VOLUME XLV Established 1902

VICE PRESIDENT RICHARD M. NIXON (right), after addressing the 40th annual Governor's Conference at Belmont Landing, N. Y., stops for a talk with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. The Vice President, speaking for President Eisenhower, declared that the nation needs a ten-year, $50 billion highway program to provide a safe, modern interstate network of roads. He urged the states to endorse the plan. (International)

Dulles Says Formula Reached Against Reds

States Paris Talks Have Resulted In Better Indochina Understanding

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles returned from three-power talks at Paris today saying "we have found a formula for constructive Allied unity" which will strengthen the anti-Communist position at negotiations on Indochina peace.

Dulles flew to Paris Monday night and held emergency consultations with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Premier Mendes-France. One of his decisions was that Undersecretary of State W. Bedell Smith should go to the Geneva conference to participate in the final round of talks with the Reds on Indochina.

Violent Winds Lash NE States; 5 Known Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—Northeastern states got a stunning one-two punch yesterday and last night from record heat followed by a scorching summer storm. As a result, at least six deaths were counted, plus property damage in the millions.

Five fatalities were recorded in New England, and one in New York City. However, the worst property damage appeared to be in New Jersey and upstate New York.

The forms late last night were marked by violent winds of near-hurricane velocity at times, torrential rain, hail and lightning. Hundreds of homes were damaged, many by toppled trees. Thousands of others lost their electrical and telephone services because of snapped wires. Many crops suffered.

Hardest hit of all spots, evidently was the village of Penn Yan in New York's Yates county.

Mayor Lewis A. Gracy said winds of tornadic proportions caused damages to at least 500 homes. He estimated losses at $15 million dollars.

Thousands of automobiles parked outdoors throughout the northeast were dented and scarred by wind-blown objects.

City Truck, Auto Are In Collision

A collision between an automobile driven by Robert Campbell McOlin, 63, and a city street sweeper resulted in damages of $275 to McOlin's auto yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Sanford Ave. and 29th St., according to a police report.

Palm Arnold Williams and Sgt. R. W. Trench filed a charge of careless and negligent driving against the car-owner who came to a complete stop on 29th St., but moved forward again failing to give right-of-way to the truck driven by Sam Hutto, according to the report. Damage to the truck was minor.

Williams' report said: "At 1:30 p.m. Donald Erling Ross, FASRON 51 SNAAS, kidded his 1934 model sedan and crashed into a building on the northeast corner of Park Ave. and 23th St., causing about $100 damage to the structure. It was reported by investigating officers Leo Rock and W. R. Costello.

Ross, who was making a left turn when his vehicle went out of control, was charged with careless and negligent driving, according to a report.

W. W. Kimmel Dies In West

William Wallace Kimmel, 75, of Orlando, Fla., died recently at his home after an illness that extended over an eight-year period.

A native of Brooklyn, N. Y., he lived in Hampden, Mass., for many years, later moving to Sanford, Fla., where he resided for five years before going to Ontario 12 months ago.

During his lifetime he was a special police officer at Springfield, Mass., and a member of Equity Council No. 96, Royal Arcanum for 38 years.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Martha C. Kimmel, he is survived by a step-sister, Mrs. Ruth I. Smith of Hollywood, Calif., and a step-brother, Avery Kimmel, of Mamaroneck, N. Y.

His body was returned to Springfield, Mass., for funeral services and burial.

MEETING SCHEDULED

Armed Services Oust 80 Members Following Security Investigations

CRASH LANDING—The carrier attack type plane shown above was crash-landed yesterday afternoon in rough country about 10 miles west of Ft. Belknap. The pilot, Lt. A. H. Helm, who made a "belly-land" landing in a clearing, was not injured, according to Lt. W. W. Brown, USAF, of the 44th Tactical Fighter Wing, based at the base. The plane was damaged, but the pilot reported engine trouble. Within approximately 10 minutes after the crash, the plane was towed to the base. Helm was taken to the base hospital and was in good condition. The crash landing did not badly damage the plane, Helm said. (Staff Photo)

SRD Personnel To Aid Collins In Study For Highway Building

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The assistance of key professional personnel of the State Road Department in studying road matters will be carried out by SRD personnel, according to a report by the department's chief executive officer.

Head Chairman Carl Webb has given formal approval to a request from Collins for the assistance of key professional personnel of the State Road Department in studying road matters with chief engineer Robert T. Gaulton, director of Revenue Projects, Ralph M. Hartsfield, Traffic and Planning Engineer, Meritt G. Auld, and W. A. Williams and Richard A. Fred McMillen.

In his successful campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination which virtually assured him of becoming chief executive July 1, Webb said the last two years of the department's work has been a "period of reorganization and re-evaluation of the highway policy of the state."

He stressed the need of building roads on a basis of need rather than political considerations, development of an arterial highway system linking major population centers, with future development of limited access features on some highways, protection of professional employees against political pressure, and staggered terms for road board members to insure continuity in highway policies.

In asking Webb's permission to consult with key professional personnel of the road department, Collins said the department's professional employees are "among those best qualified to discuss possible changes that could be adopted to effect sound and good results."

He sought Webb's authority for the consultation, "so there will be no implications that by their (Continued on Page Four)

Report 392 Cases Pending

Figures Given SASC At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The three armed services reported to Congress today they now have 392 security cases pending and that 80 members of the armed forces have been discharged in the last four months as a result of security investigations.

The figures were given the Senate Armed Services Committee at a public hearing called to look on the results of new procedures adopted by the Defense Department last spring to handle security rights matters.

Secretary of Defense Charles A. Wilson reported that 392 cases were pending and 80 members of the armed forces were discharged in the last four months as a result of security investigations.

The discharge figures were given since March 1, 1951, when Wilson last reported to the committee.

Some of the discharges were of reserve personnel on active duty, but there was no full breakdown on that.

Wilson reported that the Navy has discharged 114 members favorably to the individual.

Douglas said the Air Force has discharged 100 members in favor of the individual, and two states has returned members but with orders requiring them to "desensitize" files.

There were no comparable figures for the Army.

7 U. S. Soldiers Released By Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven American soldiers held in Communist North Vietnam today crossed the border to freedom today at noon after 14 days of captivity.

The seven soldiers, who were captured in a battle near the border, were turned over at West German reach border point where American Red Cross correspondents were on hand to greet them.

The seven were met by a detachment from the 1st Air Command, Armored Cavalry, which was stationed along the 14th parallel.

An Army spokesman said earlier that after a routine investigation, "it is probable that the soldiers were held in a stockade."

The seven were brought to the base in a truck, and as they climbed out of the truck, they were greeted and hugged, but in good health.

It is not clear how long the soldiers were held in the stockade, but it is reported they had been held for 14 days.

The seven were brought to the base in a truck, and as they climbed out of the truck, they were greeted and hugged, but in good health.

Strolling In Sanford

The Farmers Home Administration will hold a county committee training school in Sanford Tuesday, July 17, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The school will be held in the Seminole County Court House. The F.H.A. committee members from Seminole County expected to attend are William P. Chapman and Henry Wright of Sanford and Cader S. G. of Geneva. The Farmers Home Administration makes farm loans to family type farmers who are unable to obtain needed financing from other sources. The Sanford office serves Seminole, Volusia, Brevard, Orange and Volusia counties.

Trio At Large After Escaping From Polk Jail

BARTOW (AP)—Three prisoners broke out of Polk County jail last night and Sheriff Pat Gordon said he will prefer charges against a trusty who helped them.

Those at large are Raymond E. Tilghman, Tampa; Jasper R. Cotton, 28, unburdened, and Charles J. Higgins, alias, Indigo, 27, Lake Wales. They ripped out a vent pipe in a cell and crawled through the opening.

Sheriff Gordon said Cecil C. Bagwell, the trusty, admitted assisting them. He was arrested at 8 o'clock last night but did not report it. A jailer made the two at 6 o'clock last night without warning.

The sheriff said Bagwell also caused damages to at least 500 homes. He estimated losses at $15 million dollars.

Thousands of automobiles parked outdoors throughout the northeast were dented and scarred by wind-blown objects.

Jailer J. P. Morris said Tilghman was awaiting a new trial on a charge of burglarizing a Lake Wales supermarket and that Cotton and Higgins were awaiting trial on charges of escaping from the jail previously after convictions of breaking and entering.

Bagwell had pleaded guilty to a forgery charge and was in jail here while a probation investigation was being made. Morris said.

State Armory Board Gets 40,000 Acres At Camp Blanding

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill providing 40,000 federally owned acres of Camp Blanding, Fla., sprawling World War II infantry training center to the Florida Armory Board for National Guard training was signed yesterday by President Eisenhower.

The federal government retained the right to use the land, and 31,000 acres of pine saw reservation are ready owned by Florida, in periods of national emergency.

The bill permits Florida to dispose of timber and mineral interests after reaching an agreement with the secretary of the army regarding the management of these resources and the sharing of any residual revenue by Florida and the United States.

The bill also provides for the transfer of the 40,000-acre area to the Florida Armory Board, which will produce 16,242,000 board feet of pine saw timber, $158,000 board feet of pine-hardwood saw timber and 110,703 cords of pulpwood valued in excess of $1 million dollars.

Returned to Death
STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Pfc. Herkman Maxwell, of 415 13th St. Bradenton, Fla., and two Germans he was with were killed in a collision Sunday, the U. S. Army announced today.

Maxwell was killed in a tax when it was struck from the rear by an auto containing U. S. soldiers. The gas tank on the taxi exploded and enveloped it in flames. The taxi driver, a woman passenger, and Maxwell were burned to death.

Boys Charged With Burning 'Yankee' Airmen With Cigs

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Police and Air Force authorities investigating a series of attacks here on "Yankee" military personnel charged four teen-agers yesterday with burning an airman with lit cigarettes.

The arrests followed a series of attacks reported in incidents since July 23 in which Northern airman stationed at nearby Maxwell and Gunter Air Force bases have clashed with local youths.

James E. Hunter of Harbor Beach, Mich., an airman from Gunter, said he was held and burned with cigarettes Saturday night by a group of teenagers called the "Yankees" during an argument over racial segregation.

The four youths arrested yesterday admitted "burning" cigarettes against Hunter's arm but said he urged them to do it as a "test of guts."

Beats from cigarette burns were also found on the arms of two of the young civilians, police said.

The boys were identified as Benjamin C. Vann, 18; John Lewis Craven, 18; Bobby Towns, 17; and John Cook, 18. They were released in $100 bond each pending a hearing tomorrow on charges of assault and battery.

The Air Force identified two of the airman attached in other incidents as Robert W. Flah Jr., of Glendale, N. Y., and Raymond L. Hiddell of Leesport, Wash.

Police Commissioner Dora Birmingham threatened to revoke a 9 p. m. curfew ordinance for juveniles unless the attacks are halted.

King-sized Telegram
When E. A. Kilpatrick opens his new bank in Lakeland next week he'll receive the giant reproduction of a telegram pictured above which contains 83 signatures of Sanford Kiwanians. Kilpatrick is former president of the Florida State Bank here and will head the Lakeland Western Bank. The huge congratulatory message was an idea of Edward E. Lane (right), past lieutenant governor of Florida, shown with Lane is Lester Tharp, local Western Union manager, who is a past president of the civic organization. The drawing will be delivered by the Lakeland Western Union manager along with the actual telegram during an opening ceremony for the new bank. (Staff Photo)

Amateur Sailors Rescued From Raft In Stormy Sea
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five men and one woman, captured sailing in a raft from San Francisco last Friday, ended their ordeal 65 hours after the Coast Guard rescued an urgent SOS that the craft was sinking.

The five men and one woman were rescued after four days of private searching and two days of radio appeal by the raft's ailing radio operator, Don Smith of Santa Rosa, is taken from the raft.

The raft was found to drift 2,000 miles southwest to Hawaii, skippered by Denver Baker, a Mormon preacher, they took no food or water. They hoped to catch fish and are using solar still to make sea water drinkable.

The raft drifted south instead of southwest.

News Of Ill-Doing To Children Over Nation Warrants Caution

News from over the nation in recent weeks dealing with ill-doing toward children should be ample warning to parents of Sanford to take extra precautions for the safety of their children.

While these instances of harm to children have been scattered, it doesn't mean

A-Bomb Tests Continue

The United States intends to continue tests of atomic weapons in the Pacific. Our government has assured inhabitants of atolls which may be affected that every precaution will be taken to assure their safety.

There has been some adverse international opinion on continuation of tests of these weapons in the Pacific. But the policy of our government seems to be the only one possible. We must continue to build new weapons as long as our own safety and the safety of our allies depends upon our strength. If we are to use these weapons effectively in our defense we must know their power and their limitations. This can only be determined by tests.

Some of the countries that have asked that our tests be curtailed have been remarkably quiet about the hydrogen and atomic tests conducted by the Soviet. It is expensive and unpleasant for us to be so concerned with how to use these dreadful weapons. But the tension and the danger of the days in which we live is not of our making. We can only take a realistic and intelligent approach to the problem of how to survive and protect our liberties.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Whoever believeth on him shall not perish, but have eternal life.—John 3:16, 16. Behold I stand at the door and knock. If we believe that and say COME IN and say I in faith and sincerity and stick to it, we will banish the animal nature and become indeed new creatures fit for eternity.

Says City Best Place In Summer

NEW YORK (AP)—The best place to spend the summer now is in the city.

Let a friend of mine explain why. "I live in an air-conditioned apartment and work in an air-conditioned office," he said. "I've figured out a way to get to and from work in 23 minutes a day. That means I have to spend only 2 hours and 45 minutes outdoors from Monday through Friday.

"On Friday evening I put on my pajamas and hibernate in them until Monday morning. I won't have to worry about the heat, or mosquitoes, or sunburn, or stepping on cokebricks.

"By staying home I save money, catch up on all the books I want to read, I have even had time to get acquainted with my wife—imagine that, after all these years—and she has turned out to be a pretty interesting fellow, now that we don't have all those quarrels about where to go for the summer and how to get there.

"He'd be a happy guy except for one thing. He put it in one word: 'Commuters.'

"Some of our friends who own country places and used to insist about where to go for the weekend," he complained, "now want to come and visit us in the city. They've heard about how pleasant and restful it is to spend a weekend in the city. I wish I knew what to do about it.

"So I told him what to do about it. Give 'em the same kind of time in the city as they gave you in the country.

"The suburban nature lovers justify a weekend guest from the city for two reasons, generally: 1. They actually are miserably lonely in their brilliant echoing dale in the wilderness, and misery loves company.

2. They are afraid their boring country neighbors will drop over, and hope the guest from the city has a personality reserve enough to frighten the neighbors away.

Using the same tactics, here is how the happy city dweller can repel an invasion of human locusts seeking relief from the discomforts of the summer in the country.

1. When they arrive, announce that your air-conditioner has broken down and that means a weekend in Hades, as you have the hottest apartment in town.

2. Ask if they will please take a shower while you vacuum clean their clothing, and explain politely, "We know you are all right, but some suburbanites bring more wood ticks into the city than an Airedale."

3. Tell them you've invited the neighbors over, and add cheerily, "You'll love them but Joe does card tricks, and Maude likes to keep a party going until dawn. Anyway I'll be so hot you won't be able to sleep."

4. At dinnertime you set up a barbecue grill in the dining room and announce, "There's nothing like the taste of hot dogs grilled over charcoal indoors." But be sure to put the charcoal on top the grill and the hot dogs beneath it. When your lighter fails to light the hot dogs and set them aflame, when the charcoal is unevenly cooked on both sides, put a chunk in a bun, and serve. If your country guests don't like to eat pure charcoal, dab on a little mustard.

5. Put a few sharp-pointed pine branches between the mattress and the sheets of your guests' bed, so they won't miss that winking glow.

6. Just before they creep quietly to bed hand them bottles of mosquito repellent, and warn them to use it liberally. As soon as they fall asleep put a record of "Flight of the Bumblebee" on the phonograph and play it over and over. This is real psychology. They'll twist and groan and sweat at the empty air, or howl.

When they do climb sleepless from the sack, they'll claim, "You've been nice, but we'd better catch the next train back home, every kind home sick for the country."

They're sure to be in to visit you, but we're sure to be in to visit them. As they are they are you turn on the air-conditioner and the heat goes off. You'll see they brought word of it once around you'll have your cool ivory tower in the city and for the rest of the summer.

Treatments Can Relieve An Incurable Skin Rash

By HERMAN H. BUSHNELL, M.D.

THOUGH the cause is unknown, and the condition incurable, there is, nevertheless, relief from the periodic outbreaks of psoriasis.

Although psoriasis primarily affects the skin, it can affect the joints, as well as other parts of the body.

Most Common Sites

It may occur anywhere on the body, but appears most frequently on the elbows, knees, scalp, and feet. It may involve one single area or much of the body surface.

The skin rash is usually made up of little red plaques that gradually increase in size and grow together. There may be much scaling. Often, the rash starts at the center, but grows outward.

Temporary Relief

The patient who is willing to cooperate fully can usually be relieved completely temporary relief from the condition.

Before treatment is started, however, accurate diagnosis should be secured to insure the proper kind of treatment.

Of course, the person should be advised to avoid all known causes of psoriasis, such as sunburn, cold, and stress.

Psoriasis patients should be life-saving in many instances.

under the care of a physician who can prescribe certain elements which contain salicylic acid, as well as coal tar preparation.

Internal treatment of psoriasis is also undertaken. Small doses of arsenic, which must be taken under a physician's direction, can help. Sunshine or ultraviolet rays are used.

Recently, it was shown that Vitamin B<sub>12</sub>, or riboflavin, can be helpful, too.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS

Q. G.: What is the first-aid treatment for a reliable later?

A. Answer: As soon as a reliable later has been discovered, a tourniquet should be placed above the bite and tied tight enough to retard the blood flow through the vein.

The tourniquet should be released every five minutes to maintain circulation in the part bitten.

Several small cuts are made around the fang marks and strong suction should be applied to draw out any toxin present at the wound.

Of course, the person should be advised to avoid all known causes of psoriasis, such as sunburn, cold, and stress.

Psoriasis patients should be life-saving in many instances.

There is a particular epidemic of evil in any particular place, but it does mean that a thing could happen about anywhere. Here, for instance.

In looking after the safety of our children, care should be taken that they are properly educated about association with strangers. Also, they should always be accounted for, and should be asked about friends with whom they have been playing. Care should be taken in locking doors.

Suspicious actions of a person, or peculiar happenings should be reported to police and to neighbors.

We haven't had any such trouble here in this current outbreak. Let's not let it happen

New Frontiers

A frontier town to Americans suggests the type often shown in Western films, with streets filled with gun-brandishing cowboys and half of the buildings saloons. Anyone with this picture in mind would not recognize Yellowknife, the chief town of the Canadian Northwest Territories and the product of the discovery of gold in the neighborhood.

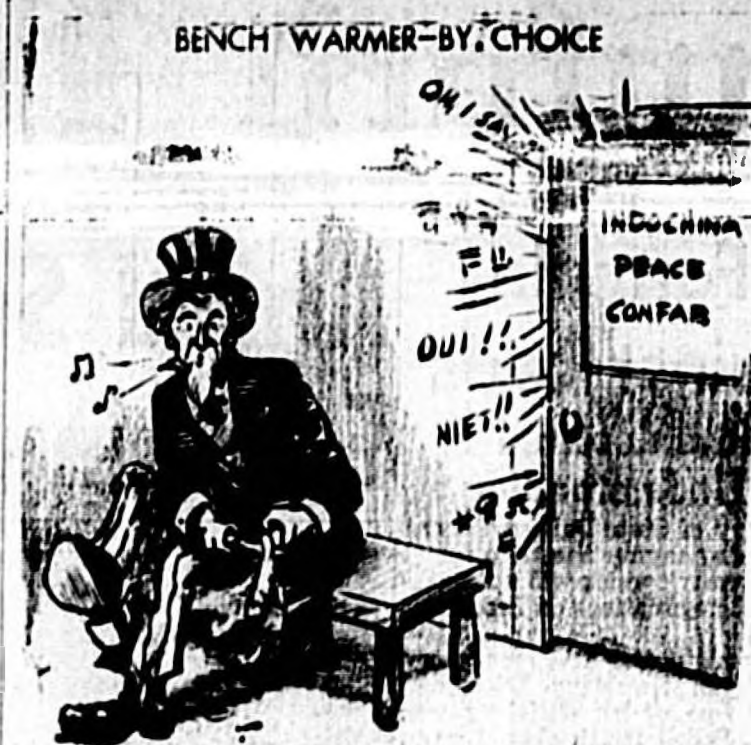

Though it has but 3,000 inhabitants, this town on the north shore of the Great Slave Lake has a hotel with cocktail lounge, a golf course, said to be the northernmost in the continent and a hospital. It even has water and sewage systems, although the ground is permanently frozen not far below the surface.

The time may not be far off when students will do advanced work at Yellowknife University. What would the pioneers have said to that?

The Key Word

A business leader said this the other day: "We need more frank and basic discussion in defense of private capitalism — not in terms of bath tubs and washing machines, but in terms of sound fundamentals." If that can be achieved on a big enough scale, he continued, civic meetings and social gatherings "no longer would be ready-made platforms for the promulgation of ideas and theories alien to human liberty."

The material fruits of the capitalist system—the bath tubs and washing machines and everything else—are enormously important. They mean that our living standards are the envy of the world. But those fruits are the result of something still more important, which can be described in the single word freedom. The implications of that word need discussion and understanding.

Cdr. Goodwin New VJ-62 CO; Cdr. Klenk Goes To Washington

The command of VJ-62 at the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station has been changed, with Cdr. Herbert Klenk going to Washington, D. C., and Cdr. Jack Goodwin filling his place.

Among those attending the change of command ceremony last week were Capt. R. O. Greene, chief of staff, COMFAIR, Jacksonville, station personnel and their families, and representatives from North American Airlines.

Cdr. Klenk has been transferred to duty with the Bureau of Aeronautics in Washington.

Cdr. Goodwin began his Naval career as an aviation cadet, taking elimination basic training at Squantum Naval Air Station in Squantum, Mass., following which he went to Pensacola for flight training. He was commissioned an aviator in 1941.

He remained at Pensacola as a flight instructor until February of 1943, at which time he was transferred to Lake City for fleet operational training. He then proceeded to the Pacific area, serving with Fleet Air Wing 6, VB-60, and VB-142. After a two-year period in the Pacific, he was transferred to the Naval Air Technical Training Command at West Island, Corpus Christi, Tex., where he served as operations officer.

In 1946, he was sent to photographic school in Pensacola, and upon completion of this school and operational training, relieved Cdr. Klenk as executive officer of VJP-2, then the east coast photographic squadron. During the 30 months in this squadron, he served as officer-in-charge of several aerial surveys in Central and South America.

After this duty, he relieved Cdr. Klenk as superintendent of the

JAMES MARLOW Ike Says Likes Legislative Results

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower today said he was pleased with the results of the legislative program he had set in motion.

The president said he was particularly pleased with the results of the tax law and a housing act.

The Senate gave Eisenhower most of what he wanted on housing; authority to build 35,000 public units a year for four years; continuing government's use of loans on homes; and use of one billion dollars for slum clearance.

The House, which had acted ahead of the Senate, wanted no part of the 35,000 public housing units. Whether the House will yield now and go along with the Senate is not known.

Passed by one house and therefore not law unless the other also approves:

The 3 1/2 billion dollar foreign aid bill; the farm bill; the wire-tapping bill; and the social security bill.

The House has passed the foreign aid bill. The Senate hasn't voted yet. But it seems pretty sure Eisenhower will get it. It is a check of the 3 1/2 billion dollars he asked.

What Eisenhower asked for and what he got are quite different. The president's program for housing, for example, is a far cry from the bill that the House passed. The bill would have authorized the construction of 35,000 public housing units a year for four years. The House wanted no part of the 35,000 public housing units. Whether the House will yield now and go along with the Senate is not known.

WIN PENDLETON

SUMMER TRIP—Congressman Bob Sikes left Friday for Caracas, Venezuela, where he will act as special representative for the U.S. State Department at the Pan American Hemisphere conference there this week. He has also been designated as observer for the House Appropriations Committee and will study Inter-American highway problems and U. S.-Latin American relations.

SUMMER APPOINTMENT—The well publicized "bill" that was signed into law last week by the President provides for setting up a Fisheries Advisory Committee. This committee would be made up of seven members from the fishing industry who would advise in the formulation of policy, rules and regulations pertaining to requests for assistance and other matters where fishing is concerned. The entire Florida delegation jumped at that as soon as the bill was signed and asked Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay to be sure to appoint at least one Florida man to the committee. To date, no reply.

SUMMER TRAVELERS—Having breakfast in the House cafeteria the other day with Congressman Syd Helton were four Leesburg travelers: Dan Walling and Andrew Miller, Jr., members of the Leesburg Key Club were returning from their National Convention in Philadelphia. They were the company of Andrew Miller, Sr., farm and flower grower and Ted Prosser, prominent citrus grower and shipper who was doing the "fish" business.

SUMMER FROLIC—The big picnic is next Saturday—the 17th. This is the annual Florida State Society picnic and this year it will be an outdoor picnic at the Bethesda Chevy Chase Inn, Washington, D. C. The picnic will include a golf tournament, tennis, fishing, and a chicken barbecue.

SUMMER HELPER—A pretty new face will be seen in Congress when the Senate office of Congressman George M. Koons, of Lakeland, has been added to Ben's office force for the summer to help keep the mail moving while other staff members are vacationing or working in the Congressman's Jacksonville office. Ben's father, L. Koons, was formerly in charge of Lakeland Strategic Intelligence Research and Analysis group, he will be attached to the Army Headquarters in Atlanta, Ga. Fuller served as an M.P. officer with the Infantry in the Philippines during World War and during the Korean War he was assistant provost marshal at Fort Bragg.

But life insurance is a form of saving a way of building an estate. Some of your own is a form of saving.

The U.S. Treasury reports that in the first half of this year of supposed recession it sold 23 percent more in life and life savings bonds than in the same period of booming 1953, and, in fact, set an eight-year sales record. And sales are exceeding cash-in-hand deposits in the savings banks of New York state alone increased 280 million dollars in the first half of this year.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports record purchases of new life insurance policies in the first six months of this year for a gain of 19 1/2 billion dollars. The total of such insurance is now estimated at 240 billion dollars for the nation as a whole.

Accident and health insurance purchases are also running much higher than a year ago.

All of this is good news, curiously enough, on a lower total of personal income, according to the Department of Commerce. It finds that in May, the latest figure, personal income, stated about one billion dollars less, on an annual rate, than in May a year ago.

WEST PALM BEACH (AP)—Mrs. Harriet Spencer Adams, 65, widow of Palm Beach widow who was engaged to Jack Dempsey for a week in December plans to marry a dental surgeon from Switzerland here Sunday.

Mrs. Augusta and Dr. Warner Teufel, 34, of Vevey, Switzerland, applied for a marriage license today.

STUDY BEING MADE

BRADENTON (AP)—A new study is being made of the proposed West Coast Canal to determine its economic and military benefits with a new cost estimate.

The area from Tarpon Springs to Fort Myers has developed greatly since the last such survey was made in 1950.

RAY TV TO STAY

VICTORIA (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation will be getting into the television business this year. It is expected that the corporation will be on the air by the end of the year.

House Approves Bill On Spying

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Peacetime Spying bill was passed by the House today for the first time in U. S. history, under an administration ball passed 284 by the House last week. The measure now goes to the Senate.

The bill would also remove the present 10-year limit on prosecution for espionage. And it would broaden the espionage and sabotage laws to make them apply to arms and atomic warfare.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families.

Q. I have a Korean GI term insurance policy—the kind that doesn't pay dividends. Would it be possible for me to convert it to a permanent form of insurance?

A. No. Under the law, non-participating term insurance policies issued to Korean veterans may not be converted to permanent plans.

Q. I am a disabled World War II veteran, and I'd like to take vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 101. If I'm eligible to train, would I be allowed to take a four-year law course?

A. No. The law would allow you to take only a course that you could complete by July 25, 1954, the date the Public Law 101 training program comes to an end. You would have to enroll for a course that you could finish in two years or less.

Q. I am a World War II veteran taking GI Bill training at night. I have a job that normally doesn't require me to travel, but I found out that I'm going to have to take three-week business trips and therefore interrupt my training. Will I be permitted to resume my GI Bill training when I get back? That's not allowing an interruption that's not allowed?

A. You will be permitted to resume your GI Bill training when you return from your trip. VA regulations allow you to interrupt your training as one caused by a "valid reason" so long as it doesn't last for more than four months. If it did exceed that time, you would be required to show VA that you couldn't possibly have resumed your training earlier.

Q. Does the August 30, 1954, deadline for starting Korean GI Bill training apply to all Korean veterans?

A. No. The August 30 cut-off date applies only to veterans separated from service before Aug. 20, 1952. Veterans separated after that date have two years to start their training. (Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave., Orlando, Fla.)

Look what Givenchy's done to the shirtwaist dress! The young French designer made news at his Paris opening when he showed this softened, feminized version of the popular classic. He chose an American fabric for this style—a supple surah of "Orlon" acrylic fiber and silk, notable for its beautiful drapability. Use of the Du Pont fiber makes the dress wearable, according to Givenchy.

Meals In Denmark Usually Composed Of A Smorrebrod

A piece of smorrebrod is a thin slice of bread (bread with butter (smør) garnished with an arrangement of cold fish, meat, vegetables, eggs, etc. A knife and fork are used to eat the smorrebrod. It can be served for lunch, tea, dinner or for a snack. It can be an expensive affair or it can be from leftovers, but always the flavors of the various foods used must be pleasing together, as well as colorful and attractively arranged.

In Denmark, a meal is often made up only of smorrebrod. First the fish sandwiches are served, then the egg sandwiches, followed by the cold meats and cheese sandwiches. The recipe below may be a snack or may be served as the main dish of a meal.

INGREDIENTS:

- 4 slices white bread
- Butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- Water
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 cup hot, cooked, white rice
- 1 cup diced chicken and giblets
- 12 small tomato slices
- 12 slices hard cooked egg
- 6 slices canned salmon or 4 sardines

Quick method for cooking fluffy white rice: To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

- Put 1 cup uncooked white rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon salt in a 2 quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
- Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.
- Leave saucepan over this low heat for 11 minutes. Turn heat off. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice warm if you are not ready to use it immediately.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains, allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes, with heat off, but without removing lid. This allows will make slightly more cooked rice than is needed for this recipe. Keep the balance of the ready-cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. You'll find it mighty handy for adding to many quick, salads, casseroles, dishes, hot breads, delicious and inexpensive soups, and desserts.

Method: Toast bread on both sides, spread with butter or margarine. Put the curry powder in a mixing bowl and add several drops of water—just enough to moisten the curry powder. Add the mayonnaise and mix thoroughly. Add the hot, cooked rice and the chicken and giblets mixture over the slice of toast and top with two tomato slices. Garnish each tomato slice with a slice of hard cooked egg. Place a piece of canned salmon on the top of the egg and tomatoes. Sprinkle salmon and egg slices with paprika.

Serve one smorrebrod, or sandwich, to each person, with knife and fork.

This recipe makes six servings.

Apply New Method When Doing Work

While there is no pattern or set method for simplifying any job that will apply to all individuals, there are certain principles of time and motion that can be followed. Each job breaks down into three parts: 1. Get ready for the job—plan the order of work, collect tools and supplies at the work center, place everything within easy reach and arrange everything in order of use, place tools ready to grasp to avoid rehandling, have enough clear space to work, have work area well lighted, have comfortable working heights, use tools and equipment that do the work well, keep tools and equipment in good condition, get comfortable.

2. Do the task—work from right to left (if right handed), from front to back, top to bottom, use straight smooth motions, make both hands work or stand in comfortable position, work at a speed best for you, work calmly and quietly, keep work space in order.

3. Clean up—carry things to tray, cart or wheels, clean work area before beginning another task, have a clean work area. After you have developed a new method for any job, begin using this new method at once. It may take a short while to establish a new habit, but you will soon be well accustomed to your new method of work. Check yourself occasionally to see that you are following your new, established patterns. At the same time, be looking for still better methods of work that might be devised. Work simplification can become a game at which you and your entire household can play, and you can save up to 50 per cent of the time you once spent on the job. Miss Wilson continued.

When you have worked out something good, share it. The neighbor who learns about it will almost surely contribute something of her own, and good ideas grow that way. Trading experiences with other people will help maintain the good work method that have been established and sustain enthusiasm for further development.

Less Cooking Time Is Blessing During Hot Summer Days

Hot meals that require less than 15 minutes cooking time are a blessing these days. Especially when the vegetable and meat can be cooked together. This broiler meal, consisting of savory, well-seasoned ground beef cutlets and sautéed tomatoes, sprinkled with cheese, falls into this class. A crisp, fresh vegetable salad and rolls will complete the meal.

SAVORY BEEF CUTLETS
WITH SAUTÉED TOMATOES

Bible Class Urged By Mrs. J. Fields To Visit Mission

The Women's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Volie Williams Sr.

In the absence of the president Mrs. J. B. Fields, presided and the session opened with the devotional by Mrs. W. P. Yelley who read her subject, "Growing in Grace." Business matters were discussed as Mrs. Williams announced that the class had voted to give $10 toward the music work at Ridge Road, N. C.

Mrs. Williams urged members to visit at the Elder Springs Mission on Friday, and for volunteers to help with their Bible School. The meeting closed with the prayer, reading the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Fields then conducted the social hour during which time Mrs. R. C. Moore read articles in keeping with the month of July and Independence Day, "Our Flag," "Sam" and "You and Me Keeping America Free," followed by several interesting quips.

A poem read by Mrs. Fields, was entitled "How Old Are You?" and was followed with a song performed by Mrs. H. B. O'Hara.

Helena's refreshments were served later in the evening by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Essie Wilson.

Those present were Mrs. W. P. Yelley, Mrs. R. C. Moore, Mrs. J. B. Fields, Mrs. H. B. O'Hara, Mrs. Essie Wilson, Mrs. S. A. E. Wilkin, Mrs. H. B. O'Hara, Mrs. R. S. Glenn, Mrs. Jane P. Dixon, Mrs. E. F. Holz, and Mrs. Volie Williams Sr.

Bird-Color Tweeds Are Making News In New York Show

NEW YORK, N. Y. (AP)—Bird-color tweeds, employing the hues of the oriole and the peacock, the bluebird and the cardinal, made news on Pauline Trigère's notable collection for fall, as highlighted in a crowded show of fashion press showings.

The French-born designer has a subtle way of slipping the "flashes" of color into the feminine figure, whether she presents the skin-tight sheath and evening silhouette of last season or the bloused look that is new for fall.

The bird-colored tweeds have a softened, draped quality, gently draped to flatter but not conceal the natural lines of the figure, trimmed with the lightest of shirtings and evening silhouettes of last season or the bloused look that is new for fall.

Give Each Member Of Family Chance To Help At Home

If you believe that homemaking is a creative and worthwhile share in life with your family, and find places where it offers each member a chance to develop some of his interests, says Marie Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent.

This working, playing and shopping relationship will do much to help direct thinking along pleasant lines, and will bring you to the end of the day with more energy for relaxation and family recreation. This pleasant family relationship will be made easier if the work is planned to well organized and done in the simplest most efficient way.

When a home-maker has faced the facts and recognizes the need for studying her job, she has taken the first step. It's up to her to do the thinking and planning. Here are the steps to follow:

Step 1. Recognize the need for simplifying household tasks. Have a real incentive to make better use of time. Be courageous in discarding valueless old ways. Be adventurous in finding new and better ones.

Step 2. "What is it necessary? Who should do the job? What is its purpose? How is the best way to do it? Where should it be done? How often should it be done?"

Step 3. Eliminate unnecessary details of the job. Consider details of the job when practical. Arrange equipment. Simplify all necessary details. Make the work easier. Do only those things essential to health, efficiency, and morale.

Step 4. Correct working heights. Make both hands work. Use the smoothest method. Use the best tool. Store supplies and equipment where first used.

Step 5. Frequent short rest periods are a longer, more productive activity period.

to this one. "Less than two years ago a young man came to this section from the West. He left behind him a farm for which he was offered $2,500, but he wanted 200 more. He purchased 40 acres near Orlando at $450, getting eight months in which to pay for it, thinking that in that time he could sell the farm at $2,500, pay for his Florida land and have $2,000 margin. He failed to get the price for the farm, and after a few months, fearing that he would not be able to meet his obligations, he surrendered his southern land. He is still trying to sell that farm for $2,500, but up to this time has failed to get his price. Two weeks ago, $2,500 in cash was offered and refused for the 40 acres which he would have paid $150 for which fact fairly illustrates the difference in increase of values in Nebraska and Florida, relative to Orlando Reporter. cooperation. These persons are in any way antagonistic to your administration."
Collins said Sen. George Tapper of Port St. Joe, head of a Legislative Council Committee making a study of Florida's highway program on which recommendations to the 1955 Legislature will be based, has advised him of the work being done by the committee. Tapper invited Collins to sit in on meetings of the highway study group here this weekend. Collins will be unable to attend personally but expects to have a representative present.
Collins said he was not prepared at this time to say whether he will attempt to intervene as an objector in court proceedings to validate an $9 million dollar revenue bond issue to finance the South Florida toll turnpike.
Leon County Circuit Judge W. May Walker has given opponents until Aug. 6 to file their objections to validation of the turnpike bonds. Collins on Saturday said he believed the turnpike project should be halted at once unless it's "brought into line with sound and economical planning." He said he believed an adequate turnpike could be built for many millions less than the figure proposed by the present turnpike authority.
He and Mrs. Collins were to leave Tallahassee today for a two-week vacation trip to New England. "We've never been up there."

Johns Is Speaker Before Governors

BOLTON LANDING, N. Y. (AP)—Florida "planted the seed" for President Eisenhower's 50-billion dollar highway building proposal, but Acting Gov. Johns thinks the federal government ought to "get out of the road-building business."
He spoke at the National Governors' Conference here yesterday. Johns said Florida highway officials were the first to broach to the federal government the idea that 50 billion dollars worth of roads were needed.
But Johns derided federal interference with state road-building plans, especially the requirement that the states live up to federal specifications on highways built with U. S. funds.
Some governors felt that Eisenhower's proposal indicated federal intentions to continue highway aid and federal taxes on gasoline despite a conference that they held last week.

Bombs Start Fires In U. S. Libraries

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Small fires started by homemade incendiary bombs destroyed books in the U. S. Information Agency libraries in Cairo and Alexandria last night.
The fires were discovered about an hour after the libraries closed. Police today found three small incendiary devices, enclosed in cases for eyeglasses, which had failed to explode in the Cairo library.
Embassy officials estimated damage at the Cairo library at $2,000, including destruction of 500 books. The Alexandria fire destroyed 200 books at an estimated loss of $1,500.

Fear Death Toll Will Be Over 100

MEDELIN, Columbia (AP)—Authorities fear the death toll from two landslides near here Monday may reach more than 100.
Seventy-six bodies had been recovered by last night, and Medellin's men continued to dig today through great heaps of rock and earth in search of more victims.
We will take a train north, then get in a car and drive around," he said.

Accused Attacker Claims Ignorance

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—A husky ex-convict charged with kidnaping and rape of a baby girl said today he didn't remember anything about it.
"I was drinking, I guess, but I don't remember anything that happened. I guess I'm in serious trouble," said William Thomas Hughes, 31, said to officers.
Hughes was brought to the Lubbock jail late yesterday, from Seminole, Tex., near where the alleged attack on little Jackie Jo Davis, 5 months old, occurred.
Officers would not say that they feared mob violence—they said the Seminole jail was "not of maximum security."
Hughes was denied bond on a charge of rape against him. Bond of $5,000 was set on the kidnaping charge.
Hughes, 6 feet 2, weighs 165 pounds and is 34 years old.
He has served penitentiary sentences for automobile theft and forgery.

Miami Herald Sued By County Solicitor

MIAMI (AP)—County Solicitor John Marsh says his reputation has been damaged by published reports of his handling of the Over Sea Toll Road case.
He filed a $500,000 damage suit against the Miami Herald yesterday. Stories of the trial, he said, aroused suspicion that he had acted corruptly, dishonestly, unskillfully and with utter lack of professional skill and ability.
Marsh prosecuted the grand jury trials of Brooks Bateman, ousted general manager of the toll district, and Alonzo Colbron, a contractor. Both were acquitted.
The petition contended that Marsh conducted the trials "with the skill commensurate with his ability."

Vienna Herald Sued By County Solicitor

VIENNA (AP)—Helmut K. 12, hurled himself out of a school window in Vienna 18 months ago after writing a note saying he feared bad marks.
The boy survived, but since then there has been a marked increase in suicide attempts among children in the Austrian capital.
City police record 48 cases (six died) among children in the last 18 months, 50 per cent more than in the previous year and a half. This is a record of cases treated in city hospitals. Prof. Hans Hoff, who heads Vienna's Psychiatric and Neurological Clinic, says private doctors may have handled scores more.
"The epidemic is not the normal reaction of a child to a problem. It runs away, or dreams of death, but doesn't actually try to kill himself."
Hoff blames homes shattered by war and economic distress and a breakdown of family life.
The children themselves give many motives. A boy, 11, died because he was "tired of life." A 16-year-old girl was "disappointed in love." A boy, 13, feared he would be sent to a public home. A girl, 12, was forbidden to smoke.
Hoff and his assistants, after a study, say these are just the final motivations.
"Children who try suicide invariably have had life histories of insecurity and a lack of love," he says. "Frequently only one single person is left whom the child believes has confidence in him or love. If the child feels this person has let him down or is against him, then his small world collapses."
"He may consider suicide as the only way to get the attention, the sympathy or the love he wants."
"Boys and girls don't commit suicide because they get poor marks in school. The boy who set off the current epidemic felt he was rejected by his class, his teachers and his mother. By suicide, the children hope to change things, not escape them, and often they fantasize that they will survive their own death. It is quite impossible for a child up to 14 years old to conceive of the finality of death."
With the aid of the city administration, Hoff and his assistants are lecturing parents and teachers to watch for danger signals; withdrawal by the children; change of behavior; hysterical fits.

Give GG Shots In Epidemic Area

PORT LAUDERDALE (AP)—White children and expectant mothers in Fort Lauderdale's polo-ridden northwest section began lining up at the health department today for gamma globulin shots.
More than half of Broward County's 68 polo cases this year originated in this section of the city. The State Board of Health yesterday declared it an epidemic area. There has been one death.
Ten thousand units of G.G. arrived here yesterday from Jacksonville. Inoculations were scheduled for some 2,000 children up to 15 years of age and pregnant women.

Military Alliance Signing Postponed

BEIGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey have postponed indefinitely the signing of their Balkan military alliance, originally scheduled for a meeting of their foreign ministers beginning July 17.
The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug announced the postponement last night. No new date was set.
Tanjug said the meeting was put off because the three countries needed more time to prepare for it.

Tucker Meets Hall In Tourney

Defending champion Gene Tucker was scheduled to meet Cliff Proctor in the quarter-finals of the Sanford tennis championships here Sunday as play progresses to decide a city champion in five brackets. Proctor beat H. C. Hall for the right to oppose Tucker, in the men's intermediate pairings. Tucker received a first round bye.
In women's action, Betty Doris Williams will meet Betty Anderson and Barbara Stevens will play against Ellen Betts. Miss Williams was passed from opening bracket play and Mrs. Anderson won by default over Doris Jones. Miss Stevens beat Betty Plamm, 6-4, 6-8, and Miss Betts had a bye.
In play, the Kuhn-Borsdorf team will meet White and Murray. Weaver and Walter will vie against Morgan and Ganas, and Carlton and Morrison play a Bates-Taylor match.
Deadlines have been set for quarter-finals by Sunday, semi-finals by next Thursday, and all finals are slated to be played Sunday, July 25.

State Citrus Queen Speaks To Jaycees; Blood Project Score

FLORIDA'S Citrus Queen Marion Blitt spoke before the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce today at its regular weekly luncheon meeting and told briefly the colorful history of Florida's citrus mecca, Cypress Gardens.
Miss Blitt, a Miami who is making a public relations tour of the State, described to the Jaycees the work which she and the other aqua-miss do at the Gardens.
"We water ski, model, write, and in general just have a grand time," she said in telling of Richard Pope's resort.
She was an official representative of the State of Florida at the Queen's coronation in 1953 in London, England.
The attractive speaker pointed out the millions of dollars of priceless publicity which the Gardens and the State have received all over the world through the efforts of Pope, Garden owner and member of the Florida Advertising Commission. Three full length movies, "On an Island with You," "Moon Over Miami" and "Easy to Love" and over 1,000 newspaper and 150 short news items have been published in Florida's "wonderful attractions," she said.
"Working at the Gardens and meeting people here from all over the country, you come to know just how much good this does for our state," Miss Blitt enthused.
The Jaycees program next week will consist of blood donations to ward forming a bank for the Seminole County club. Don Hyde, program chairman, spoke briefly outlining the procedure in order to be able to give blood and urged all Jaycees to contribute to the worthy cause.
After the donations are made the club will hold its regular meeting next Thursday.

Russians Unveil Cold War Weapon

By WILLIAM L. BYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
The Russians unveiled a new weapon in the cold war. It is the normal look.
Trapped in a monumental bureaucracy, the Soviets are attempting to change the world that they are just as normal as anybody else, if not more so.
Outside their borders they have had some success. Their cultural offensive has prospered. Dozens of Soviet writers, artists and athletes have sallied forth—under unobtrusive surveillance—to spread the word that the Soviet Union's regime is a city in the human world. The World One big, happy family. In turn, the Russians have dined off the welcome mat for many a tourist from abroad.
The Russians have pulled the rug from under writers and scientists who in Stalin's day flourished by lauding to his pet follies. It is no longer a Russian scientist to speak respectfully of Albert Einstein's relativity theory and Darwin's theories of evolution.

Babson Working On Gas Project

LAKE WALES (AP)—Roger W. Babson, statistician and economist, who has long contended that Florida would become a great industrial state if it had a steady supply of natural gas, is working on a plan to bring natural gas from Venezuela to the Dally Highlander at Lake Wales, where he has a winter home. Babson wrote: "Our organization has been making a study of natural gas wastes in Venezuela. We are now estimating this to be 200 million cubic feet per day, which is about ten per cent of the used daily in the United States."
"I am trying to get some of the oil companies to unite in forming a company to thus serve Florida with natural gas."
"If successful," he said, "this would be a godsend to Florida. This natural gas could be used not only for power, but is especially adapted to heating and refrigeration."

Intruder Is Shot By Tampa Woman

TAMPA (AP)—A Tampa woman who lives alone shot and critically wounded a man she said was trying to break into her home late last night.
Miss Agnes L. Webster, 35, said she heard a noise at a bedroom window and saw a man outlined against the light. She said she was trying to call the police when she shot once with a .33 caliber pistol when her screams didn't scare him away.
A few minutes later a man identified as Claude Smith, 40, was taken into a nearby hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Atlanta Is Host To Southern's All-Star Team

ATLANTA (AP)—What first shaped up as a field day for players may develop into a balling pitchers' duel when the Atlanta Crackers play host to the Southern Assn. All-Star team tonight.
Both managers—Bill Wyatt for the Crackers and Hugh Poland of Nashville for the All-Stars—found themselves with a fresh front-line hurler to try to still the bats of the best hitters in the league.
Hain-out of last night's Mobile-Atlanta game brought the sudden change in pitching fortunes for both teams.
Atlanta's Leo Cristante and Mobile's Billy Harris merely postponed their mound meeting until the All-Star scrap, which is expected to draw 10,000 fans.
Cristante is the league's winningest pitcher. The left-hander, 200-pound righthander from Detroit has won 17 and lost only four.
Harris, mainstay of the Mobile staff, has compiled a 9-1 record with the second division club.
Unlike the majors, the Southern does not limit pitchers to a three-inning stint in the annual game between the league leaders and the best of the rest of the loop. A manager can let his pitcher go all the way if he wants to.
Until the Mobile-Atlanta postponement, neither Wyatt nor Poland had a top pitcher in shape to start.
The sudden change for the better in the pitching picture still is no in any way a sure thing. Poland turned into a slugfest. Both Atlanta and the All-Stars are loaded with power, with the latter holding a slight edge.

Nevada Has First Double Execution

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Frank Pedrini, tough-talking wisecracker to the end, and his frightened buddy Leroy Linden, went to their deaths today in Nevada's first double execution.
The pair died in the prison gas chamber for the brutal robbery-slaying of Clarence Morgan Dodd, 34, a vacationing California car salesman, last year ago. Dodd had given them a ride in his car through the Nevada desert where they murdered him. His partly decomposed body was found under a rock in the Nevada desert.
Pedrini, who had been in trouble with the law all his 47 years, told Warden A. R. Bernard in (far-well): "Well, you've been swell. I've been a heel all my life."
Pedrini, strapped in a chair next to 35-year-old Linden, wisecracked, smiled and nodded to many of the 100 witnesses to the execution.
Linden, appearing frightened and refusing to look at his former Palom prison cellmate, muttered short answers to Pedrini's apparent questions.
As the cyanide pellets—twice the normal amount—dropped into the sulphuric acid, Pedrini breathed deeply and Linden choked and gagged in fear of death.
Pedrini was from former Reno, Calif.; Linden a former Los Angeles truck driver.
Linden and Pedrini had a falling out after their arrest, presumably based on Linden's denial he had anything to do with the slaying.

Education Group Meets On Issue

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Florida Continuing Education Council met in closed session here today to discuss the effect of the U. S. Supreme Court ruling on public school racial segregation in the public schools.
The private organization includes representatives from civic, patriotic and educational groups. Executive Secretary Ed Henderson said the Florida Education Assn. told members the meeting was closed because members would not speak freely if they knew they were to be quoted.
"I am certain whether their public recommendations for meeting the segregation issue will develop from today's session."
A public opinion survey of leading citizens of the state on the question is underway at present but no findings have been announced. The office of the U. S. Attorney General, Arthur Griffin, which is supervising the study.

Ile's Residents Have Tough Time

MONTREAL (AP)—The 1,000 inhabitants of St. Helens, the island named as Napoleon's death place, are having a tough time economically.
R. A. Thorpe, the island's only industrialist, came here to attend a Chamber of Commerce conference and to visit business for St. Helens' only export, handmade lace.
"The island's population is having a hard time," he said. "There is practically no prospect for the future except the one possibility I came to explore here—and that is a market for the lace our womenfolk make."
Thorpe owns eight flax mills on St. Helens, but six are closed. Some of the others are threatened due to unprofitable production.

Babson Working On Gas Project

LAKE WALES (AP)—Roger W. Babson, statistician and economist, who has long contended that Florida would become a great industrial state if it had a steady supply of natural gas, is working on a plan to bring natural gas from Venezuela to the Dally Highlander at Lake Wales, where he has a winter home. Babson wrote: "Our organization has been making a study of natural gas wastes in Venezuela. We are now estimating this to be 200 million cubic feet per day, which is about ten per cent of the used daily in the United States."
"I am trying to get some of the oil companies to unite in forming a company to thus serve Florida with natural gas."
"If successful," he said, "this would be a godsend to Florida. This natural gas could be used not only for power, but is especially adapted to heating and refrigeration."

Nurse Lady

By ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

SYNOPSIS
Norman Brandt and nurse Cynthia Doyle had first met at the home of an accident case in Washington, D. C. He had used the date her, he gave her credit, but Cynthia's romantic interest centered about Dr. Sellers, with whom she works at the clinic.

CHAPTER SEVEN

CYNTHIA did not wrench free from the doctor's arms. Her cheeks were scarlet, her eyes blazing, but she felt both angry and glad. May be she was waking him up; "You can't order me to do anything," she said. "At least, not like that. May be I will take a vacation a little later on. As for coming to my senses, I agree with you it's about time I did. I like the work in the clinic, yes; I love the children. But I'm not just an old-fashioned nurse, like you. I'm a woman, as well as a nurse."

To her dismay, she found her voice breaking; she felt like a fool. But he could not talk that way to her, shake her when she should be shaking him—and the thought of going away from him, when he had made an order, was unbearable for it was Walt she loved, not just the clinic.

"Well now, see here." His whole manner had changed; he was no longer the physician comforting a sick, or unruly, patient. He had always thought of Cynthia as a rock; she was so dependable, so strong, for all her femininity—a wonderful nurse and physical therapist. But she was just a girl, he could see now, a mighty pretty one, with her eyes misty with tears, her cheeks as like a rose petal. . . . He had never taken time to realize just how pretty his young assistant was.

He took out his pocket handkerchief, but instead of handing it to her, he placed one big hand firmly on her shoulder and with the other dabbed at those tears.

"I'm sorry if I got rough." His voice was gentle. "I'm just a big guy. You take your vacation when you want to. And when you do, I'll be sunk. I know you could do much easier work, work that would bring you much more money as well—but I'd be lost without you, Cynthia."

That was a little better. And it was wonderful to have him practically put his arm around her, dry her tears. Nurses did not shed tears, but women did. Sometimes they were a woman's best weapon against a man.

"I won't do anything—in a hurry," she promised. But she had won too much to give it altogether, or too soon.

"Good! Now then, take my handkerchief—blow your nose." She sounded again like a doctor's order to a wilful child, but he amended it by adding, "And get your things—let the rest of the typing up go until morning. I'll walk home with you. We'll stop somewhere and have coffee, or dinner, if you like."

Cynthia blew her nose obediently. She returned his handkerchief. Her eyes, looking up into his, were clear once more; they were a soft violet-blue, not black with anger or wounded pride.

"Some other time," she said. "I'd love to have dinner with you, Walt, but I'm having it with someone else tonight."

"You mean—some other man?" "Well, yes."

"Oh, I see." The young doctor's voice was not his professional one. It sounded like any average man's who might be annoyed at having been refused a date and who finds himself jealous at suddenly discovering there's another man in the picture.

"Is it anyone I know?" Walt asked.

"In a way," Cynthia said. "It's the man whose car ran into Julius. You see, I ran into him—this man, I mean, when I stopped by the hospital to see how Julius was getting along."

"I see." The young doctor's tone was still unprofessional. It did not sound as though he knew at all. "I'm rather surprised," he said, "that you would let a man like that take you out to dinner."

"How do you know what kind of man he is?" Cynthia found herself defending Norman Brandt.

"He can't be much of a man, driving around with a maniac, running down children. He's probably a rich playboy."

"I don't believe he is," Cynthia continued to defend Norman. She could not tell Walt that Mr. Brandt had not been driving the car. "I don't believe he is a playboy. And I don't think he is very rich. Anyway," she added smiling slightly, "if he is, I can't imagine his friends."

"I suppose that's right." Walt's tone was even gruffer, that deep scowl had etched itself between his eyebrows. He did not like the idea of Cynthia's being friendly with this fellow, even if she did insist he was all right. "Well, perhaps we can have dinner together some other evening," he suggested. "Say, next Friday."

Cynthia realized that this meant it was a date, naming the evening. Always before when they had seen each other outside the clinic it had just been accidental or at least not planned.

Her meeting with Norman Brandt had been accidental, although she had had a suspicion that perhaps he had visited the hospital hoping to see her, as well as little Julius.

Julius, enthusiastic, had given this away.

His small face, with the large dark eyes, had lighted up when Cynthia had come into his room.

"It's the Nurse Lady!" he had cried. "I have you come to see me. I told Mr. Brandt I knew you'd come, Nurse Lady."

"Of course I was coming to see you, Julius!" Cynthia had given the child an affectionate pat. She had thought, "Well, I must have been under a doctor's order."

She had thought how nice it was that the little boy could have such a light story room. It was filled with books which she supposed have come from Norman Brandt—possibly some from the actress, Reba Rave. Cynthia had brought the little boy some fruit, which she had placed in a bowl on the bedside table. She also had brought him some picture books.

"Oh, thank you, Nurse Lady!" Julius had said when she showed the books to him. "I love to hear stories—can you read one to me?"

"I told Mr. Brandt how nice you are. I told him you're nice to all us kids." The big dark eyes were filled with adoration as they looked at the pretty young nurse.

"Of course I'll read you a story," Cynthia had thought it would be hard to refuse him anything. He had looked so small in the long, high bed. His leg was in a cast clear up to his hip. He would have to lie flat on his back for many weeks.

"I told Mr. Brandt about the time you came to our house," the little boy had gone on, "when mama was so sick. And how you brought a basket of groceries and even fixed our supper, and how you sent some wood and coal 'cause our house was cold."

"You shouldn't tell all those things to a stranger," Cynthia had said.

"Oh, but Mr. Brandt's not a stranger," the child had protested. "He comes to see me every day. He's a swell guy, Mr. Brandt is."

"Has he been here today?" Cynthia had asked.

Julius had shaken his dark, curly head. "No. He asked what time I thought you'd come, Nurse Lady. I told him you couldn't come till the clinic closed. I'm sorry if I shouldn't of told Mr. Brandt all those things."

Cynthia had said it was all right; she could not scold Julius. She had read him a story and had been about to start another when Norman Brandt had put in an appearance.

He had pretended to be quite surprised at finding her sitting by Julius's bedside, and Cynthia had been amused at his pretense. They had chatted a while and Norman had shown them how to work a puzzle he had with him; and as soon as she could, Cynthia had said she would have to leave.

Norman had followed her outside the door. That had been when he had asked her to have dinner with him the following evening. She had said, "You might as well say yes. I won't take no. I'll just keep on asking you."

Which was one reason why Cynthia had said yes. She suspected that he would be just that persistent. She might as well have dinner with him and get it over with. She would tell him that it was impossible for them to be friends.

Of course, as she had realized afterwards, she would have to be subtle about it. She could not just come right out and say, "See here, we can't be friends; you belong to Rex."

It might not seem quite fair for Cynthia to be having dinner with Norman under these circumstances. But she had to straighten things out. And now Walt felt the same way about it—that she shouldn't be friends with Norman Brandt, or even have dinner with him. However, Walt really had no right to dictate who her friends should be—or with whom she should have dinner.

Maybe it would do that young doctor a world of good to know that some other man thought of his assistant nurse as an attractive and desirable dinner companion. Certainly Walt had seemed a bit annoyed. And had it not been for her date with Norman, he might not have suggested that they make a definite date for Friday. So Cynthia decided it was just as well she had said yes.

THREE MILES A MINUTE

CHERSEA, Michigan—A new American closed track speed record car in race driver Sam Hanks for averaging 162.541 miles per hour for a complete lap on the 1.7-mile concrete oval track at the Chrysler Engineering Proving Grounds, Hanks, 1934 AAA National Champion, piloted a car powered with a specially built 117-horsepower Chevrolet V-8 engine, a modification of the hemispherical combustion chamber power plants in current model production cars. His record run was timed and sanctioned by the American Automobile Association. The previous record of 129.188 was made by Jack McGrath June 16, 1931, on the same test track, scientifically designed to permit stream-line airflow testing of passenger cars in complete safety, the six-lane oval features banked turns which rise from two degrees on the inside to 15 degrees on the outside. Here, James E. Zeder, Vice President of Chrysler Corporation and Director of Engineering, congratulates Hanks after his record run.

Record Of Wildfires On Protected Land Best For Program

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's forest fire record on protected acreage for the 12-month period ending July 15 is the best in the history of organized protection in the state, State Forester C. H. Coulter announced today. Coulter said that a mere 1.3 per cent of the forest land under protection burned during the period, and recalled that considerably more than a third of this acreage burned during February alone, a dry windy month which can claim the worst two weeks period on the fire record books.

This year's 1.3 per cent compares with 1.8 per cent for the period which ended on June 30, 1953. During the year just ended, less protected acreage burned even though the amount under protection was greater. The million acres added by the extension of county-wide protection to Manatee, Levy, and Sarasota counties and of partial protection in other counties brought the total under protection to 13,977,000. This is over two-thirds of the commercial forest acreage in the state.

The Forest Service figures its fire records on a July-through-June basis rather than on a calendar year basis because normally the state's principal "fire season"—a continuous period of high fire occurrence—begins in November and extends into the next calendar year. This is true of all the southern states; in other sections of the country summer is the most fire-hazardous time.

Coulter credits the year-after-year improvement of Florida's forest fire record to the steady increase in the number of local leaders who have come to appreciate their critically important role in forest fire prevention.

In spite of the good record on protected land, Coulter said, it is almost inevitable that the state's overall forest fire record for the period will be among the worst in the nation, just as it has been for years. "This is because, year after year, about half of the unprotected acreage in the state burns. There are still six million unprotected forest acres in Florida; aerial surveys revealed that two and half million of these acres burned last year."

"This high loss on unprotected land stresses the importance of extending organized protection in all forest land in Florida as rapidly as possible," Coulter said.

Navy Planning Big Increases In Jet Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has told Congress it plans big increases in jet planes and personnel at the Naval Air Station, Cecil Field, near Jacksonville, Fla., by 1957.

The planes would almost double while personnel increased four-fold.

The information was given during testimony before a House Appropriations Subcommittee on Navy request for $1,384,000 for improvements at the field in the year which began July 1. The testimony was made public today.

The Navy wants to ask Congress in the future for an additional $11,380,000 for the field. Present value of the field is set at $7,848,000.

Cecil Field was described as a "master jet field in Southern United States."

Capt. Raymond N. Lamb, USN, said there now are 71 officers and 587 men at the field.

"Our planning figure for 1957," he said, "is 807 officers and 4,110 salaried men and 350 civilians. We have at present 240 aircraft on the station and in 1957 we will have 467 jet aircraft."

The Navy says it has two alternatives for the auxiliary air station, Curry Field, near Panama City: either abandon it or build a new drainage system.

The Navy asks for $3,150,000 to improve drainage conditions at the field which was established in 1927 and is one of the oldest in the nation.

The subcommittee was told the Navy has had several accidents due to field conditions in stormy weather. It is flooded everytime there is a downpour.

Group Approves Water Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee has approved legislation to authorize 140 navigation, flood control and beach erosion projects for future construction.

Projects for the southern half would cost $23 million dollars although this does not represent the total federal cost which ultimately will be involved.

Projects must be authorized before Congress can appropriate planning and construction funds for them.

Projects and the amount authorized for each include:

Florida — Rice Creek, Putnam County, $82,200; St. Joseph Bay, $1,318,000.

Beach erosion, Pinellas County, $84,500; flood control, Central and Southern Florida, $7,000,000.

APPROVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Long Valley, Fla., has been named as the Florida location for the nation's first "space station."

Representative Frank W. Boyer said the station would be in the center of the valley.

It will be owned by the state, he is a lumberman and leader among the "New Deal" Democrats in 1954.

263 FFA Members Register To Go To Forestry Camp

TALLAHASSEE, Two hundred and sixty-three Future Farmers of America have registered to attend the Florida Forestry Service's 20th annual forestry training camp late this month. Camp Director J. Edwin Moore said today. The annual camp is held at O'Leno State Park near High Springs, and is divided into two 5-day sessions. Youth from West and South Florida FFA districts attend July 19-23, and those from Central Florida districts July 24-28.

The camp brings together professional foresters and young men who have demonstrated an interest in woodland management and have had some experience in it, usually gained in carrying out FFA forestry projects. To integrate and broaden the youth's knowledge of woodland management, the camp woods instruction followed by practical exercises.

The intensive five-day schedule includes instruction in the use of tree and log scale sticks, the latest methods in gum farming, tree identification, fire fighting, forest insects and diseases, poisoning of undesirable trees, the use of fire as a tool in woodland management, and pine cone collection and seed extracting. A whole day is devoted to a field trip which includes visits to a sawmill, a fire control unit, the State Forest Ranger School at Lake City, a pine seedling nursery, a gum processing plant, and a pine plantation to observe effects of various thinning methods.

A feature of the first of the two sessions will be the presence, at least on a part of the time, of a 20-year-old English youth who is visiting the United States and is now a guest of the Florida Association, Future Farmers of America. He is William Wannop of Carlisle in Cumberland, a North England county bordering on Scotland. Wannop has been very active in English organizations which generally correspond to America's FFA and is at present working with his father on their 1000-acre farm near Carlisle. In addition to observing the progress of the camp Wannop will make the principal address at the traditional Friday night banquet, State Representative Doyle Conroy of Starke will speak at the second week's banquet.

The annual forestry camp is financed by wood-using industries operating in Florida and by the American Turpentine Farmers Association, Valdosta, Georgia.

California Man Held In Slaying

WEST PALM BEACH (AP) - Donald Waldron, 31, a former Marine from Fairfield, Calif., will be held for October grand jury action on a charge that he murdered the man who married his common-law wife.

Waldron is accused of shooting to death William A. Covington, 46 here Thursday night as he lay in bed with his wife, Violet, 31.

State Atty. Phil O'Connell argued in a preliminary hearing yesterday that Waldron came to Palm Beach for the sole purpose of killing Covington and that no bond should be granted. County Judge Richard P. Rollins agreed.

Mrs. Covington testified that the shot which killed her husband wounded her and she saw Waldron standing at the foot of the bed. She said he declared "Two Covingtons and she met Covington killed the other."

After a brief questioning, Mrs. Waldron and Waldron were taken together to Fairfield and married the colonel in Tavara, May 22. Before the marriage, she said he went to New Mexico and divorced one of her five previous husbands, Leonard Graham.

After her marriage to Covington she said she once went back to Waldron for several days.

Mallard, Brood Cause Excitement

ORLANDO (AP) - A mother mallard and her brood of 12 ducklings straggled into a cafe recently and both ducks and cafe patrons got excited.

The customers excited mama duck and she flew to a perch on top of an air conditioner, abandoning the ducklings on the floor.

The ducklings took cover under the benches of a table booth. Miss mallard took off on a contemplated flight and crashed into a single glass window.

Stunned, she dropped to the floor. Employees and customers, who had been dodging her flight antics, joined in capturing the family.

Cafe operator Louis Kokortis later released them in the county.

NAMED WUNSEE

TALLAHASSEE - Damon Verkes, Jacksonville attorney, today was named by the State Road Department as resident legal counsel for the Jacksonville Expressway. He will receive $350 a month.

Verkes replaces Delbridge Gibbs as expressway lawyer. Gibbs was paid $300 a month.

REPRIEVE GRANTED

TALLAHASSEE - Acting Gov. Charley E. Johns today granted a 30-day reprieve to D. L. Sanders, under a 12-year prison sentence on conviction of manslaughter in Bay County in 1932.

It is Sanders' second reprieve and was granted in permit him to apply for clemency at the September meeting of the State Pardon Board.

Strolling In Sanford

Don't forget the water ballet to be presented by local Girl Scout at 7:30 p.m. today at the municipal pool.

Florida's Senator George Smith is scheduled to speak over Sanford's radio station, WTRR Sunday at 9:30 p.m.

Miss Betty Jean Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Henderson, Tallahassee, and granddaughter of Mrs. E. M. Carroll, Sanford, is shown in Life Magazine in a pictorial story dealing with the National Education Association convention which was held in New York City.

Warren Odham Jr. Arrested On Count Of Impersonation

MIAMI (AP)—Warren Odham Jr., 23-year-old brother of Brailley Odham, said he was just doing his best to help three injured persons when he was arrested in Fort Lauderdale on a charge of impersonating a physician.

Odham's arrest and release under $250 bond was disclosed yesterday. Highway Patrolman C. E. Sullivan said he was taken to jail after he was found administering first aid to three people injured in an automobile collision at 20-mile bend.

Sullivan said Odham first referred to himself as "Dr. Williams." Then admitted his identity. Odham denied he ever claimed to be a doctor and declared he tried to help the accident victims because "nobody else was doing anything."

"I came up on this accident Sunday and saw that three people were hurt," Odham said. "An artery had been severed in one man's leg. I put a tourniquet on the leg and treated all of them for shock. It was 20 minutes after I went to work before the patrol got there."

Odham said someone referred to him as "Doc" but when the patrolman asked "I told them who I was."

Sullivan said everything Odham did "was exactly backwards to proper first aid administration."

Odham reported he had an advanced course in first aid in the Merchant-Marine.

KILLED IN CRASH VERO BEACH (AP)—Mrs. Tina Madden, 68, of Covington, Ky., was killed and six other persons injured yesterday in an automobile collision 20 miles west of here on State Road 60.

The driver of the other car, William W. McAllister, 71, of St. Petersburg and his wife, 53, also were treated in a hospital.

Garrett Accident Probed For Foul Play By Police

WAYNESBORO, Miss. (AP)—The accident in which Alty. Gen. Sid Garrett of Alabama was critically injured was not a hit-and-run case, a Mississippi highway patrol inspector said last night, and apparently no other vehicle was involved.

French Premier Tries To Meet His Deadline

Meeting Between Mendes-France, Molotov Said To End In Deadlock

GENEVA (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France raced the clock today in a quest to win an Indo-China cease-fire based on division of Viet Nam at the 18th parallel.

French sources said last night's meeting with the Soviet Foreign Minister resulted in a complete deadlock. Both statesmen stuck to their positions and no progress was achieved.

The partitioning of disputed Viet Nam was said to have been the main topic of the parley which broke up early this morning.

Mendes-France was reported to have pressed for a cease-fire line running from Dong Hoi on the Vietnamese coast east, westward to Thakhek, on the Laotian border.

Western diplomats said the Communists seemed willing to do business, but that they were dicker for a bigger chunk of Viet Nam—most important of the three associated Indo-China states.

The Reds appeared to be seeking a compromise between the 18th Parallel across Viet Nam's narrow waist and their original demand for partition at the 14th Parallel.

The French want to hold the line at least to the 17th Parallel. To set it below that point would mean handing over to the Communist-led Vietminh the important air and naval base at Tourane and the old Annamese capital of Hue.

Mendes-France has hinted he might be persuaded to turn over Viet Nam's northern war capital, Hanoi, to Ho Chi Minh's forces. But the Premier was reported holding out stubbornly to retain at least temporary control of Hanoi, the major port on the rich Red River delta through which the French may have to evacuate their forces.

In return for retaining Haiphong, 65 miles east of Hanoi and well above the 18th Parallel, the French have offered to let the Vietminh keep control of some of their pockets in the South.

Treasury Has Good Bond Sales In Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Patrick of Seminole County's Finance and Savings Bonds Committee today released Federal Reserve Bank bond sales figures for the month of June—1954's first six months—and the fiscal year ending June 30.

Seminole County's figure for U. S. savings bond sales for June was $11,981, six months to date $69,179 and for the fiscal year $1,121,127.

The state figures for June were $4,225,470 a gain of 10.5 percent over June, 1953. State sales for the six months January through June were $24,959,235 over a 12.2 percent better than last year's corresponding six month period, and 69.7 percent ahead of the corresponding period of 1952.

Florida's fiscal year record reflects a 16.5 percent gain over fiscal 1953 and 61.9 percent better than fiscal 1952. Chairman Patrick reported.

"Forty-two of Florida's 67 counties share credit for both the fiscal year's increase and for the gain during the first six months of 1954, Mr. Patrick added, "and most of this year's improvement can be attributed to the growing popularity of the treasury's new (June 1952), current income series H bond which pays interest by treasury check every six months from date of purchase and matures in nine years, eight months after having an average yield of 3 percent throughout that time.

While H bond sales have shown a slight gain, this year's H bond purchases have increased 75 percent. "Florida has fallen short of reaching the half way mark toward its 1954 quota of $11.6 million by about 1 per cent," Mr. Patrick commented, "and we are hoping that residents of Seminole County with money to invest will not overlook Savings Bonds, the most risk-free investment the world can offer."

Sitter Accused Of Burning Baby

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Police today accused a 20-year-old baby sitter of inflicting cigarette burns on a 2-year-old girl—and then attempting to pass the burns off as a possible case of measles.

Police Sgt. Edward J. Lovett identified the girl as Gertrude M. Polosno. She was booked last night on a charge of assault on Francine Coates, 2, daughter of Mrs. Darlene Coates, last July.

Lovett said two witnesses told police Miss Polosno burned the child on the arms, legs and body, allegedly because she did not like the child's looks. Miss Polosno denied the accusation.

CART OFF FIRE DENVER (AP)—Unable to distinguish a smoldering fire in 250 blocks of hay at Denver Union Stockyards, weary firemen carried the whole business off to the nearby city dump last night and left a burn.

10,000 French Attack

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Ten thousand French Union troops, backed by tanks and warplanes, smashed today at Vietminh forces entrenched in two positions west and northeast of Hanoi.

A French briefing officer said losses were appreciable on both sides.

The assaults began yesterday when 5,000 French Union troops in mobile infantry units barreled out of Luc Nam to hit Communist-led rebels dug in on a river bank six miles west of the town.

Twenty-five miles west of Hanoi mobile infantry rolled southward out of Van Tay behind a spearhead of tanks in a four-pronged attack against Vietminh attempting to pick off French posts in that area.

The officer said both assaults were successful. Vietminh forces, although fighting still raged today.

The two attacks, the biggest French drives in weeks, were designed to relieve increasing Vietminh pressure in those two areas.

The Vietminh hit near Luc Nam have been trying to isolate defense positions in that area for 10 days. The pressure had become so great the French pulled the 40-man garrison out of Camp Derrill, between Luc Nam and Phu Lang Thuan, after four nights of successive rebel attacks.

A mobile group was sent to cut the garrison in the withdrawal.

A smaller mobile group rolled east out of Long Xung, Thung, toward another Vietminh concentration five miles from the main battle area.

The four prongs of the Van Tay offensive smashed into Vietminh trenches and foxholes forming an inverted triangle five miles south east of San Tay.

The French rolled through a hail of exploding mortar shells and machine gun fire to close grips with the rebels.

A column leading the attack was seriously wounded by a mortar shell that exploded almost at its feet.

At ground fighting raged in both areas, American supplied planes showed the Vietminh fortifications with bombs and flaming oiled gasoline. French artillery and tanks pumped high explosive shells at Vietminh units trying to fight off the attack.

Irving Berlin To Get Medal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill authorizing a gold medal for Irving Berlin, for writing "God Bless America" and other patriotic songs.

Berlin and his wife attended the ceremony, and the dignitary commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, presented that he couldn't remember afterward what the President said to him.

Eisenhower presented him with the pen he used to sign the bill, which was sponsored by Sen. Fred (R-NY) and Rep. Don (R-NY). The two lawmakers also were present.

Berlin said he wrote "God Bless America" in 1918 as the finale of his first musical about the Army production "Yip, Yip Yaphank," but discarded it as unsuitable. It read he was so touched by the song that he wrote "God Bless America" in 1938.

FANS INSTALLED Fans purchased jointly by the Lions, Kiwanis, Jayces, Rotary and Pilot civic clubs have been installed by the City at the Yacht Club. It was learned today through the office of the city manager, Warren Knowles.

The five cooling devices were purchased on a pro rata basis for the comfort of the organizations which hold their meetings at the Yacht Club.

House Appropriations Committee Cuts Big Slice Off Ike's Requests

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today slashed 39 percent from President Eisenhower's requests for $1,959,958,267 in emergency appropriations.

If retained by the house, the committee's action will represent the biggest percentage cut of 1954, and one of the largest in decades, in any presidential money requests.

The House will consider the GOP-dominated committee's recommendations today.

For the 10 billion in emergency appropriations approved in 1953, the House cut $1,959,958,267 from the President's request.

Actually, however, the overall cut was not as drastic as it appeared on the surface.

This was particularly true in the case of military construction, for which the President requested $1,100,000,000 in new money and the committee recommended only $221,000,000.

The committee said the Defense Department should use unobligated balances of previously allotted funds to help foot the construction bill, instead of seeking new cash and retaining the balance.

The Defense Department sought approval for a public works program of $1,127,627,000, of which the committee approved $1,235,938,000.

The committee's understanding that more than half of the total be financed from unobligated balances.

The Air Force bore the brunt of the cut in its appropriations. It requested $1,025,000,000 and was given $484,000,000, only 47.2 percent of unobligated balances.

The Navy asked 140 million and got $24,100,000, with authority to dip into unobligated balances for the 1954 fiscal year.

The Army requested and received only $500,000 in new cash. Its public works program will be financed out of unobligated balances.

For this construction under direction of the Maritime Administration, the committee approved $11,000,000, all of it carried over from the previous year.
