

EEOC-Sanford Pact Unfair To Officers, Principals Claiming

By MARY WENDBERG
Herald Staff Writer

Charges of racial discrimination have come back to haunt Sanford officials. Two investigators from the Miami office of the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) who were at Sanford city hall Wednesday indicated there may be problems with a pre-determination settlement signed by the city commission and EEOC last June.

The investigators are John Clure and Dwight Weaver. The city commission will discuss the situation at its Monday night meeting at 7 p.m. at city hall, said City Manager W. E. Knowles. Also to be discussed at the meeting is a city staff draft of an affirmative action plan designed to increase the number of blacks, women and Hispanics working for the city, Knowles said.

At issue, according to Knowles, are new complaints by two black Sanford police officers whose 1976 complaints led to the agreement with EEOC last June. The two are Tony L. Brooks, fired by former Sanford Police Chief Ben Baker last March 15 for failing to report to work on March 5, according to city records, and John C. Moore, who resigned from the police department last May 3.

Both were reinstated as part of the June 1977 agreement between Sanford and the EEOC, with Brooks assigned to the Federal Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) Task Force based in Orlando and Moore assigned to the police department's animal control division.

Moore was terminated after exhausting his sick leave earlier this year, said Knowles.

"I think the charges by the two are more serious than n-kicking," Clure said.

Moore suffered a heart attack sometime before September and hasn't worked since," the city manager said.

Moore was granted additional leave but was still not able to return to work, Knowles said.

These are the officers' new complaints, according to Knowles. Moore has complained that he thought he would be assigned to the canine corps—patrolling the city with police dogs—rather than to the animal control or "dog catcher" division.

JOHN MOORE WARREN KNOWLES

Brooks has told EEOC investigators he no longer has a key to the Sanford police station and that he no longer receives police department memoranda and other communications.

"You want to reopen the agreement because John Moore isn't happy," Knowles told the investigators after their meeting.

"I will not comment with reporters present," Weaver answered Knowles. The city manager and Weaver agreed to meet Friday at 8 a.m. in city hall.

Asked by reporters if he and Weaver were here to discuss former policeman Moore's situation, Clure said he had no comment. "I'm retiring from EEOC Friday, and Mr. Weaver is taking over this case," Clure said.

Knowles telephoned Mayor Leo P. Moore after the EEOC investigators left Knowles' office. Brooks and Moore want more added to the agreement, to clarify it. The EEOC people say they thought officer Moore was being assigned to the canine corps—not the animal control division," Knowles told the mayor.

"It seems John Moore didn't understand what he was getting into when he signed the agreement," he said.

COME BACK MRS. JAMES D. MOODY HUGS TESSA

Little... She did

Tessa, a four-year-old Yorkshire Terrier was lost Feb. 11 when the car in which she was riding was involved in an accident on French Avenue near 27th. The dog ran from the scene and had been lost until late Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. James Moody, Orlando, Tessa's owner was so happy today that she said she would telegraph her mother who is vacationing in Israel to tell her of the dog's return.

Mrs. Moody said her mother had been caring for the dog when it was lost and was driving the car involved in the accident.

"She felt so responsible," Mrs. Moody said. She had described her mother as "about to have a breakdown" during the search for the dog.

Tessa was found by three Sanford boys adding animal control officer Charles Pillingier's search for the dog. The trio is Rusty Hibbard, 116 West Columbus; Burkland Smith, 107 West Columbus; and Ricky Smith, 107 West Columbus.

"In the afternoon, about 3 p.m., we began to get calls on it," Pillingier said. He said people in the area of his search, near the airport reported reading about the dog in the Evening Herald.

In State Unemployment Benefits

Ex-Official May Have To Repay $3,198

By DONNA ETTES
Herald Staff Writer

Ralph Fisher, Longwood's public works director for 11 years before he was fired by the majority of the city council in September, 1976, may have to repay to the state the $3,198 he was paid in unemployment compensation. In a letter, dated Feb. 16 from the state Department of Commerce, unemployment compensation board of review office in Tallahassee, Fisher was notified that the board had reversed a decision which granted unemployment compensation of $3 weekly for 30 weeks.

Fisher received the final check from the state last summer. "I don't know what I'm going to do," said Fisher, who has been unemployed since losing his job with the city. "I really can't afford to retain an attorney to fight this for me in the appellate court."

The notice received by Fisher said he has 30 days from Feb. 16 to file an appeal of the board of review decision in the appellate court.

"If he does not appeal, the board of review decision will become final and he will be disqualified based on the board's order," said a spokesman of the appeal division of the Department of Commerce in Tallahassee today.

"That will create an overpayment of unemployment compensation. The overpayment division will receive the case and it will be its determination as to whether or not the claimant will be required to reimburse the fund for overpayment," the spokesman said.

The board of review in reversing the decision claims that Longwood's city attorney, Ned Julian Jr., was not given notice of a second hearing but

Jan. 4 wherein Fisher appealed Longwood's contention that he should not receive the compensation.

At that hearing, City Clerk Onie Shonate carrying city records in hand said that Julian instructed her to appear at the hearing.

Sadat Vows Counter-Act Will Resound

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI)—President Anwar Sadat says Egypt will seek vengeance for the slaying of an Egyptian editor and 15 commandos, inflicting 10 blows for every single blow delivered against his nation.

Sadat delivered an angry address Wednesday at the burial of the commandos who were killed by Cypriot National Guardsmen as they attempted to free hostages held by the Palestinian terrorists. The two gunmen on Saturday killed the Egyptian editor.

Sadat broke off all relations with Cyprus charging President Spyros Kyprianou's government, and possibly the Palestine Liberation Organization, were involved in a conspiracy that led to the deaths.

"Egypt will deal 10 blows for every single blow directed at it," Sadat said. "We shall go to the end of the world to punish anyone harming Egypt's dignity or its sons."

The rupture of diplomatic ties was only the first step in a series of measures Egypt would take against the tiny island state, the official newspaper Al-Ahram said today.

The Egyptian counteraction will "resound throughout the world," it said.

Shortly after Sadat announced Cairo was withdrawing its recognition of the Nicosia government, Cypriot Ambassador Antis Sotiriades was summoned to the Foreign Ministry and informed of an Egyptian decision to "break off all relations between the two countries."

DONALD SINES 'I hate to see you leave.'

Business Cited As Sines Quits Council

Winter Springs Councilman Donald Sines, with nine months remaining in the second year of his two-year term, announced his resignation from office Wednesday night.

"I looked down to whether I was going to work for my company at a substantial salary or for the city for $8 a month," Sines said.

W. Springs warned Page 3-A asking his colleagues to choose a person to fill his office who has a good temperament. The resignation is to be effective Feb. 28.

In accepting the resignation with deep regret the council agreed that a special meeting will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday to appoint someone to fill the unexpired term.

"Perhaps regret is not the right word," said Mayor Troy Piland. "I hate to see you leave. I hate to see any elected official resign." But, Piland added that Sines may be relieved not to have to spend so much time being concerned by the city. Piland said he will announce the date of the special meeting later this week.

Sines was originally appointed to the city council on July 26, 1976 to fill the unexpired term of John Booth who resigned. In the December, 1976 election he won a full two-year term.

Prior to the resignation announcement, Sines was unable to get approval from the board to proceed with appointment of a charter study commission. A project he has been pushing for the past six weeks.

A resolution to create the committee was tabled indefinitely on a vote of 3-2 with Councilman John Sabatini joining with Sines in opposing the delay.

Councilmen John Daniels, Laurent Pellerin and Bert Logan opposed voting in the resolution which would have given the five-member committee the task of studying a "change in the form of government."

Leffler Pleads Not Guilty

Attorney Jack Bridges of the Sanford Law firm of Cleveland, Mizra and Bridges filed "not guilty" pleas on behalf of Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler on a variety of charges leveled against the judge by Longwood police Sunday night.

Bridges' partner, Mack N. Cleveland Jr., said today Bridges filed not guilty pleas "to all pending charges whatever they are. We are going to contest the entire thing," he said.

Leffler was arrested by Longwood police Sunday night and given citations charging the judge had violated the city's ordinance banning the dumping of refuse, had an expired license tag on the trailer attached to his car and that he refused to sign a citation.

NATION IN BRIEF

Jury Sidesteps Leotrie Issue, Fines Congressman

ATLANTA (UPI) — A federal court jury says Congressman-physician Larry McDonald must pay the medical expenses of a patient he treated — unsuccessfully — for cancer.

But the panel heeded the advice of U.S. District Judge Richard Freeman and refused to rule Wednesday on the larger question of whether the drug Leotrie is a useful cancer treatment or a quick remedy.

The verdict left both sides unhappy in the $6 million malpractice trial and both indicated they planned appeals. And they were unable to agree on what effect the verdict would have on the future use of Leotrie.

Webster Sworn In Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With President Carter and Vice President Mondale standing by, federal appeals judge William Webster was sworn in today as the sixth director of the FBI.

Chief Justice Warren Burger administered the oath of office to Webster, 58, in the modern J. Edgar Hoover building — headquarters of the FBI.

High Court OKs Amputation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court won't stop doctors from amputating the gangrene-infected foot of a 72-year-old Tennessee woman against her wishes.

After holding a special conference Wednesday, the justices turned down Mary Northern's request that they stay a state court order allowing the operation without her consent.

Park En Route To U.S.

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Millionaire Tongan Park, central figure in the Korean lobbying scandal in the United States, left Thursday night to testify before U.S. congressional committees about his financial dealings in Washington.

He left for Honolulu aboard a Korean Airlines flight that took off from King's International Airport at 9:40 p.m. (7:40 a.m. EST). He neither issued a statement nor met with reporters.

Consolidation Plan Unveiled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter was ready today to unveil his plan for consolidating the agencies that enforce equal jobs opportunity.

Carter invited a large gathering of civil rights leaders to the East Room for the announcement. They included Coretta King, wife of the slain activist Martin Luther King, and executive director Vernon Jordan of the Urban League.

Fire Destroys Museum

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Fire destroyed the Aerospace Museum in San Diego's Balboa Park Wednesday night, taking with it 50 historic aircraft, many of them one-of-a-kind.

The loss of the building alone may amount to $15 million, museum officials said, but no estimate was available on the value of the exhibits. No one was reported injured.

HEW Begins Investigation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — HEW Secretary Joseph Califano said Wednesday his agency plans to investigate charges that more than 7,000 members of the armed services are drawing both military and welfare benefits.

Califano said this disclosure by government investigators brings to 20,000 the number of men and women on the federal payroll who may also be getting welfare payments.

Read This: $1 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — A two-volume set of the Gutenberg Bible — believed to be one of only 13 rare first issues — will be sold at a public auction this spring by Christie's, the Park Avenue auctioneer.

The set, owned by the General Theological Seminary of New York, is expected to attract a minimum price of $1 million. That would be the highest known price ever paid for a book.

356 Students Transferred School Board Approves Redistrict Plan

Yielding to the concerns of parents, the Seminole County Board of Education voted 5-4 Wednesday to amend the administrator's proposed new changes and moved 356 students among five schools in the south central and southeast portions of the county.

Remaining within their current school districts but being moved from Transferred and the Hills subdivisions and 15 students from the Lake Irene area.

The administration plan had called for these people to be transferred and Hills subdivisions to go from Red Dog to Starling Park schools. The Lake Irene children would have gone from Water Springs elementary to Red Dog.

The plan approved by the board calls for the following transfers:

- 20 students in Lake Conrad, Starling Lake and North Lake Triplet from Red Dog to Canaberry.
- 100 people in Starling, Starling, Plantation, Florist, Sandhill, Sun Joe and other areas from Red Dog to Canaberry.
- 20 students in Ramothside, North Seminole Trail and Lake

Kathryn Estates from Water Springs to Red Dog.

— 10 students from Loringwood to Red Dog.

Doris Ross and Robert Pugh, school board members, voted against the change in the meeting.

Ross said his vote was a protest over the failure of the board to include students in Lake Conrad, North Lake Triplet and Starling Lake in the changes. Several parents from these areas appear in opposition to the movement of their children from Red Dog to Canaberry.

Feather said he would have voted for the change if it had moved the 15 people from Lake Irene out of Water Springs elementary. He said the school is too crowded now on average of five and six children.

The board will be held at Orlando High School, Post Court Elementary, Forest City Elementary and the school's bus garage.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the school's bus garage. The meeting is open to the public. The school is located at 10000 S.W. 11th St., Orlando.

$1 Million Mill Coming To Seminole

A new industry, representing an investment in excess of $1 million, and scheduled to employ 15 persons is to be located within Seminole County, according to company officials.

Charles Smith, president of American Log Homes of Tallahassee and former Log Homes International sales territory several locations for a mill are being considered and all these sites are in Seminole County.

Smith said a decision on which site will be purchased will be made within the next few months. "Equipment for the mill is now being manufactured in Tennessee. When the equipment is finished, we would like to move it directly onto the Seminole County site," he said.

The mill should be in operation within 18 months after the site is selected, Smith said. The mill is to be a residential, commercial and utility structure.

Son Indicted As Adult In Slaying

JACK ECKERD, 21, of 1000 Colony Ave., Sanford, is charged with the first degree murder of his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Strigal, 58, on Feb. 9.

Strigal was indicted as an adult, will be arraigned Friday afternoon before County Judge Wallace H. Bell.

Strigal was arrested Feb. 10 by Seminole County sheriff's deputies and taken to Seminole County jail, Sanford, where he has been held without bond.

Dr. J.D. Jones, 38, of Orlando, said when he returned to the truck later in the day his last bus had been broken into and 200 worth of tools taken from the bus.

The defective cord that caught fire was plugged into the refrigerator in the upstairs apartment, and it set the floor on fire, burning a hole through the floor of the upstairs apartment and through the ceiling of the apartment below, Harvett said.

Eight Sanford firemen completely extinguished the blaze in an hour. The fire caused damage to both apartments, said the chief.

The apartment's owner, Harold Schmalz, of 613 East Third St., said an estimate of the damage would be made by his insurance company.

into. And Brooks, now with the DEA task force, says he no longer has a key to the Sanford Police Department and isn't getting mail sent to him by the police department," Kavonius continued.

"We've called the EEOC investigators to find out what Moore and Brooks want."

After his phone call to the mayor, Kavonius said any changes in the agreement would have to be approved by the city commission.

Kavonius called the officers' alleged complaints "unfounded. Now Brooks is claiming a gun discharged near him and hurt his hearing, but police records show this isn't true."

Kavonius said Friday's meeting with EEOC's Weaver and Otero will also be attended by Police Chief Wallace H. LaPiere, Assistant to the City Manager Richard Gagliardi and Sanford Equal Employment Opportunity Officer Francis Wynkles.

W. Springs Warned On Changing Rules

The Water Springs City Council Wednesday night adopted an ordinance changing its subdivision regulations, despite a warning from City Attorney Gary Moore that the city may have a serious problem defending the regulations if challenged in the courts.

The amendment requires property owners who divide their land into three or more lots to pave roads, and install water and sewer systems.

Although the council said the ordinance would be effective throughout the city, it was prepared to protect the properties in the Ramothside section of the city where lots are from one-half acre to 15 acres in size and where some owners in recent months have been selling off part of their land for development.

Mrs. Mary Williamson, a resident of the Ramothside section, said the ordinance was designed to correct past problems of discriminatory treatment. I know of at least one state Sanford police officer who was given a desk job following a heart attack and lengthy illness," Mrs. Crawford said.

"The Justice Department has sent an investigator here from the department's office in Atlanta. He's a Community Relations Specialist Fred Crawford — no relation to me. The department can't understand why one of the two is in worse condition than when the discrimination charges were brought. If the policeman's complaints are just nagging, why is the Justice Department so interested?" said Mrs. Crawford.

Church Gets OK For Center Use

The Water Springs City Council has approved the use of Presbyterian minister, the Rev. Hugh C. Hamilton, of a community center for church services on Sunday mornings.

City Atty. Gary Moore said there was no problem with the use of the building because a problem that he would go with the minister in the school system to see about using a school on Sunday for services. "Some schools are being used for church services in the county now," Pined said.

Mental Ills Clinic Opening In County

Florida's first community-based medical clinic for the mentally retarded will be held each Friday from 9 a.m. until noon beginning this week in the Seminole County Health Department's Longwood clinic, according to Irene H. Burnett, district administrator for the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS).

The clinic, located on the corner of Wilma and Church Street, is the first of four scheduled to open in District Seven of HRS. Mrs. Burnett said Clinics will open in Orange and Brevard Counties in March, and Ocala County in April, she said.

More than 200 mentally retarded individuals live in residential facilities in the four-county area, and the number is expected to reach 300 by 1979, according to Dr. David Crane, HRS district health program supervisor.

A private contract physician, Dr. Charles Carter, former Sunland medical director, in Orlando, will visit rotation group homes in the district on a pre-scheduled basis to evaluate the patients, care for any illnesses found and identify training requirements for group home operators, Dr. Crane said.

"Doctor Carter will also operate weekly clinics in Brevard and Seminole Counties and a bi-weekly clinic in Ocala County to provide both patient care and training for local health department staff and other health professionals who wish to upgrade their skills in the care of the mentally retarded," he said.

Anderson did not run for reelection to the council and Connell is now mayor of Longwood.

The notification to Fisher said that four of the five witnesses who testified for Fisher were city employees.

The Tallahassee spokesman said today that the board of review reviews the record and does not hear oral testimony. He declined to say whether an employee is permitted to see charges filed against him.

Fisher said he was fired for "misconduct," but he was not permitted to see the written charges against him.

Auto Materials Taken From Parked Truck

An auto buffer, auto sweeper, electric cord and several tools of cleaning fluid were taken Wednesday afternoon from a company truck parked at Central Auto, 178 N. State Road 17-82, a company employee told Seminole County sheriff's deputies.

The employee, Sy McLokey, 42, of 120 Hillcrest St., Altamonte Springs, said the truck owned by Central Auto, was locked and parked at company headquarters. The stolen property is worth $800, said McLokey.

Deputies said thieves pried the lock off the door to enter the truck and commit the theft.

The car with the keys left in the ignition was taken from an alley in Sanford Tuesday night while its driver went grocery shopping, he told Sanford police.

Keth Van Whitney, 18, of Apt. 21, Castle Brewer Court, West 18th Street, Sanford, said the car was taken while he was shopping in George's Grocery Store, 156 W. 13th St.

The boy had a "restricted" driver's license, which requires an adult with a driver's license to be in the car when the boy is driving, police said, but they did not charge the youth.

The car is owned by F. Sprull.

After 30 Hours, Hostage Disarms Bandit

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — The bandit reached for a cigarette, his two sons, Rob, 18, and Mike, 4. A second suspect was wounded and captured by police.

Ohio state troopers halted Herrman's car by shooting out its tires, and Ball opened negotiations for another getaway car over a Citizens Band radio.

Ball held Herrman and his sons in Herrman's car for more than 17 hours near Eaton, Ohio, just across the Ohio-Indiana border, before releasing the children in exchange for the second car.

At one point during the negotiations he threatened to fire his revolver "into his head and then his father's."

because he thought he saw a police stakeout.

After obtaining the second automobile, Ball drove eastward on I-70 at speeds near 100 miles per hour on Ohio Highway. Patrol troopers halted all traffic in the path of the fugitive's flight.

Ball finally had an accident in Springfield and local police stopped him there. The suspect allowed two FBI agents to sit in his car for several hours Wednesday afternoon as negotiations continued, but they failed to talk him into surrendering.

Finally Ball reached for the cigarette, officials said, and Herrman grabbed his gun.

"I was more worried about my sons than I was about myself," Herrman said, adding that he planned to get back home and "take it easy."

FBI agents said after his arrest Ball was taken to the Miller Printing Co., in nearby Dayton, where the FBI was using as a command post.

Officials said Ball, who escaped from the manhunt last summer, also is wanted for security guard robbery in northern Ohio near Cincinnati and New Jersey.

Power Play For Labor?

The effort to "reform" something is most often a drive to reallocate political power, and there is no better instance of this fact, perhaps, than the effort to reform the nation's labor law.

The reform in question would upset what is now a balance of power between labor and management, by giving labor the upper hand.

And not even the amendments that Sen. Harrison Williams of New Jersey is proposing, in an effort to placate business and conservatives, would do much to restrain this effort to allocate more power to labor.

The House bill would require the National Labor Relations Board to bar an employer found guilty of a "willful" violation of the labor laws from obtaining a government contract for three years.

This is obviously a harsh provision and Sen. Williams seeks to soften it by adding that the secretary of labor may shorten the debarment period under certain conditions.

Some softening that would be. Debarment, even for less than three years, is still debarment, and that is too drastic a penalty, because it hurts not only employees, but also employers.

The House bill also would require that workers fired illegally during union organizing campaigns are entitled to double back pay.

Sen. Williams would change that to one and a half times back pay. But the labor law now on the books has it an eye for an eye, as it should be: such employees are entitled to straight back pay plus interest.

If, in these two respects, the Senate doesn't promise to make a bad bill much better, it does promise, in another respect, to make a bad bill worse.

That scarcely would give employers a chance to tell their side of things, yet the Senate bill would all but guarantee that neither side would be able to reduce the minimum waiting period, in some cases, to 15 days.

Neither the House nor the Senate bill would address the problem of coercive and illegal union tactics.

True reform — reform that tries to maintain a balance between both labor and management — would undertake to curb the illegal tactics of both, but this bill is not a reform bill.

Power Diffused
Fears of a radical takeover in France are relieved somewhat by the inability of the Communists and Socialists to tolerate each other.

Both parties are so concerned with wowing the leftist vote in next month's elections that they are creating a gap that their ambitions for power may not be able to bridge.

ANGLE-WALTERS Solving Parental Kidnapping

WASHINGTON — The presents are ready, all neatly wrapped and ribboned, awaiting the celebration of Miss Daniel Miller's birthday.

Miss Miller has spent nearly four years and more than $20,000 in a fruitless search for her son, Thomas, who she claims was kidnapped in 1974.

Miller's anguish, unfortunately, is shared by thousands of other parents each year. Crumbling marriages and soaring divorce rates contribute to anywhere between 25,000 and 100,000 child-snatching cases annually, depending on those estimates you accept.

There is no effective legal remedy against a parent who simply runs off with his or her child. Family courts in one state are unconstitutionally slow, and many prosecutors are reluctant to bring a case unless the child has been in the hands of a kidnapper for more than 48 hours.

But Congress, at long last, may be ready to crack down on child-snatching — thanks, in large measure, to the unrelenting efforts of Children's Rights, Inc. of Washington, the organization Arnold Miller founded the year after Miss was taken.

The massive revision of the federal criminal code which the Senate has just passed and sent to the House includes provisions to make parental child-snatching a federal offense punishable by as much as 4 months in prison and a $10,000 fine.

It would also allow use of FBI's Parent Locator Service, originally set up to track down fathers of children in custody who had to make support payments, to track youngsters abducted by a parent. The FBI could be used as a last resort.

WASHINGTON WINDOW Ideology And Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The New York Times are out with a new poll that shows 62 percent of Americans identify themselves as liberal.

That finding, which shows 62 percent of the 1,500 adults polled in the middle of the road politically and 25 percent as liberal, would seem to support the case for the poll.

Until now the rest of the poll. The pollsters also asked the same people a series of specific questions about issues. The answers seemed to pose the question "With conservatives the left, who are more liberal?"

In response from conservatives only, the pollsters found: — 79 percent believed the government ought to help people get doctor and hospital care at low cost.

— 70 percent believed the federal government should do it to it that everyone who wants to work gets a job.

— A majority favored government restrictions on the sale of handguns.

VIEWPOINT Education Aid, But For Whom?

President Carter's observation that the cost of a college education is "an increasingly serious burden" to middle-income families was assured of drawing a response of fervent assent from the bipartisan House.

His proposals for guaranteed loans, expanded scholarships and more part-time jobs for students are ideas for dealing with the situation will find similar instant favor in another — and politically charged — matter.

His proposals for guaranteed loans, expanded scholarships and more part-time jobs for students are ideas for dealing with the situation will find similar instant favor in another — and politically charged — matter.

There is no questioning the steep and continuing increase in the cost of a college education — up 77 percent during the past decade, as the president noted. Tuition plus other basic charges total an average $2,500 at a public institution currently, $4,000 at a private school.

There is, however, some question whether the cost burden is actually increasing. A recent Congressional Budget Office study suggests that in terms of percentage of family income it actually decreased during the decade.

The 10-year increase in median family income was put at 90 percent — significantly more than the 71 percent college cost rise. The study worked out current college costs at 12.1 percent of income at a public institution, compared with 13.4 percent 10 years ago.

It might be argued that a college education actually is becoming slightly less burdensome to the middle-income population. But trying to argue that with a parent who signs the checks could get you threatened with physical violence.

Supreme Court Upholds Auto Liability Law

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The state Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of a 1977 law that abolished mandatory automobile liability insurance.

The court said only a section of the law, which sharply increased traffic fines to create a fund to reward good drivers, was unconstitutional. The court, last September, struck down the good driver fund.

The court ruled today that the good driver fund can be eliminated without destroying other sections of the law.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Florida legislators responding to an energy issues poll believe mandatory conservation measures is a practical way to encourage reduced fuel consumption.

The poll, conducted by the League of Women Voters, also showed Wednesday that most legislators believe that nuclear power is a better fuel source for the future than coal.

Police Still Can't Link Bundy With FSU Murders, Lake City Disappearance

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)— Florida police have filed enough theft and burglary charges to put Theodore R. Bundy in prison for 90 years if he is convicted, but they are unable to link him to the murders of two St. Petersburg youths and the disappearance of a Lake City school girl.

A helicopter search over a 100-mile area between Lake City and Tallahassee has turned up no trace of 15-year-old Kimberly Diane Leach who police fear may have met with foul play.

A man described as looking like Bundy and using stolen credit cards found on Bundy checked out of a Lake City motel just an hour before the girl was seen on her school campus Feb. 6.

Leach County Sheriff Ken Katsaris is helping with the Lake City case, hoping it will lead to a clue connecting Bundy with the Jan. 15 murders of Florida State University students Margaret Bowman and Lisa Levy.

Bundy fled from Jan. 15 until Feb. 12 in a rooming house four blocks from the murder scene.

Bundy, 21, who is charged with killing a woman in Colorado and is a suspect in 36 rape-murders in four western states, is charged in Tallahassee with theft of two automobiles and stealing a radio, television and typewriter out of two cars. A fugitive warrant from Colorado has been served, seeking his return to Pitkin County jail from which he escaped New Years Eve.

Judge Hayward Altman gave Bundy permission to serve as his own lawyer.

Bundy has a psychology degree and spent one year in law school in Utah. He has been given law books to familiarize himself with case law and trial procedures in Florida.

He rejected services of the public defender, saying he wanted to prepare his own defense to the six theft and burglary charges and "any further charges" — implying he would be his own lawyer even if he is charged with murder.

Attorney Richard Farmer, who had said he would represent Bundy on murder charges, called his request to handle his own case "reasonable."

His main firm will assist with any murder charges or any other way and encourage him to do his own thing. Two other, he said, judges are given court-appointed lawyers who don't represent their best interests.

They said the reports, made by Parole and Probation Commission investigators, are beneficial to persons convicted of serious crimes.

The court, which is considering doing away with the investigations in capital cases, heard the lawyer's arguments Wednesday but did not say when it will make a decision.

Retain PSIs, Attorneys Urge

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Attorneys who defend accused criminals are urging the state Supreme Court not to eliminate presentence investigations in cases in which the death penalty may be imposed.

They said the reports, made by Parole and Probation Commission investigators, are beneficial to persons convicted of serious crimes.

The court, which is considering doing away with the investigations in capital cases, heard the lawyer's arguments Wednesday but did not say when it will make a decision.

Attorney Charges Current Tampering Law Illegal

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court has been asked to throw out a 1976 law that prosecutes a homeowner or renter in the event if his light meter is tampered with in a way that reduces his electricity bill.

The law is being attacked by Neil D. MacMillan, 54, Miami, who drew a 30-day jail sentence and $500 fine in Duval County Court last year for meter tampering.

The law has been declared unconstitutional in West Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale in cases that have not yet reached the Supreme Court.

Miami civil liberties attorney Tobin Simon, in argument Wednesday, called the law blatantly unconstitutional. He said it's the only statute he knows of where an American citizen can be put in jail without proof he committed a crime.

"The mere possession of marijuana in a house is not sufficient to convict and the mere existence of a defective meter should not be enough to convict," Simon said.

He said Florida Power & Light Co. persuaded the legislature to pass the law.

"There is no police investigation, no evidence involved, he said. Only the decision of the utility that a meter was tampered with is enough to bring charges. That person placed a constant, he said, because there is no defense other than 'I didn't know it was defective.'"

FP&L attorney William Hickey, Miami, said a person is not sent to jail where a meter runs down or wears out. "There must be some outside force and a person must have actual possession of the meter or have received the direct benefits from the tampering," he said.

He said it is virtually impossible to prove meter tampering with eyewitness testimony and it is logical to presume that the person who profits from shortchanging a utility is guilty.

But he said the presumption of guilt concept leaves room for a homeowner to persuade the court of his innocence.

Lawrence Rogers Jr., Miami attorney for MacMillan, said the sentence should be set aside because of the personal bias of Judge C.P. Roberts, who tried MacMillan without a jury.

He quibbled the judge's holding MacMillan guilty during sentencing. "The evidence not only is stealing from FP&L (but) stealing from me. I have to make up for the bill. I resent that. Prices being what they are today and having my own thoughts on power companies which I'm not at liberty to express, I really resent it."

The state said the judge's small financial stake in the outcome and common sense can't shield electricity costs were too indirect to influence his decision.

B-1 Bomber Plan Finally Shot Down By Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress finally has killed the B-1 bomber program, but is trying to keep some life in equally troublesome compromise proposals for natural gas price control.

President Carter decided to cancel the bomber program last year. The Senate agreed with the move, but the House balked and voted to spend $62 million to produce two more prototypes of the low-flying nuclear attack plane.

Bomber supporters finally lost their battle Wednesday when the House voted 236-182 against the additional funding. The death blow for the B-1 came as the House was giving final approval to a $7.4 billion supplemental appropriations bill that contained such other controversial items as major billion-dollar construction grants, small business disaster loans, funds for a strategic petroleum reserve, fuel assistance, the Clinch River breeder reactor, and Amtrak.

The long impasse over the question of natural gas price regulation has resulted from a split in the Senate, but the two sides were preparing to once again try to resolve their differences.

Truckers Recruit Married Couples For Open Road

NEW YORK (UPI) - Driving a long-distance truck can be a grinding, lonely job, and to obtain good drivers some national firms are actively recruiting husband-and-wife teams for the open road. "Despite the statistically high level of unemployment, there is a genuine shortage of good truck drivers," Peter deWetter, president of Bekins Co., told UPI. "Add the fact that over-the-road truckers have to spend so much time away from home it's a handicap in finding good drivers."

But, aside from providing some semblance of normal married life, husband and wife teams have other advantages. "Often a wife is a restraining influence on any urge the husband might have to put his foot too heavily on the accelerator."

And he said the couple teams are good for the prosaic reason that "the wife usually has a better handwriting than the husband and there's a terrible lot of paperwork in this business."

DeWetter said Bekins was a pioneer in recruiting husband-and-wife driving teams back in 1950 and the firm now is waging a campaign to add to the 110 couples driving for them.

CURTIS T. BALDREE

POLICE COMPOSITE ISSUED DEC. 30

Transferred To Seminole County

Murder Suspect Charged

Curtis Thomas Baldree, 45, of Chamblee Ga., was charged Thursday night at Seminole County jail with the murder last Dec. 27 of Seminole Sheriff's Deputy George A. Pfiel.

Baldree was brought by Seminole sheriff's detectives to Seminole County jail from Cobb County jail, Marietta, Ga., where he was arrested for armed robbery of a drugstore in Cobb County.

The five-foot, seven-inch Baldree is being held without bond and kept in a jail cell by himself, deputies said. He was scheduled to appear in county court this afternoon before Judge Wallace H. Hall. The murder suspect waived extradition proceedings from Georgia, said sheriff's spokesman John Spolaki.

Baldree has been identified by Seminole authorities as one of two men who robbed Longwood Village Pharmacy, 1877 W. Sanlando Springs Dr., Longwood, the afternoon of last Dec. 27, during which Deputy Pfiel was shot to death.

The other suspect, the subject of a nationwide police search, is Terry Melvin Sims, also known as Ray Michael Sims, deputies said. Authorities now believe he is in the Georgia area, Spolaki said.

An anonymous tip that Baldree had been jailed in Georgia led Seminole sheriff's deputies to check with the Cobb County Sheriff's Department, Spolaki said. "They checked and the man turned out to be Baldree," the sheriff's spokesman said.

Detectives who arrested Baldree here said he was identified from police photographs on Feb. 7 by four eyewitnesses who were in Longwood Village Pharmacy on Dec. 27 when the armed robbery occurred and by one witness who was outside the pharmacy and saw two men run from the pharmacy.

Bundy Denies Murders

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Theodore R. Bundy, suspected of killing two Florida State University security sisters, says he has committed no murders, it was reported today.

In a copyright story in the Rocky Mountain News, Bundy said authorities were trying to make him confess to murders he didn't commit.

"Outside of a few minor thefts, I have done nothing wrong," said Bundy, in a handwritten note smuggled out of the Leon County jail. "What the media reports now is completely unneeded, noting but accusation and insinuation. News people are being spooled by the investigating authorities."

The Tallahassee Democrat carried the story by the News, a Denver newspaper. Bundy smuggled a letter to a News reporter.

The FBI says Bundy is a suspect in 25 sex slayings in Colorado, Utah, Washington and California.

"I am innocent of the charges in the press," wrote Bundy. "I do not welcome the news coverage. But if those who lack evidence seek to charge me in the news, I feel compelled to defend myself there also. I should have the same access to the media as my would-be accusers."

Bundy, who once escaped from a Colorado jail, says law officers give the impression "they regard me with a Houdini-like awe."

"Several additional locks have been welded to my cell door," he said. "They call it the 'slammer.' A guard comes by to check on me every few minutes. I am kept by myself."

"They are scared to death I will escape from them... I maintain a certain peace of mind about my latest arrest."

EEOC Action Hinted For Axed City Clerk

KAY SASSMAN

Lake Mary's former city clerk, Kay Sassman, may file charges against Lake Mary with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) if the person named by the Lake Mary City Council as her replacement is not to her liking.

The EEOC is the federal agency that usually handles race and sex discrimination charges.

Louise Crawford, civil rights and equal opportunity officer with Seminole Community Action, said today that Mrs. Sassman will make a decision on whether to file formal

At Juvenile Detention Center 5 Boys Claim Beating, Worker Suspended

By MAX EMBLETTIAN

A state child care worker at the Seminole County Juvenile Detention Center has been suspended pending completion of an investigation by the Brevard-Seminole State Attorney's office and the State Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

The investigation stems from a Monday night incident in which five juveniles were allegedly injured by the worker, John Hoag, information officer with HRS in Orlando, who conducted this morning's press conference in Casselberry, said he was withholding the name of the worker until completion of the investigation.

According to Hoag, the juveniles were taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital for treatment Tuesday afternoon.

Stephen N. Shacoiki Jr., an HRS spokesman, said one of the boys had an inflamed hip. The other four had bruises. None was seriously injured nor hospitalized, he said.

The incident came to light, according to Hoag, when the five injured boys and others met with Steve Sweet, assistant juvenile detention center superintendent, Tuesday morning.

"The assistant superintendent asked the youngsters to submit their statements in writing," said Sweet, who immediately reported the alleged incident to the child abuse unit," Shacoiki said.

The abuse unit, according to HRS regulations, Shacoiki said then notified the state attorney's office.

The juveniles involved were all boys, officials said. The allegation by the boys is that "the worker physically struck them with his fist."

William Earl, district administrator for the center, said today nothing appears to have precipitated the act. All five were allegedly beaten at the same time.

Nine JDC residents were transferred to the Orange County Juvenile Detention Center Tuesday afternoon, because, according to HRS officials, the Seminole facility was inhabited by 22 youngsters, an nine over capacity.

None of the transfers, it was learned today, was involved in the alleged incident.

HRS officials said they expect to conclude their investigation into the matter by next Friday.

The boys' ages range from 11 to 17.

The state's attorney's office will determine if criminal

Auto-Train Derails, 24 Persons Injured

FLORENCE, S.C. (UPI) — A train carrying 363 people and their cars from Sanford to the Washington suburb derailed early today, slightly injuring 24 persons.

An Auto-Train spokesman in Washington said to his knowledge there were no fatalities, but the train derailed in a field by the station.

The Auto-Train Corp. train was moving about 35 miles an hour as it came into the city at 2:30 a.m. when one of its two engines and 19 of its 43 cars went off the tracks about five blocks from the Florence railroad station, officials said.

Dr. Joseph Gots of Hoboken, N.J., said he was sleeping on an upper berth.

"I got this sort of feeling of swaying in the car," he said. "The next thing I knew it sounded like we were derailed, there was a sudden impact that sort of shoved things around."

Florence Police Sergeant Richard Moore, who helped carry victims to the hospital, said twisted and torn cars blocked the tracks.

"Some of the cars were broken up and there were some problems getting the people out," Moore said. "The people were trapped inside and it took some time to get them out."

Officials said there was a possibility an axle on the second engine broke, causing the derailment.

Officials said 22 persons were taken to McLeod General Hospital and two others were scattered in a field by the tracks.

Frank Cardillo of Brooklyn, N.Y., said he was trapped for about an hour in his car.

"We started bumping around and then came to a stop, tried to get out and were trapped," he said.

Cardillo said his car was tilted but never overturned.

Chester Dumbrowski of Philadelphia said he was awake as the train moved into Florence.

"It was like the roller coaster, something like that," he said.

Auto-Train Corp. owned the engines and cars.

Lake Mary Spurns Sworn Complaints Against Police

By DONNA EETTES
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary City Council Thursday night moved closer to formulating a procedure for dealing with complaints about the police.

Councilman Bart Perinchief, the police commissioner, was asked to prepare a "terse statement" of procedures — with two choices on each item.

Councilman Harry Terry said the council can choose by vote the most acceptable item of the procedure to reflect the divergent views of the individual councilmen.

The council, at the non-voting workshop session, also agreed, 3-2, that residents need not be compelled to file sworn statements in making preliminary complaints. If the citizens are not satisfied with the action taken by Police Chief Harry Benson on the complaint, it was decided, sworn statements can then be filed for formal action.

This course of action was urged by Councilmen Lillian Griffin, Cliff Nelson and Terry. Only Councilman Pat Southward dissented.

"I will never vote for a police procedure that doesn't begin with a notarized statement," she said in a written and verbal presentation of her views.

"A notarized statement is not such an exotic experience, not complicated, not anything anyone should be reluctant to do," she said, adding that the city should not hire a person just because of the federally funded Comprehensive Employment Training Act program.

"Most in the program are in economic circumstances and others are in the program because they couldn't take orders and are lazy," he said.

Terry said the city used to check out the applicant's former employment. "We did this in the early days and got pretty good officers," he said.

Councilman Griffin, who noted she has kept silent through most of the discussion over the past weeks about the police department, said that if her son had been treated as others have in the community by the police department, "you'd have a lot to contend with."

She said if her son were mistreated by the police, she would not make out a sworn statement, she would go to the chief and try to work it out. "If I wasn't satisfied, I'd go somewhere else," she said.

In response to a statement from Mrs. Southward that Sheriff John Palk will only accept sworn complaints, Mrs. Griffin said she has talked with Palk many times and has never filed a sworn statement.

Serving as the road commissioner, Mrs. Griffin said that she doesn't require sworn statements from citizens who complain about the roads. She said that she corrects the problem and then notifies the citizen that his complaint has been solved.

She insisted that lack of a notarized statement puts excessive demands on the city, saying that the city used almost 40 man-hours to look into the recent complaint of police harassment made by 18-year-old Seminole Community College Adult High School Student Terry Lee Riley. A special council committee of which Mrs. Southward was a member, found Miss Riley's complaint without substance.

Mrs. Southward cited the draining away of energy and talent as the dangers of accepting non-notarized statements. She said that those citizens at a recent meeting complaining of police actions perhaps would prefer that the police do not enforce the drug laws and speed limits.

Ralph Abell of the volunteer fire department, who complained at that meeting about police following his son with their vehicle lights out, said if his word is doubted he would be willing to take a polygraph test to prove his veracity.

Tom West, a member of the city's planning and zoning board, who also complained about police actions toward his son at that meeting, said Thursday night he would sign a complaint.

But, he said, he knows of two girls specifically who are not going to make formal complaints.

Terry said he would like the city to go back to the methods it used when it was first incorporated and the council reviewed all applications for police jobs.

"We cannot be too careful about the policemen we hire," he
