Farm Mortgages

Noting the quoted statement of a congressman the other day that the life insurance companies have lent American farmers the enormous sum of twelve billion dollars, we took the trouble to investigate and find that the facts, as is frequently the case, are not as alarming as random remarks.

According to the Political Cyclopaedia of the Literary Digest, the total farm mortgage debt in 1932 amounted to $9,500,000,000. This sum had more than doubled since 1925, and is $7,774,000,000 more than the total farm mortgage debt in 1910.

The report of the Twenty-Sixth Annual Convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents reveals that of the $9,500,000,000 total farm debt, only $1,666,000,000 is owed to the life insurance companies.

In the particular state of Iowa, in the heart of the distressed farm area, where the New York Life Insurance Company and the Prudential Life Insurance Company have recently declared moratoria on all farm mortgages, the total amount of life insurance loans on farm properties is $455,834,000.

The Spectator Year Book lists the ten life insurance companies with the largest holdings of farm mortgages in Iowa as follows:

Table listing life insurance companies and their farm mortgage holdings in Iowa. Includes Equitable Life of New York, Metropolitan Life, etc.

The farm mortgage holdings throughout the United States and Canada of the ten leading life insurance companies, as of the end of December, 1931, were listed as follows:

Table listing life insurance companies and their total farm mortgage holdings in the US and Canada. Includes Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co., Prudential Insurance Co., etc.

In a recent address in New York, Michael J. Cleary, president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, pointed out that his company held in foreclosed mortgages $15 out of each $1,000 of assets, about 1 1/2 per cent of the company's assets being represented by foreclosed farms.

Automobile Fatalities

Much has been written lamenting the great destruction of lives because of war. We see world movements undertaken to eliminate human sacrifice caused by man's unwillingness to settle controversies by peaceful means.

The Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and the World War cost 300,000 American lives, while for the fifteen-year period just closing there were 325,000 fatalities from automobile accidents in the United States.

The nation quakes at the toll taken by some of the great disasters, the sinking of the Titanic which carried 1617 persons to a watery grave, the Palm Beach hurricane with its death list of 372, the Knickerbocker Theater collapse claiming 98 lives, the San Francisco earthquake when 500 persons perished, the explosion of the battleship Maine with its loss of 269, the wreck of the Shenandoah killing 14, and the Ohio State Penitentiary fire when 317 were burned to death.

We look upon the firearm as a very destructive instrument but the records show that in 1930 ten persons were killed in automobile accidents for every one person killed accidentally by firearms.

Both in its actual physical destructive possibilities and in its big contribution to violent deaths, the automobile is little understood. Few people would ever think of comparing an automobile to a three-inch field piece as regards havoc which each can wreak, yet a car weighing 3,000 pounds and travelling 40 miles an hour, or 69 feet a second has as great destructive possibilities as are released by firing a field gun.

However, in itself the automobile is an unusually safe piece of machinery. It has been perfected to the point where mechanical imperfections or inadequacies are seldom responsible for accidents. It is human frailty which makes the motor car a dangerous thing.

How human actions contribute to automobile fatalities is indicated in a graph compiled by an insurance company showing the percentages of actions producing deaths. They are: driving too fast, 35.31 percent; driving off roadway, 18.84 percent; driving on wrong side of road, 13.25 percent; not having right of way, 11.92 percent; improper passing, turning, signalling, 7.69 percent; and miscellaneous, 13.99 percent.

YOUR INCOME TAX

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $2,000 or more or gross income of $7,000 or more must file returns.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

WHAT? Four per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemption and credits. Eight per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surplus on the income in excess of $4,000.

INCOME-TAX DON'TS

DON'T prepare your return without first studying the instructions on the form. DON'T procrastinate. Early assembling of data permits a careful consideration of all tax problems.

HUSBAND AND WIFE MAY FILE JOINT OR SEPARATE RETURNS

Husband and wife living together may each make a separate return of the income of each, or their income may be included in a single joint return.

Where separate returns are filed by husband and wife, the exemption of $2,500 may be taken by either spouse or divided between them.

When a husband and wife file a joint return, the exemption of $2,500 is taken only once. However, where the taxable income of one spouse is $4,000 or more in excess of the personal exemption, it is to the advantage of the couple if such spouse claims the total personal exemption.

Table showing tax calculations for a husband and wife with a net income of $4,000. Shows personal exemption of $2,000 and taxable income of $2,000.

Table showing tax calculations for a husband and wife with a net income of $2,500. Shows personal exemption of $2,000 and taxable income of $500.

Table showing tax calculations for a husband and wife with a net income of $5,000. Shows personal exemption of $2,000 and taxable income of $3,000.

RETURN OF HUSBAND AND WIFE. If husband and wife should each have a net income in excess of $4,000, but neither a net income in excess of $5,000, it is to their interest, in filing separate income-tax returns for the year 1932, to divide the personal exemption of $2,500 between them.

EXEMPTIONS ALLOWED COUPLES MARRIED DURING TAXABLE YEAR. Taxpayers should note that under the revenue act of 1932 the credit for dependents as well as the personal exemption is required to be prorated where a change of income in excess of the personal exemption occurs during the taxable year.

TWO WOODSMEN

of $4,000, but neither a net income in excess of $5,000, it is to their interest, in filing separate income-tax returns for the year 1932, to divide the personal exemption of $2,500 between them.

A husband and wife, aside from dividing the personal exemption, may further decrease the amount of their total taxes by filing separate returns where their joint income is sufficiently large to be subject to the surtax—that is, in excess of $4,000.

Table showing tax calculations for a husband and wife with a net income of $4,000. Shows taxable income of $4,000, husband's tax of $160, and personal exemption of $500.

Table showing tax calculations for a husband and wife with a net income of $4,000. Shows taxable income of $4,000, wife's tax of $160, and total tax of $320.

is to be disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month, in which case it is considered a month.

For example, a single man and a single woman who were married on July 20, 1932, and were living together on the last day of the taxable year may file a joint return and would be entitled to a personal exemption of $2,500.

If separate returns are filed each is entitled to a personal exemption of $1,041.71, which is 7-12 of $1,000 for the husband while single, plus 7-12 of $1,000 for the wife while single, plus 5-12 of $2,500 for the period during which they were married.

If during the year 1932 the husband or the wife had the status of the head of a family prior to their marriage, he or she would be entitled to his or her pro rata share of exemption and other credits and 8 per cent on the balance, any other division of the personal exemption would have subject part of the husband's or wife's income to the 8 per cent rate.

Within the next 30 days the brick paving for Sanford district will start and there will be a scene of activity all along the line. All the preliminary work has been finished and it is a certainty now that one of the large brick concerns will take the bonds and the contract for laying the brick and the district will profit by the arrangement.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar E. Brown arrived in the city last night from Richmond, Va. and will take up their abode in their beautiful home in East Sanford. They were accompanied by their children, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. E. J. Brown.

The Sanford district will have what is being called a "brick and mortar" party at the home of Mrs. E. J. Brown, on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 11, at 7 o'clock.

Garvey Succumbs To Self-Inflicted Shot

TAMPA, Feb. 5.—Roy Garvey, 45, member of a prominent Kansas City family who fired a bullet into his chest while at a tourist camp (Saturday) night died today. He was to have appeared today in court for arraignment on a charge of assault on city Rep. Louis Woodruff, who was alleged to have shot and wounded her in a struggle over a revolver in her apartment last November.

of the personal exemption of $2,500 allowed the head of a family for the period prior to their marriage instead of merely that allowed a single person. However, for the period of their marriage, any exemption to which either might be entitled by the head of a family would be merged in the joint personal exemption for that period.

The joint personal exemption allowable in the case of a couple who were married and living together during the entire year may not exceed $2,500.

If a child under 18 years of age and dependent on the parent for support reaches the age of 18 years during the taxable year, the credit of $400 for a dependent is required to be prorated in the same manner as the personal exemption. For example, should the child's eighteenth birthday fall on June 30, the parent would be entitled to claim $200 credit for the dependent child—that is 1-2 of $400. The same rule applies to other dependents where a change of status occurs during the taxable year.

WHAT'S NEWS TO YOU?

THRIFTINESS is a state of mind that is nearly as valuable an asset as a bank account... For thriftiness can always get a bank account of its own.

And it's easy to tell thrifty people from the way in which they read the newspapers—just as you can usually spot the other kind.

The great majority of men and women never put a newspaper down until they have read the important news which is directed to them through the advertisements.

The modern woman, especially, finds the advertisements indispensable. She spends more than five-sixths of the family income. And the prosperity, happiness and health of her household frequently depend on her reading of the advertisements and on the wisdom with which she chooses everything she buys.

The advertisements bring you complete information about accepted products and new ones. Through them you can compare values... discover ways and means for greater household efficiency and enjoyment... and make sure that every dollar spent will bring its full return.

'Grand Hotel' Playing At Milane Theater

Here is a talking picture that marks another progressive step in the history of the screen. "Grand Hotel", playing at the Milane Theater, merits whatever superlatives can be fashioned to describe it. It outranks by far the stage production of the famous Vicki Baum novel, both in mounting, characterization and story unfolding, not to ignore a cast unparalleled on stage or screen. The story of "Grand Hotel" centers upon a number of striking characters who are drawn together when they spend a night in the fashionable Berlin hotel. There is Grusinskaya, played by Greta Garbo. To this reviewer it is the most natural and powerful performance of her career. Grusinskaya is a temperamental Russian ballerina who finds herself beyond the peak of her popularity. Aided thief, John Barrymore, enters her room to steal her pearls—and remains to take her love as well. Can you see Garbo and Barrymore in these scorching love scenes?

Another outstanding performance is that of Joan Crawford who appears as Flaminio, the sex-appealing strongman whose chosen love dies in a dramatic industrial

"Believe me, I want a Car that's Safe!"

SAYS POLICE LT. AMOS ANDERSON, DARIEN, CONN.

"I gave them all the 'third degree', and then picked Plymouth"

WERE all thinking of safety these days. As Lieutenant Anderson says: "It's a nice feeling to have a safety-steel body between you and the other fellow's carelessness."

But safety's just one feature you get in a Plymouth... so let's pass over hydraulic brakes and the rigid-X frame.

In Plymouth you get a big, full-sized car... solidly built! You get a 70-horsepower engine... a "performance fool" on the road, yet mighty easy on your purse.

Bring back my Garments with their Original Luster

Perhaps you, too, have tried some other dry cleaning method—

—was chagrined at the harsh feel and dull, dead appearance of the fabric.

—want your garments to come back this time with the original luster restored.

We do Gloverized dry cleaning. This means that we employ a harmless, beneficial solvent developed by the country's leading chemist and recommended by the United States Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C.

It means that our plant is fully equipped with the Glover Process, the most advanced process known.

With it we produce a continuous flow of purified, clarified, filtered dry cleaning fluid in such a tremendous volume that hundreds of gallons are used to dry clean a single washer load. Soil is flushed away as fast as it is removed from the garments.

Garments come back to you—
—with the tensile strength of the fabric unimpaired
—soft with the life and feel of newness
—with the luster preserved
—the colors brightened
—fresh—free from odor.

From seckies to suits. From woollens, fur coats and gloves to silks and fancy garments of the most delicate fabrics. Our dry cleaning methods will never disappoint you.

—will make your clothes wear longer
—contribute more to your personal appearance.

OF RADIO ON EIGHT TRAINS D AT MEETING

Communication From Boat To Engine Greatly Facilitated

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The commercial advantages of the radio as a means of communication between the engine and cabin of a long freight train were set forth recently at the annual winter convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in the Engineering Building at 35 West Thirty-Ninth Street. This kind of radio communication was advocated in the joint report of J. L. Niles, assistant telegraph superintendent of the New York Central Railroad Company, and R. C. Thayer, engineer of the Great Northern Railway Company, submitted at the session on communication.

Development work on radio for front to rear of train communication has been under way for a few years, but commercially practical sets have recently been made available, said the report, in citing the frequent need for means of communication. It was added that trial installations have indicated entirely satisfactory operation.

Among the advantages to be gained by such communications the report included a saving in coal; the passage of signals during fogs, heavy rains and snows, when otherwise impractical; when flagmen are called to the engine and standing trains can be cut and reconnected on the highway crossing.

Advancing of railway management cars was discussed in a report submitted by W. C. Goodwin and Charles Kerr, Jr., both of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, at Pittsburgh. The technical difficulties were described in detail and the report concluded that air conditioning was not only desirable, but feasible and practical, with performance comparable to the best stationary practice.

At the session on rotating electrical machinery the use of the mechanical calculating machine called a "differential analyzer" developed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was explained by four engineers of the school. The machine, a mechanical robot, makes possible the solution of nonlinear differential equations in about three minutes, although the process formerly took many hours of concentrated work.

There was recently held a convention at which Colonel Robert L. Rees, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company spoke on the subject "The Professional Development of the Engineer." In the afternoon the delegates made inspection trips to the plants in the metropolitan area, and returned to the engineering building afterwards for the presentation of the Edison Medal for 1932 to Baccio Gheradi, vice-president and chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Man Is Arrested In Orlando For Posing As Tax Collector

ORLANDO, Feb. 6.—After alleged posing as a federal income tax collector and obtaining money from several business firms here and from others in Leesburg, Ft. Worth, Lake Park, and Fustis, P. E. Breston, Washington, D. C., was in the custody of federal officers last night enroute to Tampa following his indictment by a federal grand jury Wednesday on a charge of violating the U. S. penal code. Breston was arrested in an Orlando store this week by constable George F. Coston while attempting to collect the last installment of a "fine" imposed by the "inspector" for failure to make "proper income tax returns" and was taking out part of the fine in groceries.

Constable Coston described the man used by the self-styled tax collector as "the slickest thing I have ever seen." He said Breston would stop at small stores or shops, usually in the suburbs of the city, and approach the manager, demanding to know whether he had filed his income tax returns. The answer was usually "No," whereupon Breston would produce a set of books for the manager to examine, which he explained was necessary for keeping records of the business income, and would then demand the fine.

New Hat Styles In Paris Recall Days Of "Gay Nineties"

PARIS, Feb. 6.—Hats recalling the nineties, when society tode in victorias, were paraded Tuesday in an important mode—the salon as chapeaux for 1933. A navy and blue straw had a low crown covered with white daisies. The brim was turned up in the back and down in the front and it was worn with a blue veil tied with a fluffy bow at the top of the crown. A tiny black lace straw turban had a long narrow black lace veil which was worn swathed about the throat.

There also was new headgear combining 1933 berets with 1893 flower trims. A navy organdy beret entirely covered with white flowers was worn with a matching flower-trimmed organdy scarf and organdy gloves having cuffs studded with white flowers.

Clothes shown by other designers displayed scant change in silhouette, which generally was slender with a natural waistline. In the midst of regulation coats and frocks—these—newer styles of new materials used in new ways. There were sailor hats made of plain gingham accompanying cotton frocks trimmed with the same gingham, plaid cotton coat frocks in wool coats, white pique princess evening frocks and skyblue cotton dunes dresses with matching three quarter length evening wraps.

Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo, who is head of the state prison bureau, suggested that this "middle man" be someone experienced in prison work but Attorney General Landis agreed with the governor that the investigator should be a lawyer. It was finally left unsettled although the governor said he would discuss the matter further with

Abolishment Of Kentucky County Urge For Safety

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 6.—A recommendation that the 1934 Kentucky legislature abolish Clay county, which State Inspector and Examiner Nat B. Sewell says has been "notorious for nearly half a century" because of factional violence, is made in a report submitted to Gov. Ruby Laffoon by the examiner.

"Abolition of the Kentucky mountain county under the examiner's plan would entail division of its territory and assigning the various sections to adjacent counties. "That the governmental machinery of the county has failed to function efficiently is most clearly evidenced by the history of the county for the past forty years," the examiner's report said. "In no other county in the state has lawlessness prevailed for so long a time with such disastrous results to the people," the report said, "nor has the character of crime reached the barbaric level in any other part of the state that has been in evidence in recent years in Clay."

Taxpayers Urged To Pay Taxes So Schools Can Run

SARASOTA, Feb. 6.—Every taxpayer in Sarasota county who can possibly do so will be urged by the Sarasota Merchants' Association to pay their 1933 assessments in the next two weeks or to at least settle the school's portion of the levy in order to keep the county's educational institutions open for the full eight months.

This action was decided upon by a meeting of about a dozen of the members of the organization at the Chamber of Commerce last night and followed a round table discussion of remarks by Tax Assessor J. Paul Gaines who presented figures to show a decreased tax valuation over the county.

"There must be some drastic move to prevent the calamity of the schools closing on Feb. 24," other members of the board, especially with the attorney general and the commissioner of agriculture.

Hagen Chalks Up 68 In Exhibition Golf Match Here Friday

Walter Hagen, noted American pro golfer who appeared in an exhibition match here Friday afternoon before a small gallery gathered mostly from nearby cities, turned in a card of 68 on the par 70 layout, or one stroke more than the course record of 67 which he holds jointly with Gene Sarason.

Mr. Hagen played his usual strong game, according to Andrew Carraway, manager of the club. Only once was he in the rough; his putting was superb, and his drives were consistently long and true. A 20-foot putt on number five for a birdie there was one of the features of his play.

George Christ, northern pro, who was paired with Mr. Hagen, turned in a 76, but that score, with Mr. Hagen's, was enough to insure this pair a two-up victory over Pug Allen, DeLand pro, and G. W. Spencer, Sanford amateur who participated in the exhibition match.

The local team won one hole, the visitors won three holes, while the remainder were halved. Mr. Allen's feature was a 300-yard drive on number nine, while Mr. Spencer contributed several fine putts and recoveries as his part of what Mr. Carraway termed an "unusually interesting and well-played match."

Free Golf Lessons Put Off Due To Rain

Rain and plenty of it caused a postponement of the scheduled free golf lessons which George C. Hull, pro at the Sanford Country Club, was ready to give to high school boys and girls last Saturday morning.

This morning he said that the lessons will be given next Saturday morning at the same hour as last Saturday. He said that he will visit DeLand tomorrow to confer with Dr. Allison on the exhibit proposed for the Everglades.

Final Organization Meeting For Girl Scouts To Be Held

Gratified over the attendance of 62 young Sanford girls at the Woman's Club Saturday morning when talk of organization of the Girl Scouts locally was heard, Mrs. F. M. Mayer, chairman of the Sanford Woman's Club, announced that a final organization meeting will be held at the First Methodist church on Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

At this meeting, Girl Scout officers from Orlando and Winter Park will be on hand to lend their assistance in the organization of troops here. It is anticipated that more than 50 girls will be present, for the 62 present last Saturday all signified an intention of returning, and bringing more girls with them.

Mrs. Mayer last morning said that parents are urged to send their daughters to this meeting if they are interested in becoming Girl Scouts. "We want to get under way at once on a program that is aimed at developing the moral and physical side of the girl's life," she said, "and we invite every girl 10 years old or over, to attend this Saturday morning meeting."

Everglades Will Be Featured At Chicago Exhibit

BELLE GLADE, Fla., Feb. 3.—The Florida supreme court held that newspapers are not necessarily guilty of libel when they publish incorrect dispatches received from press associations, engaged in gathering and distributing news.

The court, in an opinion by Chief Justice Fred H. Davis, said modern newspapers differ greatly from newspapers which existed at the time the first libel laws were written and that there is a difference between news stories and material which newspapers publish which they receive from press associations.

Dr. Allison said that artists and engineers are planning an exhibit for the Everglades that will depict with clarity the nature of the upper Everglades as well as that of the lower Everglades, showing the distinction to be made between the two types of water, and the importance of the water to the state.

Dr. Allison, on account of his experiments with and knowledge of the soil of south Florida, is assisting the planning and preparation of these exhibits.

He pointed out, however, that some technical assistance will be necessary in order to take advantage of this opportunity to put the novel exhibit before the visitors to the fair. He believes that more favorable publicity can be obtained for south Florida, the Everglades and the proposed national park.
