

FLA. POSTMASTERS APPOINTED

Selections May Bring on Differences Between Congressmen

Washington, D. C., April 18.—Three nominations for postmaster general were sent to the senate by President Wilson yesterday afternoon. They were Chas. Kettle at Hastings, Arthur B. Brown at Fort Pierce and Elmer J. Roux at Fernandina. All were recommended by Congressman Frank Clark. Representative Clark has sent to Postmaster General Burleson a list of men he recommends for appointment as postmasters, to succeed Republican office holders whose fourteen years terms have expired.

Several of these also have been named for appointment by Congressman-at-large L'Engle, but in the majority of cases L'Engle has named men in opposition to Clark's choice. It will be interesting to note whose recommendation is acted upon by the Postmaster General. It would be unfair to the other representatives if Mr. L'Engle is allowed to name men for appointment in their district, they say. On the other hand, if Postmaster General Burleson accepts the recommendations made by Representatives Wilson, Clark and Sparkman, Representative L'Engle will have no "patronage pie" to distribute.

This situation will undoubtedly cause a good size mix-up in the state and will put up to President Wilson the matter of choosing between Representative L'Engle, who classes himself as a "Progressive" as does President Wilson, or Representatives Sparkman and Clark who are declared by Representatives Wilson and L'Engle not to be "Progressives." It is probable that the senators will be called into the fight to name their preference between the opposing parties. The postmasters recommended by Representative Clark are:

- Fernandina—Elmer J. Roux.
- Starke—John W. Alvarez.
- Alachua—Joseph A. Williams.
- Live Oak—William R. Dorman.
- Eau Gallie—George W. Roesch.
- Fort Pierce—Arthur B. Brown.
- Daytona—William Jackson.
- Kissimmee—Mrs. B. P. Simpson.
- Hastings—Charles E. Kettle. St. Augustine Record.

The Senator From Lake.

We assume and we trust that the two Representatives from Lake county to the lower house of the Florida legislature are men in all that the word implies. Knowing them not, but hoping to become well acquainted with these gentlemen, we reserve for the future an expression of our opinion and esteem. That they have our well wishes and respect goes without saying.

But of the senator from Lake we may speak without reserve, with a candor born of knowledge of his character as a citizen, as a business man, as a politician, as a husband and as a father, and as a friend.

Will Igou is a man of extraordinary parts. He is scrupulously honest; he is faithful to every trust committed to his care; he is fearless in the expression of his convictions—and what is better, his convictions have ever found to square with the rules of loftiest conduct in life; he is competent and able; and he is industrious. And even so, he is on the level.

Give us a politician who is honest, who is courageous, who is able, who is industrious, and we will show you a man whom you can trust in the dark; a man whom you can vote for absolutely without personally knowing him; a man who will honor any office to which he may be chosen. We lay down that proposition as a safe guide in the selection of a public servant. No other rule is safe. Popularity does not mean fitness or efficiency. It takes honesty, ability and courage—all three—to make a model officer.

Senator Igou possesses these traits. Woodrow Wilson recently said: "The rarest thing in public life is courage, and the man who has courage is marked for distinction; the man who has it not is marked for extinction and deserves submersion. The people of this country are going to be served by conscience and not by expediency."

Lake county may rest assured her highest interests consistent with the loftiest code of political honor are safely guarded in the upper house of the legislature, by the senator from Lake—Eustis Lake Region.

The regular meeting of the Music Club will be held at the home of Mrs. F. L. Woodruff Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. M. Martin, leader.

Presbyterian Church
Friday Night—There will be a special service of prayer for the approaching meeting.

Sabbath Morning—The Brotherhood meets at 9:45, and it is especially desired that there be a full attendance.

A male quartet will sing at the 11 o'clock service.

Dr. A. A. Little, who will preach in the Presbyterian church for the next 10 days is one of the most prominent ministers in the Southern Presbyterian church, and has held a position of leadership for a number of years. He is now pastor of one of the prominent and aggressive churches of Atlanta.

Baptist Church
The pastor will preach morning and night at the usual hours. At the morning service the subject will be the Kingdom of Believers, the last sermon in the series on the Christian life. At the close the communion will be celebrated. Next Sunday being the closing service of Mr. Wildman's pastorate he hopes to see many of the members of the church and other friends, both morning and evening.

Congratulations To The Farmers who have been successful this season are heartily extended by this Bank.

We are always glad to learn of the success of any one engaged in any legitimate undertaking, but to none do we feel more kindly than to our Sanford farmers.

We are especially pleased at their success because we know that while we have been in a large measure the instrument through which they have been enabled to carry their operations to a successful completion, they are a most appreciative people and we are sure to reap the benefits of increased deposits through their success.

To those farmers who have not been so fortunate this season we express our regrets that they have not been enabled to reap the benefits of their labors and we EXTEND THEM THE ASSURANCE THAT WE ARE AS READY TO ASSIST IN THE FUTURE AS WE HAVE BEEN IN THE PAST.

To those who have been able to accumulate a surplus this year, we extend the facilities of our rapidly growing SAVINGS DEPARTMENT which offers a convenient investment for their funds while waiting permanent investment.

If you have any investments in contemplation, we shall be pleased to extend to you the benefit of our experience along this line, as well as that experience we are able to submit to you through our strong connections.

WE PAY YOU FOUR PER CENT INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

FLORIDA IS A PARADISE

Connecticut Editor Takes a Trip to Sanford

FINDS OUR CITY PROGRESSIVE

Writes Entertaining Letter About Trip on St. John to Sanford

The following is from C. N. Scholey of the Guilford, (Conn.) Times:

"Sneezel sneezel sneezel! For goodness' sake where did you catch that cold?"

This was the greeting the editor received from his guiding star and secretary of the household treasury as he sneezed and sneezed his entrance into his home after almost a fortnight's sojourn in the land of celery, sand and sunshine. Cautiously we framed the reply that it was not for goodness sake or any other special purpose that we had the sneeze and that we didn't catch "It." "It" came uninvited and simply attached itself and became a part and parcel of the other noticeable discomforts of a cold and comfortless and cloudy Northland and a sudden change in thirty-six hours from a temperature of 86 degrees in the shade with rose and orange blossoms trimmings to 39 degrees on the leeward side of the street behind the folds on a heavy winter overcoat. And under such inviting conditions the little Sneezel Imp could not resist the temptation to pay the villain.

It was simply the irony of fate that unseasonable New England April weather, cold, cloudy and with torrents of rain.

what had been one of the most delightful pleasant and intellectually profitable of our occasional junkies, and will be the means of impressing upon our memory the more indelibly the brilliant sunshine, beautiful flowers and balmy evenings of the land whose Ponce de Leon sought the fountain of perpetual youth, the contrast being so glaringly different.

Florida—or its gateway, Jacksonville—was not new, for several previous visits had made the city quite familiar and it was but a point of arrival and departure on this hurried and time-limited journey. But in passing it may be said and will be supported by those who have been there, that no city in the north of equal population can excel Jacksonville in perpetual push, perseverance and prosperity, for all stand out boldly to even the most indifferent observer, especially so to those who know its business section before the great fire of ten years ago. And not all of this is due to northern tourist patronage as is the case with many Florida cities and towns but is the healthy growth of local commercial enterprise as evidenced by the magnificent municipal buildings, sky-scraping office structures and mammoth department stores some of which match well with some of New York's famous emporiums.

Florida's cities and towns, unlike those of Connecticut, are not obliged to appeal to an indifferent and disinterested legislative body for permission to issue bonds for local improvements but take such action as the people or their representatives in city or town authority deem wise. And so it was that about two months ago the Board of Aldermen of Jacksonville voted to bond the city for one million dollars for the improvement and increase of the city's docking facilities (already large) to attract greater deep sea patronage. New Haven is at present crying for this privilege and must needs go to Hartford and ask permission of Guilford, Killingworth, Hartford, New London and the rest to do so. And then there are people living in the north who have lived within their own picket fences all of their lives and have never gone into the world to see and learn how the other half lives, who claim that the southerners are slow and unprogressive. This accusation may apply to some rural communities but not to the cities. But when it comes to lack of progression there are northern communities not a thousand miles from the publication office that might find the beam in their own eyes before searching for the mote in a brother's eye. In short, towns of 3,000 population and upward in Florida have got scores of towns in the north of like population beaten at the post in local pride and per-

SEMINOLE COUNTY WILL BE FORMED THIS WEEK

Committee Voted Unanimously in our Favor at the Meeting Last Friday

Will Pass the House and the Senate Without Fail And Our Delegation Will Bring the Baby Home.

Tallahassee, April 20.—This has not been wholly a day of rest among the members of the legislature. Of course there are members of each of the two branches whose religious scruples prevent them from doing any kind of labor on the Sabbath. One senator went so far as to ask to be excused from voting on the Pensacola charter bill last Friday because the bill provided for certain kinds of labor on Sunday, but those who are so religiously inclined are in a small minority. Members of the senate, which adjourned over from Friday afternoon until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, caught up with their lobbying on Saturday afternoon and their minds seemed to be at perfect repose today, only a few exceptional cases being noted.

Not so with members of the house who were kept busy by a regular session yesterday and numerous committees were lasting in some instances until far into the night. Their faces wore an expression of eager anxiety, and large numbers of them spent a day of activity at the capitol, catching up with lagging correspondence and log rolling for measures expected to make them personally famous or usher to the millennium for the benefit of the dear people.

One of the chief topics of conversation on the senate today has been the appointment of Col. Dan Simmons to the position of governor of Seminole county, which it is confidently stated Governor Traub will send to the senate for confirmation tomorrow. It was understood when the appointment was first raised upon the streets that there would be opposition to the confirmation of Col. Simmons, but this afternoon it is said, upon what seems to be the best authority, that this opposition has been overcome and the appointment will go through without a hitch. Col. Simmons has been the recipient of hundreds of congratulations, and expressed himself as amply gratified at receiving the unsolicited honor.

There are so many important matters crowding for positions of advantage upon the legislature calendars that it is impossible to forecast even the early proceedings of the week. It seems to be pretty generally believed that the "mental anguish" bill will have the center of the stage in the senate early in the week, while others think this measure has already had its day in the limelight.

Tallahassee, April 22. Special to Herald.—The Sanford delegation is still camped upon the red clay hills of old Leon and they will stay there until the new county of Seminole is born. Some of the Sanford people will soon qualify as voters in Leon county, for they have been there most long enough to grow up with the country. Familiarity breeds contempt in some cases, but familiarity with the loyal band of boosters from the new county of Seminole has bred esteem and respect in the hearts of the legislators and the people of Tallahassee from the state officials down to the pages. There has never been a more representative bunch of business men in the state capital lobbying for any measure. "Lobbying" has a nasty sound in the ears of some people but the real name means a man who hangs around the legislature and attempts to bribe them and gets pay for his nefarious work. Of course the Seminole men are not in that class and there is no place for the professional lobbyist this year because there is not one member of the 1913 legislature who would accept a bribe of any kind, and it was not the Sanford bunch who were named for the bill to prevent paid lobbyists practicing at Tallahassee was framed. Seminole men have made a favorable impression because they are known in all parts of the state. They come from all walks of life from the professional man to the farmer and they even allowed a newspaper man to accompany them, which clearly demonstrates their democracy. Quietly and easily they told their story and gave their reasons for being in Tallahassee and why they had left their homes and homesteads in the smiling valley of the St. Johns and they were given respectful hearing at every turn. They were not there to cast aspersions at any one, not even the Orlando bunch who came to tell the legislators just what to do and how to do it, headed by the man who was a right Steiner. The first cut guard from Orlando did not seem to make any headway, and upon their return home the Orlando papers began a vilification and abuse of the Florida legislature, Senator Donegan and Representative Lake and they hurt the cause of Orlando immeasurably. But this has ever been Orlando's style. If you do not agree with that bunch who have controlled Orange county's politics so long they immediately go back to their childish tactics of personalities. They were sadly mistaken in the personnel of the Florida legislature. They could neither cajole, threaten or overrule the men who have been elected to serve the whole people and consequently when the committee on county affairs met last Friday afternoon, having delayed the matter a week for the benefit of the Orlando kickers, their heavy weights in the shape of Struizer, Starbuck and J. L. Lee had their inning and our men in Thrasher, Wilson and Lake met their every advance with the statements that could not be met by the opposition and all their politics, Mother Orange sob and Winter Garden Weeps were unavailing.

When the joyful news was flashed back to Sanford by T. K. Bates that the committee was unanimous for county division the city of Sanford went wild. Cannon on the lake shore was fired, the bells were rung and wild huzzas rent the air. The good people of north Orange who had been under the iron heel of the oppressor so long felt as did their forefathers when they escaped the rule of King George who had levied taxes so long and given nothing in return. The Sanford people fell upon their knees and thanked the Lord for deliverance and for the righteous end which will always prevail and the dirty tactics employed by Orlando in dragging prohibition and personalities into the campaign has clearly demonstrated that there has never been any real argument against division and all the spleen of the vanquished has poured from the county seat organs ever since.

The bill will go to the house about Friday of this week and from there to the senate and the Seminole warrior has no fear that it will not pass both house and senate. The members of the legislature who were neutral have come out straight from the shoulder of the proposition since Orlando has shown the cloven hoof and Seminoles has gained more friends by Orlando's invasion of the capital and the Orlando newspapers than were gained by argument.

Seminole county hangs in the balance, but it is in the hands of the honest, capable and efficient and progressive members of the Florida legislature and we leave it in their hands.

Friday's Herald ought to be published in Seminole county and discharging freight, about twenty hours and often in the daylight much of interest and novelty to a northerner, who if the day is warm, may be diverted by watching alligators along the banks. The writer had made a brief visit to the town of Sanford four years ago and was favorably impressed with but one feature, a new-born newspaper, The Sanford Herald, that had made its appearance that week under the guiding hand of a live wire signing himself, R. J. Holly. Now we had never seen or even heard of Holly, strange as it may seem (for a misguided lady once told us we ought to know everybody and everything, and evidenced annoyance when we stilled and shook our head when she asked how many eggs a really good hen ought to lay in one day.) But back to Holly. We'd never met Holly but that same newspaper marked him as a man after our own heart and we immediately requested an exchange of papers on our return home; (we might have subscribed off hand but being contrary to our rule to pay for something we can get for nothing we begged Holly to exchange.) He ex'd all right, and thereby began a mutual admiration party separated by a thousand or more railroad mileage tickets. His paper proved him to be a town lawyer of the inviolable, unquenchable, inexhaustible variety that in the end counts for the town, the banks, the people, the merchants, the farmers, the real estate men and last but not least, the newspaper. So interested did we become in Holly's paper and his town

More than 150 physicians are expected to attend the State Medical Association which meets in Miami on May 14, 15, and 16. Plans are being made to give them a royal welcome and a pleasant time while in the Magic City.

A new thirty-five thousand dollar, three-story brick building is to be erected on the southeast corner of Adams and Cedar streets in Jacksonville. The ground floor will be devoted to stores while the two top floors will be fitted up for modern apartments. The plans provide for an exceptionally attractive arrangement and design.

The Ladies' Memorial Association in Quincy is preparing a great day for the old veterans and their friends this coming memorial day. As the day falls on Saturday and many would be unable to attend then the exercises will take place the previous day. Col. G. A. Worley of Miami will deliver the address on this occasion.

Clearwater's first paved street is now ready for traffic and was thrown open Saturday. The east end of Cleveland street, Clearwater's business street, was paved and cement graded about ten weeks ago and is now ready for use, while the west end has not had time to dry and the concrete is still soft. Good headway has been gained on Osceola avenue and Haven street, and it begins to look as though the entire job will be done in four months. St. Petersburg Times.

Has Dates Mixed

Among new arrivals in Eustis since our last issue are Mrs. Ella Osborne, son, Mr. Corwin Osborne and wife and son, all of Sikeston, Mo. Mrs. Osborne owns fine property on Lake Alfred, and she is here looking after it. Her deceased husband was one time editor of the Sanford Herald, many years ago. The Osbornes are well remembered here, although they left Eustis in 1898.—Eustis Lake Region.

The Sanford Herald was born August 22, 1908, and no other editor except the present one has ever occupied the tripod. There were many papers printed in Sanford since the city was founded but we lay claim to the present Herald and hope to be its editor for many years to come, especially since moving into Seminole county.

severance, and especially in the boost and boom spirit.

Florida, or that part of it best known to northerners—the peninsula from Jacksonville south on the east and west coast and the "backbone" falls in every particular in geographical beauty, and the charms and fascinations presented by the everlasting hills, mountains, forests, green hills and meadows of Old New England where she wears her party gowns from May until October have Florida's Nature features beaten to a frazzle. Florida or the sections herein mentioned is perpetually flat compared with New England, and the highest point of land in the whole state according to encyclopedic authority reaches but 300 feet a mere New England mole hill. An idea of the monotonously flat land may be gained by reading the advertising of real estate agents who feature land that gains an altitude of fifty or sixty feet above tide water.

Much of the soil is sandy and to eyes of a northerner, accustomed to sweet ground and black loamy soil it presents itself as a joke and travesty on agricultural aspirations, all of which is correct, only in the imagination of the inexperienced and uninitiated, for a more productive soil properly treated and backed by experience and intelligence cannot be excelled on the Atlantic seaboard according to agricultural statistics and market reports. But of this more will be written later as the editor progresses southward.

Our southern terminal was St. Peter-burg, the so-called Sunshine City of the west Florida coast that has been the Mecca of thousands of tourists and home seekers for several years past, but on our journey, which took upon itself a scouting expedition, we determined to touch at Sanford, at the head of steamboat navigation on the St. Johns river, 195 miles below Jacksonville and famed for its extensive and intensive celery plantations.

When one speaks of going south instinctively one feels that he is going "down" and likewise when one ascends a river it is, perforce, going "up." But these two rules fall when approaching towns on the way from Jacksonville to Sanford by reason of the fact that the St. Johns river flows northward, so that while you are going down you are at the same time going up. Yet with the delights afforded by the calm and peace pervading the balmy atmosphere as the steamboat glides over the placid waters of the St. Johns and the aroma of orange blossoms floats from nearby groves on the adjacent river banks, the going up and going down episode falls to create a sensation other than that of dreamy restfulness and as one sits upon the upper deck of an evening with a tropical moon silencing above one feels that to float on and on and on in rivers, free from the cares, trials and vicissitudes of a bustling business world would be paradise indeed.

The journey by steamboat from Jacksonville to Sanford occupies according to time consumed along the river in taking that we determined that the next trip into Florida would find yours truly tagged for Sanford and a view of the man with the name suggestive of Christmas and Santa Claus. That he would come forth trimmed with the red berries typical of his cognomen we had mentally wagered before we crossed the threshold of the Herald office and when we presented our official credentials the hand that came across the intervening space and grasped ours stamped the Yankee editor as a good judge of men. The Herald editor is known among his associates as "Bob" Holly, but it will not go amiss to add to this and suggest "Bob" White, for he's truly white in spirit and has the true ring of the merry whistle of the meadow bird.

Sanford in the four years interim has changed marvelously and for the better, and we are just professionally conceited enough to believe that Holly and his Herald have played a very large part in this prosperity, which is evidenced on every hand, especially in the Herald office, where it sticks out from the walls so abundantly that one hangs his hat on a prosperity point instead of a hook. It is the purpose of the writer to inflict a series of these Florida yarns upon his readers and as he "struck" several interesting ones he will conclude this letter to take up what he learned of Sanford and her celery and truck farming industry in the next issue to be followed by stories of Orlando, Tampa, St. Petersburg and what he observed and absorbed enroute.

A Chief Is Among Ye Taking Notes and Faith, He'll Prent 'Em"— So Says Saunterer.

Last Thursday I heard the head of a certain household in this city instruct the one who does his marketing that it was wrong to ask butchers for young beef. He insisted that the demand of the people for certain delicacies is what is helping materially to keep up the high cost of living.

And this gentleman is sustained by William F. Cody, better known to us all as "Buffalo Bill." Col Cody is far from the far west and he is a cattle man of experience and wide interests. He arrived in Chicago one day last week and he was immediately surrounded by interviewers who asked about first one subject and then another. Incidentally Col. Cody was asked about the sensational statement of President Leonard, of the Union Stock Yards company, that the country faced a meat shortage. It is wiser than that," declared Col. Cody. "Unless something is done within the next ten years, this country will face a meat famine. We eat too much meat. We force cattlemen to kill their calves too early. That and the cutting up of range lands into farms are responsible for the present high prices and for the shortage.

There is war and the threat of war in Europe. Mexico is in the throes of a chaos-making revolution. Gold is being withdrawn from this country because Europe is willing to pay the price for it. A revision of the tariff is impending and a readjustment of business will be necessary as a consequence. The laws in regard to trusts and big corporations are scheduled for change. Security values are at a low point—lower than in many years. There is much business uncertainty and yet business kept up. Exports are still breaking records. Domestic commerce shows no sign of halting. With tariff changes at hand, with the uncertainty created by probable laws, regulating trusts, with war abroad, with a crop season approaching, what are the prospects for a strain on the banking and credit system next fall? The country's banking system has been convicted of inadequacy. It is a triumph when it approximately meets the fair weather demands of business. What is to be expected of it when put under the strain that seems impending? It cannot be revised too quickly.

I note by the Orlando papers that they have lost the county division and they are taking out their spite on the Florida legislature calling them names and giving away the facts of the Orlando people who went up there to browbeat the legislature and utterly failed. They soon found out that Tallahassee was some different from Orlando and the funny little stunts in the political line that could be pulled off in Orlando fell flat in the state capital. Tallahassee is some different all right and the noisy mob from Orlando and the bunch of free excursionists that went with them were ill at ease and out of their element. They found the dignity of the legislature was unassailable and after beating their heads against the rocks for a few days they turned tail and fled to the protection of the Orlando court house. They are making many excuses for their failure to convince the legislature that Orlando was the whole thing but they are not telling the whole reason. Not even the big mouthed Starbuck or the blatant Strozler can go to Tallahassee and convince those people that Orange county should not be divided. They have already looked into our case and discovered that for years we have been subservient to Orlando and paid tribute and received nothing in return. A recital of our wrongs has stirred the members most deeply and they have promised relief from the rule and ruin policy of the county ring. The men who compose the legislature this year are men who look carefully into every measure and pass only those bills that have real merit. Most of the members were thoroughly familiar with our conditions and most of them wondered why we did not break the yoke long ago and free ourselves from the fetters that bound us to the rock like Prometheus of old. The Orlando papers are now taking it out on the legislature and calling them names. Such a silly bunch of children need spanking and the legislature will do it by passing our bill today.

A gold medal to the school boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 15, who writes the best composition, not to exceed 800 words, on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, is to be awarded by Logan Waller Page, director of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All compositions must be submitted to Mr. Page before May 15, 1913, and the medal will be awarded as soon thereafter as the compositions can be graded. The composition may be based on knowledge gained from books or other sources, but no quotations should be made.

After many years' experience in dealing with the public road situation of the country, it is Mr. Page's belief that ignorance on the subject of repair and maintenance of roads is as much the cause of their bad condition as any other one factor. It is expected that the competition will bring about a better understanding of repair and maintenance in the rural districts.

Many children living in the rural districts have experienced the disadvantages of roads made impassable through a lack of proper maintenance and it is expected that their interest in the competition will stimulate greater interest among the parents. Bad roads have prevented many children from obtaining a proper education and have even prevented doctors from reaching the side of rural patients in time to save their lives. Any child between the ages mentioned, attending a country school, may compete. Only one side of the paper must be written on; each page should be numbered; the name, age and address of the writer, and the name and location of the school which he or she is attending must be plainly written at the top of the first page. The announcement of the competition has been sent to the superintendents of schools in the rural districts. No further information can be obtained from the office of public roads. This announcement should be plain to everyone, and all children will thus start on a basis of equality.

If French avenue is to be paved with brick it certainly ought to be wider than nine feet. The width might be all right for country roads but for a city street that is traveled as much as French avenue it is certainly not wide enough to accommodate the traffic of else leave it alone until they can pave it wider and make a decent thoroughfare out of it.

Velvet Bean for Hay

This remarkable plant is described in bulletin No. 179, bureau of plant industry, United States Department of Agriculture, under the title of The Florida Velvet Bean and Related Plants, of which there are some twenty kinds. It is scientifically known as "Stizolobum deeringlamum." The Florida Velvet Bean is principally grown on account of its extreme vigor and the large quantity of pods which it produces per acre. The plants are nearly always utilized by pasturing to stock, cattle being turned into the fields in November and finishing on the velvet bean in good condition for marketing. Its importance in late years has grown rapidly, and as it is now much more cultivated than ever before. The principal objection to it is the long season required for maturing, which has in a large measure militated against its cultivation farther north. It will, however, make a very large growth of vines as far north as Virginia and Kentucky, but rarely matures its seed north of Florida. It is not well adapted as a hay plant on account of its extreme vineness, and where it does not produce pods is of only limited value. It is absolutely immune to the wilt which affects so many other legumes and also to root knot.

The Florida velvet bean is a long season crop, and even in Florida has to be planted early in the spring in order to mature its seed. On account of its length of life, during the entire summer it is being extensively used for shading porches, arbor purposes and masking unsightly sides of buildings.

A related plant known as the Lyon bean has now been cultivated in Florida and other southern states for several years. It requires about the same length of time to mature as the Florida velvet bean, or is perhaps slightly earlier. It is, however, much more prolific in seed production and is therefore likely to come into prominent use. Besides its greater productivity it has the advantage over the Florida velvet bean of being wholly devoid of stinging hair. The leaf surface, unlike any other species known to us, is decidedly undulate, so that the plant can readily be recognized even before it blooms. The vine is fully as ornamental as the Florida velvet bean and should become as popular.

It is not known where the Florida velvet bean originated but similar plants have been cultivated for centuries in oriental countries.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Parker of Kissimmee, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McLaulin and Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Woodruff for a few days have returned to their home.

Miss Verdi Frazier, who has been spending the winter with her aunt, Mrs. L. A. Brumley, left yesterday for her home in Hunters, N. C.

Representative Forrest Lake, Mrs. Lake and their bright children are again with us, to the delight of their many friends, and will be at the home of Howard Gamble on Call street for the session.—Tallahassee Democrat.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thrasher arrived home Saturday night from Tallahassee. Mrs. Thrasher will remain home, but there will be no keeping Mr. Thrasher away from the capital until the baby Seminole is born.

Many of the Sanford delegation spent Sunday at home, being on a furlough granted by General Forster. Most of them returned yesterday to fight the last battle before the bill for Seminole county passes the senate.

Remember Library Day and the birthday party to be celebrated at the residence of Mrs. S. O. Chase tomorrow afternoon at 8 o'clock. Everybody invited. Don't forget your silver offering.

Billy Bray has transferred his belongings from Sanford to Winter Garden and will be on the Trilby branch for a few months.

Miss Florence Moore and Miss Anderson, two of the efficient teachers of the Oakland-Winter Garden public school were guests of Miss Moore's sister, Mrs. Morton Hopson Saturday and Sunday.

When the new county of Seminole is an assured fact Sanford expects to give a celebration and barbecue that will go down in history as an event of note.

Mrs. Gammage, with her little son and daughter and beautiful twin babies left for her home in Americus, Ga., last Saturday after a delightful visit to her sister, Mrs. C. M. Williams.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. William Richard Gardner of Waycross announce the engagement of their daughter, Iva Gladys, to Mr. William I. Burkhalter of Rome, Ga., the wedding to take place at the home of the parents on the evening of June 4th.

Miss Gardner is one of the city's beautiful and accomplished young ladies and has a large circle of friends here and throughout the state who will be interested in the announcement of her approaching marriage. Mr. Burkhalter is a member of a prominent family and is one of Rome's progressive business men.—Waycross Journal.

Miss Gardner is well known in Sanford, having lived here with her parents for several years.

Holly in Tallahassee

The editor of The Herald either expects to become a legislator, or else is in love with the girls at the Florida College for Women, for he left yesterday for the state capital and made a solemn vow that when he returned he would have the new county. Meantime, The Herald will wag along some way, and somehow, and anyway, who wants to read a paper while county division is in the air and no one knows what the end may be. The Sanford delegation aver that they will return victorious, and like the Spartans of old, return with their shields upon their backs. While the editor is away the business manager wishes all the friends of the paper to send in contributions—nothing to eat—but contributions of news and views, no matter of what vintage or quality.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Being Conducted at Presbyterian Church by Dr. Little of Atlanta. The Presbyterian church of this town to enter the chorus during the special services.

Dr. Archibald Alexander Little arrived in Sanford Monday afternoon. Dr. Little has for a number of years been one of the most prominent ministers in the Presbyterian church. Several of the Sanford people have been among his former parishioners in Alabama and North Carolina, and their enthusiasm over him is already being entered into by his hearers after this first service.

Dr. Little preached last night on "The Value of a Soul." His text was, "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Mark viii. 36. Dr. Little said in part:

"What Jesus Thinks of A Soul" "Jesus puts a very high estimate upon the value of a human soul. He puts the whole world upon one side of the scale and the single soul upon the other and declares that the single soul far outweighs the whole world with all its wealth and all its possessions. Some may have been tempted to think this statement of Jesus an extravagant utterance, but it is rather the well thought out statement of a great truth.

Our own country is $6,000,000 richer tonight than it was when the sun sank behind the western horizon on yesterday, and it is not possible to accurately compute in figures the total wealth of the world, yet a human soul is of more value than it all. A soul is of more value than money because money is temporary, the soul is immortal. Croesus, the world renowned rich sovereign of the east learned this. He was unable to compute the sum of his wealth and yet in the space of three days, his possessions were confiscated, he cast into prison, thence upon his funeral pyre. By learning that money takes the wings of the winds and flies away.

The Unhappy Rich

Dr. Little spoke of the rich as the unhappy rich. "Go to the luxurious Pullman cars that pass your station and look at the faces of the passengers. They are tired, unhappy men. It is by your money that you have made them so."

The Sin of Today

The sin of today is not drunkenness, it is not dishonesty, it is not murder, it is none of those things, bad as they are, but it is this, men forget God. Those fearful things in God's word are not against the public blasphemer but upon the one who forgets God. "Today if ye will hear his voice, burden not your heart."

Accident to Fred Williams

Fred Williams is badly bruised up today as a result of a collision with an automobile yesterday. As Roy Symes was riding down Park avenue at an ordinary rate of speed another car came across Park at Seventh and before Roy could stop the car was upon him and the only thing left him was to turn sharply to the left up Seventh. At the corner Fred Williams was running a line for the brick paving and stooping over did not see the car until it was upon him. It knocked him flat and the wheels passed over him but luckily did not break any bones and he was able to go home and attend to his own injuries and seemed none the worse for wear. Fred says it takes more than an automobile to put an old football player out of business.

Woman's Club

At the adjourned meeting which was held at the Welaka Club rooms Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock to elect officers for the Woman's Club, the chairman of the nominating committee, appointed at the last meeting at the request of the presiding officer, Mrs. G. L. Maris, presented the names for the different officers to be voted on.

Some changes were made in the list, as several ladies whose names were presented by the nominating committee declined to serve, and after one or two nominations to complete the list the following officers were elected: Mrs. J. W. Dickins, president; Miss Laura Fish, first vice president; Mrs. M. H. Bowler, second vice president; Mrs. Samuel Puleston, third vice president; Mrs. Henry Wight, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. E. Tolat, recording secretary; Miss Annie Hawkins, treasurer.

Lecture on Panama

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Union of the Congregational church there will be a fine program of music and a lecture or informal talk on Panama Friday night at 7:30 at the church. The committee in charge have decided upon this program for this occasion, the social feature to be given later in the season. Rev. J. D. Langley, who has just returned from the canal zone will present the subject in a bright, breezy attractive manner, that will appeal to his audience. Keenly observant, versatile and sympathetic, he possesses the happy faculty of capturing the interest of his hearers at the beginning and holding it throughout his address. In presenting this opportunity to the people of Sanford to hear of the wonderful canal, the people and country from one who is direct from Panama, the Ladies' Union will charge no admission fee, but a silver offering will be taken at the close of the address. A cordial invitation is extended to all and especially to the pupils of the High School. An effort is being made to secure views of the canal for presentation, but this is not definitely settled.

Subscription Price, $2.00 a Year in Advance

Delivered in the City by carrier $2.00 per year in advance or 20c per month. Payments in advance must be made at office.

Entered as second-class mail matter August 22nd 1908, at the Postoffice at Sanford, Florida, under Act of March 3rd, 1879

Office in Herald Building Telephone No. 148

Watch The Herald for county division news. The big noise will occur some time this week.

A man does not necessarily need to be an original Wilson man to get a piece of political pie.

The Herald heartily endorses J. C. Brown of Lakeland, for United States Marshall, southern district of Florida. No better man could be found.

Editor Howard of the Orlando Citizen has pulled down from the post-office race because he had to work seven hours a day. No need for him to cross bridges before he comes to them.

When the county of Seminole is formed we will all take a day off and celebrate. A game of ball between Orlando and Sanford will be one of the features of the day. Also a joint debate between Starbuck and Bates.

George Crouch of the Daytona Gazette, has the sympathy of the press gang in the death of his daughter. Miss Coruch was also one of the craft and operated the Linotype on the Gazette.

The husband who goes home weary, after a hard day's work, and is dragged out to play bridge whist half of the night, remains firm in his conviction that the world is a bad place.

Despite the protests of the Orlando papers the Florida Legislature is still doing business at the same old stand. They will create Seminole county this week over the protests of the Orlando papers and Senator Bryan will continue to appoint Federal Judges despite the protests of the Orlando papers.

The Stuart Times is the very latest wrinkle in journalism, published at Stuart by Will Stevens, well known journalist. Mr Stevens has been out of the state for some time but returns to his old love and will receive a warm welcome from the Florida Press Gang. The Times is a well edited, well printed paper.

Concluding an editorial on "a real reformer," the Orlando Sentinel says: The manly man, the man who will deliberately turn around and do the right after he has done the wrong, is the world's greatest reformer and the man with the most admirers.

All well and good and now is the time to come out for county division.

Arthur Brown, editor of the Ft. Pierce News has been appointed Postmaster of his city. We congratulate Arthur upon the appointment. An editor usually receives the appointment for Federal offices and it is safe to assert that wherever a newspaper man in Florida applies for an office he will not be turned down. The newspaper men deserve all that is coming to them at the pie counter and they are certain to get it. We might add that Arthur Brown was not an original Wilson man at that.

Congressman Frank Clark has introduced a bill to prohibit the intermarriage of persons of the white and negro races in the District of Columbia. Frank ought to go farther and make the bill cover all the northern states. It seems remarkable to a southerner why such a law should be necessary but depravity exists to such an extent in some states that laws must be framed to protect the weak minded and horrible as it may seem there are white people low enough to marry monkeys.

The present legislature seems to be after county officials who enjoy the fee system. Thus far a number of bills have been introduced reducing the perquisites of clerks of the circuit courts and the sheriffs in the larger counties, and abolishing the office of county treasurer entirely. Many officials in Florida have gotten rich by long tenure in office and the fee system and it seems to be the intention of many members of the legislature to place restrictions on the amount to go into the pockets of such officials.—Daytona Gazette.

A compulsory school law for Florida will be introduced in the present Legislature by the Hon. W. C. Langford of Arcadia.

When the need of such a law was under discussion at the recent State Conference of County and City Superintendents in Gainesville, Owen R. Lovejoy, Secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, stated that there were in Florida 25,000 children of school age who were not attending school. The statement was challenged as an exaggeration, but Mr. Lovejoy has just received a letter from Prof. Thackston, of the State University, pointing out that the last published report of the State Superintendent of Education stated that 38,043 white children of school age were not enrolled in the public schools of Florida during the year 1911-12. Moreover, only 70 per cent, attended on the average 114 days in the year.

LAWYER LOBBYISTS.

Lawyers and others who are paid to do the work of lobbyists in the Legislature have no inherent right to ply their vocation without restrictions. There is a gainful occupation and it should be regulated by law as other gainful occupations. The Legislature has the right to choose its own company in the matter of lobbyists and there should be no criticism of its rule recently established requiring people of this kind to secure permission of the House before appearing before any committee to work for or against legislation and providing an adequate penalty for violation of the rule.—Lakeland Telegram.

MUCH COUNTY DIVISION.

There will be plenty of county division legislation at the present session and doubtless little or none of it will go through without opposition. At present six county division bills are in sight with a prospect for more. Bob Holly, et al., of Sanford, want the new county of Herby cut out of the quivering corpus of Orange, with Sanford for the county seat of course. There are two fights on in DeSoto county, one to cut off the south end and another to cut off the north end. The southern county to be known as Trabue and the other as Seminole. There's one from Alachua, with Melrose as the county seat, to be taken from Alachua, Putnam, Clay, and Bradford. This county to be named Santa Fe in case it becomes a county. There's another from Washington, with Panama City as the county seat, to be known as Bay county, and another from Dade, with Ft. Lauderdale as the county seat, to be known as Broward.—Lakeland Telegram.

STANFORD'S GOOD BILLS.

Among the really and strongly constructive measures which have been introduced in the present Legislature and which ought to receive the favorable action of both houses, are the bills presented by H. Clay Stanford, of Kissimmee. They provide for the levy of a limited tax to be expended either by counties or municipalities for advertising purposes.

There are two of these bills, one authorizing County Commissioners and the other authorizing City Councils to levy a special tax not to exceed two mills for this purpose.

These measures are proposed by the State Chamber of Commerce at its last convention, held at Kissimmee. They are in line with the progressive legislation adopted in other States, and they place the burden for paying for that publicity which is used to advertise the resources of the State or city or county upon all the property owners, all of whom derive benefit from such work but many of whom have failed to pay one cent toward the cost of publicity.

It has been the rule that the cost of advertising campaigns which have brought thousands of people to Florida and settled its vast vacant areas with industrious people, bringing also new capital and new industries into the State, have been paid by a comparative few, members of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, individual advertisers, the newspapers, etc., while thousands of large property owners, whose holdings have been greatly enhanced by this development and whose individual concerns have largely prospered by reason of the bringing of new citizens to Florida, have contributed nothing to the expense, while sharing equally in the benefits. This condition of affairs has led other States to pass laws imposing a small tax for this purpose upon all taxpayers and thus equalizing the expense. The advertising of a State or section of a State has become recognized as one of the legitimate and necessary departments of public work, even of government. In a State like Florida, get, such work is especially desirable.

The Stanford bills ought to be passed by the Legislature. They will be worth much more to the State than all these "freak" laws now under consideration. They will mean a systematic and extensive advertising campaign of the resources and attractions of this State and the speedy increase of travel and investment in our direction.—Tampa Tribune.

Senator Donegan of Osceola and Orange seems to be the favorite among the colons at Tallahassee for the next governor. The people of the state can find no better man for that exalted position.—Fl. Meade Leader.

It was real mean of that Sanford bunch to jump in and steal the name of Seminole county after we had been fighting for it for ten years, but we will readily forgive them if they will help us create Broward county.—Wauchula Advocate.

The ladies demanded the name of Seminole and we always waive our rights in favor of the fair sex. We will certainly help you.

Happenings at The Imperia.

Edison's very latest Projecting Machine, an instrument embracing all of the newest ideas, has just been installed in the operating room of the Imperial Theatre with the result that the pictures are more steady, clear, and distinct, and with the very least amount of flicker. This new machine makes the pictures more brilliant and affords a greater amount of ease to the eye. Patrons of the Imperial will find this improvement of great convenience to them and will note surprising results.

It is worthy of special notice that those pictures which carry with them instructive and interesting information are best received. "What the people want," is an expression often used in the amusement world and is often given as excuse for the inferior exhibition. It is the policy at the Imperial to eliminate those pictures which cater to the lower taste and the desire to please the masses of the intelligent picture which cultivate the patronage of the substantial people of Sanford.

Beginning at a very early date the programs at The Imperia will consist of only such high-class pictures as are at the present exhibited as Special Features; in other words, there will be nothing but features, and those will come from the output of the most exclusive manufacturers of Photo-Plays. All the features of all the better class producers will be presented.

Maines-Herby Nuptials

On Sunday afternoon Miss Marie Herby and Dr. Ira S. Maines stole a march on their many Sanford friends and going to Orlando were quietly married at the Presbyterian manse, Dr. Stagg officiating. Mrs. Herby, Mrs. Maines and Benjamin Munroe were with them and witnessed the ceremony.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr and Mrs John Herby and has resided here for several years, coming here with her parents from Dayton and residing on Celery avenue. She is a beautiful and accomplished young lady and has many friends here in her adopted home.

The groom is in the prescription department of Lawson's Pharmacy and has been in Sanford some six months, but in that time has made himself so popular that he numbers his friends by his acquaintances. He is a former resident of Lake Butler where he was reared and at one time was a newspaper man but reformed in time to make good in the drug business and held several good positions in Tampa and other cities before coming to Sanford.

The young couple who start down life's pathway under such auspicious circumstances will make this city their future home and will reside at the Terwilliger home for the present. Their many friends are extending congratulations and best wishes today, in which The Herald joins.

In sliding down the cellar door of life may they never strike the splinter of adversity.

May Festival

On May 1st the primary school will hold a May Festival in the Sanford House grounds at 4:30 p. m. The usual May Day program will be given, after which refreshments will be served by the little folks.

Cecilian Music Club

The regular meeting of the Cecilian Music Club will be held at the studio of Mrs. Fannie S. Munson, Saturday afternoon at 7 o'clock.

THE GROWERS MEETING

A State Protective Association Will Be Organized at Once.

The Florida grower who did not attend the meeting in Tampa Thursday missed one of the best "treats" of his existence. The man who attended the meeting was well rewarded for the time and money expended to enable them to be present. Florida growers are "coming into their own." They are "together" now.

Convention Opened

The convention was called to order at 9:30 o'clock. The Tampa Bay Casino auditorium was over half full, as were the seats at the side.

Prof. H. Harold Hume, president of the Florida State Horticultural Society, who was introduced by W. C. Temple, general manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange presided. E. O. Painter of Jacksonville, was unanimously chosen to act as secretary.

In opening the meeting Professor Hume stated that no cut and dried program had been prepared, but that the session would be entirely in the hands of the growers present, to take up such matters as they might see fit. He pointed out the fact that, although the gathering was composed of somewhat opposing factions, everyone agreed in the main on all subjects except that of marketing, and that subject would not be allowed to be brought up unless in a very general way.

As general rules for the governing of the convention, Professor Hume announced that proxies would not be voted, and that before any question could be discussed, there must first be a vote of consideration to determine whether or not the convention desired to bring that particular question.

Outlines Important Issues

Prof. Hume then outlined what he considered the important issues before the body, as follows:

(1) The tariff. "You are all good Democrats, but you have Republican pocket books which have been trod on by the movement to lower the citrus fruit tariff. The matter is a serious one, and if there is a change, it will call for a great deal of readjustment. Spain is our greatest competitor. The strip of land on which citrus fruits are grown in the country is protected by the sea on one side and a mountain range on the other. In one year there are produced in Spain as many oranges as in Florida and California put together."

(2) The necessity of quarantining against insect pests from other sections of the United States, and from other countries of the world. The speaker called attention to the measures now before the state legislature in both houses, the bill before the senate being No. 66. "We have insects enough already," said Professor Hume, "and don't want any more. When California sends a car of fruit here I want it to be in our power to give them the same treatment they gave us." (Referring to the burning of Florida grapefruit in Los Angeles.)

(3) Transportation rates, which in many cases should be lowered and improved upon.

(4) Advertising Florida fruit the world over. "The success of any business depends on advertising."

(5) The necessity of keeping laws in existence to prevent the shipping of green fruit. "This question," said Prof. Hume, "will be left until the others have been disposed of."

Organization Necessity

"The principal thing," said Chairman Hume, in concluding his preliminary remarks, "is to organize a statewide association uniting all growers so that they will have a combination of interests. At present we are like a flock of sheep, with a pack of wolves howling around us."

Before adjournment was taken for lunch L. B. Skinner made an address to the growers, declaring that the organization of a state association such as probably would be favorably reported on by the committee named for that purpose probably would cost money, and that all growers should be prepared to come across with their share, without imposing the burden on the shoulders of a few persons. "Every dollar you put into it will pay you back $50," said Mr. Skinner, "just as every dollar you put into fertilizer pay you back $10."

In response to a question, Mr. Skinner declared that if growers would contribute 50 cents a car, the organization would be an assured success.

Adjournment was then taken until 1:30 o'clock, when the session was resumed.

Afternoon Session

At 2:30 p. m., the committee appointed at the morning session of the growers with J. C. Chase as chairman, reported with the name selected for the new organization, the objects to be worked for and a list of twenty prominent orange and truck growers throughout the state as an administrative committee.

The organization will have no connection with any orange growers' or truck growers' association already organized but will be separate in its work. It is proposed to work for better traffic and shipping arrangements, materials for handling produce, and to secure legislation that will better conditions throughout the state. It will work for the equal good of the orange grower, strawberry producer and the grower who makes a specialty of producing all kinds of vegetables.

Names of twenty men as the members of the administrative committee were recommended and from these, the executive committee consisting of seven members will be chosen. A motion made to adopt the recommendation of the committee rendering the report was made and discussion on the report was immediately launched.

J. B. Hamner, of Brandon, in speaking of plans for raising a working fund advocated that the organization be first incorporated, with the members of the administration committee as the incorporators. He further recommended that as there were many orange growers who had groves that were not bearing who would wish to subscribe to the work of the organization, that a provision be made where such members be assessed a half or quarter cent per tree in their groves. The recommendation of the Chase committee was that twenty-five or fifty cents per car be assessed to each member on the amount of produce or oranges that he ships.

Will Incorporate

Mr. Temple immediately made a motion that the organization be incorporated and this was adopted unanimously. A motion being made that Mr. Hamner be placed on the administration committee or a committee which would be entrusted with raising funds, was uproariously carried.

The immature fruit law discussion came up through a grower asking that the convention request the legislature to rescind the ban on shipping grapefruit before November 1. On this subject Mr. Henry, assistant to State Chemist R. E. Rose, read the report of Mr. Rose on the citrus question, a report that was a lengthy one.

At the growers present, it appeared that some were desirous of attempting to have the legislature chop into the present green fruit law but Mr. Temple of the Citrus Exchange made a forcible talk in its behalf, stating that any changes in it would certainly make it inoperative, that the supreme court had pronounced it constitutional and that it was perfect. A vote was taken to leave the law as it now stands resulting in but half dozen "noes."

The Acid Test Should be Changed

Last Thursday certainly was a great day for the growers of Florida. There was much fear expressed from all sections that the meeting would turn out to be a cut and dried affair to boost the Citrus Exchange. The fears were groundless. The Citrus Exchange was not mentioned. Every man present, who was a grower could have his say on any matter that would appear to be of benefit to the growers of the state.

Prof. Harold Hume deserves a handsome souvenir for the masterly manner in which he handled the business before the meeting, for his uniform courtesy to every man who wished to speak and for the manner in which he expedited the business to such a successful termination. Words of commendation and praise were heard in the Casino, on the grounds, in the hotel corridors and on the streets.

Only one thing occurred all day that was not to the liking of the entire assemblage. That was the resolution on the acid test. As there was a little confusion on account of so many amendments or substitutes to or for preceding amendments or substitutes, many members present felt that a mistake had been made in making the test 1.30 instead of 1.50.

There was so much discussion about the test last night and this morning, that The News has taken the matter up direct with State Chemist Rose, as per following telegram:

Sanford, Fla., April 18, 1913. Prof. Rose, State Chemist, Tallahassee, Florida:

On behalf of many growers of citrus fruit, we ask you to await the preparation of any bill giving the acid test as per resolution adopted at the Tampa meeting yesterday, until you get a report from the committee appointed yesterday to organize a league to handle all matters of mutual interest. This committee will meet at Sanford on the 28th and the matter will be properly handled by it. No harm can come from granting this request while much harm and dissatisfaction will come if the request is not granted. Everything yesterday was passed off in harmony with this one exception and this question will not create any friction when handled by the committee. Please answer.

FLORIDA GROWERS NEWS.

The Annual Meeting

(Special Wire)

The annual meeting of the Florida Citrus Exchange was held today in the Tampa Bay Casino. It was one of the largest in point of attendance, in the history of the Exchange. Like the growers' meeting of last year, it was an enthusiastic, harmonious success, according to our wire reports.

The immature fruit law was unanimously approved. Salesman Burton gave a graphic account of conditions existing during the past year. Several of the district managers made interesting addresses. The claim department reported unusual success during the year.

General Manager Temple read a statement showing the amount of fruit handled each season during the last four years. He also gave the average prices for each season. This season's average is below that of last season, but it is higher than any other season before that. Mr. Temple thought it would undoubtedly exceed the average of outside operators.

Mr. Temple presented a complete financial report, showing that the Exchange is absolutely out of debt and that it has a surplus fund of approximately one hundred thousand dollars. The announcement of Mr. Temple of his determination to retire from the management of the Exchange resulted in a beautiful tribute being paid by Dr. Ross, the presiding officer and the unanimous adoption of a resolution, expressing appreciation of the valuable service he has rendered the Exchange.

The adjournment of the meeting will not take place till June, at which time the meeting adjourned on the motion of Mr. Temple.

LETTER FROM SENATOR BRYAN.

Defines Position on Citrus Fruits and Gives Good Reasons For Same.

The orange growers of the United States are contending on the one hand, that a rate of eighty cents a box is necessary for the preservation or protection of the industry; and the Ways and Means Committee, on the other hand, for the reduction of the rate to 35 cents a box.

A majority of the committee is pledged to a revenue rate which contemplates the importation of foreign oranges, for, in no other way can revenue be raised on oranges than by a tax on orange importations.

If the Democrats in Congress are true to their platform and pledges it is inevitable that a rate will be established inviting importations of foreign oranges, even though there may be none, just as there will be rates on other articles of foreign production now barred by the Republican protective tariff wall. If the Democrats are not true to their pledges and platform the protective wall would be maintained, the people will be unrelieved of the burdens under which they have labored, and the party will be judged unworthy of trust and its destiny determined.

Oranges are a luxury and properly come under a higher rate than necessities. I shall support a luxury rate but not one that is protective. I could not do more without feeling that I had deserted my party, and this I know the Florida orange growers would not have me do.

Will the orange industry be injured by a lower rate? This can be determined, not upon an argument based on apprehension and fear, but by the facts alone.

From the statistical departments I have gathered some facts which I submit. The world's production of oranges in 1912 is estimated as follows:

The United States, (boxes)	20,000,000
Spain	10,121,563
Italy	736, WW
Italy	3,536,823
Palestine	736,124
Japan	344,461
Japan	176,732
Cuba	45,123

Of this total of practically 35,000,000 boxes the United States produces 58 per cent and the remainder of the world 42 per cent.

In 1908 we exported 651,000 and in 1912, 1,200,000 boxes of oranges. Of this quantity Canada took 1,150,000 boxes.

In 1912 Canada imported of oranges and grapefruit, 3,218,000 boxes, of which the United States supplied 2,950,247 boxes, or all but 267,743 boxes. If Canada, which admits citrus fruit free, imports so insignificant a quantity from countries other than the United States, how can it be fairly contended that the United States, with a tariff of 35 cents a box, would be deluged with foreign oranges and the industry destroyed?

If the United States and Canada, with a combined population of a hundred million consume 20,000,000 boxes, is it not fair to suppose that the three hundred millions of Europe would supply a demand sufficient to consume the total foreign production of fifteen million boxes? The per capita consumption of the United States and Canada is 30 oranges, that of Europe 7 1/2, and is it not but fair to assume that the Europeans have as keen an appetite for a fine fruit as the people of the United States?

From what source do the growers of the United States fear competition? Not Spain, nor Italy, nor Palestine, nor Japan, for they are too remote to compete. Possibly Porto Rico, Cuba, and Mexico—producing all told less than 400,000 boxes.

The groves of Spain, especially those of Valencia and other southern provinces from which the greatest supply is drawn, have been infected for several years past with the red scale, which is regarded as a most serious enemy of the citrus family. I shall oppose the importation of oranges from any country where there is citrus infection and to that end have introduced in the Senate an amendment to exclude such oranges from our imports. I am in favor of that sort of protection to the industry but not one through tariff legislation.

Frankly, I am of the opinion that the Florida orange needs no protection and I doubt if the bill, at 35 cents a box, will raise any but an insignificant revenue. The Florida orange stands in a class by itself. It sells in Canada for more than it sells for in the United States. The orange growers attribute this to a combination of buyers. Nevertheless, the buyers have not the power to force the public to pay more for a Florida orange than the Florida orange is worth. If the buyers get what it is worth, why not the producer? Do they? If they do not whose fault is it?

I wish to suggest also that the greatest initial development of the orange industry was between 1875 and 1893, up to which time the tariff on oranges was 26 cents a box.

Very respectfully,
W. P. Bryan.
Washington, April 19.

Music Club

The regular meeting of the Music Club was held at the home of Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. M. Martin leader.

A very interesting paper on "Richard Strauss; His Personality and Compositions," was read by Mrs. Martin and very much enjoyed by the club.

Miss Chandler from Enterprise, whom the club is pleased to have as a member, entertained the club with two characteristic compositions by Richard Strauss: Op. 17, No. 2, "Standchen" and "Frieilecher," most charmingly rendered.

Mrs. Geo. L. Hoy sang as only Mrs. Hoy can sing, "In the Time of Roses," Louise Reichardt, accompanied by Mrs. R. E. Tolar and "Slumber Song" by Mendelssohn.

Miss Chandler kindly consented to play another selection, Chopin's "Polonaise," Andante Spiranti, which concluded the musical part of the program.

A brief discussion on "What is Program Music" followed.

After the transaction of a few matters of business and an announcement by the secretary, the meeting adjourned.

Buys West Side Store

I. L. Jenkins, late of Sebring, Fla., has purchased the West Side Cash Store from C. C. Cobb and will conduct the same with a new and much larger stock of goods. Mr. Jenkins and family have moved here and will become citizens of the new county of Seminole, having every indication that this section of Florida is destined to become one of the best in Florida. Mr. Cobb gives up mercantile life for the produce business in which he has a long and fresh air. We welcome Mr. Jenkins and family to our midst and feel sure that they will be no mistake in becoming citizens of Sanford and Seminole county.

Woodland Park Notes

A jolly party spent Sunday afternoon at Woodland Park. Captain Fulton took them in his beautiful yacht, Ramona. Those in party were Mr. and Mrs. Norwood, Mr. and Mrs. Joiner, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Wessner, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Harris, Messrs. Hamrick, Zinner, Pugh, Gadsden, Senn, Allen, Tilden, Raley, Long.

Evening Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Gonzales were host and hostess at a very pleasant informal evening at cards Friday evening. Two tables of bridge were played. The ladies' prize, a deck of cards was won by Mrs. O. W. Brady, who made the top score. Dr. Samuel Puleston won the gentleman's prize, also a deck of cards, by the top score.

After the enthusiastic games of cards were concluded fruit salad, wafers, olives and chocolate were served by the hostess.

Those who enjoyed the pleasant evening were Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon, Dr. and Mrs. Puleston, Mrs. O. W. Brady and Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin.

Picnic Party

Friday was most pleasantly spent at Enterprise by a party of ladies who enjoyed the many pretty views to be found at Enterprise and a visit to the orphanage, which they found as neat as a new pin, under the supervision of Miss Louise Stork, the efficient superintendent.

The inmates seemed well and happy. The children do all the work about the place and they do it well. The ladies were shown over the house. They were especially pleased with the room which is furnished by the Junior Epworth League of this city and which is occupied by boys who take care of it and keep it in apple pie order.

Some contributions to the Home were taken over by the ladies, but there are numbers of articles which would make the Home more comfortable and which would be gladly received.

The superintendent is very anxious to have the upstairs porch screened in for a sleeping porch for some of the children, but they lack $10.00 of the sum that will be required to have the work done. Five springs for single beds will indeed fill a long felt want. Curtains, shades, rugs and bed linen would add very much to the comfort and appearance of some of the rooms.

Good articles of clothing and canned goods would be very acceptable as well as money. Two of the children in the Home, whose parents had once lived in Sanford, were invited by the ladies to join them at their picnic luncheon, which was enjoyed at one of the springs.

The members of the pleasant party were Mrs. A. E. Phillips, Mrs. J. C. McLaughlin, Mrs. W. E. Housholder, Mrs. A. H. Moses, Mrs. T. J. Miller, Mrs. C. E. Henry, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Mrs. O. L. Miller, Mrs. S. O. Shinholser.

Library Day

The Wednesday Club will celebrate their nineteenth birthday for the benefit of the Library at the home of Mrs. S. O. Chase Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The members of the club and their guests who are expected to be all the friends of the Library in the city and all others who are interested in its welfare and growth are requested to bring twenty cents, one penny in excess of nineteen, the years of the club, for good measure and as a silver offering.

An entertaining program and refreshments will be provided for the pleasure of the club and guests.

Car Burned Up

A fine Cadillac car belonging to Mr. Larrabee of Orlando caught fire yesterday on the road between this city and DeLand, just east of the Monroe ferry and was entirely consumed before the flames could be controlled. There was something wrong with the feed pipe of the gasoline tank and a quantity of gasoline had flooded the carburetor and the pan beneath. This seemed to catch fire from the muffler or some other part of the car and almost before the occupants of the car were aware of the fact the lower part of the handsome car was ablaze. Another car came to the rescue but on account of scarcity of water and having no fire extinguishers the people could only watch the demolition of the car. Mr. Larrabee is a well known trucker and fruit grower of Orlando and has the sympathy of his many friends in his loss.

Purchased Karnatz Place

Prof. Harvey has purchased the Karnatz place on Sanford Heights and will occupy the same with his family. Mr. and Mrs. Karnatz will move closer to the business quarter, his business of managing the Imperial Theater making suburban dwelling inconvenient. Prof. Harvey's friends are congratulating him upon his purchase, for it means that he and his estimable wife will make Sanford their future home.

Odd Fellows Anniversary

Sanford Lodge of Odd Fellows invite the public to be present at their anniversary services to be held at the Star Theater next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Blocker and Rev. Self of DeLand will deliver addresses and the occasion will prove interesting to Odd Fellows and those who are not of the Order. Every one is cordially invited to attend the services.

The J. M. Shock Absorber

It is unique; has no complicated parts; it is not a spring paralyzer as are many devices; it does not throw extra strain on the rear axle but it makes your car ride easier and protects the mechanism of it; it will reduce the tire expense because the wheels are more constantly in contact with the ground, because the helical springs that compose the J. M. have been studied and applied in so scientific a manner that they give the twenty or thirty vibrations a second necessary for the greater speed of motor cars on rough roads.

Containing a loss estimated at $75,000, completely destroyed the old Clyde Dock No. 2, belonging to the St. Johns River Terminal Company, and situated at the foot of Washington street, Jacksonville, shortly after 5 o'clock this morning. Five large barges loaded with lumber and the property of the Jacksonville Forwarding Company, lying on the slip adjoining the dock, also were destroyed and burned to the water's edge. The fire floated for some distance down the St. Johns river. The contents of the dock building consists of $2,500 worth of cross-ties, the property of G. C. Ryland & Co., was totally destroyed. The opinion is that had the local harbor had ample fire protection from necessary fire tugs the loss resulting from the fire could have been greatly reduced and the danger to all the water front property have been eliminated.

which started Tuesday afternoon completely destroyed the large planing mill of the Sumner Lumber Company at Jacksonville, six miles north of Ocala. About 100,000 feet of lumber was reduced to shavings. The mill was operated by the Sumner Lumber Company of Ocala. The estimated at about $10,000 with insurance. The fire is supposed to have started from sparks falling into a pile of shavings.

Bigelow, one of Tampa's prominent citizens, died Sunday morning of this week. Mr. Bigelow was among the members of the city council and served in Tampa in 1884, before the first city hall had been built. When the old city system began running trains into Tampa he was appointed that city's first street agent. He was a native of New York, L. I.

Application for a bond issue of $50,000 for the building and operation of a municipal water plant and the purchase of a portion of a dock and resurrection pier is under considerable discussion in Fernandina and much interest is being manifested in the proposition. The next meeting of the city council will call for the bond issue and appoint a date therefor.

Tampa Drug Company will erect a new building at Washington and Florida avenue, in that city at a cost of $50,000.

A number of Tavares citizens met a few days ago to organize a bank. The bank was organized and the bank will be ready for business early in the fall.

Plans have been perfected for the construction of the Florida Funeral Directors and Embalmers' Association which will take place in Jacksonville on May 15th.

Material is on the ground for the improvements to be made on the ice plant at Santa Gorda and for the erection of additional cold storage facilities and the same will be pushed to completion.

Work on the Lafayette street bridge at Tampa is rapidly progressing. Additional work is being made to the force each day and now the number of men working on the construction is nearly 100.

Miss McLaughlin Hostess
A very pleasant informal, small party was entertained by Miss Elizabeth McLaughlin Tuesday evening. Games of bridge were played. The prize, a handsome vase, was won by Mrs. Ruth Butler, who made the high score among the ladies. The high score among the gentlemen was made by W. C. Hill, who won the prize, a pretty picture.

The interesting games of cards concluded a delicious fruit salad, and chocolate were served by the hostess whose guests were Mrs. J. H. Butt, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Butt, Mrs. A. B. Wallace, Miss Ruth W. C. Hill.

Seminole County Bill Passes House With Flying Colors

SANFORD DELEGATION JUBILANT

Work of Committee on County Division Surpasses Anything Before Attempted in Sanford

Tallahassee, Fla., April 24 (Special to the Herald). The Sanford people no doubt were excited when the joyful intelligence was flashed over the wires on Tuesday night that the Seminole bill had passed the House by the rousing majority of 59 to 5.

But had the good people of Sanford and our friends in the new county been present at the session of the House and been there awaiting the result, as the delegation was, it is doubtful if they could have held themselves in check and for awhile after the verdict we were afraid the Speaker would have to call us down. The Seminole bill came up at a night session and the Seminole braves had marshalled their forces for the last time before the battle. Those of us who had arrived on the afternoon train had only time enough to register at the hotel when we were called away to look up our friends and see if they still stood by us. It was an anxious time, for the Orlando people were on hand and had engaged several lobbyists and they could be discerned here and there in the corridors of the capital building doing some "tall talking." We immediately "scattered out," a phrase that will be famous in Sanford from now on and we saw every man in the House all over again and asked them how they stood on the proposition and the proposition looked good. Forrest Lake, like the good fighter that he is, never even had his supper and stayed on the job. Mr. Forster, who has been on the firing line for three weeks, Charlie Hand, A. T. Rossetter, Capt. B. F. Whitner and good old Douglass were on hand and while they did not seem to be worried they were glad to see the old guard return to the fray and we worked like the well oiled piece of machinery that the Sanford delegation has become. There was not much appetite displayed at the table that night and we rushed off to the state house early in the game. There was a feeling of suppressed excitement that pervaded the atmosphere and some of us walked the corridors just as some of us anxious fathers have walked the room with a sick baby at night and the case was parallel, for we were walking the floor with the baby Seminole. The Orlando fighters were there in force and they wore a confident smile. Bill after bill came up before the House and the suspense was becoming unbearable. Our many friends were on hand in numbers and we have plenty of them. They were watching the affair almost as anxiously as the Sanford delegation and the writer mentally drew a picture of the scene. It would look good on a canvass to be preserved in the new court house at Sanford. Finally Mr. Lake crossed the room and spoke to one of the reading clerks and all of us took a hitch in our belts. The clerk called "House Bill No. 4" and we stiffened like hounds in leash when the horns of the huntsmen blow. Mr. Lake arose and asked that the bill be put upon its second reading. The House voted aye. This seemed easy. Mr. Lake arose again and moved that the rules be waived and the bill be put upon the third reading and final passage. Then arose the dissenting voices and before the clerk could start, Robinson of Orlando asked for the floor and received recognition and amid the silence read what purported to be a message from the people who resided in the new territory. He said that he had a petition of names that represented a majority of the people, but did not say that it was from the whole county instead of from the new territory. It was pitifully weak in every detail and was the last will and testament of the dying county of Orange. While not making any impression upon the House it acted with dynamic effect upon Forrest Lake, and Robinson had hardly seated himself when Lake arose and if any one thinks that Lake cannot talk they should have heard him in defense of Seminole. He swiftly but surely took up the important items, paid his respects to the people who were fighting county division, and himself tore to pieces the flimsy arguments advanced by Robinson and wound up with a touching appeal to the house that would have melted the brick streets of Sanford. When he finished the assemblage applauded him to the core and showed how the sympathy of the people stood. Then arose the majestic figure of Hon. Otis Parker of the new county of St. Lucie. He has a powerful voice and is an orator of the old school. He took the history of the East

After an hour's conference at the White House last night President Wilson directed Secretary of State Bryan to proceed at once to Sacramento to cooperate with Governor Johnson and members of the California legislature in regard to framing a law regarding the ownership of land by aliens that would not conflict with the treaty obligations of the United States, particularly with Japan. Secretary Bryan will leave tonight and will be in San Francisco next Monday.

The fall of Scutari before Montenegrin armies has been heard of with extraordinary demonstrations of joy by foreign nations, especially Serbia and the foreign department has sent congratulations to the Montenegrin government. The first effect of the fall of Scutari will be the extension of the international blockade to Nazzo, but what the next step of the foreign powers in checking the government the movement is hard to tell. The view prevails in St. Petersburg that the coercion of Montenegro is not to be an easy matter. The Austro-Hungary minister has made definite proposals to the powers to make Montenegro a protectorate, but it is known that such proposals will be unwelcomed.

The lives of 100 miners, possibly 120, paid the toll shortly after midnight of a disastrous explosion in the Cincinnati mine of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Co., at Finleyville, Pa. Over three score of workmen in the mines made their escape with difficulty, crawling most of the time on their hands and knees through deadly gas fumes and over debris. Up to 11 at night seventy bodies of victims had been recovered. The bodies were located by rescuing quads of the United States bureau of mines, the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Co. and of the Pittsburg Coal Co.

As the rescuers found bodies they were carried to the entries. None of the bodies, however, were brought to the open.

Sanford Celebrates

Sanford was the scene of the greatest celebration on Tuesday night that she has seen in many years. As the news came in by wire that the Florida Legislature had voted in favor of the forming of Seminole county the town turned out in full force, boys, men and dogs and fear the air with shouts and pistol shots until far into the night.

The old cannon at the city dock came in for its share, and at the seventh charge burst into a thousand pieces. The explosion was terrific. Pieces flew in every direction and how it happened that no one was hurt is a mystery that only Providence can explain. It is said that pieces were picked up as far away as French avenue, which is at least six blocks from the scene.

While the celebration was somewhat vigorous, it must be remembered that this result was after weeks of suspense, during which time the nerves of every man in Sanford were keyed up to the straining point, and the pent up enthusiasm burst forth in war whoops and cheers that lasted until well into the night.

There has been no question that has been so closely watched in many years as the outcome of the county division fight. The boys should be excused in this instance if they did disturb the slumbers of some of their elders.
