DeBary Girl Scout Troop Observes Centennial At Afternoon Program

By MRS. ADAM MULLER
Mrs. Charles Cain of DeBary and Saudi Arabia was guest speaker at the centennial anniversary observance by DeBary's Girl Scout Troop 20 at the Community Center on the afternoon of Dec. 6.

Mrs. Cain, who soon will leave to join her husband at Aremca (Arabian American Oil Co.) where he is employed, told of life, daily habits and types of food available to the average American living in Arabia.

She said that although she traveled to many countries while living in Saudi Arabia, she finds the best antiques right here in America. She told of her surprise, when upon boarding the only train running in Arabia she spotted the title of the New York and Hartford Line still on it. Since she at one time lived in Connecticut, she said, she immediately felt more at home.

She displayed for the scouts an assortment of odd jewelry, small figurines, articles of brass and numerous bowls made from olive woods. In viewing her colored slide collection, the audience was able to detect landscapes and terrain similar to that of Florida while other pictures showed lava formations in mountainous proportions.

Scenes were shown of American living quarters, gardens, the stores where people trade, including a Singer Sewing Machine shop on one street, and of wells used by the natives for laundry, bathing and to water their donkeys.

Mrs. Cain also showed pictures of the room where the Last Supper took place, of the catacombs under the church in the birthplace of Jesus and of beautiful mosaic hangings on the walls of various churches and buildings photographed during her travels.

Guests at the Scouting celebration were welcomed by Mrs. Lenny Biondi, leader of Troop 20, and were invited to inspect a side-table display of items made by the girls. Awards presented went to Kathy Schob, second class rank, and to Linda Smith, second class rank and pin.

The Scouts gave Mrs. William Fidler, president of the DeBary Women's Club which sponsors the troop, a rose bush as a memento marking the birthday of Juliet Lowe, founder of the Girl Scouts of America organization.

Refreshments were served to conclude the program from a buffet table centered with a large cake decorated in troop colors and placed amidst a setting of Scout emblems.

Macmillan Wins Vote Of Confidence

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan won an overwhelming vote of confidence last week on his attempts to get a cease-fire in Katanga Province. He said that Britain and the United States are basically in accord on Congo policy.

As President Kennedy took steps in Washington to secure peace in the Congo, the House of Commons passed a motion backing the government's position on a cease-fire in Katanga without a dissenting vote. Earlier, a Labor amendment to a motion accusing the government of "equivocal" policies on Katanga and bringing the nation into international "disrepute" was beaten by a vote of 320-226, with 11 absentations. Laborites then did not oppose the confidence motion which called for an immediate cease-fire and the peaceful unification of the Congo.

Referring to the American and British positions, Macmillan said: "There is no difference between us in our long-term aim. We both believe in the unity of the Congo and we both believe in conciliation. The only difference is on a precise tactical position which should be secured before a cease-fire can operate."

Macmillan told cheering members of Commons that he had received a "hopeful first reply" from Acting United Nations Secretary General Thant on efforts to obtain a cease-fire.

Service Hospital Benefits Curbed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has told the armed forces to charge military men a dollar every time their wives and children visit service hospitals or dispensaries the Army - Navy - Air Force Journal reported today.

The authoritative service publication called that a "miserly action." It would apply, the publication said, when the relatives were treated but did not stay at the hospital.

The Journal said McNamara also had told the Army, Navy and Air Force secretaries no provision would be made in future hospital construction for care of family members, including maternity.

The Journal said imposition of the one-dollar charge infringed a right that had been traditional in the services "since the first days of the republic."

Well Field Inadequate, Engineers Tell City Commission

$1 Million Water Expansion Project Necessary

A group of engineers Monday night warned the City Commission of "acute contamination" of the present well field and urged the board to start construction of a new million dollar well field on the golf course property, including four new wells, a water treatment facility and a network of transmission lines into the city's distribution center. Cost of the project according to consulting engineer Jesse Dietz of Clark, Dally and Dietz, who, with local engineers Lefler and Bush, drew up a water report, is estimated at a million dollars. Dietz emphasized that the second well field would be used in conjunction with the present field located on Hwy. 17-92 near the Movieland Drive-In. City Manager W. E. Knowles explained that the city had gone into a temporary water improvement program to get by the "next couple of years" by putting down a 12-inch well and the booster station at 26th St. and French Ave.

"This adds about 600 gallons a minute to our supply but it is strictly temporary," Knowles added. Knowles pointed out that the present water treatment facility on 13th and French would be uneconomical to expand. Dietz, in a comprehensive report, said that improvements have been made. They include an additional well having a capacity of 600 gallons per minute discharging the raw water transmission line to town. However, Dietz stressed, that these projects do not "constitute any major improvements to the water supply facilities beyond the pumping station at 13th and French. In order to provide adequate services for the present population, improvements are needed at the 13th and French pumping station and in the distribution system," he said. Dietz said that the source of supply consists of nine wells, eight of which are located south of the city and the ninth at the 13th and French pumping station. The well located at 13th and French according to Dietz has a water quality "undesirable" for any except emergency use, due to the high chloride content.

"The other eight wells, because of their location" are subject to contamination which has been demonstrated on a number of occasions. Industrial sewage discharges in the well field area raise the possibilities of potential and actual contamination," he said.

"In order to provide a safe and adequate water supply, it is recommended that the new well field with treatment facilities be developed as soon as possible. "Present water facilities in the city are inadequate," Dietz emphasized, and "if for no other reason than to insure a continuing safe source of water, this improvement should be undertaken," he said. The board took no action and placed the report under advisement.

By LARRY VERSHEL Why is the new Jai Alai fronton named Orlando-Seminole Fronton and not SEMINOLE - Orlando Fronton?

The city hall grounds were called "Jai" last night at the City Commission meeting by Commissioner Earl Higginbotham. "Let's make it look like Florida, instead of New York," said the outspoken Earl. "You would never know this lawn was in Florida," he added. Tom McDonald quipped, "Put up a sign."

There were many choice quotes at the meeting last night. Take this exchange: After a discussion of what a sewage treatment plant would mean to the city and the possibility of increased water and sewer rates, Earl Higginbotham said, "This commission will be long remembered." Chimed in Jimmy Crapps, who opposed a plant until federal money was approved. "The four of you will be long remembered."

Zoning Director Bob Brown reports that building permits during the 1959-61 fiscal year are down $7 million over the 1958-60 fiscal year.

County Commissioner Vernon Dunn tells us that he will seek re-election next year only under "certain circumstances."

Mr. Dunn did not elaborate. No sooner had the city placed rocks on a patch of area on 25th St. and Park Ave. than a host of women called City Manager W. E. Knowles on the lack of beauty there and "what's gonna happen to the trees?" Says Mr. Knowles the trees were re-planted by the lakefront.

By the way, we noticed a number of kids playing "King Of The Mountains" on the rock pile. I wonder who would be liable if anyone got hurt?

We hear that all the abled-bodied prisoners are battling to get on the newly organized road work gang. County Engineer Carlton Bliss tells us that crews this week are clearing much needed rights of way and also helping to stabilize some of the county roads.

The County Commission in a brief session yesterday made it official by adopting a resolution asking the State Road Department to pay for the Lake Mary Extension rights of way with secondary funds. Is the county going to handle every right of way by this means now?

By the way, Bliss says the big road department project next year will be improving W. Lake Brantley Drive. The $21,000 project is being surveyed right now. Key to the success of the program is getting the five rights of way.

The courthouse will be closed the day after Christmas (next Tuesday) giving county employes a long four day holiday.

It sure seems a shame there is no Christmas lighting contest here this year.

The fire department now is at full strength with the addition of a new man this week. His name is Ronald Renaud. Now there are 23 firemen on the force.

Inch-Plus Rain Quenches Thirst Of Dry Seminole

Sanford and Seminole County were drenched with heavy rains Monday night and early this morning. More than an inch and a half fell. No heavy damage was reported to county roads or city streets in the heavy downpour which lasted over eight hours.

It was the first heavy rain in the area for almost three months. Around the nation Polar air stabbed into Texas and Tennessee today and snow was falling from the Pacific Northwest to the Great Lakes. Floods left nearly 2,000 persons homeless in the Deep South.

Precipitation in one form or another was the rule in all but the desert Southwest, and even there mountain areas reported snow.

There were heavy rains from the Gulf to New York. Sleet and freezing rain covered the Ohio Valley and New England with a glassy veneer. Thunderstorms pounded Florida and Missouri. A mixture of rain and snow pelted the Pacific Coast from northern California to Canada.

Nearly half the nation was under cold wave warnings from an arctic air mass with temperatures as much as 40 degrees below normal.

West and Middle Tennessee were in the cold wave belt. The temperature was forecast to drop during the day, to 20 by morning in the Memphis area and to 15 at Nashville.

The death toll since the weather onslaught began over the weekend reached 53 today. Indiana had 11 dead; Iowa six; Texas five; Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin four each; Oregon, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts three each; Maine, Utah and Mississippi two each; and New York, Connecticut and Colorado one each.

Yule Party For All Longwood Children

Longwood Mayor Al Lormann reported today that some residents are under the mistaken impression that their children may not attend the annual Christmas Party Thursday night unless they had been registered in advance.

The registration was requested only to give members of the Volunteer Fire Dept., sponsors of the party, some idea as to the expected attendance, he said, adding that the firemen have wrapped some 600 gifts and that all children, registered or not, will be welcomed for Santa's visit.

The gifts were made possible through donations from businesses, organizations and individuals and a big boost came from the $100 received from a more than generous citizen who wished to remain anonymous, Lormann said.

Tshombe Flies To Parley With Congo President

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe flew off to Kitona with U. S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion today for a conference with Congo central government Premier Cyrille Adoula.

The meeting was brought about through a massive United Nations attack on Tshombe's forces in Elisabethville and President Kennedy's efforts to resolve the Congo turmoil.

It could provide a dramatic breakthrough in the agonizing efforts of this giant African land to achieve peace and unity.

Fighting was stopped in Elisabethville—at least temporarily. UPI correspondent Neil Smith reported that the Katanga capital that the halt to the fighting came Monday after the city had taken its worst pounding yet from United Nations forces.

Tells Homestead Exemption Rules

Tax Assessor Mary Earle Walker today reminded residents that the time to file for homestead exemption is the first three months of the year.

The filing date starts at Jan. 1 and continues through March 31. Mrs. Walker said that "it has been called to my attention that erroneous announcements have been made in regard to filing date of homestead applications for 1962."

"If you have bought property during the year 1961, your deed or agreement for deed should be recorded in the clerk's office prior to Dec. 31. "After Jan. 1, 1962, and before Mar. 31, bring your recorded deed or agreement for deed into the assessor's office and make your application for homestead exemption," she added.

City Okays Sewage Unit

The City Commission by a 4-1 vote Monday night approved final plans for a near half million dollar sewage treatment plant and was informed by the State Board of Health that sufficient federal funds were available "at the present time" to construct the facility.

The complete, "compact," readily expandible plant as described by City Manager W. E. Knowles is expected to cost $367,000 with the federal government kicking in $129,440.

Sidney Berkowitz, assistant director of the Florida State Board of Health, told engineers Lefler and Bush earlier in the day that "previous commitments of funds were somewhat changed at the present time by reason that cities having higher priority rating had not exercised their rights to the funds since July of 1961."

Bar Doors Shut

The City Commission changed its mind again Monday night and voted to clamp the lid on bars opening at 12:01 New Year's day. The vote was unanimous.

The latest change of events occurred some two weeks after the board voted to keep the bars open New Year's eve, seven days after they changed their minds closing the bars on Sunday but opening at the stroke of 12:01 and closing them at 3 a. m. New Year's day. There was hardly any discussion on the matter and the commission passed quickly to the next item on its agenda.

In other business, the Board backed up City Manager W. E. Knowles' stand to allow the Seminole High School swimming team to use Ft. Mellon Pool only if they pay $16.74 per day. The Swimming team wants the pool open Jan. 2—some 155 days before the city's operation be-

Docs In House?

In the 1962 session of Congress, a big battle is expected to flare on the issue of medical care for the aged. Actually, the question of adequate medical aid for persons of all ages is still a very unsettled one.

Few people today need to be told that it can be financially perilous to be sick enough to require hospitalization and possibly surgery. Hospital costs, like many others, go running upward and upward, often tending to the limit the ailing person's ability to pay.

The Health Information Foundation looked into medical care costs as recorded under the voluntary Blue Cross program in a midwestern state in a typical year. It found there were about 115 hospital admissions for every 1000 persons covered by the program, and that the average bill paid each time was $166.

Obviously, the more serious and more protracted the illness, the more likely this average figure would prove to be unrepresentative. For cancer patients the average was $387, for heart cases $264.

Without some measure of health insurance, such costs inevitably deal a blow to individual or family budgets. And the various programs are having a hard time keeping financially abreast of the rising charges.

In this connection, it is informative to note that data from the U. S. National Health Survey, a federal agency, show that use of hospital services is about one third higher among those with insurance as compared with those who have none.

While this is understandable enough on the surface, the important question is to what extent the uninsured fail to obtain hospital attention they truly need.

The survey agency's figures further indicate—not surprisingly—that the lower a family's income, the smaller the proportion of its hospital bills which will be covered by insurance. In other words, health insurance protection is weakest where it is needed most.

Since medical care burdens are just part of the mounting load weighing down the average individual in this cost-ridden age, it would be rash to forecast early solution of this problem.

There will be enough controversy in 1962, it appears, simply in trying to ease that part of the dilemma that involves the aged.

Q—What would happen to my money, in and out of the bank, and my stocks if we were bombed or suffered fall-out?—D. L.

A—Dear D. L.: According to the most-informed sources, the government would not compensate you for lost cash.

Banks plan to pay off savings and checking accounts even if their premises are destroyed, but will probably limit how much cash you could withdraw immediately.

The government plans to compensate stockholders in destroyed firms, but with limits on immediate cash payments.

Everyone agrees you should keep careful records of what you own.

If you are the cautious type, you might send a duplicate set of your records to another part of the United States. Let's hope none of these precautions will ever be needed.

Q—Instead of buying stocks in the stock market, some people buy "puts" and "calls." What are they?—M. B.

A—Dear M. B.: A "put" is an option, or right, to sell 100 shares of stock at a certain price within a certain period of time. A "call" is an option, or right, to buy 100 shares of stock at a certain price within a period of time.

"Puts" are bought by those who think a stock may go down. If you buy a "put," the person who has sold you the contract must take delivery of the stock and pay the price to the owner within a specified period of time.

If you buy a "call," the holder of the stock must sell you the stock at a specified price and time. These "put" and "call" contracts are written for 30, 60, 90 days—or longer.

Q—If you have a good, informed broker that you have confidence in, do you still need a bank to advise you on your investments and commitments?—R. C. J.

A—Dear R. C. J.: I dislike yes-and-no answers, but I fear you are due for one. Basically, it depends how much money you have invested, for unless the sum is substantial, a bank advisory service could be too costly.

On the other hand, two brains could be better than one or, by the same token, merely lend added in-decision. Finally, I don't know what you mean by "commitments." (Please dear readers, be more specific.)

Henry McLemore

Determined to carve properly at least one Christmas turkey before I die, I enrolled a month ago in a correspondence school of carving.

Like a beginner in any art, I didn't start right off with a turkey. Far from it. After an introductory lesson on knives (what kind to use, how to sharpen, care and use, etc.), I was allowed to start carving on a meat loaf.

I gave myself an A-plus on the meat loaf. It is an ideal "bird" to carve. It has no wings, legs, or neck, and doesn't resist the carver in any way.

The same is true of the hot dog, the pork chop, the sirloin steak, and the meat ball, all of which I advanced to as the lessons moved along.

Then, just recently, came the big day. The lesson came in a larger, heavier envelope. The contents felt much bulkier, and were, at first, on the weight of the envelope, I thought that my alma mater had enclosed a free turkey. But no, the very first thing on the instruction sheet was information as to the size of the turkey I should buy for practice.

So I bought a nine-pound turkey (frozen), had my wife cook it, and I stood by sort of like a surgeon's nurse in an operating room. I even scrubbed up before I started, and slipped on an apron voluminous enough to pass for a gown.

"The sharpest knife we have," I said to Mary.

It was in my hand before I knew it.

With a quick glance at the diagram of a turkey's body on my instruction sheet, I made the first incision—a deep gash roughly where the thigh joins the rest of the turkey.

"Hold his head, nurse," I barked to Mary as the turkey, as if flinching, slid sideways on the platter.

Grasping the drumstick I sawed away, only to run into a part of the turkey that my book had never mentioned. It was, as far as I could determine, a thin layer of concrete reinforced with steel ribs.

"The hatchet, nurse," I commanded.

Mary went to the back porch and returned with the hatchet.

A few sharp, decisive blows broke through the turkey's concealed armor plate and one leg was on the platter. Six chops of the hatchet and the other leg was off. The book then said to carve the meat of the legs and thigh, but that was not necessary. The meat was already off, shredded by the hatchet's whacks.

Afraid that the operation was taking too long, I gave up the use of the knife on the wings and used my hands. For those interested, a counter-clockwise motion is best for wrenching off the wings of a turkey.

"Splendid job, sir," I heard Nurse Mary mutter.

"Thank you," I said, and attacked the breast with its white meat. This time I used the knife, and managed to cut away huge chunks, roughly the size of hen's eggs.

At last the job was finished. The turkey was not only carved, but blasted. Stuffing was everywhere. The bird looked as if a hand grenade had exploded in its middle.

"Ready to eat," I said, stepping back.

"Ready to collect," the nurse said.

We ate the turkey and threw the book out the window.

Carvers are born, not made.

To The Editor

P. O. Box 511
Sanford, Florida
December 18, 1961

Dear Sir:

County Commissioner James P. Avery's frequent tirades are generally taken with a sprinkling of salt and passed off with consideration of the source; however, when he attempts to blame Congressman Herlong and Senator Smathers for the County's failure to obtain money from the federal government for a drainage survey, he is trying to mislead our people. Apparently there were valid reasons why Seminole County did not qualify for the grant. To shunt it off and call it "politics" is the worst kind of demagogic politics I know. If it is politics that controls these decisions, then Seminole County should have gotten the money because such political influence as we had was exerted on the application.

Frankly, I do not want a government run on the basis of other than merit. It's typical small-time demagoguery for a person to yell "politics" when he hasn't done his own job. What does Mr. Avery think he's in, if it isn't politics?

When Mr. Avery has been with us a little longer perhaps he will learn that Mr. Herlong and Mr. Smathers have been mighty good friends of Seminole County and that his tirade about "politics" was in very poor taste.

Very truly yours,
Andrew Carraway

UN Disarmament Effort In Offing

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—A half-year of hard bargaining by Moscow and Washington brought the United Nations today to the point of resuming efforts to disarm the world.

An 18-nation committee, worked out by the Soviet Union and the United States and approved unanimously by the General Assembly's Main Political Committee Wednesday night, will start work on the elusive disarmament problem as soon as technical arrangements can be made.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Overhaul of the 23-year-old, $4 billion-a-year federal-state assistance programs is in the works. This includes not only the Kennedy administration health insurance plan for the aged—to replace the Kerr-Mills plan adopted during the Eisenhower administration—but also a complete reworking of the aid to dependent children programs.

This is to be reexamined the "Bureau of Family Services" and the emphasis is to be put on rehabilitation to get more people off relief and into useful employment.

Many people will say it's about time. Some contend that the whole business of relief should be abolished, just because of abuses in a small minority of the cases handled.

Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, for instance, says in his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative," that "the recipient of welfare . . . mortgages himself to the federal government" and eliminates "any feeling of responsibility for his own family and that of his neighbors." His conclusion is:

"Let welfare be a private concern." Or, "If we deem public intervention necessary, let the job be done by local and state authorities that are incapable of accumulating the vast political power that is so inimical to our liberties."

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff maintains that the states run the programs now.

The federal government, he says, merely supplies matching funds for state programs after they're approved by Washington as meeting certain minimum standards. The states act as transmission belts to pass the money to local government to hand out.

As governor of Connecticut for six years, Ribicoff had to deal with public assistance programs first-hand. He says they caused him more concern than anything else. And he came back to Washington as head of HEW determined to correct them.

The 10 new regulations he has just announced for administering aid to dependent children are his first step.

Some additional legislation will be requested of the new Congress and another $17 million will be required—half federal, half state funds—to put his reforms in effect. But, "We're trying to save on a long-range basis," he says, "and we can bring down the costs of relief."

Public Assistance Programs were born in the depths of the great depression, when private charity and local governments found themselves unable to cope with their problems. They dropped off during World War II years, but have been on the increase ever since. And there is no predicting where they will go if they continue in the present wrong directions.

Public assistance administrators are waking up to the fact that they now have dependent children on their rolls who are the third generation in families that have been on relief for a quarter of a century.

The problem is to get such of these people as are able to work off the relief roles and onto some paying job. Many of them are uneducated and untrained for any work today. There is no incentive to get off easy relief money and onto a payroll.

A key trouble here, says Ribicoff, is that there aren't enough competent people administering public assistance. Of 32,000 social workers, fewer than 5 percent have been trained for their jobs. Such social workers as there are have too much to do. Instead of having, say 150 cases in their care, they have 300. They can't possibly make the rounds.

One of the goals in the new Ribicoff plan is to give incentives to the states to train more social workers, then have the states adopt standards that relief families be visited at least once every three months in efforts to get them off relief.

It is of course hard to get tough about people on relief at Christmas time. When Ribicoff was asked if his new program was a "businessman's approach" to public assistance, he was stopped for a moment. Then he observed, "There's a heck of a lot businessmen don't know about government. This is a hardhead and compassionate heart approach."

Worry Clinic

CASE X-480: Roger B., aged 35, is a college professor.

"No, I seldom vote in an election," he confessed. "Both parties are crooked, anyway, so what difference does it make?"

"Besides, there are enough floaters and morons to far outweigh my ballot. So I don't take any interest in politics. It makes little difference to me which party or which candidate wins the election."

"The political speakers just tell the same old lies and make the same old promises. They use the same old platitudes and rabble rousers."

"Even if I took an active interest in politics, what can a lone man do against the masses of unthinking voters?"

No progress is ever possible where men and women passively submit to present circumstances, shrug their shoulders in a despairing gesture, and are too lazy or listless to try. That's a sign of mental, too!

In 1492, all of Europe took one stand, but Columbus took the opposite. Later Fulton and Edison did as Columbus had done.

When Christ was crucified, he left only 12 disorganized Apostles in an immoral age.

But those 12 men went to work against the entire pagan Roman empire and within a few centuries made Christianity the state religion.

Today a church spire arises from every village and hamlet as a tribute to the sturdy ethical battle waged by that minority group.

The majority are not always right. In fact, the minorities are often a step ahead of the majority.

It often takes years to popularize new truths and scientific inventions, so by the time the majority are sold on the new ideas, the advancing fringe of progressive leaders is far ahead, forming a new minority.

The elder LaFollette was considered a radical, but most of his so-called radical views would now be ultra conservative doctrines.

"But why do older men usually grow conservative?" you may well ask.

Because they are lazy! They quit inventing new ideas or doctrines.

Not even the giant dinosaurs were as large or as heavy as the sulphur-bottom whale, world's largest animal.

But men want wages instead of gifts or paternalistic on the back. They want sincere praise for honest effort. And they especially want to be noticed and called by name! Their ego is often as important as their pocketbook as regards the cause of a striker.

Labor unions would have been unnecessary if industrial leaders had kept their ears to the ground! The modern consumer survey is invaluable to every kind of leader who wants to keep abreast of the public thinking.

I always kept "plants" in my college classes just to learn if my lectures were "going across" with a bang, or if I was slipping in some regard.

Moreover, I don't ever expect to "coast", at least until my pall bearers roll me into the hearse. We should all keep alive and young, which means in touch with reality, and open-minded.

Demonstrators Seek Kennedy's Aid

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Negro integration leaders who saw nearly 300 anti-segregation demonstrators arrested in 30 minutes Monday night sought the help and protection of President Kennedy today for another nighttime protest march.

The Negroes said they would try to march downtown at the evening rush hour during the Christmas shopping season even if they were not given a parade permit by city officials.

Police arrested 290 Negroes and two whites Monday on charges of parading without a permit on Canal Street. The marchers, mostly students from Southern and Dillard universities, were scheduled to appear in City Court late this afternoon. They faced maximum fines of $100 and 90 days in jail if convicted.

Police moved quickly on the demonstrators as they marched toward the state office building here in a protest, sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), against mass arrests of anti-segregationists in Baton Rouge last week.

The Rev. Avery Alexander, chairman of the Negro Consumers League of Greater New Orleans, said his group did not expect to receive a parade permit for tonight because it usually takes several days to process. But he said they will march the two miles to the registrar of voters office in the Civic Center anyway.

He sent a telegram to President Kennedy protesting the arrests Monday night of the marchers, and asked for protection.

He said Negroes were "run down and hunted down by dogs." He said he had not seen dogs used by police Monday, but he had heard about it.

Alexander told Kennedy that Negroes are "incensed and shocked by these outrages and atrocities committed in the name of law against us as Negroes."

GARDEN OF THE MONTH is this lovely tree-shaded home of Mrs. S. B. Smith at 512 Myrtle Ave. The glowing colors of over 23 varieties of crotons are Mrs. Smith's pride and joy and the grounds are further beautified by the brilliant "flame of the woods" ixora and the profusion of poinsettias. Another feature of the handsome yard is the hibiscus tree surrounded with lilies. Mrs. J. C. Sikes, beautification chairman of the Hemerocallis Circle chose the garden on the basis of its overall beauty. Mrs. Smith does all her own yard work.

President Hastens Back To Capital; Council Meet Set

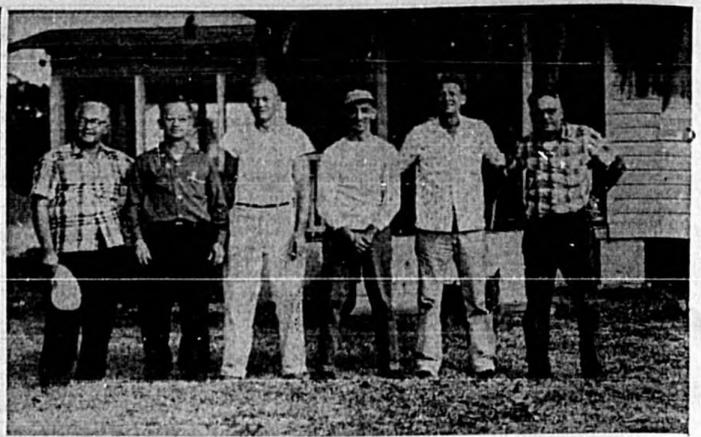

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—President Kennedy hastens back to Washington today for a meeting with the National Security Council and preparations for his Thursday meeting in Bermuda with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Kennedy stopped off here Monday on his way back from South America to treat a heavy head cold with sleep, rest and sunshine. Originally he was scheduled to fly on to Washington Monday morning after dropping off Mrs. Kennedy here to get ready for the family Christmas holidays.

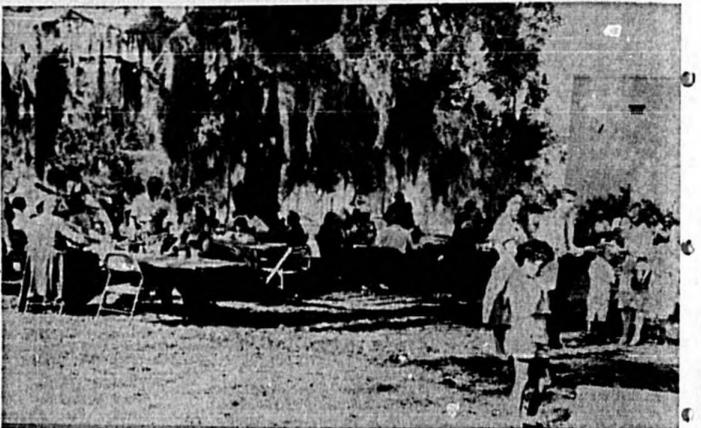

Because of the cold, which caused him some ear discomfort during the flight from Colombia, Kennedy decided to take a day off. Examined and treated by two doctors, he improved measurably during the day. Monday night the White House said he had improved greatly and was ready to return to work.

Kennedy was to meet with the Security Council at 4 p.m. Mrs. Kennedy planned to remain here with their two children, Caroline and John Jr., and the President will rejoin them late Friday at the oceanfront estate of Capt. Michael Paul, an old friend of the President's family who has made his place available to them for the holidays.

The President leaves Washington early Thursday morning for Bermuda where he will confer with Macmillan until Friday afternoon.

Officials, Negroes Agree To Albany Truce

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—City officials and Negro leaders agreed to a 60-day truce in anti-segregation demonstrations Monday and 427 Negroes were released from jail.

Under terms of the agreement, the city is to desegregate waiting room facilities in bus and train stations but not restaurant facilities. The Negroes agreed not to demonstrate and to wait almost a month before attempting to resume negotiations with the city on racial issues.

The agreement apparently ended, for the time being at least, a week of racial strife touched off Dec. 10 with the arrest of 11 "freedom riders" at the train terminal. Negroes began protest demonstrations last Tuesday at the opening of the riders' trial and police arrested them. By Saturday at least 731 Negroes had been booked and jailed.

Authorities had released juvenile demonstrators in the custody of their parents and a number of adults had posted bonds. The remaining 427 were released Monday on their own signatures — or the signature of an Albany resident if they were from out of town.

Recorder's Court Judge Abner Israel last week had dismissed city charges against the bi-racial group of "freedom riders" and they are free under bond pending possible trial on state charges.

Methodist Church Holds Open House For New Building

By Jane Casselberry
The Public toured the attractive new educational building of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church during an open house held Sunday afternoon.

The rapidly increasing Sunday School enrollment at the church made the construction of the eight classroom structure necessary.

Rev. Oscar C. Poole, in a final financial report, stated that due to the tremendous amount of labor donated by members and friends of the church, the building was completed at the low cost of $11,654.18. A special building fund offering taken Sunday morning to help meet final construction costs brought in $1,102.

Those attending the open house were served refreshments in Weaver Hall by the ladies of the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Israel said Monday he had "indefinitely suspended" the trials of the demonstrators and said it would be up to police to ask that they be resumed. Police Chief Laurie Pritchett said he had no such plans "so long as everything runs smoothly. We will wait and see."

TB Patients Get Yule Cheer

Christmas stockings full of gifts were taken to Tampa TB sanitarium, for Seminole County patients there, by Mrs. Lorraine Graham, executive secretary of the Seminole County TB Assn., Mrs. C. E. Hunter, patient service chairman and Mrs. Mabel Monroe.

The gifts were placed in attractive red and green flannel stockings made and decorated by Mrs. Hunter. She also crocheted the comfortable footwarmers for the women patients. Gifts include, toilet articles, stationery and stamps, and 10 pounds of hard candy for each patient.

Many of the gifts are donated by local civic and social clubs and organizations and others from the TB Assn.

Until recently there were 13 Seminole County patients in the hospital, but five were discharged in time to be home for Christmas.

Annual Pre-Teen Yule Party Set

The Annual Pre-Teen Christmas Party sponsored by the Sanford Recreation Department will be held on Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Sanford Civic Center.

The weekly meeting of pre-teen youngsters this week will be highlighted in the Christmas spirit with stories, games and refreshments.

A large group of parents and children is expected to attend and start off the yuletide festivities for the pre-teens with a lot of excitement.

Grace Methodists Announce Family Christmas Night

The congregation of the Grace Methodist Church will meet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday for a Family Fellowship Christmas Program which will begin with a covered dish supper.

Church school classes will present the reenactment and reading of the Christmas Story to background music featuring the Youth Department. The Children's Classes will sing Christmas Carols to open the program.

All members and friends of the church have been especially invited to attend this program by Rev. W. Thomas Parsons, Grace Methodist pastor.

Fellowship Supper Set In Casselberry

There will be a Fellowship Supper at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in Weaver Hall of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church. A short prayer service will follow the supper.

Each family attending is asked to bring a covered dish or dessert.

Turnpike Bonds Sold At Interest Rate Of 4.75 Pct.

TAMPA (UPI) — Florida today sold its Sunshine State Parkway extension bonds to a group of investment bankers at an interest rate of 4.75 per cent.
 Gov. Farris Bryant and turnpike officials hailed it as a "good bargain" for the state.
 It culminated three days of negotiations. In the wind-up, the total amount of the bond issue was raised from $155 million to $157 million to take care of interest costs and fees to the bankers.
 Announcement of the sale was made simultaneously by the Turnpike Authority in Tampa and the governor in Tallahassee. The authority accepted the offer after clearing it with the governor.
 "The proposal is for a bond issue of $157 million, carrying a 4.75 per cent interest, with a fee to cover management compensation and all expenses" of $3.25 on each $100 bond, Turnpike Chairman John Hammer announced.

Rains Too Light For Most Groves

LAKELAND (UPI) — Many citrus growers shut off their irrigation systems for the first time in three months today. But for most grove owners, the rains of Monday night and Tuesday never reached them or were too light to be helpful.
 Warren Johnson, chief of the Federal State Frost Warning Service here, said "generous amounts" of rain fell in the west-central part of the state, but missed the rich Indian River district and the Orlando growing area.
 Johnson said growers who got as much as two inches of rain should have no more worries for the present. But he said those who got less still had their troubles.
 He said two or more inches fell in parts of Pasco, Hillsborough, western Polk and southern Lake counties. Lesser amounts fell in parts of northern Hardee and southern Hernando. The rest of the citrus belt got little or no rainfall.

Kennedy To Keep Macmillan Date

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — President Kennedy decided today to go ahead with his meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, the White House announced. It will be held in Bermuda or here, depending on the condition of Kennedy's stricken father.
 This was announced on the chief executive left his beachfront home for St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach where his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, 78, showed some slight progress this morning in his fight against the paralytic effects of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered Tuesday.
 The President, according to informed sources, wants to go to Bermuda for the meeting with Macmillan as scheduled Thursday if his father is in no danger. A team of specialists examined the former ambassador this morning and the President went to the hospital shortly after 10 a. m.

Monk In 'Jeopardy' In Radio Failure

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A tiny monkey named Scatback rode an Atlas rocket on a 17,000 mile per hour flight through space Tuesday night, but chances for his recovery today were jeopardized by radio beacon failure.
 The Air Force said tracking instruments indicated the monkey landed in a planned target area 5,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral about a half-hour after the mighty rocket was fired from here.
 But more than 10 hours after the launching, recovery forces off Ascension Island in the South Atlantic still had not retrieved the animal.
 The Air Force said the search was "still under way, although no signals have been received from the radio locator beacon in the pod." The beacon was a sort of homing device by which recovery crews could close in on the object if it were still afloat.
 Scatback was hurled into the black cold of space and soared into a band of high-intensity radiation more than 200 miles above earth before his return through "outer space" was expected to take.

Kennedy Pledges Citrus Export Aid

LAKELAND (UPI) — President Kennedy has agreed to seek lowering of the "orange peel curtain" between the United States and Great Britain when he meets with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan this month.
 The "orange peel curtain" is a term coined by Gov. Farris Bryant to describe British restrictions against imports of U. S. citrus and citrus products.
 Homer Hooks, general manager of the Florida Citrus Commission, said he had been informed by the office of Sen. George Smathers, (D-Fla.), that the President had agreed to put the import discussions on his agenda.
 Bryant, who paid a personal visit to the Board of Trade in London last September to seek a breakdown of barriers, said in Tallahassee the Kennedy decision reflected the importance of the issue.

Death Certificate Policy Protested

The County Board of Medical Examiners today vigorously protested the mechanism by which death certificates are signed in Seminole County and submitted its letters of resignation to the County Commission today.
 The examining board comprised of Drs. W. V. Roberts, Leonard Munson, Daniel Mathers and Edwin Stoner wrote a strongly-worded letter to the county governing board urging cooperation in reference to a Negro woman's death two weeks ago in which two doctors refused to sign the death certificate unless an autopsy was performed.

 The State Attorney's office refused to allow the autopsy, reporting that it felt no criminal negligence was involved. The woman was buried without any doctor's signature on the death certificate.
 Following is the letter signed by the four doctors:

"The undersigned were appointed by the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, at their regular meeting on Jan. 19, 1960, to be a Medical Examining Board for Seminole County. This is in conformance with House Bill 1395, which was filed in the office of Secretary of State on June 23, 1955. This has to do with unexplained deaths in our County, and this law was requested by the Seminole County Medical Society in an attempt to protect the people of Seminole County, and to be a responsible addition to the health and law enforcement groups within our County.
