McCray Proclaims Innocence in Pen

ATLANTA, May 2.—Two years ago Warren McCray, distinguished visitor in Atlanta, when he attended the Southeastern Fair, in personal charge of Indiana farms, departed happily with blue ribbons. Today he is just one of two thousand inmates of the Atlanta federal penitentiary. Within a brief span of 30 hours he was changed from governor to convict. His only statement was "I will enter upon a new situation with courage and confidence fully conscious of innocence of any wrong doings."

SEARCH IS BEGUN WITH VIGOR FOR CHIEF OF FLIERS

Coast Guard Cutters and All Available Government Craft Driven into Organized Search for Martin.
BREMERTON, Wash., May 2.—The search for Maj. Frederick L. Martin, commander of the United States around the world flight, Mechanic Sgt. Alva Harvey, missing since their departure for Seattle from Chignik, Alaska, Wednesday morning, was resumed with renewed vigor today at dawn by coast guard cutters and available Cannery vessels between Chignik and Dutch Harbor. The coast guard cutters searched throughout the night with powerful searchlights.

Rescue search went forward Thursday between here and the Shumagin islands, 150 miles southwest, for Maj. Frederick L. Martin, who Wednesday disappeared after taking the air at Chignik under desperate conditions for Dutch Harbor, 500 miles away.

Martin and his co-pilot, Sgt. Alva Harvey, of Cleburne, Tex., had taken refuge in some cove on the desolate rocky coast of the Alaskan peninsula.

The coast guard cutter Algonquin is directing the search. The Algonquin is at the Shumagin islands all night awaiting Maj. Martin's attempt to rejoin his comrades at Dutch Harbor. He was separated from them April 16 when he was forced down at Cape Ivar on a Dutch coast.

The Algonquin has raked all craft in these waters and is searching along the coast to search for the missing fliers.

SIGNS INDICATE VOTE ON FORD'S SCHEME SOON

Senator Harrison of Missouri Gives Indications of Determination to Force Vote on Ford's Offer for Muscle Shoals During Present Session of Congress—Bill for Another Offer Introduced.
WASHINGTON, May 2.—Further indications of a determination to force a vote on Henry Ford's bill for Muscle Shoals at this session of congress was given Thursday by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, leader of the Ford supporters.

During the Muscle Shoals hearing of the senate agriculture committee, Senator Harrison urged more speed in the proceedings, pointing out that time was limited and at the present rate it would be difficult to bring the measure to a vote in the senate before adjournment. He insisted that the senate be allowed to accept or reject the measure, which has already passed the house.

Near the close of Thursday's session of the senate, Chairman Norris introduced another bill for the operation of Muscle Shoals. The bill was prepared by James H. Lloyd, Washington attorney, former representative from Missouri, who described it as a compromise between government and private ownership.

Mr. Lloyd said he offered the bill as a suggestion for solving the Muscle Shoals problem and that he did not represent any special interests. The Lloyd proposal would create the Federal Chemical Corporation with a capital of $10,000,000, owned and controlled by the government.

Five directors, three appointed by the president and two by the secretary of agriculture, would control the corporation. None of the directors would be allowed to own stock and the secretary of the treasury would have supervision over the corporation similar to his present control over banks.

Permits and patents would be produced and distributed and the property held intact for the manufacture of explosives in time of war. During the first year the government would appropriate one million dollars to defray expenses.

After the hearing, W. J. Cummins, of Tennessee, appeared as a supporter of the Ford bill. He told the committee he served a sentence in Sing Sing prison on the charge of larceny of the Carnegie Trust Company of New York which was, he said, at the time he purchased it in bad condition. He declared that the man who prosecuted him, Charles S. Whitman, then district attorney and later governor, had promised him unconditional pardon if he had lost $3,000,000 of his own money in the bank's failure and left the prison penniless.

Urges Accept as Unit.
In this capacity, he said, he appeared before the committee to urge the acceptance of the Ford bill as a unit. He declared the many interests of Tennessee wanted Ford to have the Muscle Shoals property and the people of the state felt confident Henry Ford's bill offered the best solution of the situation. He appealed to the committee not to change the bill so that Ford would not accept it.

Belongs to South.
"Muscle Shoals belongs to the south. Let us select the man and let congress select a business-like contract," he implored.

General Conference of Methodists Episcopal Church Votes In Favor Of America Joining World Court

SPRINGFIELD, May 2.—The Methodist Episcopal general conference voted Friday in favor of the United States joining the world court for settlement of international relations. The resolution was adopted without a dissenting vote.

A petition to congress to permit modification of the prohibition amendment was being introduced by the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at its meeting here Thursday. The resolution, proposed by Judge Charles A. Pollock, delegate from North Dakota, was amended before passage to include a request to the board of bishops for a committee to carry the petition to the judiciary committee of the senate and ask for a hearing in congress.

Attempts to emasculate and destroy the effect of the prohibition amendment were being made, and the conference desired to remind congress that it was "not a mere piece of political machinery." This conference urges congress, "the resolution read in part, 'not to permit any change in the amendment of liquor as prescribed in the proceedings, but that any such change would render more difficult the enforcement of the law.'"

Speaking in support of the resolution, W. H. Van Benschoten, assistant president Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, for his attack last Tuesday on the prohibition law, which he said, was "amazing and shocking the country today."

Dr. Clarence T. Wilson, corresponding secretary of the board of temperance and public morals of the church, who yesterday attacked Dr. Butler for his stand, then moved the amendment providing for the appointment of a committee by the board of bishops.

"Prohibition has already wrought the moral miracle of the twentieth century," he declared, amid applause from the floor. "It has made the gigantic liquor trust an outlaw wherever our flag flies. Men have turned to liquor, not instead of being hunted by it. If the Methodists send word around the world that our millions of members are not hacking down and that there will never be a line taken from the prohibition law with their consent."

Frank Mason Neith, of New York, corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions, then moved that the resolution be sent to the moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church for presentation at the body's meeting in Grand Rapids, Mich., May 22, with a request for cooperation in the enforcement of the prohibition law—and to any other church body who might receive it with favor."

His motion was carried without a dissenting vote.

CANAL PROJECT IS BEFORE THE U. S. ENGINEERS

Committee At Washington Promised That Survey of Project Will Be Included in 1924 Report.
That the Florida delegation in Washington at this time in the interests of the proposed St. Johns Indian River canal, has accomplished a great deal in getting that project before the proper authorities with a view to securing immediate aid in its behalf, is assured in a message that has been received from the committee, a member of which is J. G. Bell of this city.

At a conference Thursday between General Lansing Beach, chief of the army engineers, and the Florida delegation headed by Senator Fletcher, it was stated that the proposal to connect the upper St. Johns River and the Indian River will be included in the report of the surveys authorized in 1924 now being prepared by Col. Gilbert Youngberg, chief engineer of the Jacksonville district. This report is being compiled after extensive hearings on the project.

The forthcoming report, it was stated, would cover this particular connection between the St. Johns and Indian Rivers as well as the proposed connection between the St. Johns and the Suwannee rivers. Further studies of the project will be made by the committee, and the report is submitted it will be considered by the advisory board of engineers for rivers and harbors.

The Florida delegation includes besides Mr. Bell the following: St. Clair W. Acosta of Jacksonville, P. Vane Acosta of Winter Park and H. de Montmolin. When the delegation will return is not known definitely but will probably be back Sunday.

It is believed by those in a position to know that the efforts of the committee have not been in vain and that federal aid in behalf of the canal is now in sight.

Ten Reasons Why McAdoo Should Be Selected--Upshaw

CITY ENTERTAINS MEN WHO GATHER FOR CONVENTION
Sanford Takes On Gala Appearance as Preparations Are Completed For Holding of State Convention Here
With between 300 and 500 visitors having arrived by noon Friday Sanford has taken on a busy appearance and has prepared to entertain upwards of 1,000 delegates to the state McAdoo convention which convened here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Milane Theatre.

Delegates began to arrive Thursday night both by automobiles and trains. Among the early arrivals was Congressman William D. Upshaw of Georgia, who came in on the midnight train. The congressman is expected to give the keynote address of the convention at 2:30 o'clock. He will speak for an hour and then will leave to catch the 4:05 train in order to arrive in St. Louis to fill a speaking engagement there Sunday.

Many other prominent men of the state were among the advance guard arriving early in the morning. Dr. A. W. McKenzie of Leesburg heading a large delegation from Lake county arrived shortly before noon. With him was Senator W. M. Igoe, prominent state legislator. Charles H. Ketchum of Key West arrived here Friday and was among those busily engaged making plans for the state organization this morning.

Senator Carter Glass accompanied by Hollis Randolph of Atlanta, Ga., is expected to arrive shortly after noon as well as a large delegation from Jacksonville. Other delegations from the northern part of the state, some as far west as Pensacola and Apalachicola were expected to arrive this afternoon.

This morning Mayor Forest gave an invitation to the convention was called, estimated that by Friday night the visitors would number close to 1,000. Representatives of the state legislatures of Tampa, were expected to arrive after noon heading a large delegation from that county. J. C. Griggs of Jacksonville, former collector of customs during the Wilson administration, will also be among those to arrive in time for the opening speech by Mr. Upshaw.

Meanwhile the business section of the city has taken on a gala appearance as flags, pennants, bunting and other kinds of decorations have been waving from many business houses. A large streamer hanging between the Seminole County Bank and Bowler's drug store bears the inscription "Welcome Visitors" while between Roumillat & Anderson's drug store and the Bell Cafe another similar banner is displayed.

This is not unkind. It is just history. We say "McAdoo's record is his platform." If Underwood's record is his platform "we women in Florida and America will never stand on such a platform." In his speech Mr. Upshaw cited the following ten reasons for the nomination of Mr. Underwood because of his record in the House against the prohibition amendment but when he reached the Senate by the solid liquor support in Alabama, he opposed the closing of saloons in the District of Columbia. When Morris Sheppard was making his immortal fight against these dons of inamy in the nation's capital, Underwood actually tried to bring on a "wet and dry" election in Washington, where there is no political status—an election that would have brought a hundred thousand negroes to help keep the devilish barroom there.

MURPHY ADVISED KID TO REFRAIN FROM BAD LIQUOR

Told Kid Not to Be Bullied But to Drink Gin and Beer

(By The Associated Press.)
Somewhere back in the days when Charles F. Murphy had quit driving horse cars in Fourteenth Street and started the first of the chain of saloons which he ultimately owned on the East Side, a young fellow, who had "just gone to work," was sent by his employer to collect some bills.

The young fellow, now a man of middle age and head of his firm, recalls the day well. His was not a de luxe list of bills due. Murphy's saloon was in no lap of luxury, but he caught the boss behind his bar and made good as a collector. He got something more as an invitation: "What you going to drink, kid?"

The boy was no molluscoid, but he had been brought up to take saloons in great moderation; to give them the frosted eye. Yet this man, with the pompadour and the name of Murphy, was in the Gas House District, dead in the East Side, and perhaps it wouldn't be etiquette to offend him. The boy hesitated just a moment too long. Murphy made his decision for him.

"Listen, kid," said he, leaning over the bar. "If you like ginger ale or sarsaparilla, say so and I won't let anybody bully you into beer."

That was the only contact with Charles F. Murphy that one New York business man ever had, but he never forgot it, and yesterday he thought it worth telling.

Professor Leaves Fortune of $300,000 To Ohio Wesleyan

(By The Associated Press.)
DELAWARE, O., May 2.—Pr Perkins Observatory at Ohio Wesleyan University, which will house the third largest telescope in the world, is being built mostly with the life savings of Hiram M. Perkins, an obscure college professor. Prof. Perkins' salary never was more than $1,800 a year, but he has been business sagacity and fortunate investments he accumulated $300,000, every cent of which he gave to Ohio Wesleyan. He taught in the institution for more than half a century. The professor did not live to see his life's dream realized as he died at the age of 91, several months ago.

Perkins' telescope will be a 61-inch reflecting one and workmen are completing the metal cap for the building, which will completely enclose it. Work on the 61-inch mirror is well under way and the telescope mounting has been ready for some weeks.

The steel top for the telescope dome, which is mounted on wheels so that it will revolve on a circular track. Directly below it, the telescope itself will be placed on a 460-ton concrete pier, which forms the base of the dome.

The total weight of the instrument will be 37 tons and the mirror will add a weight of 2 1/2 tons. Despite its great weight, the telescope will be so delicately balanced that it will require only the same amount of current necessary for an electric lamp when in use.

The telescope will make visible to the eye stars of the eighteenth magnitude, and make possible photographs of stars of the nineteenth and possibly the twentieth magnitude, according to Ohio Wesleyan astronomers.

LEESBURG FALLS IN LINE WITH LAKEWALES PLAN

Col. Corbett Captures Hostile Audience in Stirring Address Last Night in Eustis.

LEESBURG, May 2.—(Special to The Herald)—The headway that the citrus sign-up campaign has gained was fully evidenced Monday night at Eustis, a stronghold of independents when Cal. Walter P. Corbett, Jacksonville business man and former army officer completely captured an audience that filled the community building. It was the second engagement at Eustis in a sign-up campaign which speaker the first meeting was not attended, was antagonistic and in it the voice of the independent was heard.

Monday night there was a very marked increase in attendance. There was some nervous shuffling among his hearers early in the evening but as Col. Corbett drove home his points demonstrating the state-wide character of the citrus problem he commended close attention and when the concluded was warmly applauded.

Dependents present had nothing to say and there was no answer when the colonel asked if anyone present had a plan to offer better than co-operative marketing, and the building up of the machinery of the Florida Citrus Exchange to meet the needs of the rapidly expanding citrus industry the meeting instead of being antagonistic was friendly. At the close independents came forward to shake Col. Corbett's hand and to indulge in good natured repartee with him.

In stressing the need for co-operative marketing Col. Corbett directed attention to and commended highly the co-operative spirit of Lake county as shown through the work of the Lake county Chamber of Commerce, he said that Eustis had become known in 26 counties as a 100 per cent Rotary town with a spirit of service above self, because its Rotarians had traveled a 100 per cent strong to the international convention in St. Louis and plan to repeat the record at Toronto this June.

Poland, like Hungary, is struggling with the problem of financial reconstruction and, according to Wladyslaw, the Polish representative of the permanent economic committee of the League of Nations, is slowly winning through the united and patient efforts of the people and Wladyslaw emphasized first that Bolshevism has no place in his country. The danger of 1919-20, when Bolshevism was at its height, had definitely passed, in his opinion. At the end of last year, 6,000,000 Polish marks a dollar and the entire economic life of the nation was in a state of chaos. A big deficit appeared in the budget. Applying drastic measures, the government decided to cancel all taxes in the past. This system was in effect on the first of the year working well, he said. More tax on fortunes is expected to yield 400,000,000 gold francs and of 1926. Another step taken soon will be the creation of a bank of issue based on the principles of the Austrian bank organized by the League of Nations.

Wladyslaw went on: "We roughly stabilized the Polish dollar at 5,000,000 to the dollar. It is stated that the Polish people, in fear of the further devaluation of the local currency, had hoarded gold to the value of 3,000,000, but their confidence restored, they are now willing to sell their dollars and actually offered the state 2,000,000 gold which the state purchased at the prevailing rate of exchange. Our economic situation is slowly but surely adjusting in a healthful manner."

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, D. C.—George B. Lockwood, roly-poly Republican, feels full of fight.

But in his double-headed job as secretary of the Republican National Committee and editor of the "National Republican," heretofore regarded as the "official organ" of the Republican party, George's freedom of action has been hampered.

True, he has been free to fight the Democrats. But it is not Democrats whom George most desires to lambaste. It is individuals inside the Republican party, who he feels are not behaving like Republicans, that cause his fists to clench and his pulse to thump with the desire for battle.

Wherefore, disregarding the possible result on his chances for reelection as secretary of the national committee, like a man who strips his coat before a fight so it may not impede his movements, George announces that now and hereafter the "National Republican" is not to be considered as "the mouthpiece of the Republican National Organization or the organ of the Republican National Committee."

HAVING thus absolved his party of responsibility for any of the things the "National Republican" may print, Lockwood is set to take a poke at any individual or candidate who may sponsor any of the "liberal" or "radical" programs opposed by the "conservative" element in the party; government ownership, for instance.

His first assault will be against the stronghold of Senator La Follette.

From the Lockwood viewpoint, La Follette and his followers are a band of pirates who, unless reprimanded, will seize the party ship, force captain and crew to walk the plank, and then sail brazenly into

Elementary School Textbooks in Effect Until September 1

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 1.—A statement has issued by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction calling attention to the fact that although elementary school textbooks recently adopted for the public schools the old contracts, including the former prices, remain good until the first of September of this year.

"Prices of books under the new contracts are necessarily higher than under the old," the statement says, "for the simple reason that labor in printing houses is much higher; paper, cloth, and all material required in the manufacture of books are much higher than they were a few years ago. The new basal basal readers can be purchased at the old prices, according to the statement, for the readers adopted this year as basal books are already in use as supplementary books and will be sold under the old contract until September at the old prices."

In fact, it is added, some of the recently adopted basal readers can be purchased at lower prices until September than the basal readers now in use. "For instance, the third reader will be sold until that date at 40 cents while the third reader now in use sells at 45 cents. The new fourth reader will sell until September at 41 cents, while the fourth reader now in use sells at 50 cents."

The subjects mentioned will apply to books on the subjects of orthography, reading, geography, physiology, civil government, United States history and drawing," the statement concludes.

"Money may also be saved in the purchase of dictionaries. The book on agriculture was reprinted at the same price as in the former contract, therefore, there will be no increase in the price of that book during the full term of its adoption."

ONE MAY MORNING. Now the bright morning star, day's harbinger, Comes dancing from the east, and leads with her The flowery May, who from her green lap throws The yellow cowslip and the pale primrose.

Welcome, "McAdites"! A county should be as progressive in its charities as in its roads.

Better perpetual winter than perpetual thaw, suggests James J. Montague, but it seems to us that you are about as likely to be bitten by one as by the other.

It is to be hoped that the boxing match tonight will not have those unpleasant features so predominant in Sanford's last flatie encounter.

Folks who come into The Herald office and elaborate on how to run a newspaper, should go down and tell Frank Forster how to run a bank, and see what happens.

Sanford's McAdoo Convention

The Herald extends a hearty welcome to the delegates from the many Florida cities attending the convention in Sanford today for the furtherance of the candidacy of William Gibbs McAdoo for the presidency of the United States.

The success of this meeting in Sanford depends altogether upon these delegates who have come here. No amount of talk in the Milane theater will ever elect McAdoo president unless that talk is disseminated almost in its entirety among the thousand and one cities, towns and villages throughout the state.

It will be the "McAdoo for President" clubs which will defeat Underwood in this state. It is by means of this medium alone that the progressive McAdoo spirit can be instilled into the tillers of outlying farms, the backwoodsman, and even the smaller city dwellers, who in reality form a large percentage of our voting population.

Florida's Neighbor To The North, Alaska.

We talk so much about Florida and what we have in Florida, it is possible we are most of the time forgetting that there are other sections of Uncle Sam's domains that are doing some remarkable improving themselves.

The mere fact that the natural wealth of the United States increased from $186,299,664,000 in 1912 to $320,803,862,000 at the end of 1922 rather indicates that other states as well as Florida must be making good use of their talents.

And speaking of "neighbors" there's Alaska. Did you know that the commercial value of the reindeer in Alaska today is $7,500,000 which is $300,000 more than the $7,200,000 which Secretary Seward paid for Alaska in 1867?

We have a habit of thinking of Alaska as a wilderness of ice and snow into which men have penetrated in search of gold, found it now and then, but at fearful risk. We seem to know nothing of Alaska as a great grazing country for reindeer which will have increased to four million head in ten more years.

Florida's fisheries last year were valued at $14,000,000—there we go back to this blessed Florida of ours, or perhaps we were getting to an explanation of that word "neighbors," meaning Alaska and us.

Yes, and Alaska has more mosquitoes than Florida ever dreamed of, and mid-day heat that is almost unbearable. Farther away than any other of Uncle Sam's mainland family, Alaska in some respects is more akin to Florida than is any other state or territory.

Florida As Seen By A Man Who Knows.

Here is something for you to pass on to your friends in other states. In the course of an editorial in the Manufacturers Record, entitled "Florida Today and Tomorrow," Richard H. Edmunds, the editor, says:

It must be remembered that Florida is nearly seven times as large as Massachusetts, but it has considerably less than one-third of the population of Massachusetts. The room for expansion, therefore, is practically without limit.

I have tried fairly and honestly to make a study of this State; to measure its potentialities; to look a little into the future based on the things that are now under way and the resources of the State; and while I have for years confined my own work exclusively to the publication of the Manufacturer's Record, taking no part in any construction or development work, I feel justified in saying that I know of no other place in this country which would more strongly appeal to me for wise conservative investments expecting large returns in the future, than investments carefully and judiciously made in this State.

Broadly, however, the whole State is becoming not merely a winter playground and health invigorating spot of hundreds of thousands of the richest people in America and many more of moderate means, but it is to become to an extent many times greater than at present the producer of citrus fruits and vegetables for an ever-increasing demand from the North and West; and all of this means an increasing commercial and industrial activity.

The Herald suggested sending that excellent estimate of Florida to your friends in distant places, but perhaps you may not choose people in other states for the enlightenment it gives. You may know people right here in Seminole county who show no signs of comprehending the facts that Mr. Edmunds has pointed out. He sees the great opportunities Florida is offering, and speaks with authority. It would be well if the people of Florida's potentialities could be more generally passed on to our home people.

There isn't much doubt but that Calvin Coolidge will be nominated at Cleveland when the Republicans get together. His manager is now claiming 563 instructed delegates and no other candidate seems to be disputing the statement.

7 Per Cent Steel Common. 12 Billion Tax Free. Poor Husband Yarn. Frenchmen Stay Young. Copyright, 1924

STOCK MARKET conditions Tuesday worried gentlemen who think that gambling ought to be stabilized and made free from worry. The question was, what will the big steel company do concerning its dividend?

Gentlemen that gamble, instead of investing, would not have worried so much could they have seen Judge Gary, night before last, in robust condition after his trip around South America, proposing the health of a young bride and groom.

What was to be expected happened. Judge Gary isn't an emotional person and when he put Steel common on a seven per cent basis, some time since, he evidently knew what he was doing. Dividend at the rate of seven per cent was declared Tuesday.

SECRETARY MELLON, of the Treasury, a man who wants rich men to pay their share of income tax, says that twelve billion dollars are invested in securities that pay no taxes. At five per cent this means incomes amounting to six hundred million dollars pay no taxes.

CLARENCE O. BARING, accused of trying to kill his wife, gives the poorest married man excuse ever given.

He admits he put a little arsenic and some disease germs in his wife's food. But did he want to kill her? No. He was bothered by another lady and he thought that if his wife became ill he could take her off for a trip, and thus have an excuse for getting rid of the other lady.

The authorities are protecting him from the other lady by locking him up in jail, without bail.

CLEMENCEAU, recently "the French Tiger," now a retired old gentleman in his eighty-third year, has just written a play especially for Mile. Sorel. There is nothing surprising about that—in a Frenchman. The French don't grow bald at least their brains live on as long as there is any life in the body.

Voltaire in his eighty-fifth year was at the height of his glory and was crowned with laurel. Young Mr. Astor has a duplicate of that but in his Fifth Avenue house now. The crowds dragged his carriage through the streets. He died, as Clemenceau will die, as much of a man at eighty-five as he ever was at twenty-five.

THE CABLE tells of bad sleeping sickness in Great Britain. Fifty-five cases in February, more in March, six hundred and forty-nine this month with disastrous after effects.

The disease, however, doesn't seem to have touched the British Labor party, which is surprising old-fashioned Englishmen. Cost of government has been cut down, imperial finances show a surplus of $140,000,000 and labor men will probably drop some of the most offensive customs duties.

EDWARD DENAUT, railroad conductor, retires, having ridden 1,050,000 miles in thirty-one years. That is an amazing distance, equal to a trip to the moon and back.

AND THAT isn't anything, for astronomers tell you about the discovery of the universe, outside of our own, entirely beyond the boundaries of the Milky Way. It's so far off that it would take a million years for light to come from those distant suns to our eyes.

PETER THE GREAT found it hard enough to make old-fashioned Russians cut off their long beards and give up the fur skirts that the men wore. He had to threaten them with death, and actually execute many, to introduce his Western ideas.

Whoever thinks he can root out religion doesn't know much about human beings. Read Bertrand Russell's book on "A Frenchman's Belief." He doesn't think there is anything left of us after death. His book speaks of how necessary religion is. Even if false, religion is better than none, for it soothes the inquiring mind.

ONE BAND WAGON THAT'S CROWDED

HIGHER SALARIES ARE NEEDED BY CONGRESSMEN

Since the present salaries of congressmen were established fifteen years ago there have been many changes in conditions, and the cost of living has largely increased.

At first thought the salary of $7,500 seems sufficient for anyone. It figures at a little more than $21.60 for each day of the year. The proposed figure would return a wage increased by 33 per cent, making the payment touch the $27.40 mark.

It is a known fact that many representatives are usually "hard up" when it comes to finances. Cases have been known where delinquent taxes have remained upon the tax collector's books for a full decade, with the cry always coming from the representative that the funds "were not available."

BILL TILDEN IS NO AMATEUR

A little boy who talked at Sunday school was asked if he didn't want to be a Christian. He said he didn't. He wanted to be a newspaper man. That's Bill Tilden.

EVIDENTLY SOME ONE TOOK A NAP

In an editorial referring to voters qualifying yesterday, set by one of the operators who was apparently sleepy Tuesday morning, the statement appeared, "This is the zero weather. The typewritten statement was given the operator as plain as could be written. This is the zero hour. Just why 'zero weather' should have been set instead of 'zero hour' the writer cannot explain because it passed the proofreader also who evidently slept and made the column rather an embarrassing piece of literature.

Dickinson for Delegate-at-Large

The Hon. J. J. Dickinson, of Sanford, Seminole county, judge of the seventh judicial circuit of Florida, announced that he is a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Democratic national convention to be held in New York, June 24. He pledges his support to the candidate for the presidency who receives the endorsement of the Democratic primary to be held June 9, and will use his best efforts to secure his nomination at the convention.
