

AGENCIES SEEK TO AID VICTIMS OF TORNADES

More Than 300 Lives Are Lost And Hundreds Are Injured; Damage Extensive

MONTGOMERY, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—Every agency of the state today joined with Red Cross disaster relief workers to bring order from the chaos created by a series of destructive tornadoes that dipped into more than a score of communities in five southern states Monday night causing more than 300 deaths. Most of the dead were buried yesterday and the injured hundreds have been placed either in hospitals or comfortable homes. Additional reports trickling in from communities cut off by littered roads and broken communication lines brought the death figures in the five states yesterday to 230. Unofficial estimates placed the injured in excess of 2500 and the homeless at 7000.

The deaths were divided by state as follows: Alabama, 269; Georgia, 27; Tennessee, 18; North Carolina, 2; and Kentucky, 2.

In Alabama, where the greatest death toll was wrought, Governor Miller began a personal inspection tour of the stricken communities. He planned first to visit Chilton county, where more than 1000 people were killed.

Glass Bill Termed Dangerous Act For Banks Business

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—The Glass bill designed to regulate the operations of banks and trust companies and to provide facilities for liquidation was criticized before the Senate banking committee yesterday on the grounds it contains features "dangerous" to national banks and fraught with possible injury to business.

Asserting that what the financial world needs now is a "real cure" Harry J. Haas, president of the American Bankers association, told the senators enactment of the measure would be "most unfortunate at a time like this when business is trying to get under way."

A provision increasing the interest rate on 15-day loans by federal reserve member banks was assailed by Allan M. Pope, president of the Investment Bankers association of America, as "extremely deflationary and dangerous."

The author of the bill and co-author of the present federal reserve law—Senator Glass of Virginia—challenged the representatives of the two great banking organizations frequently.

On the objection that a limitation on the volume of investment securities a bank might hold would force them to throw billions of dollars worth of them on a depressed market, adding to economic troubles, Senator Glass explained the provision only to securities made hereafter and not to securities on hand.

Beauty Parlor Owner Is Held For Ransom

LINCOLN, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—Miss Laurel Morrison, 39, Aurora beauty parlor operator, is missing today and police expressed the belief she was kidnaped for $1000. A ransom letter demanding that amount was received at Aurora by Miss Morrison's partner in business but while neither its contents nor address on the envelope were in the missing woman's handwriting, the writer explained the substance was "dictated" by another individual.

The letter demanded that the money be mailed to Miss Morrison in care of general delivery here and police were notified at the postoffice to apprehend anyone trying to deliver a letter to her. The letter has been missing since Monday.

STEAMER CANAL ACROSS FLORIDA DRAWS ATTACK

Additional Costs To Vessels Pointed To As Against Project

MIAMI BEACH, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—Arthur Brisbane of New York, editor and publisher, told the Miami Beach committee at 100 that construction of a canal across Florida to save boats the 1000-mile journey around the state from the ocean to the gulf would be a sane, economic step and would bring much new wealth to the state.

"It is inconceivable that a nation with the resources and energy to build the Panama canal should blithely pass over an opportunity to build one or more canals across Florida," Brisbane said in an address last night. He said he was informed steamship traffic around the tip of Florida exceeded by one-third the traffic through the Panama canal each year.

Herbert M. Corse, chairman of the Waterways Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, will broadcast a special and vital message on the St. Johns River and its development, over station WJAX this afternoon at 8:45 o'clock.

Mr. Corse is one of the leaders in the move to construct a canal across Florida as well as between the St. Johns and Indian Rivers. A radio unit was installed at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce offices in the City Hall for the purpose of picking up Mr. Corse's address and broadcasting it to the chamber of commerce secretaries and presidents from Seminole, Brevard, Orange, Lake, and Osceola counties, who will be gathered here listening to an address by Ralph Bradford, high official of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

B. F. WHEELER ENTERS RACE FOR LAW BODY

Well-Known Grower And Civic Leader Of Oviedo Announces In Group Number 2

Assaulting his friends and supporters that conservatism in performing the function of the law he seeks to be the basis of his platform during the coming campaign, B. F. Wheeler, well-known Oviedo citrus grower and civic leader, today announced his candidacy for the office of Representative from Seminole County in Group Two.

Mr. Wheeler's announcement comes after several days' careful consideration of appeals from close friends that he enter the race in the interests of the county. An appreciation of their active solicitation and promises of support is contained in Mr. Wheeler's brief declaration of an intent to re-enter politics after an absence of slightly more than one year.

The newest candidate for office in this county is a native of Florida. He was born in Deeco county in 1878. He has lived in Oviedo since he was 11 years of age, and his early education was gained in Oviedo and Deeco county schools.

At the age of 15, Mr. Wheeler became connected with the railroad industry, and for more than 20 years, until eight years ago, he took an active part in the many duties which led to steady advancements during the years. He served as a representative of the Railroad Telegraphers Union for nearly 15 years, and also represented the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen as general chairman during the latter portion of his connection with the railroad.

For the past 20 years, Mr. Wheeler has extended his activities in the citrus and agricultural industry, and he is well known as a successful grower and shipper. Fifteen years ago he formed the new extensive Nelson and Company packing concern, and he is now its president.

Mr. Wheeler formerly served Seminole County as a Commissioner for two terms. He has been out of office for slightly more than a year.

As a successful business man and grower, Mr. Wheeler is widely known in Sanford and throughout the county. He has traveled extensively during recent years, and there are few important places in North America that he has not visited either on business or pleasure. He is a member in the Oviedo Baptist Church.

Peace Parley Ends As General Chiang Walks Out On Japs

SHANGHAI, Mar. 23 (A.P.)—Just when the neutral negotiators thought things were looking better, the Sino-Japanese peace parley broke up yesterday as Gen. Chiang Kuang-Nai, the Chinese delegate, discovered that the head of the Japanese group was only a lieutenant-general, and thus inferior to him in rank.

General Chiang walked out and said he would not come back until the Japanese spokesman had been replaced by a full general. The difference in rank, he said, was a reflection on the Chinese army.

At the same time there arose a threat of new fighting. The Japanese said the Chinese troops were edging back toward Shanghai inside the 12 1/2-mile safety zone and that the Japanese were preparing to take strong measures to prevent any encroachment upon that limit.

Chinese soldiers crossed Szechow creek at Chi-Wangmiao, Japanese observers said. This point is inside the zone of evacuation laid out by General Uvedo in his ultimatum of Feb. 20.

As for the peace parley, it was generally expected it would be resumed Thursday, possibly with Gen. Tai Chi, commanding the Chinese garrison at Shanghai, in place of Gen. Chiang Kuang-Nai.

Famous Diving Star Succumbs To Injury

MIAMI, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Anne Booker, famous diving star, whose back was broken in a high dive at Vienna three years ago, died in the hospital today. The end came bravely, despite a broken back, attracted famous surgeons and bone specialists to study her case.

Mother Mary Alice of St. Francis Hospital said Miss Booker died as she faced her injuries smiling and conscious. "She had known for two weeks the end was near," Mother Mary Alice said. "We never tried to deceive Ann as to her true condition. She was much too brave a person." Next Monday would have been Ann's 23rd birthday.

Leonard, who accepted the chairmanship of a general committee to sponsor the work locally, acted as chairman of the luncheon meeting, and introduced the various speakers.

ORAL ARGUMENTS BEGUN BY TOWNS ON UTILITIES TAX

Several State Cities Seek To Show Law Is Unconstitutional

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—An attack by seven Florida municipalities on the state utilities tax law will reach the oral argument stage soon in state courts.

The cities of Lakeland, Jacksonville, Orlando, Bartow, Fort Meade, Clearwater and Leesburg assail the 1931 legislative act as unconstitutional and seek an injunction halting Comptroller Amos from enforcing the law.

Attorney Judge E. C. Love will lead the state attorneys and counsel for the cities argue the case at Quincy.

The law levies a tax of $1.50 on each $100 gross revenue of corporations, firms or individuals from the sale or use of electric utility, gas, light, heat and power, and for telephones and telegraphs. Municipalities which produce or sell power and light to the public are included in the scope of the enforcement clause.

The attacking municipalities all claim with municipal utilities have challenged the state law's validity as well as the right of the legislature to extend the law to apply in municipal corporations which deal in public utilities.

In attacking the law, the cities advanced the following claims:

1. That the tax imposed by the act is not a license, excise tax and not an ad valorem tax, hence it must be an income tax and if so, contrary to the state constitution, which prohibits an income tax in Florida.
2. That the title of the act is defective and in several respects violative of the state constitution.
3. That the law is not and does not apply to municipal corporations, since municipal property is exempt from taxation.
4. That the whole act is ambiguous, indefinite, uncertain, unreasonable and confiscatory.

The utilities tax law went into effect July 1, 1931, and all corporations, firms and individuals subject to its terms were required to file their first returns with the state comptroller not later than Mar. 15.

Comptroller Amos yesterday said his office had collected a total of $1,500,000 under the law in date and that many returns were made without the actual payment being made. He said the attacking municipalities did this.

Solon Says Americans Dying Of Starvation

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Representative Charles McNary, Democrat, Massachusetts, yesterday told the House Rules Committee that "Americans are dying of starvation by the hundreds" and appealing for legislative relief.

He said that in the last 100 days 1,000,000 people in Italy had died of starvation.

"Their bodies are found in the streets and in the mountains and in the fields," he said.

Committee chairman of the Labor committee, explained he would introduce legislation to grant emergency relief by cooperation of the federal government with the several states in relieving the hardship and suffering caused by unemployment.

"The relief committee took it under consideration."

MORGAN OKEYS BLOCK-AID IDEA IN RADIO TALK

Unique Relief Plan To Be Instituted In N.Y. Next Week Favored By Noted Financier

NEW YORK, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—John D. Morgan, in his first radio speech last night, advocated a unique relief plan which he said he fully expected "will prove in large measure to be the most pressing solution of the most pressing problem of our country today."

"We have reached," he said, "a point where the aid of governments or the gifts of individuals, no matter how generous, are insufficient to meet the conditions which have come upon us."

In calling upon everyone to "do his bit," Mr. Morgan said:

"I must remind you that many people are too proud and too busy to reveal their possessions to charitable organizations or to state and city relief agencies. These people suffer in silence, often their sufferings and afflictions are agonously ill."

The plan he outlined, he said, would also go far toward solving that problem. It is the "block-aid plan" in the general direction of the Emergency Unemployment Relief committee, which Mr. Morgan said has raised and is now distributing over $18,000,000 for relief.

The financier told how 10 "block-aiders" in each of New York City's 10,000 blocks will start out Monday on a canvass of their sections, seeking out those who need relief and asking contributions from others.

"In collecting these funds," he said, "the block-aiders will not be asked for large sums which would be embarrassing to those who earn moderate salaries. Most people will be asked for 10 cents a week for 20 weeks. Those who feel they can afford it without undue hardship may give 25 cents, 50 cents or one dollar."

It is not a plan to raise a great amount of money from comparatively few people. But it is the only plan that has been seen in which a great sum may be raised in a period of months and without undue hardship on any giver, and a sum coming from a far greater number of people than has ever before been sought into our common effort for the good of the community.

"The block-aid plan is the right one," he concludes, "because it is only those who have little and only those who have much, and asking for help for relief work in such small amounts that no one who has spent with his own eyes or heard from others of the greatness of the need will hesitate to give the sum asked."

STIMSON STARTS STORMY DEBATE ON REVISED PACT

Letter On U.S. Adherence To World Court Center Of Wrangle

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—Secretary Stimson precipitated a stormy debate in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday with a letter asserting the revised protocol for American adherence to the World Court fully carries out the Senate's reservations.

Some committee members promptly contended the cabinet members' declaration regarding the advisory jurisdiction of the court was at variance with previous statements he has made.

Others expressed resentment that the secretary of state had prepared his letter for publication without asking the committee's consent.

A heated discussion ended with a motion to ask the secretary again to appear before the committee for questioning. He was unable to testify yesterday because of a slight indisposition.

Last night the World Court controversy was involved in fresh combats with the whole dispute centering upon the question which (Continued on Page Three)

Anti-Hoarding Drive Is Proving Success

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—A decrease of $157,000,000 in currency in circulation since the inauguration of President Hoover's anti-hoarding campaign is making a definite trend toward bringing money out of hiding, it was announced today by Secretary Mills.

The secretary also said that bank failures had dropped from five in the week ending Mar. 11. It was disclosed that the Reconstruction Corporation has about used up its $100,000,000 which the Treasury subscribed to its stock and another $200,000,000 he prophesied about the present or future conditions.

Roosevelt Scores 10 to 1 Victory In Georgia Election

Will Assume Burden Of Repudiated Note On Alleged Deal

NEW YORK, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—John J. Raskob yesterday pledged himself to "make good on my endorsement" of the $70,000 in notes Timothy J. Mara and Patrick E. Keany signed as their share of the $1,000,000 fund to underwrite the deficit from the 1928 Democratic presidential campaign.

Saying he "personally endorsed these notes purely as a matter of accommodation to these gentlemen," Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, said he would pay any amount the County Trust Company is unable to collect from them.

His statement was issued simultaneously with a denial by Supreme Court Justice Sweeney of an application of the trust company for a bill of particulars setting forth certain points in the defense of Mara, sports promoter. The company is suing Mara for payment on a $50,000 note and Keany on a $20,000 note.

Mara and Keany, a Yonkers contractor, have asserted they signed the notes as an accommodation to the County Trust Company in furtherance of what they termed a fraudulent scheme by the trust company to conceal contributions to the 1928 Democratic campaign fund.

The trust company asked the court to order Mara to disclose the names of those who induced him to make the note.

Raskob said the County Trust Company, of which former Gov. (Continued on Page Five)

Preferred Primary Finds Friends Of Governor Swamping Garner Supporter

ATLANTA, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—Democrats of Georgia stamped their state yesterday for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and joined New Hampshire and North Dakota in declaring their preference for him to head the Democrats in the presidential campaign.

An impressive majority was rolled up for the New York governor and he swamped Judge G. H. Howard, who ran for Speaker John N. Garner in yesterday's preferential primary.

Of the first 125 counties to report, Governor Roosevelt received all of the county unit votes to insure that the state convention which meets in Atlanta Apr. 6 will elect a solid Roosevelt delegation to cast the state's 28 votes in the Democratic national convention at Chicago.

These counties gave the New York governor 530 unit votes in none for Howard. The popular vote for the governor was 43. (Continued on Page Four)

Hoover Signs Bill Insuring Labor's Right To Cooperate

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—President Hoover last night signed the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction bill outlawing the "yellow dog" contract and safeguarding labor's right to bargain collectively.

In signing the measure, the president made public a lengthy letter from Attorney General Mitchell, discussing various arguments against the bill but recommending that it be approved.

The anti-injunction measure provides among other things:

- 1. Avoidance of the "yellow dog" contract which forbids employees from joining labor unions and grants public recognition of labor's right to organize.
- 2. The right of defendants in contempt suits to a jury trial and a transfer of judges.
- 3. Rigid limitation of injunctions to labor disputes without prior hearings and findings of fact unless unlawful acts have been committed, substantial injury to property is in prospect or officers are so unable or unwilling to furnish protection.

Attorney General Mitchell's letter asserted there were various aspects of the bill "the constitutionality of which has been questioned."

He said, however, the questions were of such nature "that they can only be acted at rest by judicial decision."

BASEBALL CLUBS ARE CONCLUDING TRAINING SEASON

Perfect Weather Has Been Big Factor In Making For Success

By CULLEN CAIN
ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 23.—With only a week to go, eight major league clubs making ready for the 1932 flag race in Florida are on the last lap of one of the most successful training seasons they have known in many years. Three weeks out of four have yielded perfect baseball weather, and I do not believe a single club lost more than two days of work while down here. But little sickness and no bad accidents thus far. The attendance has been very good, although the big crowds of past years have fallen off some in St. Petersburg.

It is hard to even discuss the matter but nevertheless the facts compel me to state that our league has lost a lot of inter-league struggles with clubs of the younger circuit. The Boston Braves, long the champions of the Grapefruit League, have been beaten with regularity by the Yankees. And yet in the past when the Braves beat the Yanks with regularity there same Braves would wend their way northward and play second division ball. While the beaten Yanks would wince at Florida state clean and parade as a first division club in their major league.

It may well be that the slow start of the Braves presages a better season for the good Juggo. Tuckman when he gets to Boston town. Surely last year he spent a lot of money for new talent and has added a batting punch to go with that fine pitching staff. Knothe, Shires, Leach, Urdianski and Akers all are bound to hit the ball for McKeechie, Worthington and Schalmierich, those husky outfielders, playing their second year, and both of them natural sluggers, may well make the Braves this year.

By the old reverse rule of contraries, I should say, watch the Braves this year. They have lost too many games in the Grapefruit League to be trifled with by National League contenders.

The Cincinnati Reds, after dropping two in a row to the Athletics, are over in Clearwater today for a row with the Brooklyn club. The Reds look to be a vastly improved team over last year in spite of their reverses at the hands of the Maroons. They kicked away an easy victory over the A's last Sunday and they showed impressively behind rookie pitching yesterday in Fort Myers.

Howley has more punch on his team, even if that punch has not yet begun to function. Wally Rottger is a good hitter, and so is Andy High. Grantham will hit as well as Cucinello, who was the punch of the club last year. And Herman, the ex-Brooklyn Babe, ought to come back this year and slug the ball with all his old vigor and abandon.

Do you know, if Howley should decide to use Morrissey, his promising young shortstop, that he would present an entire new infield over that one of last year. Dan has made sweeping and radical changes in his 1931 Red model, and I admire his courage and initiative in doing so. He had a last place team, and he would have been carrying faith and conservatism too far if he had stood pat on that club. Win, lose or draw, I am for him in his big Brooklyn trade. He had to gamble, and so did Max Carey. The deal may help both clubs.

I note that Howley is sweet on Mickey Heath, the young first baseman, purchased for a lot of money from the coast last year and laid up most of last season with a broken arm. And I note also that Mickey is prone to strike out this spring with his bat on his shoulder. At that he swung his bat for a home run in Fort Myers Monday. Howley knows his young ball players mighty well, and if Heath comes through for him he will make a lot of trouble for teams that found the Reds easy last year. There are at least a half dozen possibilities that may make the Reds this year.

One of the most pleasing features of the training try for me thus far was the manner in which my old friend, Epps Raley, pitched against the A's last Sunday. The old master had a dinky but fast-breaking curve that made the Mackmen dizzy. He ought to have won his game with relief, but Grantham's misplay at second a double play ruined the day for both the old master and me. Raley, the veteran from Clearwater, Fla., and dean of all National League pitchers excepting the industrialists, John McGraw, was reminded of his two years of his last pitching.

He was winded after scoring on that hit and yielded the only blow of his five-inning stay on the mound. A grand character is Raley and a credit to Culpepper and to the game.

Silas Johnson has shown enough in early games this spring to justify the belief that he will be one of the stars of his league next summer.

Never doubt it, the Reds will be a much stouter team in 1932. Funny thing about baseball. Dizzy Dean came south last month the most widely advertised pitcher in the majors. He had a rino, league record to marvel at. And along with him to the same camp came Tex Carleton without sound of drum or trumpet. And Dean has been batted from the box three or four times, while Carleton has pitched 15 innings of scoreless ball for the Cardinals champions. Watch this Carleton boy. He uses a little of everything in the box but he uses his head also, which is most important of all.

The Carls are off to a slow start in the training season, but they will have the same smart, fast aggressive, well-trained club of last year in the field when the bell rings. Gilbert has signed and Jim Collins is working in left field. They have been trying out a raft of rookies and adding their veterans back. Hallahan looks even better than last year, and so does Derringer. I should say that much depended upon the Jess Haines shoulder. Martin will play great ball this year as sure as fate. He has the class and he has the sound sense to carry him far.

If that young Mallon continues as he has started the Phillies will have one stout infield this year, the best they have known for a decade or more. All five men are hitters and they can field. Davis, the St. Paul rookie outfielder, has shown well and so have some of their new pitchers. The Phillies have made a decided impression in the orange groves this spring.

Max Carey will send a well-trained team to the barrier next month. The Brooklyn players have worked hard and they show spirit and earnestness. Hack Wilson needs to have found himself again, and with Wright playing on sound legs the club will have to be reckoned with. Carey has a flock of the oldest and youngest pitchers in captivity and much will depend upon how they shape up for the regular season. He has added real strength and class to his infield in Joe Stripp. A potential team, the Brooklyn.

Word from the coast is that McGraw's Giants show a world of class and power. This is the team, say coast observers, that the flag winner will have to beat. And the C.B.s have picked up two stars in Stanley Eck and Bill Herman. These infielders make the Cubs a dangerous contender.

Agricultural development in Florida during the season 1930-31 amounted to a valuation of $97,072,214.

Life Sentence In Gin Case Must Be Served

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Fred Palm will have to serve the sentence that has been imposed upon him by Michigan for having a pint of gin in his home in Lansing.

The Supreme Court yesterday refused to take a hand in the case.

Palm was convicted in 1927 and sentenced to from six months to two years in the state penitentiary as second offender. Later it was found that he was a fourth offender which under Michigan law requires the imposition of a life sentence.

He was re-sentenced to life, but this was later commuted by the governor to an indeterminate sentence of from seven and one-half to fifteen years which he is now serving.

The fourth game of the Junior High School baseball league, played at the Ninth Street diamond yesterday afternoon was a slug-fest in which the Athletics under Captain Brown, scored a 14 to 2 victory over the Senators.

Saucer and Lawson were the batting heroes of the game, Saucer going out four hits in five at-bats, including a double, and Lawson getting two hits in three tries. Allman also hit a double.

Food Facts

Gelatin Is Valuable Protein

SOME persons regard gelatin as merely a decorative dessert and "heartier" for "meat" increments with little food value of its own. In reality it is a source of the most important body building and repair foods.

Gelatin brings to that great family of protein-rich foods a host of other prominent members are milk, eggs, cheese, meat and fish. It contains the food elements which build and repair the tissues of the body and promote its growth. Not only is it one of the easiest of all foods to digest, but it is an important factor in aiding the digestion of other foods. For the reason gelatin is often added, unflavored, to soups, broths, and gravies and is used in the menu of hospitals.

Recent scientific laboratory tests show that gelatin contains a large amount of a substance often lacking in many foods so that gelatin supplements these and makes a more perfect food for keeping muscles and bones in constant repair, and is invaluable as an aid to the proper growth of strong, healthy girls and boys.

There is no doubt but that gelatin deserves a prominent place in the daily menu of children, invalids, and adults, especially nowadays, when it may be purchased in the convenient quick-setting prepared form, each package containing pure high grade gelatin, pure vegetable coloring, pure cane sugar and delicate fruit-flavored crystals. In gelatin, healthful dietetic qualities and decided food value combine to delight the palate and satisfy the body.

Fourth Dimension Theory Is Handed Additional Boost

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—A statement that may shed light on the possibility that there is "fourth" dimension to the universe has a fourth dimension besides length, width and breadth was issued yesterday by Professor Albert Einstein and William Sitter through the national academy of sciences.

Einstein and Sitter, who represent two different schools of thought on the structure of the universe, have been making joint studies in California. Sitter wintered at the Mount Wilson observatory. The study is "on the relation between the expansion and the mean density of the universe."

Pointing out that the curvature of three-dimensional space may be positive, negative or zero, the statement goes on to say: "There is no direct observational evidence for the curvature, the only directly observed data being the mean density and the expansion, which latter proves that the actual universe corresponds to the non-static case."

The statement ends by saying: "We must conclude that at the present time it is possible to represent the facts without assuming a curvature of three-dimensional space."

ASKS VETERANS' COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Creation of a committee to handle veterans' legislation was urged in the Senate Rules Committee yesterday by John Thomas Taylor, legislative representative of the American Legion. Taylor asserted the Finance Committee, which now handles veterans' legislation, was too busy with fiscal matters to give sufficient attention to bills affecting former soldiers.

An Unfair Attack

We hold no brief for Representative LaGuardia of New York. Most of his ideas on governmental legislation have been at variance with this paper's, but in justice to the Empire State's law maker, we express our regret over that part of the Chicago Tribune's attack upon him in which it said "LaGuardia, who is an alien in mind and spirit from Americanism, who has no loyalty to our form of government and shows every indication that he is willing to destroy it". We condemn such a statement as being untrue and unwarranted and not in keeping with what should be a dignified editorial treatment of political difference.

However little regard anyone may have for LaGuardia, however repugnant his foreign-sounding name may be to native-born Americans, however contrary his political views may be to any other faction, at least it can never be said that he is disloyal to his country, at least the Chicago Tribune wouldn't have dared say so when he was going over the top as a soldier in the American army during the World War.

The "Prosperity" Song

President Hoover has suggested that it would be nice if Rudy Vallee could write a song that would drive away the depression. The suggestion has some merit for music can have the qualities to register a big effect upon human beings. The question is has the depression reached that stage where it can be cast more to mental than actual conditions.

There can be no doubt that the mental attitude of the public has had much to do with prolonging the depression, but it is also a certainty that speculation, over-loading, and inflated values had produced a condition which had to be readjusted before the processes of recovery could be brought into play.

If and when business has been placed upon a conservative foundation compatible with the exigencies of hard times, it won't be long before the need for a "prosperity" song will have passed, and the people will voluntarily be singing "Good Times Are Here Again".

Always Ready

Press dispatches tell of relief work being done by the American Legion in the tornado devastated areas of the South. This is nothing new for that organization for in every national emergency the Legion has always been on the job and has acquitted itself in an admirable manner. In its work to get employment for many idle men throughout the country recently the Legion has been again successful, and in commenting upon the splendid efforts the Times-Union says:

"When, not long ago, the American Legion proposed to find employment for one million men, then unemployed, there were comparatively few who said it couldn't be done, that the proposition was impracticable, and therefore doomed to failure. These few, however, are not among those of the Legion who are outstanding as the doers of good and worthy things.

"Men of the Legion who do things, some of which at first seemed impossible of accomplishment, bravely and heartily accepted the proposition to find places of employment for idle members of the Legion, as well as for other American citizens, and went to work with a will, aided by the National Advertisers Association, the American Federation of Labor and the Legion Auxiliary, with the result that in the closing days of last week the Associated Press reported that wage-earning positions had been found for more than a quarter of a million, with the good work still going forward toward the 1,000,000 mark."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

At a recent meeting of the Sanford Lodge of Elks, the following officers were elected: E. W. Rowland, exalted ruler; R. E. Runge, Leading Knight; R. F. Symes, Loyal Knight; Oruse Barnes, Lecturing Knight; O. L. Taylor, secretary; L. P. McCuller, treasurer; J. F. Karnata, iller; Forrest Lake, trustee; and W. D. Holden, representative.

Last Saturday was one of the busiest days of the year for Sanford merchants. On account of the large number of hands engaged in the celery fields, a large amount of money is being spent, and last Saturday night the streets were crowded.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Jr., will regret to learn that Mr. Barnes' father, who has been his guest for some time, has been ill for three weeks. He is so much better now that Mr. and Mrs. Barnes will leave Wednesday or Thursday, as Mrs. E. S. Seegrist, sister of Mr. Barnes, has arrived and will care for her father. Mrs. Barnes will visit her parents in Pensacola, while Mr. Barnes will go to Bes-

Phar Lap's victory in the Agua Caliente Handicap proves that the story preceding the arrival of the Australian gelding were not fairy tales. JAPAN DROPS THE VEIL

The strong reactionary movement in Japan, which is putting in jeopardy the very existence of representative government, now appears to be out in the open. Such intimations as have come to this country of the growing popularity of a so-called "Fascist" movement in Japan have hitherto come indirectly or have been between the lines of the direct news dispatches. There appeared in this newspaper yesterday, however, a full and frank discussion of the strength of the movement, quoting Japanese newspaper comment upon it, which was called from Tokyo. One can only assume that a censorship on press discussion of this movement has been abandoned. If this assumption is correct, it means that the military believes that the action now has such a firm hold upon the popular imagination that an amount of publicity can reverse the trend.

The most significant feature of the "Fascist" party program is the determination expressed to abandon emulation of the Occident and its institutions and get "back to Asia." This tendency has certainly been hastened and popularized by Japan's difficulties with the League of Nations and by diplomatic clashes with the individual powers, including the United States; but it was not inspired by these irritants. It has been inspired by a growing distrust within powerful conservative circles of the wisdom of trying to fit the garment of Western democratic theory upon an Oriental nation. This distrust had only deepened and spread, under the surface, as imported fashions in politics have grown, superficially, in popularity. The sentiment, which has now erupted in such a widespread demand for a long step backward, is that the party politician is a conspirator, too engrossed in the political game to be a patriotic statesman and give the people disinterested service when in office. The further popular conclusion has come to be, in the course of Japan's recent adventures in China, that the military man is the only

WHAT WE HAVE, WHAT WE NEED

Florida is favored. The continent-courting Arthur Brisbane is in the state—and writing about it. It is unusual for the versatile Mr. Brisbane to devote one entire "Today" column to one subject. He did that in Tuesday's Tribune—his sole subject, Florida.

Quoting as we read: "Florida, a wonderful country, a great natural sanatorium, room for millions * * * flowers red, scarlet, purple, blue in all directions * * * dotted with infinite numbers of lakes * * * great groves of orange and grapefruit are everywhere * * * the health of the nation needs all the citrus fruit the country can produce * * * what marvels human industry, modern agricultural methods and capital could work in this state * * * everything in abundance here, fish, game, fruit, vegetables, sunshine, everything that human happiness requires. * * * A few years and this magnificent state will have 25,000,000 inhabitants with such wealth and values as the wildest real estate speculator would never have dared imagine * * * come to Florida if you can't get whether rich or not rich * * * hard my accommodations here for all that have enough to support themselves."

Mr. Brisbane cites three needs of the state—one, a few more men like Flagler and Carl Fisher; another, a great deal more hard work; another, getting rid of the handicap of "imperfect distribution" of our products, which separates the consumer from the fruit.

Then, a friend speaks kindly and encouragingly to us, pointing out our advantages yet reminding us of our defects.

"Human industry, modern agricultural methods, capital"—is it to these that Florida must look for its further advancement? It must encourage the war, build the second, buy the third. Also, which

The proposed insurance rates, they said, would be increased to 100 percent, naturally in proportion to the amount of risk involved in a voyage through a narrow canal. The proposed canal would be a great risk to the ships.

The opponents of the canal project, they said, would enter the canal in a general estimate, but it is true, it means a ship every day. If one vessel caught fire, grounded, or met any other mishap, as they inevitably would occasionally in a narrow canal, it would greatly endanger the other ships. The insurance rates would have to be increased to meet this added risk.

The time saved in going through the canal would be offset by the necessity of stopping at the narrow canal, it was pointed out. Furthermore, the shipping men and operators and owners would not use the canal by night. A ship would enter the Panama canal by 5 P. M. or wait until the next day, they said.

Going at necessarily slow speed a ship could pass through the canal 100 miles in 24 hours daylight time," they explained. "This means 24 hours actual time. Around the straits the ship would take full day and night, with assistance of the gulf stream."

"If a ship would enter the canal every 15 minutes, sufficient width for a two-way traffic would be necessary. This would be necessary for the altitude of the interior of the state is too high for a canal. There would be the necessity of constructing 23 railroads and highway bridges. The cost of the canal and the bridges would amount to an enormous sum."

The canal would cost the government $200,000,000, with an additional million a year operating expenses. There could be no return to help meet this cost, as said

Fredric March's Talent Tested In New Picture

That versatile actor Fredric March, who last appeared as both "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," has found another role demanding extraordinary talents. This time the story is a modern, swift-moving comedy entitled "Strangers In Love." As its hero Mr. March performs no peculiar feats of make-up; but as "Buddy" Drake he is required to impersonate his own brother Arthur in a situation that is full of amusing difficulties.

Based on William J. Locke's last novel, "The Shorn Lamb," this new Paramount picture is primarily the story of a black sheep who returns from his extensive wanderings just in time to step into the shoes of an outwardly respectable relative who has, in sober fact, been up to all sorts of tricks. To regain his own property, misappropriated by the respectable Arthur, Buddy the black sheep must be successful in a masquerade made possible by an extraordinary resemblance, but rendered perilous by many complications.

Worst of Buddy's problems are those connected with his brother's intricate love life. The late Arthur Drake maintained very friendly relations with a beautiful blonde (Juliette Compton) who embarrasses Buddy by assuming that the relationship will continue. Arthur's secretary (Kay Francis) is much more attractive to Buddy, but she, alas, treats him with the suspicion and contempt she felt for Arthur.

In comparison with these entanglements the fact that Arthur was an eminent Egyptologist, while Buddy doesn't know a mummy from a sacred scarab, seems insignificant; but Buddy's ignorance of this hobby furnishes a good deal of hilarity. More comedy is contributed by Stuart Erwin in a role of friendly advice and that of two hangers-on, Kay Francis and Sidney Toler, who make "Strangers In Love," playing tonight and Friday at the Milane, a picture certain to please you.

The revised protocol amply safeguards the Senate's reservation of 1926 limiting advisory opinions by the court on questions in which this country has, or claims to have, an interest, without the consent of this government.

Stimson in his letter to the committee said:

"The protocol fully accents the five reservations of the Senate resolution of 1926, and thereby imposes the jurisdictional restriction upon the World Court as to advisory opinions which was sought by the fifth reservation of the Senate."

"Our views as to the necessities and proprieties of judicial procedure have been adopted, and we are offered the opportunity by adherence to throw the great influence of this country into a development of this court along the lines which have made American judicial procedure cherished and famous."

Senator Pittman, a friend of the court, promptly contended in the committee's executive session that Mr. Stimson's declaration was "an apparent contradiction" of the view he expressed about the revised protocol in a note to President Hoover in 1929.

"Senator Johnson, a foe of the court, joined in this contention and said the new statement was "at variance" with previous statements of the secretary.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, reiterated his belief that the revised protocol drafted under the leadership of Ellis Root "effects a modification of the Senate's reservation, and as requests for advisory opinions in non-contentious cases are concerned but in my opinion the change is not of great importance."

Senator Borah, chairman of the committee, who is against adherence to the court said:

"Many members of the committee were not satisfied with the secretary's letter. Indeed, it was contended that it led to confusion."

STATE TROOPERS CLASH WITH COPS IN STRIKE AREA

Police Chief Declares Troopers Entered Town Minus Request

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Mar. 24.—(A.P.)—State troopers, policing the Pennsylvania anthracite area, clashed yesterday with Larksville borough police at an insurgent miner's meeting.

A group of anthracite miners defied union officials 10 days ago and struck to force equalization of work at the mines.

Strikers in the Wilkes Barre and Scranton area closed down the Loomis colliery of the Glen Alden Coal Company, which employs 1800 men. This balanced losses to their ranks by the return of miners to the Pine Ridge, Delaware and Laurel collieries of the Hudson Coal Company.

The lower region, around Shenandoah and Pottsville, was tranquil. All mines scheduled to operate there were in production, except four packers of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company.

George Hales, chief of police of Larksville, declared last night that state troopers rode into that borough, routed a meeting of 300 strikers, planning "speaks" patrol and clubbed Patrolman Andrew Gernack and High Constable Peter Bushinsky. He said troopers invaded the town in spite of the fact that he and the burgesses of Larksville and Plymouth had asked the county sheriff not to send aid unless requested.

Capt. William A. Clark, commanding the Wyoming Barracks, called the affair "greatly exaggerated."

Dimply Dumplings

Babies and dumplings should have dimples. That's an undeniable fact. Perhaps this similarity and the further fact that both are delicious is why babies are sometimes called dumplings. But you should keep your dumplings and babies carefully separate because the former should be steamed or baked, but the latter—never!

Here are recipes for a couple of dumplings guaranteed to have dimples and full of delicious fruit which are just the thing to fill the cracks and crannies with a sense of warmth and comfort these cold winter days.

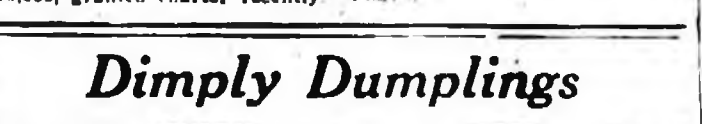

Cook the contents of a No. 3 can of Hawaiian pineapple and two-thirds cup sugar for five minutes. Turn into a pudding dish. Sift together one cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt and two tablespoons baking powder, and add one-half cup milk. Drop this batter by spoonfuls on top of the pineapple, and steam fifteen minutes, having the steam loosely covered. Serve with cream. Serves six.

Cook the contents of an 8-ounce can of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, one-third cup sugar and one-eighth teaspoon cinnamon together for five minutes, or till quite thick. Cool slightly. Roll rich baking powder biscuit dough thin, cut in four-inch squares and put a spoonful of each filling in the center of each. Bring corners together, and pinch tightly. Bake twenty-five to thirty minutes in a hot—400 degrees—oven. Serve with fluffy hard sauce. Serves six.

The governor yesterday, appealed to the people of the state in a formal proclamation for contributions for the needy.

Army tents, cots, blankets, food and clothing have been moved in to the several stricken communities by the Alabama national guard, which also mounted guard in Tuscaloosa and Talladega counties to prevent looting. Patrols were established in other centers and trucks were held ready in Montgomery to supply demands.

Dr. William de Kleine, general medical advisor of the American Red Cross, and Thomas Thompson, general field worker, are en route to Birmingham where they will establish headquarters. Pending their arrival the work is being directed by C. H. McFarland, Red Cross field representative.

Stine J. Crane, general field representative of the Red Cross passed through Atlanta yesterday en route to Comer to make a survey of the damage there and to other stricken north Georgia communities. He said Miss Annette McClaren, another Red Cross representative, had gone to Cartersville, Ga., to direct relief there.

In South Carolina, relief workers were sent into the Berry Shoals and Fairmont communities of Spartanburg county where three persons were killed and more than a score hurt by Monday night's tornado. The Red Cross, Salvation Army and other national groups were working jointly on the relief of some 30 families left homeless there.

The same measures were being taken in the Pulaski and other stricken communities in Tennessee and in the storm area in Kentucky.

Everywhere it expressed the determination to rebuild. Billy Smith, editor of the Clifton County (Alabama) News, expressed the hope of the stricken community when he said: "Those who offered the storm troops are going to rebuild their homes and take on life where it was interrupted."
