Candidates Differ On Drainage Bond

By BOB LLOYD
City Editor

Drainage bonds on Tuesday's general election ballot for referendum have become the hottest issue in the Dec. 3 Sanford city election.

Only two of the seven candidates running for two city commission seats say they favor the proposed $6.5 million drainage bond issue to finance a citywide storm drainage program to alleviate flooding during periods of heavy rainfall.

Sanford voters can cast ballots on the proposed bond issue in all 13 city precincts as they vote Tuesday in the state and countywide general election.

If many of the city's 6,500 registered voters fail to show their preference on the bond issue it is possible several hundred voters could approve the bonds that would levy taxes for up to 40 years on all property in the city to fund the drainage program.

The bonds could also be turned down by the same vote since only a simple majority (50 per cent plus 1 of those voting) is required to decide the question.

Incumbent commissioners A. A. McClanahan and John Morris are seeking re-election Dec. 3 to four year terms.

McClanahan is the only city commissioner opposing the bond issue. Morris and Mayor Lee Moore and commissioners Julian Stenstrom and Gordon Meyer have publicly urged city voters to approve the bonds.

Citizens have criticized the present commission for poor maintenance of the city's present open ditch drainage system that channels storm waters to Lake Monroe.

The proposed $6.5 million system of major interceptor mains and smaller lateral lines is designed to cover five "basin" areas over the city, according to city officials.

In 1971 city voters defeated by a 5-1 margin a proposed $3.8 million bond issue for essentially the same drainage system. Now consulting engineers estimate the cost has jumped to $6.16 million plus right-of-way acquisition, engineering, legal and fiscal agent fees.

Mayor Moore says if the bonds are approved by voters Tuesday they can be paid off in 26 years with a levy of 5.35 mills tax on property in the city.

Three candidates are opposing McClanahan in his re-election bid. Auto dealer Guy Thornton says he is sorry the drainage bonds have become political issue, but he personally will vote yes on the bonds.

Noting that if drainage work isn't done now it will cost more later, Thornton says he feels the decision is up to each individual voter. "I have mixed emotions," he said, "we need the drainage, but I want to know more about the possibility of federal funds to help finance the program."

Thornton says he decided to run against McClanahan because of the incumbent's "arrogance and attitude toward citizens."

"I feel city commissioners are public servants and not dictators." He said his main campaign issue will be recent annexations that bypassed large areas to take smaller areas into the city and stretched out city police, fire and utility services.

McClanahan agrees the drainage program is badly needed but says city taxpayers can't afford the added burden.

"And if the bond issue passes," he has said, "I don't think you could get future bonds passed even if people were drowning in the streets." He says he's concerned that the proposed program may not do "a complete job and eliminate the problems." He has charged that there are "a number of grey areas" in the bond issue proposal including no estimates of costs of acquiring rights-of-way, condemnation or total engineering, legal and fiscal agent fees.

Alfred DeLattibeaudiere, a small contractor, and Mrs. Stella Woodhouse, a part-time Orlando Sentinel-Star employee, are also seeking McClanahan's city commission seat and both oppose the drainage bond issue.

DeLattibeaudiere claims the city "has failed to get available federal funds as 'seed money' so the taxpayers don't have to pay all the cost of financing" the drainage program.

"They're (city commission) not doing anything for the good of the people in the city," DeLattibeaudiere charged. "There is too much emphasis on 'city' and not enough on 'people.' People should come first."

Mrs. Woodhouse, who unsuccessfully sought a city commission seat in 1972, feels Sanford citizens shouldn't be asked, under present economic conditions, to pay for "half-way measures." She said she understands that the $6.5 million bond issue won't be enough to complete drainage as now planned.

"I advocate defeat of the bond issue," she said. "The citizens can't afford it." Mrs. DeLattibeaudiere, who has a background of employment by federal agencies in Washington, D.C., says the city should seek state and federal grants for drainage, study the situation and report back to the citizens "with a workable plan." If elected she says she will do her best to get drainage grant funds.

Seminole Unemployment Highest In The Metro Area

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County, which bragged about its 3.7 per cent unemployment rate last year is catching up with the rest of the country now.

The latest estimate from the Florida State Unemployment Service is an unemployment rate of 5.6 per cent — a far cry from last year's lowest in the nation figure and higher than the three county Seminole-Orange-Osceola metropolitan area by .3 per cent.

The unemployment statistics do not include the chronically unemployed, whose benefits have been exhausted, those who have never worked and those who have not held jobs a sufficient length of time to be eligible for unemployment benefits.

A more telling example of the financial distress being suffered locally, however, is the increase in numbers of families using the services of the Seminole County Food stamp office at 218 South Oak Ave., Sanford.

Curtis Spencer, supervisor of the office, said today households receiving food stamp assistance rose seven per cent in Seminole County from September to October, up from 1,565 families to 1,787. Sixty-five new families who had never before applied for the food stamp program are applying weekly, Spencer said.

He warned those families in financial distress not to wait until the breaking point is reached before applying for food stamps.

Currently applications require at least three weeks for processing. Spencer advised those wishing to participate in the program to call the office for an appointment and an application will be mailed immediately.

Spencer said the amount of food stamps which heads of households are eligible to purchase is determined by the amount of income and the family size.

He noted that the amounts of food stamps which may be purchased have been increased to a degree in an effort to offset the effects of inflation. But the increase has not gone up as rapidly as the rate of inflation, Spencer noted.

Persons can buy any edible food product with the stamps. In September, 1973, 1,800

Seminole County residents were collecting unemployment benefits. September, 1974 saw that number climb to 2,600.

A new claims office for unemployment opened in Totem Pole Plaza, 308 U.S. 17-92, Casselberry today.

According to the Orlando unemployment office, new claims for South Seminole residents will be handled at the office and claims now in the Orlando and Sanford offices will be phased into the new office in the next few months.

Democrats Likely Cabinet Winners

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida's seven-man Cabinet is expected to have the same chairman after Tuesday's election, but he may find himself working with anyone from two to five new members.

Democratic Gov. Reubin Askew, who serves as chairman of the panel that is sometimes called the state's board of directors, is a solid favorite for re-election over Republican Jerry Thomas in a race where issues have focused on the governor's office instead of the secondary role as Cabinet chairman.

Five Cabinet races are contested — Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin has no opposition — offering voters these matchups: —Secretary of state: Democratic former state Bruce Smathers, son of former U.S. Sen. George Smathers, against Republican James Sebasta of Tampa, former Hillsborough County election supervisor. —Comptroller: Former state Sen. Gerald Lewis of Miami, who defeated incumbent Fred Dickinson in a bitter Democratic primary, against Republican William Muntzing of Kissimmee, former aide to Gov. Claude Kirk and city commissioner. —Treasurer: Democratic incumbent Thomas O'Malley, who was indicted on Oct. 18 on two counts of accepting $50,000 in kickbacks and one of perjury, against Republican Jeffrey Latham of Davie, former congressional aide who sought Ku Klux Klan support.

Collectively, the governor and Cabinet head the Departments of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, General Services, Criminal Law Enforcement, Natural Resources and Revenue and serve as the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Trust Fund.

A Democratic sweep would give Askew, if he is re-elected, a friendly Cabinet, a luxury he did not enjoy until late in his first term.

For the first three years of the Askew administration, the Cabinet split 4-3 against the governor on many sensitive issues.

The lineup was Askew, Shevin and Christian vs. Conner, O'Malley, Dickinson and former Secretary of State Richard Stone. But Christian was indicted and Stone resigned.

VOTING MACHINES CHECKED

Seminole County's 134 voting machines are given a final mechanical check by A. E. Williams of Adams Transfer and Storage Co. before being sent to the county's 50 precincts for Tuesday's general election. Some 43,714 voters are eligible to cast ballots in the county-wide election and a 50 per cent turnout is predicted by Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce.

UMW Talks Halted; Resumption Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators are working to bring about a resumption of contract negotiations aimed at averting a nationwide coal strike after the United Mine Workers broke off talks in a dispute over money matters.

Despite the impasse, UMW President Arnold Miller said there still was a slim hope of preventing a walkout when the current contract expires Nov. 12.

Jury Gets Tapes After Magruder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prosecutors in the Watergate cover-up trial have nearly finished with the testimony of major witnesses and will soon play recorded evidence they say is among the most damning to be put before the jury.

Watergate prosecutors say they plan to play more than 20 presidential tapes, on which are heard only the voices of Richard M. Nixon and one or more of three of the defendants.

Magruder was to be followed by his former administrative assistant at the re-election committee, Robert Reiter. He is the only witness so far who has not been indicted or served a jail term for a part in either the original Watergate burglary or the cover-up.

48 hours are rather critical," Miller added. Chief federal mediator W.J. Usery Jr. said both sides were willing to resume discussion and he was hopeful for a meeting today. However, he acknowledged that no time had been set for a new session.

Sunday stepped into the talks Sunday night after Miller and his bargaining team out of the negotiations, saying there was no point in continuing until the coal producers responded to the union's latest economic proposals. A spokesman for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association said the mine owners had wanted to first resolve the remaining noneconomic issues. "We made a great deal of progress and in a short time — in a day or so — we could reach an agreement," said Guy Farnum, the spokesman and chief industry negotiator.

In an apparent move to increase pressure for a settlement, the UMW's 38-member bargaining council approved Miller's recommendation to return to the coal fields rather than wait in Washington in hopes that the talks would resume and result in a tentative agreement. Time is already running short and this means at least a extra day before they can return here.

The council must first approve any agreement before it can be submitted to the union's 120,000 members in 25 states under a complicated ratification process.

DR. L. E. LAMB Husband Suddenly Becomes Impotent

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is 56 and appears to be in good health. He is active physically and likes to hunt and fish. He is 5-foot-11 and weighs 175 pounds.

We have always had a good marriage and have two daughters and one son, all grown and away from home. Now all at once he isn't able to have sex anymore. Or, does it mean he doesn't really care for me anymore? He is still loving and tries to make it up to me in other ways, but our sex life is non-existent.

I've tried to get him to see a doctor, but he says he feels fine and doesn't want to. What do you think?

DEAR READER — Impotence is a symptom not a diagnosis. Of course, he should see a doctor and find out what the symptom means.

Many men are afraid to see a doctor about any problems related to sexual function. They seem to think this is too great a shame to share with someone else. So they suffer, often needlessly, in silence. So do their wives, many voicing or thinking the thoughts you express.

I can't include all the causes of impotence here, but you can write to me at P.O. Box 1651, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10101 and ask for the booklet on impotence. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

Impotence is often psychological. It may be related to factors the person is totally unaware of. It often requires professional help to solve these

Unopposed Politicos Work Hard

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Two candidates without opposition are waiting one of the hottest campaigns of the election — a battle to decide which party will pick up several seats in the Florida House.

Rep. Donald Tucker, D-Tallahassee, and William James, R-Delray Beach, legislative leaders of their respective parties, raise the banner of party integrity against each other's forces.

House Speaker-designate Tucker and House Republican leader-designate James each accuse the opposition of representing special interests.

James said Tucker launders special interest contributions for Democrats. Tucker called the Republicans obstructionists with no positive accomplishments.

Both sides agree the Democrats will retain control of both the House and Senate in Tuesday's election. Democrats need to win only two of 11 contested seats to hold a majority in the Senate and only seven of 58 races to retain a House majority.

In the Senate, 11 Democrats and seven Republicans are not up for re-election. Eight Democrats and three Republicans have no opponents.

Of the contested seats, six are held by Democrats, four by the GOP and one by an independent, Sen. Lori Wilson of Merritt Island, who is seeking re-election against an opponent from each party.

The swing will be small from the present lineup of 25 Democrats, 14 Republicans and one independent.

Senate President-designate Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, and GOP leader-designate John Ware of St. Petersburg have been campaigning for Senate candidates but have not gotten into exchanges of charges.

"Dempsey and I philosophically get along well," Ware said and added that whatever the outcome, "I think we will have a strong Senate which will be firm in its positions and will be more conservative than in the past."

Both parties are concentrating on the District 2 Senate race in Pensacola where Republican Rep. Tom Toliasson and Democrat Ralph Candler, a former university professor, are trying to succeed Sen. James Johnston, a Democrat who did not seek re-election.

The Democrats hope former state Rep. Richard Renick of Coral Gables in District 40 will defeat Sen. Don J. Gruber of Miami, who two years ago became the first Republican sent to the Senate from Dade County.

Attention also has focused on Dade County's District 38, where Republican Rep. John Gyrill Malloy is attempting to out incumbent Democrat Ralph R. Poston Sr.

Democrat Rep. Long A. Democratic stronghold, also will be a battleground in House races. Tucker predicted Democrats would win back the seats of Malloy and Tom Gallagher, a Republican who won an off-year special election.

James predicted Gallagher would be re-elected along with three other Republicans — Bob Rosasco, Clint Johnson and William O'Neill.

Tucker forecast that Rep. Dan Bass, R-Plantation, would lose to Democrat David J. Lehman of Hollywood. H. Martin Mrray of Davie, an American party candidate, also is in the District 97 race.

Democrats may pick up some House seats in Republican areas of Broward, Palm Beach, Orange, and Pinellas Counties, Tucker said.

On the other hand, James said Republican Sheila McDevitt may defeat Democrat George Sheldon in Democratic-controlled Hillsborough County.

James predicted Republican Richard S. Graham of Daytona Beach would beat incumbent Democrat William R. Conway.

A Florida First— 'Ms. Saunders' Aim

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — JoAnn Saunders, a candidate in the only U.S. House race in Florida that doesn't have an incumbent, hopes to become the state's first congresswoman in more than 40 years.

Democrat Saunders, the mother of seven, is running for the 5th District seat left vacant when Rep. Bill Gunter made an unsuccessful bid for a Senate seat.

Her opponent is Republican Richard Kelly of Holiday, and both parties are already claiming victory for their candidates.

Only four Democratic and four Republican incumbents among the 15-member congressional delegation have opponents, and all are favored to win re-election. Six Democratic incumbents are unopposed.

In the 5th district, which covers several Central Florida counties, Mrs. Saunders and Kelly are appealing to the largely rural, Republican voters by reminding them of their own backgrounds.

Kelly, a circuit judge in Pasco County for 14 years, tells voters he grew up in Zephyrhills, a small town in the southeastern part of the county, and attended a one-room school.

Mrs. Saunders says she was raised on a farm in Illinois, worked in the fields, milked cows and walked three miles to a one-room school.

The judge's past has not been a campaign issue. He was impeached by the Florida House in 1963 for alleged harassment of lawyers and court officials. The Senate adjourned in the midst of the trial without voting on the articles of impeachment.

In 1969 he was publicly reprimanded on a 4-3 vote by the Florida Supreme Court for "conduct unbecoming a judge."

Kelly raised more than $35,000 in contributions, including $1,000 each from the American Medical Association and the Florida Medical Political Action Committee.

Mrs. Saunders has raised over $78,000, more than $4,000 of it from labor union committees.

She also spent a substantial amount of her own money on her primary campaigns and dumper in another $3,000 for the general election.

Stone, Dems 'Maligned'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A state Democratic Party fund that contributed $50,000 to the campaign of Democrat Senate nominee Richard Stone did not contain any corporate or special-interest funds as incorrectly reported by the New York Times Florida newspapers, the newspapers say.

The newspapers said Saturday that they had learned that the contributions came entirely from the Democratic Party executive committee's general fund, which contains no money from Florida businesses or special-interest groups.

The special-interest funds to which a Friday story referred, the newspapers said, were given directly to state legislative campaign committees and did not go into a $550,000 executive committee fund that has helped finance the Stone campaign.

The papers reported Friday that Stone had received money from a $550,000 campaign fund which included contributions from Florida banks, developers, insurance companies, realtors and other interests.

The papers said reporter Charles Ochsler was apparently misled by the fact that reports filed with the Secretary of State's office in Tallahassee did not indicate that contributions from corporations and special-interest groups were channeled exclusively into special funds for Democratic candidates for the state House and Senate.

Saunders said he gained the needed votes from Sen. Lew Brantley's decision to withdraw from the race and support him.

But Myers said, "If Saunders is going around saying he's got the race locked up, then he's puffing, playing the psychology game."

Saunders said he has enough pledges from Democratic senators to win and was confident of picking up additional pledges,

The newspapers said Saturday that they had learned that the contributions came entirely from the Democratic Party executive committee's general fund, which contains no money from Florida businesses or special-interest groups.

The special-interest funds to which a Friday story referred, the newspapers said, were given directly to state legislative campaign committees and did not go into a $550,000 executive committee fund that has helped finance the Stone campaign.

The papers reported Friday that Stone had received money from a $550,000 campaign fund which included contributions from Florida banks, developers, insurance companies, realtors and other interests.

The papers said reporter Charles Ochsler was apparently misled by the fact that reports filed with the Secretary of State's office in Tallahassee did not indicate that contributions from corporations and special-interest groups were channeled exclusively into special funds for Democratic candidates for the state House and Senate.

100% Attendance

Sen. Lori Wilson had a perfect 100% attendance record for every day of the 1972 special session and the 1973-74 regular sessions of the legislature.

She was there for you. She stood up for you. She got things done for you.

Lori debates on the Senate Floor

AGAINST HIGHER PROPERTY ASSESSMENTS

"The taxpayers will suffer and chaos will result if we put this power in the hands of bureaucrats," Sen. Lori Wilson warned when she fought and voted against the controversial law which increased property assessments. She was the only member of the Brevard legislative delegation and the only member of the District 16 Senate delegation to vote against the bill.

Sen. Lori WILSON... She's different... honestly

Florida State Senate 16th District Independent

Sen. Lori Wilson worked against and voted against bills which increased government spending or which favored special interests. Examples:

- GOVERNMENT SPENDING
  - Against the increased property assessment law
  - Against pay raises for public officials during their term of office
  - Against raising college tuitions for students
  - Against the general appropriation bills of $3.9 billion in 1973 and $4.6 billion in 1974.
- SPECIAL INTERESTS
  - Against weakening Florida's oil spill law "I think people have reached the limit of their endurance with the big oil companies"... Lori said.
  - Against easing sewer pollution regulations
  - Against abuse of our natural resources by big land developers

Lobbyists for special interest groups and empire-building government bureaucrats are two of Lori's pet peeves.

Sen. Wilson said: "Lobbyists descend on you like locusts. When you propose a ban on pay tolets to save the public a big nuisance and a little money, the coin box lobbyists move in. When you propose eliminating millions of dollars of wasteful government spending, the bureaucrats put on pressure.

"The only group without an organized lobby in Tallahassee are the people. That's why I'm more determined than ever to be absolutely free of political party pressures or special interest obligations. I can do that as an independent, and by refusing money contributions."

Five Point Plan For New Voters

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M.D.

CASE B-835: Nera B., aged 18, is a smiling waitress. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I get to vote this year, for the first time in my life. . . . So I am thrilled, but also nervous!"

"For I don't know a single candidate personally, though I have read some of their campaign circulars. . . . How do you and Mrs. Crane decide whom to vote for?"

We follow this anti-inflation maxim: "More business in government; less government in business."

Here's another, as uttered by former newspaper publisher Frank Gannett: "In our Republic, the government should fear the people; not the people, the government!"

Our Founding Fathers opposed letting Uncle Sam compete with us taxpaying citizens, both in business, philanthropy and the professions.

He was to be merely the impartial umpire or referee, standing on the sidelines of our "Free Enterprise" playing field.

But he was definitely NOT to rush out upon that field to compete with the "Free Enterprise" players, whether they be churches, banks, oil companies, farms, retail stores, doctors or editors!

In 1960, our entire federal appropriation (paid for by our taxes) was less than $14 billion. "Big Brother" bureaucrats now demanded $304 billion for the current budget!

Other things being equal, Mrs. Crane and I follow this plan:

(1) Support candidates who vote to LOWER taxes, instead of raising them via inflationary boons in spending to bon-doggle for votes of the welfare and ADA groups in the large cities.

Even the 11 per cent jump in Social Security this election year was a bribe to gain the votes of those above the age of 65.

For a similar reduction in the federal budget would have let the Senior Citizens have as much purchasing power even with their former monthly Social Security checks!

And by thus LOWERING taxes, inflation would have been stopped!

(2) Pick candidates who have had practical experience in operating farms, retail stores, newspapers, doctors' offices and other private businesses where they PAY taxes instead of getting salaries from the taxpayers.

In short, beware of the tax-eaters vs. the taxpayers, for the rash out upon that field to compete with the "Free Enterprise" players, whether

Grant Party Head

LONGWOOD—Businessman J. R. Grant has been named chairman of the city's annual Children's Christmas Party, Council Chairman Don Schreiner announced today.

Schreiner said that Grant, as he is done for more than 15 years, will invite Santa Claus to the event to be held in mid-December at the Shady Side Park on Wilma Avenue.

With Grant's appointment goes authorization from the city to seek cooperation of all community service organizations, businesses and residents to make the party a success, said Schreiner.

The parties in the past saw as many as 500 area children attend to speak personally to Santa Claus who gave out gifts and goodies.

Grant said he will be calling on civic, business and church organizations for assistance.

The party plans are expected to receive council city council's formal blessing at the Nov. 11 meeting, Schreiner said.

OPTIMISTS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS New officers for the Sanford Optimist Club were installed recently in a district ceremony. Electricity Bills Revised

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Billing for electricity should be completely revised so the customer pays for the cost his power use creates, the Public Service Commission staff says.

The proposal called for rate department, which would spell savings for households, was scheduled to come before the full commission today.

It would mean big users such as industrial plants would no longer get the volume discounts they now enjoy while homeowners no longer would pay ing extra to make up for their cost.

"Florida is the first state with this through a study" of rate structures, David Swafford, rate department director, said.

The proposal called for throwing out the large number of classes of customers the utilities now have and ending the practice of dropping prices when use passed up to four levels.

—Small industrial and commercial, which also would get a one-level drop in price.

—Big use industries, which would get one discount for use

FSU President Denies Conflict

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida State University President Stanley Marshall says there is no conflict of interest in his land development arrangement with an official of a firm that sold FSU a parking lot.

Marshall and Kenneth L. Rainey Jr. have paid $420,000 for about 60 acres of waterfront property on Lake Jackson near Tallahassee and sold eight homesites so far for $240,000.

Rainey is listed on state corporation records as vice president and director of First American Investment Corp., which sold the parking lot to the university last week for $181,960.

"I'm not even aware that Marshall is involved in the parking lot," Marshall said in an interview. "I assure you there is no conflict of interest."

Marshall said he had no financial interest in First American or Commonwealth Corp.

First American merged into Commonwealth earlier this year, but Commonwealth founded financially and went into receivership this summer in federal court.

Ray Green, FSU physical plant director, said the university entered negotiations for the parking lot several years ago — well before Marshall and Rainey bought the lakefront property from Colin Phipps of Muldrew.

Marshall and Rainey bought the land in two tracts, paying $150,000 for one and $270,000 for the other. In selling eight parcels so far, they have made $90,000 more than they paid for the entire tract.

"We're buying it together on a 50-50 basis, and if there is any profit, we'll share the profit 50-50," Marshall said.

He said he planned to keep about "four or five" acres on the lake for a home site.

- County
 The Seminole County Commission in a continued hearing, consider the compliance or non-compliance with county utility rules by Southern Gulf Utilities Tuesday night.

Recommendations from the Police Chief on speed limit changes will be discussed.

The mayor will read the resignation of planning and zoning board secretary Betty Easton to run for the Group V council seat in the Dec. 3 municipal election.

But a legal injunction against the hearing itself was lifted on Sept. 13, by Judge Richard Muldrew.

Berry had asked for the injunctions claiming that "irreparable damage" could result from any fines the county might have been contemplating.

"Now we can sit down and find out exactly what the county wants in the way of upgrading streets without fear of hurting the customers and without the possibility of a rate increase," Berry had said when the injunction was granted.

Berry told commissioners that $2 million in repairs would be needed for Southern Gulf to meet county standards, and that rate hikes to $20 a month for sewer customers and $14 for water customers could be necessary to fund the work.

Also Tuesday night in county commission chambers, the board will hold a public hearing on the rezoning on property on the southside of SR 41, 1 1/2 miles west of SR 434 and SR 431.

Architectural Design Group has asked that the property be rezoned from single family duplex (R-2) to multiple family dwelling (R-7) and Planned Unit Development (PUD).

The proposed charter confines the council to legislative responsibilities, expands the mayor's powers, giving him the right to hire and fire and offers dismissed or suspended employees the right of appeal to a special employment-management committee.

The charter also incorporates features, already in state law, including the right of recall of elected officials and initiative on legislation.

Doctors Denounce Hormone Practice

CHICAGO (AP)—Two medical authorities today urged a crackdown on so-called "fat clinics" which use injections of a human hormone to help patients lose weight.

The hormone, derived from the urine of pregnant women, is called human chorionic gonadotropin.

An editorial in today's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association says the weight-loss program of these advertised clinics may be hazardous to health and questions the value of the hormones.

It was written by Dr. John C. Ballin, director of the AMA's department of drugs, and Dr. Philip L. White, director of the department of foods and nutrition.

They noted that the attorney general of Michigan has ruled that the fat clinics are "in violation

HER OPPONENT, the Republican nominee, has convinced us that the Florida legislature several years ago was, indeed, correct. He's sane. But he has not convinced us this qualified him to be our congressman. And neither does the censure handed him several years ago by the Florida Supreme court.

Judge Richard Kelly, we think, has absolutely no business representing Herndon or any other county in congress. He's a pleasant, nice man almost void of any definitive program.

The answers he gives to simple questions are so complex you have no earthly idea where the man stands when he finishes talking with you. He says he's a conservative, whatever that is. He says he's just plain folks from Zephyrhills.

Well, Judge Kelly, in our opinion, is tried and not so true. We'll recommend Mrs. Saunders, a lovely breath of fresh air in the stagnant atmosphere of Watergate-choked Washington.

She is a Democrat in the class of Sen. Henry Jackson and Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, of Bill Gunter and Reubin Askew.

We'd be proud of JoAnn Saunders in congress. Let's elect her next Tuesday.

Governors' Mansions Vital To 1976 Presidency

By The Associated Press Liberal Republican Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan and Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts are struggling to win re-election next Tuesday — and with them ride GOP hopes of retaining a foothold in the statehouses of the big industrial states.

In Massachusetts, polls show Democrat Michael S. Dukakis with a substantial lead over Sargent. In Michigan, both Milliken and Democrat Sander Levin, whom Milliken beat by 44,000 votes in 1970, call their rematch "a very close horse race."

The two gubernatorial elections take on added significance in a national context. Democrats appear likely to recapture the New York and California governorships and to retain the governorships of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Florida and Texas.

Michigan appears to be the GOP's best opportunity to prevent such a sweep, but charges of improperly lodged against Milliken's running mate are believed to have hurt the Republican effort.
