Troops In Argentina Battle Government

Pro Nazi President Castillo And Cabinet Are Reported Fleeing in Gunboat

Buenos Aires, June 4, (AP)—Revolutionary troops entered Buenos Aires today and divided into columns about four miles from the government house of President Ramon Castillo, in a movement toward the heart of neutral Argentina accompanying reports of fighting on the outskirts of the city.

Port authorities in Montevideo, Uruguay, were ordered on the lookout for an Argentine gunboat reported, without confirmation, being used by President Castillo and his ministers to flee.

Earlier Senator Alfredo Palacios said $8,000 had been given to him. At least $10,000 was advanced upon Buenos Aires from Camp Mayo, 18 miles away, in a movement headed by Gen. Pedro Ramirez, minister of war, and a clash with President Castillo's "forces of repression" with many shots exchanged was reported at school for navy mechanics near the border of Buenos Aires province.

The revolting army units quickly seized control of strategic points about Buenos Aires, and one or two persons were reported killed and many injured.

The British legation in Montevideo, the capital in the revolutionary movement, "had best" successful Argentines in New York interpreted the revolt as a pro-democratic movement caused by strong feeling against the government's dictatorial methods and neutrality toward Argentina in the American conflict, existing relations between the Americas.

Money Are Stolen From Girl's Apartment

Mrs Alma Rowland, having finished her work at Angel's Eat Shack, returned at 1:00 A.M. yesterday morning to her apartment in Sanborn and Bradford buildings at Jessie and Sanford Avenue, somewhat apprehensive as to the condition of her room-mate, Barbara Bedell, who had left the Eat Shack late in the afternoon claiming to be sick and having to lie down.

Miss Rowland sympathizing had given the girl the key to the apartment and told her to go there and rest. She had previously befriended the 19 year old girl, who claimed to be a penniless orphan, by helping to secure her a job at Angels, and also sharing her apartment with her.

In a moment of surprise, Miss Rowland upon her return found the door to her apartment locked. Shouting, entry by prying open a screen, she stated that she found all her clothes gone from closet, also a pocketbook containing $185, mainly from the chifferobe. She at once notified the police.

No trace of the missing girl has yet been found, according to Police Chief Roy G. Williams, and she is described as being about 5 feet three inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, has blue eyes and light brown hair.

Steastrom Appointed Army Warrant Officer

Master Sgt. Leo Steastrom, son of Mrs. Rose L. Steastrom, who is stationed at MacDill Field, Tampa, has been appointed a higher grade warrant officer in the Army of the United States. Mr. Steastrom is a member of the regular Army at MacDill Field in November, 1940, and writes to his mother, Mrs. Steastrom, that he has been promoted to the rank of Captain.

The news comes in the bulletin of the Tampa Warrant Officers Association, which is composed of all warrant officers in the service, and gives details of an instructor and a student who was recently promoted to a grade higher than that of his former class.

HENDRICKS HAS CHECKUP

Washington, June 4, (AP)—Reportedly Hendricks (D-D) has been promoted to the rank of colonel and assigned to the Army War College for a divisional course. He will remain at the college until October, 1944, and will be succeeded by Col. John C. Calvert, Jr., a graduate of the college.

Peru Described Manpower Slack To Woman's Club Expected To Last By Dr. Belaunde Long After War

Love Of Peace Given A Characteristic For Many Years

Comparing customs, habits and climates of North America and Hispanic-America, Dr. Rafael Belaunde diplomat, drew a vivid picture of life in Peru, following the general subject, "Physiography," before members of the Sanford Women's Club Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Belaunde, who has left the Eat Shack late in the afternoon claiming to be sick and having to lie down.

Robert McCall, son of Mr. and Mrs. O.R. McCall, and a student at Mercer University, played Massena's familiar "Waltz of the Flowers" on the piano.

Miss Doreen McCall, pianist, accompanied her brother, who has received recognition in Macon, Georgia, as a violinist.

Of the much publicized boundary disputes, Dr. Belaunde stated the countries of the South are fundamentally of a peaceful nature and their sentiments are with human society.

He said "We have few, but we do have our boundary disputes, which eight times out of ten are settled by civil means."

On the other hand, he pointed out, the normal state of Europe is war and hate, as history shows.

J.N. Robson Jr. Returns From Trip To North Markets

"Every manufacturer told me the shortage of clothing and any items is due to the later shortage," said J. N. Robson, Jr. who has just returned from a buying trip to Baltimore, Maryland.

Mr. Robson said he had very little trouble in train accommodations, but he spent much time in a telephone booth in a Baltimore station trying to get a reservation, unsuccessfully, at nine o'clock. A manufacturer whom he interviewed finally found a decent hotel for him.

Going north on the train, Mr. Robson said he met a defense worker from Winter Park, who knew how extremely crowded the Baltimore hotels and boarders houses are, offered to share his room.

Turning back to the labor shortage, Mr. Robson disclosed that each company he visited had possibly one man employee, and the rest were women or girls. He stated that there were not enough women or alienated married orders, nor sufficient numbers of peckers and truck drivers to fill orders.

The climate was pleasant and the weather was cool, Mr. Robson said, adding it was the first time he had ever been away in several years, but the trip was necessary because some manufacturers have traveling salesmen now.

JACOBSON IN ARMY

Washington, June 4, (AP)—Reportedly Jacobson of Atlanta, Ga., has been accepted for a divisional course at the Army War College, which will begin in September. A graduate of Atlanta University, young Jacobson planned to enter medical school in 1944.

British Urge Italian Fleet To Come Fight

Nazi Army Reported Preparing For Battles On The Largest Possible Scale

WASHINGTON, June 4, (AP)—The conquest of Attu cost the United States 1,535 Army casualties, including 342 dead, 1,135 wounded and 58 missing up to midnight Tuesday, the Navy reported today.

(By Associated Press)

While Italy tensely awaited invasion today, a Berlin broadcast said the German army was "preparing for battles on the largest possible scale."

For the fifth time in five days, a British challenge to the Italian fleet to come out and fight was underlined with a disclosure that Allied warships twice again had bombarded Pantelleria and Allied bombers also pounded the island and the RAF blasted Naples from the air base.

The long British bottling continued, straining at the mark, only by sporadic threats as though each side were testing out the other's strength.

In Algiers Gen. Degoude and Gen. Giraud were reported to have reached a new compromise under which French would make concessions, but remain as commander of the French Army.

In Chungking Chinese forces were reported to have smashed into the Yangtze after annihilating 2,000 Japanese and captured Nanhang on the north.

After short Tengting on the Chinese command announced today the report said the battle on the upper Yangtze had turned into a rout of enemy forces which were battered ceaselessly by American and Chinese aircraft.

Peru Described To Woman's Club By Dr. Belaunde

Continuing to draw a parallel between North and South America's love of peace, Dr. Belaunde said: "We hold the same Christian philosophy of life. The man and woman of America is in Christianity and we must work toward this purpose."

Turning to the women of this Dr. Belaunde disclosed the general opinion that a South American woman's role in life is not so satisfactory. "They civic rights are the same as ours, but their political rights are much. Only the Peruvian women vote. But first they have to make our elections respected. Then we can allow women to vote."

"Some one asked me not long ago why we do not observe Mother's Day. Naturally we shall probably at some time in Peru for the above mentioned reason. We have tendency to imitate the United States, but it is not so gratifying. However, we have no need for such a bacca every day as mother's day with us. Wife and mothers are the greatest influence on children and husbands in every field."

The combination of heart and mind will be a help to the world when all is said and done. He de-continued as he suggested a woman attorney in consideration would create a desirable relationship among countries through her official link. "The woman's role now and particularly after the war is important in establishing understanding among us," he said.

A conventional South American with bright eyes and a sparkling smile, Dr. Belaunde began his address by describing the climate of Peru, which although a tropical country is seldom over 75 degrees Fahrenheit due to a current from the South Polar which modulates the temperature. His information with the knowledge of Peru's mountains, regions in one section and its desert areas in the southwest make the country seem comparable to California.

Hispanic American is the name for the 20 countries which have been called Latin America, Spain and the Portuguese states included. The people are not all Latino; they do not all speak the Spanish language and they cannot be called South Americans because that is the name of one of the continents which includes only 12 of the countries. Hispanic is correct because it is a combination of the words, Spanish and Portuguese.

Of the Hispanic-American race, Dr. Belaunde revealed his countrymen are a combination of Basques, numerous European nations and Indians, a "real melting-pot race." Laughingly he said, "We are not Japanese, fortunately." The audience was particularly impressed with Dr. Belaunde's statement, "We have no difficulty in securing servants in my country. Servants' wages are no problem because we have to pay very little."

The appearance of Dr. Belaunde, who was introduced by Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith, state federated president, climaxed the year's women's club meetings in Sanford, which followed the theme "United Nations and the East Front."

Reception of Wake Island would give American air forces an airport ten bomber hours from Tokyo.

"It is a definite attitude of a harmonious attitude and I hope, personally, that you have enacted practically all of the program I suggested," Governor Holloman declared.

Unlike previous sessions, few bills died on the calendar as unfinished business. Bell and Simpson had passed the two largest bills. Only the House women voted. But first they have to make our elections respected. Then we can allow women to vote.

With the bill passed, Rep. Clay Lockett of Gulf said there would be a way for the courts to declare it unconstitutional, and said it would remove any delegation of power by the State to the political party.

It will provide extra money for pensions. The House and Senate never did agree on various other proposals to tax bonds, racing, and punts bonds to raise several million for pensions and dependent children and blind persons.

Last Club Meeting Of Season Is Held

The year's final luncheon for the Woman's Club was held Wednesday preceding lectures by Dr. Rafael Magoni to which the public was invited.

Mrs. James Maughton, president, made an informal farewell talk on behalf of the club to Mrs. McKey who is moving away. Mrs. B.C. Moore presented Mrs. McKey with a gift from her friends and the "Order of the Rose" past president's club gave her a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. B.B. Crumley of the civic department suggested the club make a needed contribution place for young girls this summer and the club formally accepted this idea.

Mrs. Moore read a poem which she suggested would be suitable to frame, reminding club members of the relatives and friends in the armed forces.

Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith's suggestion of a marker on the hospital room sponsored by the Woman's Club was accepted.

About 50 members were present.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. D.B. Hodges, Jr., announce the birth of their daughter, Sheryl Diane, on June 2.

Miss Spencer Honors Young Bride-Elect

Miss Katherine Spencer was honored with an informal cocktail party for Miss Clara Haskins, bride-elect, Wednesday morning.

Arrangements of Spring flowers were used to decorate the rooms and entertainment consisted of proverbs written, and later read aloud, by each guest. Miss Spencer presented Miss Haskins with a bouquet of flowers.

The bride-elect was joined by her mother, Mrs. M.H. Spencer, in serving the guests; the Misses Jenkins, Martha Wight, Susan Kirtley, Elizabeth Whigham, Vesta Ann White, Gladys Pippin, Jean Whigham, Lutie Gormly, Betty Ann Stafford of Charlotte, S.C., Mrs. Ota Jones, Mrs. O.D. Roosevelt Host To Two Leaders From Liberia

President Barclay Is First Negro To Be White House Guest

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP)—With the full house accorded all visiting foreign dignitaries, Edwin Barclay, President of the Negro Republic of Liberia in West Africa, was received officially last week at the White House. He became the first member of his race to pass the night as a guest in the executive mansion. President Barclay was repaying a visit when President Roosevelt made him on his way back from a conference with Prime Minister Churchill at Casablanca last January. A state dinner for the visiting chief executive was held at the White House, with high officials of the government present. No women attended the dinner.

President Barclay arrived at the White House late in the day, escorted by Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, and accompanied by W. S. Tamm, President-elect of Liberia. On the spacious south lawn of the White House company of marines, soldiers and sailors snapped to attention and the Navy Band played the national anthem of Liberia and the United States.

President Barclay and President-elect Tamm entered the diplomatic reception room of the White House, where President Roosevelt was waiting to greet them, along with Mrs. Roosevelt, Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, Postmaster General Frank Walker, Postmaster General Frank Walker, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Commerce, Jesse Jones, Secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau Jr., Attorney General Fred M. Vinson, Under Secretary of State, and Sol Bloom, Democrat of New York, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

President Barclay and his party moved the next day to the Blair mansion, where the American government houses all of the top visiting foreign officials. Never before, White House officials said, had a Negro dignitary passed the night at the White House. The only comparable event took place when Franklin D. Roosevelt entertained at a luncheon for Bishop T. W. Wilson, the noted Negro educator.

Ralph Major, the returned to the White House from a year's study in a branch of a Park Union

Detroit, Mich., Ark., weighs 190 pounds, lighter than he was when he left, and St. Louis State Master is 16 pounds heavier.

President Barclay, who is president of the Liberia National Bank, and his wife were welcomed by Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Commerce Harry C. Daugherty, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, and Senator George W. Norris.

President Barclay and his wife were accompanied by James B. W. F. Tamm, Foreign Affairs Committee member of the Senate, and the late Gen. John L. Hays, former chief of the White House compact mission, where the American marines, soldiers and sailors who were shipped to Africa and the government houses all live.

At the White House, the Negro leader and his wife were entertained by the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau, Jr.; Attorney General Bobbie, Secretary of War Frank Knox, and Senator George W. Norris.

President Barclay and Mrs. Barclay were the guests of the White
