

U. S. WILL NOT ACCEPT STRING ON DEBT PACT

To Refuse Any Reservations Making Payments Contingent On German Payments

By George H. Holmes,

WASHINGTON, July 3.—
The American government

France's ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement—at least, no reservations that make French payment to the United States contingent upon Germany's reparations payments to France.

The expectation now is that France will ratify the agreement completely in advance of Aug. 1 and thus escape having to pay $100,000,000 in cash on that date for the purchase of surplus A. E. P. stocks. The war stock debt, under the general debt moratorium, into the greater war debt of some $1,000,000,000 payable over 72 years at very low interest. There is considerable curiosity over this, however, and some concern over the threat to Paris to reduce

With reservations. Of course, a thousand and one reservations could be attached to the ratification so long as they were not altogether contrary to the pact itself. But an attempt to insert a proviso

The policy of absolute non-interference of war debts and reparations was established by Charles

Evans Hughes early in the Harding administration, and it has been fought for and successfully supported through thick and thin by every administration since that time.

The position of the American government is that France's debt to the United States is a matter of only Franco-American concern, and that what France expects to

Dual Investigation Is Begun Into Death Of Georgia Teacher

ATLANTA, July 2.—(INS)—Dual investigations were started today into the mysterious death of Professor Alexander Hamilton Johnson, 41, an unassuming school principal, who was found shot by a bullet or was held up and robbed. Records were found that the professor was indicted here in 1923 charging him with stealing automobiles, but he was not convicted.

Police detectives and the district attorney's office were following two theories in their investigation—that Prof. Johnson was shot by a feudist or was held up and robbed. Records were found that the professor was indicted here in 1923 charging him with stealing automobiles, but he was not convicted.

Prof. Johnson lived at Marietta, Ga., and was federal supervisor of vocational education in his district. In addition to being principal of the Vocational school, he was visiting in Atlanta at the time of the slaying.

Police were notified of the slaying by E. L. Luck who found the body in Prof. Johnson's automobile parked in front of the former's home. The school principal's head was crushed, his chin smashed, and his right ear torn away.

The fact that his pockets were found turned inside out, and two empty bottles were lying on the floor of the car, first led officials to a murder theory, but later these have been searching into his past life for a new "lead."

Kaiser Not Planning Return To Germany

BERLIN, July 2.—(INS)—No preparations are being made at present in Holland for the ex-Kaiser's return to Germany, made possible by a clause of the Reichstag to continue in force the law which kept him in exile. It was learned today. Reports have appeared in the Communist press that Hermann Goebbels is being groomed for the ex-Kaiser's return.

Count Von Helldorf, court marshal to the ex-Kaiser at Doorn, told International News Service over the long distance telephone the reports were without foundation. "Nothing is known about any plans for the Kaiser's return here," he said. "No preparations are being made."

Buying Wave Sends Industrial & Railroad Stock To High Peak

NEW YORK, July 2.—(INS)—Industrial and railroad stocks were swept into higher price levels today by another strenuous wave of investment and speculative buying, which concentrated principally on the steel, copper and manufacturing stocks. Assurance that the 15 per cent call loan rate, in effect today, was passing matter, to disappear within a day, or two were taken at their face value in Wall Street.

Since nearly a billion dollars have been paid out to investors—or will be paid before the week, in the form of interest, dividends and bond maturities, it was logical to believe that important investors were "in the market" for high grade stocks today. U. S. Steel's new advance to above 195 and New York central's jump to a record high price of 212 1/2, together with the record-breaking prices being bid up by American Can, General Electric and other high grade stocks could lead to but one conclusion, that investment buying of the long-pull variety was sweeping the market bare of stocks as fast as they were offered.

It required very little investment to bring up U. S. Steel up 3 points to 195 1/2, and Bethlehem up 2 1/2 to 114 1/2. Lullum, Crucible, Vanadium and other popular steel shares joined the advance, all reaching new high prices for the year. Kennecott lead the copper and Atlantic Refining the oils.

HAS SMALL PEACH CROP

MACON, Ga., July 2.—(INS)—This movement of peaches from Georgia will be the smallest since 1917, according to W. C. Hewitt, general manager of the Georgia Peach Growers' Exchange, in an estimate today he stated only 5,000 railcars of the fruit will be moved out of the state this year.

(continued from page one) and that "important announcement" is impending. There is no doubt for any of them, according to the State Department.

What actually is being done, according to the State Department, is to have Dawes and MacDonald go through an extensive exchange of views to ascertain if Great Britain and the United States can agree sufficiently between themselves to warrant another conference.

To hold another naval conference without a sympathetic understanding existing between the two powers, beforehand, is regarded by President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson as worse than futile. Any world-wide naval reduction must be predicated on an Anglo-American understanding as the two great naval powers of the world. Such an understanding is the keystone of the whole arch. Once it is accomplished, then the rest becomes comparatively simple.

Marian Nixon Makes Hit In 'Rainbow Man'

Since her appearance in the New York presentation of the new musical, Eddie Louck, all singing, all-acting picture, "The Rainbow Man," Marian Nixon, favorite of the silent screen, for more than five years, has been heralded as "the Mary Pickford of the musicals."

"The Rainbow Man" will be a musical comedy, and the title character is a young misadventurer to rise to Broadway fame. He meets the girl while stopping at her father's hotel in the picture. They fall in love, but he is rejected from the hotel and from the show when he is found in a love scene with the girl after her father had forbidden her the company of actors.

Later he is allowed to join his old troupe and it is while they are playing a small city near the girl's town a year later that he sees her in the audience while he is singing his song, "Sleepy Valley." He breaks the song and eludes with her for a return of his love, as the audience gazes, thinking it is a part of the show. But it is very real to Eddie and

Woman Is Wanted In Death Of Young Man

LEESBURG, Fla., July 2.—(INS)—A woman was wanted by authorities today in connection with the mysterious death of an up-country youth whose bullet-riddled body was found in the back of Lake Harris between Leesburg and Tavares, yesterday. Search for the woman was instituted when tracks of an automobile and the imprint of a small, high-heeled shoe were found on the banks of the lake near the spot the body was recovered.

The body was found by two negro boys fishing in the lake. They notified police. Efforts to identify the dead man have proved fruitless. No letters or other means of identification were found on the body except the word "Beig" stamped on the coat. The man was described as being about 25 years of age, dark complexion and with several gold teeth.

Doctors Disagree

When children are fretful and peevish, and their teeth and sleep restless, have digestive pains and distensions, lack of appetite, and are fidgeting, eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermicide, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, cold-fashioned remedy, which you can get at 25c per bottle from Sanford Drug Co., Lantry Drug Store, Home-Mat & Anderson Union Pharmacy.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE MIGHT OF GOD'S POWER.
By his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion.—Jeremiah 10:12.

PRAYER—"He fills the sun with morning light, He bids the moon direct the night."

TRANSITION

She will be comforted in many ways.
The sleepless hands of memory will bring
There's greatest magic to her, and the days
Will be repeating all a lover says
To one in whom she has discovered Spring.
(She would not have them say from street to street...
That she is made a barren one
That hers is shadow and a grief complete...
Neither to have them wonder on
The sweet
Composure of her eyes, her lips, her breath.)

She will find consolation with the old
And cool and cleanly fashion of the years
Partly in wind and rain, and in the gold
And green of June, partly in Winter's cold.
In these she will be soon recalling
Whose words have only changed to leaf and sun.

Make The Air Safe

The appalling series of air accidents which has occurred in the last ten days over the country and especially in the Long Island district should not be allowed to go by without a thorough investigation into the causes and the formulation of more rigid rules to prevent a recurrence. It is evident on the surface that the future of aviation lies in the establishment of confidence in the public mind that the air is a safe highway of travel and the only way to instill this confidence is by avoidance of accidents.

It is true that a number of the fatal mishaps befell airplanes which were being used to establish records and in the endeavor were being called upon for the last ounce of their endurance, leaving as it were, no margin of safety. This condition often excused because it is in the interest of aviation advancement should not be allowed to become such a menace to life that it gives flying a black eye, so to speak, with the public, and thereby defeats the very purpose for which it was intended. Stunt flying of all kinds should be restricted to exceptional instances and then only under the most favorable circumstances. The mania for establishing new records by amateurs who seek only the publicity obtained from such feats should be discouraged and if possible eliminated. Inspection of planes and issuance of pilots' licenses cannot receive too much attention. In general it should be the aim of everyone who has the interest of aviation at heart to do everything possible to make it safe.

Air transportation is already a success and its growth is only limited by the speed with which it wins converts to the realization that in the sky is the swiftest, safest, and most enjoyable means of going to one's destination. When people believe this, then the factories of the nation will not be able to make airplanes fast enough, airports of the country will be like railway terminals and distances will be reduced to a minor consideration. But all of this, as we have said before, is contingent upon eliminating practically all elements of danger from airplanes. Automobiles, dangerous as they are, don't need assurances that they are safe. People will always take a chance on the ground but when it comes to getting one's feet off the ground then the majority of us want to know that there is a one hundred percent guarantee that we will come down alive and intact.

What Is A Newspaper?

G. H. McEwen, secretary of the Associated Dailies of Florida, acting upon the suggestion of "one of our members," has proposed that the newspapers of the State refrain from printing any news items concerning the Mediterranean fruit fly. The Herald often hears such suggestions from sincere but timid souls outside of the newspaper fraternity, but this is the first time that we have heard anyone within the folds of journalism advance such an absurdity. It might be interesting to know just which "one of our members" had such a brilliant thought.

The Orlando Sentinel in vigorous style reacts to the McEwen suggestion in the following manner:

"If such concerted action should be taken, the Orlando Morning Sentinel will not be included in that action. The people of Florida and of the United States have a right to know the actual news relative to the Mediterranean fruit fly and the Orlando Morning Sentinel proposes to give it to them so long as there is a fly. So long as people do not know facts they are not in position to pursue constructive work. We have been giving our readers the facts as they were and have been carrying on a constructive editorial policy. There is no panic in this territory and people are doing business at the same old stands and have been carrying on a constructive force in this Mediterranean fruit fly battle. We are not giving publicity, we are publishing the news. That is what the people have a right to expect. In ignorance there is fear, in false rumors emanating from God knows where there are the spores of panic that spread with alarming rapidity. We refuse to conceal the essential facts. We are not members of the ostrich club sticking our heads in the sand. We know the common people have common sense enough to act as long as they know what they are about. We are for the people and propose to give them the news as long as we can get it. We will not be a party to any suppression."

And this from the double-barrelled shotgun of the editor of the Tampa Tribune concludes some of the expressions of disfavor to suppression of news in regard to the Medfly: "Whenever Florida newspapers descend to that low level of journalistic principle and respect for duty that they agree to suppress all the facts on a subject of statewide, yes nation-wide concern, they ought then to reach one agreement—to cease publication and confess that they have reached a stage of impotency and dishonesty that would make their continuance a disgrace to the state."

PEOPLE AND CLOTHES

INDIANAPOLIS NEWS

Casual observation might lead to the conclusion that men wear more clothes than women. The weight of men's clothing is far in excess of women's, but a man may wear the same suit daily for six months or a year, while a woman who can afford to do so wears many different costumes. A survey of certain New York industries by the Merchants' association of that city showed that the value of men's and boys' clothing made in New York in 1925 was $679,000,000, exclusive of work clothes. In 1927 it had dropped to $390,000,000. The value of women's clothing for 1927 was $1,145,000,000 an increase of $137,000,000 over 1925. Perfume, cosmetics and toilet products in New York increased from $206,000,000 in 1925 to $256,000,000 in 1927. Some men may have used perfume, face powder and toilet lotions after shaving, but women used most of them. Women used a greater variety of clothing than men, but there is no explanation of the decrease in men's clothing cost of $19,000,000 in 1927. Many men were increasing the size of their wardrobes by the addition of knickerbockers for sports wear, sweaters, lounging robes and other garments. Perhaps the manufacturers have been making their clothing of such good quality that it wears longer.

"Tom has nervous indigestion," explained Tom's wife, "and that makes him very irritable." For years Tom went about with his nervous indigestion and his irritability. But as time wore on, and Tom looked about him and began to realize which things are worth holding fast to and which things are not, he said to himself:

"Feeling a man, made in the image and likeness of God, it is rather up to me, I guess, to master my irritability, in spite of my nervousness."

Having come to that conclusion and pronounced it good, Tom began a campaign against his nervousness. It was no easy task. With his stomach constantly harassing him, and with his nerves itching as if a million

A middle name for international good will today is aviation. And failures in the air are apparently even more opportune to this good will than triumphs. A French transatlantic flight is almost spoiled by a thoughtless American stewardess and the beautiful manner in which the French subsequently treat the intruder warms every American heart to France. A Spanish flight falls and the generous rescue efforts on the part of ships of other nations bring grateful hordes of Spaniards to demonstrate in front of the British, French, Portuguese and Italian embassies in Madrid.

Tommy Aycock of Florida won the intercollegiate golf championship last week and Florida owes him more than meets the eye. Ever since Bobby Jones began bringing golf cups home to Peachtree Street the city of Atlanta has had a world championship complex which has translated itself into economics and politics as well as sports. Tommy Aycock, bringing one superlative home to Jacksonville, impresses in Jacksonville and other Floridians a taste for superlatives whose satisfaction may bring other glories in other fields.

Television, only a few months from its own infancy, gives birth to still another science. A process has been invented which makes possible the transmission by wire of color as well as form. Opportunely enough, the process may be perfected in time for a nationwide broadcast of Congressman De Priest's next mukdink in Washington.

Now that the legislature has devised a tax plan to make Florida more comfortable and solvent in the great house she has built for herself, the next step should be toward measures to stimulate such growth in population and wealth as will make the state big enough for this self-same house. Governor Carlton says Grossvenor Dowe, "has shown an unerring sense of instinct on the first thing first. Now that a wise, safe administration of county public funds has been provided for by the legislature of 1929, the question of living and making a living, as the very foundation of paying taxes, is uppermost."

It is not necessary to question the motives of those who are contesting in the courts the constitutionality of the Carlton tax measure. They are right in their contention that the legality of these measures under the constitution should be determined immediately. Not to do so before the county budgets are fixed might lead to all sorts of unpleasantments and even to bond defaults if the measures should be adjudged unconstitutional. It is hard to believe, of course, that the governor would have presented or pushed the tax bills without making fairly certain in advance that they would face the supreme court successfully.

restrain from biting her head off. Taking heart from that gain, Tom continued the scrap with more vigor.

Then Tom made a happy discovery. He found that as he gained control over his irritability his nervous indigestion decreased correspondingly. Now, there was a sure enough goal in sight, for hell hath no misery like nervous indigestion.

In the course of years of strict self-discipline, Tom overcame his irritability and his nervous indigestion simultaneously disappeared.

"The way it looks to me," said Tom, "is that originally it was my irritability that brought on my nervous indigestion, rather than that my nervous indigestion brought on my irritability; but having once acquired nervous indigestion, that increased my irritability; and my irritability increased my nervous indigestion."

Probably if we could realize just how much our mental attitude affects our physical health, we should gasp with amazement.

Quarantine Extended Against Fruit Insect

ORLANDO, Fla., July 3—(INS)—The state's front of quarantine against the olive Mediterranean fruit fly was extended yesterday with the discovery of new infestations in Pinellas and Levy counties. The new infestation in Pinellas County was found in the northern section of St. Petersburg and the extension of the quarantine line to include this district places practically the entire county within the closely guarded area.

The infestation in Levy County was four miles south of Williamson. A host tree was also discovered in the downtown section of Palatka and the business district of the city was placed in Zone 1.

Most of the latest infestations have been found in peaches although June orange blossoms are reported suffering to some extent.

Chris Stephenson Held Charged With Murder Of Fugitive

message, the widow related that she used Stephenson's car for the purpose of leading Jenkins off on a side road, where the deputy was to place the fugitive under arrest. Jenkins followed the car a short distance down the road and then, according to testimony offered by the deputy and the widow, Jenkins resisted arrest. Stephenson fired six times, five of the bullets entering Jenkins' body.

Testimony offered today indicated that the party of three, Stephenson and the two women, drove to Sanford after the killing, leaving the body lying on the shore of Lake Egbert. A few hours later they returned to the office of Sheriff Cassidy, where Stephenson told of killing Jenkins and surrendered.

Members of the jury said that lack of blood on or in the car, or at the place where the body was found, brought doubt in their minds as to the story as told by the principals. In addition, another bit of information concerning a change of clothing by Stephenson, as told by Deputy Wilcox of Sorrento, was further to be investigated.

Local authorities, commenting upon the slaying today, said Jenkins had a "bad reputation." He was recently arrested on liquor charges following a raid by sheriff's deputies upon the Blue Chip, but was later released when the wrong name appeared on the officers' search warrant. He was said to have served a term in Raiford and local police nabbed him one time on a reckless driving charge on which he drew a $50 fine.

Stephenson today retained the services of George A. DeCottis, who was seeking to gain his client's release on bond without going through the preliminary of habeas corpus proceedings. Failing to do this, the attorney, friends of Stephenson said, would institute action to force release of the deputy.

ernment has nothing to do. American interest in reparations is, at best, academic.

"No bank or banker in the world," said one official, "would take a note from a borrower if there was a proviso in the note that the obligation would be repaid only if the borrower succeeded in collecting a similar amount from another party. That is the situation in a nutshell."

Reservations inside the agreement and reservations outside the agreement, however, are two different things. If the French chamber chooses to adopt a separate resolution setting forth the feeling of the chamber that France should pay the United States only in proportion as she collects from Germany there is no way Washington can prevent it. Such a resolution, of course, would have no legal effect whatever. But making such a resolution a part of the act of ratification would be entirely another matter.

Railroads May Be Involved In Strike Brewing In St. Louis

CHICAGO, July 3—(INS)—Eastern, western and southern railroads today were threatened with a labor strike following the taking of a strike vote by locomotive engineers employed by the Missouri Pacific lines and the terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis. The engineers seek to compel the latter two entities to recognize an "industrial grievance agreement with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers."

It was reported that Engineers of the Santa Fe, the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific were demanding a similar contract, that negotiations have reached an impasse and that a strike vote by them was expected shortly. Other roads probably will become involved unless the controversy is settled. It was said, The United States Board of Mediation is expected to intervene, however, before the disagreement reached the walkout stage.
