Supreme Court Holds New Law Does Not Apply

Hope Of Voiding Sale Of City Properties To Pay Judgment Is Blasted By Ruling

Ashton Judgment Is For $17,988

Sheriff Levied Upon Property One Week Before Law Passed

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 17. (AP)—The State Supreme Court late yesterday affirmed the Seminole County Court in dismissing the City of Sanford's motion to deny an injunction prohibiting the sale of Sanford city property on which Augustus T. Ashton of Philadelphia had obtained a levy and judgment.

In handing down the important ruling, the Supreme Court said that the 1935 legislative act prohibiting a levy for judgment against municipal property did not apply in this case because Ashton obtained vested right in the property before the act was passed.

When shown the above dispatch to The Herald, City Attorney Fred R. Wilson declined to make any comment, other than to say that he did not know if the City Commission would take any further action. The Commission is to meet in adjourned session Friday evening. The City attorney, did, however, recount the history of the case.

Ashton is the owner of City of Sanford bonds in the amount of $15,000, and on Apr. 18, 1932, obtained a judgment against the city in the sum of $17,988.25, principal and interest. Only July 15, 1935.

CHURCHILL'S SON FOR BRITISH DEBT PAYMENT

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The issue of Great Britain's unpaid war debts in the United States, usually a subject taboo for discussion in England, has been mentioned in passing by Randolph Churchill, son of Winston Churchill. In a speech on Anglo-American friendship, the son of the writer suggested that to obtain the cooperation of the United States with the British "the American debt should be settled at once." He went on to urge that a treaty binding London and Washington never to fight on opposite sides should be signed, and that the Washington and London naval treaties should be scrapped for new agreements under which both nations might build up their forces to the limit.

Experts Studying Effect Of Canal On Water Supply

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—War department and geological survey officials said Wednesday they were co-operating to reach "the most scientific conclusion" on the probable effect of a Florida sea-level canal on the state's fresh water supply. W. C. Mendenhall, geological survey chief, and army engineers expressed surprise at a report that they were nearing an open battle in disagreement over the canal's geological aspects. Mendenhall termed the report "unfortunate." The army engineers' forecasts have elicited findings of the President's canal board of review that effect on the underground streams by ocean pollution would be slight. On the other hand geological survey reported the pollution and diversion of the fresh streams might be severe.

Fire Chief Asks Children In Schools To Help Their Parents Prevent Fire

School children can do a great deal in preventing fire, Fire Chief Mac Cleveland told more than 400 boys and girls attending Seminole High School following a fire drill this morning. They cannot only help prevent fire at the school, the chief said, but they can be of great assistance in their homes by keeping their eyes open for possible fire hazards, such as waste paper in and about their homes, old rags and other waste, defective wiring, and loose gas connections. He asked them to be particularly watchful of electric lights and gas flames, and told his youthful listeners that they have a duty to perform in preventing fire. While possibly their job is not as great, Chief Cleveland told the high school boys and girls that they should consider their responsibility in preventing fire. Chief Cleveland told the school what the fire department means to the community, and asked the children to take a greater interest in the department and its work. Time taken to empty the high school building when the fire gong was rung was not taken, but Chief Cleveland said that teachers and children got out of the building in a hurry. "It was a successful fire drill," he said.

Full School Term Is Prediction Gov. Sholtz Today

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 17. Prospective increases in allocations of the state's general revenue fund, the Governor said, will make possible a payment of about three and a half million from that source in addition to five and one-half million expected from automobile licenses, the one-half million property tax and interest on installment school funds. "I am confident the public schools will operate for a full term," the Governor said.

French-British Pact Seems Endangered; Crisis Approaches Definite Showdown

Britain Demands Promise Of Help Laval Declines Aid Unless A Blockade Is League's Order

MAKING HASTE TO BE RICH—He that by usury and unjust gain increaseth his substance, he shall gather it for him, that will pity the poor. A faithful man shall abound in blessings, but he that maketh haste to be rich, shall not be innocent. — Proverbs 28: 8, 20.

For a newspaper published in a town which is one hundred percent in favor of the canal, the Ocala Star is conducting quite a campaign to make sure that the bond issue goes over.

We see where the movies are going classical and planning to produce Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." They'll probably change the name of it though, to "Up in Mabel's Room."

We see where one of the foremost commanders of the Ethiopian army is named "Dedjaz-mach Nasablu." The idea seems to be that if you didn't match Nasablu, you lose.

Halle Selassie takes a mighty vow that he will not rest until he has driven the Italian invaders from his borders. But it is going to take something besides mighty vows, and loax and arrows, to do it.

Those who think that a permanent settlement of our bonded indebtedness is more important than a low tax rate should write St. Petersburg, Palm Beach and other cities and counties which have made settlements and see how they like them.

"As a matter of fact," says the Miami Beach Tribune speaking of the cross-state canal, "the public of this part of the state should fight as a unit against continuance of work on the project. It will be too late after the ditch is dug to do anything about it."

A friend of ours who lives in another city, but who has considerable interests in Sanford, and pays his taxes, writes: "I note where Sanford is to lose Karl Lehmann as Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. This is bad. In my opinion he has done much good for Sanford and Seminole County and it will be difficult to get another man as good to take his place."

Another newspaper writer suggests that while it has been conclusively demonstrated that President Roosevelt is violently opposed to any return to the old "horse and buggy days," nevertheless the frequent adventures of his sons with their automobiles would seem to indicate that the Roosevelt family at least would be better off under the old order.

We see by the Deland Sun News where the Mercy-Argenteau-Avray collection of rare and costly French works of art, under the supervision of Mrs. Madeline B. Gill is now being exhibited in Deland under the auspices of Stetson University. Sanford art lovers will recall that this was the collection which was exhibited in Sanford last Spring.

And Hitler is said to be dying to death with the split among the old Allies—Germany, France and Britain. If they and England just get busy watching each other, and shooting at each other, they will give the Nazis the very opportunity they have been looking for to gobble up Austria, Czechoslovakia, and portions of the western provinces of France. That is all the sane France so nervous.

The Newsprint Industry

Pointing out that this country buys two-thirds of its newsprint from foreign lands at a cost of about 100 million dollars a year, the New Orleans Times-Picayune insists that there is a chance for a new industry which this country needs and which should be one upon which the South particularly could capitalize. With the prospects of another European war becoming more apparent every day, the importance to the newspapers of the country of building up a domestic supply can hardly be exaggerated.

"Until recently technical difficulties blocked the path of the development," the New Orleans paper declares. "Now it seems the objections to yellow pine pulpwood as material for good newsprint have been largely removed and the United States forestry service intimates that experimental mills on a large scale are in order. Probability that a Southern newsprint industry could hold its ground in almost any competition is implied in the forestry report to the United States Senate, and the last Congress apparently saw the situation in the same light when it considered a grant for a Southern newsprint mill."

"Robust growth of the Kraft paper industry has failed so far to extend to newsprint, with the heart, fiber and resins of yellow pine interposing difficulties in the manufacture of the print paper. These objections can be overcome, the forestry study indicates, by utilizing the relatively heart-free and resin-free pine saplings, and through correct chemical processes."

"Admittedly the South has the cheap waterway transportation essential to reach the large markets of the North and East, while low-cost power is in prospect from the TVA development. The sulphur and limestone required for the chemical processes are here from mines on the spot. Seemingly the pine sapling resources are abundant. While the standing timber is ample, millions of acres of cutover lands now idle are ideally suited to production of the fast-growing saplings."

"Prime interest of the AAA in the matter seems to be employment and a farming connection. It also wants some use made of now unproductive areas. We know what that means in Louisiana, for this state has more than its share of the barren cutover land. During the slack months on the farm, much of the farming population might find employment in the woods, if the forestry service views are correct."

"Considering competitive conditions, the South might be called on at the end of 14 years to supply yearly as much as 2,000,000 cords of newsprint pulpwood out of the 6,000,000 expected to be required for the country at that time. Which, of course, implies an industry exceeding in size that of either rice or sugar."

"If the Emperor decides to direct the battle from Deage he will be surrounded by the natural fortifications on which the Ethiopians count heavily to aid them in defeating the Italians as they did 20 years ago.

A 1,200 Foot-Fall

How does it feel to fall out of bed? Ask any three-year-old and he will probably tell you that the floor jumped right up and hit him in the face. But that is not the way it is when you fall out of an airplane. Capt. Harry G. Armstrong, a member of the Army's Medical Corps, insists that a long fall from an airplane is a very "gentle, evenly distributed pressure—something like being lowered slowly into a great bed of softest down."

We dare say that sensation would end rather abruptly sooner or later were it not for the very efficient parachutes. But at a thousand feet above the earth's surface Capt. Armstrong pulled his ripcord and descended gently to the ground. Then, for the Journal of the American Medical Association he described in detail his psychological and physiological reactions.

Mentally, "consciousness was unclouded and ideation was rapid, precise, penetrating, and clear." Physically, "visual perception was normal, the earth, objects, and individuals below and the sky above were normally visible. There were no consciously perceptible heart-beats or other bodily processes."

"There was no nausea or vertigo . . . no abnormalities in the cardiovascular system . . . none of the empty or 'gone' feeling . . . common in elevators and air-planes. The eyes, although unprotected from the high wind blast, were not irritated. Breathing was even, regular, and unobstructed."

Captain Armstrong points the moral to his jump: Airmen should leave disabled ships more readily and delay opening the parachute until all danger of entanglement with the plane is past.

WHITE HOUSE "LUXURY" REVENUE PLAN AGGRAVATED

Presidents are expensive. The President of the United States is very expensive, as to original cost and up-keep. So what? Abolition of the office has not been proposed, but an analysis of its cost to the American taxpayer, in The Chicago Tribune, prompts one to consider severe proposals. Walter Trohan, who reviewed the presidential luxuries, suggested no remedy. What an oversight!

It seems that the White House and grounds are valued at $15,000,000, so the President's home has a rental value of $1,000,000 a year. The place has to be maintained, sometimes improved, and that costs many thousands of dollars. The President gets a "monthly" $75,000 a year salary plus $25,000 traveling allowance, but the Tribune's correspondent makes these sums merely pocket change. He has secretaries, chauffeurs, butlers, cooks, gardeners and other servants. Why, he even has a special police force at the White House, along with 10 secret service men who take special care of him! These men, of course, must be paid by the taxpayer. Yes, sir, they're costing a tremendous sum!

The rain gauge shows that 44 of an inch of rain fell Wednesday evening, and the river at Sanford has risen nearly three-quarters of an inch above normal, according to measurements taken by G. F. Pearson. Press dispatches report a rise of more than one and one-half feet in the Lake Okechobee water level.

Karl Lehmann appeared before the Jacksonville City Commission yesterday afternoon in behalf of the Florida exhibit in Rockefeller Center, New York, this coming winter, with the result that the commission recommended the $2,000 for participation by the state's metropolis in the big show.

L. M. Fifth Candidate Enters Race For City Commission

W. R. Dupree Decides To Contest Seat Of Vivian Speer

W. R. Dupree late yesterday qualified before F. S. Lamson as a candidate for the City Commission in Group Two, bringing the number of candidates in the November election to five. He will oppose Vivian Speer incumbent, and W. D. Hoffman, both of whom had already qualified. The other two candidates in the City Commission race are Perry N. Whitehurst and F. L. Miller in Group One, to succeed Commissioners H. J. Lehman who will not be a candidate for re-election.

Yesterday was the last day when candidates could file, and Mr. Dupree was the last to qualify.

Mr. Dupree has been a resident of Sanford about 15 years and is interested in the Palmetto grove on Palmetto Avenue and Fourth Street. He said this is his first entry in city politics, though he was an unsuccessful candidate for the state Legislature two years ago. The City election will be on Nov. 5, and voters not now registered must register before 4 P. M. on Saturday, Oct. 20.

Washington expected to form the rest of the population of the model town. What the houses will sell for was not revealed.

The resettlement administration reported that "the land is gently rolling and attractively wooded. A small stream," it said, "which runs through the property, will be used to form a lake on the outskirts of the town." It promised that bus service to Washington would be arranged for to supplement highway and train facilities. The town, it added, would "demonstrate the possibilities, as far as realized in this country, of a really planned community."

Some 25,000 relief roll workers are to be put on the construction job. All relief transactions in Washington will be suspended. The locations of the three other model villages was not announced due to possibility that negotiation might be interfered with, but it was believed that special attention had been given the New York area.

"We are trying to demonstrate a new method to break down the present intolerable situation," said W. W. Alexander, Assistant Resettlement Administrator, "in which the welfare of one-third of American families is menaced because they live in sub-standard homes. The results are so damaging to health, efficiency and morals as to constitute a charge on the population as a whole."

"Past experience has shown that private industry cannot afford to build adequately for the low-income groups, and even those groups, as individuals, build adequately for themselves. If, however, the government takes some of the money it spends to correct the results of bad housing, and spends it preventively in erecting good housing, all of us will benefit, and we will at the same time be giving jobs to men in need of them. We buy land outside city limits where prices are relatively low and large tracts can be obtained for planned demonstration communities."

"This is the first saving. The second and most important means by which we propose to build good homes at low cost is to apply the methods of mass production. The houses in our developments will be assembled with efficiency, economy and speed."

Part Of Right-Of-Way For Highway Secured

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 17.—Pressing his efforts to obtain the necessary right-of-way for the entrance into the city of the new Federal-state highway from Waynes, Harvey Mabry, city claims attorney, yesterday reported to the city commission that he had title to about one-third of the necessary distance.

The entrance of the highway for the present is planned through Kings Road, the intersection being at a point near Grand Crossing. The right of way within the city limits is 100 ft.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS NEW LAW DOES NOT APPLY

Continued From Page One—of that year he obtained a writ of execution directed to the sheriff of Seminole County to levy on City property and collect the judgment. Under this order the sheriff levied on several properties, including the Mayfair Hotel which was sold to satisfy on his bid of $1,000. Suit to set aside this sale was brought by the City and is now pending.

On Apr. 5 of this year a bill was introduced in the State Legislature to prohibit the levying of executions on properties of a municipality, but on Apr. 12 the sheriff levied on some 1,500 pieces of property on which the City had foreclosed for non-payment of taxes. About a week later, on Apr. 19, this legislative measure was enacted into law.

FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS

The giant GOOSE was killed near St. Marks, December 6, 1928, by T. Frederick Davis, prominent historian of Jacksonville, who is in the center of the above group of sportsmen, composed of the late H. Clay Crawford, secretary of state, and the late Arthur T. Williams, prominent Jacksonville business man and president of the Florida Historical Society.

Before the federal government could be persuaded to construct the St. Petersburg OPEN AIR POST OFFICE, many extensive studies were made including voluminous weather reports. Since then it has proven so practical that the novel idea has been copied elsewhere in Florida, also in California and Texas. All boxes, windows and writing tables are in the open, sheltered only by the roof. During the pre-Christmas rush, the open air construction is especially advantageous, as long lines can form at the windows without crowding or creating a ventilation problem.

Torch Is Presented To Miss Jane Sharon

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 17.—Miss Jane Sharon, of Sanford, was among the 100 freshmen, at Florida State College for Women, who received a torch which the sophomore class presented in carrying out one of the traditions of the college, at the annual Torch Night ceremony in the Open Air theater last night.

The theme of Torch Night was taken from the old Greek custom called "Lampadadromia." From Prometheus' bright altar, swift runners took a lighted torch and handed it on undimmed, and thus it passed from the first runner to the last. Therefore, the sophomores are handing down to the freshmen the torch to guard, symbolizing the three torches of the college emblem, Mores, Virtus, Artes. It is for the freshmen to keep the flames burning bright while they run their race so they in turn may pass it on to succeeding classes in the years to come.

This impressive classical pageant with Greek settings, scenes and characters, was simplified this year, going back to the original idea.

announcement that after a conference there with William Dripps, director of NRI National Farm and Home Hour, arrangements were completed for the third presentation of this feature from the Orange Festival here next January.

Stetson's Eleven Plays In Alabama Tomorrow Night

Physical Condition Of Some Players Is Not The Best

DELAND, Oct. 17.—Hoping to secure the second victory of the season, the Stetson University football team and coaches left here this morning for DeLand, Alabama where the Hatters meet Howard College tomorrow night.

Recalling that the Howard Bulldogs held the celebrated University of Alabama eleven to a 7-7 tie three weeks ago, Head Coach Beady Cowell was not too confident of success but expected that the Hatters would give a good account of themselves in the approaching encounter.

Charles Freeman, line coach, whose starlets have been making a fine record this season, was concerned for the physical condition of a number of his starlets as the squad left today.

Robert Hagness, left tackle, who served as captain in the Florida game, is complaining of a peculiar injury to his hip which gives him pain and reduces his effectiveness. He is hoping that this will be sufficiently improved to permit play Friday night, however, a sprained ankle apparently will keep the star left tackle, Claude Miller, on the sidelines most of the game and this will be a loss to the DeLand outfit.

However, Frank Mitchell, 230-pound center, also is treating a sore knee.

The Hatters end, however, who formerly were Cowell's chief problem, are now in excellent condition with Lynn Hardy, Herbert Phillips and Sam Barber of the first-string fighting to maintain their places against James Dickson, John Cadman and John Turner who have developed rapidly as useful wing guards.

The backfield also is reinforced by the return of Milt Schomer, half, who was kept out of the Oglethorpe effort by a twisted hip, Ken Landon, quarterback, and Tom Charnick, plunger, full, in prime condition.

Ed Knutle, Audrey Smith and James Martin are now showing good form. Only Herbert Worring of the backfield men is nursing a minor injury which, however, should not keep him from the battle.

Fall Is Marked By Various Activities On Farms In Every Section Of Florida

ORLANDO, Oct. 17.—Twelve Orange county 4-H Club boys and one girl are going to try their hands at raising beef, a Baby Beef Club, which will be sponsored by the Orlando Rotary Club, having just been formed. Other club members are expected to join County Agent K. C. Moore says.

LAKE CITY, Oct. 17.—The first lot of 1935-36 hogs to be sold by Columbia county farmers was bought by an Alachua concern, six farmers receiving a total of $1,632 for the lot, according to a report from County Agent Guy Cox.

WAUCHULA, Oct. 17.—A central packing house, owned and controlled by Hardee county farmers, is expected to be ready for operations by the time the harvest of fall crops gets under way, County Agent H. L. Miller says.

Politicians Who Resign Generally Heed Call Again

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Politicians at Washington who are resigning are generally heeding the call of their constituents to return to their homes and farms.

It is a lot luckier than some of the others Mr. Roosevelt has persuaded to accept a "New Deal" assignment and then permitted them to resign. Glance over the list.

Outstanding is General Hugh Johnson when he quit NRA he thought it would be probably for a long time. Within a few months, however, he was back for a stretch in harness as administrator of WPA in New York at F. D. R.'s urgent request.

James Moffett made his first public appearance in Washington to help administer the oil code. He left after a short while and returned to private business. Mr. Roosevelt sent for him and made him administrator of the Federal Housing Administration.

Then there's Frank Walker. He all but begged the President for permission to quit the national emergency council to rehabilitate the finances of his chain of movie houses. Finally F. D. R. relented and let him go, but within a few weeks he called Walker back for an even more important post in the "New Deal."

The youthful John Winant of New Hampshire had much the same experience. The President persuaded him to head the board of inquiry to settle the textile matter. He finished his job and went to Geneva as assistant director of the International Labor Office of the League of Nations.

For the experience, as he put it. He had been there only a short while before Congress enacted the social security bill and President Roosevelt had him hurrying it home to accept the chairmanship of the social security board.

And then there's Ferdinand Pecora who resigned from the security board.

Mr. Pecora pointed out that state commissioners and reputable horse owners had been working two years to put a stop to the practice on their own initiative and at their own expense, a service to the government, for it is plain that legislation cannot be applied to a horse until they are licensed and the matter is really a job for the Federal Government.

Ethiopia Allows Victim's Kin To Avenge Murders

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 17.—Near the new railway station which symbolizes progress in Ethiopia stands a square stone building, relic of the days when the relatives of a murdered man were permitted to dispose of his murderer. It is the execution house. There the relatives may still play the role of executioner.

In a room inside is a post where the murderer is chained. Facing it is a fixed rifle. If blood money has been refused and the murderer must die, one of the relatives may pull the trigger.

Bandits are usually hanged, and murderers, too, in some provinces. Hanging poles sometimes may be seen along country roads. But in the capital shooting is the rule, and Friday usually is the day.

A procession winds through the streets toward the square stone house. Sometimes there is only one central figure, sometimes several, shuffling under guard, their feet shackled by a short chain and their wrists chained together. With the procession walk the relatives of the murdered, sometimes silent, but sometimes obviously anticipating the event, laughing and even singing.

A convicted murderer need never enter the house. Ethiopian justice recommends that the relatives of the murdered man take blood money rather than blood. It is only if they insist that the murderer must die. If, at his conviction, they have agreed to take money, he is bound to collect it and repay their loss in thalers.

The amount is set by the court. And, high or low, the murderer must beg. Whether the amount be a few hundred or a thousand thalers, it must be raised by contributions from friends and strangers. Even houseboys give a thaler or so to the fellow at the back door with his card certifying he is asking for blood money.

Thieves are scourged. They can be seen sometimes in the streets.

Florida producers, whether or not they are operating under adjustment contracts in 1935 are urged by officials of the State Agricultural Extension Service to vote in the referendum. It is pointed out that only by having an expression of preference for or against the program is it possible to arrive at the true sentiment of growers.

County agricultural agents and adjustment committees will conduct the referendum, and opportunity to vote will be given to everyone, who can qualify as a producer, says W. J. Sheely, Extension agent in animal husbandry.

Meetings in which the situation with reference to corn and hogs will be explained are expected to be scheduled in the principal producing counties prior to the date of the referendum.

While details of the plan for the 1936 program will not be worked out until it is determined whether the program is to be placed into effect next year, it is presumed that the plan will be similar to the present one, with slight changes and improvements.

Secretary Wallace will announce on Nov. 5 whether the program will be placed into effect.

Future Farmers Take In Four New Members

Most of the evening was taken up with discussions of the forthcoming Fathers and Sons banquet and the opening of the meat house. It is expected that the banquet will be the Club's outstanding social event of the year. It will be served in the cafeteria of the Seminole High School, at a date to be announced later. The meat house will be opened Dec. 1.

Members attending last night's meeting of the local chapter of Future Farmers were George Mauer, Lionel Appleby, Robert Hunter, Carol Culpepper, Lee Hunter, Frank Jones, Henry James, Ronald Mulharg, Jerry Senkarik, William Burnett, John Dague, Herbert Thurston, Howard Dague and Clifford Gustavson, the latter presiding at the session. New Taxes May Be Necessary, Report Shows

Dwindling Revenues Bring Threat Of Additional Levies To Equal Deficit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Steady gains in federal revenues which prompted President Roosevelt to say that no new taxes would be needed to finance the New Deal have halted and loss in receipts for the first three and one-half months of the new fiscal year were reported by the Treasury.

Between July 1 and Oct. 15, figures showed, the government collected $1,120,192,588 as compared with $1,121,363,496 in the corresponding period last year. Total collections during September were $367,493,16 below those of the same month last year.

These figures indicated that the action of the Supreme Court on AAA processing taxes may determine the necessity of new and higher taxes immediately. The Treasury's report showed that a sharp slump in collection of processing taxes levied under the AAA crop reduction program was chiefly responsible for the dwindling revenues.

More than $100,000,000 of these levies now are tied up in litigation as processors await the Supreme Court's decision on the constitutionality of such a tax. The government is obligated to pay its agricultural partners $1,370,565,421 up to June 30, 1936. It already has sent out checks totalling $702,708,440 and has collected $941,912,406.

When President Roosevelt revised his budget estimates to predict optimistically that total revenues for this fiscal year would exceed last year's by $200,000,000 he also noted that estimated receipts were contingent upon conditions in the crop year.

Funeral Services For Hays Lewis Held In Marianna

MARIANNA, Oct. 18.—Attended by high state officials, funeral services were conducted here today for State Senator H. Hays Lewis, 67, who died at his home here Wednesday night from uremic poisoning and malarial complications.

The death of Hays Lewis leaves vacant the state senatorship from Jackson county, to which he was elected in 1934 for a four-year term. In the Senate, where he also served a four-year term from 1929 to 1934, he frequently referred to himself as being "for the man with the sun-burned back."

Lewis was a champion of liberal legislation. He was one of those who successfully guided to final passage over Gov. Carlton's veto in 1931 a bill legalizing and taxing pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing. He had been mentioned in recent months as a probable candidate for governor next year.

Lewis also gave his support vigorously to public school financial laws, declaring the child of modern times deserved "better than the little red school house that I attended."

U. S. ANNEXES ISLES FOR AIR LINE

As a means of affording mid-ocean refueling fields for trans-Pacific air lines, just now in their infancy, the United States has annexed three tiny islands known as Howland, Baker and Jarvis, southwest of Honolulu. The picture at the top shows the American flag flying over Howland where colonization already has begun. The location of the islands is shown on the map below. The black line indicates the air line already surveyed and the dotted lines designate proposed routes. (Associated Press Photos)

Tiny Islands in Pacific Annexed To United States

Dots in South Seas Needed As Bases For New Air Line

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Three tiny islands in the South Seas, far to the south and southwest of Honolulu, have been "colonized" at the instigation of the Air Commerce Bureau of the Department of Commerce and have just been claimed as annexed to the United States, it was disclosed recently.

Chosen for their possible utility as bases in trans-Pacific American air service to Australia and New Zealand, these hitherto deserted sandstrewn coral reefs, one of them bearing the bulk of a wrecked steamer, have been officially declared American territory within the last week. They are expected to be within the Administration of the Territory of Hawaii.

Necessity of further air bases in the Pacific became apparent with the successful trips of the Pan-American Airways' gigantic Clipper flying boat. The Clipper, commanded by Captain R. O. D. Sullivan, arrived at Guam recently on the 1,500-mile leg from Wake Island, covering the distance in 10 hours 11 minutes without incident. It will fly back to the United States and later make another cross-Pacific trip to Manila. Regular air service is then to be inaugurated from the United States to the Philippines. The line eventually will be extended to Canton, China.

The islands are Jarvis, which is 1,400 miles due south of Honolulu, and Baker and Howland, sixty miles apart and approximately 1,600 miles southwest of the Hawaiian capital.

State Department records showed that Michael Baker, an American, claimed to have discovered both Baker and Jarvis Islands, the former in 1832, the latter in 1835. He revisited Baker Island in 1839, and claimed it for the United States. George E. Natcher discovered Howland Island in 1842. Its possession by the United States was claimed in 1857.

Old Hill Yard May Be Added To Big Market

Commissioner Rhodes In Favor Of State Acquiring Property Adjacent To Plant

Acquisition by the state of the old lumber yards of the Hill Lumber Company and adding the property to the State Farmers' Wholesale Market is in prospect. Purchase of the property, now owned by W. E. Kirchhoff, by the state is favored by State Marketing Commissioner L. M. Rhodes, he stated upon a visit to Sanford today and he will take the matter up at a meeting of the State Agricultural Board to be held in Sanford next Tuesday.

The Hill property is adjacent to the market and is needed for enlargement of that establishment, it is said. Buildings now on the property would provide about 100 more stalls, as well as bunkhouses for truckers. There would also be room there for a cafeteria. Remodelling costs would not be great, members of the committee stated.

Mr. Rhodes spent only a brief time in the city this morning, conferring with H. M. Papworth, chairman of the supervisory committee, and others. He will attend next Tuesday's meeting with Nathan Mayo, state commissioner of agriculture, and Neil Rhodes, assistant marketing commissioner for the state. This meeting will be held at the market at 10 o'clock in the morning, with members of the supervisory and executive committees, all members of those boards being urged to attend.

Members of the supervisory committee are H. M. Papworth, chairman; George E. Balmes, F. E. Dornier, Alex. R. Johnson, H. J. Lehman, John Mellichamp, R. M. Packard, M. S. Wiggins and S. M. Hiett, the latter of Jacksonville. The executive committee members are Mr. Melech, Mr. Packard and Mr. Papworth. J. G. Michael is marketing manager.

State Marketing Commissioner Rhodes told The Herald today that prospects are for an "excellent season" and that "conditions of the state market in this city will doubtless be affected by an increasing number of growers and shippers. Even though last winter's disastrous freeze came within a month after the market was opened, resulting in a practical cessation of activities for 60 days, the market paid expenses, he said.

Mr. Rhodes said that he and Commissioner Mayo will attend the citrus meeting at Lakeland next Monday afternoon, and then to Sanford.

Cold In The South, Heat Wave In North

By The Associated Press. Winter focused its breath on a section of the South today, sending a chilling stream of air over the southern Appalachian Highlands from Virginia to Georgia. The weather man expected the cold spell to be short-lived and reported the thermometer as climbing rapidly back into summer range.

In sharp contrast, northern sections were in the midst of a mild heat wave.

The City Commission will meet in adjourned session this evening, to consider several matters of business presented at the regular session last Monday evening.

New goal posts were erected yesterday on the field in the last ball park for the Crosses Academy. Lines were run by City Engineer Fred T. Williams.

The personnel of prisoners in the County Jail remains stationary. No prisoners were released last night or today, and no arrests were made.

Inculcate Character Into The Children And Communism Will End, Says Mayor

Quoting the old saying that "the world moves on the feet of little children," Mayor T. L. Dumas told the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church last night that "the best work we can do is to take stock of the boys and girls of Sanford" and give them the education in church and home that will result in their growing up to be good citizens.

"The boys and girls of today will be men and women of tomorrow, and if they are given the advantages of the church, the schools of a Boy Scout troop or the Camp Fire Girls' organization and similar institutions we can depend upon them to take up the problems that are ours today and to go forward," he said.

"What we, as laymen must do is to build better character, better citizenship," the mayor continued,

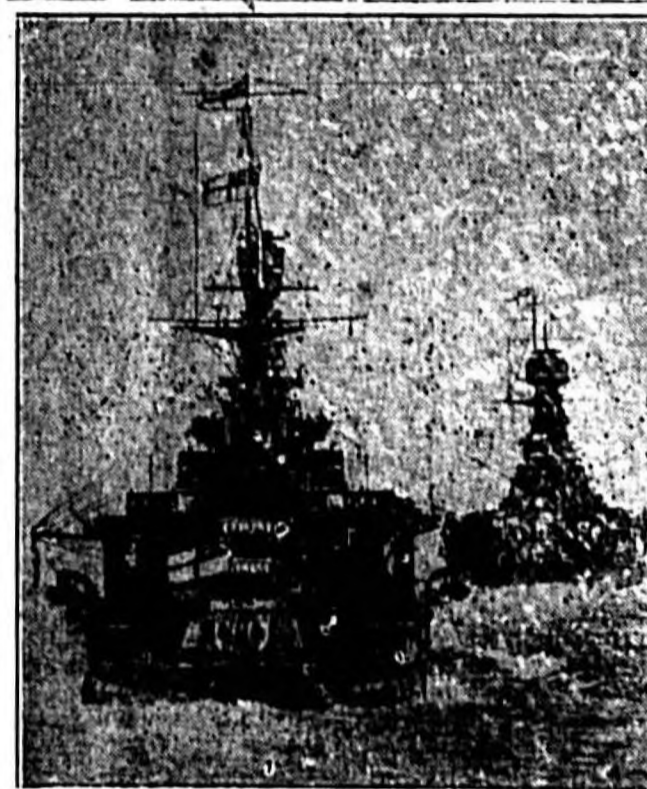

"and it is proper that we give that our closest attention. With the right training, these boys and girls will stamp out bolshevism and communism, and they will make the city, state and nation better by reason of their influence and their lives. If we are to have no more wars, better observance of our laws, better politics, then better citizens must be."

Mayor Dumas asserted that business exerts every energy and makes tremendous capital in building skyscrapers, railroads, and highways, but does "mighty little" toward building character. The church and the laymen in the church, therefore, "must build character into men and women to occupy these skyscrapers, to operate the railroads and to raise the highways."

Smedley D. Butler Senses Danger In League Sanctions

U. S. Can't Keep Out Of European War, General Declares

NEWTON SQUARE, Penn., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Major General Smedley D. Butler, calling the Ethiopian war "a show man's war," compared to statements made in "The Market" at Geneva, declared today that League of Nations sanctions are dangerous.

"It were not for the League of Nations program," the retired Marine Corps officer said in an interview, "there would be only two nations involved, not now Great Britain and Italy, instead of more than 50. The United States can't keep out if Europe works up to a general war, and if that propaganda is fed our people."

Endurance Driving Record Challenged

Seeking to establish a new world's endurance driving, Larry Dale started a proposed long drive in Sanford today, leaving from in front of the Milano Theater at 12:11 this afternoon. He was padlocked to the steering wheel of his car by Officer C. H. Shaffer of the Sanford Police Department.

Dale holds the title of "Ass of Canadian Dirt Tracks" and has driven 122 miles continuously. The world record, however, is 126 miles, and it is this record he will endeavor to smash in his driving in and around Sanford.

There will be no speed trials, it is explained. Dale can drive at any speed (within the law) he chooses.

Great Britain has no intention of warring on Italy alone. That statement came from authoritative sources today in reiteration and amplification of Sir Samuel Hoare's remark of a fortnight ago, "England does not intend to be the sole policeman."

The British view was made known shortly after reports from Paris said France wanted Britain to renounce formally any blockade of Italy or any thought of individual sanctions against it.

Said France in effect: "You must say to us that you plan no individual action, either at arms or by boycott. If you give us your promise then we will be in a better position to give a 'yes' answer to your request for our support in carrying out the edicts of the League of Nations against Italy."

Except for bombing raids on the Northern front the war situation in Ethiopia was reported as quiet pending renewal of a drive in the South. The Italian Somaliland army was delayed by rain in its advance inland.

Acting on behalf of the Central and South Florida Water Conservation committee, of which he is chairman, Fred Dorner last night forwarded an appeal to the U. S. Geological Survey for protection against possible adverse effects of the Trans Florida Ship Canal.

A letter from Mr. Dorner addressed to W. C. Mendenhall of Washington, geological survey chief explained the fears of Sanford growers that the gash in the state's limestone formations will result in contamination of the fresh water supply.

"To date we have received not one in authority," Dorner wrote. "Instead we have been submitted to an overflowing volume of reassuring and comforting general statements which when analyzed have meant nothing."
