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP) S. M. Garrison, production credit commissioner of the Farm Credit Administration, yesterday issued orders against making loans to farmers who do not cooperate in the production control program of the farm administration.

Saying the move was aimed at promoting cooperation between the two government agencies, Garrison instructed officials of local production credit associations in counties where production control associations have not been set up not to make loans to farmers preparing to increase their production.

When county production control associations are set up all cooperating producers will be listed and requests for loans will be checked against that roll as a condition of approval.
