FRIDAY, Feb. 3, 1928. THE HERALD'S PROGRAM: -Sanford city and county administration.

Construction of St. James Episcopal Church, monthly $150.00. Aggregating of building ground, streets, apartment house.

Construction of city hospital. New and modern hospital. WIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: WISDOM'S VALUE.

PRAYER—Our God, may Thy commandments be hid within us. TIME AND THE RADIO: I wish my radio would bring the hill and trill and quiver.

But none of those old fash'ed things. From land, long since forsaken, the radio speaker ever brings.

Are you going to the Fair, or bal tonight? The Herald wishes George H. Cairns, the new city manager, and P. S. Lamson, the new city clerk, success in their new positions.

As a candidate for the nomination, Mr. McAloo may be down but as far as fighting Al is concerned, he lacks a whole lot of being out.

Jazz dancing and digestion were told by a Baltimore doctor sounds like the doctor is square on claim of a well known brand of chewing gum.

Congratulations to President Frank P. Foster of the First National Bank of Sanford, who on Monday, January 23, passed his forty-fifth year as a banker. Eustis Lake Region.

Judging from some of the articles that Alla Axmon has been writing to local people, we are forced to believe that there must be a lot of this "going to see the other fellow's wife" business in Sanford.

A boy, without a kidnapping scare these days is out of the picture altogether. Sarasota is the latest to join the ranks, but the trouble was caused by a twelve-year old boy instead of a man, who was visiting the town on business.

The gas explosion has occurred. Somebody made a statement to the Commissioners on Wednesday that the City had been supplying "hot air" instead of gas, all of which certainly sounds reasonable enough in view of the greatly increased bills.

Bill Pepper, Gilbert Leach and Alon Ramsay have been having a lot to say to each other about their respective abilities in playing golf and also about the recent paragraphs convention. We think there is a frame-up somewhere.

They are killing an awful lot of space in their columns with the stuff. Maybe paragraph material is scarce in those parts as it is here, which is the reason we are trying to stretch this comment as far as possible.

The South's Call

The Southland today presents more opportunities than any other section of the United States. A testimonial to that fact is the wondrous progress that has been made in recent years in that section that lies below the Mason-Dixon line. Essentially an agricultural land, the South has risen in its greatness to excel in other lines of endeavor.

In addition, the country we southerners know best as Dixie has been the scene of huge developments in the oil industry, which has brought a steady stream of wealth pouring into our coffers. We have only to look about us to see the fruits of progress in our fine highway systems, extensive educational advantages, thriving cities and other indications of wealth and prosperity.

An excellent word of tribute is to be found in a recent issue of Colliers Magazine, which says, "You hear talk of the Solid South, meaning a section dominantly Democratic as much as New England is solidly Republican. The South is solid in other ways. It is solid in energy and enterprise and in achievements of the most valuable sort."

Throughout the south, education and industry are advancing at prodigious rates. Factories are being built and enlarged. Motor roads are being built. Enormous sums are being spent for schools and for higher education.

"Manufacturers' avenue" is the name given the big road which stretches from Virginia through the Piedmont sections of North and South Carolina and Georgia to Atlanta. In North Carolina alone Ashmun Brown, a newspaper correspondent, counted 128 cotton mills on this great highway.

The standard of living for negroes as well as whites is being lifted and a veritable revolution is being effected in the lives of the people previously kept poor by unprofitable forms of agriculture. New mills are being developed, water power is being developed.

Horace Greely sensed the opportunity in the west of gun fighters, Indian massacres, gold rushes and victims, and he penned his famous line, "Go west, young man!"

The enterprising youth of today can find opportunities not less inviting to his best energies in that south which, oldest in time of actual settlement is now once more young and virile in its challenge to ambition.

An Effort To Curb Accidents

A review of the number of persons killed and injured and the amount of property damage resulting from automobile accidents has led the state of Pennsylvania to enact a new code, which has for its purpose the checking of careless and reckless operation of automobiles and making the roads safer for travel. While sounding severe to many automobile drivers, the regulations of the code are not an infringement upon private rights and destined for a good measure of success.

Following another vehicle closer than is reasonable or proper. Operating a vehicle faster than thirty-five miles an hour on the open highway. Failing to yield the right of way to pedestrians crossing at a pedestrian cross-walk, except at traffic control points.

"Surely a great effort should be made," says the Jacksonville Times-Union, "to lower the percentage of accidents in the present year. The list has become appalling in the past few years and deserves attention and correction of whatever of carelessness has been responsible. In an occasional accident no particular blame can be attached to those concerned but in ninety per cent of the accidents there is gross carelessness somewhere."

"The automobile is useful, convenient, comfortable, pleasant and is doing a splendid part in getting the people better acquainted. Only its abuse is responsible for the bad name it has acquired on the road. There is yet room enough on the streets and roads for all the cars rolling; but they must be operated sanely and with a disposition to avoid trouble. High speed has contributed to a majority of the bad accidents in 1923. High speed is seldom necessary and most often dangerous."

Montverde Gets National Attention

Down at Montverde, a little community in Lake county, Florida, there was started some years ago, an industrial school for boys and girls. The originator of the idea and promoter of the plan felt that there was need in that section for a place where young people of small or moderate means could study and work and win knowledge sufficient to enable them to "earn a living" after a few years of persistent and faithful attention. The school was started in an unpretentious way. It was at first a small affair, with only big ambitions, and great hopes. A few pupils appeared, ready and willing to undertake the duties suggested and appreciative of the opportunity afforded.

For a few years the workers struggled with the problem of accommodating those who began to find out about the place and endeavored to enter and go forward with the designs of the founders. The ideas and operations of the school steadily gained favor, and little by little the plant was ex-members of the national order of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Orlando chapter of the D. A. R. proposed this benefaction, and the idea has been well received. The new hall will be three stories high, and while similar in design to Odell hall, already on the campus, it will be much more modern in interior detail than the older structure. It is, in fact, to include every comfort and convenience and be a splendid testimonial to the generosity of the patriotic "daughters." The corporation for the building will be laid in March, and after that it will no doubt go up rapidly.

There are now quite a number of men and women in Florida and elsewhere, successful in business and the professions, and in life generally, who look back to Montverde as having given them their start. The industrial school is now one of the recognized and appreciated institutions of the state and steadily increases in importance and good work.

Beth-Israel Auxiliary Gives Lovely Courtesy On Wednesday Night

One of the largest and most elaborate social affairs of the season was that of Wednesday evening when the Ladies Auxiliary of the congregation of Beth-Israel entertained with a Valentine benefit bridge party at the Jewish Community House. The hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Maurice Moses, Mrs. Perry Weinberg and Mrs. Charles Kaniner.

A most picturesque setting was arranged with quantities of brilliant hued autumn foliage, festoons of red hearts and cards as well as numerous potted plants and palms. The Valentine ideas prevailed and were carried out in every detail.

Scores for the games were kept on large red hearts and after the stated number of progressions had been played, scores were totaled and the prize for highest score, an exquisite Italian-cut work bridge luncheon set was awarded Mrs. Lieberman of Orlando. For holding next highest score, Miss Thilys Benjamin won a lovely rhinestone headed party bag. The cut prize, a red shoulder flower went to Mrs. Jacobson. The men's top score prize, a silver belt buckle and belt was given Mr. Leverstein of Orlando, while Mr. Foster of Atlanta, Ga., won the second high score prize, a box of linen handkerchiefs.

When the games had been concluded and the bridge accessories removed, and the tables laid with dainty covers and refreshments of hot chocolate malted milk, candlestick salad, and macaroons were served by the hostesses assisted by Miss Thilys Benjamin, Miss Dorothy Kott, Miss Gertrude Benjamin, Miss Mary Bandel and Miss Florence Wolf.

This affair was one of exceptional pleasure and was attended by a large number of out of town guests. There were 25 tables of players and quite a large number of guests joined them for refreshments.

MRS. ROLAND READ HOSTESS AT DELIGHTFUL PARTY TUESDAY

Among the many delightful social affairs of the week was that of Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Roland Read was hostess at a lovely bridge party at her home in San Lanta, when the entertainment consisted of six tables of players.

Lavender and white were the prevailing colors for this affair and were artistically carried out with lantana and narcissus. Tall lavender tapers were arranged about the rooms adding a pretty touch.

Scores for the card games were kept on tulle in keeping with the decorations and when the games had been concluded the first prize, lingerie, went to Mrs. Edmund Meisch. For having scored next highest, Mrs. Thomas Price also received lingerie. The cut prize, a vanity powder puff was won by Mrs. Percy Mero, while Mrs. S. D. Highleyman, who held lowest score, was consoled with a Madeira bread tray cloth. Late in the afternoon after the prizes had been awarded the hostess assisted by Mrs. Ender Curlett, Mrs. Alfred W. Lee Jr., Mrs. James Mathers, Mrs. Paul Dooley and Mrs. Rex Racoosin served refreshments of congealed fruit salad, olives, cheese straws, cheese wafers, truffles and coffee.

Welfare Of Electric Power Companies Is Public's Welfare

Says New York Herald Tribune
"The theory of regulation is that utility service shall be furnished at cost, which include a fair return on the value of the property used to furnish the service. It contemplates utilities sufficiently prosperous to furnish high grade service, and corporations held down to starvation rates, that service and protect the interest of their owners—the American public."

Such stability of service and capital depends upon the continuance of the principal of individual initiative under which these companies have been developed to their present high efficiency.

The additional money required if electric light and power companies are to continue to meet the country's growing needs, can be obtained only by the expenditure of a reasonable return, after paying the cost of high grade service.

The vision, courage, ability and skill which have made American electrical achievements the envy of all the world, have also produced satisfactory earnings, at the same time materially reduced the cost of service.

Stabilizing as they do, through the essential nature of their service, the entire social, industrial and economic structure, they also must be assured of a stability of earning power to maintain the efficiency of

THE YOWELL CO.

Alla Axiom, Mind Reader, Answers Questions Put By Herald Readers

Mrs. G. P.—It is my opinion that you will get over your present trouble yet, owing to the nature of it, this will take a very long time. Nature works very slowly some times, I feel that this time next year will bring about almost a complete recovery for you, yet there seems to be some difficulty in getting about at times. This will not be permanent as time will overcome this trouble too. (You seem to be uncertain—fear that you are going to be a cripple. This is the wrong mental attitude as you are going to win. But as I have said, it will take time.)

Mrs. J. R.—Your son should remain where he is for the present. The vocation he has chosen is alright but for success he should go to a larger city as the field is not big enough in his present location. I feel that the opportunity will come to him this early spring to make this change.

Miss R. N. F.—I do not feel that you have met the one you will marry, nor that you will marry this year. It is my opinion that you will marry during the summer months of next year. I do not sense any of the trouble you mention.

Miss L. B.—It would be necessary for me to have the date of your birth to determine what your best talents are. If you will send me this data along with a self-addressed envelope, I shall be glad to work this out for you.

Miss I. A. F.—I wish to remove your fears regarding the operation you mention. I am not a physician nor do I believe in operations when they can be avoided. Removing the tonsils is not a dangerous operation and I feel your physician is right in advising you to have them removed. There seems to be a position you are going to receive within the next two weeks, it will be the one you have already applied for.

Mrs. F. E. B.—I feel that some negotiation will be entered into that will cause you to leave the south next July.

SANFORD AUTO SHOW WILL BE HELD TWO DAYS

 Real. Regarding the show, Mr. McRory said today: "We hope to stage a good show and I believe that it will be a credit to Sanford. We believe it will be a big success and that citizens of this city and county will enjoy it. It is something new for Sanford but it will grow in importance until it will become one of the most keenly anticipated events of each winter season."

"The Sanford Automobile Dealers Association desires to extend a most cordial invitation to everyone to visit the show. There will be no effort made to sell automobiles. What we desire is merely to acquaint the public with the latest models and the improvements that have been made in the new automobiles. We shall be glad to ask any and all questions and to explain the machines to everyone."

"We hope that the attendance will be large and the people will feel free to come and be our guests at this entertainment."
