The manner in which the leader of the Republican party handled this is illuminating. An anecdote which was going the rounds in New England when we were reporting there comes to mind.

It seems the night was a miserable nor'easter blowing across Cape Cod, A stranded traveler saw a light in the second story of a house in Buzzards Bay. Banging on the door he roused the goodman, who poked his head out of a second-story window and asked: "What you want?" "To stay here tonight," came the answer, "O.K., said the Yankee slamming down the window." Stay there!"

"No Fault" Law

Automobile owners in Florida are starting out with a new concept of liability insurance which is commonly termed "No Fault."

Reduced to the simplest language this means that if a Florida registered automobile and the people riding in it are hurt in a collision, the losses will be paid at once and without the delay of litigation by the insurance company with which the owner is insured.

In other words the losses will be met without the litigation which has always accompanied such accidents where the question of "fault" had to be decided by the involved process of

Thus, every motorist should be sure, and be sure right now, that he has "no fault" liability insurance. Those who have been wise enough to so insure prior to the new law have no reason to be other than contented.

But if there are those who still believe that they can operate on Florida highways without liability insurance until their first accident, they are wrong and wrong in spades.

There is no second chance. There is no warning. There is no way out. Loss of registration and driver's license is almost a certainty if the un-insured vehicle becomes involved in an This is much too high a price for anyone to pay. That is why we raise our voice in warning and urge everyone to be sure, and to let their friends (or foes) be aware of the very bad case they would be in if they fail to insure. As this now approach to solving the tangle of automobile liability insurance gets underway, it is not only fair but it is absolutely essential that the car owners do their part. Motorcyclists and commercial car owners Presidential Sweepstakes ire, under the present law exempt from the "no fault" law, but are still liable under the state law requiring hability insurance. Next year this oversight will be plugged. Smart owners will plug their oversight right now!
