

Expectations Big For Rookie Back Of Chicago Bears

CHICAGO (AP)—To say the Chicago Bears expect great things of quarterback Zeke Bratkowski is putting it mildly.

The deadeye passer from the University of Georgia, preparing for his rookie season in the National Football League, may be just what the Bears need to develop a championship team again.

Maybe that level won't be reached this year but Zeke is the key man in George Halas' plans for the Bears future after the club withered to no better than a divisional fourth place for the last three seasons.

Bratkowski joins the Bears exactly 45 years after Halas came up with Sid Luckman out of Columbia. There has been no one like Sid since, although such college ball-throwing heroes as Johnny Lujack, Bobby Williams and Tommy O'Connell were shoved into the breach when Luckman retired.

So, now comes Bratkowski—and the fanfare is pretty terrific.

Frank Leahy told Halas: "He has the finest passing form of any body I ever saw, including Sammy Baugh."

Sieve Owen, ex-New York Giant coach, declared: "A coming all time star."

Paul Brown of Cleveland added: "He can't miss."

Cecil Habbell, one time star passer for Green Bay, appraised: "Best I ever saw."

Zeke didn't have a bevy of receivers at Georgia last season but still completed 113 passes in 224 attempts in 11 games for 1,461 yards. One man, end John Carson, caught 45 of his passes.

The Bears will provide at least a half dozen targets for him.

Bratkowski, for a lack of an adequate running offense to supplement his aerial work, averaged 45.5 yards per pass last fall. He averaged 220 yards per game.

The 6-3, 220-pound rookie came up through Danville, Ill. High school ranks as a guard.

In Findlay, Ohio, recently the businessmen's Bowling League reported a "night of horror". There were 205 splits and 27 of the 36 team games were below average. Excuse given: New Wood.

Ex-Champions Take Beating In Amateur Golf Tourney

DETROIT (AP)—Amateur golf still is a game for scramblers—in spite of the efforts of the pros to teach "scientific" play and of the U.S. Golf Assn. to fix a championship course that will penalize every mistake.

In 1953, amateur champion Sammy Uzzetta who voiced that opinion, lost to a professional in the first round of the 1954 Amateur Championship at the Country Club of Detroit. And the results of yesterday's 18-hole encounters supported his opinion.

Sammy Uzzetta, last year's champion, lost to a professional in the first round of the 1954 Amateur Championship at the Country Club of Detroit. And the results of yesterday's 18-hole encounters supported his opinion.

Uzzetta was just one of the four ex-champions who failed to get through the first round. The only one of five entered who still was around for the second round today was Willie Turnesa (1924 and 1948). He drew a bye and didn't have to play.

Also on the sidelines were thirderman Charlie Cox, the 1949 winner; Ted Livshup (1946) and Chuck Evans (1916 and 1920), along with such other prominent players as Frank Strafaci, intercollegiate champion Hillman Robbins, Ray Palmer, a quarter-finalist last year; and Fred Kammer, one of the Detroit favorites.

But the favorites got about an even break in the 72 first-round matches. Numbered among the winners were wisecracking Billy Joe Patton, the gallery favorite who won out on the 19th; Dale Murray, last year's runner-up; Harvie Ward, winner of the Canadian Amateur last year; and Arnold Palmer, Don Cherry, and Hobart Mauley.

Three Teams Tie For First Place In Hot FSL Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The terrific Florida State League pennant race was a three-way tie today between DeLand, Lakeland and Orlando—with the end of the season only eight playing days away.

Orlando crowded into first place last night by beating Lakeland 7-1 and DeLand moved in on basis of a 7-2 victory over last-place Daytona Beach.

Rip Sewell set Lakeland down on a two-hitter while his Orlando mates combined for hurriers for 10 blows. Ed Houseknecht and Buck Collins accounted for two hits each. Starter Jim Harrison was the victim.

Jacksonville Beach defeated Cocoa 6-5 in a 13-inning game. Russ Nixon singled in Lyn Henry with the deciding run.

Season Tickets Mailed By Uoff

GAINEVILLE—The University of Florida athletic office has completed mailing of season ticket orders for the Gators' 1954 football games, Business Manager Percy Beard said today.

Beard said all orders for season tickets received by his office have been filled and that single game tickets will be mailed out during the next week or so.

The business manager explained that season ticket sales are ahead of those at this time last year.

He also reported that only north and west stands for the Clemson game, also to be played in Jacksonville, on Oct. 9.

West stand seats are still available for all games to be played in Gainesville. These are Auburn on Oct. 2, Kentucky on Oct. 16, Mississippi State (homecoming) on Oct. 30, and Miami on Nov. 27.

HONEST HUNTERS

LA GRATA, Mo. (AP)—Sportsman Glen Crawford offered a $5 bonus for each female mink released alive from traps. He figured it would assist in increasing the mink population.

There were four reported releases. But each trapper agreed with the motive of sportsman Crawford and declined the bonus.

Batting Leaders In Major Loops Slugging It Out In Close Races

NEW YORK (AP)—Hitting spurts by Stan Musial of the Cardinals and Minnie Miñoso of the White Sox have tightened the major league batting races today.

Musial, setting his sights on his seventh National League batting title, boosted his average to .349 and now trails Brooklyn's Duke Snider by the point. Snider, who had a 27-point bulge July 5, is hitting .350.

Minso, swinging at a 334 clip, also moved to within one point of the American League leader, Irv Noren, of the Yankees, Noren, currently batting .335, enjoyed a 40-point advantage July 27.

While Snider lost four points, Musial is gaining nine last week. The Dodgers' outfielder went 7-for-24 and Musial 12 for 23. Figures include Monday's games.

Don Mueller of the Giants remains in contention at .335, third in the senior circuit. Mueller's average failed to change as he had nine hits in 26 at bats.

Noren, with 6-for-27, saw his average dwindle 10 points. Meanwhile, Miñoso collected 12 hits in 26 trips for an eight-point increase.

Cleveland's Bobby Avila, the early season pace-setter, is back in a challenging position with a .327 mark. The third ranking Avila, in going 10-for-27, picked up three points.

KEEN EYE, STOLEN BASES
ST. LOUIS (AP)—One of the principal reasons that the St. Louis Cardinals chose George Silvey to supervise their farm system of 13 Class C and D clubs is because they believe he is a remarkable judge of speed in baseball players.

Silvey, when a first baseman with Gastonia in the North Carolina State League, led all organized baseball players in stolen bases in 1938 when he stole 30.

Wolves' Tactics Show Variations Comedy Star Says

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Strategically, Lilo was saying, wolves are the same everywhere. Only the tactics vary.

"Here in America," the French musical comedy star observed, "men try to get a woman drunk. Frenchmen don't try to get a woman drunk. They would say, 'What can I do with a drunk woman except send her to bed with a couple of aspirins?'"

"In this country, it is all chest, chest, chest," said Lilo who has no reason to feel inferior. "In Paris, men like a woman who is attractive but they also like a woman who can dress well and walk well and show an attractive personality."

"In this country, they go for the big bosom and the candid eyes

AND THE STREET WOMEN WHO CAN SAY, 'Isn't she cute?'"

Do the French talk about sex as much as Americans?

"Oh, yes," said the lady, who has been here 18 months now. "But they don't call it sex. They call it love. I think we French talk about it more, but in a different way."

Lilo said she finds the morals of the American theater confusing. "It is very mixed up here," she said. "You don't have ideas. We do in Paris. But you have strippers and we don't. Your strippers are 100 times more shocking than anything in Paris."

"Our show girl nudes are graceful and more artistic. In France, they don't allow any bumps or grinds. Not even in the cheapest night clubs in Marseilles or Toulon or Brest, where the audience is almost all sailors."

"I like American audiences better than French," she said. "I like French critics better. They are kinder. No matter how much they dislike a show, they always find something nice to say about it."

"But your audiences are much nicer. The moment they buy a ticket they expect to enjoy themself. They expect to have fun and you can see them with a big friendly smile, ready to have fun. French audiences, especially the women in the orchestra, she said, are inclined to be more critical, more catly, more carping. She explained:

"French audiences never like a performer completely. If it's a dancer, they say 'I think she's got falaises.' When a singer opens his mouth, somebody will find fault because they spot a gold tooth in the back of his mouth."

"If they saw Lily Pons, they say 'Oh, yes, she's a good coloratura, but what else can she do?' If they see the world's greatest dancer who has only two lines to speak in the whole show, they say, 'Well she can dance, but she can't act.'"

"And if they saw Marilyn Monroe, they'd say: 'Yes, but can she do Camille?'"

Lancers Or India Intend To Keep Traditions Alive

NEW DELHI, (AP)—Mechanized warfare has finally caught up with the colorful lancers of India, famed as mounted warriors for two centuries.

Today's lancers have been squeezed into a single cavalry regiment in the Republic of India's army.

The new regiment, made up of four historic cavalry units, recently rode out for the first time behind little flags worn by its predecessors in 200 years of wars and rebellion.

The parade marked a new era of Indian cavalry—an era when parades and ceremonies will be its chief times for showing off and where the big battlefields roles will henceforth be left to tanks and armored cars.

Western nations made the transition long ago. But, like France where the Black Squadron perpetuates fine horsemanship for ceremonial occasions, Indians intend to keep the traditions of their cavalry alive.

Mechanization in India's army started before World War II but in regions inaccessible to armored vehicles the Lancers still were the kingpins when it came to warfare and putting down revolt.

The new regiment admits only the finest riders. All in all, about 1,000 men will make up its roster.

The Lancers will do more than just show off. Army spokesmen make it clear they will continue to be an inspiration for chivalry handed down to us for generations through our history."

One unit, the Mysore Regiment, was formed in 1700, making it one of the oldest cavalry outfits in the modern Indian army. In distinguished service under the British it saw much action throughout In-

Police to Keep Feet 'On Ground'

PROVINCETOWN, Ohio (AP)—City Manager Robert E. Layton wants policemen here to keep their feet on the ground. He ordered officers in police cruisers to stop using the dashboards of the cars as foot rests.

Since becoming city manager, Layton has issued 82 new rules and regulations for the police department.

Among other things, he banned "mouthing" of food and drinks from streets and restaurants. Along with a "dress up" order he furnished police headquarters with a large mirror.

To forestall any headaches from all the new regulations, Layton drafted the chief of police to keep aspirin available at all times.

THE LADIES' GARMENT WORKERS' UNION, A.F. of L.
Reprints the Following Editorial about
GARMENT CARPET-BAGGERS AND SOUTHERN WELFARE
It originally appeared in the August 1st issue of JUSTICE, official newspaper of the union.

SOUTHERN EXPOSURE

Almost a month has passed since President David Dubinsky issued his challenge to Southern, non-union garment manufacturers. Speaking in Savannah on July 7, he offered a three-year "moratorium" to any such firm that would raise the minimum wage in their shops to 15 cents an hour above any present or future government minimum. The Garment Workers' Union, he said, would abstain from any effort to organize such a firm for a period of three years.

A Fair Offer
This was a fair offer to the self-proclaimed industrial saviors of the South. Indeed, even some friends of organized labor construed the offer as an end of Garment organizing in that section. But no one should have expected all of these low-wage-paying "benefactors" to line up the next morning in front of the Union's regional offices to get application blanks for the "moratorium" offer. We didn't even expect a small crowd.

However, in view of the cries of anguish and the loud wailing set up by these honorable profiteers every time a Garment organizer appears on the Southern scene, there seemed to be the possibility that a handful of them would take the union at its word and step forward to take advantage of the unique offer.

Not one single savior has turned up. They have confused and frightened numerous communities with their warnings that all the Union wants is to collect more dues and to take the work back from the South. (They never stop to explain how both these purposes can be accomplished simultaneously.) By backing their professed concern for the South and its garment workers with at least the 90-cent minimum they could have insured keeping their employees out of the H.G.W.U. free from the prospect of paying dues, desperately dependent on the low-standard jobs these avid bargain hunters provide.

Instead, they consider even 90 cents an hour to be outrageously high. They are "protecting" the Southern garment worker against the $36 weekly pay envelope. They are safeguarding Southern communities against annual earnings of $1,372 when there are 52 full weeks of work, something virtually unprecedented in the garment industry.

Future of the South
This is not a wage on which the South can prosper even if it is too "high" for the business crapshooters, the garment carpet-baggers and the chiselers. The future of the South is not with them.

It lies rather with the growing groups of Southern community leaders who share the realization that their people are being victimized by peanut industrialists who pit section against section, town against town, worker against worker.

It lies with the garment workers, such as those in Miami, who in recent months have doubled Union membership in their area.

It lies with South Carolina workers who struck in Hartsville to back up their demand for the 35-hour work week.

It lies with employees of the Freyberg plants in Appomattox and Lynchburg, Virginia and in Greensboro, North Carolina who, with rising determination to settle for nothing less than decent conditions, have picketed over 6 months.

It lies with thousands of garment workers whose spokesmen at the Union's Annual 16th Southeastern Regional Conference of the H.G.W.U. last month pictured their area as one in which workers are waking to the intent of state "right-to-work" laws, are challenging employer intimidation, and are looking more and more toward the Garment Workers' Union as the sole instrument through which they can sustain and share in Southern prosperity.

No Bargain Basement
Far from blocking industrial expansion, we stand for legitimate rather than bargain basement growth; now, as for more than a half-century, our chief function remains to use every legitimate means to organize workers north, east, south and west, so that they, their families and their communities may share equitably in the fruits of their labor.

Jaycees Deserve To Be Commended For Their Annual Fishing Rodeo

Dozens of children today were having a good time at the Fifth Annual Fishing Rodeo conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Trout Lake, west of Sanford. Give a kid a fishing pole and tell him that if he catches a fish big enough he will win a prize—well, he generally will have a pretty good time.

The Jaycees were taking just this course today as they handed out dozens of fishing poles and containers of bait to enthusiastic children—followed by the distribution of prizes to the winners. So, the affair was adding up to a bang-up time for the children—and for the grown-ups, too, who were watching.

On top of free poles and bait, and prizes, there was plenty of ice cream and cold drinks being furnished free of charge by bottling companies and an ice cream company. The star was a deal.

To start matters off, free bus transportation was furnished. Buses left this morning on routes which took them over the county.

So, as you can well see, the whole affair doesn't cost a child a red cent and sure provides him with a lot of enjoyment.

Through this project, the Jaycees introduce a lot of children to the wonderful sport of fishing, too. It's something the children look forward to whether they have never been fishing or have gone dozens of times. The Jaycees deserve a lot of credit for the good job they did this year on the worthwhile venture—particularly M. L. Raborn Jr., who was chairman.

County Agent's Column

Way Down South In Sanford, Florida

By C. R. Dawson, BSA, MSA.
TRACE ELEMENTS — Legumes need traces of Molybdenum to fix nitrogen. When this element is lacking in the soil, crops are stunted and pale yellowish green. The treatment only requires a few ounces per acre.

BUGS — A heavy infestation of a cerambycid has been reported on kenaf and jute down in the Everglades.

CONVENTION — The Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association will hold its convention September 28, 29 and 30. This event has outgrown the room facilities of any one hotel in Miami Beach. Reservations should be made early at FFVA, P. O. Box 6635, Orlando.

TOMATO PLANTS — Georgia has modified its tomato plant regulations so as to permit the entry into that state of tomato plants from Pasco, Polk, Osceola and Brevard Counties and all counties north thereof when the plants are grown and labeled as prescribed in the regulations. The above named counties have previously been included in the quarantine area of the state. There have been no changes in the tomato regulations of other states.

RHIZOCTONIA — Damping-off and stem canker of vegetable seedlings and young plants caused by Rhizoctonia and Sclerotinia occur during periods when low soil temperature and high moisture conditions prevail. These fungi cause both pre- and post-emergence damping off and the resulting losses in seedling stand are extensive in some areas and seasons. These losses often necessitate the replanting of large acreages.

BAIT — When flies become resistant to DDT and lindane, which is sure to happen as time marches on, a new material known as Malathion will do the job. It is mixed with water and sugar to form a bait-type spray — or can be purchased in flake form to be spread around the premises.

Yuck! Malathion is poisonous to children and pets.

AVOCADO — Flowering habits of avocado have required study. The flower opens and closes twice. At its first opening every flower behaves as if it were a female flower only, able to be pollinated but not able to shed pollen. Then it closes for a day, and when it opens again it is essentially a male flower, shedding pollen but no longer in condition to be pollinated.

All of the flowers on a tree open and close at the same time and all of the trees of the same variety behave just alike. This makes interplanting of several varieties very important.

Redeeming A Desert

A brave man has organized a company to fight a desert. The Sahara is advancing at the terrifying rate of 30 miles a year, according to Richard St. Harbe Baker of London, a long-time advocate of reforestation. As a result of his explorations through the desert two years ago, Baker has concluded that if trees are planted and the underlying water resources tapped, not only can the advance of sand be halted, but the Sahara can be made fruitful.

The world's largest desert, whose boundaries are uncertain but which is known to be larger than the United States, even including Alaska, the Sahara offers a supreme challenge. If it can be redeemed, to abolish our own dust bowls will be child's play.

TODAY'S HIBLE VERSE

Every head of the forest is mine.—Psalm 50:10. Some biologists used to think that life originated by chance as a chemical accident. No notable biologist in the world now believes that. Chance does not rule the world, but wisdom, and the Infinite directs it. Even chance is governed by law.

That private guesswork is the only one that Congress will be in session until Aug. 15. The House program would permit adjournment on July 26 as planned, but the Senate is bogged down, not because of Knowland's leadership, but by the irrespressible desire of Senators to talk.

There's even possibility of a 30-day session (after the House has gone home) to thrash out the pending Florida move in the Senate. No one will be quoted, but a number of Senators think this would provide entertainment far exceeding the late P. F. Barrum's Greatest Show on Earth.

Publics: Republicans are much more hopeful over retaining control of Congress than they were six months ago. Reasons cited by Republicans are: (1) Business is better. (2) The Public seems pleased with Eisenhower's legislative program. (3) Farmers are not protesting as much as expected over the Benson Flexible Support Program. (4) Candidates have back of them (for the first time since 1932) the support of a President and his cabinet.

The Atom — No control is in doubt. The struggle over atomic energy legislation constitutes one of the most important battles for the principles of private enterprise that has been waged in Congress for many years. The issue is this: Shall the competitive enterprise system be given full play in developing the industrial use of atomic energy... or shall the government-owned enterprises have their way and impose rigid regulation?

New legislation is required at the moment to allow the world peace plan to be passed. The legislation now in effect, known as the McMahon Act, was passed in 1946. It made atomic energy a monopoly, at that time, used that were freedom to obtain patents be given inventors. Many believe that the over-cautious attitude incorporated in the McMahon Act has retarded peacetime use of atomic energy.

This battle is still one of the main issues before Congress. The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy has recommended that the Atomic Energy Commission be given the power to require compulsory licensing of patents for five years. Under this procedure, atomic energy patents would be subject to use by any person, regardless of the wishes of the patent holder, upon payment of royalties prescribed by the Commission.

Opponents contend that compulsory licensing constitutes seizure of property and is contrary to the fundamental basis of the Patent System.

Contending that compulsory licensing is "un-American and dangerous," Rep. Cole (R-N.Y.), Chairman of the Joint Committee, argued this way: "If it is logical for 8 years, then why not 10 years or 20 years, or even indefinitely? If it is logical in the atomic energy field, then why not in other fields of economic endeavor such as electronics, radio, automobile, aircraft, or any other, if not all, segments of our economy?"

Chairman Cole plans to try to get the House to eliminate compulsory licensing. He is supported in his views by another committee member, Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.). Industry also objected to Anti-Trust Law provisions recommended by the Joint Committee. This resulted in a modification approved by the Senate which eliminated much of the basis for complaint.

As modified by the Senate, the Attorney-General shall notify the Atomic Energy Commission within 30 days if he thinks that a proposed license might conflict with Anti-Trust Laws. This would be done only in significant cases. The bill recommended by the Joint Committee also provides that a patent can be antitrust prior secret knowledge or use. This is contrary to the established patent laws of the United States. If this provision remains in the bill, no inventor can know whether his invention is patentable or, in case he does obtain a patent, whether such patent is valid.

WISCONSIN WELL PATH OFF

DETROIT (AP)—Workmen closed out a winning well at the Detroit Institute of Arts Monday and found $1,200,000 in small change. The well was placed in the lobby several years ago when Institute officials sought to discourage visitors from tossing pennies in a fountain exhibit. The pennies clogged the fountain and resulted in high repair bills. The money will be used to purchase new exhibits for the museum.

Cross state canal — The Florida cross-state canal came in for its share of attention again last week. Here to give the project a shot in the arm were: Admiral R. Malcolm Fortson, Managing Director of the Florida Ship Canal Authority (a state bureau); and Kenyon Parsons, Jacksonville insurance executive, serving in his capacity as chairman of the Maritime Committee of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce. Loaded with facts, figures, maps and charts, they appeared before the U. S. Army Engineers to request that the "economic data regarding the proposed canal be brought up to date."

Royalty in town — The king and queen were here this week. Miss Jean Sullivan, 16, of Hollywood and Jimmy Park, 16, of Daytona Beach, the winners of the Daytona Beach Youth Council king and queen contest spent two full days here, "Full Days" included a TV appearance, a visit to the Senate gallery, a luncheon with Senator Holland and Congressman Syd Herlong, a tour of the House floor and the Senate chamber, and a visit to the speakers' chair, an evening at "South Pacific," and a dinner in their honor given by the Florida State Society.

On the hill — Former Governor Millard Caldwell, conferring with Congressman Courtney Campbell and Syd Herlong. Also present were people from the State Department, Agriculture Department and Foreign Operations Administration. Aim: more Florida grapefruit for Europe.

THE NEWSPAPERS, we note, have been full of stories of heavy thunderstorms (elsewhere), heat waves (here, confound it!) and pictures of beauty contest candidates. Yep, this is the season of mud, sweat and tears.

These Moscow busybodies must have found the final results of that Quakerman rebellion positively revolting!

Ohio's Gov. Frank Lausche has just announced he isn't running for President in 1956. So what? We aren't either.

Congress has appropriated more than a billion and a half dollars for the Health, Education and Welfare department but only 175 million for the Justice department. To him, opines Granddaddy Jenkins, that hardly seems like justice.

The newest angle on beauty contests must be the naming, down in Savannah, Tenn., of a National Catfish Queen.

Judging by the rubens of session, the business politicians, most of the speeches must be made up of lighting words.

JAMES MARLOW President Optimistic About Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just as gloomy as it was, a warning from the European Defense Community (EDC) that the Community would be a major force of insurance against Russian attack.

Eisenhower told his nationwide television audience last night not to be "too discouraged" about the prospects for peace in Europe. He said some great statesmen were working on it.

But that's what they've been doing for years, particularly in a big conference last week to breathe life into EDC and, chosen for the single European army.

"There is still something to be done in that regard," he said, "and we are going to do it."

If this country has any solution for the EDC dilemma, it hasn't been disclosed, although no one has been more interested in the creation of EDC than the United States.

And if the British Prime Minister, Sir Winston Churchill, and the French Premier and foreign minister, Pierre Mendes France, found a solution they didn't indicate it after a five-hour meeting yesterday.

The Frenchman rushed to Churchill after the foreign ministers of the other EDC countries turned him down cold at Brussels last week on his plea for the kind of EDC which the French might buy but the others wouldn't.

The single European army—made up of troops from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—couldn't come into existence without approval by the French Parliament. It hasn't approved yet.

Mendes-France said he'd put the question to Parliament this month.

Mendes-France proposed a referendum for French opposition to EDC. He suggested to the other EDC ministers at Brussels last week 11 pages of changes in EDC. Unless the rest would accept them, he said, the French Parliament would vote against the project.

But those same reports said his proposed changes were so drastic that they would, in effect, scuttling any hope for EDC, a real, single European army, for years to come.

The others told him no. That it seemed meant the death of EDC when Parliament voted, unless some way out could be found, equally satisfying to the French and the EDC members.

Some have been made known. None so far.

The French, with a fear of a rearmament Germany which may seem absurd sometimes, might go along if the British would join EDC to give the French assurance the Germans could never run the single army.

Mendes-France may be playing a shrewd game here. He can tell the French Parliament now to make the best try he could in changes pleasing to the French and then say without French approval EDC was dead. Faced with a choice between no EDC and German rearmament on her own later, Parliament might say yes.

"Last year I traveled 19,900 miles in 50 states. I made 450 appearances, sometimes speaking to as many as 3,000 kids in one auditorium. Maybe I spoke to and did tricks for a half-million youngsters and grown-ups. If in those 450 appearances, I helped to save the life of one kid each time, that means I maybe helped save 450 kids. That's enough to make me dedicate myself to this work. Wouldn't it be for you?"

Strolling In Sanford

ANYBODY LOSE A DUCK?—Mary Ann Baker, Herald society editor, yesterday saw a duck waddling across the Seminole High School yard, followed by six ducklings.

"Eat and Plan" is the theme of the meeting of the First Methodist Church senior officers, program area, chairman and committee workers for Youth Activities Week at the church at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. From the church the group will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Linard, their counselors, at 2115 Stevens Ave. A hamburger fix is planned for lunch after which they will discuss and make final plans for Youth Activities Week, which begins at the church Sunday evening.

Approximately 400 Children Have Fun At Fishing Rodeo

The pop bottles popped, the ice cream slurped, and the kids were everywhere. It was one of the big social events of the small town's summer season—the 1954 Jaycee Fishing Rodeo.

Although the fish were slightly uncooperative — if not terror-stricken, the children had a wonderful time while the Jaycees and State wild life officers developed a harassed look as the event drew to a close. Approximately 400 kids between the ages of one and 14 were on hand and participating for the various prizes. The fish were wary, so the judges rearranged the prize list and almost every successful fisherman or fisherwoman took home a prize.

County Officials Meet To Streamline Archaic Statutes

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A committee of county tax collectors, assessors and circuit court clerks met here today to modernize laws which date back to 1907.

The group will recommend to the Legislature a streamlined codification of tax assessment and collection laws which would eliminate, for instance, a statute which results in the state comptroller's office being deluged annually with copies of budgets, tax rolls and assessment lists for which it has had no use since the state stepped out of the ad valorem tax field in 1944.

The law which says the comptroller must be sent such data is still on the books along with a number of other obsolete statutes.

"There's just a lot of law there's no use for," said Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Tom Henderson who is in charge of the statutory revision department of the attorney general's office and who named the modernization committee.

A similar measure was offered to the legislature in 1953 but was rejected.

Those two features will be embodied in a separate bill at the forthcoming session. Henderson said and don't handicap the measure to streamline the tax laws.

The modernization bill will collect in one chapter all laws dealing with tax exemptions and put in another chapter all statutes bearing on tax assessing and collectors' fees will be eliminated, including all references to state collection of ad valorem taxes.

Advising the committee in addition to Henderson is Lewis H. Tribble of the comptroller's office.

Members present today were tax collector Clyde H. Simpson of Duval County, Ed McDowell of Seminole County, Tax Assessor J. H. Vaughan of Okaloosa, Clerk D. H. Sloan Jr. of the Polk County Circuit Court, Tax Collector Ray Clements of Polk and Clerk Arthur W. Newell of the Orange County Circuit Court.

Teen-Agers Are Campaigning Against Obscene Literature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The problem of obscene literature is getting attention in several Florida cities.

The Daytona Beach City Commission will consider at its next meeting recommendations of a committee which has drawn up a list of publications it believes should be banned.

The Tallahassee City Commission, which was asked by a group of teen-agers to consider an ordinance against obscene literature, decided against approving such a regulation after the attorney said it would be too difficult to enforce.

However, the commission was told some magazines already have been withdrawn from sale voluntarily and local news distributors have volunteered to take off the stands literature judged objectionable by responsible civic organizations.

In Palatka, a group of young people has begun a campaign against obscene magazines modeled on the drive by the Tallahassee teen-agers who first proposed a ban on such publications.

An indication that comic book publishers themselves may take action against objectionable material came last week when news dealers in commission at Daytona Beach were told some publishers are planning self-censorship.

The publishers are seeking "prominent jurists" to examine their magazines and grant a stamp of approval to those which pass muster. Leo Holland, eastern sales manager of the Independent News Co., said

Over 5,700 Students Expected Enrollment Is Slated For Sept. 1

More than 5,700 youths are expected to enroll Wednesday, Sept. 1, in the 10 white and Negro schools throughout Seminole County, according to H. T. Milwee, County superintendent of public instruction.

School buses will carry the registrants to and from the schools. They will run one hour later than this year's school schedule.

Sept. 6 will mark the end of the three-week pre-school conferences of teachers, supervisors, principals and superintendents. This is the first time three weeks have been designated for pre-school activities in the past two weeks were set aside at the beginning and end of the school year, but more time was given this year to allow the individual teachers ample opportunity to complete their plans and place their classrooms in order.

Superintendent Milwee said, "In this way we will be able to make

Police Crack Down On Reds In Brazil Following Violence

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazil police cracked down on the not far Communist party today after 48 hours of riots and demonstrations touched off by the suicide of President Getulio Vargas.

Annual increasing violence in Brazil played a strong hand in sparking the riots, aimed in part against the United States, more than 100 Communists were under arrest. One was accused specifically of bombing a police car.

Judge, Sheriff Among 22 Arrested In Alabama Probe

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Suggestions that Florida's growing problem of higher education might be partly met by "community colleges" or a system of state supported junior colleges came from two sources.

With enrollment in institutions of higher learning in the state expected to swell from 27,000 this year to about 90,000 students in 1970, state officials and educational leaders including Gov. Donnan L. Collins are giving serious attention to ways of meeting the problem.

The suggestion that "community colleges might be one way of handling some of the increasing load came from Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, former Florida State University dean and now executive secretary of the State Board of Control.

In a speech to the Tallahassee Optimists Club yesterday, Dr. Culpepper said "community college" could be set up at several centers throughout the state to prepare students to continue their academic education in senior colleges or to give them instruction in trade and technical fields.

House Speaker James Bryant of Ocala, in a speech to the Senate today, said he would support the creation of a number of junior colleges in heavily populated areas of the state to meet the needs of the state.

"Only 25 per cent of the kids who go to college ever graduate," Bryant said, "I think a lot could be accomplished if we could at least give them a couple years of college while they live at home."

The state of Mississippi now has a system of state supported junior colleges which has been in operation for several years.

Florida law provides that certain counties or groups of counties which make a financial contribution of at least 5 per cent greater than the minimum local requirement to support the Minimum Foundation program for the first 12 grades can set up junior colleges.

There are five junior colleges in the state which receive state financial aid. They are at St. Petersburg, Marianna, West Palm Beach and two, a white and a Negro, at Homosassa.

Universities of Orlando also have junior colleges but they do not participate in the Minimum Foundation program.

A comprehensive study of the problem now being made by the Council for the State of Higher Education, a group of trustees. Preliminary findings may be ready for the 1955 Legislature.

Dr. A. J. L. Loughran is directing the study. Work being offered by both public and private institutions of higher learning in the state is being studied when the council's study has been completed Florida will be told how much money will be needed to handle the big enrollment jump.

Judge Stenstrom Tells Candidacy For State Senate

Seminole County Judge Douglas Stenstrom today announced his candidacy for the office of state senator for the 27th senatorial district, comprising Inland and Seminole Counties.

Judge Stenstrom, who is 73 years old and has served in Seminole County Judge for the past six years will run in the special Democratic primary to be held by the State Democratic committee in announcing for the senatorial term of the late Sen. Lloyd K. Boyle. Stenstrom said he believes that he can serve fairly and impartially.

State Officials Named Earlier

Lamar County Ala. Probate Judge E. G. Johnson, Sheriff Harold Smith and 20 others had been arrested Thursday on charges of Lamar County election law violations.

Mass indictments returned by a grand jury which blasted Lamar voting practices was the third round Alabama took today in reported election irregularities in the spring Democratic primaries.

The indictments, which grand jury returned on August 23, include charges of bribery, bribery, conspiracy, and other offenses.

Earlier the Jefferson County grand jury at Birmingham had indicted three prominent state officials—Atty. Gen. Frank B. Battle, Circuit Court Solicitor Arch Carroll, and Jefferson Democratic Chairman Lamar Ralston on vote fraud charges. Ralston has since resigned his party post.

Mass arrests were being made on the Lamar County indictments, with a total of about 40 persons expected to be served with warrants.

The charges there mainly were of illegally casting absentee ballots, assisting in illegal absentee voting, and buying or attempting to buy absentee ballots.

Judge Johnson declared comment one way or the other on the charges. Smith said the sheriff was "as honest as the rest of the candidates."

Agents Grab Big Marijuana Haul

MIAMI (AP)—Biggest haul of marijuana ever taken in a Florida raid was reported today by federal narcotics agents who arrested two men.

Kenneth C. Rudi, U.S. narcotics agent in charge of sale of marijuana, announced the arrest of Fernando Gerena, 29, of North Miami, and Roberto Rodriguez, 30, of Miami Beach, on charges of sale and possession of marijuana.

Gerena was released on $5,000 bond and Rodriguez on $2,500 bond pending arraignment before U.S. Commissioner Roger E. Davis next Wednesday. They were arrested in a Miami hotel yesterday.

Rudi said Gerena was previously arrested on charges of sale of cocaine and possession of marijuana but that Rodriguez was believed to be a first time offender.

Agents also seized a 1950 automobile and a small postal scale used for weighing out the weed at about $20 an ounce on the current wholesale market. Rudi said the two men were wholesalers.

Forty 1-pound packages of marijuana were seized at $15,000 to $20,000 each, were confiscated. Rudi said the previous largest haul in Florida was 16 pounds seized here two years ago.

"This again shuts off the principal and main source of supply in the Miami area," Rudi added. "There is every indication and some evidence that this marijuana was brought into this country over the Texas border from Mexico."

County Officials Meet To Streamline Archaic Statutes

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A committee of county tax collectors, assessors and circuit court clerks met here today to modernize laws which date back to 1907.

The group will recommend to the Legislature a streamlined codification of tax assessment and collection laws which would eliminate, for instance, a statute which results in the state comptroller's office being deluged annually with copies of budgets, tax rolls and assessment lists for which it has had no use since the state stepped out of the ad valorem tax field in 1944.

The law which says the comptroller must be sent such data is still on the books along with a number of other obsolete statutes.

"There's just a lot of law there's no use for," said Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Tom Henderson who is in charge of the statutory revision department of the attorney general's office and who named the modernization committee.

A similar measure was offered to the legislature in 1953 but was rejected.

Those two features will be embodied in a separate bill at the forthcoming session. Henderson said and don't handicap the measure to streamline the tax laws.

The modernization bill will collect in one chapter all laws dealing with tax exemptions and put in another chapter all statutes bearing on tax assessing and collectors' fees will be eliminated, including all references to state collection of ad valorem taxes.

Advising the committee in addition to Henderson is Lewis H. Tribble of the comptroller's office.

Members present today were tax collector Clyde H. Simpson of Duval County, Ed McDowell of Seminole County, Tax Assessor J. H. Vaughan of Okaloosa, Clerk D. H. Sloan Jr. of the Polk County Circuit Court, Tax Collector Ray Clements of Polk and Clerk Arthur W. Newell of the Orange County Circuit Court.
