

Ban Nativity From City Halls? Knowles: 'Ridiculous' Thought

By MAX ERILETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

An effort by the Illinois Division of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) to ban nativity scenes from government buildings is being called "ridiculous" by one Sanford city official and a local religious leader terms it a "historical, not a religious issue."

The ACLU has filed the suit in U.S. District Court in Chicago, contending the use of public funds for nativity scenes at public buildings is a violation of the constitutional provision for separation of church and state. A hearing on that suit was scheduled for today.

"We think it is dangerous to all religions when the government becomes involved," said Jay A. Miller, executive director of the ACLU's Illinois Division.

The Florida chapter of the ACLU has no present plans to join such a suit, according to Ellen Ginsberg, executive director. However, she said, such a suit has been discussed many times. Since the matter is in federal court, a ruling would affect all states.

Sanford traditionally erects a nativity scene at city hall every Christmas. The scene is located at the east end of the building on view from Park Avenue and Seminole Boulevard.

The present nativity scene was purchased in 1971 for $1,200, according to Bob Kelly, public works director. The money for the scene came out of the city's contingency fund, he added.

Kelly did not have figures on the time or expense of erecting the display, but commented it does not take a great deal of time or effort.

"I think it's ridiculous," Warren E. Knowles, Sanford City Manager said of the suit.

Asked if any question about the city's nativity scene has ever been raised, Knowles replied, "Yes. How soon are you going to get the scene up."

"I believe in the separation of church and state," commented Rev. Don Cox, president of the Sanford Ministerial Association. "But the nativity is a part of our culture."

Cox said he views the matter as more than a religious issue.

"It can be looked at as part of our history," argued Cox. "I don't believe this is a religious issue, but it is a historical issue. It's part of our culture."

Cox contended the nation was founded on a strong belief in Christian religion.

Hammock Tree Chopper Near Win

A.L. Seligman, a Casselberry realtor, after a court battle of 18 months with the Seminole County Commission, may be allowed to clear his property in Spring Hammock of trees.

Former County Attorney Harry Stewart, who is completing some court cases for Seminole County while he is officially Brevard County attorney, said today it is not likely he will recommend that the Seminole County Commission appeal to a higher court, the latest court decision in the Seligman case.

The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals last week denied Seminole County's motion to rehear the case. In November the appellate court ruled the county had to issue a land-clearing permit to Seligman, owner of Cross Country Realty Inc. of Casselberry.

County Commission Chairman Bob French said today if Stewart does not recommend the county appeal the case further, Seligman will be free to re-apply for his land-clearing permit.

Stewart said by telephone from Ft. Lauderdale this morning he is leaning toward a "no-appeal" recommendation. However, he added, he will make a final determination later today and a final recommendation to the county commission by Tuesday.

Seligman filed the suit in the circuit court at Sanford originally in August 1977, after the county commission turned down his request for a permit to clear trees from 25 acres of a 21-acre parcel he owns in Spring Hammock.

Seligman's property is located at U.S. 17-92 and General Hutchison Parkway in the heart of the hammock, a 2 1/2-square mile natural green belt that provides a vegetative buffer between northwestern and southwestern Seminole County.

Commissioners denied Seligman's April 15 application to cut down his trees because the Realtor's proposed intent to grow vegetables and raise horses didn't fall into the proper category, according to Stewart.

Commissioners denied Seligman's April 15 application to cut down his trees because the Realtor's proposed intent to grow vegetables and raise horses didn't fall into the proper category, according to Stewart.

In March, commissioners ruled that all building-permit requests in the hammock must come before them for final ruling. Another reason for the denial, given by commissioners at the time, was that Seligman refused to guarantee he would use his land for agricultural purposes for five years.

Seligman's attorney, in a brief filed with the court, said the latter reason was not a valid one for denying the permit since that is not listed in the arbor ordinance as a reason for denying a permit application.

The brief also said the commission ignored Seligman's stated intention to immediately convert the land to agricultural uses and raised questions about his speculative intent in buying the property and his lack of previous activity or experience in agricultural pursuits.

Hit-Run Victim Dies; Today Car Owner Quizzed

A 39-year-old Sanford man who was hit by a car Saturday died of injuries Sunday and this morning city police were interviewing the man who may have been the driver in the hit-and-run accident.

City police said they were talking this morning with Fred Bray, 21, of 124 Bunker Lane, who went to the police station Saturday to declare he is the owner of the car involved. Police said they were attempting to determine if Bray is in fact the owner of the car and if he was the driver when the accident occurred.

Police also said they were waiting for the results of an autopsy this morning to determine if traffic charges or felony charges in connection with the accident will be filed against Bray if he's proven to be the driver.

James M. Smith, 20, of 241 Key Ave. in Sanford, died at the Orlando Regional Medical Center Sunday morning. Police said Smith, originally from Memphis but a long-time area resident, was hit as he was walking on Commercial Street between Sanford and Palmetta Avenues at 2:15 a.m. Saturday.

Following an autopsy this morning, Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay said Smith died of a fracture of the skull resulting in massive brain hemorrhaging.

Beckwith Asks Key --Again

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Clerk of the Circuit Court Arthur H. Beckwith Jr. has submitted a memo to County Commission Chairman Bob French asking reconsideration of the commission's refusal to grant him a key to the Seminole County Courthouse.

"As you are aware in the past few days there has been considerable publicity surrounding my request to secure a key to gain access to the courthouse," Beckwith wrote. "In order to halt further unpleasantness this is to request that your action denying the clerk of the circuit court a key be reconsidered. Further, this is to ask that the request for a key be reconsidered and affirmative action taken to provide the clerk of the circuit court with a key."

The Beckwith memo, directed to French, states Beckwith's latest request for a key. Voting to deny the request were Commissioners Dick Williams, William Kirchhoff and Holt French, chairman. Beckwith has periodically made the request for the more than two years since the 150 keys to the facility which had been in the hands of various personnel in the courthouse were collected by the county commission and tumblers in the locks changed.

According to county commission office manager Dorothy

"This may be a philosophical approach rather than a reasonable reason"

Chairman French

Wade, keys to the courthouse now are in the hands of all the county commissioners, the county administrator, director of administrative services and maintenance personnel.

French said this morning his key to the courthouse will open everything except the snack bar. "I tried to get into the snack bar one night when I was working late to get a coke and couldn't," he said. "If no one had any keys the responsibility would remain the same. Just because I have a key or do not have a key has nothing championship. Clark, a Casselberry resident, will provide Pipino Curvas with his fifth title defense in the last two years.

The fight is tentatively looked in either Houston's Sam Houston Coliseum or Los Angeles' Olympic Auditorium and will be televised by CBS on a delayed basis.

However, closed circuit TV will be available, and Sports Stadium officials are negotiating for local rights.

At age 28, Clark has already achieved what 90 percent of all the boxers who ever stepped into a ring never get -- a world title shot.

"I know I'm lucky, but I also know I have put a lot of hard work into it," said Clark the other day after a short workout on a set of exercise equipment.

"If you want to know what this fight means to me, just picture a million dollars at the other end of this room and you telling me that if I want it, just go get it."

Clark, a refreshing youngster with a flair for coming right out with what he has to say, makes no bones about admitting he is in the boxing business for the money.

"I don't want to be knocking around the rings when I'm 28," he says. "This fight is worth a lot of money to me. Just to challenge Now if I win, I have it made."

Among the eventual goals Clark has set for himself is financial security. He is enrolled at Central Florida University, his particular interest presently in communications.

"Winning the title would virtually assure me of a position in this field," Clark noted. "I have possible interests in other things -- acting, also acting in the capacity of sponsor, and also in the promotional field. What I am looking forward to is being able to get married, have a home and sit back at night and watch television."

The latter might not seem a problem to most folks, but for Scott Clark it would be taking a long-awaited vacation.

His present schedule calls for a 9 p.m. bedtime, 5 a.m. rising and a series of roadwork which finds him running as much as 18 1/2 miles as the sun peaks over the horizon. His dad, Jim Clark, a junior high physical education teacher, follows in a car.

Scott hits the modern gym at the Sports Stadium for several hours of intensive workouts under the eye of trainer Dominick Polo during the day. "This is no ego trip for me," Clark explains. "It's a matter of mental and physical preparedness. Most boxers Egan succeeds J. J. Parrish Jr., Titusville grower, packer, cattlemen and bank and railroad director.

Lucy's Killer Convicted

DADE CITY (UPI)—A Zephyrhills man has been convicted of criminal mischief and "unnecessarily killing an animal, to wit, a chicken."

Joe Fureigh, 57, was found guilty of wringing the neck of Lucy, a chicken belonging to Horner Gordon, a neighbor and former friend.

He was ordered by County Judge William S. Seaver to pay $1 restitution for the chicken to Gordon, to pay $76 in court costs and was put on two months probation.

Missile Explosion Probed

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The Navy is trying to figure out what went wrong Saturday when a Trident missile carrying a dummy warhead exploded five seconds into a test flight.

The Navy would provide almost no details on the Trident, which exploded directly over the launch pad then tumbled to the ground trailing flames and thick white smoke. There were no injuries in the mishap, but launch facilities suffered "minor damage," the Navy said.

Marijuana Crackdown

MIAMI (UPI)—Authorities cracked down on a marijuana smuggling ring they say took in more than $10 million a week for the past year.

Lou Wilson of the Florida Department of Criminal Law Enforcement said officers arrested 13 persons Saturday on 21 warrants issued last week by a Duval County grand jury. More arrests are expected.

He said among those apprehended was the "ring leader" Genobovo Ramos, 32, of Fort Lauderdale. His bond was set at $1 million, highest ever in Duval County.

Want A Job?

MIAMI (UPI)—If you've always wanted to come to grips with nature, the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission may have just the job.

Fierdians have been complaining of nuisance alligators near their homes at the rate of 200 a month. There are only about 50 hunters on the commission's roster willing to trap the reptiles for subsequent release in wilderness areas.

The need for gator trappers is so acute that the commission is willing to overlook a prospective hunter's history of alligator poaching, providing he hasn't been convicted of it in the past five years.

Youth Arrested In Slaying

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Jefferson County authorities Sunday night were in Apalachicola, Fla., to question a youth in the slaying of his 63-year-old grandmother.

Askew Reminisces

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Reubin Askew says among the high points during his eight years in office was Joseph Hatchett's appointment to the Supreme Court and delivering the keynote address at the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

Askew reminisced about his years in office in a final interview before handing the office over to his successor, Robert Graham.

Among the low points, he said were Senate rejection of O. J. Keller as head of Health and Rehabilitative Services and signing a death warrant for convicted murderer John Spivey. That warrant has since run out while Spivey's case continues to appeal.

'Big Mac' Difference For Knicks

By United Press International
Near the end of Willis Reed's tenure as New York Knicks coach, he was asked about the return of the injured Bob McAdoo. Current Coach Red Holman had also been missing his Big Mac.

What team really made all that difference?
"Who we saw was an outstanding performance by a truly great player," Atlanta Coach Chuck Cooper said Sunday of McAdoo's return, which included 41 points and a 111-105 Knicks victory over the Hawks.

McAdoo, out of the lineup with a bruised leg since November 18, played 43 minutes to lead the Knicks to their second straight victory.
The 40-10 star made his appearance with 8:37 remaining in the first quarter and the Knicks trailing 13-12. He scored nine straight New York points.

He wound up shooting 15-for-23 from the floor and grabbed a game-high 11 rebounds.
McAdoo surprised playing with the amount of minutes he had accumulated.
"Marvin Webster blocked it all, including three in the fourth quarter when New York was down by 10 points. I was attacked by a man as he got off the team bus on arrival at the airport," McAdoo said.

Knicks' MVP Superstars 91 Clippy Fries, a double star because of a new backcourt night of his 40 points, scored 28 points for the Knicks. Fries also had 11 points and 11 rebounds.

Noodle Pudding Gets A Twist Of Orange

Tradition is wonderful — it warms the heart, fills the mind with memories, and evokes a participation in the holiday joy around it. It can also lead to a bit of a let-down if remembered crumbs before the reality of no-longer-existing seasonal foods.

That's when a simple twist to a traditional dish can make quite a difference. Which is to say, here we get a recipe for you!

Noodle pudding is common Jewish dairy fare. But for Christmas and other festive occasions, our holiday version will draw comments for its appearance, and praise for its unusual taste. The customary rectangular pudding is transformed into a festive, surprising ingredient — Florida orange juice — are combined with apples, but in the round. The "pudding" is baked in a pan with a topping of corn flakes, brown sugar and cinnamon. Sour cream and fresh orange slices garnish this special dessert. It's perfect, with coffee, for friends who drop in with good wishes for the holiday season.

Chamkah, the Festival of Lights, has been celebrated for more than 1,000 years. The customs of the eight-day holiday, noted in antiquity, have evolved in some interesting ways. For example, latkes, or potato pancakes, were originally cheese delicacies. The potato shape survived, and the use of the vegetable became traditional.

A good variation can be made with sweet potatoes. The vegetable is in season during the holiday time of the year, and adds cheer to the meal. These pancakes are laced with orange juice and raisins, and served with sour cream — delicious with poultry.

So if tradition is wearing a bit thin, give it new life with a few small changes. That may just make it easier to "eat and enjoy!"

Bananas with cheese and celery? Why not? A sprinkle of nutmeg highlights the flavor of sliced bananas and chopped celery blanketed in a creamy cheese sauce and topped with buttered bread crumbs. Try Bananas-Celery au Gratin as a Holiday specialty or to add new interest to everyday meals.

Funny thing about holidays — we really don't mind the extra effort needed to put on a spread befitting the festive season. But while the spirit might be willing, today's lifestyles leave little spare time for feasting in the kitchen.

Bananas can help. Because they're naturally sweet and smooth textured, bananas are excellent ingredients in many meals. They perk up ordinary everyday fare something special. And, they're a favorite of just about everybody — after all, they are America's number one fruit! Try them in these interesting and good-tasting dishes that get you out of the kitchen in a hurry.

Gifts made by the giver always seem more special than any other kind of present. Economical bananas form the basis of lots of smart gift-giving ideas, many of which you can make now, freeze and present at Yule-time!

Making CANANAS is easier than pie! Just bake your favorite banana bread in greased and floured 1-pound cans in a 350 degree F oven for 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in the center of bread comes out clean. Cool 18 minutes, turn out of cans. Freeze, if desired, in anticipation of upcoming gift-giving. Make different Cananas by putting nuts into one batch, chocolate chips, raisins or other dried fruit into the others, and wrap an assortment for a special treat.

¼ cup sugar
3 tablespoons orange juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice

What They Say At The Polls

A random sampling of Sanford voters as they left the polls at the Civic Center this morning revealed a neck-and-neck battle for the Third District city commission seat at stake.

Challenger David Farr led incumbent A.A. McClanahan six to five with five of the 10 electors polled refusing to reveal their votes.

Vote turned in Sanford was steady with about 700 by noon. In Lake Mary only 84 voters had gone to the polls by 11 a.m.

Francis Mark and Bill Smathers are locked in a run-off race for seat two on the city council. They are trying to take over the seat being vacated by Mrs. Lillian Griffin.

McClanahan and Farr finished one and two, respectively, in the Dec. 5 city election in a field of seven candidates. However, neither garnered a majority of the 1,000 votes cast two weeks ago.

McClanahan led the pack of seven candidates for the seat with 335 votes. Farr trailed him with 285 votes, seven more than three-place Fishburne Neal Yancy.

Many voters who said they supported McClanahan mentioned their personal friendship with him and his years of service on the commission.

Farr supporters expressed a feeling that city government needed new blood and younger people on the commission.

Here are some of the responses:

'No Christmas For Me'

He's (McClanahan) been a good commissioner and if you change in the middle of the lake, you sometimes get lost'

— Mrs. L. P. Duffey, 1821 Palmetto

'I think he's (Farr) a young fellow and the young people should be given a chance to vote on the commission and work with the chamber of commerce.'

— Edith Harrison, 2445 Park Ave.

'I voted for McClanahan because I think he's a good man...'

— Douglas Charles, 462 W. 19th St.

'I voted for Farr, because I think he is very nice.'

— Mrs. Minnie Kane, 386 Meadow Hills

15 Elderly Losing Their Hot Meal

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Grace Perry, director of the Meals on Wheels (MOW) program of Seminole Community Action (SCA) began Monday morning over the list of 15 housebound elderly persons who receive one hot meal daily under the program, to determine which 15 will have their meals halted as of Jan. 1.

"This man is on crutches. This lady has no legs," she said, as her way of identifying each of the recipients, trying to determine whose need is greater, whose need is not so great.

"The money is not available. The fault is mine," Mrs. Perry said.

The state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) early Monday in response to her monthly reports to that agency informed Mrs. Perry that 15 persons would have to be cut from the MOW clients or the SCA program would not have sufficient funds to care for its regular clients for the remainder of the year.

"The fact is we haven't got the money to feed the people we have been feeding and we're being dropped from the list of clients distributed to housebound elderly in the county."

Although Project OASIS (Older Americans Support Initiative Services) Monday she was told that even with the savings in the cost of the meals, 15 persons have to be dropped from the list of clients Monday as of Jan. 1. Mrs. Perry became June 30, 1979, the end of the fiscal year.

Several weeks ago part of the federal funding for the MOW program was cut off and transferred to the Seminole County Federation of Senior Citizens Project OASIS (Older Americans Support Initiative Services) in Seminole.

Under that specific federal program, called Title III, 30 hot meals daily were being distributed to housebound elderly in the county.

Even though Project OASIS is to be dropped from the list of clients for the fiscal year, the program was cut off and transferred to the Seminole County Federation of Senior Citizens Project OASIS (Older Americans Support Initiative Services) in Seminole.

'Whoop-De-Do!'

Apparently in a holiday mood, Seminole County Commissioner Robert Sturm today tried to get his colleagues to give Clerk of the Circuit Court Art Beckwith a key to the county courthouse.

However, the feeling was not shared by his commissioner counterparts.

Sturm's motion to give Beckwith a key failed to pass when the vote was tied two to two. Commissioner Dick Williams, on vacation, was absent from today's commission meeting.

In moving to give Beckwith a key, Sturm noted: "In keeping with the Christmas spirit, I move the county commission give all constitutional officers and judges keys to the courthouse to bring peace and harmony for all concerned."

When Commissioner William Kirkhoff, who voted against giving up the key, tried to amend Sturm's motion with an attempt at humor, he evoked a comment from Sandra Glenn. She had seconded Sturm's motion to give keys and voted with Sturm to get it passed.

"Let's change that to give all constitutional officers' employee keys, which would end someone's security, but be in the Christmas spirit," said Kirkhoff.

Responding Mrs. Glenn "Whoop-de-do." Usually, Mrs. Glenn moved to give Beckwith a key, but that was amended by Sturm to give all constitutional officers a key.

Lecithin Is Fat, Not Some Vitamin

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB— I would really appreciate your answering a couple of questions for me. Can you tell me what foods naturally contain lecithin and are there any calories in a 100 milligram vitamin capsule? Also, are there any calories in vitamin B complex with vitamin C that has 15 milligrams of lecithin in it?

DEAR READER— In the first place, lecithin is not a vitamin. It's a triglyceride (fat) attached to choline. Your body can manufacture choline from an adequate amount of good quality protein in your diet. The calories in lecithin come from its fat content. There are nine calories in every 100 milligram of fat. It follows that a 100 milligram lecithin vitamin capsule probably contains less than 10 calories.

You should know that your own body manufactures lecithin. The amount that is in the body is regulated by your own liver. Choline can be manufactured from essential amino acids in the proteins of a well-balanced diet and your liver can produce the fatty acid necessary to form the triglyceride part of the lecithin. So if you are eating a good normal diet, your lecithin level is more apt to be dependent upon the basic characteristics of your own body chemistry. Lecithin is found in a variety of foods: soybeans and soybean products are good examples. Choline is found in meats. If your diet contains an adequate amount of meat, you should be getting sufficient choline for your body to manufacture its own lecithin.

Note that lecithin is not a vitamin and its calorie content is solely dependent on the point that it is really a fat. Real vitamins don't have calories. For that reason, vitamin B complex and vitamin C do not add to your calorie intake. They are not used for energy. Vitamins are commonly used in the metabolic cycle to help your cells break down the food you eat and release the calories that are in the food. These vitamins, many of which are in lecithin, neither lecithin nor the vitamins are an important source of calories.

Other foods that are rich in choline, which your body can use to make its own lecithin, include whole grains, liver, egg yolks and kidneys. Your body needs between 150 to 400 milligrams of choline a day. Seven ounces of lean meat will contain 200 milligrams. Lecithin is important in your body, but you need to know that the way lecithin is increased in your blood is from the action of your own liver. The liver is a remarkable organ that controls the level of sugar in your blood, regulates the formation of different sized fatty-cholesterol particles, changes one amino acid into another amino acid, breaks down amino acids from proteins and even forms new ones.

To give you more information on your remarkable liver, I am sending you The Health Letter number 14, Your Liver And How to Live With It. Others who want this issue can send $4 to receive The Health Letter addressed envelope for a day in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1361, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10013.

HOROSCOPE

By KENNETH BRIDGE COOL

For Tuesday, December 19, 1978

YOUR BIRTHDAY
December 19, 1978

There will be a definite mark on this coming year for special knowledge on experience that you possess. Don't all yourself start on what you have to offer, and don't permit others to do so.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
That slow, steady progress you enjoy so much will be with you all day today. By evening you should be able to look back with a sense of achievement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Harmony prevails in most areas of your life today. If a meddling of minds is called for to bring about something you desire, get together now.

CANCER (June 21-July 21)
Your efforts to pay off today. You'll be rewarded for personal achievement. This is especially true in areas where you're performing services.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22)
You have a commanding way about you today, but others won't find it offensive. In fact, you'll enhance the esteem in which you're held.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Being the power behind the throne is a role you're capable of expertly playing today. Taking it upon you'll be as important as getting the job done right.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
Your influence over your intimate sphere of friends is more powerful than usual today. Use it in ways to benefit everyone.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22)
This is a good day to call to your superior's attention the fine job you've been doing. He may even agree you're entitled to more remuneration.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19)
Just ventures could be a very profitable area for you today, especially if there someone has done the spadework and you're playing a supporting role.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Although you're apt to feel a trifle independent today, you'll find the situations offering the greatest reward will be those where you're working with a partner.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
There's no limit to what you can achieve today within your capabilities. If you use your initiative, be a self-starter. Have clear-cut objectives.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

point lead into the last spot of honors. Nothing much happened until I picked up the fourth hand and found myself in a normal seven-spade contract at the other table. My top clubs were useless and my whole problem was in the diamond suit.

Alan: "You wouldn't care about making the contract. All you want to do was to make the same play as the other South would make. I see that it was all academic. The queen of diamonds was doubtless and right in front of your top diamond. What would you have done if East followed low on the second diamond?"
