3 Heart Attacks Suffered In Family Plagued With Grief

By MARIAN JONES
OVIDO — The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Alford and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Alford are sending condolences for the triple tragedy suffered by these two families this past week.
Four or five weeks ago Mrs. G. W. Alford received word that her brother in Alabama had suffered a heart attack but was showing signs of improvement. The latter part of last week she received another message that another brother had suffered a heart attack and was in critical condition. She and her son, Roy, left immediately.
After visiting the brother who was in such critical condition, they called upon the brother who was improving. He met them at the door with greetings and salutations, then fell with another heart attack and died.
During all the excitement and turmoil the wife of the brother who was in such serious condition suffered a heart attack; therefore, both were confined to the hospital in critical condition.
Monday morning word was received that the second brother had passed away.

CONDUCTOR FRED McCALL

UofM Band To Give Concert At School

The University of Miami's "Band of the Hour," making its annual spring tour through the State of Florida, has scheduled a concert in Sanford, as guests of the Seminole High School Band. It will perform in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock, Feb. 8.
Wielding the baton, will be Fred McCall, who has been director of bands at the University of Miami since 1928. During his tenure, the famed musical unit has been seen and heard by audiences throughout Florida, up through the Atlantic seaboard, and down into Central America.
Miami's distinguished bandmaster is a graduate of the University of Florida and holds a master's degree from U.M. For 17 years, prior to his moving on to the Main campus, McCall was in charge of bands and orchestra at Miami Edison Senior High School where he also served as dean of boys.
During his career as a high school and university band leader, he has planned and directed 16 consecutive Orange Bowl Classic extravaganzas and countless other civic and fraternal stadium musical events in Miami.
Since 1928, McCall has expanded musical activities at the University of Miami to include an annual five week summer band camp, which draws more than 200 public school musicians to Miami from all over Florida and the Nation for expert musical instruction under some of the nation's leading band musicians.
Under McCall's supervision, the University of Miami band was the first college band to appear on the National Broadcasting Company's "Band of America" radio program and it was the first such unit to perform over a nationwide color television network.

Blitch Covers Revenue

Canceled Bonds For Year Checked

The City of Sanford receives a "clean bill of health" from its auditor, Gordon P. Blitch, certified public accountant of Jacksonville in his report made to the Mayor and Board of Commissioners.
The audit, covering the statements of revenues and expenditures of the City, for the fiscal year which ended on Sept. 30, 1933 was explained.
Blitch, in his report, revealed that the securities owned by all funds were inspected as a part of the audit procedure.
He explained that adequate inventories were not available and the report was qualified as to the materials and supplies inventory. However, according to procedure of the City of Sanford, a check is kept on supplies ordered and charged to accounts for which the materials were ordered.
The auditor commented that qualification is made as to the amount of collections received on the old receivables and balances as shown on Sept. 30, 1933. Detailed schedules, he said, were not available for further report.
Blitch reported that "canceled bonds" retired during the year were examined and found to be on hand, proceeds received by the coupon register was examined during the audit period, he said, and found to be adequate.
The report stated that the outstanding bonds payable, of the Series "B" refunding bonds have been transferred from the Debt Service Fund to the Water and Sewer Fund inasmuch as the water revenues are primarily obligated for these bonds. They also carry, he said, an ad valorem tax pledge as additional security.
Only one material criticism was included in the report to the Mayor and Board of City Commissioners. He said that the audit shows that the Street Department over expended its budget by $2,219.92. However, he explained, $2,000.00 was received by the department for services rendered by the Street Department to others so that the actual over expenditure is only $219.92.
The audit failed to show confirmations obtained from Utility customers on their accounts of meter deposit accounts.
Blitch stated in his audit report that the account "Real Estate Received for Taxes" has been transferred to the General Fund Fixed Asset group since indications, according to Blitch, are that the real estate will be sold in the near future.

Students Seeking Wholesome Plan For Entertainment

High School students made a fervent plea for community cooperation and encouragement of a fine and varied program of wholesome, character-building student activities in the Seminole High School yesterday afternoon as two student body representatives appeared before the Seminole County Committee of the Florida Children's Commission.
"We want to improve ourselves," modestly confided the polite and lovely high school senior, Pat Nicks. "So please do," she invited, "write to the high school if you have any suggestions to make about us."
High standards of scholarship and the Honor System were discussed by the young football player, Howard Allred. He also told of the excellent work being done by such civic club sponsored organizations as the Key Club and the Jaycees. "To the Jaycees," he said, "goes the greatest credit for the improvements made by students in driving safety."
Among other activities going on in Seminole High School the two young speakers listed, in reply to questions, the Future Nurses Club, Tri-Hi-Y, the Audio-Visual Projectionist Club, the Library Council and various sports activities.
Dr. Terry Bird, County Health Unit Director, announced to the Committee that the "Polio Shot Number 3" is ready to be given to children being given the immunization treatment now. Although there will be no mass clinic as before, the Public Health Office will be open to serve these children Monday through Fridays from 8 to 9:30 a. m. and 3:30 to 4:30 p. m.
The Pilot Club reported that 38 children have benefited from their Milk Program.
The Business & Professional Women reported on their activities in the "Big Sisters" movement, including visits, letters and gifts to the Girls Reform School in Ocala. They also reported $100.00 spent in their Dental Clinic program, serving in emergency and other needy cases with the cooperation of local dentists Dr. Harry Woodruff and Dr. J.C. Ringling.
Herold Heckenbach, chairman of the Seminole County Children's Committee, presided at this regular hour-long monthly meeting which was held in School Administration Building yesterday with 18 County Officials and other members and representatives present.

John Hall Submits Findings To County

An audit report of Seminole County, made by John F. Hall Jr., was submitted to the Board of Seminole County Commissioners yesterday at their meeting in the Court House.
The report, submitted by State Auditor Bryan Willis stated that "finances were in good condition but had not been carefully managed in some respects."
He said, "there was no internal control of road department payrolls and that budgets were prepared according to law with some exceptions."
However, the auditor did comment on the fact that tax levies were increased. Records were generally well kept but depository security was not adequate at all times.
Stating that the cash balance on hand as of Sept. 30, 1933, the auditor's report stated that there was no current indebtedness of record and no funded debt.
Commenting on phases of the report, the State Auditor pointed to the fact that on Jan. 9, 1933, the Board donated $2,500 to the town of Oviedo to be used for the repairing of streets within the town and was made without apparent legal authority.
Numerous donations and lump sum payments were made to various charitable and civic organizations. "The Attorney General has ruled a number of times," he said, "that this is not the proper method for expenditure of public funds."
The biggest criticism within the audit report concerned reports of various county officials. He said, "County officers who are paid by fees, commission, or other remuneration are required to file an annual report of income, expenses and net income."
The Auditor called particular attention to reports not received from Justices of the Peace Theo Aulin, W. E. Watson, W. Hugh Duncan, and Homer Sewell. Also Constables George A. Kelsey, J. G. Callaway and W. A. Lewis. Also included in this portion of the report was the statement that no reports have been received from County Prosecuting Attorneys George A. Spoor Jr., and Karlisle Householder. The report stated that "The Board did not notify the Governor of the failure of these officials to file annual reports."
The Board of Seminole County Commissioners instructed County Attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr., to notify each official of the required reports.
On other officials reported in the audit, the report said that in the office of Clerk of Court, all collections of record had been accounted for and that excess income had been correctly submitted. It said, "the records of the office were well kept and depository balances were adequately secured."
Of the Tax Collector, the report stated, "all collections of record had been accounted for either by remittances or by cash on hand." Commissions had been accurately billed and records were well kept, the report stated.
The assessor of Taxes, the report said, "cash resources were adequate to cover liabilities of record and records were generally well kept."

Memorial Hospital Featured

This month's "front cover" of the Southern Hospital trade magazine features the new Seminole Memorial Hospital.
Pictures on the front cover show the overall hospital, reception room, a typical patient room, surgical equipment, and a solarium.
The full page article describing "This Month's Front Cover Hospital" explains that "hospitalization is a many-splendored thing in Seminole Memorial Hospital, Sanford."
The communications system and air conditioning are especially pointed to in the magazine that covers 15 southern states. In detail, the article explains that the air conditioning are especially of five units, or five separate systems, cooling and conditioning the air in halls, offices and rooms; the labor and delivery rooms, the surgical wing with localized thermostats, a system that does not return the air because of anesthetics; the nurseries; and emergency receiving.
Communication at Seminole Memorial Hospital in itself a spectacular addition to the modern facilities. The patient-nurse two-way system; a two-way paging system for doctors; a telephone autograph for the preparation of medical reports and notes providing the doctor with a transcribing system for leaving instructions regarding patients at a central transcribing system; nurses station, lounges, and other location are connected with the communications system. Whenever a person might be in the hospital, he can be reached by the inter-communication system.
Along with the popularity of the hospital growing daily within the Central Florida area, others throughout the country are learning of the south's most modern hospital.

Oviedo Lions Roar To Early Victory

By MARIAN JONES
The Oviedo Lions roared in a 2-7 lead in the first quarter against an outclassed Clermont team in Oviedo last night. Coach Milder playing reserves almost throughout the game took this contest 7-18, being Oviedo's fourth Central Florida Conference win in five starts for the Lions.
The first string team, Winona Captain Ray Fore who sustained a back injury playing against Lyman High School last Friday night and minus Jim Hill, a forward, who was out for reasons unknown at the start of the game, started the conflict.
Luther Duda and Myron Willis substituted for the two players who were out. But reserves took over as the conflict became so one-sided. Hubert Priest, senior forward, lead the victors with 22 points followed by Ferdinand Duda with 14.
The Oviedo girls won the preliminary contest 21-20 after a last time score of 21-12.
Kay Bates, junior libero, quickly showed her ability in forward, at the half-time interval Jackie Jackson came on with an injured hand, and came to the front with 10 points for the team. Peggy Fleming made 10 points.

YOUTHFUL REQUEST PLANE OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Tinker Air Force Base usually has a crew of men who do nothing but dispose of no longer useful airplanes but a request received yesterday has been personnel stumped. The request came in a letter addressed simply to "Tinker, Oklahoma City" and asked about obtaining one slightly used airplane to "set in my yard to learn how to fly." The letter was signed by Johnny Smith and Jerry Harwarden, aged 18 and 24, respectively, of Muskogee.

Thrilling Run Of Freight Train Is

Thrilling Experience For Girl

WASS, N. M. (U) — When the low rumble of the air horn on the New Mexico Railway freight train sounded before the searchlight beam of the locomotive, it was the beginning of a thrilling experience for a lonely little girl.

She heard a familiar signal horn to run to the door and open it at the crew. The tiny, frail, 10-year-old girl with the blonde hair stepped out on the front porch and waved as the train approached.

That time, instead of rumbling past on through, the train slowed down. Then when the engine drew up with her house, the brakes were on with a squeal.

"Was wonderful but somewhat scary," said Michalene Winkle, the little girl, who lives in one of the few houses near the tracks in the 10-mile stretch between Hobbs and Eunice. She has been waving at the train crews for more than a year now and trainmen have grown to watch for her and wave back.

The engineers blow the whistle as the train approaches. She's there as the southbound train passes in the middle of the day. The northbound comes by at night, but time makes no difference—she's always there, with the porch light turned on.

When the southbound stopped the other day, the conductor, the engineer, the fireman and two brakemen climbed down and walked to where she stood.

"Come here, honey," said L. C. Casey, the conductor.

She came forward a little hesitantly.

The conductor leaned down, stuck out a big hand and said:

"My name's Casey and I'm an Irishman."

She gravely placed her hand in his.

The trainmen carried Michalene over to where the big engine rested with its motors idling. They put her down and then she saw the packages they had taken from the engine cab. One of them contained a big, beautiful doll almost as large as she was. The others were big boxes of candy, apples and nuts. Gifts from the trainmen, the card with them read:

"To the little girl beside the railroad from the Texas-New Mexico train crews."

Many Diseases

Are Originated In Your Mouth

This article is published as a public service by The Sanford Herald in cooperation with the Volusia County Dental Society.

Many people realize that many diseases of the human being have their origin in or about the mouth. The famous Mayo Medical Center has issued the statement that 80 per cent of all systemic diseases originate about the head and neck, and that 80 per cent of these have some of their earliest symptoms in and about the mouth and teeth.

That's why dentistry and medicine so often overlap. The problems of both the dentist and the physician meet in the mouth, in many cases. That's why, too, the dentist and the physician so often must work together. Therefore, if your physician refers you to a dentist, don't jump to the conclusion that it means the dentist is going to extract all your teeth, or perhaps even one of them. It may mean something entirely different, such as some misplacement or "loosening" of your teeth, some disease of the gums or a number of other ailments of the mouth. That is why we have dentists who are specialists in oral (mouth) diseases or in surgery of the mouth.

Ordinarily, however, a physician would refer you to a dentist because of some kind of trouble with your teeth or gums. As a rule, any good dentist can treat such things without referring you to a dental specialist, and will not do so unless it is for the patient's benefit.

Remember that the "last thing" a good dentist wants to do is to "pull a tooth." He, better than anyone else—including a physician—knows that great value of teeth, the indispensable part they play in health and normal living. A good dentist will cause you to lose a tooth if he possibly can save it, without endangering your health. Infected or diseased teeth, of course, are another matter. Often it is urgent that such teeth be removed to save further damage to the mouth, or to prevent a serious infection from pouring poisons into the bloodstream of the body.

Most people would not suffer for more than a few hours with an infected finger. If it got bad, he would have it treated, to prevent blood poisoning and relieve the pain. But many people will neglect an infected or decayed tooth for months or even years, especially if there is no pain. Yet such a tooth may be transmitting infection—poison—all through the body with every morsel of food. Your dentist working with your physician can often detect disease in its earliest stage and prevent serious complications. Follow his advice and keep your mouth healthy!

Satchmo Great

Ambassador For America

HOLLYWOOD (U) — Louis Armstrong, America's ambassador without portfolio but with horn, is willing to continue making friends for this country wherever he's seen—even behind the Iron Curtain.

"Russia? That's okay with me," he says. "They say the Russians don't like music, but that couldn't be true. Some of the best music in the world has come out of Russia. 'Forgy and Bass' opened up there and it was a big smash. If they want me to go, I'll go."

"I'll go wherever they send me. It's just like when I was delivering coal. If the company sent me, I'd bring a load to your house. If you'd pay me an extra 30 cents, I'd even stash it in your basement."

Me, I just like to play this horn. If I can make friends for us with it, that's fine. And music seems to do that. A note is a note in any language, and those foreign audiences are really hep. In some of those countries, it's just like going down to New Orleans and playing for all the cats I used to know."

Louis Daniel Armstrong, who still blows the best horn in the business at 35, is taking a rest from his globe trotting to make a movie. It's the Philadelphia Story moved to the Newport, R.I., jazz festival and retitled "High Society." Among the high socialites: Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, Frank Sinatra.

Afterward, Armstrong sat down to talk about his tours. He has been to Europe five times, playing from Spain to Sweden, and has ventured as far as Australia and Japan.

"The cats are wild wherever I go," he said. After we play "Back Home in Indiana," they're with us all the way. It brings the joint down. But then I'll play a quiet number like "Tenderly" and you won't be able to hear a sound in the auditorium."

Everywhere you go, they're friendly. They come up and give you little cards for membership in their jazz clubs. The club in Zurich didn't have much money, but they chipped in and bought me this watch. Ain't it a beauty? They got all my records. Some even have two copies of each, in case they break one."

CAROL CASEY is shown with the quintuplet calves born to one of the heifers of the Geer farm in Valley City, Ohio. Experts say the chances are about even in 14,000,000 births—about as rare as quintuplets being born to humans. The calves were born prematurely and weighed only 20-25 pounds, one-fourth of the weight of normal Holstein calves. Alfred Geer, the owner, saved them by feeding them milk and calf nip—starting with fingers of a rubber glove and later through nipple-nursing pails.

Florida Medical

Assn. Building To House Offices

Construction of permanent headquarters for the Florida Medical Association at Jacksonville has been announced by Dr. John D. Milton, of Miami, president. The building will house the Association's executive offices and will be the first home the physicians' organization has owned in its 23 years of existence.

Headquarters offices have always been at Jacksonville. Dr. Milton stated, but it was only recently that the Association's governing body, the House of Delegates, approved construction of the permanent office building due to the increased membership and activities of the Association.

The single story structure will be located on property adjoining the Fuller Warren Bridge in the Riverside section of the city. It is to be of masonry construction and of contemporary design. Floor space will be approximately 6,000 square feet. Saxeby and Powell are the architects.

Gallepsia Construction Company, of Jacksonville, was awarded the contract for an amount exceeding $100,000. Dr. Milton stated. Construction is expected to be completed by mid-summer.

The Florida Medical Association is a scientific, public service and fraternal organization of Doctors of Medicine in Florida who are members of their respective county medical societies.

Prediction Set For 1956 Video

NEW YORK (U)—Our operatives have finally reported in after consulting the sibyls and soothsayers, the astrologers and a sort of prophets on what to expect from television and radio in 1956.

The statisticians have projected their curves and see a boom business year for the industry. The figures to support this are very dull and won't be mentioned here.

There will be an increased number of longer television programs; the two-hour program will be commonplace by the end of the year. The brief newscast, which reached an all-time high in radio in 1955, will be heard with even greater frequency in 1956.

In lighter hearted vein the astrologers see other things.

There will be about 27 new quiz programs on television. Of these, about 26 will imitate features of the couple of thousand now on the screen. One will be totally different—and may last three weeks or three years.

Arthur Godfrey will fire five more employees. Each firing will be attended with newspaper headlines. Every other producer in the business will fire many more employees than Godfrey—and no one

Motor Maids

Touring for Safety

BY Betty Skelton, Dodge Test Drive.

For the past month I've been on tour for the National Safety Council speaking on safe winter driving—telling how you and your car should be prepared for hazardous winter roads.

Not just mere advice, my winter driving information was based on the results of road tests conducted in Wisconsin last year by the Council's committee on winter driving hazards.

Along with 63 leading automotive engineers, public safety officials and test drivers, I had the privilege of participating in these scientifically conducted tests. After spending a month skidding and sliding over icy terrain (in order to find out how we can help you avoid doing the same) I felt, when I started my tour, that I knew my subject pretty well.

So far, I've covered 19 cities in 44 days and have averaged six personal appearances in each city. There have been press interviews, civic and group luncheons, radio and TV appearances, all with the same theme of winter driving safety or "Don't Skid Yourself."

This, incidentally, happens to be the title of a film that we showed on the tour. It was made on-the-spot during the Wisconsin tests and gives some very practical winter-driving suggestions that came about as a result of the tests.

Presented Awards

While in Oakland, Calif., I presented Fleet Safety Awards to the East Bay Safety Council and realized I loved presenting an award to a cab driver who hadn't had an accident in 17 years of taxiing. In Denver, I was a guest speaker at the governor's yearly teenage council. Answering dozens of questions that these alert teenagers wanted to know about handling their automobiles, I was impressed with the amount of interest they took in safe driving.

Reaction Tests Given

On Safe Driving Day (Dec. 1) I was in New York participating in the Greater New York Safety Council's "Drivers' Clinic," where I spent the morning giving driver reaction tests. These wonderful tests, which originated with the Air Force, let you know if your reaction time or visual responses aren't quite up to par for driving and serve as a warning for extra caution.

It's really been a gratifying trip, particularly in terms of the warm response and interest shown by the American public. The newspaper people went out of their way to be helpful to me personally and in putting across the story. I had to tell in behalf of the National Safety Council's campaign to reduce automobile accidents.

The tour's been both fun and hard work. And I'll consider it a success if the safety messages I've delivered from San Francisco to New York have helped make more drivers more responsible.

Competition Of History Always Widens Down Thru' Years

History repeats itself. The evidence of some of the repeating scenes goes back into the news some 25 years ago.

War to the hill between communism and capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we must struggle against it with our lives and some in 20 or 30 years. To win we shall have to be put to sleep. The bourgeoisie will be put to sleep. There will be electrifying launches of the most spectacular peace movement on record. There will be electrifying captures and unheard of confessions. The capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to cooperate in their own destruction. They will lose at another chance to become friends. As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them with our clenched fist.

The above quotation is from an address delivered in 1931 by Dimitry Z. Manuilsky before the Lenin School of Political Warfare in Russia. He was the presiding officer of the United Nations Security Council in 1949.

Sanford Marred

Sanford isn't strong enough for a second year when describing the smash-up of the "Nautican" that was destined to ply the St. Johns River daily between Sanford and Blue Springs for cruises on the "River of the Americas".

An accident had to mar the immediate schedule of these trips.

However, we have been assured that the "Nautican" won't have to wait long for the boat to be put into tip-top shape again and the way to treating happiness and enjoyment for a lot of people coming to Sanford for those trips.

The dedication of the St. Johns River as the "River of the Americas" has gone out on many many miles around us.

For that reason, we will be looking for the "Nautican" to be traveling the normal path between Sanford and Blue Springs for thousands to enjoy.

Don't smoke in bed—the next ashes to fall on the floor may be your own.

The man of the hour makes every minute of the day count.

A life is more precious than the time you save spending.

Old Soldiers May Cause Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Old soldiers may fade away but not always quietly.

Three of the most famous generals of recent years—Douglas MacArthur, Omar Bradley and Matthew B. Ridgway—had some critical things to say once they were out of uniform about the way the man in the White House handled the armed forces.

MacArthur is Ridgway who, in a Saturday Evening Post article out today, makes a scathing attack on the Eisenhower administration's treatment of the Army and plainly implies President Eisenhower misrepresented him before Congress.

MacArthur was the first to sound off, and with the loudest repercussions. After President Truman scolded him, he blasted the President's handling of the Korean War and kept on blasting. That was in 1951.

Any fading he did from the newspaper headlines wasn't noticeable until after the Republican convention where some delegates thought he ought to be president.

The Saturday Evening Post says to have an affinity for old soldiers. That is where Bradley, MacArthur, and Ridgway, raised a cautioning voice. But Bradley was far less critical than Ridgway about Eisenhower's ideas on defense.

Bradley had been made chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff by Truman. Even though Bradley was an old Army pal of Eisenhower, the new President seemed determined to get rid of as many Truman appointees as possible.

He decided to let Bradley retire at age 60 and replace him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs with Adm. Arthur W. Radford. On Aug. 19, 1953, four days after he had stepped out of military life, Bradley's story appeared in the Post.

Eisenhower, anxious to fill a Republican campaign promise to cut government spending, began cutting into military spending by five billion dollars. Eisenhower argued this was more defense at less cost.

Bradley cautioned against letting security be endangered by too much economy. He acknowledged he had made a mistake himself in setting defense spending sights too low before the Korean War.

Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson did some of their economizing at the expense of the Army. Ridgway, while still Army chief of staff, protested to Congress about this.

Eisenhower didn't seem to appreciate Ridgway's criticism. He called it "parochial." Ridgway, 60 last year, could have been kept on two years more as chief of staff. Eisenhower let him retire last year.

Now, in the Post article, Ridgway says the administration's cuts in the Army were "almost entirely" for economic and political reasons, not for military ones. He said "pressure" was put on him to persuade him to go along with the cuts.

He says he was baffled when, despite his protests, Eisenhower told Congress the Joint Chiefs of Staff were unanimously behind his military program, which included cuts in the Army.

Charm Ranks Seventh With Bosses

NEW YORK (AP)—Could Marilyn Monroe walk into the average Average American business office and land a job as a secretary? No, says a survey of the nation's businessmen themselves, and I, for one, am not sure that I do.

A survey of leading executives on what they look for in a secretary, made by Carl Ray, research vice president of the Underwood Corp., placed personal charm way down on the list of desirable attributes. As a matter of fact, it ranked seventh.

"Forty-six per cent of the bosses indicated they wanted initiative more than anything else in a secretary," Ray said.

Why don't they place a higher premium on glamour in hiring a lady typewriter "jockey?" Ray conceded the executives were ruled partly by their fear of what their wives would say, but that a too-prissy secretary would distract the other office hired hands, but added:

"On a more positive basis, however, it's worth noting that secretaries today have to be executive assistants rather than just a plain old-fashioned secretary. What bosses really want is somebody who can mind the store while they're gone."

The sampling showed opinion was divided on the question of whether single or married women make the best secretaries.

Twenty-four per cent of the bosses stated a preference for single girls, 30 per cent preferred married secretaries, and the rest expressed no choice," Ray said.

One executive wrote, "The married woman is not concerned with whimsy and dating. She does a better job." Another philosophized: "It's really not important. If a girl is single today, she'll get married eventually anyway."

Florida's Progress

(Editors note: This is the second in a series of articles dealing with the anticipated industrial development of Florida, utilizing atomic energy.)

Scientists point to the sun as the greatest reactor of all and one with which everyone is familiar. In nuclear work, the reactor assumes the role of the furnace used in the ordinary power plant. In ordinary power plant operation, coal or fuel oil is combined with oxygen to produce heat. This heat is then used for other purposes, such as making steam to drive the pistons of a steam engine.

In the case of a reactor the same thing occurs except for the fact that no oxygen is required and instead of the ordinary fossil fuels (coal, oil, etc.) fissionable materials are used. As this fissionable material disintegrates, heat is generated and used just as the heat from an ordinary furnace.

The reactor is, in reality, a small atomic bomb, but completely safe. Instead of the material disintegrating all at one time, as in the case of a bomb, it is controlled and disintegrates over a period of time, producing a steady and copious quantity of heat. The amount of disintegration is directed proportional to the amount of heat needed from the reactor. The Atomic Energy Commission makes sure that all reactors operate safely.

Then, just as in any other steam plant, the liberated energy is used to heat water for steam and the steam is harnessed in turbines, delivering a continuous flow of power.

For instance, if the gas from a large tank is drained off and burned slowly, a small continuous amount of heat is produced. If the entire tank is fired at once, an explosion occurs in which all of the gas is burned in a fraction of a second, producing a tremendous amount of heat at one time.

The nuclear reactor contemplated for the University of Florida's Engineering and Industrial Experiment Station will be the largest planned for any University campus. The University of Michigan has included in its current appropriation, seven and one-half million dollars for an atomic research program. Its reactor will have a heat rating of 1000 kilowatts and use about seven pounds of uranium.

North Carolina State has a small reactor having a rating of 20 kilowatts but with an useful power output. Other reactors are planned or under construction at Penn State College, University of Michigan, University of California, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Vanderbilt University.

The reactor planned for the University of Florida will have a heat rating of about 10,000 kilowatts, similar to the Army's package reactor. In addition to having the capacity to do basic research work such as reactors on other college campuses, it would be capable of producing 1000 kilowatts of electrical energy or about 20,000 pounds of steam at 500 degrees Fahrenheit. This reactor would supply enough power to conduct research projects which could not be accomplished at other colleges and universities.

Thus, without losing the advantage of being able to do basic research in physics, chemistry, biology, medicine, agriculture, engineering and many other fields, the Florida reactor would be an invaluable research tool for Florida's budding industry.

The third article in the series is devoted to the economics of reactor power and the energy available in Florida's uranium.

There were 36,000 deaths in 1934 due to motor vehicle accidents, along with 1,350,000 injuries, at a total cost of $440,000,000 according to the National Safety Council.

GENE ARCHIBALD (inset), who learned how to deliver his own baby by watching a birth sequence on television, beams with pride as nurse Martha Levine holds daughter, Jean Anne, six pounds, 13 ounces. Archibald performed the delivery in his Chicago home when his wife, Dorothy, told him that there was not time to reach the hospital. Doctors informed the father that he had done a good job and that the mother and child are doing fine. (International)

Anti-aircraft Unit Calls Volunteers To Join In Ranks

"ARAACOM", the Regular Army newly activated Anti-aircraft Command, which is responsible for defending the cities and coasts of the country, is calling for volunteers to join its ranks. It was announced today by the local Army recruiter, Master Sergeant H. P. Jacobsen.

With guided missiles, and other complex electronic anti-aircraft weapons such as the "Sky Sweeper" as the backbone of the command, units are already in sites in and around Washington, New York, and Philadelphia, and plans call for the eventual protection of practically all major cities.

"ARAACOM" units for the most part will be assigned in the continental limits of the country. Headquarters for the new command is at Colorado Springs, Colorado, with training centers at Fort Bliss, Texas and Fort Monmouth, New Jersey," the recruiter explained.

"Volunteers for this new command will have a choice of specialist training in electronics and guided missiles that will assure "bonus" positions in military or civilian life. In addition to the excellent training opportunities there are also great opportunities for fast promotions in this rapidly expanding command.

"ARAACOM" is accepting men with or without previous military service who meet the qualifications. Those having no prior service receive their basic military training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, before beginning their specialist training at Fort Bliss.

"Prior service men who have had previous automatic and anti-aircraft weapons training are given special consideration and preference of metropolitan area to which assigned," Sergeant Jacobsen concluded.

Interested persons who would like further information regarding the assignments, technical training and qualifications in the new Anti-aircraft Command are invited

SEN. WALTER F. GEORGE (D-Ge.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, tells newsmen in Washington that his participation in foreign policy will suffer if the Administration presses for long-term foreign aid commitments. Ladies Spite Cold To Attend Session At Oviado Dwelling

OUTSIDE the walls of the innervated cold Friday morning fifty club members and visitors turned up for the monthly luncheon and meeting.

In addition to the fried chicken luncheon served by Mrs. F. W. McCall and her committee, Mrs. J. B. Jones Jr., Mrs. James Partin, Mrs. T. E. Cobb, Mrs. John Duda and Mrs. A. D. Dawson, an entertaining program was enjoyed.

The highlight of the occasion, attended by the largest group to be present for a meeting and luncheon this club year was the presence of Miss Jean Yethers, the guest of Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. B. G. Smith's guest for this occasion was Miss Annie Hawkins, of Georgia, quite well known here. Mrs. Anita Crawford, new of New Fort Richey, was a familiar face among the visitors, being guest of her sister, Mrs. G. W. Morgan, Mrs. J. C. McFalls, who has just moved here from Sanford, was also a guest of Mrs. Jones for this affair.

Mrs. Joseph Leinhart, club president, conducted a very short business session following the club program and luncheon.

Frozen Concentrate Brings Success

The Florida citrus industry, which brings an annual $400,000,000 into the state, credits much of its marketing success to the discovery of frozen orange concentrate.

Developed by the Florida Citrus Commission's Research Department, frozen concentrate now envelopes more than half of all oranges produced in the state. Empowered by Florida state statutes to exercise quality control of all Florida citrus products, the Citrus Commission has established and maintains the strictest of regulations in the processing of frozen concentrates.

Under Florida law, no sugar or other additive can be added to frozen orange concentrate, and when the housewife opens a can of Florida frozen orange juice to serve for her family's breakfast, she can be assured she is getting only the pure orange juice with the water removed, only a few mechanical steps from the juice that was squeezed from the orange.

The future potentialities for frozen orange juice are indicated by statistics which show that although Florida is selling the product almost as fast as it can produce it, only slightly more than 30 per cent of the families in the U. S. are buying concentrate regularly each month.

Several factors enter into the picture for the future, which will have to be expanded in step with the expansion of frozen orange juice production. More neighborhood food stores must provide the freezer facilities necessary for storing a supply of this product. And more home freezers and refrigerators with freezing compartments must come into use in the home if the housewife is to buy more than a can or two at a time.

At the present time, only 50 per cent of the retail food stores in the U. S. offer frozen orange concentrate for sale. This is largely due to the fact that a large percentage of the outlets do not have facilities for storage of frozen goods. Latest figures available, however, show that 65 per cent of food stores having freezer cabinets stock orange concentrate.

Just what the future holds for the continued growth and expansion of frozen orange concentrate is anybody's guess. Those companies which have millions of dollars invested in the business in plants and equipment are convinced that Florida's future in the citrus industry lies along a course which will be charted largely by the growth in demand of frozen orange juice.

Plans Are Based On Better Times

NEW YORK (AP)—Both President Eisenhower in his budget and industry units expansion plans are betting on continuing good times.

This stands out against a background of increasing nervousness in financial quarters where a number of observers today sight what they believe to be the cresting of the prosperity wave.

The President's belief that the economy is headed still higher this year is shown in his estimate of government receipts. He expects 1 billion dollars in the fiscal year starting next July.

The only way this could happen would be for good times to continue and to blossom even more. That would assure increased collections from corporation incomes. It would provide higher totals of salaries and wages from which the government could collect an increased total of individual income taxes. The higher corporate and individual incomes would be made in 1936—because collections on income in booming 1935 will be for the most part complete in this fiscal year ending June 30.

To collect 1 billion dollars more next year means, therefore, that this year will have to be even better than last.

Many industrial leaders are betting the same way. Businessmen are planning to spend more—at least in the first part of his year—for new plants and better equipment than they did a year ago.

Latest example is General Motors. President Harlow H. Curtis has assured his fellow business leaders that backing his confidence in continued national prosperity, GM will spend a record one billion dollars this year for plant and machinery.

Curtis also says business in general will see "another record year" in 1936 and a new high in the gross national product—the dollar value of total output of industry and services.

The American Dental Assn. says that Americans bought 120 million tooth brushes in 1934, a year when the country had 138 million people over two years old.

For his own industry he predicts "the second best year in production and sales"—second only to record-breaking 1935. But in many quarters, however, has been changing to caution, and in such places as the stock market, from caution to nervousness. The steel industry notes that resistance if they do.

Additional Workers Are Now Covered Under Benefit Law

An estimated 100,000 additional workers in Florida now are covered under provisions of Unemployment Compensation law, but will not be eligible for benefit payments before Oct. 1. Industrial Commission Chairman James T. Vocelle reports.

Vocelle said that the Federal and State laws which bring employers with four or more workers under the program and liable for a payroll tax of 2.7 per cent took effect January 1. Only employees of firms with eight or more workers were covered before.

"The Jan. 1 effective date does not mean that the employees of the newly-covered firms become eligible immediately for unemployment compensation benefits," Vocelle said. "That is the date from which employers began paying into the fund, but payment of benefits to unemployed persons who meet the tests of eligibility will not come until October 1 at the earliest."

He explained that this is because the law provides that to be eligible for minimum benefit payments of $3 a week a worker must have been in covered employment in at least two of the first four of the next five calendar quarters and have had wage earnings of at least $150.

The coverage extension to firms with four or more workers increases the number of covered employees from 550,000 to 650,000, or approximately three-fourths of all non-farm workers in the state. Covered employees now number about 37,000 compared to 16,735 before the new law took effect.
