Mix In Schools Topic Of Meet

Questions and answers are expected tonight at a public meeting scheduled at New Mount Calvary Missionary Baptist Church on the topic, "Desegregation of Public Schools." The meeting is slated to start at 8 p.m. Rev. Amos Jones, executive director of Seminole Community Action, said those people attending the meeting tonight would "explore the possibilities as to what they may be able to do to assist in school desegregation."

Jones stated that the parents and citizens on hand could ask questions as to how they could assist the School Board in the program.

In an earlier statement to The Herald, Jones remarked that the meeting also would deal with quality education which, he said, is presently lacking in local schools.

Several hundred people are expected to be on hand and a county-wide mass meeting has been set for next Thursday.

Seminole Mutual Concert Association Steps Out

Action by the Seminole Mutual Concert Association to make this outstanding cultural organization an even more effective force in fast-growing Seminole county is most welcome.

It is also one more witness to the wealth of human resources which exist in our community and to the growing awareness of such persons to the challenges now confronting us.

We are especially happy to have this opportunity to congratulate the association in the election of Mrs. Kay Bartholomew as president.

As a former society editor of a large Texas newspaper, she has an appreciation of the need for communications within an organization or a community or an association which will pay high dividends in these months just ahead.

For make no mistake about what is now being offered Seminole county — in every section — with the expansion in purpose and in operations of the SMCA which the 1968-70 season plans contain. In the remembered words of that song which was so descriptive in Meredith Wilson's "Music Man," Mrs. Bartholomew also "knows the territory." She has been a forceful membership and publicity officer of the SMCA.

Her accomplishments as chairman of the Sanford Swim Association and experience as secretary of William J. Phillips, former Superintendent of Public Instruction in Seminole, make her quite well fitted for the task which she now undertakes.

There are some developments already visible which show the vitality of the SMCA. Construction of dressing rooms and other facilities at the Sanford Civic Center which will allow the association to invite performers with the knowledge, for the first time, that the usual such facilities will be provided is one.

As for the programs, their quality and quantity, this is a matter which cannot be revealed now. But it is accurate to say that three internationally known and respected events have been booked. Others will follow.

As in the past, the program will also bear in mind the need of the youngsters from Lake Monroe to S-486, from Lake Mary to Oviedo, to recognize that our economic base is, actually, resting on people.

Among the newcomers to our area there are those who want to have the well-rounded community life which is impossible without satisfactory cultural outlets.

It is in this respect that the SMCA rates a very high place, indeed. The programs which they bring into Seminole county have been an asset.

Now with the greater vision and the extension of their membership into every section and even across the lake to our friends in DeBary and Deltona, the opportunity for improvement in such cultural activities is obvious.

Would it not be a splendid development if such allied groups as the Ballet Guild and the Art Association and the Seminole Mutual Concert Association would join hands and give our community a Cultural Council, second to none?

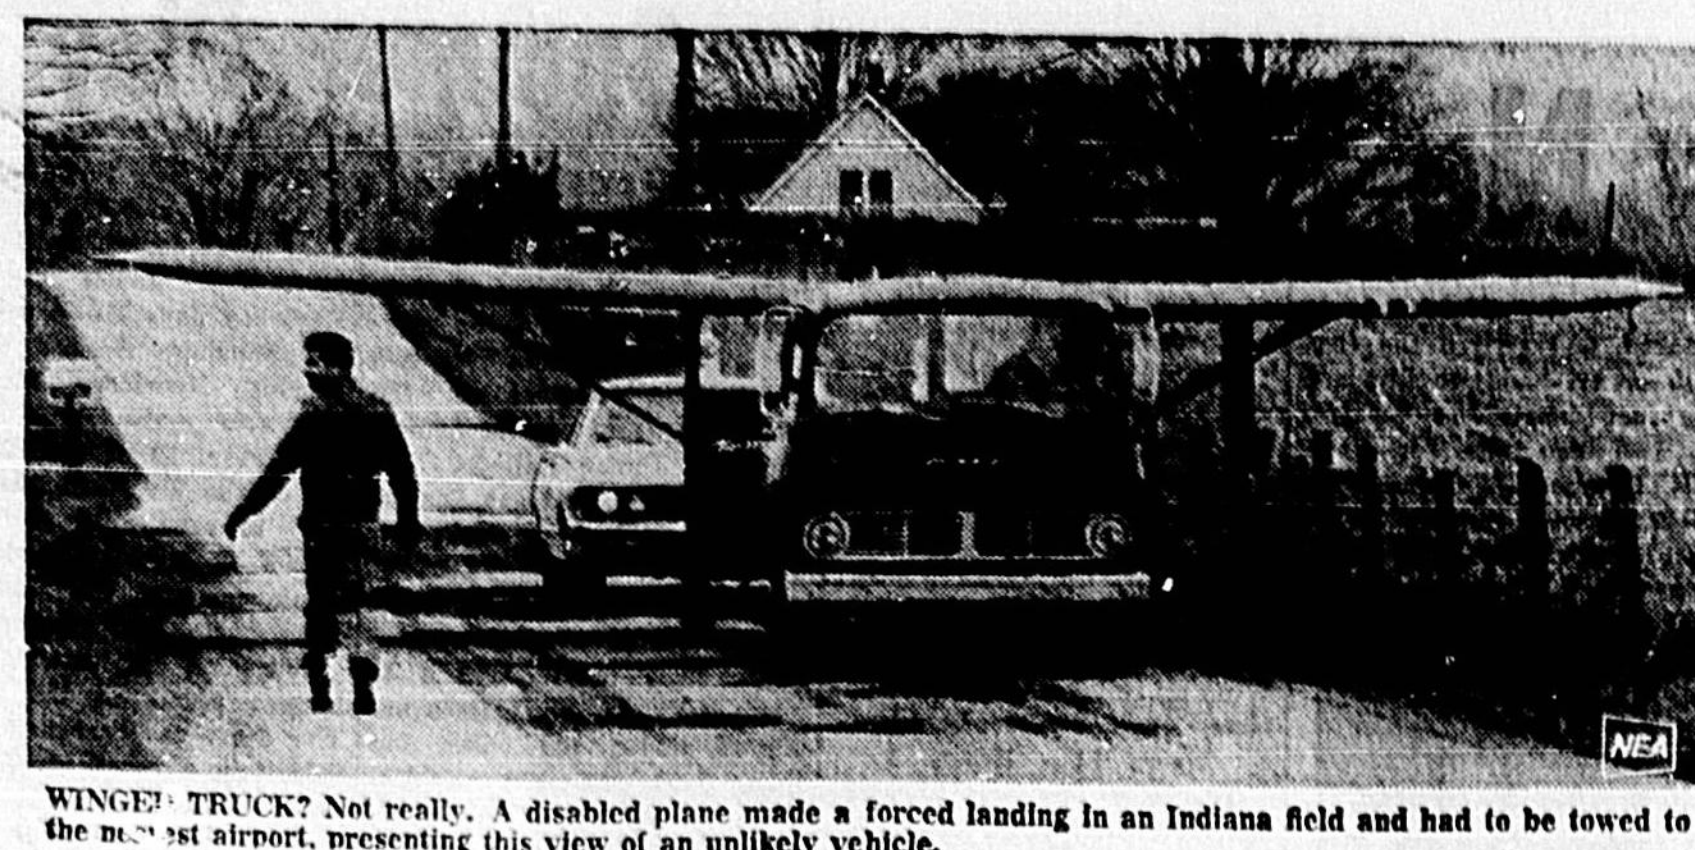

Today, however, it is our pleasure to ask our friends and neighbors from Lake Monroe to S-486, from Lake Mary to Oviedo, to recognize that our economic base is, actually, resting on people.

Solon Questions Bank Rate Hike

By EDMOND McRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, who has urged government retaliation against banks that recently raised their prime interest rates, says he wants to know administration thinking on the possible need for a national usury law.

Patman's House Banking Committee opened hearings today in the heat of prime interest rates to an all-time high of 8 1/2 per cent with Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy listed at the first witness.

Patman, D-Tex., said in an interview before today's hearings he is not now advocating a federal ceiling on the cost for borrowing money but the possibility must be considered if the rise in interest rates is not checked.

"We are in the grip of the Wall Street banks," said Patman, banking committee chairman. "It is impossible now for the average family to buy a house."

The hearings bring a new confrontation between Patman and Kennedy.

The congressman has insisted Kennedy has a conflict of interest because of continuing ties with the Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago. Patman says Kennedy should re-

MRS. HELEN LEINHART
Bear Lake Teacher Honored By Faculty

By MARYANN MILES
Mrs. Helen Leinhardt was the surprised guest of honor at a luncheon given by the faculty of the Bear Lake School when she is retiring from teaching.

Mrs. Leinhardt is a veteran of seven years at the Bear Lake school. She started teaching there when it opened its doors. She also taught at Altona School three years before coming to Bear Lake, and in Oviedo prior to that.

Mrs. Leinhardt also rested more or less for 14 years in between teaching jobs, coming to Oviedo from Wilmington, Ohio.

She received her BA degree in Wilmington, and her MA degree from Northwestern University.

She and her husband, Joseph, like to do many things together, which include deer hunting and turkey shooting.

Mrs. Leinhardt loves to work in ceramics. She has written a number of songs that have been published, her favorite being "Radiant Star March."

Mrs. Leinhardt is a member of the Eastern Star of the Seminole Chapter in Sanford where she has served as assistant grand instructor and also of recently attending a 50th class reunion of her college class back in Wilmington.

When asked "Will you miss teaching?" she quietly replied, "It will be good to have time to do what I want, such as writing more music, and my other hobbies." She will be missed by the youngsters and faculty members at Bear Lake.

Interest Rate What & Why

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Prime Interest Rate: What and Why

Prime Rate. The rate of interest banks charge their preferred customers, such as large corporations, with excellent credit standing who borrow large sums. Interest charges to other borrowers scale upward from the prime rate.

Developments. Beginning June 8, major banks raised the prime rate to 8 1/2 per cent, an all-time high. It was the fifth increase in a little more than six months. As recently as December 1965, the rate was 5 per cent. During the depression of the 1930's it was as low as 1 1/2 per cent. The House Banking Committee, under chairmanship of Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., is investigating.

Backdrop. High interest rates permeating the whole economy are especially hard on would-be homeowners looking for mortgages and on states and cities trying to float bond issues. Bankers say they result inevitably from inflation and are a help in rationing scarce credit.

Patman disagrees, is looking for evidence of collusion. He asked President Nixon to issue a strong condemnation of the latest increase, but the only major administration official to criticize it was Housing Secretary George Romney.

The Federal Reserve can exert some influence on interest rates, but there is no federal law setting ceilings on them. Most states have usury laws and some of these have been amended with higher limits to prevent mortgage money from drying up entirely.

Prospects. Although Patman says possible legislation will be considered, most congressional observers see the hearings as an effort to step up the pressure on the banks directly, and on the administration and Federal Reserve.

"Why Should We Be Jews?"

By BENNET M. DOLTON
AP Religion Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "Why should we be Jews?" More and more youths are asking themselves that question as they try to shed their Jewish identity in modern U.S. society, says a leader of conservative rabbis.

Rabbi Ralph Simon of Chicago, president of the conservative Rabbinical Assembly, told the liberal Central Conference of American Rabbis that the college campus is the greatest threat to American Judaism's existence.

Rabbi Simon spoke Wednesday to the 500 reform rabbis attending the four-day CCAR meeting which ends tonight.

One million of the 5 1/2 million Jews in the country are in the liberal or reform branch. More than 1.2 million are conservative, the orthodox branch.

Simon told his audience: "The new generation is not asking, 'Why should we be Jewish or reform Jews?' They are asking, 'Why should we be Jews?'"

The Chicago rabbi said the problem cuts across any reform-conservative division of ritual and practice. The danger is one of indifference rather than difference, he added.

Rabbi Simon said an estimated 90 per cent of Jewish youth people attend college at some period of their lives, yet hundreds of colleges have no Jewish counselors or cultural programs.

He said "we all have been guilty of shortsightedness, lack of imagination and failure of nerve" in not providing enough funds to help Jewish students answer the basic question: "Are we or not to be a Jew?"

14 Year Old Goes To State College

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DETROIT (AP) — Melvin Barry White, 14, lives in Detroit's Inner City.

This fall, the Negro youth will become the youngest student ever to enroll at Wayne State University. Barry, who is preferred to be called, has a genius level I.Q. of 115.

"I believe in the philosophy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and I am glad he was willing to go against all evil and violence," Barry says. "I like Charlie Brown, too, because he's always going on and on about things."

Barry hopes to be either a minister or a gynecologist when he grows up.

"My mother has been ill most of her life," he explains. "I would like to be able to help her and other women."

Until his classes start in September, Barry will be working on a university research project on Afro American art. He has a scholarship arranged by the Higher Education Opportunities Committee of Detroit.

President William Keefe welcomed Barry to his sister Faith's campus office during a brief ceremony Tuesday.

That evening, Barry confided that Evangelist Billy Graham, his hero because "Mr. Graham is trying to do something for the Christian world."

Barry, a high tenor, has sung on radio and television and has appeared at national Baptist conventions.

He gave his first recital for the Tabernacle Baptist church at the age of 4.

Barry's father is a Ford Motor Co. worker at sister Faith's plant. He is training at Bristol, Va., and will be commissioned Aug. 7.

Job Subsidy?

Evidence that the American system of welfare is still in its infancy abounds. The walls from many sources prove that. Now a new idea has been proposed in the White House. It is a cash subsidy for working fathers whose income is less than their requirements.

We have aid to families with dependent children. We have benefits for the hard-core jobless. We have benefits for unemployed. We are debating a minimum income plan. Until very recently, certain welfare payments were withheld from any family in which there was an able-bodied man, the so-called "man-in-the-house" rule.

Thus the appeal of a subsidy for a working father. Goal of the idea is to provide a way to strengthen family bonds and to promote work. Certainly we ought to know for sure that our welfare plans don't penalize workers. It is a novel notion and it just might be a useful one. We've done stranger things as an organized society—San Antonio (Tex.) Express

Crane's Worry Clinic:

Abe Kofman's Success Story

By GEORGE W. CRANE, PH.D., M.D.
CASE K-528: Abe Kofman is a live wire California newspaper publisher with several papers in the Oakland area of the state.

Last fall he invited me to come out as guest of his newspapers for a full day of speeches.

His son Mort took me to San Leandro High School where I spoke for 50 minutes to the Senior High Schoolers. My usual theme in such high school addresses deals with the value of completing their course and getting that diploma, plus going onward for at least one year of college, as at a leading Business College or Liberal Arts School.

I also include some dramatized rules for winning friends and avoiding the shepherlike stampede toward cigarettes and liquor with which TV now burges youth in almost half its commercials.

"Finally, I end with my 5-minute 'Logical Proof of God' to the school and college youth 'cut it up,' and have always given me tumultuous applause at over 1,000 high school convocations in various America.

In the afternoon, Abe Kofman introduced me at the Alameda High School, where the principal had typed off a list of over 20 questions on lively teen-age problems.

But Abe then took me to his home where his charming wife, Sarah, served a delicious meal that would rival a Thanksgiving banquet.

Mort and his wife were there, too, as was a second son, Kenneth.

As we visited prior to the main evening address, I found that Abe had started out in Boston at the age of 16 selling newspapers on a street corner!

The owner of the newspaper and magazine stand soon wanted to retire so he offered Abe his stand for $500.

Abe didn't have the money

Interpretive Report:

Nixon's Gauntlet Picked Up

By RICHARD WILSON
WASHINGTON, D.C. — A small group of senators at the critical age when the 40s merge into the 50s has decided to accept the challenge of President Nixon's speech at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs the validity of continued American leadership in the world.

Nixon asserted that the United States has been exercising its leadership in Greece, Korea, Lebanon, the Dominican Republic, and Vietnam.

The senatorial group, if it is saying anything, is asserting that these lines of American policy of 25 years' standing are no longer valid. We must drastically change our priorities, our aims and our concepts and scale down misguided functions of world leadership in favor of new domestic welfare programs.

The fall falls into familiar cliches: We can't police the world, there can be no Pax Americana. We are called by a military-industrial complex. We must pull back from our bases abroad, admit we have lost the Vietnam War, forget about our treaty commitments made during the age of post-omania, and in general comport ourselves in the world on a much reduced scale.

The senators involved, of course, reject in horror identification with Nixon's new isolationism or military disengagement. They even spare the military-industrial complex its lumps. But they advocate the pull-back just as Nixon has everywhere, in fact, except Israel.

It would be singularly unimportant to contend that what the new apostles and the old soothsayers are doing and saying has no significance. They certainly do represent the nationwide frustration over the Vietnam War, the anxiety over its cost diverting national resources from pressing domestic problems, and the yearning for some new and easier way to live in security in a dangerous world.

But none of them has ever put forward a plausible alternative. They oppose the ARM in the same breath that they bewail the fact that our defenses must be strong. They raise questions about the nuclear arms race, conveniently blinding the fact that Russia is rapidly getting ahead of us in nuclear strength. They bitterly complain of the fantastic "over-run" in estimates on the cost of new weapons systems without giving any consideration to findings that the U.S.S.R. is investing two to three times more in strategic military forces than the United States. And Russia is doing that with a gross national product that runs about half the gross national product of the United States. They demand peace in Vietnam without the faintest semblance of a practical way to bring that condition into being without unilateral and total withdrawal.

The senators and their colleagues from the other house have called a conference on the subject of new priorities, with Arthur Larson, director of the World Rule of Law Center at Duke University, as chairman. Arthur Larson is the author of a new forgotten doctrine called "new Republicanism" as an adviser to President Eisenhower.

But never could get it off the ground, probably because the new Republicanism wasn't based on the ideas of new priorities.

Domestic Comment:

John L. Lewis: He Helped

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The press has noted with some detail the battles won and lost by the late John L. Lewis, for 40 years head of the United Mine Workers.

The bloody battles of his youth were duly noted. But what was omitted in most accounts was the extraordinary philosophy of this man, who was in such great measure responsible for major changes in the status of labor in the stormy first half of this century.

This reporter years back had the opportunity of talking at some length with Lewis, at a time well after he had achieved his major successes. Unlike a great many labor leaders of his time, Lewis did not oppose automation. He encouraged it. He did not fight for make-work devices that would "save" jobs.

This attitude seems like common sense today in many circles. Then it was revolutionary. The more automation, the more jobs, Lewis reasoned. The greater the profit a company made, the higher the wages and other benefits he could ask for his men.

It doesn't matter, Lewis told this reporter, how much this automation cuts the force of miners. In the end, automation means more jobs somewhere in industry. It means better working conditions. "What I'm interested in is not how many millions there are, but how much the miners get."

Lewis got the money he asked for his miners. The coal industry in large part was modernized in his era at a quite considerable pace—at a time when, it will be recalled, some major labor industries were crying abandonment in their midst.

CHICAGO — In the last few years, talk of the White Sox attendance is some 10 per cent behind the turnstile figure for the first two months of last year. And last year's attendance, $60,775, was the lowest for the White Sox in 10 years, and would have been the lowest in 20 years had it not been for the 285,432 souls who showed up for the "home" games in Milwaukee. (But the White Sox had their poorest record in nearly 20 years, too.)

To add to the White Sox dilemma this year, their cross-town rivals, the Cubs, are up 70 per cent over their crowd figures for the first two months of 1968.

Arthur C. Allen, president of the White Sox, sat in his office on Wacker Drive and discussed his baseball problems. Behind him, a plaque is hung with the inscription: "To Arthur C. Allen — From the baseball fans of Milwaukee and Wisconsin in appreciation for the opportunity to enjoy Major League baseball."

"I have absolutely no intention of moving or selling the White Sox," said Allen. "I love the Sox. I love to love the Sox — as far as what's going on in the field. And I'll say to a friend, 'Do you want to buy a baseball team cheap?'"

"But it's always in jest. I live and die with the team owner," a few years ago. I asked him if he ever watched his team on television. He said, "No, I never turn on TV when the Cubs are playing. I get so wrought up and nervous it nearly kills me."

"I know where he speaks. It's too grueling to watch your team on television. I prefer seeing the games in person — it's maddening, but not so grueling. Maybe because you feel you're right there and can do something. You can, of course. Best of all is reading about the game in the papers. You can always take the paper and put it aside if you don't like to live in it."

"And he's something a lot of people don't realize: The owner of a professional sports team, in any sport, receives a rather negligible profit. That doesn't mean it's particularly unprofitable, either. But I don't think a man or a woman purchases a team to run big, direct profits. Baseball teams just don't charge enough for tickets, and the money return after all expenses is minimal compared to the amounts paid for clubs."

"So why do I, or other owners, stay in the game? One thing is that you develop a sentimentality for the club, for the bricks and mortar of the organization, and for the people who work with — from the players to the switch-board operators."

"Another reason is that being associated with a baseball team opens doors for other business interests. (Allen is also chairman of Armetel, a business conglomerate.) It is an intangible that cannot be translated into dollars. Some people just think that it is desirable to own a team, for some strange reason, and they like to mingle with owners."

"As for our so-called attendance problems — first of all, the weather has been horrible. But most important, we've just not played good ball. And that's the whole thing. You play well, you draw. It's that simple."

"Also, we need our own exciting player as a drawing card. We haven't had one since Minnie Minoso. We need someone the fans will adore, who the fans love. Ernie Banks. It must be a player who gives the impression of going all out at all times. And you can never predict who can capture the fans' imagination."

"Carlos May has the makings of such a player. So does Wait Williams. 'Pete' Ward. No one doesn't have the 'wait' Williams. He looks like the greatest player in the world when he's going good. But when he's going bad he looks like the worst player in the world. I mean, Babe Ruth looked great striking out, too."

Ryan Out To Set History

By JOHN VAN MOL
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Kansas miler Jim Ryan, winner in what his coach called a four-hour game of Russian roulette, was set for a try at history as the 48th National Collegiate Track and Field Championships opened here today.

That was the rub. If as many as 30 of the 40 initial entries decided to actually run in the three-mile event, officials said there would have been a quality field and it was scheduled only 15 minutes before the mile preliminaries.

Deltona 4's Feted

By MILDRED HANEY
The Deltona Sunday Night Mixed League officially ended the 1968-69 bowling season with a buffet style dinner at Otto's Hofbrau Haus in Sanford. The dinner was awarded by nearly ninety bowlers and guests. The big event of the evening was the awarding of the trophies to the high and low scorers of the year.

The Jaxers, captained by Mary Evelyn with husband John, and Paul and Pauline Rose, won the league championship. The Jaxers won 21 of the last 32 points to gain the championship by a slim two points over the runner-up. So it To Em's placed as runner-up, with Doug Lovell as team captain, wife Kathy, and Al and Sylvia Piritsky teammates. Finishing third were the Spooks, captained by Gladys Gramman with husband Ott and Russ and Goldie McCain, teammates. All three teams were presented with checks as their awards for the fine finish.

Order of finish of the other teams were Pinboppers, Stinkers, Pacemakers, Poorbirds, Toppers, Deans, Cyclones, Terribles, Soap-siders, Youngsters, Jet Layers, Duffers, Invaders, Wholly Bowlers, Kegler Kats, Hot-shots and Goodies.

Career Corner

Have Traveling Itch? Here's Scratch Sheet

By JOYCE LAIN

Miss Lain awards a Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Joe Gerreau, Jefferson, S.D.

"How about overseas careers? The idea seems tremendously attractive for the '60's knowledge' schooling with pay."

A — Most readers who inquire about jobs abroad already know about the advantages: new places, new faces, premium wages and possible tax benefits permitting overseas workers to bolster their nest-eggs within a few years.

So the essential question usually is: "How can I find a good job in a foreign country?"

Try American, in general, with U.S. employers (they pay better) and conduct your job search through (1) private companies, nonprofit organizations and government agencies that operate overseas; (2) private employment agencies or state employment service offices (3) classified ads in the larger newspapers and trade publications (4) professional societies and trade associations which operate placement services for their members.

Changing scores 21 is usual for the youngest age shipped out, except the Peace Corps which accepts 18-year-olds. There is often no upper age limit in government jobs, in private industry it varies with the employer.

You're asking for it if you fall to investigate the specific country before agreeing to go — even if premium wages are paid, they may not be adequate if living conditions are too expensive, not to mention the possibility of a Robinson Crusoe existence. If you can't talk with anyone who has actually been to the proposed country, write the country's consulate for information, including taxes imposed on foreign workers.

Foreign favor skills. What kinds of occupations are in demand? A surprisingly wide range, although many are technical, administrative, educational or clerical types. You'll probably have to sign an agreement to stay a minimum length of time, usually two years. To obtain a job with private industry or a nonprofit organization, your best bet is to choose one with extensive overseas operations. After you're hired, you can work your way up to international assignments. Career government employees usually get first crack at the best overseas jobs, but qualified newcomers have a chance too. For a list of overseas job-examination announcements, write the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C. 20415.

New State Chiefs Eyed

By JIM PURKIS

Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk says he does not question the qualifications of three men favored by the State Cabinet to head new departments being created under governmental reorganization.

But he made it clear Wednesday he still wants Don McKeljohn to head the department of general services and doesn't feel his cabinet colleagues have been talent hunting like they should.

In an interview, he also announced that he would like to see State Education Commissioner Floyd Christian of opposing McKeljohn's appointment because of a gaffe and of trying to "ramrod" appointments.

The Republican governor's comments indicated that he won't stand in the way of the following appointments, should these men — as expected — be nominated by the Cabinet.

Bill Reed, current commissioner of the Florida Bureau of Law Enforcement to head up the Department of Law Enforcement.

— Randolph Hodges, director of the Department of Conservation, to head the Department of Natural Resources. Kirk said that "he's a good enough man where you don't have to hunt around for someone else."

Ed Straight, head of the Revenue Commission, to be in charge of the Department of Revenue. "There's no question of his demonstrated ability to run the Revenue Department," Kirk said.

Two other departments, however, are still up in the air. They are General Services, and the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles.

Kirk wants McKeljohn, while the Cabinet's apparent preference is Chester Blakemore, currently chief executive assistant to Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner, Col. H. N. Kirkman, veteran director of the Department of Public Safety, is believed to be the Cabinet's selection for the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles.

DDT Foe Of Wildlife; Use Is Being Banned

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pesticide DDT, once hailed as the weapon which would give man dominance of his insect enemies, is being widely recast in the role of a villain. Many states are banning or sharply limiting its use.

Evidence is piling up that DDT is a foe of fish and bird life and thus poses a threat to the balance of nature.

What ultimate effect increasing doses of DDT and the related pesticides may have on the human body is unknown.

Jerry W. Fielder, state agriculture director of California, calls it "a hazard to man's natural environment."

Dr. Leslie L. Glasgow, an assistant secretary of the interior, says there is no doubt that high DDT levels inhibit the reproduction of fish and "it is time to replace DDT with less hazardous pesticides."

Bird experts say DDT threatens the existence of such as the bald eagle, the condor and the osprey.

DDT is a chlorinated hydrocarbon, a synthetic organic pesticide. One of the first of the insecticides, it was conceived as a moth preventative and used extensively against insects during and after World War II.

DDT and pesticides of its type are persistent—that is, they do not break down and dissipate readily.

Moreover, pesticides of the DDT family are cumulative, so that they tend to persist in bird or animal tissue in larger and larger amounts as subsequent doses are received.

As to the effect of the pesticide on man, a scientific team which made a study for the federal government reported to the Agricultural Department that "knowledge is incomplete."

However, health and wildlife authorities in a number of states feel that the risks from DDT are too dangerous to tolerate further.

Wife Also Charged In Theft Case

Miami Attorney Arrested

MIAMI (AP) — Ella Rubin, a 1966 candidate for state attorney general and defense lawyer in two controversial cases pending in Dade County, was charged Wednesday with perjury and conspiracy to commit grand larceny.

Contending that the charges were politically motivated, Rubin and his wife, Irene, surrendered to sheriff's deputies and were released on their own recognizance. His wife was named with him in the conspiracy charge.

They are accused of conspiring with two private investigators in an alleged attempt to take $300 from a legal client. Rubin's perjury charge stems from testimony involving the alleged conspiracy.

The charges were filed in Criminal Court by State Atty. Gordon Ollman, who was ordered to Miami by Gov. Claude Kirk in a job exchange that sent Richard Gerstein to Ollman's office in Leesburg. The charge was ordered pending disposition of perjury charges against two men who accused Gerstein of taking a bribe in 1960.

Rubin is defense attorney for the two men, Max Diamond and Howard C. Edwards. He also has agreed to represent Charles Celona, a former sheriff's deputy now charged with grand larceny. Information provided by Celona has touched off an investigation of alleged corruption in the county.

Kirk Is Dropout Of Jet Set?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk may have to drop out of the jet set and will probably have to loosen the split-second schedules he sometimes keeps on multi-city hops around the state.

There may be no jet for him to hop onto.

Kirk has been speeding around Florida at up to 450 miles per hour in a jet leased to the State Road Department for $97,000. He has been able to travel from his capitol offices to Miami in slightly more than an hour.

But the leasing of airplanes is forbidden under the billion-dollar appropriations act which Kirk allowed to become law on Wednesday.

"The lease planes will just have to go," said House Appropriations Chairman Ralph Turfington, D - Gainesville, noting that the state owns a total of 52 aircraft.

Secretary of State Tom Adams, State Comptroller Fred Dickinson and the Florida Industrial Commission also lease planes presently.

The money bill also forbids the purchase of any aircraft fancier than a twin-engine prop jet, which has a top cruising speed of about 250 miles per hour. That would mean Kirk's trips to Miami would take about 40 minutes longer.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a happily married woman with two children and a husband who handles successful and hard-working. While hanging up his coat last evening, a motel key (from a local motel) fell out of his coat pocket. Since we live right in town I wondered what he needed a motel room for, so I asked him. He told me that he has a lot of office business to take over with his secretary, and he can't very well take her out to lunch in public because she's a divorcee with quite a colorful past, and people might talk. So, since he values his reputation as a straight-laced family man, occasionally he rents a motel room, where he takes her for lunch and discusses business.

Abby, I've never had to do this. I'm not sure I want to think of this explanation? WONDERING: Tell your husband that you're more than a "talk" there would be more "talk" were people to learn that he rents a motel room in order to "talk" business with his secretary who has a colorful past.

DEAR ABBY: I know a widow in her seventies who is quite remarkable. (I'll call her "Aunt Mary.") Circumstances are such that this lady has had to make her home with her daughter for the last 10 years. Aunt Mary is active, cheerful and has a joy to be with. Best of all, she knows how to keep from being "in the way." Aunt Mary makes herself available to stay in the homes of parents who want a responsible adult there for week-ends or longer. She does this not so much for the money (which she can use, of course) but she likes to get out of her daughter's home for a while. I have even known her to spend her own money to go to a motel for a "few days" —saying she needs HER privacy, when it is really her wish to give her daughter's family their privacy.

What do you think of a woman like that? SALLY: DEAR SALLY: I think she deserves to be nominated "mother of the year."

DEAR ABBY: How my husband has put up with me for 25 years I'll never know. All these years I thought I had married an over-sexed man, but now I have to admit there was nothing wrong with him. It was me. I'm frigid.

If mothers would only teach their daughters how to do things right, I would do them more good than learning how to cook and keep house. All these years I have kept a spotless home, and even washed my stamp, self-addressed envelope, and took care of my garden, but what my husband needed was ME. I'm sorry, Abby, but I foolishly turned my back on him. We are of modern means, but we have never

GENERAL TENDENCIES—There are so many conflicting influences at work now. Each person is convinced that he, or she, is right. It is absolutely necessary that you hold steady in the settlement you have built up, otherwise others will try to take advantage of you. You manage best now through being diplomatic and subtle.

LEARNED TOO LATE—DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years and have wanted to write and comment on some of the letters and your replies, and now I finally have a reason.

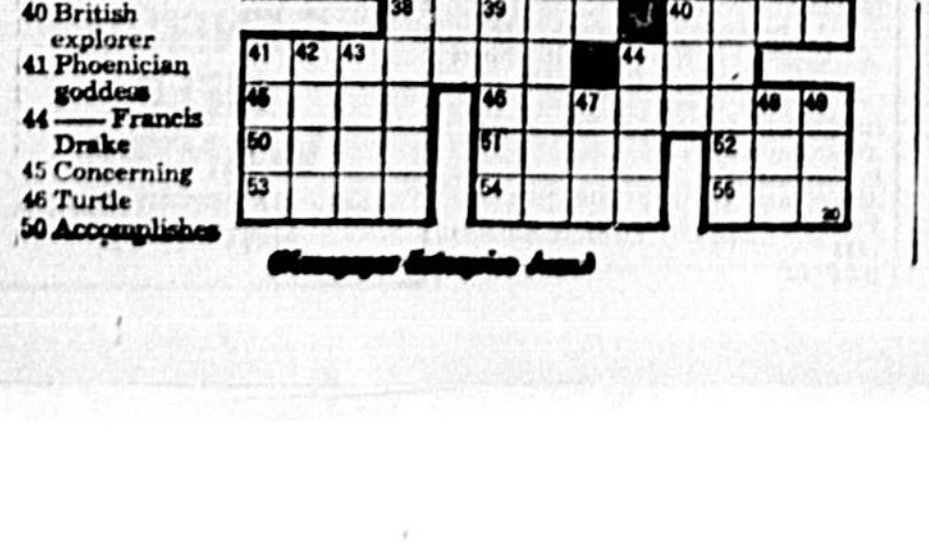

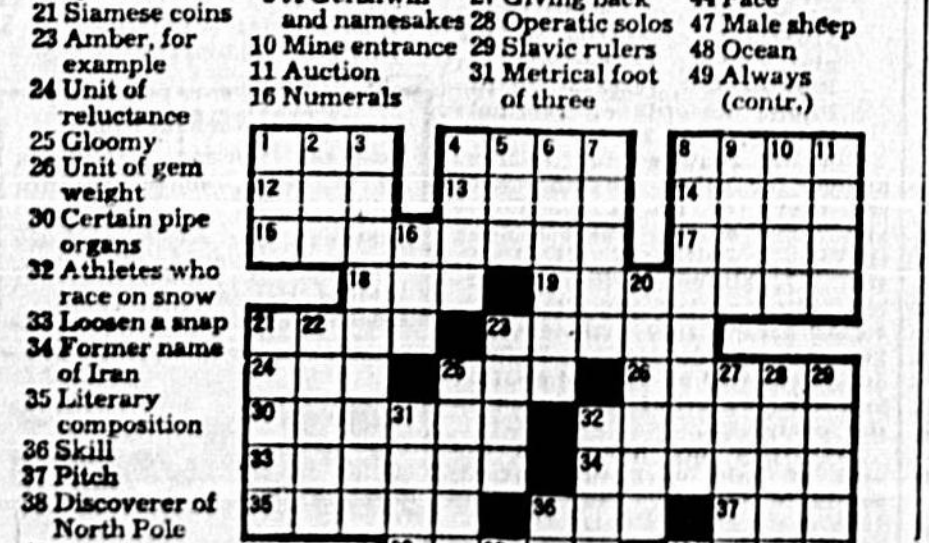

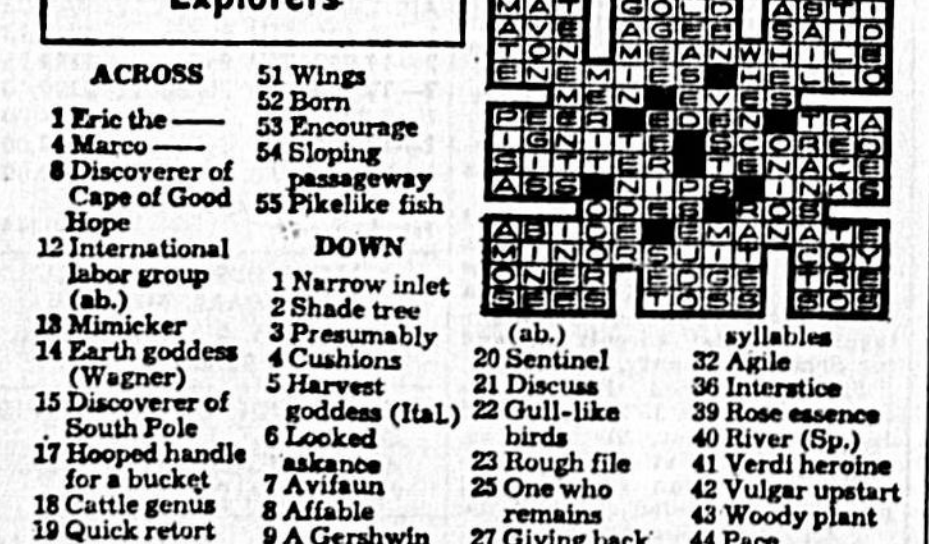

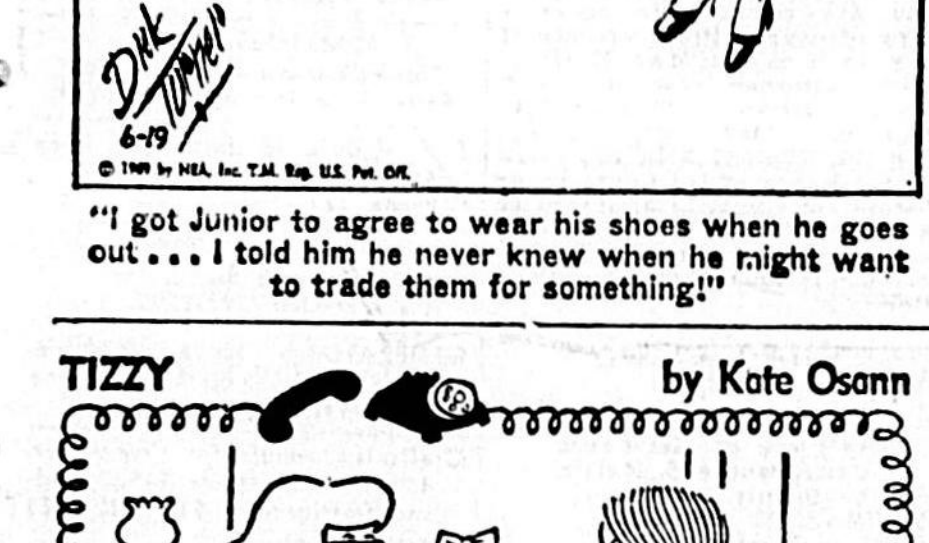

I recently came across an article on "ANTIQUES" published in TIME magazine, May 2, 1968. With it appeared a picture of a couple serving SOUP from an antique CHAMBER POT!

No doubt these are the same people who objected so strenuously to bathing babies in the kitchen sink. R. W. H.: Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Write on separate sheet of paper, self-addressed envelope. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Write Letters for All Occasions.

Today's monotony was dealt in a simple duplicate game at the Naval Officers Club at Kaneohe in the Hawaiian Islands sometime during World War II.

South was an expert temporarily wearing a Navy uniform. The rest of the field were playing duplicate for the first or second time.

There was a sort of shocked silence from the gallery when the expert opened with a more silence when he rebid only five diamonds. There was considerable laughter when everyone sawed. The expert made the same 13 tricks that anyone else would have made.

Needs to say everyone wanted to know how the expert could have overlooked the ed that the type of mind that caused a man to be a naval aviator (Kaneohe was a naval air station) would also cause him to refuse to sell out to a vulnerable grand-slam bid when not vulnerable himself.

The expert pointed out if he had opened with two diamonds and jumped to seven later on, and even opened with seven, his opponents would be likely to sacrifice. That he had scored 640 for five diamonds with two ace tricks (honors don't count in duplicate) and that all he could get against seven spades or hearts would be 506.

There was enough in the East-West pair were unlucky. The aviators at the other tables were all high-fliers and minus 400 East bid when not vulnerable himself.

You will find you can gain the favor of those who are in power. Be sure you pay your rival's bills. Buy those inventive gadgets that make life easier.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Put those ideas to work a little later on. Although they are fine, others are not in the mood to cooperate right now. Gather the information you need. Do some deep studying on that plan.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Many responsibilities are ahead of you. Attend to them, although you would rather be out with one of your like through with promises. Work diligently during day. Take it easy tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Carry through with your present set-up with partners. Don't contemplate any changes until the planets are in a better position. Study that irritation that presents itself. Get out and have some fun tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those young people who feels that every argument has to end in fistfights. Teach to be more reasonable and urge to try to compromise for best results. A good chart for those professions where physical action and stamina are prime requirements. Any troubleshooting work is also very good. Teach ideas early so that your progeny lives a good, profitable and happy life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Beauty after Forty by Edyth Thomson McLeod

The fashion world is intrigued with eye-glasses. They are now high fashion. This is great for those who wear eye-glasses, "the better to see you, my dear."

There is a new fashion of one pair of frames in silver or tortoise shell (fake) and then several pairs of lenses in different colors, so now, match your eyes to your lipstick, and it is fun.

The enormous lens worn by the teen age set are strangely enough catching on with more mature people and they are becoming a fashion.

Dark glasses became a fashion first in Hollywood and a spread and spread. I am sure you almost never see women without dark glasses. If you want to read with them, have them made to your prescription.

TV Time Previews

THURSDAY, JUNE 19, 1969

8:30 p.m. CBS, The Prisoner. (Color) (Rerun) To preserve a peaceful, happy and democratic image, the mysterious powers that be announce that elections will be held to fill the influential position of No. Two. The prisoner is persuaded to run for the post, and receives the support of incumbent No. Two, heretofore his enemy. But the prisoner gets a glimpse of the real nature of village democracy during an episode that just before the elections, he's captured. Excellent, as always.

8:30-9:30 p.m. NBC, Ironside. "Why The Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club Met On Thursday." (Color) (Rerun) Jesse Royce Landis guests on the club's elderly Aunt Sophie, who's convinced one of her bridge club girls has been murdered. Ironside, to pacify her, questions the missing body's husband. He's just about to conclude that his aunt's touch sense, when the sight of the old cowering a young girl gives him second thoughts. A fine one, both in plot and characterization.

8:30-9:30 p.m. ABC, Bewitched. "Samantha the Bard." (Color) (Rerun) Samantha has a desperate ailment: everything she says comes out in rhyme. Think she's too bad that, when she cannot reach Dr. Bombay, husband Darin actually agrees to let mother-in-law Endora diagnose her case. It's one long, silly, but well extended joke.

9:11 p.m. CBS, Thursday Night. "The Hellcats." (Color) (1962) Starring Richard Todd and Anne Aubrey, Jamie Uys, Marty Wild, James Bandy and John Jephth, who's convinced one of her bridge club girls has been murdered. Ironside, to pacify her, questions the missing law and order in Saunders Post, a small community that's overrun by a family of bandits named Billings. It's a predictable, simple-minded, but a praiseworthy, simple-minded, but you may find some entertainment in a 15-minute featurette based on Brown and Martin's eagerly awaited.

9:10 p.m. ABC, This Is Tom Jones. (Color) (Rerun) Jerry Brannan's Tom Jones, The Fifth Dimension, Terry

Thomas, plus Britain's best-footed singing sensation, Sandie Shaw and top rock group Julie Driscoll and Brian Auger and The Trinity.

NY Mayor Lindsay Getting Top Support

By CARL F. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Five leading Senate Republicans moderates say they still support New York Mayor John V. Lindsay for re-election and that his political future will remain bright if he wins in November.

Declaring continued backing for Lindsay despite his loss in Tuesday's GOP city primary were Sens. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland and the two New York senators, Jacob K. Javits and Charles E. Goodell.

Although he lost to conservative State Sen. John Marchi in the Republican primary, Lindsay will be on the ballot for re-election as the Liberal party candidate.

Goodell, calling Lindsay "a Republican symbol of urban commitment nationally," predicted "almost a nonpartisan election," with many leading New York Democrats supporting Lindsay.

But Percy said he was "most disappointed." Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Wednesday night in Pittsburgh the Nixon administration would support Marchi.

Earlier, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said a Nixon would not comment on the election.

A number of those on the list, including Sens. Charles Percy of Illinois and Hugh Scott and Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania, declined to take an immediate stand.

But Percy said he was "most disappointed." Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Wednesday night in Pittsburgh the Nixon administration would support Marchi.

Earlier, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said a Nixon would not comment on the election.

A number of those on the list, including Sens. Charles Percy of Illinois and Hugh Scott and Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania, declined to take an immediate stand.

Thieves Are Exploiting The Ghetto Poor

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The first round of Senate hearings into violence in the nation has ended with testimony from two defectors from the Black Panther party that the Black Power organization has degenerated into a cult of thieves exploiting the ghetto poor.

Powell, 25, sat in the committee room wearing a solid-black uniform complete with beret, and carrying a copy of the red-covered volume, "The Quotations of Chairman Mao," and calmly described how he became a member of the "Panthers" Elite Squad and Black Guard because of deeds "such as sniping missions, dynamite runs," carrying of various weapons and disciplinary actions.

His mini-skirted 25-year-old wife, nervously smoking cigarette after cigarette, said the senators teen-agers are used to commit murder for the party, small children are ordered to steal and "Even teen-agers are used by party members for their own satisfaction even though they are 14 and 15 years old."
