

FORFORD MAYOR IN PROMINENT ROLE AT CONVENTION WORKING NOMINATION OF W. C. McADOO

Friday's Session

Sees McAdoo's
Chances Fading

Friday's Session Is Most Uneventful Of
Convention thus far

By R. L. DEAN
The Sanford Herald
SANFORD, Fla., June 28.—Forest was conspicuous in the convention Friday as a Mc-cheer leader in the Florand Georgia delegations.
Lake is a personal friend McAdoo's, and has spent a fine time in conference with leading Democratic candidiate.

Although personally favoring McAdoo's candidacy since everything in his power to help him the party nominee.
Mr. Lake is beginning to feel that the block is too strong and that promising candidates must be made. Mr. Lake, himself, favored Glass, of Virginia, but Senator Ralston is a more choice.

in the convention yesterday was uneventful and monotonous.
Nominating orators continued their hot air campaign with sensational extravagance.
men have been nominated the presidency, and each received numerous seconding speeches.
All were practically the same old slight changes in phrase-

Carroll Miller of Pennsylvania, who was seconded by Smith, seemed to be the only with nerve enough to deviate what apparently was the line of discourse. In Smith's case the remarks described at great length all the branches of his own tree, beginning with a little somewhere back of the stationary war and coming down to her husband's son was born in Japan in the of a Buddhist temple. All was certainly very interesting, and absolutely little to do with the candidacy of Al Smith, that it was probably a wisdom move. There is really such that can be said for or his achievements. He from the slums to the government. That is certainly amiable. But rather surprisingly Wall Street wants to see him nominated. That is commending according to your point of view.

Despite Roosevelt's excellent speech yesterday, Smith's realization was a wild outburst of only prepared enthusiasm and a generous display of noise. The seconding to his nomination was the history of the seconding is to him.
It will doubtless be a busy the convention. It was voted an hour earlier than in order to get through with of preliminary business before the Sunday voting.

It is expected that the will be submitted and it is that a ballot may be taken in the afternoon. The Mc-creeves this as Sunday much political maneuvering among Democratic leaders.

BRYAN MACK SEES McADOO CHANCES GROW BRIGHTER

John H. Perry Being Boomed By Several State Organizations As Candidate For Vice Presidency.

By RUBY LEACH
Special Correspondent The Herald.
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN,
New York, June 28.—Bryan Mack, Florida delegate and editor of the Pensacola Journal, said this afternoon that McAdoo leaders are assured that his chances are better today than they have been at any time during the convention, and that the delegation is enthusiastic for the one for whom it has been instructed.

"The New York newspapers carried reports that the Florida delegation is about to switch from McAdoo, but that isn't true," Mr.
Mack said.

Today's issue of the Florida Cracker, a baby newspaper published by the Florida delegation headed by John H. Perry, carries a cartoon featuring Bryan Mack as the "other Bryan who is a silver-tongued orator."

Mr. Perry, owner the Jacksonville Journal, Pensacola Journal, the Reading (Pa) Times and president of the American Press Association, the owner of the Publisher's Auto Caster's Service, is today declared to stand a splendid chance of getting the nomination for vice president.

The idea of Perry for vice president resulted from conferences between delegates from Washington, Kentucky, California and Florida, where he has owned and operated newspapers, and from other states that are falling in line for this progressive candidate. Mr.
Perry is considered the greatest newspaper man in the United States. Arthur Brisbane in his report of Friday's convention, said that he is one of the greatest friends Florida ever had. His home is on Hastings-on-the-Hudson, but he is going to move his legal residence to Florida this year.

Mr. Perry is chairman of the Entertainment Committee of the Florida delegation. The other members of the committee are Baron G. Collier vice-chairman, Joseph E. Browne, secretary, John T. Boylan, Arthur Brisbane, William J. Conner, B. C. Forbes, William Griffin, K. B. Harvey, Edward Perry, Howard John Kennedy, Stanton McMullan, Nelson Maynard, H. "Punch" Neuman,
Joseph J. O'Brien, George A. Reilly,
John Ringling, Dr. Albert
Shaw Courtland Smith, Richard
M. Webster and Benjamin Wood.

John Ringling, of circus fame, will entertain the Florida delegation. He said he wouldn't let Collier treat his Florida friends better than he could, and he has been wonderfully hospitable.

Congressman Drane and Senator Fletcher, of Florida, are here at our Florida headquarters watching the big show.
Florida's slogan is still "Mc-Adoo or Thirty Years." We don't know when they will be home, but our delegates say they are going to stick with McAdoo as long as his name is before the convention.

Mr. John P. Hylan, wife of mayor of New York City, staged the last big social for the women delegates, committee members and prominent women visitors this morning when she was hostess at Sherry's to a "rose breakfast." Roses and elaborate menu cards were souvenirs. I sat at a table with Mrs.
Lois K. Hayes, Florida committee woman; Mrs. W. K. Dorman of Ivy Oak, proxy delegate for Mr.
Dorman; Mrs. Woodbridge N. Ferrie of Michigan, wife of one of the dark horses for the presidential nomination; and Mrs. Rhlander Waldo, wife of a prominent New York Democrat, and Mrs.
Richard E. Enright, wife of Police Commissioner Enright.

"I love Florida," Mrs. Enright declared. "I was there two years ago on Mr. Collier's yacht and visited his island near Key West." Mrs. Hayes wore a blue and white silk frock with a white picture hat. Mrs. Dorman wore a black and white crepe with a white gorgeous hat. No speeches were made. (Continued on page 2.)

Sandwichmen Heckle Delegates

Facetious comments on various platform issues were waved in the eyes of delegates to the Democratic Convention when a veritable gauntlet of sign bearers, in all sorts of garb, had to be run by persons attending. Convention fans have had a pacific slogan, "Law, Not War." Pickets carried signs reading, "Law, Not War" and "Our Law War" signed by the "Punk Peace Prizers." Another picket was made up to resemble Wm. Anderson, former anti-saloon league chief in New York, now in prison.

ORLANDO BOY ACCIDENTALLY KILLED ON A CAMPING TRIP

Mark Gilstrap, age 16, son of Mrs. Ethel Gilstrap of Orlando, was shot through the head when a revolver was accidentally discharged about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon while on a camping trip at the Welaka River near here, and died at the Fernald-Laughton Hospital four hours later.

Three youths, Mark Gilstrap, Randolph Caruthers and Wilber James, all of Orlando, left that city Monday for a camping trip on the Welaka River near Sanford, it was learned here today. Friday morning, their shot gun shells had been given out by the Caruthers' boy came to Sanford to buy more shells. While he was here he telephoned the sister of Wilber James, about 12 o'clock, and told her that all three of them were well and still having a big time. He also arranged a time for someone to drive over in a car and take them home on Saturday.

Before he returned to where the other two boys were, the accident occurred and young Gilstrap was notified by long distance at once, someone being sent to Orlando to bring her to Sanford in an automobile as quickly as possible.

According to the story told by young James, he and Gilstrap were together in the woods, the former having the pistol, which belonged to Caruthers. James had shot a snake and Gilstrap asked him for the gun. As the pistol was handed back to the youth, who was standing behind James, it was accidentally discharged and the bullet entered Gilstrap's head near the throat, coming out again through the back of his head.

As the bullet struck, Gilstrap fell, face down, into some shallow water and his lungs were immediately filled with water. According to the doctors who were in charge this was partly responsible for the boy's death.

As soon as possible the fatally wounded boy was brought to the Fernald-Laughton Hospital where Dr. J. N. Robson and Dr. C. M. Mitchell administered medical treatment. Efforts to save the boy's life failed, however, and he died about 6 o'clock.

The funeral of young Gilstrap was arranged to be held at the undertaker's parlors of T. J. Miller and Son of this city this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The body was to be shipped on northbound train No. 80 at 4 o'clock for Gainesville, Ga., the former home of the Gilstraps, for burial.

It has been learned that Mrs. Gilstrap did not want her son to go to the camp because she feared that he might be injured in some way. Like all boys of his age, it is said, however, he insisted on going and finally persuaded his mother to let him go.

Mrs. Gilstrap and her son had been living in Orlando only a short time having moved there from Gainesville, Ga., sometime in January. She is the sister of Mrs. Alfred Robson of Orlando who is well known in Sanford.

Caruthers and James were turned over to Sheriff Hand who took them to their homes in Orlando. It is believed by authorities that the shooting was accidental.

LABOR CHIEFS WRANGLE OVER 2 CANDIDATES

Railroad Labor Organization Chiefs Declare That Mc-Adoo Must Be Nominated
While New York Labor
Leader Takes Issue Declaring
Smith Is Man For Nomination as Party Choice

NEW YORK, June 28.—The rivalries of William G. McAdoo and Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the Democratic presidential race brought forth a dispute among labor leaders as to which of the two best represented the interests of organized labor.

Six labor chiefs, mostly representing railroad workers, issued a declaration that Mr. McAdoo must be nominated, and that the organization would support the third party movement expected to be inaugurated next week at Cleveland.

The declaration, made in a formal statement issued through the McAdoo headquarters, hardly had time to be distributed before James A. Holland, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, came out with an assertion that "between Mr. McAdoo and Governor Smith those labor men who know the labor records of both, prefer Governor Smith."

Sign Manifesto
The manifesto of the six labor chiefs was signed by Timothy Shea of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; B. M. Jewell, head of the Railway Division of the American Federation of Labor; A. O. Wharton, labor member of the Railway Labor Board; J. A. Franklin, president of the American Train Dispatchers; and E. E. Millum of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees.

"There is no other available Democratic candidate to whom the working man will give the same unqualified support," the statement said. "Neither the Republican party nominee nor the platform adopted by the Republican convention is acceptable to the organized workers affiliated with the conference for progressive political action."

"The sentiment among the great mass of organized wage earners is overwhelmingly for Mr. McAdoo, and in the judgment of these leaders he must be the nominee if these leaders are to go to the convention of the conference for progressive political action, on July 4 at Cleveland, and vote against the placing of an independent candidate in the field. They have the necessary votes to prevent the successful launching of an independent movement."

Holland's Contention
Mr. Holland in his statement contended that the declaration of the railroad chiefs represented "nothing but the sentiment of the signers and those with whom they are associated" and added:

"In issuing the declaration, Mr. McAdoo's friends violate the rules of the labor movement, exactly as they violate the rules of politics by threatening to bolt after their candidate is defeated. They violate the rules of the labor movement by endorsing in advance of action by the American Federation of Labor a candidate who is opposed to the federation on an essential point and whose position is doubtful on another."

"The federation is for liberalizing the Volstead law as it stands. The federation is unalterably and unconditionally opposed to the Ku Klux Klan. Mr. McAdoo has yet to define his position on that organization and is the hero of every Klansman in the convention."

"Between Mr. McAdoo and Governor Smith those labor men who know the labor records of both, prefer Governor Smith. They stand by the record of his lifetime of no compromise and no retreat on the federation on an essential point and whose position is doubtful on another."

Klan Plank Struggle Will be Conducted on The Convention Floor

Party Leaders Fail To Devise Ways and Means to Break Up
Three Day Deadlock

Colby Will Lead
Fight Against Klan

William J. Bryan Is Likely to Lead The Opposing Forces

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 28.—Called for session at 9:30 o'clock the Democratic National Convention today faced the prospect of taking a recess until 3 this afternoon so that the Platform Committee might have more time to find some way to straighten out the tangle over the Ku Klux Klan plank. Alarmed over a threat of trouble on the floor all convention members are working to find some way to smooth things out and another threatened outbreak.

Responding to appeals of party leaders to give more time for the committee to work on the Ku Klux Klan plank the convention after brief morning session, recessed until 3 o'clock this afternoon, eastern daylight saving time.

In another long and noisy session Friday it received in formal nomination names of the last of its 16 presidential candidates and was informed that its platform had been completed in committee except for the troublesome plank on the Ku Klux Klan and the league, which must be perfected on the floor of the convention itself.

No Shift of Sentiment
The developments of the last few hours before the test of the plank showed apparently no shift of sentiment on either candidates or platform. McAdoo and Smith still led the field in the delegate strength pledged to them on the first ballot, and the supporters of John W. Davis, Balaclava, H. Ritchie and several others claimed victory after the deadlock has run its course. The debate over open condemnation of the Klan went on with growing bitterness, and the extent to which the party should reaffirm its faith in the league of nations appeared to be as much an open question as when the convention assembled on Tuesday.

Friday night the campaign managers for the rival candidates put their camps on a war footing for the initial struggle while the platform committee made its final desperate effort to prepare something tangible as a basis of debate when the controverted planks reach the convention floor.

Engineer Pollard
Is Killed In Train
Wreck at Lakeland

ROY L. POLLARD, engineer on the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, was instantly killed about 1:50 o'clock Friday afternoon when an engine which he was piloting to the Lakeland shops was struck by a freight train in the Lakeland yards. Conductor M. G. Talpin and a negro fireman, Sam Hardy, jumped to safety.

The conductor states that just after entering the yards he and the fireman saw the freight train approaching around a curve. It is said that they shouted to Pollard to jump.

It is believed that the engineer thought he could avoid the accident by stopping and reversing the engine. The freight train was stopped and was about ready to back up to safety when the train hit it. With the locomotive in reverse and the throttle partly open, the engine dished backward into a derail which plunged into a block stop.

It is reported here that the engine climbed partly upon the tank car in the engine, Mr. Pollard was crushed to death.

Mr. Pollard was the brother of Mrs. J. E. Conner of this city. For many years he lived in Lakeland but for the past few years has lived in Lakeland.

ADOPT PROPOSAL
FOR REFERENDUM
ON LEAGUE PACT

Platform Committee Heavily Favors Referendum on Question of American Membership in World Court.

NEW YORK, June 28.—A proposal for a national referendum on the question of American membership in the league of nations was approved Friday night by the platform committee of the Democratic National Convention by a vote of 34 to 10.

Klan to Convention Floor
With this subject disposed of, the committee took up the other single controverted matter—the Ku Klux Klan—with every indication that majority and minority reports on the question of naming the Klan would be submitted and the fight thus thrown into the convention itself.

Except for the league and Klan planks the platform had been put in final form and the committee made a determined drive that the entire platform might be last night to complete those, so that the nine planks might be presented to the convention early today. To do this members said a near all-night session would be necessary.

The fight over the league of nations consumed more than four hours with four separate planks under consideration.

Three proposals for a referendum were submitted by Senator E. H. Caraway of Arkansas, Alfred B. Lucking of Michigan, and William Jennings Bryan of Florida. After the vote in favor of a referendum, a sub-committee was named to put the subject matter into final form.

There was an understanding that the referendum provision would be attached as a part of the Clarke Young foreign relations plank which declares for American cooperation with the other nations in preserving the peace of the world and severely assails the Republican administration for its handling of foreign affairs.

Senator D. Baker, secretary of vote under Woodrow Wilson, had been out to the last for an amendment expressing with reference to the immediate entrance of the United States into the league of nations. (Continued on page 2.)

Convention Adjourns To Give Platform Committee Chance To Clear Tangle

Brief Session Is Held This Morning

Will Reconvene This Afternoon at Three
To Consider Report

NEW YORK, June 28.—Democratic party leaders failed today in renewed effort to reconcile differences over the Ku Klux Klan issue and to avoid an open fight on the floor of the National Convention. The morning session of the convention was adjourned to provide opportunity to further peace conferences, but after more than two hours of consultation with other party chiefs, advocates of, out and out Anti-Klan plank announced the issue must be settled by the delegates themselves.

Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state under Wilson, was selected to conduct the floor fight for the plank condemning the Klan by name and appealing the Klan plank. Mr. Bryan would lead the element that only waits to put into the platform a general reaffirmation of principle of religious liberty.

Reports coming from the conference rooms of the Democratic Party leaders early this afternoon showed no immediate prospect of an agreement that would keep the Ku Klux Klan issue off the floor of the national convention.

Some party chiefs and those who are in the race for the nomination just before the platform committee resumed the session that an agreement would be possible.

Seemingly hopelessly divided on issue whether the Klan is to be named specifically and surrounded by year clouds loaded with barrels of party split the convention managers sent Hester Cummings, chairman of the platform committee, to try to explain to the convention why the platform is being delayed, and to plead for more time.

Tired and worn by a continuous loss of sleep since last Tuesday, Chairman Cummings gave as dramatic a recital as has ever been heard in a national convention. Explaining the deliberations of the committee and its inability to reach an agreement, he told amid a dramatic silence how after all night session the committee members had gathered around their table and at the breaking of dawn and had recited in unison the Lord's Prayer which Wm. J. Bryan had raised his voice and spoken a prayer for Divine guidance.

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under Woodrow Wilson, prepared an alternative plank late last night after a sub-committee of the committee took up the question of compromise plank on the league, which among other things would declare for a national referendum on the question of American membership.

General Raw broke out in the committee immediately after the compromise draft had been read. Some commitments took the post. (Continued on page 2.)
