Library Is Sought To Honor Memory Of City's Founder

John Sanford To Receive Appeal For Donation Of Building, Art Objects
Rollins Backs Local Venture
Dedication Would Be Part Of Ceremonies Scheduled Feb. 8

Efforts by the City Commission were formally under way today to secure a memorial library which would bear the name of Gen. H. S. Sanford, for whom this municipality was named.

An appeal for the institution will be forwarded to John Sanford as one of the principal heirs of the general, during his lifetime, collected what is regarded as one of the best libraries in the south.

The collection includes rare volumes of all types, important newspapers, valuable documents, and priceless works of art such as busts, paintings and other items.

It is the hope of the City Commission that Mr. Sanford will erect a modern, fire-proof building here and transfer the general's collection into the structure for perpetuation.

Communications from Rollins College have indicated that the educational institution, which recognizes the Sanford collection as one of importance, will back this city in its efforts.

Commissioners point out that the location of the Sanford library here would make its content available to students at both Rollins College and Stetson University.

The proposal to seek the collection was indicated by the planning of a tentative program for the observance of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the City on Feb. 8. The event will be under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It has been proposed also that the old Sanford home at Derby be taken down and removed here for reconstruction just as it is in its current location. Both the home and the library would be dedicated on Feb. 8.

The problem of upkeep for each of the units has not been discussed in detail, although there were indications that a method to care for current expenses is under consideration.

Caesarian Operations

When you read of the Oakland, California, woman the other day who gave birth to a fine seven pound boy by means of a Caesarian operation as she lay dying from a bullet wound in her head, you probably thought, unless you know more about surgery than most of us, that this was one of the modern miracles of our highly advanced civilization. Think of it! A baby taken from its mother after she had been shot through the head, only a moment before she died!

But as a matter of fact any physician can tell you that this particular feat is as old as the hills. Julius Caesar is popularly believed to have been born in this manner, and the name by which the operation is known is sometimes erroneously attributed to this belief. As a matter of fact, it was just the other way around. Caesarian operations were practiced by the Greeks a thousand years before Julius Caesar, and persons born in this manner were known as Caesones, and from this came the family name of Caesar. Pliny, the ancient Roman historian, records that Scipio Africanus, who lived more than two hundred years before Christ, and who more than once saved Rome from conquest by Hannibal and Hasdrubal, was the product of a Caesarian operation, as was also Manlius, another famous Roman general. And hundreds of years before this there was a Greek legend that Apollo rescued his yet unborn son from the body of Coronis as she lay on a funeral pile after she had been killed by Artemis.

In those early days the operation was performed solely for the purpose of saving the baby's life and only after the life of the mother had been abandoned. At one time Numa Pompilius decreed that any pregnant woman who died should be immediately operated upon by her practitioner in an effort to save the baby, and as late as 1749 the King of Sicily had a physician put to death for failing to operate on a dying woman advanced in pregnancy.

As early as the fifteenth century, however, cases were being recorded where the mother survived such operations as well as the infant, though that was long before anaesthetics or antiseptics. But it has been only in the last forty or fifty years that the operation has been resorted to except as a desperate means of last resort.

Nowadays thousands of women are giving birth to children in this manner, and the death rate, for the mothers as well as the children, where proper conditions obtain, is less than five percent.

Stratosphere Flying For 1937

To Europe and back in one day, at 500 miles an hour, flying 50,000 feet high! These are not idle dreams for 1937, says Donald E. Keyhoe, former aide to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in his article in the February Cosmopolitan, "Aviation Is Going 'Upstairs' in 1937." He writes, "Within six or seven months, according to Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, general manager of Eastern Air Lines, five leading air lines will begin joint experiments in stratosphere flying—Transcontinental and Western Air, American, United, Pan American, and Eastern. Foreign nations have their jealously guarded secrets and our commercial lines are racing to be the first aloft with their 'flying' lube."

"Aviation, especially commercial long-distance aviation, is on its way 'upstairs.' Speed at lower levels has almost reached its limit. Transport planes are cruising at heights of ten to fifteen thousand feet to decrease danger from bad weather. But even this is not satisfactory. There are storms and fogs which go much higher. The answer is stratosphere."

Experiments made by the Army, by the Air Commerce Bureau, and scores of others, from plans of the major air lines, Mr. Keyhoe draws a definite picture of what stratosphere flying will be like. The plane is not unlike our present big planes, but with important differences—a cabin within a cabin, to withstand the pressure of the manufactured atmosphere within.

"The first step is expected in 1937—regular operation of mail planes in the sub-stratosphere. It is possible that experimental passenger-plane operation will begin at the same time."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Thomas, recording secretary; Mrs. P. J. Coates, corresponding secretary; Mrs. D. C. Robb, treasurer; and Mrs. J. W. Barnes, press reporter. Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell and their two children are here from Georgia, visiting Mrs. Mitchell's mother, Mrs. E. L. Brown, on Sanford Heights. Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Fellows have bought the "Hamtone" place on Sanford Heights and have moved out from town. W. A. Ginn came up from St. Cloud on Wednesday for a short stay with the home folks.

Man In Wisconsin Survives Barrage Of Gang Bullets

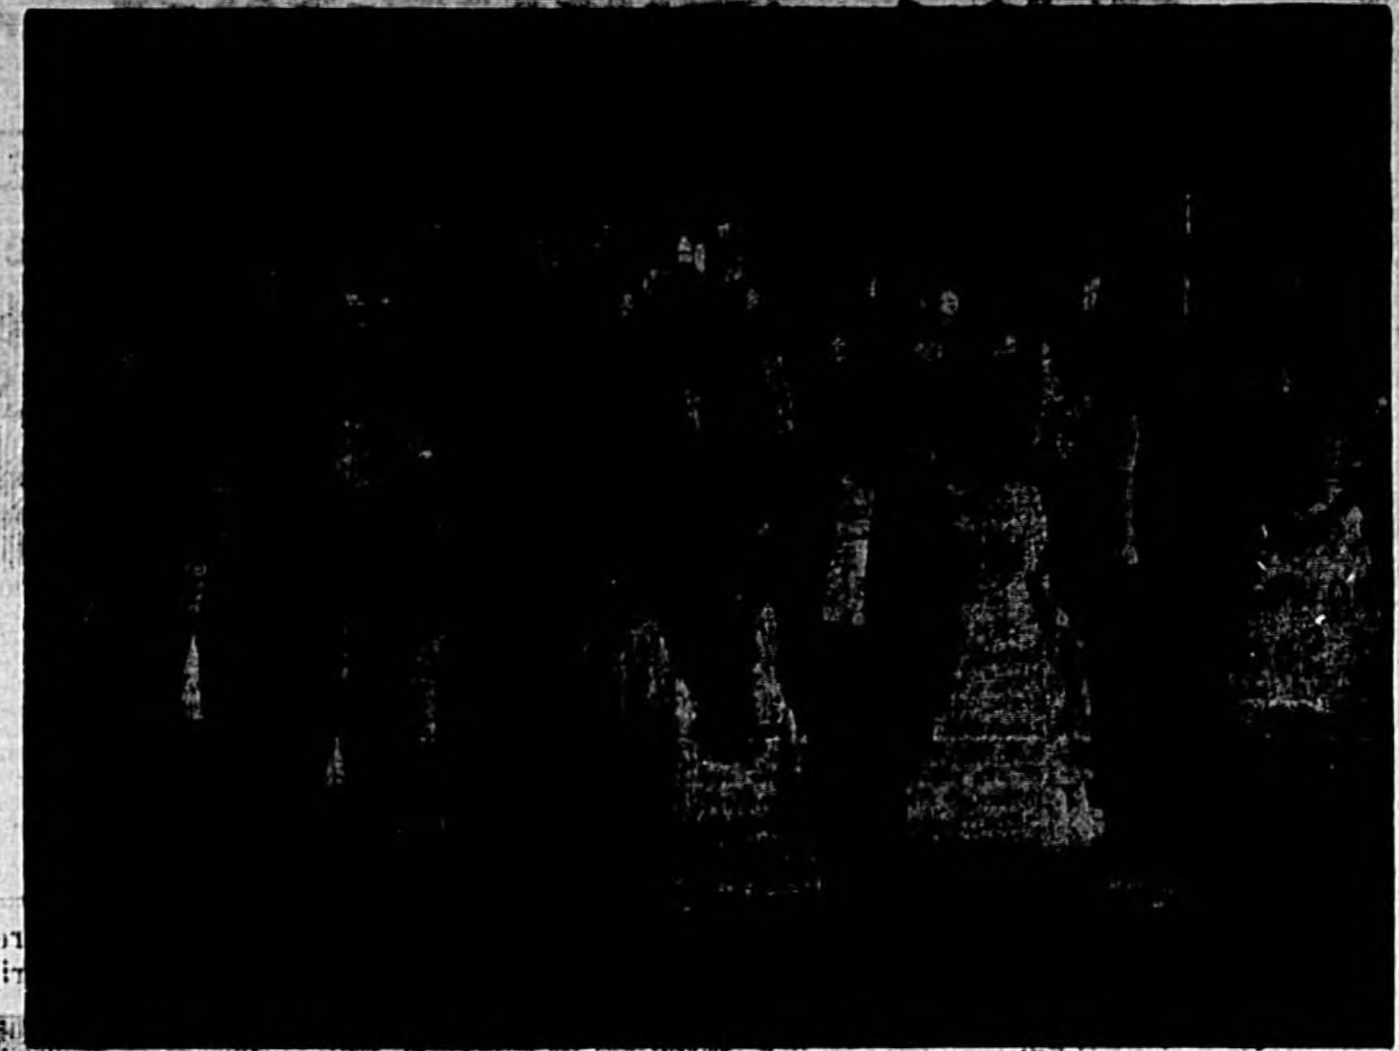

MANITOWISH, Wis., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Eight bullets from the homemade machine gun of the murderous "Baby Face" Nelson rained into the body of Carl Christensen. Doctors said he could hardly survive more than a few hours. That was two and a half years ago; and today Carl Christensen still lives—and runs a tavern. Christensen was shot in the encounter with the infamous Dillinger outlaw in which Carter Laum, a G-man, was killed shortly after the "Little Bohemia" gunfight between federal officers and Dillinger gangsters, including John Dillinger, Tommy Carroll, Homer Van Meter and Nelson.

Christensen, a county constable, and the two G-men, were backed tightly in their small car when Nelson suddenly surprised and covered them with a .38 automatic pistol. "One of us—I think it was Baum who was at the wheel—made a move that Baby Face didn't like," Christensen recalls. "He poked the gun through the coupe window and blazed away. "Baum was killed instantly. "Newman, now head of the G-men in St. Louis, was creased on the forehead by a bullet that did no serious damage but stunned him. Eight bullets hit me." Christensen lay in a hospital for 16 months; finally he was discharged, but he walked on crutches. Now he walks without aid and without limping. Doctors say he is lucky to be alive.

STEAMER AGROUND

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Radio Corporation of America recently received a radio report that the British steamer Rocho Castle was aground 10 miles west of Mumbles, England, and that she required immediate assistance.

A rare picture taken in the 'Gay 90's of prominent persons staying at the Hotel Ponce de Leon, in St. Augustine, which is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this season.

In the center of the front line, holding a bouquet is Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, wife of the builder of the Hotel Ponce de Leon and founder of the Florida East Coast railroad system. "BORROWING" THE PRESS

CLEMONT PRESS

One of our good friends last week brought in the humorous product of a newspaper editor who undertook to discourage the people of his community from borrowing his paper from a neighbor.

"While we enjoyed the skill with which he presented his side of the argument, we disagreed with his view. Nite Rees, editor of the Arcadian at Arcadia, a few years ago told this writer that he had traced one of his papers which was being read by twelve families, and he wondered how a publisher could build up circulation by such a habit in his community. We suggested to Nite that twelve families cared enough about the Arcadian to go to the bother of borrowing it actually

Max Wainman, president of the Non-Residents' Union, says the plan saves each student about $50 a year on hair-cuts, laundry, tailoring, clothes and meals.

Advertising Pays Rev. Sackett Finds

That it pays to advertise is the firm conviction of the Rev. Milton B. Sackett, who last week to assume his new duties as the minister of the Episcopal Church in Homestead.

Mr. Sackett last Friday inserted the following ad in The Herald classified section: "Modern 6-room house. All modern improvements. Garage. Laundry chicken house, 1-3 pigs and large vegetable garden now in Phone 526-3."

The same evening he obtained seven replies and the next day 15 more calls were made at his home in regard to the ad.

Mr. Sackett, for a few cents, was able to rent his home satisfactorily. He was so pleased with the results he obtained that he sent the following communication to The Herald today:

Box 1006 Sanford, Fla. January 12, 1937.

"Mr. Roland Dean, Editor, Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla.

Dear Mr. Dean:— Just a word of appreciation to The Herald's Advertising Dept. On Friday, January 8th I inserted an ad to rent my home, by seven o'clock that evening we had had seven inquiries and the next day, Saturday, we received fifteen more. The house has been satisfactorily rented and I would appreciate your withdrawing the ad today, so that we may have time to attend to our packing instead of answering the phone.

Very Truly Yours, (Signed) The Rev. Milton B. Sackett.

Do you have an apartment to rent? Or something to sell? Is there something you desire to buy at a reasonable price? Do you want to hire someone? If so, you can get the same results Mr. Sackett obtained, at a cost of but a few cents. Just call 148 and have The Herald classified department insert an ad for you.

Young O'Neill, In State School, Follows Father

Son Of Famed Author Does Editorials In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Cader Shane O'Neill, 19, is his father's son, but he wants to get along in the writing game strictly on his own.

Unaffected by the Nobel literary award recently given Playwright Eugene O'Neill, he plugs away at his job as editor-in-chief of the Florida Military Academy bi-weekly, "The Bomb," writing editorials, planning make-ups, and working his fellow reporters like a hard-balled city editor.

Shane is the son of O'Neill's second wife the former Agnes Hamilton. O'Neill is now married to Carlotta Monterey, former actress.

The boy would like to enter newspaper work when he leaves military school, but after that he isn't planning far ahead. He just wants things to work themselves out. Already he is making an effort to develop an imaginative eye for writing.

For instance, this sample taken from a recent by-lined article in "The Bomb":

"He crept by the headmaster's house, and his shadow jerked along as if undecided whether or not to accompany him."

Shane is proudest of his contribution to "The Tower," a new campus magazine, on "A Private's Thoughts on Parade"—the winning mental comment of a new rank private during the battalion's full dress parade.

Last year the young journalist was associate editor of "The Digest," academy annual, and so in line for a key appointment on the publication for 1934-37. He is a member of the Quill and Gavel, national honor society for high school journalists.

A senior at the academy O'Neill has been writing constantly on school publications, but so far has done nothing for use outside.

Already he has shown a keen interest for the legitimate stage, pays scant attention to the movies. He attends the theater at every opportunity.

He is sergeant-major of the cadet battalion highest non-commissioned officer in the school.

Progress Is Tough On Tobacco Spitting

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Progress has wrecked the fine art of tobacco spitting in the state capitol here.

Texas statesmen-marksmen formerly could tetter the low old-fashioned cuspidors with a perfect arc of plug cut shot from a distance of ten paces.

Now the cuspidors have been replaced by tall tubular receivers filled with white sand. They help the most expert marksmen because he finds the "angle of incidence" much smaller. There is also less protection from ricocheting.

Riots Of Strikers Bring Out Guards To Maintain Order

DETROIT, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Strike riots at Flint in which more than a score of men were injured today resulted in emergency mobilization of several national guard units and a declaration by Governor Frank Murphy that the State will act "for maintenance of public order."

The United Automobile Workers of America, the union directing strikes against General Motors Corporation, charged Flint police were on the scene with guns and tear gas "long before any trouble started, holding themselves in readiness for a moment before any moment when a company of guards would provoke trouble as they had been instructed to do."

Sitdown strikers have held the Flint plant and five other General Motors plants since Dec. 31. So far settlement negotiations failed.

One hundred and twelve thousand workers have been thrown out of jobs.

Rivers Takes Post As Georgia Governor Succeeding Talmadge

ATLANTA, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Eugene Talmadge as governor of Georgia today promising a "new deal for Georgia" while the fiery Talmadge, opponent of President Roosevelt's administration, retired to the life of a farmer and country editor.

Rivers, 41-year-old Lakeland, Ga., attorney and former Speaker of the House of Representatives, promised "humanitarian" legislation by a friendly law-making body which opened a session today.

Talmadge was beaten in the September primary when he ran for the United States Senate against Senator Richard B. Russell, Jr., former governor.

Cockfighting was legalized by the Puerto Rico legislature in 1933 after being outlawed 29 years.

Strain In Europe Is Relaxed By New Conference

France, Germany See 'Lasting Accord' After Negotiations

PARIS, Jan. 12.—(AP)—In a sudden breaking of the acute tension which has beset Europe since before Christmas, France and Germany were reported today to be negotiating a vast accord in "full and lasting settlement" of difficulties.

Ambassadors of both countries returned to their capitals bearing circles said signalled overtures for a broad economic and political agreement.

The first break came in Berlin where Hitler and the French ambassador exchanged mutual assurances of territorial integrity for Spain.

The Foreign Office kept a watchful eye on the Moroccan situation, however, despite Hitler's assurance which is considered proof that France and England, through close co-operation, could prevent Nazi coups.

Inspector Paxton blasted a theory that the flies probably originated in garbage cans here, since he pointed out the cycle of a fly's life is ten days, whereas Sanford refuse is collected several times within that period.

Consequently, he maintains, there is insufficient time for maturing.

It has been proposed that garbage receptacles be sprayed with a thin film of old motor oil or kerosene, and that the same treatment be applied wherever any great quantity of citrus hulls are deposited.

Indignation of Golden Lake residents was aroused recently when trucks, hauling hulls from a drunkenness, yesterday entered a cal factory, dropped refuse on the highway, creating a traffic nuisance as well as a breeding place for the pest.

The indignation was climaxed by the appearance of 20 citizens before the County Commission with a request that something be done in regard to the condition.

The Board of Directors of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce will hold their first meeting of 1937 at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Chamber building, President T. E. Simpson announced today.

The weather: Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday, occasional light showers on extreme southeast coast and Florida Keys, mild temperatures. Extreme Northwest Florida: partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday.

PLAN CHANGE IN EXECUTIVE UNIT OF U. S.

(Continued from page one) an independent auditor for the vacant post of comptroller general, with the attorney general passing on legality of Government expenditures; strengthening and expanding of the Budget Bureau and planning personnel services to make them "effective managerial arms" for the President; changing the name of the Department of Interior to the Department of Conservation.

Although the committee predicted some saving in money, time and effort, it was said the proposed reorganization had but "one grand purpose, namely, to make democracy work today in our national Government."

A lighter (arrow) is shown taking crates airplanes to the docked ship. Meanwhile, Richard L. Dineley (left) of San Francisco came to Washington and obtained license to export about $4,500,000 worth of planes, machine guns and ammunition to the loyalists. (Associated Press Photos)

'ALL'S QUIET ON THE FRONT IN AUTO STRIKE

While union leaders, plant executives and federal conciliators considered means for ending the strike of General Motors Corporation workers in many cities, life went on in rather prosaic manner on the front lines in at least two strike zones. A. L. Smith, one of the "sit down" strikers at the GMC plant in Atlanta, Ga., used his leisure to give a haircut to B. O. Crisp, a fellow-striker. And at Flint, Mich., two of the strikers, sitting it out in the plant of the Fisher Body company, pitched in for a session of potato peeling in the kitchen maintained by their union. Washington Stirred Over New Program

Reorganization Plan Proposed By President Is Cause Of Many Arguments

House Committee Studies Relief

Senate Resumes Inquiry Into Operation Of Rails

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's government reorganization plan occasioned arguments today throughout the capital which for the first time this season turned with Congress' manifold activities.

With most of the organization preliminaries over, committees began studying legislation.

A House group took up the President's request for a $790,000,000 relief fund and the Senate inquiry into financing of the Van Sweringen's railroads was resumed.

The principal topic was the President's proposal to place 100 odd Government agencies under 12 cabinet departments, but virtually all Federal workers under civil service and supplant an independent comptroller-general with an auditor.

Administration leaders hailed the projected changes as bringing efficiency to Government but Republicans and some Democrats were quick to voice objections.

Gasoline Station Blaze Endangers Lives Of Several

Several persons at the Market Filling Station on Thirteenth Street early today narrowly escaped serious injury and probable death when a lighted match was dropped near a gasoline storage tank which burst into flames.

Fire Chief Mack Cleveland explained that no explosion resulted from the careless act because the station tank was almost filled for liquid fuel, leaving no space in which fuel vapors might ignite.

An unidentified youth, who fled when flames erupted from the tank ventilator, dropped the match, the chief reported.

Gasoline spilled on the ground and some covering the intake pipe burst into flame. Chief Cleveland said the fire occurred while a gasoline truck was filling the station's reserve tank. The vehicle was immediately removed. No one was injured.

New Employees Were Named By Majority Vote Of Commission

For the information of taxpayers and citizens who apparently are unfamiliar with the business routine of County Commission meetings, The Herald was informed this morning that no County employee could be removed from office except by a majority vote of the Commission.

"The actual election of all new employees," D. L. Thresher stated this morning, "was the result of a majority vote of the Commission in a secret ballot."

An accompanying map shows the position of Sanford in the State.

New Girl Scout Officers Active In Year's Posts

Four Officials Formally Introduced At Annual Session In Little House; Crowd Is Entertained

Four new officers of the Seminole County Girl Scout Council were actively engaged in their new duties today following an official and formal introduction at the unit's annual meeting in the Little House Monday night.

Mrs. P. M. King is the new commissioner, Mrs. S. J. McInnes, deputy commissioner; Mrs. J. P. Hall, secretary; and Mrs. W. E. Goetz, treasurer.

Featured speaker of the yearly session was W. E. Brown of Atlanta, noted bird photographer, who illustrated his lecture with motion pictures of wild life taken at Camp Manywings near Grand Island in this State.

Thrown onto the silver screen were events which have attracted the interest of bird lovers throughout the entire United States.

The Rev. Martin J. Hram acted as master of ceremonies and welcomed Girl Scouts and their friends. Part of the evening was occupied by playing games, mass singing and a winner roast.

Mrs. C. Russell Mason, retiring commissioner, was presented a "thanks badge" in appreciation for her service. She made an annual report on the activities of Girl Scouts in the County, showing considerable progress made.

Cone Undecided About Extending License Period

No indication had been received at noon today that Governor Cone will extend beyond Friday the date of expiration for 1936 automobile license plates, Tax Collector Jno. D. Jenkins said this afternoon.

As the deadline for the purchase of 1937 tags approached, the license department of Mr. Jenkins' office felt a decided stimulation in business and frequently a short line of customers extended into the Court House lobby.

Law-enforcement units of the State have orders to crack down on all license law violators after Friday, provided the chief executive of Florida does not see fit to grant an extension to the nearly-expired 15 days of grace.

County Commission Assembles Thursday

County Commissioners will convene for a special meeting at 10 A. M. tomorrow, Clerk O. P. Herndon said this afternoon.

Chamber Will Support Two Explorer Dies From Injuries Of Air Crash

Committee To Probe Possibility For Obtaining Auto Trailer Camp Here

Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors last night endorsed the proposed project of locating a trailer camp on the site of the old Sanford collection.

It was explained that the officials will make a formal move to approach John Sanford for the purpose of securing a fire-proof library in which to house the old Sanford collection.

It was also explained that John Sanford is not a descendant or heir of the general, as was stated, yesterday and the library is actually in the possession of the general's two daughters in Derby, Conn.

John Sanford is a wealthy cousin of the City's founder and has made a life's hobby of establishing libraries. It is believed that he would be interested in the erection of a building here to house the valuable books and other works of art once owned by the general.

Future Farmers Seeking National Honors In '37

Program Embodies Eight Principal Phases; Local Unit Ranks High In Capturing State Awards

Sanford's chapter of Future Farmers of America were concentrating today on a program which they hope will bring them recognition as number one chapter of 1937 in the United States.

A first prize of $400 is awaiting members to completion of a plan embodying eight principal phases, each of which is sub-divided into numerous activities practically covering the field of agriculture.

The chief divisions of the program are as follows: (1) supervised practice, (2) cooperative activities, (3) community service, (4) leadership activities, (5) earnings and savings, (6) conduct of meetings, (7) scholarship, and (8) recreation.

Of the entire group, co-operative activities and community service were described as the most important by Alex R. Johnson, director of the local chapter.

In item number two are included selling activities, productive activities, service organization activities and co-operation with the school board in building a combination farm shop classroom and a chapter room building.

Item three includes farm practice improvement, conservation activities and beautification activities.

Another principal goal of the Sanford unit is to show a ten percent increase in membership over the past year.

Explorer Dies From Injuries Of Air Crash

Martin Johnson Meets Death In California; Is Second Fatality Of Wreck

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Martin Johnson, noted explorer, died today of injuries suffered in yesterday's Western Air Express crash, the second fatality of the wreck.

Johnson, president of the Los Angeles company, died when the plane pancaked on a mountain side 15 miles from Union Air Terminal, its destination, at Burbank on a flight from Salt Lake City.

Co-pilot Clifford P. Owens and A. L. Loomis of Omaha, Neb., a passenger, were critically hurt, but none of those riding in the big all-metal craft escaped without some injury.

Mrs. Osa Johnson, the explorer's wife suffered concussion and a fractured right knee.

The government began inquiries to determine the cause of the crash.

It was the fifth major airliner accident in the United States in the past 30 days.

W. W. Lewis, pilot, and stewardess Esther Jo Conner were not seriously hurt.

Inspectors Urges Citizens Cautioned On Tossing Fruit

Where Favorable Breeding Places Are

Inspector Paxton today advised that Sanford citizens spray all garbage cans with Kerosene as an effort toward the control and eradication of tiny pest flies, a current nuisance.

He said that while refuse is collected several times each week, some garbage inevitably will stick in the container and provide a breeding place for the insects.

It was further urged that caution be taken in regard to tossing away citrus fruits, citrus fruit hulls, and vegetables, because the pest flies will breed in anything sour.

Fresh fruits are not conducive to propagation of the insects, he continued, but may attract them. He asserted a belief that the pests were not bred at local canning plants since only fresh fruit is in evidence, however, he said, the flies may follow bull-hauling trucks to favorable breeding places.

Inspector Paxton recently ordered the sweeping of a local street used by the trucks. Hundreds of flies had fallen to the pavement and were allowed to remain there until the health inspector took action. The condition no longer exists.

Mr. Paxton declared that it was vitally necessary for citizens to cooperate in the project if the City would be free from the small pests which apparently disregard screen wire, regardless of its fitness.

A tour of inspection of likely breeding places was on the inspector's schedule for today.

Commissioners Will Discuss Proposed Water Plant Changes

City Commissioners are slated to confer tomorrow night on probable changes to make toward improving facilities at the local waterplant.

Suggested plans have been submitted by a waterworks engineer and have been the object of considerable study by members of the club.

The power problem apparently is receiving the greatest attention, and indications are that any plans for the betterment of public service will be started around the power units and pumps.

Commissioners have studied the proposed change with an eye to the future demands for water as the city grows. The program would embody phases that could be added as the necessity arises.

Wilcox Asserts Little Hope In Tarriff Release

Cuban Pact Considered As Big Achievement

Vegetable growers in Seminole County and in Florida today were warned by Congressman J. Mark Wilcox that "President Roosevelt probably would not consent to an abrogation of the local low tariff agreement with Cuba" the Associated Press reported from Washington.

The Floridian has arranged a hearing on Jan. 22 before the State Department's Committee for Reciprocity Information on the effect of the agreement in the Florida Vegetable sections.

Wilcox said in a prepared statement, however, the committee was only a "fact-finding body" and could make no decisions.

"It is not going to be any easy matter," the representative said, "to secure modifications of the Cuban trade agreement. The President regards this and other treaties as among his major accomplishments and it is not likely that he will consent to their abrogation."

He said 17 Florida growers and shippers had agreed to attend the hearing.

The present three-year treaty with Cuba expires this year, Wilcox said his purpose for asking for the hearing was to place before the State Department data on the agreement to be used in any new one the Department decides to establish.

It is explained that while Cuban production and imports are no serious threat to Central Florida vegetable growers, the existing low tariff agreement tends to limit the price which may be called for by local agriculturalists.

Checking And Saving Accounts Higher; More Demand Felt For Sound Loans

Shinholser Named President Again

By PAT PATTERSON
Deposits of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank in 1936 showed an increase of almost a quarter of a million dollars over those recorded at this time last year, President S. O. Shinholser reported yesterday at the annual meeting of the financial institution's stockholders.

At the same time the president announced that 669 new checking accounts and 330 new saving accounts had been received in the past 12 months of operation.

These figures, it was pointed out, indicated a wider distribution of money which tends to give current finances to a greater percentage of the population.

The president also reported that loans and discounts showed a satisfactory increase over last year. He added that officials had noted a greater demand for sound loans.

Actual progress by the bank was recorded during the year and the period of operation, as a whole, was successful, according to the president.

Make Final Plans For Benefit Dance At Mayfair Hotel

Final plans for the President's Ball to be held at the Mayfair Hotel on Jan. 30 will be made tonight at a general committee meeting in the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce building at 7:30 o'clock.

Important on the business schedule is the distribution of tickets which will be sold for $1 each to raise funds for combating infantile paralysis.

R. L. Glenn, chairman of the committee, has pointed out that persons not planning to attend the dance should subscribe to the 25-cent service offered by Postal Telegraph and forward the President a birthday greeting.

He said the communication company had donated its facilities to the endeavor, and that all collections will be turned into the same fund as receipts from the social affair.

Friday Final Date To File Application For Farm Payments

Friday is the final day on which County Farm Agent C. R. Dawson will accept application for payments under the 1936 soil conservation program, the farm office announced today.

Despite personal letters and other efforts to expedite the returns of the forms, nearly 50 have not been returned to the office of origin in the Court House.

Mr. Dawson said under no conditions will the applications be returnable after Friday.

He pointed out that the approach of the 1937 soil conservation program, to be outlined soon, makes it necessary that the '36 plan be entirely completed.
