

Drug Laws: Good Or Bad?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration today announced that it will issue regulations to control the sale of over-the-counter drugs.

The regulations, which will take effect in 1962, will require that all over-the-counter drugs be tested for safety and effectiveness before they can be marketed.

The FDA also announced that it will issue regulations to control the sale of prescription drugs.

and their comments on the regulations. The FDA, (The 1957 regulations are tentative for 1962) — said mid-October — will give interested parties a chance to be heard.

The medical community, however, had no real faith with the idea of the regulations — only with their means.

"The FDA has needed a stronger arm for a long time," one commentator said. "But what they want now calls for a lot more paper work."

"I wonder how many doctors in the field are going to spend that much time on a clinical test for a pharmaceutical company — especially those who don't get paid for it."

Another clinician, echoing considerable sentiment in the medical community, wondered how doctors were going to feel about the FDA passing on their qualifications to take part in clinical tests.

Several researchers pointed out that while the development of medicines since the turn of the century had added over 20 years to the average U.S. life span — and dramatically cut the death rate due to influenza, tuberculosis and venereal disease — people were still dying from treatment by penicillin and aspirin.

"If we were testing penicillin today," one clinician asked, "and our progress reports showed some mortality, would the FDA stop the test?"

The most searching comment on the new regulations comes from Dr. Henry Beecher, professor at Harvard Medical School:

"We can't let another thalidomide tragedy happen. But how can we prevent it?"

"Man is still the animal of necessity in the testing of drugs for his use. And the only real way to conduct such tests is by dedicated researchers, interested in the welfare of man — people who know what they're doing and will consult with their peers when a problem arises."

"One cannot legislate responsibility or integrity." Curiously, however, it is a drug industry spokesman who points out:

"The new regulations will mean more work and possibly more expense in research and development."

"But if a pharmaceutical company can make $20 million on a new cure for an old disease, it won't stop looking."

Mississippi Crisis

Black Headlines Around World

LONDON (UPI)—The Mississippi racial crisis brought out propagandists, cartoonists and big black headlines around the world today.

Practically the only support for Gov. Ross Barnett and other Mississippi state officials came from Colin Jordan, leader of the British Nazi movement, who cabled congratulations "on your stand for the racial survival of the white man."

There was little comment from Moscow. The Soviet government newspaper called the fatal shooting of a French seaman "the crime of racists." Earlier Tass news agency said the University of Mississippi campus was "no longer as a stronghold of bigotry and racism."

Most European and Asian newspapers appeared to recognize the scope and depth of the American racial problem and said the Ole Miss battle was only one phase of what will be a long fight for integration in the United States.

The London Daily Mail printed a front-page cartoon showing a grinning Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev talking into a telephone and saying: "And, Mr. Kennedy, would you like some of my technicians in Cuba to help you out in Mississippi?"

The Guardian said Barnett "must bear a heavy moral responsibility for the events of this tragic night. The chain of events set going by the governor's initial defiance . . . made violence likely."

The London Telegraph said the Mississippi affair had to be viewed as an episode in the long social revolution which may take another generation to complete.

"This is a victory for law, and a credit to President Kennedy," it said.

The London Daily Mail listed examples of discrimination in Britain, and the Telegraph reminded Britons that the entire Commonwealth could not force South Africa to end its apartheid policies.

Paris' Combat commented "There are laws, judges and power in the United States, and President Kennedy has just proved it in putting to flight the racist and fascist clique around Gov. Barnett and ex-General Walker."

Schirra Goes Around, Around And Around

'She's Flying Beautifully'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Walter M. Schirra Jr. whirled around the globe every hour and a half today on a flight expected to set a U. S. space record of six orbits and 180,000 miles.

A Voice From Space

By United Press International
Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., speaking from space: "This really is a sycophant."

"She's flying beautifully" seven minutes after blast-off. "Sun's coming in the window now. The sunlight is in the upper right hand corner, just peeking in at me."

"Everything is green." A new term in astronaut talk, replacing the "go" and "A-okay" usages meaning that all was going well.

Condition report to Zanzibar: "A little warm but quite comfortable."

"I feel real good. I have beads of perspiration on my lips but that's about all."

"... a block of light" (during the Western Hemisphere).

One of the most important roads in the county was bypassed in that tentative proposed priority program.

Board of Adjustment meeting recessed last night until Thursday. . . . More study needed.

Where to house the administrative aide? That's what's puzzling Zoning Director Bob Brown. . . . Only solution according to Brown may be renting space possibly in the Kirk Plaza Bldg. or, in the Masonic Temple. . . .

However, there's a chance they may give him the proposed supervisor of registrations office and move Camilla across the street.

Civil Service board was supposed to have met Thursday to certify Civil Service exams for Police Lt. . . . Meeting off until Oct. 18. . . . Six officers took the exam and six passed. Chief Roy Williams has his work cut out for him picking the man.

Junior High "light" squad disbanded. . . . "Just couldn't get any ball games," said Principal Hugh Carlton.

TEN babies, six girls and four boys, were born at Seminole Memorial Hospital yesterday! This must surely be some kind of record. The halls were full of floor-pacing fathers, grandmothers and grandfathers-to-be and one baby girl's birth had a number of thrilled teen-age friends keeping pace with the young father. Better get going on that addition, board of trustees!

Special County Commission meeting tomorrow at 2 p. m. regarding rights-of-way by Highland Ave. near Altamonte Springs. . . . J. C. Hutchison also told us the board will discuss the recent Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission decision on doves.

Ruth Laro, wife of the Logwood Fire Chief, tipped us off today that the Volunteer Firemen are about ready to break a big piece of news which will involve something "really enjoyable" for all young people in the south end of the county.

Bird Sanctuary Refused

The Sanford Herald

No Action Taken On Petition

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has decided not to establish a bird sanctuary on the 6,300 acre area adjacent to the southeast of Sanford limits.

Karl Frye, assistant director of the commission, said today that a telegram had been sent to J. C. Hutchison, chairman of the county commission, advising of the game agency's decision. He also said a letter is being sent to the commission explaining fully the details of the state group's policy on bird sanctuaries.

The vote not to take action on the request by landowners to close the whole area to shooting leaves that section of the county open to legal dove hunting when the season opens Saturday—that is, as far as the Game Commission is concerned.

The problem of land owners barring hunters from their properties remains unless a suggested agreement among the sheriff's department, the residents and the Seminole County Sportsman's Assn. can be worked out.

The sportsman's board of directors scheduled a meeting at 8 p. m. today to discuss ways to assist property owners in protecting their homes and other premises from careless shooting.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby warned 150 persons present at a hearing on the bird sanctuary proposal Monday night that existing laws governing firearms will be enforced and asked all residents and others who witness violations of the law and to ask for warrants at the county judge's office.

Frye said that the Game Commission decided not to act on the petition to close the lands to shooting because "it is purely a question of local law enforcement in the residential areas and our policy is not to establish sanctuaries where legitimate hunting opportunities exist."

'Confidence' Vote Given ? From Council

An enthusiastic vote of confidence was the result of the effort to unseat North Orlando councilman Woodrow W. Anderson and Robert Stephenson at the meeting of the village council Tuesday night.

It was John Spaulding, who has lived in the town for two and a half years, that brought up the question of Anderson's resignation by the councilman.

Anderson, who had been expecting the action by Spaulding, declared he had said he would resign "if the people wanted me to," not that he would just simply resign because the books were in shape. Spaulding repeated that he wanted to know if "Anderson is a man of his word," and received the same answer from Anderson.

At this point one of the crowd proposed a vote of confidence in Anderson, and it was enthusiastically given. Another was proposed for Councilman Stephenson, and he, too, received a long ovation from the group.

There was discussion about the bills owed by the village which total $5,566, and there was, as of the meeting time, $79.00 in the town account. Sixty dollars of this was used to pay Mrs. Stewart Helmly, who resigned as town clerk, for her performance of duty for the past six meetings of the council.

The bills include $3,700 for charter costs, $412 for sporting equipment for the recreation area, $495 for bookkeeping services by Seminole Bookkeeping Service, the firm that posted the new town books and $900 due the Florida Power Corporation. Robert Stephenson reported he was about to be sued by the American-LaFrance Co., fire engine builders for an axle for the town fire truck which cost $59 and has not been paid for by the town.

Merchants Poll Reveals No' To Meter Cover-Up

Down town merchants, queried today on a proposal to cover parking meters on a trial basis and allow free parking were, for the most part, definitely opposed to the idea. Others gave qualified answers, or preferred not to comment for one reason or another.

Sixty percent of those who were asked if they thought that it would be a good idea to cover the parking meters to see if it would help business, answered, "No, I don't think this is the answer."

Two said that they would be willing to go along with the trial and await results, but were personally doubtful as to the outcome. Two refused to comment.

Only one First St. merchant, Mrs. Zella Skinkind answered with an unqualified "Yes, I certainly think we ought to try it and see if it gets good results."

Both Ralph Cowan and E. C. Harper Jr. felt that eventually Sanford would have to take out the parking meters to be able to compete with unmetered shopping centers, but Cowan said that the city could not afford to do it now, and Harper commented "this is not the immediate solution" and that there would still have to be some kind of policing of parkers to avoid "all day parkers."

John Kader said that he would be willing to go along with the trial covering of the meters, but didn't think parking was the answer to downtown Sanford's troubles.

"No, I don't think covering the parking meters is the answer," said John Ivey. "I've been wrong before, and I could be wrong again, but look at New Smyrna, it's almost a ghost town, and they don't have any parking meters."

Details Set For Campus Deal
Determination was made Wednesday of the exact meets and bounds for the new Seminole College campus in North Orlando, it was announced today by John Swartz, for the North Orlando Company.

Jack Dodd, member of the college Board of Trustees worked out the location with company representatives, and the matter is now in the hands of the attorneys representing the college and the college company.

College President Morris Hale said the board is expecting the formal transfer of title to take place at the meeting of the college board of trustees on Oct. 25.

Hale also said "excellent progress" is being made on the plans for the initial building and the master plan for the new campus.

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — The University of Mississippi began putting Negro James Meredith through routine aptitude tests today and otherwise attempted to bring some semblance of normalcy back to the strife-torn campus.

But troops guarding against a further outbreak of violence remained and had to break up a small demonstration shortly after midnight when a group of students threw rocks and bottles and exploded firecrackers.

Meredith was driven to the Lyceum building about 8:30 a. m. for the aptitude tests. Registrar Robert Ellis said all new students must take the tests and said they would have no bearing on Meredith's ability to remain as a student.

Mazer Speaks Here Youth Concert Series Urged

By Jane Casselberry
Henr. Mazer, director of the Florida Symphony Orchestra, Tuesday night dangled the tempting prospect of a Youth Concert Series for school children of South Seminole County before an overflow audience at a Council of Teachers and Parents meeting at the South Seminole Elementary School in Casselberry.

These concerts by the orchestra have long been popular with children of Orange County where their costs are underwritten by banks, businesses, civic clubs and individuals.

Bringing the orchestra to the South Seminole area would involve some $600 and parent-teacher groups in various participating schools each would be asked to assume responsibility for raising a share of this amount.

The plan must first receive the approval from the County School Board and permission must be granted for the children to attend concerts during the school day.

The Jai Alai Fronton was mentioned as a possible location for holding the concerts and it was also pointed out that the performances would have to be worked into the orchestra's scheduled season from Jan. 1 to April 7.

College President Morris Hale said the board is expecting the formal transfer of title to take place at the meeting of the college board of trustees on Oct. 25.

Hale also said "excellent progress" is being made on the plans for the initial building and the master plan for the new campus.

Area Study
Fresco Craft
At Summit

One of the most dramatic areas of the state will be studied at the annual meeting of the National Art Association, which will convene at the University of Mississippi on Sunday.

The study will be conducted by a group of artists and art historians from various parts of the state. They will be studying the frescoes in the area around the University of Mississippi, which were painted by the famous artist, J. M. W. Turner.

The frescoes were painted in the 18th century and are considered to be one of the finest examples of the art of fresco painting in the United States.

The meeting will be held in the University of Mississippi building, which is one of the most beautiful buildings in the state. It was designed by the famous architect, Thomas Jefferson.

Auxiliary Sets Program On Education

The Auxiliary of the University of Mississippi will sponsor a program on education at the 1963 meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, which is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. at the Legion House on Hwy. 17-62.

Several speakers of the auxiliary will be A. J. Brinkley, principal of Hattiesburg High School who will speak on education.

A short business meeting will be held and all members are urged to attend the meeting, as well as any visiting members who are in the area.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — More than 100 of the state's leading business and professional men, concerned about emotionalism in the fight against integration, called Tuesday for law, order, restraint and calmness.

They drafted a statement which said "enforcement of law and order and not mob rule is absolutely essential to the peace and safety of all our homes and our citizens."

Among the 127 who signed the statement were industrialist Dennis Milne of Jackson, Burwell Stevens of Macon, former president of the National Cotton Council, manufacturer Owen Cooper of Yazoo City and many other leading citizens. Several public officials, including Oxford Mayor E. W. Wilcox, were signers.

It was learned that many who attended the meeting were opposed to advice being given Gov. Ross Barnett by leaders of the Citizens Council in the controversy over Negro James Meredith's enrollment at the University of Mississippi.

The statement appealed to students for calmness and said "restraint and judgment on their part is essential to saving all the institutions of higher learning in our state."

It also urged that the state prosecute persons who incited Sunday night's campus riot. "The honor and dignity of our state requires us to do this ourselves and not to leave such to the federal government," it said.

A stillness seemed to settle over this capital city after several weeks of angry controversy over the Meredith case.

A crowd gathered around the governor's mansion in downtown Jackson when there were rumors that Barnett might be arrested Tuesday. But there were none of the angry speeches, impassioned pleas and racial yells which started a Sunday at the Citizens' Council beside the mansion.

Today—Wide-Track Pontiac '63

Obvious, isn't it, that Pontiac's come up with another beauty this year. Fresh over-and-under headlights, clean profile—but, you can see that. There's a wider Wide-Track, too, and a full line of Trophy V-8's. (That ought to be enough to make these other cars turn green.) And we haven't mentioned such happy touches as self-adjusting brakes. So what, pray tell, could be keeping you from a new Pontiac of your own? A small suggestion. Don't run down to see one. Gallop! Wide-Track Pontiac

Announcement was made that the County Council meeting will be held at 10 a.m. on Oct. 26 in Port Orange at the American Legion Hall. Speaker will be Miss Ruth Harris who will talk on re-appointment beginning at 1 p.m.

Those planning to attend were asked to bring a sack lunch. Beverage and dessert will be provided by the hostess club.

Shalimar Lounge Opening Slated On Thursday

The opening of the new Shalimar Lounge at the Mayfair Inn has been set for Thursday at 7 p.m.

Entrance to the elegant new cocktail lounge can't be missed with the huge red and white candy-striped rubber mat leading straight into the double doors in the west wing of the Inn.

An Oriental atmosphere pervades the lounge, from the gay striped (red and white, of course) Sultan's turban neon sign at the entrance, to the iron-illigree chandelier lamps and lacy ironwork grille along the back of the bar.

Turquoise blue upholstery covers the bar and lounges, with dark blue walls and a glamorous tone-on-tone carpet underfoot. A special little niche is carved out in one corner for the orchestra.

Mayfair Manager Everett Kerr has carried out the romantic, exotic atmosphere of Oriental Perla to the last detail in this glamorous new lounge.

Squadron Three Now At Sea

The latter part of September and the first part of October has been full of activity for the men of Heavy Attack Squadron Three, during Heavy Attack Squadron Three's carrier qualification periods aboard the Attack Aircraft Carrier "U.S.S. Independence." The pilots and their aircraft are now in one of the most extensive periods of carrier qualifications that has been undertaken by Heavy Attack Squadron Three.

The pilots and their crews have been engaged in flying from two to three flights daily to sharpen their flying skill in order to become more efficient in landing the "A3D Skywarrior" and the "A3J Vigilante" aboard the giant aircraft carriers of the Navy's Six Fleet.

Since Heavy Attack Squadron Three has become the training squadron for heavy attack on the east coast approximately 700 A3J students and 400 A3D students graduate from schools in the squadron every year.

State B Of H Warns On Bean

JACKSONVILLE — The State Board of Health today warned that a beautiful bean which grows wild in the state and which is often used for beads and dolls' eyes can bring violent illness in a few hours and death in 12 days if chewed and swallowed.

Several instances of children eating the highly-attractive red-and-black beans recently came to light in Southern Florida—but the hazard is present wherever the beans may grow or be sold as necklaces, clothing ornamentation or other such uses, said Dr. Gregory A. McCoy, director of the board's Accident Prevention Program.

The bean is the jequirity (jekir-i-ty) but has a host of other names: arbus, rosary pea, crayeys pea and Indian leorke to name a few. It's a woody clinging vine growing 10 to 20 feet. Its leaves, borne alternately, consist of eight to 15 pairs of oblong leaflets half an inch long. The flowers, a quarter inch long, are sweetpea shaped colored white, creamy or purple. The pods are broad and flat with close-lying hairs. They contain the seeds which are oval, about a quarter inch long, brilliant red in color except for the lower one-third which is jet black. Normally it grows wild from Orlando southward and is usually found along fence rows, in gardens, citrus groves and native vegetation.

Schools Mediocre Says Rickover

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Vice Adm. H. G. Rickover said tonight the basic weakness of American education is "our lack of a national scholastic standard."

Addressing the Southern Governors' Conference, the developer of the atomic submarine said the United States is the only advanced country in the world which does not set national standards for academic achievement.

The result of letting each state or school district set its own standards, he said, is to "render our schools highly susceptible to the strong pressure toward mediocrity that is present in any system of mass education."

He said a national scholastic standard could be set in a way that would not involve any federal usurpation of state and local rights. He proposed that a special committee of distinguished citizens be appointed to draw up examinations which students could take if they chose, but which no one would be compelled to take. He suggested that several types of examinations be provided—one for high school seniors aspiring to enter first-rate colleges, another for high school students wishing to prepare for technician's or semi-professional careers, and perhaps another for college graduates seeking professional careers.

Those who passed the examination successfully would be given "national certification" which would tell higher educational institutions or prospective employers exactly what their academic qualifications really were.

Rickover said this system would be far preferable to handing out meaningless, identical diplomas to all students who spend the requisite number of years in school.

"By offering the reward of a nationally certified diploma

Church Study To Continue

The second chapter of the School of Missions Study, "The Arms of Compassion," will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. at the Ebenezer Methodist Church.

Following the study at 8:45 p.m. there will be a meeting of the Committee on Membership and Evangelism.

Cockroaches have been taught to find their way through mazes by scientists, but the insects forget their lessons overnight and have to be retaught next day.

Longwood Catholic Circle To Give Supper

Longwood's St. Catherine of Siena Circle of the Church of Nativity Catholic Women's Club held its regular monthly meeting on Monday evening in the Social Hall of the church.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Gerald Sasser, chairman, announced that a profit of $27.50 had been realized on the circle's recent bake sale and that orders for fruit cake will be taken by any member of the circle to be delivered before the Thanksgiving or Christmas holidays.

The circle will sponsor a spaghetti supper at the Longwood Elementary School cafeteria in November. Included in the menu will be spaghetti with real Italian sauce, chopped salad, French bread, ice cream, coffee, lead tea or milk.

Tickets will be priced at nominal charges for adults and children under 12 years of age.

Mrs. John Kennedy was appointed chairman of the supper committee and Mrs. Garland Shaw as chairman of the ticket committee.

Raceway To Get New Grandstand By Jan. 6

The stockholders of Seminole Park Raceway, Casselberry, convened again Monday afternoon and heard Engineer Rex Ingelman, of C. L. Mahoney Co., a construction company based in Orlando and Kalamazoo, Mich., describe the new grandstand which will rise on the site of the old between now and January.

The completion date for the new arena is set for Jan. 6, according to Ingelman, and steel will arrive on Nov. 15.

Track President Clyde Hart said eight new barns will be built to increase the track capacity to 1,034 horses, the feed facilities will be more than doubled and a new track restaurant for groom personnel will be built. He also said they are expecting the annual trek to the track to begin within the next 15 days.

to our children, many who now drift through school would be encouraged to aspire to higher academic goals," he said. "You can't expect children to study hard subjects such as mathematics, science and languages when next door others are effortlessly accumulating equal credits by easy 'Life-Adjustment' courses in 'Family Life.' It surely isn't 'undemocratic' to reward those who exert themselves with a diploma that takes note of their accomplishments."

Rickover, who has long been a caustic critic of progressive education, said he will "readily admit that as places for fun and games, American educational institutions are unsurpassed in the world."

But in intellectual performance, he said, American education is far behind European standards, and "fails to live up to the needs of our society."

Tickets Out For Entertainment Series

A ten day all-out sale of memberships in the Sanford-DeBary Entertainment Association's schedule of top shows for the season was kicked off Monday with a dinner for the board of directors at the SHS cafeteria.

Nell Rankin, leading mezzo-soprano at the Metropolitan Opera will headline the schedule for this year, with the rollicking pianist-humorist Stan Freeman adding the light touch and Three in Concert adding a rounding out of entertainment with Douglas Williams on the marimba, Gregory Colson on the piano and famous ballerina Sandra Volkert, dancing.

The first presentation in the series, "Three in Concert" will be here on Oct. 25, so it is imperative that we concentrate our membership sale in the first ten days in October," said Mrs. Ralph A. Smith, ticket chairman. Her home at 2021 Park Ave. will be headquarters for ticket sales.

Don Bales, president of the organization said all shows will be held in the Seminole High School auditorium, with no single tickets sold at the door. All membership tickets are transferable, however, and may be used by any person designated by the member if he is not able to attend.

Membership in the Sanford-DeBary Entertainment Assn. also entitles the holder to attend any other Mutual Concert series in February.

Cost of memberships is the same as last year, with student tickets at half price.

"We are particularly interested in encouraging and enabling young people to see, hear and appreciate the finest quality in music and entertainment," said Mrs. Smith.

Troops Take Meredith To Class

Editor's Note: Two reporters toured the University of Mississippi campus with James Meredith Tuesday and then interviewed him. One of them was UPT's assistant reporter and his dispatch follows:

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — James H. Meredith, first Negro admitted to the University of Mississippi, said Tuesday that his morale was high and come what may he plans to finish his education here.

"At this point it is more for America than it is for me," Meredith said, as he sat in his bare white-walled room on the second floor of Baxter Hall.

Meredith said "in the classes students spoke to me but there was no conversation." At a political science class today he sat toward the back of the room with no student occupying the chairs on either side of him. He was jeered when he left the class.

When students gather in the corridors of the lecture halls they refer to Meredith as "he." They say "he just came in the building," or "he has gone to his classroom."

Meredith was asked if two days of classes had discouraged him and whether he had ever considered giving up the whole thing.

"If this stops me," he said, "then it is no different from a legal block." He estimated it would take him a year or a half or two years to finish the university. He said that he did not find this any harder than the other schools he has attended and he was impressed with the professors he has come in contact with so far.

"They seem to me to be professionally prepared for their work," he said.

Meredith estimates he will do between 20 and 25 hours a week of homework and library study. Going back to the question of whether he was discouraged by the climate on the campus, Meredith said: "I am absolutely intent on seeing that every citizen is given a right to be something if he works hard enough. Negroes in Mississippi are being denied many of the rights basic to American democracy."

Meredith's day started at 8:30 a. m. when he came out of Baxter Hall escorted by Chief U.S. Marshall James McShane and two deputy marshalls. He stepped into a blue-green two-door Plymouth sedan which carried a Michigan license.

State Jobless Pay Down; Sanford Upped

Unemployment Compensation payments to Florida jobless in August were almost a million dollars below August 1961.

State Industrial Commission Chairman A. Worley Brown today reported August payments at $4,168,479 compared to $5,065,946 in August 1961.

Brown said, "The seasonal monthly increase of $601,064 in August from July was well under the July increase and we expect these monthly increases to be wiped out by the fall business pickup."

Twenty five unemployment compensation offices in the State reported increases for their areas. They were:

Winter Haven, up $179,416 to $402,639; Tampa, up $94,924 to $413,588; Lakeland, up $76,488 to $182,833; Orlando, up $53,000 to $193,050; Leesburg, up $53,936 to $103,978; Clearwater, up $13,774 to $65,323; West Palm Beach, up $14,622 to $141,137; Pensacola, up $12,247 to $92,117; Bradenton, up $11,372 to $36,376; Cocoa, up $6,067 to $31,087; St. Petersburg, up $7,631 to $106,296; Ft. Deny Rumor Ole Miss Game Off

Gators Play Duke Saturday

United Press International
It'll be a homecoming day as scheduled at Oxford, Miss., Saturday.

An Ole Miss spokesman dashed rumors that the weekend clash with the University of Houston may be moved out of Oxford because of the school's integration crisis.

Two Teams Tied For 1st In Kegler Play

Starting into the fifth week of league play, the Jet Inn and St. Johns Realty Co. tied for first place with 11 wins and five losses. St. Johns Realty went all out to take four points from Stomper Real Estate and Jet Inn won three from their opponents, Pierre Mtg. Co.

Wahls Tire Shop showed they were in top form by taking four from Aliz of Sanford, and coming up strong from the cellar in Team No. 3 with a clean sweep from the Factory Paint Outlet.

Margie Kipp came through with a 513 series to top high bowler of the week and also leads the league with high average of 167. Jean Webster put four strikes together to make the high game for the night of 137. Midge Woods led her team on to victory with a 177-87 and Mary Pinter was top bowler for her team with a 177-40. Cecile DePalma was a big help to St. Johns with a nice 173-85 and Helen Baslin rolled a 163-84.

The splits were plentiful, but the girls seemed to have no trouble picking them up. Margie Kipp converted the 5-10, 3-10 and 5-4 and Marion Parrella the 5-7, 3-10 and 5-4. Jean Webb got the 5-4, Peggy Stewart the 3-10, Gladys Pinter the 5-10, Evelyn Uhr the 5-4-10, Louise Owens the 3-7, and to round out the circle Midge Woods, Helen Kaelin and Jean Monroe made the 3-10.

Coach Ralph Jordan of Auburn announced he was keeping halfbacks Larry Lester and Jimmy Burson as game captains for another week. The two swiftness of the Georgia spunked the Tigers' offensive show against Tennessee last Saturday.

Georgia's Bulldogs drilled in the rain and mud in preparation for their battle with South Carolina. Coach Johnny Griffith said spirit was "real high."

Mississippi State and Tennessee, Saturday opponents in Memphis, elicited on defensive and offensive maneuvers. The Volunteers labored strenuously on pass defense. Mindful of the passing arm of State's Charlie Furlow. The Bulldogs practiced defense against Tennessee's stylish single wing attack.

At Florida, Sophomores Tom Shannon ran the Blue team, filling in for ailing Larry Libertore. Coaches said Shannon would probably start against Duke Saturday.

Signs As Scout
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Frank (Bunko) Kilroy, former defensive star with the Philadelphia Eagles, has signed to scout for the Washington Redskins. Kilroy will scout player talent both in college and in the National Football League.

'Big Three' Top Favorites
NEW YORK (UPI) — Ohio State, Alabama and Texas college football's "big three," are strong favorites to bowl over their weekend opponents.

Top-ranked Ohio State is a 14-point choice over UCLA, second-ranked Alabama is picked to defeat Vanderbilt by at least 20 points, and third-ranked Texas is a 27-point favorite over Tulane.

Two members of the UPI top 10 are underdogs for their Saturday engagements. Iowa is a 6-point pick over sixth-ranked Southern California, and Michigan is a 3-point choice over ninth-ranked Army.

Caolo Seen As Replacement For Lawson

By Samuel Broadway
Special Sports Editor
After viewing the game of last Friday's Apollo game the Seminoles High Seminoles got back down to work again Tuesday with two weeks of work ahead for the conference champs.

An open date is scheduled for this Friday night and the Seminoles will have a night off. The two weeks without any competition will give the team a chance to work off their injuries and have the team in top shape for the next game, which is with Seabrook.

Buddy Lawson will be greatly missed in the Seminoles lineup for the upcoming games. Head Coach Jim Pickett has Jack Caolo on hand to replace Lawson in the backfield however, and the backfield should be as strong as ever, although not as fast.

No other major injuries, aside from Lawson's dislocated elbow, hampered the Seminoles. Of course everyone had the usual bruises and scrapes, but nothing serious.

The Seminoles have David MacGillis back in the starting lineup. By the time the next game rolls around MacGillis will have forgotten the injured ankle and will be in better than new shape. Big guard David McLean will also be off the injured list and back into full-time action.

A question mark still poses in front of Billy Lovelace and David Noell. Lovelace has not been able to don a uniform since the first fall scrimmage and is due to start working out in shorts any day now. It is still doubtful as to whether or not he will be ready for Seabrook, as there is still a slight limp present.

Noell, after receiving a fractured nose, is still out of action and is on the slow road to recovery. The two injuries hurt both the backfield and the line. Lovelace, star quarterback for the JV's last season will surely be a long needed addition to the backfield as will Noell to the line. Noell showed up fine in spring drills and in the first game, especially on defense.

No other bad injuries have thus far been reported by the coaching staff, but the boys have plenty of hard work ahead of them for the tough Seabrook eleven.

Dark Predicts Giant Victory
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Alvin Dark, a quiet, unassuming, Bible-toting baseball man, predicted today that his San Francisco Giants would capture the National League pennant.

"We're going to get them," Dark said, referring to the Los Angeles Dodgers, who threw the playoff into a deciding third game with an 8-7 win Tuesday.

replaced by the management. According to Stabell the improvement in the court and the addition of new talent will do much to upgrade the performance of the players and will add to the spectacular show put on by the stars of "the world's fastest sport."

Playoff Battle To Go For Broke

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Dodgers and the Giants, after six months and 164 games of battling for the National League pennant, package all that time and effort into one perilous playoff game today.

To the winner goes World Series gold. To the losers—out while running the bases during San Francisco's four-run rally in the sixth. Sanford, a 24-game winner, had held the Dodgers to two hits during the first five innings. But he has had difficulty breathing this week because of a cold, and he had exerted himself ducking back to second base after over-running the bag. And then he scurried all the way home on Jim Davenport's single, making it for the third of the four tallies which gave the Giants a 5-0 bulge.

When he walked Jim Galliam to open the sixth, manager Al Dark of the Giants felt that it would be safer to call in a rested reliever. Before the inning ended, Dark had used four pitchers to quell that seven-run uprising.

There was another Dodger break in the eighth when Willie Mays was thrown out at third base in a sprint from first on pinch-hitter Ed Baller's run-producing single.

It was a close play and the Giants beamed that umpire Jocko Conlan first had made the "safe" sign before calling Mays out. It was costly, too, for the Giants continued their rally and tied the score at 7-7 on John Oraino's sacrifice fly.

But the biggest break of all actually was a "rock" by Gaylord Perry, the Giants' 24-year-old relief pitcher, during the ninth inning when the Dodgers won the game.

Perry had entered the game to face pinch hitter Daryl Spencer after his predecessors, Bob Bolin and Dick Lemay, each had walked a batter with one out.

In handing the ball to Perry, Dark specifically told him to anticipate a bunt and look for a force play at third base.

Spencer bunted, Perry fielded the ball, took one frenzied look at Wills streaking for third base, and decided to throw to first instead.

That forced Mike McCormick, who followed Perry and became the eighth San Francisco pitcher, to walk Tommy Davis intentionally, loading the bases for Fairly's climactic sacrifice fly.

Clutch Plays Pulled Game Out For Dodgers
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — You might call it perseverance, hustle or just plain luck, but whatever it was, the Los Angeles Dodgers felt they had it coming to them.

They had gone 35 frustrating innings without scoring a run and it looked like their fondest dreams of a World Series shot at the New York Yankees were dissipating in the sunshine and light haze that shrouded their second playoff game with the San Francisco Giants.

Then a few breaks finally came their way Tuesday, as they cruised with seven runs in the sixth inning, refused to lose heart when the Giants tied the score at 7-7 in the eighth, and finally won in the ninth, 8-7, when Ron Fairly hit a sacrifice fly that brought home fleet Maury Wills.

Of course, there were some "clutch" performances by the Dodgers, in addition to the breaks, in this 4-hour and 18-minute game that was the longest nine innings ever played in baseball history.

There was the pinch three-run double by Lee Walls which highlighted the seven-run explosion, and the important pinch single by young Doug Camilli which kept the rally alive earlier in that inning.

There was the hitless 1 1/2 innings of relief pitching by big Stan Williams, who snuffed out the Giants' eighth-inning uprising and held them off in the ninth before the Dodgers won the game.

Williams was credited with his 14th victory against 12 defeats.

There was Wills, who stole his 101st base earlier in the game—to no avail—and then did some much more important foot-racing when he scored the winning run.

And there was Fairly, who managed to get enough wood on that final pitch from southpaw Mike McCormick for the sacrifice fly that delivered Wills from third base.

But there were many among the 25,321 in Dodger Stadium who felt the Dodgers benefited from a kiss by Lady Luck in beating the Giants.

The Dodgers' biggest break came when Giants starter Jack Sanford tired himself

Rotary Youth Group Sets Top Projects

Chairman of the Youth Committee of the Sanford Rotary Club, Sonny Powell, has announced an extensive list of projects for the coming year.

One of the largest projects is based on the group's decision to purchase the rights to a popular movie to be played at the local theatre and enlist the aid of graduating seniors and Rotarians in the sale of tickets.

"We believe seniors will appreciate Fun After Graduation Day more if they have a part in raising the money," said Chairman Powell.

"Many students don't even know where the money came from for FAG Day, and this project last year cost the club $75. Each year the graduating class becomes larger and more expensive," Powell pointed out.

Funds realized from the sale of movie tickets and not used for FAG Day will be applied toward college scholarship funds. The committee hopes to expand the scholarship program begun last year, which gave two county students a $1,000 scholarship each through the contributions of the ChumKing Company and Chase and Company.

A member of the Youth Committee has been appointed to work with the Juvenile Judge in finding homes for dependent children.

Rotary will continue to sponsor a student at Boys State, sponsor a student to the Science Camp at FSU and to the Salvation Army Camp, and also sponsor a team in the City Recreation Dept. Junior Baseball League. (Rotary has participated in this program for over 18 years). The club will also donate two trophies to baseball league for the Best Sportsmanship and Most Valuable Player.

Under study at present are the possibilities of organizing a "Wheel Club" at Seminole High School, providing helpful competition to the Key Club.

A selected student at Seminole High School will be a guest of Rotary each Monday, with a Rotarian picking the student up at school and acting as host at luncheon.

Members of the Youth Committee include Floyd Richards, Bill Lovelace, Dr. John Morgan, George Stine, Charlie Robinson, Dr. P. J. Westgate and Powell.

Periodic regular eye examinations are a must for all children, says the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Sanford BPO Does Celebrate Third Anniversary At Dinner And Dance

Members of the Sanford Drove No. 160 BPO Does celebrated their third anniversary at a banquet, Saturday night, at the Capri Restaurant.

Among distinguished guests present were the two past presidents, Mrs. Robert Caruthers and Mrs. A. P. Bowersox, and the current president, Mrs. Richard Mapes.

Frank Holmes, Exalted Ruler of the Elks Club, was also an honored guest along with two out of town guests, Mrs. Ralph LaFevre and Mrs. Gene Hoff, of the Orlando Drove. The two Orlando guests served as installing officers when the Sanford drove was organized three years ago.

It was announced that Mrs. Mapes has received an appointment by Supreme President, Iola Barnard of Idaho Falls, to serve on the grand lodge courtesy committee during the coming year. This is quite an honor for the Sanford president and the three year old drove.

Following the delightful dinner party, the group went to the Elks Club where they enjoyed an evening of dancing. Others enjoying the evening were the three president's husbands and Mrs. H. E. Diabrov, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. George DeMatteo, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. John Pierre.

And Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Feinberg, Mr. and Mrs. Este Bukur Sr., Mr. and Mrs. William LaBree, Mr. and Mrs. Brad Foley, Ralph LaFevre, Gene Hoff and Mrs. A. Mendez.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who has gone with this widower for three years. He wants to marry me but I can't seem to make up my mind. He never takes me anywhere. Every night he comes here and reads my paper. I fix him supper and afterwards he sits around and watches my TV. He says he has something set aside for a rainy day but I don't know whether to believe him or not. What do you think?

SLOW BUT SURE

DEAR SLOW: If you want to go on fixing him supper every night and letting him burn out your TV tubes, he sounds like a dandy. My guess is that for a rainy day he has set aside an old umbrella.

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old daughter gets an allowance of $5.00 a week. She has no bus fare to pay or lunches to buy. It is "pocket money" to make her feel grown up and independent. We had hoped she would save something from it. Well, she hasn't saved a dime and she is always begging extra money for cosmetics and things that should come out of her allowance. All her money goes for records! She has a collection of over 300 (I counted them), and they are junk records that are popular one week and unheard of the next. She says it is her money and she can spend it any way she pleases. Is that right? How would you handle this situation?

DISAPPOINTED
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Unless you instructed her from the start to save a certain part of her allowance, or spend it only on certain items, she is within her rights. However, tell her that you expect her to save $1.00 a week. And if that, too, goes on the turntable, YOU turn the tables and withhold the allowance for a while.

DEAR ABBY: Is there any place near here where you can get married without a waiting period? We would like to leave in the morning and be home that same evening as I have three children in school, live out in the country and I have been wanting to get married for a long time but couldn't spare the time. "ME"

DEAR "ME": Call your clergyman or the local Justice of the Peace. Either will be able to acquaint you with the requirements in your immediate area. And congratulations!

DEAR ABBY: Your correspondent, "WOODROW WILSON HIGH CLASS OF '33" made me sick. He criticized his friend for boasting of a Harvard degree. But while criticizing his friend, HE boasts of a higher income in spite of having had no college education. I have met both kinds of bores. Of the two, I prefer the Harvard man.

Highlights

7:30-8:30 p. m. (CBS) CBS Reports, "Showdown in the Congo." It's a tough proposition to do a clear appraisal of a muddy situation, which this program attempts to do tonight. The Congolese situation is explored from the time of that nation's independence, with the problem of Katanga province highlighted as well as the positions taken by the Russians and the Americans. The feature of the hour is the intense efforts made by the UN to prevent the nation's subversion. Richard C. Mottel reports.

8:30-9:30 p. m. (ABC) Going My Way. (Premiere) "Back To Ballymore." If this series is a success, it will be almost totally due to Gene Kelly in the role of the light-hearted Father O'Malley. Leo G. Carroll has an enormous task, in the role Barry Fitzgerald created. In the debut Father Fitzgibbons is being sent to visit his Irish birthplace by his parishioners. Father O'Malley, knowing how industrialized and ugly the place has become over the years, tries to dissuade his superior from his trip, without breaking the illusion of the "beautiful old country." Dick York and Nydia Westman are featured.

9:30-10:30 p. m. (CBS) The Dick Van Dyke Show. If this episode wasn't inspired by Lunt and Fontanne's memorable "The Guardsman" play, it's a reasonable facsimile. Always the joker, Rob (Dick Van Dyke) disguises his voice on the phone and asks his wife (Mary Tyler Moore) for a date. When to his astonishment she accepts, there's nothing else to do but test her fidelity. Not quite up to snuff for Van Dyke, biggest laughs in this one are delivered by Rose Marie and Morey Amsterdam as his fellow writers.

9:30-10:30 p. m. (NBC) Perry Como. (Season Premiere) (Color) The eighth season opener for Perry and His Gang tonight, featuring the three greatest golfers in the world—Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus. The trio appears in a comedy skit with Perry, an avid duffer, filmed at the Sands Point (N. Y.) Country Club. Paul Lynde is missing from the regular cast this season, with Pierre Olaf, a French clown, moving in to join Kaye Ballard, Sandy Stewart, Jack Duffy and Don Adams.

9:30-10 p. m. (ABC) Our Man Higgins. "It's Higgins, Sir" (Premiere) Stanley Holloway, a very funny Britisher whose "Get Me To The Church On Time" was a hit of "My Fair Lady," stars in a situation comedy as a butler in an odd situation. He is part of the inheritance of a middle-income American who is the last in his Scottish family's line. Higgins, along with the family's silver, drops in unexpectedly, which is the beginning of many unexpected things on this series. Featured are Frank Maxwell, Audrey Totter, Rickey Kelman and K. C. Butta.

TV Time Previews

Jacoby On Bridge

What should West lead against the no-trump game? He has a horrible hand with two four-card suits. If he is going to get anywhere against the no-trump game he must find his partner's suit. Therefore he should abandon his own suits and lead the eight of spades. This lead really strikes gold. East has a six-card spade suit plus two side aces and can set the contract by playing third hand low. If East covers dummy's spade honor with the king he will check the hand to South, but East's holding is such that he should play low automatically.

This leaves South in dummy and he will surely play a diamond. East should go up with the ace and play a second low spade. This knocks out South's ace and leaves East with four good spades and the ace of clubs. East won't make all his spades because South will run off six tricks in the red suits and East will be forced to discard a spade, but East can still set the contract. Incidentally, North and South can make game in diamonds, but when the hand was played in an important tournament every South player landed at three no-trump.

We The Women

Are you sure—
That the friend who hurt your feelings really meant to be unkind and there's no chance at all that you misinterpreted the words spoken?
That the person you are sure lied to you didn't make an honest error?
That the person you have marked down as high-hat isn't actually shy?
That the advice you have received as coming from a busybody wasn't a well-meaning person's effort to save you from making a mistake?

That the person you think is trying to snub you because he can't remember your name isn't just unfortunate enough to have a poor memory for names and faces?
That the friend who neglects you is indifferent and not just temporarily snowed under by work and responsibilities?
That the person who is short with you is rude and is not just tired or worried or ill.
That the slight you felt was deliberate wasn't just an oversight?
That the person who disagrees with you is bound to be wrong?

That the person you look down on because he is different from most of the people you know shouldn't be looked up to for daring to be himself?
In matters like these it is so easy to be wrong and think you're right.

Exciting Rollins Season Set

WINTER PARK—The 1962-63 season of the Rollins College Annie Russell Theater promises to be "one of the most exciting seasons in quite a few years," according to Dr. Arthur Wagner, director of the theater.

The Annie Russell schedule of five plays opens with Leonard Bernstein's popular musical, "On the Town," Nov. 6-10.

Dr. Wagner predicts that the musical will be a sell-out and urges those who do not want to risk missing the production to reserve a seat by purchasing a season's ticket. Single tickets to "On the Town" will be one dollar higher than usual, but subscription prices remain the same.

"On the Town" has what Dr. Wagner refers to as "a wonderful score," which should be well executed by the orchestra, directed by Robert Hufstader, head of the Rollins Conservatory of Music.

Bill Filed

BOSTON (UPI)—State Rep. James F. Condon (D-Boston) has filed a bill which would subject sports fans who shout abusive or obscene language at athletes to a $50 fine. The bill will be considered in the next session of the Massachusetts Legislature which convenes in January.

Road And Rails

No one has to be told about the declining position of America's railroads. But perhaps we do not realize the extent to which the economy is being revolutionized by our steadily increasing reliance on motorized commercial transport.

The most striking example of what is happening can be seen along famous Route 128, the belt roadway which largely encircles the city of Boston. It is known today as "electronics highway" and has become a principle avenue for developing industry in Massachusetts.

To a lesser degree there is some of this at the outer portion of Philadelphia's principal expressway, running northwesterly out of the city. But these are mere beginnings. The vast interstate highway system in many areas is becoming a magnet for new industry, which is today locating close to master highways just as it once linked itself by spurs to the great rail lines.

When Pennsylvania built its famous original turnpike section more than 20 years ago, authorities thought of roads simply as means of travel. The turnpike was conceived as a remarkably engineered corridor through tough mountain country, a corridor which would serve transcontinental motor traffic.

It has performed that service admirably. But now planning officials in Pennsylvania think of this roadway as inadequate—not because it cannot handle traffic safely but because it makes insufficient provision for adjacent industrial development.

These officials talk glowingly of what presently building interstate highways can do to open up hitherto somewhat isolated sectors to industrial growth. Interchange connections are being planned with the idea they will foster whole clusters of factories in areas not previously used industrially.

A north-south interstate line slashing through rugged West Virginia is seen in the same light. It is looked upon as an artery which may bring a kind of economic life—and unity—to that state, which it has never before known.

These trends cannot be halted or reversed. Nor is there any reason they should be. Industry long since has chosen to disperse widely in this country. The interstate and expressway networks simply assist a process that had been under way for many years.

Sprawling modern one-story factories lining sleek new roadways are impressive signs of American industry's progress in a world of mounting competition.

But the story has its dark side. This nation's massive railroad structure seems bound to suffer more and more. Rail lines are costly to build, and are handicapped by an inescapable rigidity.

Where older established industries are linked to the rails, the latter are hurt when the industries decline. And conversely, some industries are hurt because their shipping prospects are limited by dependence on the rail system.

We need a great, healthy, useful rail network. But it obviously is going to require tremendous imaginative effort on the part of government and business to preserve the rails' place in this modern transport age so heavily reliant on highways.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE N-43: Hal G., aged 22, is an advertising executive.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "my wife and I follow your column avidly, for we have two children and a lot of the very same marital problems that you analyze daily. But I am also pleased with your cases on advertising and selling."

"So I'd like to give you an actual case here in New York where sales were jumped remarkably just by raising the price of goods."

"One of our paperback publishers has been selling books at 25¢ per copy. As an experiment, it decided to move the price up to 35¢ per book. But it was afraid sales might drop, so a test was first made in just one area."

"The results were surprising but very pleasing, for instead of selling less books, the volume of sales actually boomed."

"Apparently, housewives find the number '5' to be irresistible and probably imagined they were getting a bargain. At any rate, far more books were sold at 35¢ than had previously been sold at 25¢."

Experienced merchandising experts know that this is not a rare example.

In former cases I have cited the fact that soap and other cosmetics items that didn't move fast, were sold out quickly when a placard was placed over the merchandise that read:

"Limit of 2 to a customer." This suggested there was such a demand for the soap that the housewives decided they better buy at once lest the supply be entirely cleaned out.

In the days of war rationing, the same thing was true. People who never used sugar in their coffee, then demanded sugar just because it was at a premium.

In fact, that scarcity factor is what makes gold so valuable instead of iron. Actually, the iron has far more usefulness than gold and thus is far more valuable to the advancement of civilization.

But gold is scarce, so gold far exceeds iron in price.

Whenever you can suggest either "scarcity" or "rationing" or a bargain, people are far more likely to get off "dead center" and actively lay their money on the counter.

Some department stores also have special employees dressed like customers.

When a woman thus is undecided between two hats or two types of drapery, this disguised employe steps up and tries to buy one of the two choices over which the indecisive customer has been dawdling.

It is surprising how fast that customer then makes up her mind. And she usually chooses the item which the disguised employe tried to take away from her!

Even pet dogs will show this very same trait. A dog may not be hungry but if there is a second dog nearby that is gobbling up every bit of food in sight, your pet will eat just to keep the food away from its rival.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Yemen Going Backward?

UPI Foreign News Analyst Yemen, a United Press International correspondent once wrote, today is a land plunging headlong into the 10th century.

The old man who then ruled Yemen, legendary land of the Queen of Sheba, had a built-in suspicion of Westerners and so the visit of the American UPI man was a rarity.

What he saw was a feudal land which had changed little in historic times. Tacked on the wall of the imam's palace was the severed hand of a convicted thief. Concubinage and slavery were legal. Adult-rulers were stoned to death in the desert outside the capital of Sanaa.

It was a tribal society of Shia Moslems who recognized the imam as both spiritual and physical leader with unlimited powers of life and death over his subjects.

Last month, at the age of 71 the imam died. Whether death came from illness, old battle wounds, sheer exhaustion or just old age was not made clear. At any rate, it came in bed, a fate not reserved either for the imam's father or the son who succeeded him.

His father had been machine-gunned to death in 1948. In a 1956 uprising, the imam seized a Bren gun from a palace sentry and shot his way out of his own palace. When the conspiracy collapsed he had two of his own brothers beheaded.

Upon his death, his 35-year-old son, Salf El Islam Mohammed El Badr, succeeded him—that is, until last week. Then the Yemen radio reported that the new imam also was dead, buried under the rubble of his palace during a bombardment by rebel army forces.

The army proclaimed establishment of a "free Yemen republic" and announced that Col. Abdulla Alsalal, a former chief of the palace guard, had been named premier and commander in chief.

Whether this would be the final form of a new Yemeni government remained to be seen.

In any event, the effects could be far-reaching.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Passage of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 unquestionably will be the outstanding achievement of the Kennedy administration and the 87th Congress.

Congressional approval and presidential signing of this legislation, however, will not by themselves result in the $2 billion increase in U. S. exports that has been promised.

That may take years to realize. Full effects of the Trade Act may not be felt before 1970. A first requirement is for the Tariff Commission, the State, Commerce, Agriculture, Labor and other departments of government to get together on regulations which will depend in large measure on these interpretations.

To administer the act, Congress wrote into the law a provision for a new high government official. He will be the equivalent of a U. S. foreign trade czar. He will be in charge of all future tariff negotiations.

This man will be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. He must be acceptable to business and know his way around government and international trade circles.

He will have the rank of an ambassador but will work under the White House. His immediate staff is expected to be small. Existing agencies of government will be utilized.

Some of them, like Tariff Commission, probably will have to increase their staff organization and personnel. They must handle a new government function of adjustment assistance to U. S. industries that claim injury from increased imports due to lowered American duties on foreign-made goods.

It will hold hearings and conduct investigations to make sure that a drop in any business is not due to just bad management and that there is no fraud in a claim for government assistance to convert to a new business.

Administration of the assistance to management probably will be handled by Commerce Department, Small Business Administration, or other suitable government lending agencies.

Administration of adjustment assistance to workers who lose their jobs through foreign competition will be handled by Department of Labor through its new Manpower Retraining program.

As soon as a worker is laid off in one of these cases, he will be eligible for regular unemployment insurance benefits under the existing state system. But when it is determined that this loss of job is caused by foreign competition from lowered tariff rates, the retraining of the worker for a new job will be paid for from federal funds.

The work of the trade czar in conducting future tariff negotiations may take two or three years to organize. The government must decide first what commodities or manufactured products it wants to negotiate on and in what areas there should be across-the-board tariff cuts. Six months are allowed for hearings before negotiations are conducted with foreign countries.

Office of International Trade in State Department now under Leonard Weiss, probably will be continued as the active negotiating agency. But the series of negotiations concluded last summer under the direction of Howard C. Petersen, the President's special assistant on trade relations, were conducted in much the same manner that the new trade czar is expected to function.

The agreements just made will not go into effect until 1963 and 1964.

Long range negotiations conducted under the new law will go into effect gradually over a five-year period.

ACL Resumes All Piggy-Back Train Service

Effective with first trip from Florida on Saturday, October 20th Atlantic Coast Line Railroad will resume operations of midwestern all-piggyback trains from Tampa and Lakeland to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. It was announced today by J. W. Plant, president, Travel-Train Service. ACL will run two trains each week to convenience passengers. The last piggy-back train from Tampa left on Wednesday, Oct. 10. Plant also announced that effective with first run from Florida on Monday, October 15th, ACL will operate the first all-piggyback train to the Midwest, providing around-the-clock arrival at Chicago and other important midwestern markets such as Cincinnati. He said this will be the fastest freight train ever to have been operated between Florida and Chicago. The midwestern train will run from Tampa and Lakeland on Monday and Saturday of each week to commence the season, with other trains to be added on other days as needed.

Addition of these new trains and resumption of the train to the east which were run last season have been made possible by the enthusiastic acceptance of piggyback service for handling the very important citrus and vegetable products by the many friends and customers of Coast Line. "It is our firm plan to continue rendering the most modern and efficient transportation service available," said Mr. Plant.

Kennedy Gets Demo Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic congressional leaders told President Kennedy today he has their full support in use of military forces in the Mississippi racial crisis.

The Mississippi situation was discussed at the President's weekly breakfast with Democratic leaders of the House and Senate.

Senate Leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen later that the Mississippi case was "an embarrassment for all concerned."

'Keep Off Land,' Dove Hunters Warned

Some property owners in the proposed bird sanctuary area intend to keep dove hunters off their lands, regardless of a Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission ruling against closing the section to shooting.

Area southeast of Sanford Ave. said that they will band together this season to help sheriff's deputies arrest trespassers on posted lands and to prevent the discharge of firearms near homes, barns, fields or livestock.

but trouble and we just don't want them on our property," said B. F. Kutz, one of the Sipes Ave. residents who led the petitioning for a bird sanctuary.

Jimmy Magliary said this morning, Sheriff J. L. Hobbs warned the hunters this week that firearms laws will be enforced in all cases.

The sportmen said they will erect 300 signs along the streets and roads warning against trespassing on posted lands and careless shooting in any case.

Some of the lands in the section are expected to be left open by choice of the owners and that would leave some of the 3,300 acres involved in the argument open for legal hunting.

before the dove season opens at noon Saturday.

Avery Hits Game Board On Decision

County Commission Vice Chairman Jim Avery accused the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission of "bowing to the wishes of a distinct and vocal minority," in a statement today on the opening of the bird sanctuary southeast of the city to dove hunting.

Avery declared, "I can't understand the attitude of the commission in refusing to give favorable consideration to a bird sanctuary. It shows clearly that they do not have the safety of the people at heart."

The District 3 commissioner declared that he has "the feeling" the board will not drop the subject because too many citizens and their safety are involved.

Governor May Get Hunting Appeal

Surprised By Move--Hutchison

An appeal may be made to the governor to preserve the bird sanctuary southeast of Sanford by County Commission Chairman Gen. J. C. Hutchison.

The General expressed himself as being completely taken by surprise at the action of the Game Commission in utterly ignoring the wishes of the commission in opening the controversial area southeast of Sanford to hunting.

It was pointed out by the commissioner that an overwhelming majority of the property owners in the area involved requested the closing and the commission bowed to their wishes.

Confessing to being an enthusiastic hunter, himself, the General added, "But, if a man doesn't want to shoot on his property, I shouldn't want to do it."

Investigations continued to determine whether the crash of the twin-engine Super Beechcraft leased by General Electric Corp. of Syracuse, was connected with the crash of a Navy jet fighter near the same spot Tuesday.

The Navy pilot who was killed in the crash of the F3H Demon Jet Fighter was Lt. (jg) E. E. Faulk, son of Mrs. Alice Faulk of Box 147, Columbia, Ala.

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Daisy held to a plodding, westerly course today, 760 miles east of Miami.

The season's fourth tropical storm achieved hurricane strength of 75 miles an hour winds early today in a small area near the center.

The weather bureau said the hurricane would begin rolling storm tides into the northern and eastern Bahamas Islands tomorrow morning.

Small craft in that area were advised to stay close to safe harbor.

In an 11 a. m. advisory, the weather bureau pinpointed the storm's center near latitude 24.5 north, longitude 88.5 west. It continued to move toward the west-northwest at 8 mph.

The Weather Bureau advised "interests along the south Atlantic coast should keep in close touch with all advisories during the next several days."

The advisory said the hurricane was expected to increase slowly in size and intensity during the day and continue its slow west-northwest movement.

Allamonte Sets Fiscal Agent For Water Plan

Allamonte Springs' on-again-off-again municipal water system finally got permanently on-again at the meeting of the town council Wednesday night.

Kirk Gundy, of Gundy and Co., fiscal agent from DeLand, was appointed agent for the handling of the revenue bonds that will finance the system.

Gundy, who had accompanied town officials to the Atlanta office of the Home and Housing Finance Agency, Community Projects Division, last week, told the council that he had been unable to arrange satisfactory private financing for the project.

Several reasons, among them being the fact that investors prefer larger operations and would rather invest in going concerns rather than new projects.

He presented a proposal to represent the town in making arrangements for the Federal loan, and also offered to arrange "interim" financing, or a construction loan, so the project could get underway at the earliest possible moment.

He pointed out that the government does not like to complete a transaction until the work is partially complete, hence, the need for the interim money.

The Gundy Co. offer was to represent the town and secure the money for a contingent fee of $3,000.

Atty. E. K. van den Berg, representing the American Mortgage Co., Orlando, presented the council a plan for the proper drainage of Lake Malibu to prevent any future flooding of the new homes in the area.

The projected cost of the drainage system is $27,000, and the company will undertake the maintenance of the completely automatic system.

18 Orbits In January

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) —Next up: a 24-hour, 18-orbit flight, possibly in January.

Jubilant space agency officials confirmed this was in the works almost as soon as astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. splashed down in the Pacific after a magnificent six-orbit trip that went off almost flawlessly.

"As far as I'm concerned, it was perfect," said Walter C. Williams, operations director of Project Mercury.

The result, Williams told a news conference Wednesday night, was that the U. S. space program will move a step ahead to the 24-hour orbital mission.

U. S. manned space program.

From the moment the final countdown began, the man and the machinery were "go."

There were no spacecraft difficulties whatever," Williams said.

This, the longest U. S. manned venture yet, had one objective which the space agency called "overriding" —to prove that the capsule's pilot could conserve fuel by allowing his craft to drift through space on its own.

Schirra did that, and then some. At the crucial moment before re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, Sigma 7's fuel tanks were 80 percent full.

The fuel is vital at this point so the capsule can be correctly aligned for re-entry.
