Decide About Exchange

This morning the directors of the Florida Citrus Exchange meet in annual session at Tampa to reorganize, elect directors at large and decide upon the methods and conduct of the exchange for the ensuing year.

The opinion is general that the exchange will continue for another year at least as a state-wide institution and there are hundreds of growers over the state who are hoping that it is so. Some of these are not members of the exchange, but they have shared to an extent in the prosperity brought about by exchange methods and they would regret greatly the restrictive plan advocated by those who have been instrumental in carrying on the work as it has been accomplished.

BIBLE STILL BEST SELLER

Continues to Hold Its Lead as the Most Popular Book Ever Published.

The one hundred and seventh nual report of the British and Foreign Bible society, the largest, if not the oldest, of such organizations, shows that the Bible still holds its ancient lead as the most popular book ever published. During 1910 the society distributed, in 432 langer, brand dislects, no fewer than 903,827 complete Bibles, 1,199,239 New Testaments and 4,782,-720 single scriptural books. Its receipts from these sales—for though its prices are very low, it seldom actually gives Bibles away—were more than $500,000, and in addition it received about $700,000 as legacies and donations and from invested funds. Since its foundation, in 1804, it has distributed nearly 220,000,000 copies of the sacred writings, at a cost of fully $50,-000,000. Its colporteurs today number 1,100 and its annual output of Bibles weighs nearly 350 tons.

The American Bible society, says the Baltimore Evening Sun, ably seconds the work of the great British society, and is almost as old, having been established in 1816. Down to 1900 it had printed and distributed 70,000,000 copies of the New Testament and the complete Bible, and since then it has continued the work at the rate of nearly 2,000,000 copies a year. It has given especial attention to the translation of the Bible into the Indian tongues, and is now 'ready to supply New Testaments, at least, in every such tongue as has been reduced to writing. Of late it has also given attention to the Philippines, and its colporteurs now distribute Bibles in Tagalog and all the other dialects of the islands.

Altogether these two great societies, with their Scotch, Prussian and Russian rivals, are now distributing fully 2,000,000 complete Bibles, 3,000,000 New Testaments and 6,000,000 lesses portions of the Scriptures a year. Just how many copies of the Book are otherwise sold in the world is not to be accurately determined, but the most reliable estimates place the number at 5,000,000 a year. In the United States alone the sales often exceed 1,000,000 No other book, sacred or profane, comes wihin miles of this stupendous record. The Bible outsells all the other best sellers. As a matter of fact, it comes very near outselling all of them taken together.

French Sallors.

Most of the French admirals are from the south, from which we may infer the greater success of their southern friends as politicians and perhaps their own skill in hanging their hammocks at the admiralty, says a Paris letter to London Truth. The bulk of the seamen are Normans and Bretons, but the latter are much more numerous. The Normans have in modern times grown lubberly. Under the Plantagenets they were less rich, soaked infinitely less cider brandy, had no factories and were constantly spurred to naval action by hostile Bretons. This kept up that spirit of hardy seamanship which landed the Dieppuls in the time of the early Vacols in the Kongo and enabled them to trade in cocoanuts and those elephant tusks which their sculptors transformed into such beautifully carved objects d'art. The seamanship of the Provencals was brought out by the piracles not Algerines, Tunislans and Moors. Bailli Suffren, who "skimmed" the oceans in the eighteenth century of East Indiamen and British merchantmen, was a Provencal. Whenever England and France quarreled in the Valois or Bourbon periods the Normans went with a rush into piracy and found in its heaps of money.

Ray-Killed Bacteria.

A method for sterilising milk without heating or adding preservatives is claimed to have been effectively demonstrated recently in Hollard. An apparatus has been constructed, it is explained, whereby the milk flows in a thin stream along an electric light, the ultra-violet beams working on the bacteria. The result is attributed to the quality of the osone formed under the influence of the light.—The Argo-

Holy Rood Day.

Holy Rood day was formerly a fee tival for British schoolboys, who were granted a holiday, without getting up a strike, for the purpose of going nutting. At Eton the boys had to write Latin verses about the fruitfulness of autumn or the cold of the coming winter before they were allowed to gather the nuts, which they had to share with their masters. This anniversary should inspire the city corporation and the London county council to replant the nut bushes in Epping forest and the recovered remnant of Halnault forest, of which they have the management.

The hazel is supposed to have been extirpated from the royal forest of Waltham, to prevent the "tall deer" being disturbed by nutting parties of Epping forest, and not every one in Hainault.

WOMAN WORKS NEW RACKET

Procures Children For Home and Deserts Them on Street

Representing herself to be connected with a prominent children's home of North Carolina, a certain woman now traveling under the mame of Mrs. Kornegay, is making a business of obtaining children from poor parents, forcing them to beg for her, and stranding them when their services are no longer desirable to her in any city she happens to be at that time. According to Marcus C. Fagg, who has learned of the conduct of the woman, she has already stranded four children in different cities, and has two children with her now, Superintendent Fagg will leave the city immediately to rescue the latest victim of the "generous-hearted" Mrs. Kornegay. He has received a telegram from Sanford, asking him to come for the child at once, and has decided ment house is to be crected in St. Petersthat the matter is too important to delay. However, he has wired to authorities of North Carolina and says that there is no such institution as represented by the woman.

"I do not know where the woman is," She is playing a crooked game and is making children her instruments. After representing herself to be connected with a charitable institution, she has at different times gotten possession of four chi dren. Two she left stranded at Savannah, one at Tampa, one at Sanford, and she has two more children with her now.

"According to what I have learned by investigating the matter, she calls upon poor people and persuades them to believe that she can better the condidition of one or more of their children She promises that she will pay the childen's fare to the school she claims to represent, and also says she will care for the children well. She has used several names, and before she chose the high sounding name of Mrs. Kornegay, she carried on her work under the name of 'Mrs. Smith.'

"Instead of taking them to a home, this woman takes the children from place to place and forces them to beg for her. They have to go from house to house, claiming to be orphans in need of help. They show pathetic letters, and the woman is supposed to reap a harvest in what they obtain. Justwhy she leaves them stranded I results by changing children now and

"People should be careful, and not let themselves be duped in this manner. They should investigate before allowing their children to be taken from them. The two children who are still in the hands of the woman were taken from Lakeland. The child she left stranded at Tampa was a little girl which was obtained from her mother at Plant City. The Children's Home Society of Florida has a complete list of the children's homes in the United States, and if people would write us, we would be glad to inform them. "People of Florida must be the most liberal hearted people in the country. There are many crooks who dress in lamb skins. I am satisfied that between $5,000 and $10,000 a year which is given away goes into improper hands. I have just received a telegram from Mismi, stating that a supposed minister. calling himself 'Reverend Wilson,' had collected $150 for a children's institution of Georgia, and had left the city. They want some information regarding the institution, of which he claims to be the superintendent.

"I have wired those who desired the information that there is no such place in Georgia. That is why I say people should be careful. Our society does not want all of Florida's contributions; let the people give to other States if they please, but people who give children to those whom they do not know, are worse than those who give their money to fakers. This association, or the Associated Charities of this city, would be glad to answer any question regarding charitable institutions if people will write us. This would save money meant for good from going into the hands of rogues."--Jacksonville Metropolis.

Sanford's New Hotel

The new tourist hotel is progressing and by the next issue of The Herald Mr. Fields hopes to have something definite to give out for publication. The people are taking a deeper interest in the new hotel and every one realizes that in the hotel is the salvation of Sanford's future prosperity. This week there were several belated tourists in Sanford on their way north, and they stated that they represented scores of other people who wished some news about Sanford's new hotel, as many people throughout the north were anxious to stop in this city next year if they could be assured of ample hotel accommodation. A RELIGIOUS AWAKENING has been in progress in this city and already the good effects are being noticed. The meetings are held in a large tent and the seats are filled nightly by people who seem anxious to become better men and women. The meetings cannot fail every American resents that idea. The to do an immense amount of good in Sanford plan of a special road district will give this part of the county value should lend their assistance in making received for every cent spent here in the meetings successful in every way, taxes and if the people really want to make this end of the county the greatest section in the state this is the accepted time.

For the past week a revival meeting

The roads in the Sanford district were never in such a poor condition and no relief is in sight under the old method of county supervision. The school system of the state of Florida never made progress until the district plan was consummated and the same applies to the ter like unto a flower garden responding building of roads. The roads that will to the gentle rains of spring after a winter be paved are given in another part of The Herald and take in the principal thoroughfares in this district. A careful estimate of cost and maintenance will convince the most rabid economist that the bonding for a system of brick roads is the best plan for the tax payer in the end. There is more travel over the surrounding roads in the Sanford section than any other part of the county.

Every other material available has been tried and all experiments have proved the futility of using any material but brick and the first cost will be the greatest. Actual tests have proved that brick roads will last for twenty-five years without any repairs and then the repairs will entail the expenditure for a few brick here and there and the leveling of the small holes made by the action of the rains where the drainage may not be sufficient to prevent the water from undermining the brick. The brick are practically indestructible and if a plan is devised whereby the sides of the roadway can be utilized for teams there will be no objection whatever from any source.

The Herald would like the people of the new road district to give this most important matter their thought and attention before the day of the election. There is plenty of time to discuss the project and now is the opportunity to build for all time. Brick roads now mean that the present tax payers will never be ford when we needed the great spirit called upon to discuss this matter during of get together as much as now. Then in the midst of a progressive people and the question of bonding for brick roads will gladly pay their share of the improvements. Brick roads now under the new district plan mean that we get what we pay for and the first payment will be the last-in other words there will be no more money spent for expensive repairs. Brick roads now mean that our section will jump into the front rank inthe entire south because the people have been broad enough to recognize the need the city council alone and unaided. ### RUBE MARQUARD'S GREAT TRIUMPH OVER PHILLIES

ITH all due respect to the wonderful pitching of Christy Mathewson and the vaunted speed of the Glants, McGraw, with all his strategy and experience, could not have won the flag in 1911 without the help of Rube Marquard, who turned the "dope" of a score of critics topsy turvy. Alluded to the season previous as the prize "lemon" in the game, he proceeded to reverse a snap opinion that had made him a butt of ridicule in two major leagues.

That Marquard led the National league pitchers in 1911 is incidental but -Important. That he came near reaching a height of pitching fame attained by few of his clan is the burden of this story. Although Marquard had been lambasted by the critics, had been dubbed a fallure and stamped with the brand of the minor leaguer, all doubt about his commanding ability was swept away on Friday, September 1, 1911, by his wonderful pitching in a game with the Phillies.

On this date the Glants were in a desperate struggle for possession of the lead which would bring the league pennant to Gotham.

In a nine inning game it is necessary to retire twenty-seven men. Just that number faced Marquard plus one. Of these ambitions athletes ten fanned the summer breeze. Fourteen popped easy flies. Two managed to roll gentle grounders to Rube himself, and Fletcher threw out the twenty-seventh man

In the sixth inning, Luderus of home run fame, with two strikes called, made the hit, the lone, accidental, single blow that was gleaned from one of the best exhibitions of pitching over seen on any diamond. Many no hit games have adorned the pages of baseball history, but invariably they have been accomplished through the aid of the men behind. In the moment of need a near miracle has always been performed to help the pitcher set up such a record. Marquard required no help. The faint, shadowy, suspicion of support was enough. One run was all that was needed to win the game, and in the eighth round the Giants pushed two lucky tallies over the plate.

Rube Marquard had achieved his greatest deed on the diamond, disarmed his critics and proved that he could pitch his team-mates to victory even when a possible world's record hung in the balance on every ball pitched.

Each of Rube's frequent appearances on the following five weeks' trip was marked by sensational displays of skill. The flag was won and when the new champions returned to the Polo Grounds the cheering throngs paid bearty tributes to the once ignored failure who had passed through the fire of adverse criticism and led all the pitchers of the National league.

PENNANT FOR DETROIT SAVED BY DAVY JONES

AVY JONES of the Detroit Tigers has been a pinch hitting and fielding finx of the Chicago White Sox and was very much a hoodoo to Comiskey's club in 1907 when he helped beat the world's champions out of another pennant. He performed his feat in one of the best games Ed. Walsh ever pitched and one of the hardest ones he ever lost.

The fleetness of Jones on the bases, his wonderful running catches and his pinch hitting achievements may be forgotten, but the glory of his exploit September 18, at Detroit, will live in baseball history when other deeds are lost to memory. Jones' speed that day helped save a pennant for Detroit. Four clubs had come in on the home stretch running neck and neck in the wildest race seen up to that time in the American league. Comiskey's White Sox held the lead in May, June and July, but Detroit forged to the front on August 2. Then ensued a merry scramble that kept the fans of three cities in a state of constant turmoil. The Athletics came up from behind and took a lead three weeks before the season's close. Chicago went ahead of Detroit September 14. but a day later Jennings' men headed Fielder Jones' champions.

Rube Marquard,

Dog White had pitched the White Sox to success in the first game of a double-header September 18 at Detroit. If Chicago could have won the second game that day the White Box might have repeated as champions of the universe. Fielder Jones, realizing how much depended on this game, sent Ed. Walsh to the firing line. He seemed an impassable barrier to the Tiger hopes, for Killian was supposed to be no match for Comiskey's great star. Not one hit was made off Walsh or Killian up to the fourth inning.

Fielder Jones put the White Box in the lead in the fourth inning when he walked and scored on Davis's single. Two errors and Sam Crawford's hit drove the Tigers to the front 2 to 1 in the last half of the fourth. Gloom selzed Tiger fandom in the sixth inning when Fielder Jones walked and scored on singles by Davis and Donahue. The score was tied, runners were on second and third with two out. A shudder pervaded the crowd when Robe came up in the pinch and drove the ball over third and the base runners started to advance.

Hushed and breathless, the Detroit fans saw Jones race toward the sphere at full speed while Manager Jennings stood forth from the players' beach to watch the outcome and Fielder Jones urged his men home. They were thrilled with delight as they saw Jones lunge forward, spear the ball and hold it securely. For several minutes they cheered that wonderful play. It was becoming dark and Jones' great catch had saved the day, but his singie in the Tiger half won the contest, helped eliminate the White Box from the pennant race, and defeated Walsh with only two hits registered off his pitching.

By ED REULBACH.

Pitcher Who is Regarded by Many as the Pitching Marvel, and Who Three Times Led the League.

When it comes to trying to decide which mistake of mine was the worst I have to take a day or two off and think them over. But, honestly, the worst one I think I ever made was one at Brooklyn a few years ago.

It was in 1908, I believe; anyhow it was at a stage of the season when every game counted, and when Pittsburg and New York both were pushing us hard for the lead of the race. I hadn't been in the best form, but always had been very successful against Brooklyn, so Manager Chance was saving up for me to pitch two or more games of that series, to use me all he could where I was worth something to him. I had been afraid that I was a little out of condition from-a long trip, and decided one day that I would get out to the grounds early and practice before the game, take a rub and a long rest and be fresh for the contest, which didn't start until after four. I cut the lunch and went over to Brooklyn in the morning, reaching the grounds shortly after noon.

It happened that Harry Lumley, who was the best hitter on their team, had been out to a luncheon and auto ride somewhere down the beach that morning. He had eaten a big shore dinner, and he came to the conclusion that he would take a workout and a rest before the game, the same as I was doing. He reached the grounds about the same time I did and we worked together. I pitched to him for quite a while, and as I warmed up I began to study his hitting. He was hitting well-as he always could-but I noticed that he kept missing low fast balls and low curves pitched inside the plate along his knees. I had been told that he could bit hard anything pitched down there, and was surprised to see him missing them, so I kept feeding them along his knees, close in and fast. He kept missing and missing and it didn't look as if he could hit one there in a year. I came to the decision that everyone was mistaken and made a mental note of the fact that he was weak on fast balls pitched in that spot, instead of strong as everyone said he

Lum wasn't in the game that afternoon, and I didn't start. In the ninth inning we had the lead by two runs, and whoever was pitching began to wabble a little bit, and look as if he was weakening, so Chance sent me to warm up. A few minutes later they yelled for me to come on. I went in with a man on first, one out, and one run needed to tie it up. The first man I was up against struck out; the next one waited me out and I was so wild I passed him. The next batter looked soft to me and I wasn't a bit worried until they suddenly made a change and sent Lumley to bat instead. I stood there grinning to myself, thinking of how easy he had been. Kling signalled me for a fast curve. I shook my head and he committee heretofore appointed, ap. the board adjourned to July 1, 1912.

MUST BE A LIVE WIRE

SUCCESSFUL MAN GETS FATE'S MESSAGE INSTANTLY.

He is Quick to See Each Opportunity, Small or Big, for Advancement and is Prompt to Act at Right Time.

In the present trend of the times when every movement is regarded by a pendulum of value there are thousands of opportunities going to waste for want of people to take them when they come. As a matter of fact the history of reverses in business might be summed up in two words, "Lost Opportunity."

Daily we hear the cry, "If I had only taken hold at the time." But when fate knocked at his door no one opened. In such cases the man who was asleep wakes up to the realization of the chance that has passed. There is no one who has not had the chance to climb higher some time or other. But when the psychological moment arrived he was not alive to the issue.

Contrary to the general belief, a man is not confronted once, but many times, with possibilities for better things. To succeed he must be quick to see and prompt to act.

The live wire in business is ready to receive the message the moment it arrives. In truth, he constitutes the third rail by which the wheels of industry are kept on the move. He feels every vibration that means advancement for himself he also recognises the other fellow who is traveling in the same line. He accords him the square deal that he would be accorded because he realizes to the full what the step-by-step striving for success means. Thus the growing pains of each are minimized. If the business world were full of wide awake individuals we would evolve economic principles of industry heretofore un dreamed.

One of the great problems that confronts the people is the conservation of waste. Waste is the result of misdirected energy. That is to say, the attention has been focused in the opposite direction.

In a word, the man who might have saved the situation was "napping" at the time when he was needed most Thus it resolves tiself to a pivotal point showing that the man who is caught napping not only injures himself, but causes a sequence of loss.

Another momentous matter on the subject is the fact that many men are on the lookout for a big opportunity and overlook the smaller or seeming lesser thing-which of itself is a fallacy. It is the small opportunities seized and realized that have made the big men.

They have grasped the little meas ures and bave made them measures to the full. They have appreciated the small profit, and thus the larger has come in accordance

It is a rare thing for a big success to come knocking at a man's door un beargust Culbreth til he has heard and answered the small one.—Business.

As appearance means so much to the average woman, mentally as well as socially, the question often arises. "Is she justified in aiding or improving nature if she sees fit?" Prize Steers Not Good Mest.

The meat of more than one prise steer has proved disappointing in the esting, though fine to look at. In the development of the animal for competition his flesh is sometimes, if not always, seamed with small veins of fat which are dilated by cooking into tough strings. Hence, the range-fed steer, not nursed into prominence, affords the better steak or roast.

A company of United States marines, commanded by Capt. Edward B. Manwaring., engaged on guarding El Cuero mines near Santiago was attacked this morning by insurgents, who were repulsed after considerable firing. There were no casualties among the marines. The insurgents' loss is not known.

Already the advance guard of boomers for candidates for the Presidential nominations, have pitched their camps on the battle ground and are laying the final plans of the convention.

It was somewhat of a reflection on the Republicans of Florida that the head men for their contesting delegations at Chicago were both negroes. Joe Lee and Alston did the talking for Florida Republicanism before the high court of the party. This spectacle is enough to make the self-respecting Republicans of Florida turn Democrat or something else.

The Maddocks-Field Players have secured the rights to present south of the Mason and Dixon line Myron Leffenwell's unique and original masterpiedce, "The Genius and The Gentleman" or "When Man Turns to Brute." A paychological drama dealing with the transfusion of blood.

The play is taken from the theories of Mons. LeBlanc of the famous Pasteur Institute of Paris and also of Cagliastero, who was a famous medical scientist of the fixteenth century.

SHOOTS FIFTH NEGRO

Zack Hayman Shoots and Kills in Self Defense at Osteen

Volusia county, generally very peaceable, was the scene of four murders and homicides last week. Three were told about in the last issue of The News, two occurring at Seville and one at Daytona. The fourth took place at Osteen on Saturday, when Zack Hayman, in charge of the still there, was compelled in self defense to shoot a negro who was about to shoot him. The negro had been in some trouble with others employed at the turpentine camp, and Mr. Hayman had threatened to discharge him. This word was evidently carried to the negro, who appeared at the store, knocked on the door and Mr. Hayman went to the door and opened it. The negro began to abuse Mr. Hayman and tell him that no white man could disarm him. At the same time the negro kept hitching up his trousers with his left hand and Mr. Hayman noticed a bulge in his trousers pocket. Mr. Hayman pulled his gun shot the negro through the heart, from which he died instantly. When examined a loaded and cocked revolver was found in the negro's pocket. He had been trying to edge the revolver so that it pointed to Mr. Hayman, when he evidently intended to shoot. This is said to be the fifth negro that Mr. Hayman has killed, all in self defense and under similar circumstances. When Mr. Hayman was a young lad, he was walking along with his father, holding his father's hand, when a negro shot and killed his father. Hayman has certainly "evened up things." DeLand News.

Sheriff Smith Acquitted

Gainesville, June 7. After deliberation for about an hour with only one vote taken the jury this afternoon brought in a verdict of not guilty in case State vs. E. H. Smith of Volusia county, charged with the murder of William C McCaskell, a white fisherman on Lake George, September 28 last. The verdict was no more than was expected, as many prominent citizens of Volusia county volunteered as witnesses to testify to the good character of the defendant, who has recently been nominated for the third term as sheriff of Volusia.

The case went to the jury by agreement without argument, but Judge Wills charge was a lengthy one and covered nearly an hour.

Attorneys for defense comprised Alex St Clair Abrams and A. G. Hartridge of Jacksonville, Cary D. Landis, of De-Land; Evacs Haile and Thomas W. Fielding of Gainesville.

States Attorney A. V. Long had amociated with him Judge V. Walton of Paritory of one another must cease at once. latka. E. A. Miller was foreman of the

Another allegation of importance is that the purchase funds have not been used according to agreement in digging canals, building canals, and making other improvements; but have been used to improve other properties controlled by the same interest controlling corporations.

> It is alleged in the same complaint against the Miami company that the corporation owns 17,000 acres of land and is indebted by several outstanding notes totaling $42,520, and is being sued by residents of Missouri and Kansas. The Plantation Company is alleged to own 10,000 acres of land and to be in debt by notes in the sum of $132,814. On the back of his head there are three spines, the longest of which he bends forward in front of his mouth, gently swaying it in the water. At last it attracts a young fish, which makes a spring for the supposed worm, whensnap—the mouth is closed, and Mr. Fishing Frog has had his dinner.

The New Tourist Hotel Wakes Up Property Owners

LAKE FRONT TO BE BULKHEADED

Hotel Property Will Start Movement Along The Whole Lake Front

One of the greatest improvements destined to follow in the wake of the new hotel is that of improving the lake front by bulk heading and filling in the low land all along the city front. At a meeting held this week the majority of the property owners along the lake shore agreed not only to take stock in the tourist hotel, but they will continue the work of bulk heading along the lake shore and in this way this great work will be commenced by individuals and carried out

With the construction of the hotel all the lake front property will increase in value and in time smaller hotels and fine residences will grace the lake front that is now given over to weeds and piling and rotten hulls of old boats. In filling in this land a deeper channel will be made for the pleasure yachts and steamers and tourists coming to Sanford on the river will get a better idea of the city than they can at the present time. With a new hotel, a new Masonic temple, a government building and the improvement of the lake front Sanford need not fear the future, and even the Presidential election cannot retard the onward march of improvements.

The attending physicians did all that was possible under the circumstances but the injury, which was promounced fractur of the base of the skull, got in its work with fatal effect and Mr. Bruce passed peacefully away at the hour above indicated.

Surviving him are a broken hearted widow and eight children, to whom in their great bereavement and sorrow the deepest sympathy and condolence of our entire populace go out. The funeral will be held from the late home of the deceased this afternoon.

A coroner's jury was impanelled by Justice Marshall this morning and an exhaustive and thorough investigation of the case made at the court house. Nine witnesses testified, all of whom stated that the drivers of the cars, Menars. Howard Rowton and Herbert Miller, were not going at a high rate of speed at the time and that the blinding rain which was falling prevented them from averting the sad occurreance. A large number of friends of all parties were present at the hearing and intense interest was manifested in the evidence adduced. The jury was taken to the scene of the deplorable occurrence and shown by eye witnesses the manner in which the accident happened, also by a diagram which had been prepared for the

After due deliberation the six talesmen rendered a verdict to the effect that Mr. Bruce came to his death as a result of an unavoidable accident and recommended that the county authorities require the city council to forthwith enact and have enforced such ordinances relative to automobiles as will compel them at all times to be provided with proper horns and signals of danger and the prevention of the standing at long periods of other automobiles or vehicles of any sort on the streets, which may in any way obstruct said thoroughfares or impede traffic.
