NEW YORK—The death of Julia Marlowe the other day, in an age she never made and with most of her friends and contemporaries long gone from the American scene, served to remind us once again how infinitely easy it is to lose yourself in New York.

It likely is true that the 15,000 or so policemen who blanket the town in the grim pursuit of their tasks, writing tickets, blowing whistles and frightening small children, go to make up the most effective law-and-order force in the world.

And yet, criminals long since have learned what Miss Marlowe discovered many years ago: if you want to vanish like a cigar ash into a Persian rug, this is the place to come.

Julia Marlowe was, of course, one of the classic Shakespearian actresses in history. The English-born player was married to E. H. Sothern, and when he died 17 years ago they had left their mark on the theater as a husband and wife team even more noted than Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne.

Ten years ago, having sold or given away her collection of costumes, books and other theatrical appurtenances—in 1944 she gave the Museum of the City of New York 17 trunks of Sothern-Marlowe costumes—Miss Marlowe settled down in the Hotel Plaza to run out the string of her life.

She wasn't what you would call a genuine recluse, the kind that enters a hotel room as if she were taking final vows and never emerges into the outside world again, but she came close.

ONCE A DAY, IF THE WEATHER WAS GOOD, Miss Marlowe emerged into the New York sunshine, to be wheeled around the block or, briefly, through the park. She had a much younger woman named Ernestine Carreau for a companion, and Miss Carreau was virtually the only person she saw for days on end.

Miss Marlowe was aging and sickly and, I am told, highly nervous in the last couple of years. She never gave interviews.

A girl I know once saw the inside of her suite in the Plaza, for some reason that remains cloudy to me now, and I spoke with her today about it.

"It was like walking into another world, of 25 or 50 years ago," she said. "There was a living room and two bedrooms and a small pantry."

The furniture all was late Victorian and there were photographs everywhere, of Miss Marlowe and Mr. Sothern. None of the pictures, incidentally, showed her after she had become old.

"There was an overstuffed couch and ornate lamps, a heavy rug and a huge portrait of her in a white evening dress. The suite faced Central Park, and on winter days I imagine Miss Marlowe could have looked down and seen the ice skaters or the kids throwing snowballs. But was as if the clock had stopped, in those rooms."

THE BEAUTIFUL MISS MARLOWE was a prime example of disappearance in the city, of the once-famous diamond dropping into the pool of water and sinking out of sight. As stated, she didn't concentrate on being a recluse, but just lived out her life in the Plaza quietly.

This didn't go to the saloons and clubs, and her performing days were over long ago. City editors and drama critics knew she still existed, but she no longer was great news. The city had swallowed her.

This happens in every large city and even in some small ones, but never so completely as in New York. New Yorkers were past the stage of saying "What ever became of Julia Marlowe?" That, they said 15 years ago. As of this year, they would have said, if they said anything at all: "Julia Marlowe? Who was she?"

There have been a hundred Julia Marlowes here in this cauldron of eight million souls. If you are old enough, you remember David Warfield, or if you are not quite old, you remember your father and mother talking about David Warfield and how wonderful he was in The Moon-Master.

Like Miss Marlowe, David Warfield vanished into the depths of the city. How? By doing nothing. By living quietly in an apartment on Central Park west, a luxuriously-appointed, elegant apartment that, like Miss Marlowe's, suggested yesterday or a hundred years ago.

Today David Warfield is cold but mentally vigorous, a man who will be 84 in a week, a man who listens to the radio occasionally, goes for a drive around the park each day with his chauffeur of 31 years, a man who doesn't believe in birthdays but maintains that what matters is "how you live every day, every week, every month of the year."

David Warfield was a famous man. Some time he will die, and the city will give him up once more, for a day, to the headlines. "David Warfield?" they will say. "Who was he?"

Nurse Tells How Hadacol Was So Helpful To Her

Supplied Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin Which Her System Lacked

Mrs. Jennie Lee Adele, 412 N. St. East, St. Louis, Ill., a nurse says she would have had to give up her job if it weren't for Hadacol because since taking HADACOL she feels so good. Mrs. Adele was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Adele's own statement: "I have been a nurse for over 14 years. My food never seemed to agree with me. I heard one day how so many folks were being helped because of HADACOL. I tried it and after 3 bottles I could tell a big improvement. Now I eat anything I want—sleep well and am full of energy."

Why HADACOL Gives Such Fine Results

HADACOL does not bring just symptomatic relief. HADACOL now makes it possible for arthritis patients to walk again, to raise the shoulders, legs and arms again. It relieves the pain in the shoulders, legs and arms, certain nervous disturbances, and a general run-down weakened condition due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in your system. HADACOL not only supplies these vitamins with extra amounts of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron but also helpful amounts of important Calcium and Phosphorus—elements so vitally important to your health.

Snowstorm Buries Northeast As Toll Of Dead Hits 229

Property Damage Is Estimated At One Hundred Million On Atlantic Coast

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
A task force of thousands of men labored today to cut through a snow blockade and repair damage caused by storms in the eastern quarter of the nation.

The count of the dead rose to 229.

Damage ran into many millions. Some estimates put property loss in the Atlantic coastal areas whipped by weekend winds at $100,000,000.

Hundreds of stores and factories were closed "for the duration." This added to the total cost of the spasm of wild weather.

Hundreds of motorists were marooned. Scores of schools didn't open their doors.

More snow fell in Ohio today. It swirled down into the big industrial centers of Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Canton and Columbus. The Weather Bureau predicted the flurries would continue for 24 hours but would not be heavy.

Youngstown, Ohio, already had a 29 inch fall.

Industry and business were paralyzed in much of the Northeast. Hundreds of motorists were stranded in farm houses—some of them in barns.

The cost of the storm in Cleveland alone was reckoned at $10,000,000.

An estimated 40,000 to 50,000 (Continued on page Three)

Frosts Forecast For Florida As Cold Continues

Lucky Winds And Dry Air Mass Helped In Saving Citrus Crop

LAKELAND, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Cold weather is not over in Florida. Frosts are forecast for tomorrow, far southward as the lower east coast.

Metorologist Warren O. Johnson of the Federal State Frost Warning Service looks for higher temperatures in north Florida and lower ones in the southern part of the state. Central Florida will continue cold.

He said weather conditions would be close to the critical point for vegetables in extreme South Florida which can expect frost when the temperature drops.

He forecast Tuesday temperatures of 37-40 in the Everglades except 33-36 and scattered frosts away from Lake Okeechobee. Low of 33 and scattered frost are in store for low muck lands in the Everglades.

Florida citrus and vegetable crops had a bountiful supply of frost on their side and skipped by the weekend without serious cold damage.

Lucky winds and dry air mass at just the right time saved the state from possible disaster.

Scattered frosts were reported early today in the citrus area and north Florida.

Menatee county reported week-end damages from frost and windburn. The Ruskin truck area, a little farther north, suffered about a one-third loss to tomatoes. Growers around Wauchula estimated about 90 percent of their truck crops were destroyed.

Explained tomatoes in the Indian River section and beans in the Everglades probably would show some damage as the sun gets well up.

The weatherman's estimate of week-end, when temperatures were right for wiping out most of the state's crops was that "growers (Continued on page Three)

Beans, Tomatoes, Squash Destroyed In Frigid Weather

Tender vegetables such as green beans, tomato, squash and cucumbers were destroyed by the cold wave Saturday and Sunday. Seminole County Manager Sandy Anderson of the Sandusky State Farmers Market reported today following surveys. The lowest temperature recorded was 27 degrees. Sunday morning.

Very little damage to harder vegetables such as celery, cabbage, lettuce, romaine, cauliflower, escarole and chicory was reported. Citrus damage was negligible. Some damage to flowers such as poinsettias and hibiscus occurred in cold areas. Florists revealed that roses and gladioli were affected but little.

The drop in temperature was abrupt. On Friday afternoon local citizens were enjoying a summer-like temperature of 78 degrees. During the early morning hours of Saturday cold gusts of wind ushered in a mass of frigid air from the northwest and by 7:00 A.M. the official temperature, as recorded by E. J. TODAY'S THREE VERSE

If you are going in the strong direction you will certainly have to turn round. Except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish.—Luke 13:8

Time magazine says Russia is in position to conquer the world—though it might take some ten years. And always assuming that the Russians could count on the support of America's fifth column.

General Eisenhower has recently purchased a 170 acre farm to which one day he hopes to retire upon the crest of all places, one of the most famous battle of the Civil War, Gettysburg. From his front porch he will be able to look over the broad fields where General Lee whipped the pants off
General Meade.

Vaguely familiar were MacArthur's cheering words to snowbound GIs in North Korea the other day that this is the last battle of the war and when they over they could leave Korea and be home by Christmas. Remember, "Get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas." We hope it is as successful this time as it was then.

Senator Kefauver says the crime syndicate, now operating in this country, would make the old Capone mob seem mild by comparison. And the federal government seems powerless to lead state officials into any cooperation whatever in their efforts to track down these criminals. The government tells farmers what to plant, businessmen what to sell and the price to sell it for, fix wages and hours of work, and put employees in jail if they don't obey, but when it comes to burglary, banditry, racketeering and murder, the federal government turns back into the Constitution of the United States.
Or so it says.

For the second time this year the heavier travelled railroad in the United States has been the victim of a tragic accident, revolving in a heavy box of life. Half a dozen investigations have been launched to determine the cause of the accident. If those responsible for such accidents were taken out and shot every time such accidents happen, there wouldn't be so many of them. But that is not the way of our country. We merely shut our shoulders and say
"Too bad. Another accident".
Even when it wasn't any accident at all. But somebody being criminally negligent or careless.

From New York City comes a letter from the National Defense Bureau to the effect that a husband of a woman without means of support and the father of three children has packed off bag and baggage leaving them to their own devices and the tender mercies of the taxpayers. One wonders whether the taxpayer who objects to supporting the other man's children is any less of a humanitarian than the house who deserts them after bringing them into the world. We could favor aid to dependent and sometimes illegitimate children, more enthusiastically if their fathers were sent to the lockup.

The cost of Florida's public school system may double in the next five years under the Minimum Foundation program already enacted into law, according to the Legislative Reference Bureau. The state contributed $7,000,000 to the public schools last year, the report says, but by 1945-'55, it will be expected to kick in with $14,000,000.
And besides, at least $150,000,000 worth of new school buildings are needed if doubled-up classes are going to be avoided. And this is all figured on the basis of present 50 cent dollars. If we continue to inflate our currency until building supplies double again in price, and school teachers salaries have to be raised some more, we can expect our schools to cost twice as much as the Legislative Reference Bureau predicts.

Illinois Working Free

Illinois is on the way to becoming a more truly self-governing commonwealth. For years the state has been prevented from doing what it might like by the fetters of an archaic constitution. For practical purposes this could not be amended because of a rule, designed to prevent alteration, that only one amendment could be offered at an election, and that to be passed it must get a majority of all votes cast at the election. Those who did not vote on an amendment were thus counted against it, a rule which put a premium on indifference and ignorance.

Now after many years of struggle Illinois has passed the Gateway amendment. This is moderate indeed in its relaxation, but probably its sponsors feared that the voters would not stand for any greater freedom. It allows three amendments instead of one to come up at a time, and then allows them to be passed by a vote of two-thirds of those voting on the amendment. Inasmuch as to get on the ballot an amendment must receive approval of two thirds of each house of the legislature, the new amendment cannot be said to be letting the bars down to radical change. It does, however, make improvement a little easier.

Many Illinois leaders think that one of the first steps which should be taken is to equalize the legislative districts, so that they may represent citizens and not mere acres. A small minority of Illinois population now controls the legislature, and has refused since 1941 to redistrict the state. Whether two thirds of the legislature can now be persuaded to loosen the grip on power of a few is something which will soon be revealed.

Need For Engineers

If you want to ensure yourself a job, become an engineer. This appears to be the conclusion reached by the manpower committee of the American Society for Engineering Education. It finds that our universities soon may be producing no more than 10,000 new engineers annually, whereas 30,000 are needed.

This is partly due to increased demands of industry and of the Army. The outlook is also attributable to a marked decline in the number of engineering students. In 1948, over 226,000 were enrolled. The following year the number dropped to 181,000, and in 1950 it has taken an even more significant drop down to 130,000. The committee fears that at this rate our schools will have only 90,000 potential engineers enrolled a few years from now.

At that rate a qualified engineer would soon be a rare individual who could almost command his own salary. This might be fine for the individual, but it would leave the nation in a serious plight.

The report does not attempt to answer one interesting question. What field are the boys planning to make their own instead of engineering? Probably a part of the problem is the great increase in the variety of profitable occupations open to the young worker of today.

How Money Is Spent

The Russell Sage Foundation estimates, after a study of American family income and spending, that the statistically average family gives not quite $97 a year, just under two per cent of its income, to the church and to voluntary welfare agencies. At the same time it spends $111 a year for tobacco and $218 a year for alcoholic beverages.

Looking at these figures, every family knows it is and statistically average. Here are some others: This same average family pays out $68 a year in Social Security taxes, and $130 a year for the Marshall Plan in income and other federal taxes. Its annual tax cost for national defense was $376, as of 1949.

When the world is examined in cold detachment, it sometimes looks topsy-turvy.

Sanford Forum

Editor:
The Sanford Herald
On November 23 there was a reply to my article of November 10 by Mr. E. M. Carroll criticizing historical inaccuracies in my supposed affidavit statement concerning the Demo rate foreign policy.

I made well aware of the events surrounding the formation of the first and second world wars, possibly our entrance into the first world war was unavoidable, but the dirty politics employed in the election promise of President Wilson, "He kept us out of war" and then immediately after election declared open hostility with Germany, wasn't. Consistent with this was President Franklin Roosevelt's vague assurance that "No American boy will ever fight for foreign and," while they, of course, did, the first and second world war was a hypocrite of a pacifist, isolationist Republican Administration in the 1920's and a defeated League of Nations. How, today, most of us feel we are repaying on a precarious powder keg which may erupt at any moment. We have the Korean war, the Indo-China unrest, as well as world tension everywhere in spite of having a Democatic Administration for 10 years that was the result of preparation for the war, also now have the United Nations and almost the entire voice in our foreign commitments. How well has the present Administration been able to insure peace since 1945? The Civil War and the Spanish-American war, which Mrs. Carroll cited had their inception during a Republican Administration, could hardly be compared either financially or in causality with the global conflicts under the Democratic. The Spanish-American war had very few casualties and was only a minor skirmish far surpassed by the present Korean War, and the Civil War involved only a fraction of the country.

It always causes me extreme consternation how short the Democrats' memory is. They remember so vividly the depression under President Hoover, but the "black" depression under the Democratic Administration of President Cleveland, where there was a much worse bank panic, soup line and unemployment, is but a fading illusion.

During the Republican Administration in the 1920's we had an era of peace and prosperity which I seriously doubt any of us will ever see again under a Democratic Administration. The national debt was, for the first time, greatly reduced, communists were not tolerated in this country at all.

The waters of Paraguay's Parana River once were believed to clear the throat and purify the voice.

THE NATION TODAY
BY MAX HALE
(FOR JAMES MARLOW)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(UPI)—"Human failure" is being blamed for Wednesday's train collision on the Long Island Railroad.

The fact is, "human failure" caused more than the fourths of America's major rail wrecks.

Broken rails and flood waters caused some of them, but more commonly the disaster could be traced directly to the failure of some human being to see a signal,

or to read an order carefully,

or to act quickly.

Sometimes there were indirect or contributing causes, such as the failure of a railroad to have an adequate block signal system.

The Bureau of Safety, at the Interstate Commerce Commission was created in 1911 and has investigated every major railroad wreck since.

Yesterday I asked the Bureau to dig out the reports on all the accidents in which 25 or more persons were killed. They handed me 29 reports. A study of these reports shows that

None of the accidents were caused by carelessness

or negligence

Orange And Gator Bowl Teams Have Not Been Chosen

Hurricanes Expected To Play Alabama Or Clemson In Miami

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Orange and Gator Bowl pictures were still muddled today. Available teams apparently out-numbered invitations.

Those mentioned include Miami, Alabama, Clemson, Oklahoma, Wake Forest and Wyoming.

Some admittedly prefer the older Orange Bowl game to the newer Gator Bowl, and look hopefully toward Miami rather than Jacksonville.

Dr. A. C. Farber, chairman of the Orange Bowl schedule committee, said four of his four members—the fifth will make today’s pull—would not make a choice until later, probably Tuesday or Wednesday.

He said the field by Miami, New Year’s day extravaganza, is wide open and the entire freshman committee will make a selection.

In Jacksonville, the Gator Bowl selection committee—plus a former would not say or name in any particular team.

The University of Miami, which would welcome an invitation to the Orange Bowl, hasn’t been invited.

Michigan Athlete Director Jack Hardin said the Hurricanes had received an inquiry from the Gator Bowl but not an official invitation.

“We would like an Orange Bowl invitation,” Hardin admitted.

Both Alabama and Clemson have been mentioned as possible opponents for Miami in the orange bowl. Asked for comment, Hardin said:

“I hope the committee doesn’t invite both.”

Jose H. Vassouras, a Clemson alumnus and member of that Orange Bowl schedule group, said he would recommend Clemson as Miami’s opponent.

Van C. Kosow, another member, said he favors Miami and Alabama.

Vassouras admitted being biased in favor of his old school and the general urge to influence other committees in favor of the Tigers.

BACK TO WORK AGAIN!

Corrects Cause of Suffering from Aches and Pains Due to Lack of Vitamins B, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin — Thanks to HADACOL

He one can afford to be exacting but I often complain to my doctor about being behind on the job. You just can’t seem to get along when other pains like a headache or a stiffness of Vitamin B, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin are dragging you down, leaving you tired and out of energy. Now in this time of disaster how thousands of folks have relieved the real cause of their troubles with the drug group HADACOL.

Mr. J. W. Price, 38 South Main Street, Lexington, Kentucky, who was suffering from such difficulties, writes: "I have suffered with aches and pains in my left arm and shoulder. I could not use my arm and shoulder and so my arms or my doctor or me were taking care of HADACOL. I have now got my arm and shoulder back. As a housekeeper, there is lots of work to do. I could not sleep at night for the pains and could not be out my left side. I eat nothing I want to do, do any work and work in the kitchen. But HADACOL has been wonderful! I am 27 years old and feel wonderful after taking HADACOL. My aches and pains do not bother me at all."

Why Not Give HADACOL? A Chance To Help You!

If you’re suffering from lack of Vitamins B, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin, HADACOL may relieve the same just as it has for so many thousands in state after state. There’s no need to settle for anything less. HADACOL is a unique liquid form that’s easy to take, the precious Vitamins and Minerals are nicely dissolved so they speed quickly fast and surely to every part of your body, to every body organ, to bring real relief if you too are suffering from such deficiency.

You’ll be surprised to learn that only HADACOL gives you that "Wonderful Health Feeling". And you don’t risk a cent to make this amazing discovery either. But, above all, HADACOL either the total size for only $1.25 or the large family container for $2.50, your HADACOL does not hurt your purse—it will be refunded by your pharmacist by many doctors.

Straight from the Horse's Mouth

By ED HARPER

Frozing winter winds and ragging snowstorms turned many of last week's football games into battles with the elements rather than between teams. In spite of the weather, though, teams' actions seem through in line. Thus, this week with the single exception of the Tampa Spartans

the Florida Franklin Indians

had been invited to play and were still muddled today.

Available teams apparently outnumbered invitations.

Those mentioned include Miami, Alabama, Clemson, Oklahoma, Wake Forest and Wyoming.

Some admittedly prefer the older ville.

Pre-Season Hopefuls Go Down To Oblivion In Topsy-Turvy Season

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—With a difference two months

make, the start of the college football season at the end of September?

Notre Dame was going to rule

the road nationally . . . Columbia was to take the Ivy League championship . . . Stanford was the class of the West Coast. Now that the season is over get a lead on you. Tennessee won 7-0.

Well, that’s how it went right down the line . . . a high pre-expectation ground into the realities of what was left.

Michigan was thought to be the forgotten man in the Big Ten, but the Wolverines made it and more.

With only a smattering of games left next Saturday, four major teams remained unbeaten and unbeatened—Princeton, Oklahoma, Wyoming and Army. All have nine victories except Army which has eight. The season is over for Princeton, Oklahoma and Army.

In addition to the Rose Bowl,

the combatants in only one other major bowl—the Cotton—are regarded as just a bunch of also-rays. The Mustangs found them weak and most after losing three of their last four games, they are just out of the running for any bowl consideration.

And who ever would have thought Princeton would finish

the season undefeated and untied?

The Tigers won the Ivy League title. Louisville passed for the only touchdown of the game to drop Kentucky from the ranks of the undefeated. But, in a sense, everybody won in this one since

Tennessee goes to the Cotton

Bowl and Kentucky to the Suger Bowl.

Both Georgia Tech and Georgia

Bucking into the cylinder, the fuel charge ignites the flame. Top piston cavity acts as long cylinder of incandescence that gives mighty power punch to the ignited fuel.

If you behold the up-to-the-minute version of a high-compression engine that has caught a whole industry something about fuel efficiency. Fact is, Buick pioneered the deep-breathing valve-in-head engine 17 years ago—and thus blazed a trail that aircraft engines—and more recently automobile engines—have followed.

Mrs. J. P. Macauley, 408 Rutledge St., New Orleans, La., can't imagine a person not taking HADACOL, who is sick and rundown due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. She says she continually sings the praises of HADACOL to all her friends. Mrs. Macauley was suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Macauley's own statement: "I have taken at least 5 bottles of HADACOL. Before I took HADACOL, I was very nervous. My family was affected, too, because I was so irritable. Then my sister suggested I take HADACOL and I started taking it immediately. After the second bottle I felt like I had taken all the troubles of the world off my shoulders. My nerves are now as steady as ever. My family thinks HADACOL is wonderful because my disposition is 100% better and I am in the least bit irritable. That's because I have a bottle of HADACOL on the kitchen shelf. HADACOL is the most wonderful product on the market."

Give HADACOL a chance to help you. If your system lacks these essential elements, you, too, will be amazed at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring you, as there is no thousands of other fine folks who suffered a deficiency of Vitamin B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body.

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "rises" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and nagging aches and pains. If due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin in your system.

French and state laws will come into force as soon as they are promulgated by German authorities. Formerly there was a period of 21 days in which the Allies could disapprove legislation.

The Allies will retain, however, the right to repeal or annul laws they regard inconsistent with Allied legislation or which constitute a "serious threat to the basic aims of the occupation."

Amendments to the constitution of Western Germany will still require Allied approval until a Germany Supreme Court is set up.

Foreign trade and exchange—
The Allies will give up control of foreign trade and exchange except:

1. Supervision of trade in strategic materials with Iron Curtain countries for security reasons.

2. Ensuring that German trade is not inconsistent with the general agreement on trade and tariffs until West Germany is a party to that agreement and has assumed its obligations.

3. Ensuring that the German federal government observes the principles and practices of the International Monetary Fund agreement. The exchange rate will be controlled by the Allies until Germany has become a member of the fund and satisfactorily assumes obligations regarding the exchange rate.

4. Providing for orderly settlement of pre-war foreign debts and repayment of postwar Allied economic aid.

Powers providing for the deconcentration of industry will be relinquished upon completion of the Allied program for breaking up the huge German concentrations of economic power—the break-up and reorganization of the coal and steel industry, the I.G. Farben chemical combine, the motion picture industry and four auto manufacturers.

Powers in the field of disarmament will be relinquished when a satisfactory German law replaces Allied legislation.

Displaced persons and refugees—
Allied responsibility for displaced persons remaining in Germany and for the admission of refugees to the federal republic will lapse on passage of suitable German laws.

The Allies will retain their power to keep Germany disarmed to prevent certain industries and research activities for security reasons and to prohibit German operation of aircraft.

They also will keep the right to secure the protection, prestige and security of the Allied Forces' dependents, employees and representatives the right to charge the Germans for the occupation costs will remain.

Soviet Siberian border.

Stiffening Red resistance was reported elsewhere in the northeast. U.S. Marines, pushing westward in a drive from Changjin reservoir were halted by dug-in Chinese four miles west of Yudam.

On the northwest front, the 24th Division's withdrawal from Changjin was forced by Chinese slipping through the Republic of Korea (ROK) First Division lines southwest of Taechon. The 24th Division itself was not under attack.

On the ROK First Division's right flank, the U.S. 25th and Second Divisions battled the Chinese fiercely throughout Monday.

A U.S. First Corps spokesman said the 25th was hit hard in the Majon area six miles northeast of Yangchon. He said the situation there was critical.

AP correspondent Don Whitehead, with the U.S. 25th Division, sized up the situation this way:

"The big Nations offensive to bring an early end to the Korean war was threatened with complete collapse today. This was the stark reality of the situation after 48 hours of savage fighting."

"Chinese and North Korean Red troops have dealt a stunning blow to United Nations forces. The offensive that rolled forward for two days has been stopped cold. U.N. troops are on the defensive after giving up most of their gains."

Reserve units of Americans, British and Turks were rushed up to bolster sagging 30-miles eastern section of the winding front line from stretching inland from the Yellow Sea.

In the north-central sector, U.S. Marines drove westward from the Changjin power reservoir toward a Red reduction in snow-covered mountains.

It was too early to see whether, and to what extent, the Marine drive would hold. U.N. forces fell back on their northwest front.

From Eighth Army headquarters, correspondent Erickson reported the second night attacks in the center of the line after earlier withdrawals of several miles.

The situation on the eastern flank, manned by the ROK

Seventh, Eighth and Sixth Divisions, was not clear. Fighting withdrawals of four to 11 miles in the ROK sector were reported Sunday.

Field dispatches indicated heavy Allied casualties. An indirect ceasefire settled over operations as a security measure.

In Tokyo, General MacArthur's

staff

was trying to turn the entire right flank of the Eighth Army in the Tachon area. They wrested Tokchon from the ROK Seventh Division Monday.

The Reds, moving with small arms and mortar fire, penetrated South Korean positions around the rail and highway line in regimental strength. Tokchon was the center of the ROK's main strength.

Situation In Korea Is Very Dangerous, Acheson Declares

Senate Committee Is Told That Europe Is Also In Grave Danger From Reds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Acheson gave Senate foreign policy leaders a report today on the crisis in Korea and pleaded for united backing of whatever measures the Administration takes.

There was a grave atmosphere at the break up of a two hour closed-door session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with the Secretary of State. Some members said they regarded the present situation as tremendously threatening to American security.

Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told reporters that exchanges between Acheson and the Senators had brought out several questions posed by the Chinese Communist intervention in Korea. He said Acheson offered no opinion but that some of the questions were:

1. Whether to permit General MacArthur to order bombing of Communist troop concentrations and supply lines in Manchuria.

2. Whether Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa should be thrown into the fight and whether anti-Communist guerrillas in China should be given American aid and encouragement.

Chiang Kai-Shek's government has offered 30,000 seasoned men. The United Nations has not accepted the offer previously because of the belief that such action would bring the Chinese Communists fully into the fighting.

Acheson was reported to have told the committee members, too, that grave as the situation in Korea is, it is not any more serious than that in Europe.

W. F. Hunt Is To Be New Sales Manager For Hunt-Mercury

W. F. Hunt, nephew of Emmett W. Hunt, arrived Friday with his family from Birmingham, Ala., to make his home here and to assume his new duties as secretary, treasurer and sales manager of the Hunt-Mercury Co., 109 North Palmetto Avenue.

The former district sales manager in Alabama, Tennessee and Arkansas of Kingan and Co., nationally known meat packers for 16 years, was resigned this position in order to join his uncle in business here, and has purchased David Smith's interest in the local automobile sales organization.

The W. F. Hunt family which includes Mrs. Hunt and a 13 year old boy, four year old girl and two year old boy live at 1119 Park Avenue.

A former captain and pilot of B-17, Mr. Hunt was forced to bail out near Berlin during fighting in World War II when a German fighter plane crashed into and clipped the wing of his B-17. He landed safely, was arrested by German civilians and spent 14 months at Stalag Luft-3 prison for airmen downed in Germany.

He was liberated April 29, 1945 by the arrival of the Third Army and was personally greeted by the late General Patton. In Birmingham he was a member of the American Legion.

Pleased by the friendly greetings of Sanford people, he declared today that he knows he will like this community.

Yesterday afternoon at the Seminole County Club he had a friendly chat with Miss Yolande Betheré concerning places in their home state of Alabama.

Hazel Dial Award Confirmed By Court

Without comment the Florida Supreme Court today affirmed the Seminole Circuit Court award of $25,000 to Hazel Dial, Negro maid of Collier Merritt for injuries received while a patron of the Club Eaton at Eatonville on Oct. 16, 1949, it was reported by the Associated Press in Tallahassee today.

Following the verdict of the Circuit Court on July 7 the case had been appealed to the Supreme Court by G. W. Spencer, attorney for Merritt, Ralph R. Clayton of DeLand, Fla., attorney representing Hazel Dial.

The suit was based on an injury to the hand of the Negress when it was struck by an unproctected exhaust fan in the night club. At the time she was attempting to retrieve a "be-be" hat that had blown off the head of one of the waitresses sitting on the rostrum in the club.

The verdict was over a confidential military and political report last year on Indo-Chinese affairs. It became known in France as the affair of the General.

GOP Heads Say Tax Bill Has Little Chance

Republicans Refrain From Taking Positions On New Taxes Or Rent Controls

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Republican leaders expressed doubt today that an Administration tax bill will get through this session of Congress, but the House Ways and Means committee drove ahead with preliminary work of drafting one.

After a GOP policy meeting, Senator Taft of Ohio said the Senate group had decided against taking an immediate party stand upon taxes, extension of rent controls, statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, or other bills on President Truman's "must" list for the short session.

He said the Republicans were willing to work on such legislation but in such a short session as the present one it would be difficult to get "anything controversial passed."

House Republican leaders failed, likewise, to reach a definite agreement today on the 1950 revenue program. After their party policy meeting GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts said the Republicans will refrain from taking a positive position, right now, on the Administration's proposal to raise $400,000,000 in excess profits taxes on corporations.

Martin told newsmen the committee would meet again after the House Ways and Means Committee completes work on its tax bill.

Republicans generally are opposing the Administration tax proposal and have suggested a hike in corporate income taxes as a substitute.

Taft said he personally did not feel obligated to rush through a tax program before the new session begins Jan. 3. He said when Congress recessed before the elections it instructed the Senate and House tax committees to have an excess profits tax bill ready. But he said this did not bind Congress to pass such a tax.

French Cabinet Quits Over Indo-China Leak

PARIS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The French cabinet decided to resign tonight after the National Assembly censured Defense Minister Jules Moch for his alleged part in an internal scandal.

The Assembly failed to vote a motion of impeachment which would have sent Moch before a special high court for trial. The narrowness of the vote, 225 to 203, with 37 abstentions, was considered a censure by the cabinet which went into immediate session.

The vote arose over a confidential military and political report last year on Indo-Chinese affairs. It became known in France as the affair of the General.

Allies Retreat Before Onrushing Red Hordes As Disaster Threatens; U.S. Charges China With Aggression

Austin Demands U.N. Face Consequences Of Invasion Of Korea By Red Troops

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The United States today charged Communist China with open and notorious aggression in Korea and called upon the United Nations Security Council to face the consequences.

In one of the most critical meetings in the Council's history, chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin spoke directly to a representative of Communist China, Wu Han Chuan, who arrived here Friday and sat in the Council for the U. S. speech for more than an hour, while a capacity crowd listened intently.

House Republican leaders failed, likewise, to reach a definite agreement today on the 1950 revenue program. After their party policy meeting GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts said the Republicans will refrain from taking a positive position, right now, on the Administration's proposal to raise $400,000,000 in excess profits taxes on corporations.

Miss America, Unsophisticated And Natural, Charms Sanford During Tour

By TOM DOYLE

Undeterred by the chill November afternoon, Miss America of 1951, Yolande Betheré, made a tremendous hit with the townspeople of Sanford yesterday afternoon as she toured the city, spoke before students at the Seminole County Club, where formal introductions were made and the young women of the club were invited to the Pig and Whistle. Miss Betheré cracked a smile like some of the ladies in her entourage, and the girls responded with a hearty laugh.

Austin revised his prepared text at the last minute to include the charges of aggression he referred to the grim war now from Korea and repeated General MacArthur's declaration that more than 200,000 Chinese communists troops are now fighting U. S. forces in Korea.

Austin's prepared text used words "contempt and naked aggression" but the former Vermont Senator changed this in delivery to "open and notorious."

He added:

"The consequences of these facts must be faced squarely by the people of the world, and more particularly by this Council, because the consequences are potentially so grave I considered it essential to review the recent history of events in the Far East."

This is particularly interesting.

Austin's prepared text used words "contempt and naked aggression" but the former Vermont Senator changed this in delivery to "open and notorious."

He added:

"The skirt, which Miss Betheré donned for the reception, was very becoming to her with its sangamon shades of red, and according to Mr. Allen took seven days for the Seminole Indians to hold a regular meeting to get her at the Seminole County Club, following a tour of Sanford in a police escort.

Due to the fact that the Ritz Club is holding a dance on the night of Dec. 16, the Lions changed annual plans to hold their annual Christmas party on that date, and named Dec. 14 as regular meeting to give them time for their party. Next year the regular meeting will be held on December 14.

Guests were Revell P. Robison of Rhode Island, Al Knoll of Jacksonville, and C. C. Morris, Virginia. Harry Robison presided.

The tea and reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Whelchel.

MacArthur Declares Chinese Are Pouring Fresh Forces Into Korean Fight

TOKYO, Nov. 28.—General Douglas MacArthur announced today that the Chinese Communists have entered new soil with the Manchurian border, raiding three provinces to the north.

He said also in an extraordinary communiqué that he backed authority to step with the combined United Nations forces into new soil with the Manchurian border, raiding three provinces to the north.

The communiqué, presented by the commanding officer of the Army of 110,000 British and Indian troops, was in effect declaring a flaming 75-mile long border to Korea.

His hope of ending the war by Christmas was a shattered dream.

His "hopeful" and "soothing" offensive launched only two days ago had turned into bitter reverses.

MacArthur summoned his two top field commanders, Lt. General Walter H. Walker and Major General Edward M. Almond from the battlefronts in Korea for emergency conferences.

He urged that the U. N. and all governments seek a solution to the developing crisis of Chinese Communist intervention.

The high commander and Red China had hurled 200,000 troops against U. N. forces in Korea and is throwing more thousands across the land to force a prolonged encirclement of MacArthur.

He said:

"I am deeply concerned about the safety of our forces in Korea."
