

Equal Number Of Americans Over, Under Age 30

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The median age of Americans is now 30 years — up two years over the last decade because of a drop in the number of children and a sharp increase in the elderly population.

This means there are now an equal number of Americans over age 30 and under 30, the Census Bureau said in a report released over the weekend. It does not mean the average American is 30 years old.

The bureau study also said that between 1970 and 1979 the population under age 14 decreased by 14 percent while the population of those 65 and older grew by 24 percent.

During the same period, the study said, the post-World War II "baby boom" population of between 25 and 34 grew by 39 percent.

Consequently, it said, the median age of the population-at-large went up by more than two years — from 27.9 to 30.0 years old.

Other findings of the study based on samplings from the 1980 census:

—More and more women have been delaying marriage. In 1979, 49 percent of women aged 20 to 24 had never married compared to 36 percent in 1970.

—Average income, adjusted for inflation, for women increased by 8 percent between 1970 and 1978 but dropped 2 percent for men.

—Married ratio doubled for both sexes to 92 per 1,000 in 1979.

—Alternatives to marriage increased drastically. The number of unmarried couples living together doubled to 1.3 million and nonfamily households increased by 66 percent from one-fifth to one-fourth of all households. Nearly nine out of 20 of these consisted of only one person.

—For the first time in history, the rate of population growth during the decade was greater outside metropolitan areas — 1.18 percent — than it was in and near the cities — 0.73 percent — although numerically, metropolitan areas still gained more people.

—Three Sunbelt states — Texas, California and Florida — accounted for 42 percent of the entire national population growth for the decade. On Jan. 1, 1980, the national population was estimated at 221,719,000 — up from 203,843,000 in 1970.

Place a small orange (or rubber ball) on the table. Cover it with a glass jar. Now, challenge a friend to move the orange to another table, complying with these rules: 1. Orange may not be touched by hand. 2. Jar may not be used as a scoop. 3. Jar must be face down at all times. Secret: Hold the top of the jar firmly. Rotate it rapidly so the orange spins inside. As the orange whirrs, move it to the next table.

Robbers Kill Gas Station Attendants

MONCK'S CORNER, S.C. (UPI) — Police say they have few clues in the slaying of three service station attendants who were robbed, abducted and shot to death, but authorities claim more than one killer was involved.

The bullet-riddled body of Louis Cakley, 35, was found Sunday sprawled by a country road, north of Moncks Corner, by a friend who joined police in the search.

The bodies of Kenneth Curtis Krause, 23, and Bill Spain, 28, were found Saturday in a wooded area south of Moncks Corner.

The three men disappeared last Thursday morning and police theorize they were robbed by killers who struck their gas stations at closing time.

All three bodies were discovered near U.S. 52. Both the Port Oil Co. station in North Charleston where Krause and Spain worked and the Texaco station in Moncks Corner where Cakley was employed are on U.S. 52, about 20 miles apart.

Ninth Circuit Solicitor Capers G. Barr III said all three had been shot to death, but declined to elaborate, saying it would hamper the work of investigators. He said there was "clearly more than one" killer involved.

Berkeley County dispatcher Raymond Jackson said late Sunday that investigators "haven't come up with anything yet. They're still out patrolling and investigating."

Cakley's body was found by Barney Mitchum less than five minutes after he joined the police search. Mitchum said he saw at least three apparent bullet wounds — "one in the left (pants) pocket, one in the left side and one in the lower throat or upper chest."

Investigators recovered two slugs, including one buried about a foot deep in dirt beneath Cakley's body. Barr acknowledged that officers found at least one slug with the bodies of Krause and Spain.

Mr. and Mrs. D.L. Grimes, who live about 100 yards from the spot where Krause and Spain were found, told investigators they heard what sounded like a series of five gunshots about 3:30 a.m. last Thursday.

Residents of the area where Cakley was found also told of hearing gunshots early Thursday, but said they were accustomed to hearing shots fired by hunters or vandals taking potshots at road signs in the rural area.

All three men disappeared early last Thursday morning, Cakley apparently several hours after the other two. It was only Krause's second night working at the gas station. His wife also worked there and left him alone after one night of training.

Transformer Fails At Hospital

Electric power at Seminole Memorial Hospital was off from 11:50 p.m. Saturday to 8:43 a.m. Sunday due to a transformer malfunction, but emergency generators took care of all necessary power needs until a new transformer was installed.

Florida Power and Light spokesman Scott Burns said the company does not know what caused the 750-kilowatt transformer to go out.

He explained that it could have been due to lightning earlier, but the unit was completely burned out.

"It's unlikely it was due to any overload," Burns said, "because it happened at a time of night a lot of things were not in use."

Nevertheless, a 1000-kilowatt transformer was installed as replacement. The cost was borne by the power company.

"I think they did an outstanding job to replace it in just those few hours," Burns added, "for us it was quite a chore."

50 YEARS OF MEMORIES

Nellie Coleman of Sanford, Jack Robson from Jupiter, (Fla.) and Orlando's Dorothy Sands examine old pictures and newspaper clippings about the reunion of the 1930 class of Seminole High. About 40 of the graduates and their spouses gathered at the (lakefront) Holiday Inn Saturday night to talk about old times. Name tags were made with pictures from the class yearbook to help the grads remember each other as they were 50 years ago when they graduated from the school which is now Sanford Middle School.

Carter Eats With Monks Before Summit

VENICE, Italy (UPI) — President Carter broke bread today with Benedictine monks and then joined other leaders of the world's seven most advanced industrial democracies to discuss political and economic problems.

The third session of the summit got underway about an hour late in the ornate baroque library next to the Benedictine monastery or the island of San Giorgio Maggiore in the Venice lagoon.

Carter was first to arrive for the second and final day of meetings. He and Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau arrived together on the admiral's launch from the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing was again last to arrive, coming 47 minutes after Carter.

Carter went to an early prayer breakfast at the monastery, breaking bread with 12 of the monks. He met separately afterward with Trudeau and then conferred privately with Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain.

It was about his breakfast of milk, bread, cheese and coffee with the monks that Carter wanted to talk.

"It was delightful," Carter told Trudeau at a picture-taking session. "They brought each one of (the monks) up to explain what he does."

The president said that after the breakfast, "they had a special prayer for me." "I told them I needed a prayer," Carter said.

During their first day of work, the seven heads of state and government and a delegation of ministers from Japan, agreed the Soviets should pay a continuing price for their invasion of Afghanistan and responded with skepticism to Moscow's pledge of a troop withdrawal. In a strong joint declaration, Western leaders said any pullout will have to be permanent and complete — and condemned the Soviet occupation as unacceptable and said it "undermines the very foundations of peace, both in the region and in the world at large."

President Carter said he believes the surprise Russian offer was aimed not at the Venice summit conferees, but was an effort to break the Olympic boycott. He called the U.S. boycott decision "irrevocable as far as I am concerned."

The summit allies that have backed the boycott — Canada, Japan and West Germany — said they "vigorously reaffirm their positions."

Today's two concluding sessions were to be heavily laced with world politics, even though this sixth annual summit of the world's largest industrial democcracies ostensibly is an economic forum. UPI obtained a copy of the draft final communiqué that all seven leaders have accepted save for minor revisions. They agree to intensify the search for alternative energy sources, pledge to double coal production in the next 10 years and to increase use of nuclear energy.

The draft says other problems — including inflation and unemployment — cannot be dealt with satisfactorily until "our collective demand for oil" is cut. The leaders agree not to build any electrical generators based on oil as the primary fuel "save in exceptional circumstances," and say they will accelerate fuel economy of automobiles by gasoline pricing and taxation measures.

The draft said if these measures are put into effect, the nations will be able to reduce the share of oil in their total energy demand by 1990 from 53 percent to 40 percent.

But politics took front stage.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington said the Kremlin may have wished to weaken the resolve of the seven nations meeting in Venice — the United States, Canada, Japan, Britain, France, Italy and West Germany.

"They clearly have not done that," he told reporters.

The Soviet announcement did not say how many troops were being withdrawn from a total force estimated to number 80,000 to 100,000.

Even the method of delivering the announcement appeared designed to split the alliance.

It was sent in a letter to French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who met with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev in Warsaw last month. The other leaders learned about it from news dispatches.

Despite their favored treatment, Carrington said the French were "as cautious as anyone else."

WORLD IN BRIEF

India Prime Minister's Son Killed In Airplane Crash

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Sanjay Gandhi, 33, controversial son of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and India's second most powerful person, was killed today in the crash of a light plane he was piloting through an aerial stunt.

Sanjay, widely regarded as a successor to his mother, and his instructor, Subash Saxena, were killed when the American built, two-seater crashed in a morning training flight 3 miles from takeoff at the New Delhi Flying Club, police said.

Notified by a police radio of her son's death, Mrs. Gandhi, clad in a home-spun sari, rushed to the hospital and sat silently weeping in the hospital room where her son's body lay.

The flamboyant Sanjay, grandson of India's first prime minister Jawaharlal Nehru, had become increasingly prominent since he was elected to parliament with a thumping 127,000 vote majority in the January polling, which swept his mother back to power.

One of his most unpopular moves was forcing thousands of Indian men to submit to vasectomies in an attempt to institute a birth control program.

Jamaican Coup Fails

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Two dozen Jamaican army and police officials and a civilian were arrested in sweeping raids that foiled an alleged pre-dawn coup d'etat against Prime Minister Michael Manley, Jamaica Radio said.

The alleged coup, planned for just before dawn today, came amid growing violence in the Caribbean island nation of 2 million people, who will vote in four months to choose between Manley's Socialism and the opposition party's free enterprise system.

Manley has promised to hold the elections by October 1980, but no exact date has been set. Public opinion polls show the opposition Jamaica Labor Party, led by Edward Seaga, would be a landslide winner in free balloting.

Japanese Democrats Win

TOKYO (UPI) — The Liberal Democratic Party swept to a landslide victory in nationwide elections today, gaining complete control of parliament and insuring a continuation of its 25-year rule of Japan, unofficial results showed.

The party's best showing since 1972 was apparently largely due to sympathy votes cast in memory of former Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira, who died June 12 leaving the pro-American party leaderless 15 days before polls opened Sunday.

Unofficial results in 469 of the 511 seats at stake gave the LDP 280 seats in the important lower house of the Diet parliament, enough to command a majority, chair its committees and pass money bills.

2 Bombs Explode In Israel

RAMALLAH, Occupied West Bank (UPI) — Two bombs apparently set by Palestinian guerrillas exploded in Israel today, and a young Arab woman wounded by a border policeman last week died of her injuries.

The woman, Taghrid Butma, 20, of Batir, a village near Bethlehem, died while in the intensive care unit at Hadassah hospital where she was taken Thursday following a wound to her throat caused by a burst of automatic rifle fire.

A bullet threaded a stone in a Bethlehem street that hit her in the throat, the military said at the time. The military command described the incident as an accident, but local Palestinians branded it a deliberate act of aggression.

American Indian Beatified

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A 17th century American Indian maiden who earned the title "Lily of the Mohawks" for her vow of chastity was beatified by Pope John Paul II in a ceremony attended by her tribal descendants in native headress.

Kateri Tekakwitha, who died in 1680 at the age of 24, became the first lay North American Catholic to reach beatification and the first American Indian candidate for canonization, the last step before sainthood.

Local Man Drowns In Orange County

By DAVID M. RAZLER Herald Staff Writer

The Orange County Sheriff's Department has identified a man found drowned in a west Orange County lake as Ronnie Cashe, 32, of Emmett St., west of Sanford.

Deputies say Cashe was swimming in an unnamed lake off Chase Road in Windermere Friday afternoon when he "went down and didn't come up."

Deputies used a helicopter to help search the lake and recover Cashe's body shortly after they were called at 3:25 p.m. Although Cashe was identified immediately, release of his name was delayed until Saturday, when his next of kin were notified.

Smith Announces Sanford Candidacy

Millon Smith, 61, a retired railroad trainmaster, announced today his candidacy for the two-years remaining in the term of Sanford City Commissioner John Morris in the Dec. 2 municipal elections.

Smith, 885 E. 20th St., has been a resident of the city of Sanford since 1958. He and his wife, Vida, have one son, the Rev. Freddie Smith, and one daughter, Sue Christensen, Longwood, and six grandchildren.

In his first bid for public office, Smith said he sees as a major need in the city the revitalization of Sanford, "not only the beautification, but also to stimulate interest in the hearts of the people to patronize the merchants and businesses in the city."

He said the majority of his education has been from actual experience in business with the railroad and from dealing with people. Smith pledged, if chosen by the people, "to listen to their problems and to listen to their advice and suggestions" to enable him to make the right decisions while serving in public office.

Morris will be resigning from the city commission this month, effective in October, to seek election to the county commission.

Chicago Mayor Bars Newspaper From Pressroom

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago Tribune officials vowed their city hall reporter would be at his desk today despite an unprecedented order from Mayor Jane M. Byrne barring the newspaper from the building's pressroom and ordering the desk and phones removed.

Tribune Managing Editor William Jones said the paper would continue to "cover city hall and city government" even though Mrs. Byrne, in a 14-page order, said the paper published Sunday, has ordered city officials to withhold public records and refuse interviews with the paper's reporters.

"At 9 a.m. Monday Bob Davis will arrive at City Hall to cover city hall and city government," Jones said in a statement released Sunday. "The issue is not a free desk at City Hall — the issue is freedom of the press. He (Davis) will be at his desk."

"Mayor Byrne is saying, in effect, that when she disagrees with what is published in the Chicago Tribune, she will take action to impede the free flow of information from City Hall to the people of Chicago."

Mrs. Byrne, charging the Tribune "engaged in innuendos, lies, smears ... and chauvinistic tactics" has proclaimed the city's official policy with the Tribune would be out-of-sight, out-of-mind.

"Today's paper was the last straw," she told the newspaper Saturday, embarking on the offensive in a war of bad blood that has been waged with increasing fury during her 15 months in office.

"Your paper will not have privileges at the City Hall press room. Never again will I respond to reports in the Chicago Tribune," said Mrs. Byrne, adding she would instruct other City Hall officials not to deal with Tribune reporters.

Jones rebutted the mayor's edict saying, "That's a frightening point of view on the part of any public official. It's particularly chilling when it becomes the publicly stated policy of the mayor of the city of Chicago."

Jones denied the newspaper has been unfairly hostile to Mrs. Byrne. "There is no vendetta and the mayor knows it," he said. "The Tribune will continue to publish the news without first seeking approval from the city administration."

The article, saying Mrs. Byrne ignored a study citing widespread waste and incompetence in the city government she inherited, was "the straw that broke the camel's back," said Jay McMullen, the mayor's husband, press secretary and unofficial top adviser.

McMullen, a former City Hall reporter for the defunct Chicago Daily News and currently on leave of absence as a real estate reporter for the Chicago Sun-Times, said the report was "unbelievable, naive and superficial."

BICYCLE OFFER LEADS TO JAIL

A Maitland man has been jailed on charges of dealing in stolen property, after allegedly trying to sell a stolen bicycle to an Altamonte Springs bike shop.

Eric Ford, 18, of 1850 Thunderbird Trail, Maitland, was arrested Friday at 3:25 p.m. at Altamonte Schwinn Cyclery, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, and ordered held in lieu of $8,400 bond.

Deputies say they were called to the store by its manager after Ford came in to sell a bicycle reported stolen Thursday from a Maitland home.

ANTIQUARY STORE BURGLARIZED

Thieves broke into a Fern Park antiques shop Friday night, taking at least $1,000 worth of jewelry and silver, deputies say. The burglary at Antique City, 1700 U.S. Highway 17-52, was discovered by the store's owner Saturday. A full list of the goods stolen has not yet been compiled, deputies say.

Ships Cross Sea Border

Koreas Reach Brink Of War

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — South Korean interceptors, pilots, had their fingers on the buttons and were seconds away from firing at a formation of North Korean planes when the intruders suddenly turned away, an air force officer said today.

It was a "touch and go situation," Maj. Park Kyongwoong said at a news conference.

The North Korean planes intruded 16 miles into southern air space across the western extension of the 151-mile land border separating South Korea from the northern communist half, the officials said.

Park piloted one of the Phantom jets that scrambled to intercept the North Korean fighters which were on their way to assist a communist spyboat under attack off the west coast Saturday.

The area of the air confrontation was off Inchon, about 25 miles west of Seoul and 45 miles from the city where the North Korean spy boat was sunk in an exchange of fire with southern naval vessels.

"We scrambled at 2:58 a.m. and approached the North Korean planes," Park said.

Earlier in the day, the South Korean Defense Ministry said one more North Korean intruder was confirmed killed in the sea battle, bringing to nine the total number of communist deaths in the sea battle.

A tenth communist agent was captured alive in the 12-hour chase and sea battle Saturday.

North Korea denied its involvement in the incident and called the South Korean claim "a fabricated farce cooked up by South Korean military fascists."

The North Korean vessel, weighing six to seven tons, went down shortly after daybreak in an exchange of fire with South Korean naval vessels 40 miles off Sosan, about 65 miles southwest of Seoul, according to a ministry announcement Saturday.

Rezoning On Longwood Agenda Tonight

A controversial ordinance rezoning a piece of property owned by City Commissioner J.R. Grant will be up for the first reading at tonight's Longwood City Commission meeting at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

The zoning change from M-1 Industrial and R-3 multi-family residential to PUD (Planned Unit Development) for the construction of townhouses on Grant Street has been opposed by some residents of the Skyhawk subdivision.

Back on the agenda will be site plans tabled last week for R.W. Roberts Construction Co. in Baywood Industrial Park and the Smith Commercial Building on County Road 427.

A request by Daniel G. Forest of Columbus Harbor to abandon an easement to permit construction of a swimming pool and a resolution on the Land Avenue Paving assessment also will be considered.

Wires In GOP Building For Music, Not Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Everyone immediately thought of Watergate, but the police said those mysterious wires found in Republican National Committee headquarters carried background music, not secrets.

It all began last week — on the eighth anniversary plus one day of the Watergate break-in — when a security expert hired by GOP national co-chairman Mary Crisp told her he thought she was the target of electronic surveillance.

The expert, Army reserve intelligence officer Richard E. Gorington, said he found a magnetic field and wires in her office that indicated she might have been electronically monitored.

Klan Jurors Face Challenges

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Defense attorneys in the murder trial of six Ku Klux Klansmen and Nazis predict they will dismiss nine-tenths of the prospective jurors already approved for the case by prosecutors.

The tortuous process of jury selection resumes today with the six court-appointed defense attorneys getting their first crack at 33 potential jurors approved by the prosecution last week. Some of the attorneys have said no more than three or four will survive defense challenges.

The six defendants are charged with first-degree murder and felonious rioting in the deaths of five Communist Workers Party members killed in a shootout Nov. 3 just before a "Death to the Klan" rally was to begin in Greensboro.

Ted Loses Platform Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic Platform Committee has cut the heart out of Sen. Edward Kennedy's fight to take his philosophies to the convention floor in August as the party's official platform.

Kennedy suffered a major loss Sunday when the panel rejected his economic package, which called for a wage-price freeze, a $12 billion jobs program, a pledge not to fight inflation with programs that put people out of work, and three new federal agencies to revitalize industry and trade.

He won tentative victories, however, when committee task forces accepted his anti-nuclear position and stronger stands than President Carter advocated on abortion rights and the Equal Rights Amendment.

Blacks Blame Court System For Violent May 17 Riots

MIAMI (UPI) — Nine of 10 blacks living in the Miami area feel Dade County's justice system is weighted against them, a survey aimed at learning the causes of the May 17 riots showed Sunday.

The survey of 444 blacks living in Dade County was done by the Behavior Science Research Institute for the Miami Herald.

It found that 82 percent of those surveyed feel that blacks don't get justice from all-white juries; 88 percent agreed it was almost impossible for a black to get a fair trial in Dade County; 77 percent believe the office of State Attorney Janet Reno is racially biased.

When asked the reasons why blacks began three days of rioting May 17, resulting in 17 deaths, 71 percent said it was because of beating dead of black insurance agent Arthur McDuffie last December and acquittal May 17 by an all-white jury at Tampa of the four former Dade County policemen charged in his death.

Cubans Crowd Orange Bowl

MIAMI (UPI) — Dwindle Cuban refugees continued to sift into the emergency center under the grandstand of the Orange Bowl but a long-term solution to their plight appeared uncertain.

"We don't want them to get to like this place too much," said Fernin Goicoechea, a volunteer at the center.

There were 560 refugees at the Orange Bowl Sunday afternoon. Some 510 spent the night there Saturday. Goicoechea estimated, "There should be over a thousand here by midweek."

The city opened the Orange Bowl to refugees when it learned that hundreds were roaming the streets without money, food or shelter. Some had never had showers. All were jobless.

The opening of the Miami Dolphins' exhibition season is less than two months away and the shelter will have to be moved elsewhere well in advance of that date to prepare the stadium.

...5 Dead After 'War'

DAINGERFIELD, Texas (UPI) — Dressed in combat gear and armed with four guns, former math teacher Alvin Lee King III brought his "war" to the First Baptist Church, where he had unsuccessfully sought character witnesses for his incest trial, police say.

King, 45, burst into the church auditorium Sunday morning as the choir was midway through "More About Jesus," announced "this is war" and opened fire with an AR-15 rifle, police said.

Five people died as the result of the rampage. A 78-year-old woman and a 7-year-old girl were killed before King could be wrestled out of the building. In less than a minute, 11 people were wounded.

Once on the front lawn, King pulled a .22-caliber pistol and killed two men who had tried to subdue him, officers said. He then went across the street to a fire station and shot himself in the head.

He was sent in stable condition to a Tyler hospital where his wound, a slight graze, did not require immediate surgery. Facing five murder complaints, King late Sunday was transferred to John Sealy Hos-

...9 Dead Following

United Press International One of four planes involved in crashes that killed nine people and injured five others in four states Sunday was flying with a special permit because of doubts about its airworthiness.

The planes crashed Sunday in Columbus, Ind.; Quakertown, Pa.; Santa Barbara, Calif., and Clifton, Ill. Three people died in the Indiana crashes and two people died in each of the other crashes. Three of the planes burst into flames on impact.

Officials from the Federal Aviation Administration today were investigating the Indiana, Pennsylvania and California crashes, while the National Transportation Safety Board was called in on the Illinois incident.

There is more than enough to warrant a grand jury investigation," he said.

...9 Road Deaths In Tampa Bay Area

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Traffic accidents in the Tampa Bay area over the weekend killed at least nine people and another died in the crash of a small plane off Honeycomb Island at Dunedin.

Four persons were killed Saturday in a car-truck accident on U.S. 41 north of Land O' Lakes and three died early Sunday when their car slammed into the rear of a delivery truck in Pinellas Park.

Emilio Arturo Miranda Jr., 45, his wife Edith, 46, and their daughter Teresa, 15, all of Temple Terrace, and Dennis R. Henderson Sr., 63, of Hialeah, were killed Saturday when the car in which they were riding was crushed by a semi-tractor truck which crossed over the center line of U.S. 41 north of State Road 52.

The Pinellas Park accident killed Douglas L. Kirkland, 18, Pinellas Park, driver of the car, and his passengers Valerie Martin, 17, Pinellas Park, and Doreen Keeney, 26, of Dunedin. Police said Kirkland's car had struck another car at a high rate of speed, knocking it into a tree and injuring two persons, before slamming into a tree which was stopped for a red light.

Killed in the plane crash was Dean Lander, 21, of St. Petersburg. Officials said Lander was piloting the single-engine plane which crashed on a sandbar. Passenger Glen Franke of Clearwater was hospitalized.

Witnesses said the pilot buzzed the sandbar and they thought he was going to land. But he pulled up and the plane apparently lost power.

...43 Youngsters Injured As California Bus Rolls

United Press International A church bus rolled over on a crowded Southern California freeway during the weekend, injuring 43 youngsters, and a bus of elderly tourists overturned in a freak accident in Virginia, killing one man and injuring three other people.

The church bus was struck Sunday by a car and rolled over three times, spilling children and camping gear along the edges of the San Bernardino Freeway near Ontario, Calif., and trapping others in the demolished heap.

Rescuers, fearing explosive fumes, drenched feverishly to free the victims — including a young woman weakened by leaking gasoline. A small fire erupted but it was quickly extinguished.

Most of the youngsters were treated for minor injuries at hospitals in Ontario, Upland and Fontana, but four teenagers were listed in serious condition.

The church bus was carrying youths from the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood to the Forest Home Christian Conference Center in the San Bernardino Mountains. The accident occurred about 35 miles east of Los Angeles.

In Charlottesville, Va., Sunday, the brakes on a tour bus failed in a parking lot and the vehicle smashed into a stone wall and overturned, killing an 87-year-old man and injuring three others in a tour group from Wisconsin.

...6 Year Old Abducted As Her Parents Sleep?

ATLANTA (UPI) — Authorities are mystified over the apparent abduction of a 6-year-old girl who was apparently taken from her home while her parents slept.

Latonya Wilson was reported missing when her parents woke up early Sunday morning. A neighbor said a man had carried the child from the apartment about 4 a.m., but the neighbor thought the man was a family member.

"There is evidence it was a kidnapping," Police Det. D.W. Chambers said. "We're continuing to investigate."

Police, neighbors and the child's parents searched fruitlessly for the girl in the northwest section of Atlanta where she lived.

The only clue so far is a pane of glass that was removed from the bedroom window where the child's brother slept. Police speculated the intruder removed the glass to gain entry to the home.

"I don't have any idea why, who or nothing," the child's father, Clarence Wilson, said. "We searched and looked, searched and looked and we found no clue. It's the worst thing that's ever happened to me, just like a dream."

Clay's Durden, a neighbor, said she saw two men hanging around the house about 4 a.m. and watched one of them try the 60-pound child out the front door under his arm.

Warning Systems Are Untrustworthy

When crucial components of this country's early warning system, designed to detect a Soviet missile attack at the earliest possible moment, signal false alarms three times in seven months and twice in a week, it is time to consider whether the system is all that it could and should be.

It is not, indeed, most Americans would be surprised to learn that portions of the early warning network rely on obsolete radars and computers that reflect the technology of the late 1950s.

Then on Tuesday, June 3, and again on Friday, June 6, NORAD computers linked to a worldwide network of early warning radars, spy satellites, and electronic listening posts spit out warnings that the Soviets had launched both submarine-based missiles and land-based intercontinental ballistic missile against the United States.

Even so, any false alarm in the nuclear age is potentially dangerous. Soviet land-based ICBMs could reach targets in this country in 30 minutes. Ballistic missiles launched from Soviet submarines lurking off our shores could strike U.S. targets in 10 minutes, or less.

Given these time frames, there is little room for error in assessing the legitimacy of any attack warning. If the 100 or so B-52 bombers kept on alert status are to escape destruction on the ground, orders must be issued and carried out in a matter of minutes.

Finding the bugs at NORAD is, obviously, a matter of the utmost urgency. And modernization of other links in the early warning network is long overdue.

Beyond that, these false alarms constitute the most potent possible argument against the notion of a "launch-on-warning" nuclear strategy. Traditionally, U.S. strategic doctrine has been predicated on the ability to absorb a nuclear first strike while retaining sufficient retaliatory forces to inflict "unacceptable" damage on an aggressor.

As we noted last November, proof that this country's early warning system is capable of even momentary error tells us all we need to know about the frightening dangers of substituting launch-on-warning for the kind of nuclear force — the MX system, for example — that could survive an attack.

Don't Use Yogurt With Antibiotics

DEAR DR. LAMB—In one of your columns, you suggested that it was all right to use tetracycline for acne on a continual basis. I thought that antibiotics killed all the bacteria in the small intestine. I've heard of doctors who suggest the use of yogurt or buttermilk along with or after antibiotics. Am I correct about this?

DEAR READER—You are partially correct. If you take large doses of tetracyclines over a long period of time, it can sterilize the bowel. Incidentally, there is far more bacteria in the colon than in the small intestine. In general, the small intestine is relatively free of important bacteria. The daily amount of tetracycline used to control or prevent acne is small enough that it usually will not have this effect.

Killing bacteria with antibiotics depends a lot on the dosage. Remember that a lot of the antibiotic is absorbed directly from the first part of the small intestine into the bloodstream and never reaches the colon. That's why if you choose to sterilize the bowel for surgery, you often have to use powerful antibiotics and have to use relatively large amounts.

Moderately large doses of antibiotics used long enough can sterilize the bowel and cause problems. In these instances, it is true that using yogurt may help to reestablish the culture of helpful bacteria in the bowel. However, it's not recommended to use yogurt or buttermilk along with the antibiotics. These and milk tend to decrease the amount of absorption of the antibiotic into the bloodstream and can reduce their effectiveness.

To give you additional information about the treatment of acne, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated. Other readers who want this issue

YOUR BIRTHDAY

This coming year could be exciting for you socially. Many new friends could enter the picture from different walks of life. Surprisingly, you will have something in common to share with everyone.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) You're very good at dealing with others today, whether they are old friends or new acquaintances. Instinctively, you'll say and do all the right things. Romance, travel, luck, career, possible pitfalls and career for the next months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Advantageous developments will occur today, but they may be partially screened from your view. You'll learn of them later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have a certain quality today that will make you stand out in any group gathering. It won't be an affection, it will just be the real you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Give top priority to situations that could enhance your security or earn extra income. Your material aspects are luckier than usual.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your leadership qualities are quite pronounced today. It will be obvious to others that you know what needs doing and that you're the one they should follow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be a doer today and less of a talker. Keep your objectives to yourself for best results. Confer only with those directly involved.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you have to make an important decision today, seek expert advice from more than one source. Different viewpoints will help provide the right answers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Competition will have a stimulating effect on you; it will awaken your resourcefulness. Once you enter a race, first place will become important.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Fortune are in your favor. You share your company today. You have a wonderful way about you that inspires others and makes them feel like notables.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This could be a very rewarding day for you where important matters are concerned. If someone has something good going and invites you in, hop aboard.

Taurus (April 20-May 19) Normally you like to take ample time before making commitments, but today you may be required to make snap decisions. fret not. You'll do well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your imagination and ingenuity are attuned to a profitable wavelength today. It's likely you'll spot opportunities in several areas and know exactly what to do.

Sanford Airport Offers 'Free' Fire Station

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Airport Authority, pending Federal Aviation Administration approval, has agreed to allow Seminole County to build a fire station on airport property in exchange for fire protection help, dropping the previously proposed charge of $2,100 per year.

The new proposal calls for a land lease in exchange for "services in kind," with no money involved.

Reil Cleveland, airport manager, told the county commission this morning the agreement would benefit both parties. The county would solve its problem of where to build a fire station to serve Midway and the airport would acquire added fire protection.

The county would not be the primary fire protection provider for the airport. "We would not ask that you be the primary source," Cleveland said, "but that you respond."

The proposal came on the wake of criticism by Commission Chairman Bill Kirkhoff last week that it would be cheaper for the county to purchase a

Inch Of Rain Wets County; Tornado Hits Altamonte

A series of heavy thunderstorms drenched Seminole County with more than an inch of rain and touched off a small tornado in Altamonte Springs during a two-hour period Monday evening.

The storms also caused many brief power and telephone service interruptions and kept law enforcement and rescue workers busy responding to minor accidents and burglar alarms set off by electric interruptions.

Streets throughout the county were flooded by the sudden downpours, but no permanent damage was reported.

The line of storms hit Seminole and Orange counties between 5:40 p.m. and 8 p.m., the National Weather Service reported. About 1.2 inches of rain fell at the Orlando International Airport, but larger amounts may have fallen under the larger thunderclouds in Seminole, they say.

The one tornado reported moved through an area just east of Interstate 4, beginning near the Interstate Mall, I-4 and State Road 436, police say.

The storm touched down at the mall, damaging goods outside for a "sidewalk

Sanford Mayor, U.S. Officials To Discuss Bias Charge

A 9 a.m. July 15 meeting at city hall with representatives of the U.S. Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) may clear up Sanford's continuing squabble with that federal agency and four others.

Mayor Lee P. Moore, in announcing the scheduled meeting Monday night, reviewed the city's history with the various agencies since a pre-determination settlement agreement was signed by the city and the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission three years ago.

The latest letter from LEAA accuses the city of discrimination and insists charges against the city have been leveled by Sanford Police Officer Tony Brooks, who currently is assigned to the federal Drug Enforcement Administration.

Brooks denied that he has filed any new charges against the city since the original ones were filed in 1976 and settled in an agreement with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in July 1977.

Under that agreement, Brooks is assigned to the DEA.

LEAA in its latest letter to the city says that the new charges concern happenings since the 1977 agreement.

Grant Wins Vote After Skylark Uproar

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

A proposed rezoning and a smelly sewage treatment plant were again the subject of protest by a group of Longwood residents Monday night.

An ordinance rezoning property belonging to Longwood City Commissioner J.R. Grant to planned unit development was passed at first reading Monday night by a 3-2 vote of the City Commission over the noisy protest of a large group of Skylark subdivision residents.

The protesters, who had spoken out against the rezoning for proposed construction of townhouses at several previous meetings, were angry at having to wait until the public hearing on the ordinance to voice their objections.

Mayor Steven Uskert and City Attorney Marvin Rooks explained that they would have ample opportunity to speak at the public hearing before the final vote is taken. The hearing was set for July 21.

The rezoning was approved by a 3-2 vote of the City Commission over the noisy protest of a large group of Skylark subdivision residents.

After Grant's motion to approve the rezoning ordinance was seconded, William Markowitz, 1405 Wren Court, Skylark, attempted to read a lengthy scathing statement before the vote could be taken. Markowitz, who called the commission's actions "arbitrary" and "wholly unjustifiable," was interrupted by Uskert, who was forced to use the gavel on several occasions to quiet the delegation from Skylark.

Commissioner John Hepp, also a resident of Skylark, accused the mayor of "taking away the rights of the people."

When the vote was taken, Uskert joined Grant and Mitchell in voting for the rezoning, while Hepp and Commissioner June Lermann voted against it.

Markowitz also read a letter (signed by several Skylark residents) to David Fingree, secretary of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in Tallahassee, complaining about the odor of 145 students needing assistance learning English is incorrect. Stone claims only 83 students need the help.

OCR reported its investigators were told by district administrators there were 154 students needing help with English, 87 of whom were receiving training from volunteers through the district's Dividends program.

Only 27 of the volunteers spoke the native language of the students, the report stated, concluding training by persons knowing both English and the native language is necessary.

But Stone claims the original figures collected by the district included students whose native language may not be English, but who speak English fluently.

"Along with arguing with the report, we need to give some consideration to what it says," he told the board.

Today, Julian said only Layer "did a pretty good job" with his reply.

Grant Wins Vote After Skylark Uproar
