BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: REWARD OF HUMILITY.—Whoever exalteth himself shall be abased: and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted. Luke 14: 11.

SANFORD, THE CITY SUBSTANTIAL

Sanford, the city substantial, Stable, progressive and new. Firm thy foundation—Feeding a nation, City where dreams have come true.

Sanford, the city of spirit, Seeking the true and the good; High thy ideals, Strong thy appeals, For God and for real brotherhood.

Sanford, the city progressive, Building with vision and art; Welcome extended, Strangers befriended, City of substance and heart. —J. C. Billa, Jr.

Sanford—A Florida town of 10,000 people where $105,000 was raised on a $25,000 goal for the Chamber of Commerce.—Tampa Tribune.

Today's best laugh: Love may be blind, but this doesn't prevent the lover from seeing half a yard of prop when a corned boards a street car. Phil Armstrong in Times Union.

A copy of Saturday's issue of The Herald was sent to every big Chamber of Commerce in the United States, numbering approximately a thousand. Mere valuable advertising for Sanford.

A classified advertisement in the Beaver Dam, Wis., newspaper reads as follows: "For Sale: A cow that gives five quarts of milk a day, a set of golf sticks, set of law books and a very fine fur coat." Some cows are just naturally versatile anyway.

A man who has been in Sanford just a few weeks, bought a piece of property several days ago, putting up one thousand dollars as a binder. Saturday he refused a profit of ten thousand dollars. Where can faster growing investments be found than right here?

Sanford has achieved a wonderful record in securing 4,200 membership for the Chamber of Commerce with a total of $105,000. Sanford now has the largest Chamber of Commerce in the world, rated on a per capita basis. Sanford, we admit you, and know you have entered upon an era of development and expansion.—Bill Glenn in the Orlando Sentinel.

There are so many people stopping in Sanford now that the hotels have to paint beds on the walls of the hallways in order to meet the extra demand.—Sanford Herald. Yeah, we stop in one of those Sanford beds no longer since it was one of those sky-scraper hotels, but the rate was no blame much higher than the hotel that it was like going down into a dungeon to sleep.—Tri-City News. That's right, we imagine standard prices for hotel accommodations would be too high for people who wouldn't give ten cents to see the Statue of Liberty do the book-burn.—Sanford Herald. Where could you get enough for ten cents to make the Statue of Liberty appear to carry on like that?—Tri-City News.

Alone, further down the porch, laughed with that dreamy sleepy laugh that a girl has when she is kissed.—From a story by Dorothy Dow in "College Humor." Of course we don't know any more about it than a rabbit, but offhand, we'd say that if a girl laughs when she is being kissed she's cheating.—Macon Telegraph. Don't be too hard on her, Johnny. That feller might have had a mistake for all you know.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Or he might simply have been an amateur.—Newark (O.) Advocate.

All we have to say is that laughing is alright in its place, which isn't when you are kissing.

Sanford Must Have More Housing Facilities

It is almost an impossibility to pick up a newspaper without seeing reference made to the rapidly with which people are coming to Florida. Returning vacationists tell of the great numbers heading southward by train and by automobile. Press dispatches say the automobile traffic has reached an astounding volume and the movement of the "tin canners" is yet sixty days away.

There is no way of checking the number of new cars arriving except at Jacksonville where traffic down the east coast must cross the toll bridge over the St. John's river. Figures at this crossing indicate a minimum of five thousand cars are entering Florida every week. Other highways into the state are undoubtedly finding a like amount and it is safe to say that every week brings ten thousand new automobiles to Florida. Estimating four persons to each car, there are forty thousand people coming into the state, by automobile alone, every seven days. Add to this number those who come by trains, and every Pullman is crowded on every train. Add those who enter Florida by steamship through Jacksonville, Miami, Key West and Tampa. Then you will find the figures reach staggering totals.

What does it all mean? Why are all these people coming so early in the year? It is the middle of August, and the supposedly hot test period of the summer.

Unquestionably these people are coming now in order to find places in which to stay before the rush of fall and winter visitors begins. They are home seekers. They are coming to Florida, practically all of them with the purpose of staying and becoming permanent residents of the state which is now in the limelight throughout the whole world.

Sanford citizens, realizing the seriousness of the condition which will exist here this fall are erecting more new houses than ever before. Building permits are being taken out at a faster rate than ever before in the history of the city and a great building program is in progress. But still, unless more of a building campaign is inaugurated by the people of this community, the coming fall will find a housing problem which will be extremely difficult to handle.

There still remains time to construct houses and apartments before the actual opening of the winter tourist season. The coming three months should see a tremendous building campaign in progress in Sanford and this section.

A big fund has been provided with which to advertise the merits of the community. But what good will it do to bring thousands of new people here if we are unable to furnish places for them to stay after they get here?

Sanford must have hundreds of new houses. We must put forth efforts to interest big capital in the construction of more hotels and greater apartment buildings. Too many such buildings cannot be given our city.

Laugh A Little Bit

"Be sure to laugh with the other fellow; not at him. When kindness and your sense of humor collide, let kindness have the right of way." Thus Charlotte Greenwood, dealer in stage laughs, sums up her philosophy of life.

A good wholesome laugh wins friends but it doesn't win them when the laugh is at their expense. Some author has said, "To be educated is to know when to laugh." He might just as well have added that there is no time to laugh at the other fellow. Some day you might be in the other fellow's shoes and then learn how it feels to be ridiculed.

Miss Greenwood, herself a recent newlywed, continues, "I don't see how any woman can hope to become a successful wife without a sense of humor." Her declaration should be supplemented with the statement that no man can be a successful husband unless he possesses a sense of humor.

The noted comedienne speaking further says: "Every woman has a chance to use a sense of humor from the time she drops her first china cup until she goes to her grave. There are just about thirty-two chances every day for a woman to stop and decide to laugh instead of sitting down to have a good cry.

"It's the little things that we let step in and ruin our whole day. And then we try to work off our wicked dispositions on those around us when they haven't had a single thing to do with the fiasco."

It's just as easy to smile as it is to look sour and it's just as easy to laugh as it is to rave. Laughing is catching, grunting is repulsive. Laughing breeds good feeling. Crying makes one sick at heart and mind. Good spirits help others around you to be in good spirits but being out of sorts creates an attitude of rebellion in those with whom you come in contact.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone," is a mighty good motto for everyone to adopt. The man who laughs is happy. If he is having trouble, all the more reason why he should laugh. The comfort that it brings is unbelievable unless you try it. Let's have more laughing, not AT but WITH the other fellow.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COIB

A company of a division of colored troops were in heavy marching order awaiting the word to start for the front. It was to be their first actual contact with the enemy. One of the privates had somewhere picked up a copy of the Paris edition of the New York Herald.

"Does dat dar paper say anything about us boys?" inquired a sergeant.

"It sho' do," answered the private.

HIS COURSE MODEST

OWENSBORO, KY., MESSENGER

A young man who has had the publicity given to John T. Scopes, were he not possessed of a stable character and appreciation of the merits of the fame that has come to him, might yield to the temptation to capitalize the distinction which has befallen him. However, Scopes appears to have preserved his balance, notwithstanding that opportunities to profit have been tendered him.

Showmen have sought to induce him to accept stage engagements and others have sought to place him on the lecture platform in order that they might profit from public curiosity to see and hear the instrument which foisted such a bitter legal battle. Being without a job he might welcome the receipt of funds, but it is to his credit that he has refused all offers toward self-exaltation. He will not enter the freak class nor will he attempt to

As Brisbane Sees It

The Radio Miracle. Shorter Road to Knowledge. Girls and "Bonker" Head. Mausoleum and Triplets. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

THE SHORT operas "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," admirably sung in the open air on Wednesday night, were heard over the radio by hundreds of thousands in their homes. The opera was free by New York City, to all that cared to listen on the spot or on the radio.

A thousand times as many as any opera house in the world could hold were able in comfort and without expense or travel to hear the inspiring, elevating music.

IN THE homes the sentimental young lady could sit in her corner and listen, nursing on love jealousy and fierce Italian ardor in isolated ecstasy.

The older people could enjoy the music together, or listen occasionally and hear the story of the operas told by the "broadcaster" while as he said, "the artists rested and received their well-deserved applause."

THAT THUNDER of applause, exciting and stirring, could be heard in hundreds of thousands of houses in the crowded cities, far out on the farms.

The world has never known such a miracle as the miracle of radio. And no man living knows what radio and moving pictures combined are destined to do for education.

As railroads shortened men's journeys, and telegraphy shortened transmission of messages, so radio and moving pictures will make shorter by more than ninety per cent the journey along the tire-some road of knowledge.

MacMILLAN, 3,700 miles away in the Arctic ice, is called up and answered, by radio, answering the Associated Press questions with his own broadcasting apparatus.

Later, when he starts flying, MacMILLAN will be able to answer questions by radio while in flight.

IF MEN can do that now, how soon will they talk through the ether to those cosmic flying machines, the planets, floating in space? No static or other trouble presumably, once you get outside this earth's atmosphere, only about 500 miles deep.

IN OUR "civilization" human bodies and their bodies are modified rapidly. Everyone knows that exercise and sensible food have made modern girls much taller and stronger than they were and, thanks to education, their brains and skulls are bigger. J. D. Patrick, portrait painter, says the American girl's nose is pointing upward, her eyes getting rounder, her mouth going up at the corners.

AMONG SAVAGES, where conditions are stagnant, there is little change.

At Cape Town University in South Africa doctors, recently dissecting the body of a native, found that the native had a typical "basket" skull, the kind found in fossil form dating back to the Ice Age of 35,000 years ago.

WHAT CHANGES will come in men's minds and bodies in the next few centuries, with the flying machines, radio, moving pictures, etc.?

Professor Haeckel suggested that men's eyes would become specialized, one trained to use the microscope, one for the telescope, both together seeing nearby things as they are.

OURS IS a civilization of interesting contrasts, although they are not what they used to be in olden days—slaves under the lash, ladders in the arena, epicures eating nightingale's tongues, Cleopatra sailing with her friend, Anthony, down the Nile, etc.

FOR INSTANCE, consider the father who lives in two whitewashed rooms in Jersey City—no need to increase his troubles by printing his name. Out of work, he was worrying about feeding seven children day before yesterday, when his neighbor, called in "to help his wife," announced triplets, making the number of his children TEN.

THAT FATHER, waiting for the triplets to be born, read about a magnificent new mausoleum to be built by a combination of churches, to cost three and one-half millions, and provide a resting place for corpses, properly embalmed, and put away in their little niches.

THAT MAUSOLEUM will not have whitewashed walls, but a fine marble finish.

When churches ask, "Why are we not crowded?" one answer might be, "Because, while mothers of children lack decent housing, you build $3,500,000 mausoleums for corpses that might as well be put in the ground to add to its fertility, or carried up the chimney of the crematory, putting back into the air the nitrogen they took from it." Would the Founder of Christianity, who had not where to lay His head, subscribe to that mausoleum?

THE COUNTRY, interested in the politics and scheming of America's biggest city, will watch the Mayorality fight approaching in New York. The present Mayor Hyman hotel street car companies and Collier Companies have gained from 50 to 75 per cent. Two East Coast counties, Volusia and Brevard gained from 75 to 100 per cent.

That distresses corporation gentlemen accustomed to owning the big city and that do own its political machinery.

HIS ANTIDOTE FOR EVERY INDUSTRIAL AILMENT

JUST LITTLE ACTS OF KINDNESS

POLK COUNTY RECORD

How often a small, seemingly insignificant act of kindness to some dumb creature will admirably serve to attest the caliber of a man or woman.

Precisely true. The little humanitarian acts of a person best typify and reflect his or her character. A man may preach an eloquent philosophy of life, contribute lavishly toward charities, impress the neighbors by his exemplary conduct and yet spurn a cringing and homeless dog, and in so doing display all his good works much as the contented and stolid bovine who gives a brimming pail of milk only to kick the container over at the expiration of the milking process.

The man who is kind and considerate toward all dumb creatures may well be regarded as Nature's nobleman. We recall at this point the gaunt and homely Abraham Lincoln going to the rescue of a captive pig that was penned in a wallow under a snake fence. In the process of extrication, it is related that Mr. Lincoln was freely bespattered with mud and had to attend an important political meeting in that predicament, yet he gladly set the unfortunate and not too lovely creature at liberty, thus displaying a genuine unselfishness of nature and true nobleness of spirit.

A certain well known musical comedy actor was recently playing a middle western town and from the window of a stationary Pullman diner saw a tramp dog running up and down the railroad yards in bewilderment. The thousand-dollar-a-week immediately left his table, going in pursuit of the unkempt little animal, finally overtaking him and, returning to the diner, ordered a fine meal for the little outcast. Another indication of noble unselfishness.

New York City, that bustling, progressive and noisy metropolis, accused by its thousands of visitors from every state in the Union, as well as the principal cities of Europe, as lacking all humanitarian sentiment in its daily commercial grind, its same city frequently manifests a great spirit of consideration and sympathy in dealing with its unfortunate lesser creatures. Just the other day an immature sparrow fell from its nest in the coping of a large building and, after a vain effort to fly away, settled upon the pavement of a busy street. A number of passersby were attracted to the bird's sorry plight. Police observing the crowd hastily approached and one of the officers, securing a ladder, climbed up to the coping, and carefully replaced the small bird safely in its nest. What does this little act prove?

A number of people may carelessly laugh and make the remark: "Too ridiculous to waste one's time with such common dogs, cats and birds." That may in a measure be true but the man, woman or child who goes out of his or her way to aid a distressed little creature deserves a commendation never a middle western town and from ethereal.

THE VANISHED MISER

ASHEVILLE CITIZEN

He is gone from here, disappeared, become for years as extinct as the diplodocus before his absence was noted—the old time miser. He is scarce remembered; the youngest generation know nothing of him.

And yet time was when Asheville and every considerable town in this section had its miser. He was an institution like the village drunkard and so was distinguished from other people, even if his looks did not set him apart. The children's books pictured him and he was a favorite figure for popular chromes—ragged and emaciated that he might save to add to his precious store of coin.

The picture showed him in some secret place gleaning over his accumulation of silver and gold, fondling the coins, holding them up and letting them fall to hear their musical tinkle, crooning to them as a mother to her child, startled by unexpected sounds. Always there was a bag for the treasure and it was hidden under the hearth or in a sliding-panel recess.

Where went the miser of this section and when did he go? As well ask when and where went the electric light bug or the old-time boot-jack; no one knows. But some guess. One guess is that the miser came to realize that his gold and silver idols had feet of clay—or of some cheap metal. They had ceased to be as powerful as they were when he turned miser; they would not buy nearly as much, other people who had no collection of gold discs were really richer than was he.

And so, says theory, the miser seeking to buy in the cheapest market turned his money into wildcat oil stocks, wireless telephone fakes, and bonds in companies which promised imminent wealth from extracting platinum from rancid cheese or big dividends from banana farms in South Dakota. It is these securities which are the treasures of the present miser, his said—it is the hope that they will go to par which upholds him, and since he knows that sophisticated thieves will not steal them he no longer hides them under the hearth. His treasure changed, the miser has also changed his dress and manner—he may even own an automobile.

FLORIDA COUNTIES

TAMPA TRIBUNE

Seven Florida counties have gained more than 100 per cent population from 1915 to 1925 as shown by the chart prepared by Dr. R. M. Harper, State Geographer, published in the Sunday Tribune. They are Pinellas, Manatee, Sarasota, Orange, Palm Beach, Broward and Dade Counties.

The map, based on census figures, shows at a glance the trend of population toward the southern part of Florida. Hillsborough, Polk, Seminole, Lake, Lee, Hendry and Collier Counties have gained from 50 to 75 per cent. Two East Coast counties, Volusia and Brevard gained from 75 to 100 per cent. Gain of from 25 to 50 per cent of any Florida county.

MARRIAGE OF MISS LIGHTFOOT TO MR. GEER IS EVENT OF AUGUST 4

The following account of the marriage of Miss Bertha Lightfoot to Marion W. Geer will be of much interest to many in Sanford. Mr. Geer was formerly of Sanford, being connected with the advertising department of The Herald, and has a large number of friends who are extending congratulations.

Beautiful in every detail and a marriage of wide interest, was that of Miss Bertha Lightfoot of Altona, Fla., and Mr. Marion W. Geer of West Palm Beach, Fla., at six o'clock at the First Baptist church of Altona, Fla., Aug. 4.

The church was transformed into a bower of loveliness with potted plants and cut flowers.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. Knight, pastor of the church before an altar banked with stately ferns and calladiums intertwined with asparagus fern and interspersed with lover's wreath. Strich plumo ferns and pink hycias forming the background.

Preceding the ceremony two vocal solos, "I Love You Truly, and Oh Promise Me" were rendered by Miss Hermie Brainard. The bride party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March softly played by Mildred Geer.

Miss Ollie Lightfoot, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and entered alone wearing a pink crepe de chine dress trimmed with ostrich plumes. She carried a bouquet of roses. The little flower girl was Nellie Marie Shores who wore a white dress and carried a white basket filled with pink and white roses.

The bride entered with her mother, Mrs. Clarence Lightfoot, being connected with the advertising department of The Herald, and has a large number of friends who are extending congratulations.

The bride was beautiful in a white flora crepe dress, wearing a veil caught with orange blossoms. Her flowers were bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony was an informal reception at the home of the bride's parents. The refreshments, cake and cream, were served by Hermie Brainard, Fannie McWhorter and Ollie Lightfoot.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Geer left for a short wedding trip to Chattanooga and other points in Tennessee.

Mr. Geer is a prominent young business man of West Palm Beach, Fla. He is advertising manager of the Palm Beach Post.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lightfoot and has hosts of friends in Lakeland county who regret that her marriage will take her to another section of the state, but with wishing her great happiness.

After August 16 the couple will be at home to their friends in North Wood Hills, West Palm Beach, Fla., where the bridegroom has recently erected a beautiful stucco bungalow completely furnished for housekeeping.

Sanford Boys Are Now In Australian Waters

On the U. S. S. California, the ship of the battle fleet in Australian waters, (which was shown in the picture "Launching at Danger" at the Milane Theater on Saturday) a Sanford boy is one of the officers, Lieut. A. Griffin. The Iron Man Trophy for athletic supremacy in the fleet was won by the California this year, after having been held for six years by the U. S. S. Mississippi.

The California is now at Auckland, New Zealand after touching at the Samoan Islands and a fortnight at Sydney, Australia. In crossing the equator on July 25, a large number of the officers of the ship including Lieut. Griffin had to undergo the very strenuous initiation required to turn landlubbers into trusty shell-backs of the realm of King Neptune.

Another Sanford boy, who is in the battle fleet, is Richard Terhune who is on the U. S. S. Colorado.

Frontier Pioneer Quits After Lengthy Service

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—Thirty-eight years of faithful service as a member of the Los Angeles Police department were terminated recently with the retirement of Charles W. Moffatt, a colorful figure in early Western frontier life. Moffatt has been put down to inspector of detectives.

In the 29 years of his life he has been printer, newspaper reporter, miner, sheep rancher, bronco-buster, Indian fighter, prospector, poet and author of outdoor life. He was in Alaska during gold rush days. There were 87 members of the Los Angeles police force when he entered it. Two years later he assisted in forming the first detective division, which consisted of four plain policemen.

Uncertainty Rules In Sportdom As Many Reverses Are Noted

Interest Is Renewed As Athletics Gather Forces For Fall Summer Struggles; Major Leagues Are Aflame

Pugilistic Circles In Much Argument

Surprising Reverses Are Met In Number Tennis Matches During The Past Few Days

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—A maximum of interest springing from a week of startling upstarts forecast Sunday night upon America's athletic host as sportdom gathered its warriors for the titanic struggles of late summer.

Uncertainty, a parent of the fourth reviewing throng to look forth the reviewing throng to look upon the conflict, was rooted in the fertile soil of surprising reverses.

Major League baseball was aflame with prospect of new champions at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia fed by the decline of Giants under siege at Cincinnati, and the sturdy defense of the Athletics against the challenge of Washington. Netdom buzzed over the return of a great veteran at the experience of youthful sensation in the defeat of Vincent Richards at the hands of W. M. Johnston in the first of three preliminary Davis cup teams tests.

Pugilism looked upon spectacle of a heavy weight championship taking up his own managerial reigns as word came out of the far west that Jack Dempsey's financial requirement for a fight with Harry Wills would be $1,000,000—the lifetime achievement of few business giants.

A conglomeration of reports veered a cloudy heavy weight atmosphere with three shafts of light, the champion voted finally against a fight this year. He took initial steps in the management of his own fistie affairs. He limited his contemplate ring activities to one fight next summer with Wills.

Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons of Michigan City, met the champion and broadcast news that he had received his signature to an agreement to box the negro. At the same time, Dempsey announced that the fight still was open to the highest bidder. Richards discounted the story of Dempsey's agreement to fight for Fitzsimmons, Jack Kearns refusing to admit retirement as Dempsey's pilot, joked about it. Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, took a Missouri attitude and preferred to await the arrival of Fitzsimmons and Kearns here next week. Dempsey punctuated the thump of the padded mitten in daily training with paper and pencil, putting in his first week as manager. Reports from California described the champion's forecast of Dempsey-Wills drawing power as equivalent of $3,000,000 of which Dempsey was said to ask one third. The amounts are approximately double the gate and guarantee paid to see the cham-

Champion defeat Carpenter in the greatest financial success of pugilism four years ago. Dempsey's record shows that he has fought 67 fights for a total of 1281 rounds, an average of four and one-half rounds per conflict. The basis of an average fight, sportsmen estimate that he asks approximately $50,000 for every minute he is in the ring. They likewise maintain that no arena in the country is large enough to hold a gathering of sufficient size under prices which hitherto have prevailed at such contests, to draw so enormous amount.

Interest among baseball men last week in the pennant drive of Pirates and Mackmen partly was diverted to a definite shortening of jumps of the much maligned robbit ball by debt major league pitching arms. Six shut outs were pitched, home run hitting markedly was curtailed, while in eleven games the beaten team was limited to a single run. Veteran hurlers posted two two-hit games, two of three hits, four offer hits, five of five hits, five of six hits and ten of seven hits.

Surprising reverses were crowded in a teaming tennis week. Mark Brown by Eleanor Goss and the triumph of Johnston over Richards set stage for ripened interest in a renewal of rivalry between leaders in approaching major tournaments.

The gallery at Rye, N. Y. scene of the New York State women's title tournament scarcely had recovered from the defeat of Miss Browne at the hands of Miss Goss before the latter bowed to the skill of Helen Wills, conquered at Sea Bright in straight sets by Miss Ryan.

Richards, ranking number two player looked with hope to a continuance of the Davis cup tryouts next week after suffering two setbacks. Beaten in doubles competition with R. N. Williams by William T. Tilden and William Johnson his defeat yesterday by the latter in East-West matches was accomplished only after the Olympic champion himself had been three times within a point of victory.

The sphere of nibble and mangle surprised by the cluster of low sevepties posted on cards of public links golfers last week, in their annual tournament, today turned their interest to the playing of the New Jersey open at Westfield, N. J., starting Tuesday.

Tennis fans looked ahead a program of invitation play at Southampton, an international struggle between women teams of England and America at Forest Hills, N. Y., Friday and Saturday and Davis cup contests between Spain and Japan at Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Australia and Canada at Montreal—all these in addition to a renewal of the struggle between Richards and Johnston.

Baseball fandom refused to be coaxed by the attractions of other struggles from the blow-to-blow pennant fight between Washington and Philadelphia in the American and the belated dash of Cincinnati to overtake Pittsburgh and New York in the National.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10.—New York although outbatted and out-fied, bunched hits with bases on balls in the first and eighth innings and took the last game of the series from Cincinnati, 5 to 4. The Reds hit Nehf sharply, but seldom when much damage resulted. A lucky double play in the sixth, started when Critz drive bounced off Terry's glove into Kelly's grasp, featured the game. Shinners, the first Cardinal to bat, hit into the right field bleachers with the call 3 to 2. Hornsby clouted a homer in the same inning and raised his season's total to thirty with a drive out of the park in the fifth. Bladen hit for the circuit in the second. Friberg was banished for arguing with Umpire McCormick, Fonseca moving to second and Hawks to first.

Score by innings: Philadelphia ... 003 000 001—4, 7-0 St. Louis ... 210 140 008—8, 13-4 Batteries: Mitchell, Betts, Pearce and Henline; Sothoron and O'Farrell.

CUBS DOWN BRAVES TWICE

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Chicago was in a batting mood Sunday and batted out a double victory over Boston, 8 to 1, and 13 to 3. In the first game the toads had little difficulty bunching their hits off Jesse Barnes while Alexander never had to exert himself. In the second contest the Cubs jumped off to an early lead on Graham and continued their bombardment on three other Boston twirlers, while Cooper breezed through nicely.

First Game. Score by innings: Boston ... 000 010 000—1, 7-4 Chicago ... 102 110 218—8, 11-0 Batteries: Barnes, Keen and Gibson; Alexander and Hartnett.
