City Pool Plans Progressing ... But Prospects For Agreement With Airport Authority Dim

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford city commissioners will meet with airport authority board members on Tuesday, although it does not appear likely commissioners will come away from the session with an agreement from the authority to allow the airport's pool to be used as a municipal swim center.

Meanwhile, the city's planning department is proceeding with a survey of a potential site for construction of a pool as part of an overall effort to identify Sanford's present and anticipated recreation needs.

The 200 acre site being looked at lies just east of the Sanford city limits, 420 yards south of 25th Street, north of the airport. It is privately owned, and asking price per acre is approximately $5,500, Sanford Parks and Recreation Department Director Jim Jernigan said. It would have to be annexed if purchased by the city.

The city's recreation needs study is a requirement for compliance with comprehensive plan updates it must present to the state by Oct. 1989.

Possible transformation of the airport's pool into a municipal swim facility was first raised by commissioners last winter and followed-up with their extending an invitation to the authority for discussion of the proposal.

The authority has responded by setting up Tuesday's session, although City Commissioner and Airport Authority member John Mercer said today the meeting is not an indication the authority has changed its position in opposition to the pool proposal.

The airport's aviation director, the authority's chairman, and its attorney have all expressed opposition to the proposal. They cite dangers to youngsters who may stray from the pool area into nearby industrial complexes on airport property and adverse impacts a municipal swim facility would have on the airport's insurance rates.

In addition to the pool proposal, areas of mutual concern will be addressed at the joint-meeting. City Manager Frank Falson said. The session will be held at the Airport Restaurant at noon, Tuesday.

Construction of a pool could result from the survey city planners are conducting at the 200 acre site off 25th Street.

When directing staff to look at the site, commissioners requested information regarding how much land would be necessary for development of a comprehensive center, how much the land would cost, and whether a pool could be a part of the municipal package.

Staff has expounded upon commissioners' instructions by studying the site as one aspect of an overall effort the city must undertake to identify and address Sanford's present and future recreational needs, to comply with state comprehensive land use plan requirements, said Sanford Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons.

He said the information commissioners requested will be provided to them within the next month, and that this data will be added to other recreational need studies the city has now moved up to enable earlier than anticipated completion of the comprehensive plan's recreation survey requirement.

Tied into both the comprehensive plan recreation element and possible city department service expansions is planners' survey of the open field off U.S. Highway 17-92, across from the Sanford Middle School.

The site is owned by the Seminole County School Board, which has identified

Teacher Salary Talks Take Step

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Bargainers representing Seminole County teachers in 1986-87 contract talks asked the school board negotiating team for teacher pay raises of between 13 and 20 percent when talks opened a month ago.

The school board offered no increase Monday in the base pay, and increases of between four and eight percent for veteran teachers based on years of service and education.

"This is only their first step," said Marshall Ogletree, executive director of the Seminole Education Association, the county's teacher's union. "We know there is more money allocated."

"We're not discouraged," he continued, "but their proposal could have reflected more dollars initially. This is similar to their initial proposal last year, but the tone is better. They are concerned about the career teacher."

Chief school board negotiator Ernest Cowley said, "We'll take negotiations step by step. The SEA will make their counteroffer next."

"Last year we raised the base for all employees by 4 percent, and raised the beginning teacher six percent more," Cowley said. That is an annual base pay rate of $15,116. Veteran teachers would move up one step on the pay rate schedule, and realize raises of between four and eight percent.

Cowley explained, "Last year, a third year teacher with a bachelor's degree drew a salary of $15,971. We propose that be increased by four percent to $16,542. A teacher on contract last year in their tenth year will move into another (pay scale) lane, and would have earned $20,107. We're proposing $21,247. A 15-year teacher with a bachelor's degree was being paid $23,529, and we're proposing an eight percent increase to $24,670."

Ogletree said, "These are the pay increases the board agreed to pay last year. Cowley said, "We propose to continue those increases. We could have proposed not to continue them. That's what makes it negotiable."

An unknown variable to the negotiation scheme is how much additional money the school board has set aside for teacher salary increases. Instructional salaries for teachers and teachers aides amount to $47.3 million, with another $10.7 million budgeted for benefits, according to Carey E. Ferrell, county schools superintendent for business and finance.

4 Busted In Phony Drug Deal

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Four Seminole County men, who allegedly turned the tables on an undercover lawman, threatened to kill him and tried to rob him of $48,000, earmarked to pay for two kilograms of cocaine from the four, have been arrested.

The suspects met the Drug Enforcement Agency agent at the Quality Inn, State Road 434 in Longwood at about 12:30 a.m. Wednesday. In previous Seminole County meetings on July 22, 24 and 29, the agent reported he struck a deal with the suspects and had agreed to pay $48,000 for two kilograms of cocaine.

When the suspects met with the agent for the last time, the agent reported they opened a suitcase presented by two of the men that was supposed to contain the promised cocaine, but it only held a bed sheet and a weight, the report said.

The agent asked about the cocaine and one of the suspects reportedly said they were just testing to see if he was a cop. They left the room and met with the two other suspects at their car. They talked for a few minutes and then the four men returned to the room, the report said.

The four blocked the room door and the agent asked if they were going to rob him. One of the suspects reportedly said yes. He asked if he could leave and one of the suspects reportedly said, "Don't let him leave or ... anything until we get the money."

They allegedly threatened to kill the agent and he begged for his life. The agent told the suspects the cash wasn't in a box in the room as he had previously said, but was in the trunk of his car.

One of the suspects took the keys to the car and started to leave. When he opened the room door other agents stepped in. In a scuffle one of the suspects allegedly grabbed by the neck the agent who had been posing as a drug buyer.

That suspect, Mark Anthony Thomas, 21, of 629 Sprucewood Circle, Altamonte Springs, was charged with battery on a policeman in addition to conspiracy to commit robbery, and false imprisonment.

Also facing conspiracy and false imprisonment charges are: Henry Lavern Hayward, 21, of 107 Cory Lane, Winter Springs; Juah Picldio Rivera, 22, of 1696 Sunset Drive, Longwood; and Dennis Michael Stelling, 19, of Orlando.

All were being held without bond.

According to arrest records Stelling is a dancer at Rosey O'Grady's in Orlando; Hayward is a meat cutter for Piggly Wiggly; Thomas is an Orlando Sea World warehouse worker; and Rivera is unemployed.

The agent, who is also a Seminole County sheriff's deputy, reported first meeting Rivera at Denny's on State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs on July 22, where they reportedly talked about a cocaine buy. On July 24 the agent had further discussions with Rivera and Stelling and on Tuesday they reportedly met again at the motel and agreed to the deal, according to investigators.

After the agreement was reportedly made, other agents followed Rivera and Stelling from the motel to Thomas' home, where Thomas and Hayward joined them to return to the motel where the theft attempt and threats were allegedly made and the agent was held against his will, the report said.

The four were scheduled for initial court appearances this afternoon.

USFL Wins A Buck, Not A Billion

By Corlisse Anderson

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal jury's compromise gave the United States Football League a moral $1 victory instead of the nearly $1.7 billion it sought, leaving the future of the league in doubt, and created confusion over the damages.

After 31 hours of often stormy deliberations during five days, the five-woman, one-man panel Tuesday found the National Football League had monopolized pro football, but awarded the USFL $1 in damages, which would be tripled under antitrust law.

The jurors "were sending out a signal, a very clear signal," NFL co-counsel Frank Rothman said. "They were saying to the other side, 'How dare you!'"

But USFL attorney Harvey Myerson said he would ask U.S. District Judge Peter Leisure to consider comments made by some jurors that indicated they had been confused by his instructions and might have wanted to give Leisure the option of awarding higher damages.

Attorneys were to meet today with Leisure to discuss post-trial motions. The jurors were deadlocked with three in favor of the USFL and three supporting the NFL. To break the tie, they compromised and ruled the NFL was guilty of monopolizing football, but awarded the USFL just $1, said juror Miriam Sanchez.

She said the jury was under the impression that the court could raise the damages.

Sanchez said deliberations at times became so heated she screamed.

"It was very emotional deliberations," Sanchez said. "At one point, another juror slammed a book down on a table. I'm afraid I lost control a couple of times. I didn't see how people could not believe the USFL."

Questions about the USFL — which was to play its first fall schedule this year after three spring seasons — and whether to appeal will be taken up Aug. 6 at an owners' meeting in New York. USFL Commissioner Harry Usher said.

Donald Trump, owner of the USFL's showcase franchise, the New Jersey Generals, had testified that the 4-year-old league, which once had 18 teams and now has only eight, would not survive without a substantial award.

"It's very disappointing," Usher said. "The finding was they (the NFL) acted in a predatory, monopolistic manner, and they gave us $1."

The USFL, which sought damages that could have totaled $1.69 billion, claimed the NFL interfered with its efforts to obtain a television contract for the fall by exerting pressure on network executives and tried to ruin the league by coopting its owners and luring away its players.

The NFL denied it tried to harm the younger league or influence the networks and said

State Lottery Nears OK For Ballot

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A state-run lottery to fund education was apparently boosted onto the November ballot by central Florida voters Tuesday whose signatures helped exceed the required number of petitioning voters as required by law.

Central Florida petitions carried enough voter signatures to Tallahassee to exceed the required 342,939 signatures by 11,214 votes. It was one of two Florida constitutional hurdles members of EXCEL, Excellence Campaign: An Educational Lottery, had to clear.

EXCEL, led by Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington, has been collecting signatures since July 1985 to put the issue on the ballot. The purpose of the drive is to let the voters decide whether they want a statewide lottery to help fund the education system in Florida. Studies indicate that about 70 percent of the voters would approve of such a lottery.

The move however is opposed by various groups who are against gambling.

Frank Mirabella, executive director of EXCEL was unavailable for comment and said through an aide that he would not comment on the apparent success until a possible news conference late today. Turlington was also unavailable for comment.

While the lottery move has voter support, educators in Seminole County do not seem to be behind the action.

"We feel very strong that the lottery with projections presently presented will not be the sure-all for education's needs in Florida," said Karen Coleman, spokesman for the Seminole County School Board which has not taken an official stand on the issue.

"There is the concern that there might be the perception that the lottery will take care of all of education's needs and the projections simply do not indicate that," she said.

While EXCEL has officially met the signature requirement — getting 8 percent of the registered voter amount in the last presidential election — they have unofficially not collected signatures in enough (10) of Florida's 19 congressional districts to get on the ballot. Unofficially Tuesday, checks with local supervisors of election indicated that the group had also met that requirement and

Suspect Charged In 10 Burglaries

A 22-year-old Winter Park man who allegedly burglarized 10 homes in his Slovak Garden and Eastbrook subdivision neighborhood has been charged with armed burglary, nine counts of burglary and 10 counts of grand theft.

Between April 18 and July 14, the suspect allegedly took items with a total value of over $14,000 from the victim's homes on Stefanik Road, Jergo Road, Kuzmany Road and Althena Drive near Winter Park.

Among the items stolen were jewelry, cash, photo gear, guitars, televisions, video recorders, and a microwave oven, a sheriff's report said. A shotgun was reportedly taken from one home, but left in the yard.

Diesel Spill Disrupts Rush Hour Traffic

A northbound lane on Sanford Avenue, from Wylly to Mattie Street, was closed to rush hour traffic for two-and-a-half hours Monday morning while firemen worked to clear 60 gallons of diesel fuel that spilled onto it from the tank of a jack-knifed Cardinal Industries truck.

The truck was reportedly heading south on Sanford Avenue towards Cardinal, although it ended up in a north-bound lane, extensively damaged, after its driver took evasive action to avoid hitting a car that had hesitated while crossing the road's 27th Street intersection, Sanford police said.

The truck's driver, James Langford, 30, Rt.3, Box 353A,

Sanford, was not injured, nor were any of the drivers of the northbound cars which also had to take evasive action when the truck crossed into their lane, Sanford Patrolman Rick Poovey said.

The vehicle cited as having caused the accident left the scene, although Poovey said its owner has been identified through a license plate number witnesses provided. He also said charges involving leaving the scene of an accident with damage and violation of the right of way are being considered.

The 7:30 a.m. incident left diesel fuel pouring along 75-yards of roadway, rush hour drivers contending with a closed traffic lane and firemen initially scratching their heads about how to expedite clean-up, Sanford Fire Chief Tom Hickson said.

Hickson said after survey of the roadway, it was determined clean-up would be undertaken with a combined effort on the part of firemen, police, the Sanford public works department and a private petroleum company.

While police directed traffic, firemen contained the spill with a dike and the Seminole County Petroleum Company then piped the fuel out and carted it away, Hickson said.

Diesel residue on the roadway was then covered over with sand brought in by the Sanford public works department, he said.

Meet Me At The Park

"In a single month our new hot water system saves enough money to pay for three months of outdoor lighting. But it was FPL who told us about it."

And for good reason. FPL is encouraging everybody to manage their energy efficiently because lowering peak energy demand delays the need for new power plants — an expense everyone must share.

A heat-recovery water heating system takes exhausted heat from your central air conditioning system or heat pump and uses it to heat your water. And it can cut your water heating costs up to 50%. The best time to have it installed is when you get a new air-conditioning system or when you service your existing one.

To encourage you to make this energy-saving improvement, we'll even pay part of the cost. But first, we'll send an energy specialist to your home to see if a heat-recovery unit is right for you.

To find out how to qualify for a cash incentive and to get more information on energy management, call our 24-hour toll free number, 1-800-821-7700.

Turn Simple Baked Chicken Into Classic French Entree

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

The ubiquitous chicken appears on American tables in many ways — roasted, broiled, fried and barbecued. A classic method of preparing the economical bird and turning it into a party dish is to prepare a French specialty such as coq au vin or its cousin coq au riesling from the Alsace region. These are dishes normally sampled in restaurants in America, but are easy to prepare in the home.

Flavor is enhanced when the vegetables are sauteed in bacon drippings and the bird flamed in brandy as in coq au vin. The Alsatian bird is simmered in white wine with lemon juice and mushrooms and finished with heavy cream and nutmeg. The key ingredient in both is wine, such as the light red Burgundy for coq au vin or Riesling for coq au riesling. The alcohol is cooked off, leaving the essence of the wines. Although cider may be substituted, the result is not a traditionally flavored dish.

COQ AU VIN
1 roasting chicken, about 6 pounds
Salt and pepper
6 slices bacon, chopped
2 tablespoons butter
24 peeled small white onions
2 carrots, chopped
1 cup chopped celery and leaves
¼ cup Armagnac or cider
1 teaspoon fines herbs
3 cups dry red wine or cider
Flour
1 can (20-30 count) mushrooms
2 tablespoons each chopped chives and parsley

Sprinkle chicken inside and out with salt and pepper. In skillet, fry bacon in butter until crisp. Remove crisp pieces. Brown chicken on all sides in hot drippings. Add onions, carrots, celery; saute for 5 minutes. Pour Armagnac over chicken and set aflame. (Do not flame cider.) Place chicken and contents of skillet into heat-proof casserole dish. Add fines herbs and wine. Cover and bake in preheated 350-degree oven for 2 hours or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken to serving platter and keep warm.

Skim fat from juice in casserole. Pour juices into saucepan and thicken with flour mixed with water. Stir in mushrooms, chives and parsley. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour sauce over chicken and serve sprinkled with crisp bacon. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 6 servings.

COQ AU RIESLING
1 chicken, about 3 pounds, quartered
Salt and pepper
¼ cup butter
6 shallots, minced
¼ cup Armagnac or cider
1 cup Alsace Riesling or cider
1 can (20-30 count) mushrooms
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup (½ pint) heavy cream
Dash nutmeg
Sprinkle chicken pieces with salt and pepper. Heat butter, and brown chicken pieces on all sides. Add shallots and saute for 5 minutes. Pour Armagnac over chicken and set aflame. (Do not flame cider.)
Add Riesling, mushrooms and lemon juice. Cover and simmer for 45 to 50 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken pieces to platter and keep warm.

Coq Au Vin makes an easy party dish.

Boil pan juices until reduced to one-half original volume. Skim excess fat. Stir in cream and nutmeg. Heat until bubbly and season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour sauce over chicken and serve at once. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 4 servings.

Italian Cuisine Takes High Road For Famous Chef

By JOHN DEMERS
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Restaurateur Tony May knew he needed an international food celebrity to introduce "alta cucina" to America — a chef associated with the highest levels of cooking for the highest levels of people.

In Andrea Hellrigl, he found his man.

May transported Hellrigl from the legendary Villa Mozart in the Dolomites of northern Italy, rubbed out centuries of Italian-Austrian interaction by renaming his find "Andrea da Merano" and set him up to work his magic in a Manhattan palace called Palio.

"New York is no American city," Hellrigl said, basking in the opportunity to let his imagination flow and the near-certainty his customers can afford the finished product. "It's an international city, the capital of the world."

It is clear from the moment one enters Palio that little less than an international capital could support such an investment.

The newest restaurant in the Equitable Center, Palio backs Hellrigl's mastery with an expansive mural by world-ranked artist Sandro Chia, a graceful bar of polished marble and a second-story dining room that seats 120.

For Hellrigl, however, the food is always what matters most — along with the mission he has accepted at Villa Mozart and at Palio, adding a whole new level at the top of Italian cuisine.

"I have respect for the products," said Hellrigl, seeking to define the essence of his technique. "Potatoes or lobster or goose liver, for me it is all the same."

"This is cooking, and cooking is organizing. In my own head, I must see every step I'm going to take. Just because I'm using the best products on the market doesn't mean I'm wasting anything. I think it's important to use the product in many ways with imagination while giving the customer the best."

If all this sounds a little familiar, Hellrigl certainly would not deny the relationship of his own cookery to the "nouvelle" revolution sparked in France in recent years by the Troisgros brothers and other chefs.

The innovation is applying this thinking to Italian food, which restaurateurs and diners alike are increasingly working to rescue from an undesired inferiority complex.

"Alta cucina," of course, is Italian for "haute cuisine" — a statement in itself that this ancient style of preparation must take a backseat to no one and nothing when it comes to marrying tastes and textures.

A fresh awareness of presentation also is working its way into the picture, freeing Hellrigl from traditional images of pasta mountains covered with red sauce. His plates are likely to be edible works of art, carefully maneuvered zones of ingredients arranged in the most eye-catching manner imaginable.

"I continually experiment, waking up in the middle of the night with some new idea to try in the morning," said Hellrigl. "My life is the kitchen and the people who eat the food I cook. If someone says he doesn't like what I've prepared, I must know why."

But complaints have been few and far between since Hellrigl left the Italian town of Alto Adige near the Swiss-Austrian border and went to Switzerland to begin his training at age 14. His hard work continued through hotel kitchens in Munich, Rome, Venice and finally the mountain resort town of Merano.

The chef gained world recognition for his life's work in 1985, when he prepared two oversized menus for the heads of state of the European Common Market.

The event, which generated global press coverage, was held in Milan's historic Castello Sforzesco — a place perfect to launch a movement that just might change the way the world thinks of Italian food.

INVOLTINI OF SALMON WITH OLIVE SAUCE AND SPINACH

Olive Sauce:
6 sun-dried tomato halves in oil, about 1/3 cup
2/3 bottled black olive paste (found in gourmet shops)
1 Tbsp pink peppercorns
1 tsp Balsamic vinegar
½ cup olive oil
Salmon and Spinach:
3 pounds fresh spinach
1 pound whole fillet of salmon
¼ cup olive oil
½ cup white wine
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

To prepare the sauce, slice the tomatoes lengthwise into thin strips and then crosswise to produce small squares. Combine all the ingredients for the sauce and stir to blend.

To assemble the rest of the dish, soak the spinach in cold water to remove dirt. Remove the stems. Cook spinach in boiling water for 1 or 2 minutes, until it is soft but still emerald green. Drain and rinse in cold water, or plunge into ice water to set color.

Preheat oven to 500 degrees. Slice the salmon diagonally, as if cutting smoked salmon, making the pieces about three-eighths of an inch thick. Fold the right half of one piece toward and below the other half, to make a "7" shape. Fold the left half over to make a rough triangle. Repeat for each slice.

Put the oil and wine in a shallow, ovenproof casserole and add all the fish triangles in one layer. Heat over a medium flame, just until the liquid comes to a simmer.

Cover the casserole and heat in the oven for 4 minutes, then remove the casserole and let it sit covered for 1 minute. The salmon should be rare in the middle.

While the salmon is cooking, reheat the spinach briefly in a pan, adding a small amount of oil to prevent sticking. Add salt and pepper to taste, but remember the olive sauce is salty.

Put about half a cup of cooked spinach leaves on each plate. Arrange 2 salmon triangles over the spinach on each plate and spoon about half a teaspoon of olive sauce over each triangle. Serves 6.

Brownie Stuffed Pears cook in 12 minutes in the microwave.

Elegantly Presented Stuffed Pears Reflect Air Of Celebration

A Simple Dessert Gives Ordinary Meals

Microwave ovens are now in approximately 50 percent of U.S. households. But if you're one of the many who limit use of the microwave, you'll find cooking desserts in a microwave reliable and efficient.

Both desserts are convenient for today's lifestyle, and help contribute important nutrients to the daily diet which can be secondary to pressing careers. For instance, according to the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, apples, bananas and pears all contain potassium. These fruits are virtually sodium-free and, like all fresh fruits and vegetables, they do not contain any cholesterol.

Now in peak supply, use these fresh fruits to create tempting and economical desserts that are sure to fit into your schedule.

BROWNIE STUFFED PEARS

2 firm pears, pared, stems left on
1 fudgy brownie without frosting (about 3 ounces, 3x3 inches)
1 cup freshly squeezed orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Core the pears from the bottom; widen the cavity to about one inch in diameter. Cut brownie into small pieces; gently press half the pieces into the cavity of each pear. Stand pears upright in shallow microwave-safe dish; add orange juice and peel. Cover with plastic wrap, leaving one corner turned up. Cook on high 10-12 minutes, or until pears are tender, rotating dish halfway after the first five minutes. Remove pears to serving plate by lifting with a spatula. Combine sugar and cornstarch; stir into juice in baking dish. Cook on high 2-3 minutes until thickened; stir once during cooking time. Let stand 1 minute; pour over pears. Makes: 2 servings.

APPLE BANANA BETTY

2 tablespoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 large, firm banana, cut in 1-inch chunks
1 large, tart apple, cored, pared, sliced in ½-inch wedges
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
½ cup unsweetened wheat germ

In medium bowl combine lemon juice, brown sugar and cinnamon. Add banana and apple; toss well to coat. Divide mixture into two 10-ounce microwave-safe dishes. Place butter in a small microwave-safe bowl or cup; cook on high 20 seconds, or until melted. Stir in wheat germ; sprinkle over fruit. Cook on high, uncovered, 4-5 minutes until apples are just tender. Rotate dishes once during cooking time.

Let stand 1 minute. Serve hot or warm with vanilla ice cream, if desired. Serve immediately. Makes: 2 servings.

Save Some Summer With Jams

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Make use of summer's fruit bounty by putting up some freezer jams. Some require no cooking. These jams are softer in texture than cooked varieties and will keep up to three weeks in the refrigerator and one year in the freezer.

For a successful jam, always use the full amount of sugar called for in the recipe — and only prepare one batch at a time. Doubling or tripling the recipes upsets the ratios of ingredients and prevents jelly or jam from gelling properly.

For best results when making jams, always finely chop all fruits. Do not puree. Using pureed fruits for jams will add too much liquid and fruit for a good gel.

A time-saver is to freeze jams in zipper-top freezer bags and not bother with washing and sterilizing other containers.

HERBED PEACH JAM

1 cup mashed fresh unsweetened sliced peaches or nectarines (see note)
½ cup mashed fresh unsweetened whole strawberries (see note)
¾ cups sugar
1½ teaspoons dried rosemary leaves, finely crushed
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 pouch (3 ounces) liquid fruit pectin (not powdered)
5 freezer bags (pint size)

Have fruit at room temperature and put into bowl. Add sugar and rosemary to fruit; stir thoroughly. Let stand 10 minutes. Put lemon juice and pectin into small bowl; stir well. Stir into fruit and continue stirring for 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Immediately divide jam evenly in bags (about ¼ cup in each); seal. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours to set. Store bags in freezer. When ready to use, remove jam from bag, stir, and serve. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4½ cups jam.

NOTE: For 1 cup mashed peaches, measure 2 cups fresh sliced peaches, and mash. For ½ cup mashed strawberries, measure ¾ cup fresh unsweetened whole strawberries, and mash.

VARIATION: Ginger Peach Jam: Substitute 1 teaspoon finely chopped fresh ginger for dried rosemary leaves.

KIWIFRUIT JAM

1½ cups mashed peeled kiwi (6 or 7)
4 cups sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 pouch (3 ounces) liquid fruit pectin (not powdered)
5 freezer bags (pint size)

Have kiwi at room temperature and put into bowl. Add sugar and stir thoroughly. Let stand 10 minutes. Put lemon peel, lemon juice and pectin into small bowl; stir well. Stir into fruit and continue stirring 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Immediately divide jam evenly in bags (about 1 cup in each); seal. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours to set. Store bags in freezer. When ready to use, remove jam from bag, stir, and serve. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4½ cups jam.

MAKE small batches of peach-strawberry or kiwifruit jams and freeze for later use.

MERRY CHRISTMAS EVERYBODY!

ST. JOHNS NATURAL WATERWAY

WOODRUFF CALLED ATTENTION OF WATERWAYS COMMITTEE

The following from the Miami Herald gives the salient facts as presented by E. T. Woodruff, representing the Sanford Board of Trade at the meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors convention at Miami, at which meeting Mr. Woodruff was the only representative of Central Florida and the St. Johns route through Florida:

At Thursday evening's session of the Rivers and Harbors committee Mr. E. T. Woodruff of Sanford, representing the Boards of Trade of Central Florida, including Seminole and Orange, by courtesy of Chairman Small and the members, was given opportunity to address the committee.

In his appearance before the Atlantic Deepwaterways Association at convention hall and in the above committee room, Mr. Woodruff stated his deep regret that the committee and others found it impossible to accept the invitation of all Central Florida to, on their return northward, leave the train at New Smyrna, where automobiles were ready to take the party on a delightful trip through Orange and Seminole, alighting them at Sanford where they would be the guests of the Board of Trade, at which point a handsomely appointed private yacht would be in waiting to take them on a further delightful trip down the St. Johns northward over one of the two rivers of the world that flow northward, a daylight scenic trip to Jacksonville.

"Inasmuch as changing the train schedule is absolutely and irrevocably announced to be impossible by District Passenger Agent Hall, we thank you for the courtesy extended in granting me a few moments of your time. We regret exceedingly that you should return northward without a wider and more enlarged personal inspection of our most valuable and attractive water possibilities," said Mr. Woodruff.

"Our beautiful state of Florida is rich, not only in its citrus fruits and vegetables, its naval stores, its large and rapidly increasing stock raising industries, its vast commercial interests, its verdure, its flowers and its climate, but it is also rich in its waterway assets." Chief among the latter are our beautiful St. Johns and Indian rivers. You have only to connect these rivers by a short cut via Lake Harney, Salt Lake, Lakes Ruth and Shad to Titusville, in order to have a grand through Florida link of your great intra-coastal scheme. This route is the natural, scenic, economic, commercially and strategically important route. It is the natural route, because of its nature provided rivers and lakes. It is the scenic route, as you can only appreciate by a trip over the St. Johns. It is the economic route, in that the engineers estimated its cost at some millions of dollars less than any other route. It is the commercially important route, because ninety per cent of the population and area that will be benefited by a waterway north and south through Florida would be served by this route. It is the strategic route for reasons that, as you well know, are constantly and insistently urged by our naval and military experts. Against this route, some of the East Coast friends are making three objections. The first is, that St. Augustine, Daytona and New Smyrna want an all coast route. Opposed to this is the fact that all the lower East Coast, all below Titusville, would be equally served by any good and dependable waterway there would give them an outlet. Also opposed to this is the fact that the counties of Putnam, western Volusia, Seminole, Orange and others, in fact all Central Florida would be inestimably benefited by the St. Johns route, whereas the East Coast route would be of no benefit to them whatever. Some years ago the state of Florida contracted with a company to build a waterway past the doors of St. Augustine, Daytona and New Smyrna. This contract was for the construction of a canal fifty feet wide and carrying four feet of water. The state decided this company a million acres of land, which the company selling, realized from the sale handsomely. The towns named were unfortunate, in that the company did not live up to its contract. The company was unfortunate in that after constructing the canal, it was annoyed and embarrassed by the constant caving and filling of the channel. I might state that the St. Johns is a natural waterway constantly clearing itself. Lately, within the past year, an association formed for another purpose, lent its aid to this project and getting behind the attorney general, legal action was instituted to compel the Florida East Coast Canal company to live up to its contract and set its dredges at work, whereby it is hoped and expected that hereafter these towns will have an adequate waterway past their doors. The St. Johns from Palatka to Jacksonville has some fourteen feet of water; from Palatka to Sanford eight feet; and from Sanford to Lake Harney five feet. "The second objection urged by some of our East Coast friends is that the St. Johns is a longer route. Whether it is true, and if so how much longer, can only be determined by actual survey and measurement. "The third objection urged by some of our East Coast friends is that numerous, costly and traffic-daring locks between Lake Harney and Titusville will have to be constructed. The fact is that the waters of the upper St. Johns and lakes across to Indian river have been shown to be sea level. The engineers in their report, provided for a possible one lock. It is not certain that even one lock will have to be constructed.

"Now, gentlemen, you have come here to transact your business, but you have also come desiring to acquaint yourselves with our water conditions, and as I said before we regret more than we can tell that you cannot personally see and thus realize most perfectly our largest and most valuable water assets. We assure you, however, that while you are debarred from at this link doing yourselves the pleasure and us the honor of accepting the invitation of all Central Florida, which I am before you representing and which invitation I am directed to extend, we appreciate the careful attention that we know you will give to the facts presented, and we thank you for that wise consideration as well as the courtesy in permitting this placing before you by the representative of the mass of popu-

The Significance of Christmas 1917

(By R. J. HOLLY)

Christmas has a deeper significance this season than ever before for the people of America, for the people of Florida, for the people of Seminole county. With the entire world at war and thousands and thousands of our own boys on the fighting lines in Europe, with more in the camps ready to go "across" and with the dark clouds looking more threatening every day and no rift of peace through which the light could shine we approach the glad-some holiday time—that should be the merriest of the year with a certain sense of foreboding that has never found lodgment in our souls and minds before, unless perhaps there are those older ones who passed through the same dark days during the Civil conflict.

And yet the very fact that it is the Christmas season—the celebration of the birth of Christ—the glad promise of "Peace on Earth and Good Will to Men" gives us courage to continue and to hold a season of thanksgiving and prayer for the salvation of the brave men in the trenches, to send them something to remember the home folks and to keep the Christmas spirit alive here at home for the sake of the children whose childish minds are not able and should not be made to grasp the real significance of the awful war that now envelops the earth.

So we approach the birthday of Christ and now some 1200 years after His tomb and birthplace fell into the hands of the infidels the Christian nations have again obtained possession of the Holy Land and Jerusalem itself and this is cause for rejoicing throughout the Christian nations. Twelve hundred years of Moslem rule over the sacred precincts of the Holy Land now this Christmas in the year 1917 we celebrate the birth of Christ while the land of His nativity is again in Christian hands.

In all this turmoil and war and carnage we can look ahead and see the hand of God wrought throughout and since all great changes must come through blood and sacrifice mayhap this awful war and carnage that is devastating Europe is sent upon us to more thoroughly cleanse the earth and wrest the Holy Land from the red handed Musselmén and the infidel and to get the world in order for the second coming of the Son who died for the world that we might become better.

Thus it is that Christmas of 1917 holds much for all of us. We approach the season with a different feeling. Instead of the holiday spirit that formerly prevailed to the exclusion of all spiritual sense we come to the time when all men are giving more thought to the real significance of the birth of Christ and the celebration of His birth in the churches, the acknowledgment of the real fact of this birth and what it means to the nations of the earth today while in the midst of war.

PEACE ON EARTH, GOOD WILL TO MEN.

What a wonderful and what a powerful message there is in those prophetic words. They contain a promise that none of us can fail to grasp even though it seems far away today—the 14th day of December, 1917—even while our boys are in the trenches and we are busily engaged in sending them the material and spiritual comforts of home. Yet though the world is torn asunder and nations are at the throats of each other we have that comforting thought that some day there will be "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

And here in Seminole county there is peace on earth and good will toward men and all is peace and prosperity. The only signs of the great struggle are the boys going and coming and the other signs of martial array that is noted from time to time. Business is being carried on in the same manner as last year, farmers are planting and reaping and industrial progress continues and yet deep in our hearts we go about our accustomed tasks always with the thought of peace and what it would mean to all of us. And we are thinking of Christmas this year as the birthday of Christ, the one who can bring us peace, who will bring us peace and if more of us are brought to realize this great fact under the stress and sorrow and suffering that war entails then the war will not have been fought in vain.

And yet how much we people of Seminole county have to be thankful for and how thankful we should be to have the blessed privilege of living in such a beautiful and healthy country where bountiful harvests yield such rich returns and far from the maddening crowds there is naught but peace on earth and good will toward men.

And may we live to enjoy many more of these good seasons. May the Herald always bring the same Christmas Cheer to the homes of our people and God grant that the next number of the Christmas Herald shall be printed when peace has been declared and it shall then be a reality in the world of PEACE ON EARTH AND GOOD WILL TOWARD MEN.

THE LADIES TO HEARKEN AND HEED

THE CALL FOR WORK IN THE RED CROSS

Ladies of Sanford, what can I say to cause you to wake up to the realization of the great need for your interest and services in a work which now waits for your hands to do?

We are told and we read daily of the crying need for sewing, knitting and other work to barely make comfortable our own dear boys who have gone to the front, and too those poor creatures who are and have been sewing in the army across the sea. Have you no pity—no hearts?

Our country is at war. We hardly seem to realize it, we in our comfort and security, but it is nevertheless sadly and terribly true and someone said it will take the return of one of our boys in his coffin before the majority of us realize it. This may be true, in a sense, yet we are an intelligent, capable people and only need a little "stirring up." I'm sure.

This is no time for foolishness and an excess of pleasure. Now that doesn't necessarily mean for us to wear craps and move about with long, unbearable faces—personally I detest a long faced individual, but there is a cheerful seriousness, an unselfish devotion to a worthy, urgent cause which we must assume.

We hear criticisms of the Red Cross work or other organizations for war relief work. Some people have an inborn objection to law and order. The giving of work through these specified channels is merely a means to prevent overlapping in work and giving as everything worth the doing is worth doing right. Why should one man receive two of any one thing when there are so many more who need that very article. In ordinary life we have everything we do organized, almost every form of legitimate business is organized. The Red Cross is not a new organization, it has lived years of good, faithful service. It has proved itself to be faithful and altogether trustworthy. These very people who question the Red Cross would want by all means to be assured of the safe conduct of their donations and work, and it goes without saying they wouldn't want to pay some one for this service. Those who serve in this organization are unpaid workers. Hence their motive cannot be mercenary.

Then if there is no objection to the organization at large and the personnel of the officers here at home are not in accordance with the wishes of everyone did you ever put a cause above your personal feelings? If so, this is one that deserves that tion and the extensive territory above stated, the facts herein enumerated and detailed. May we hope for early and efficient activity in the construction of this urgently required south and north connecting link."

NEW MEISCH BUILDING EDITION

ONE OF SANFORDS NEWEST AND BEST BUSINESS BLOCKS

That Greatly Enhances the Appearance of First Street and Sanford Generally

One of the first business blocks started in Sanford last fall was the Meisch building that really started the building boom that has taken this city by storm. This beautiful building was erected through the efforts of John Meisch, one of Sanford's successful growers and a man with not only a broad vision but a business man with keen insight and an abiding faith in his home city and county. The building was built by the Sanford Investment Company, of which John Meisch is president, his eldest son Edward Meisch is vice-president and A. J. Connelly is secretary and treasurer, and all of them are Sanford boosters and Sanford business men, Edward Meisch being a farmer and Mr. Connelly being the head of the A. P. Connelly & Sons Realty Company.

John Meisch came here sixteen years ago from New Jersey where he was engaged in farming and using the same business ideas plus the methods of Sanford growers made his success in the growing of winter vegetables and his investments in Sanford real estate have made him a fortune. He steadfastly believes that no place on earth offers as many good investments as Sanford and he backed his county commissioners and his money and his time is given freely to every movement for the upbuilding of the city and the county and the state. The new Meisch building will stand as a monument to his energy and faith and his spirit of progressiveness.

The Meisch building is 107x100 feet and is built on part of the land formerly occupied by the old Sanford House on First street. Mr. Meisch purchased the lot at a price that set the pace for building lots several years ago and then proceeded to erect a building that again made the people faith several years ago by buying all the real estate, houses and lots and business blocks of the Drew Investment Company and selling them to people who wanted them. The Sanford Investment Company also owns the Bishop Blocks, the fine two story business block at the corner of First street and Palmetto avenue. John Meisch is also chairman of the board and every part of the structure is up-to-date, in every respect. The building has a reinforced concrete frame faced in front with tapestry brick and Arnold ornamentation. The show windows of the stores are up-to-date in every particular and of the very latest construction having fifty feet of window display, the windows being copper trimmed of plate glass and with Vermont marble bases. All the vestibules of the stores are celled and have white tiled floors and oak floors. All the rear windows on the ground floor are burglar proof with iron gratings and all the windows on the two floors exposed to the elements are metal. The store fronts have the Marquis or awning with metal ceilings and are illuminated with electric lights separately controlled from each store making a brilliant illumination at night and one of the most attractive store fronts to be found in the state.

The second floor is a marvel of neatness and fine workmanship and the big idea for the offices was to give them plenty of light and ventilation. An open court in the center of the building gives the skylights for the store rooms and the court makes it possible for the entire building to have plenty of light during the day and makes all the offices outside offices. Some space was lost by the court but the building was made all the better for it and this court will be continued on up the additional four stories when built giving the entire building the light and ventilation so much to be desired in all buildings of modern construction.

over and his dulcet voice can be heard all over Sanford as he encoiles the men into doing more work and speeding them up. Mr. Ross, by his uniform courtesy and interest in Sanford, has endeared himself to its citizenship and Sanford people now think they own Messrs. Ross and McIver since they are working on the Milne Theatre and have been here for many months.

Those Who Occupy the Building
The five store rooms of the new Meisch building are occupied by the Lu-Beth Cafeteria, the Sanford Shoe

Wigly Store, Humph's Pharmacy and Baumel's Specialty Shop—all of whom conduct up-to-date stores and keep them neat and clean in keeping with the fine new building that they occupy. They have their advertisements in this issue calling your attention to their business and contributing their share toward this special edition.

In the offices are the doctors and dentists as follows:
Dr. B. D. Caswell, Dentist, Rooms 214-216.
Dr. J. T. Denton, Obstetrics and Internal Medicine, Rooms 206-207-208.

Dr. W. T. Langley, Surgery and Internal Medicine, Rooms 200-202-204.
Dr. C. J. Marshall, Radium, X-Ray and Electrotherapy, Rooms 211-213-218-220-222-224.
Dr. R. M. Mason, Dentist, Rooms 226-228.
Dr. G. S. Selman, Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, Rooms 220-222.
Among the attorneys occupying the new building are Theatford & Wilkinson.
The Huston Engineering Company also occupy a fine office here while they are engaged in paving Sanford.

Firms That Supplied the Materials
One of the requisites of the new Meisch building was that everything that could be purchased in Sanford should be purchased here and this rule was adhered to as closely as possible as John Meisch wanted the money left in Sanford. That local people were able to supply the demand speaks volumes for Sanford business men and the new building in every part of the furnishings speaks for itself. Among the local people and those out of town are the following:
Baker & Holmes, of Jacksonville, furnished the cement, sand, gravel and steel used in the building.
W. B. Talley, the well known architect of Lakeland drew the plans of this modern building and much of the success is due to his efforts to have it built strictly according to specifications and O. W. Talley was on the job continuously while the building was in process of construction.
Good buildings deserve good hardware says the Ball Hardware Company, of this city, in their advertisement today and this firm furnished all the finishing hardware in the new Meisch building.
This firm also furnished the paint used on the Meisch building.
John S. Graham, of Jacksonville, did the plastering and stucco work and it is done just as these honest Scots do all their work—conscientiously and well and their work has added greatly to the appearance of the building.
Of course the roof on the new (Continued on Page Eight)

U.S. Will Give Every Aid To Get Kidnapers Of Lindberghs' Baby

Hoover Confers With Attorney General, Department Of Justice To Co-Operate

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—(A.P.)—The widespread opinion of the federal government will be used to help the 20-month-old Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., to his parents and apprehend his kidnapers. President Hoover conferred today with Attorney General Mitchell, Operatives of the justice department as well as immigration and customs authorities will cooperate with state authorities to the fullest extent.

HOPEWELL, New Jersey, Mar. 2.—(A.P.)—Reasons have been advanced for the Lindbergh baby kidnaped last night and Colonel Lindbergh is willing to pay if he can get the infant safely back to his mother's arms. It was learned shortly before noon that the note, found through which the baby was taken, made a definite demand. It also threatened harm to the child if the money was not paid, and if the contents of the note were divulged, or if the method of payment suggested in the note was revealed. No threatening was the note that for several hours its very existence was denied.

HOPEWELL, New Jersey, Mar. 2.—(A.P.)—The world's most famous baby, son of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, was in the hands of kidnapers today, and a puzzled police force is making a desperate effort to solve the mystery using the same makeshift ladder by means of which the kidnap was believed to include a woman, stated through the window of the stalled Lindbergh home last night to snatch the sleeping child.

That Eddie Cantor's often heard song "Potatoes are cheaper, tomatoes are cheaper, now's the time to fall in love" has been heard and acted upon in Sanford is a conclusion which may be drawn from a late winter record of marriage licenses issued at the offices of County Judge James G. Sharon during the past month.

Thirty couples appeared before Mrs. Cassandra Schultz, assistant to Judge Sharon, to ask official permission to marry, a record number for February. Of this number, 13 were white couples, while 17 were negro couples.

JAX VISITOR HAS GREAT RESPECT FOR ADVERTISING

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 2.—Arthur G. Staples of Auburn, Maine, is one man who knows the value of a state-wide advertising program. Perhaps the best known newspaperman in New England, Mr. Staples was one of the original sponsors of the Maine public bureau idea, a program which has now turned into a $100,000 a year proposition, $30,000 of which is used to tell the world in newspaper and magazine advertising of the state's tourist attractions.

Of the total, $75,000 comes through a state tax levy, and Mr. Staples says, everybody in Maine is back of the plan, whereas, at first the sponsors had a little to get even a small appropriation, the manufacturer and the farmer saying "what's the use?" Mr. Staples, who is also much in demand as an after dinner speaker, is on his first Florida visit. He gave Jacksonville the once over as a guest of John F. Kavanaugh, manager of the Windsor Hotel and a friend of many years.

LEAGUES PEACE PROPOSAL MEETS JAPANESE FAVOR

However, In Meantime Japs Are Expecting To Get Decisive Win

TOKYO, Mar. 2.—Acceptance of the League of Nations proposal for an international conference at Shanghai to end the Sino-Japanese conflict was announced yesterday by the Japanese government. Various government spokesmen made it clear, however, that Japan believes a decisive victory in the field will be necessary to pave the way for the conference.

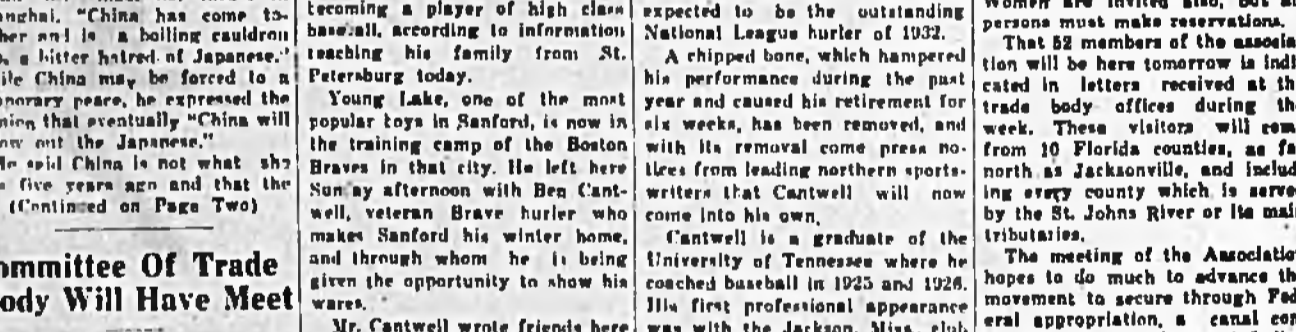

The League proposal, made by Joseph Paul-Boncour, French delegate to the League council at Geneva, called for negotiations in which the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy would participate, as well as Japan and China.

It was understood the Japanese government interpreted the suggestion as meaning that the conference probably would cover a long period and would seek a permanent solution of the Shanghai problem.

THE SCHOOL DAYS OF YESTERYEAR... AND TODAY

The early settlers and pioneers placed a great value on education and often built the schoolhouse before any other public structure. The buildings were then used continuously for a variety of purposes such as town meeting centers and religious congregations. We at Loch Lowe also recognize the need for quality education for our youth. We prepare boys and girls grades 1-12 for college and career. Emphasis is on personal and individual instruction in a non-sectarian setting.

BADCOCK HOME FURNISHING CENTERS CELEBRATE 82 YEARS OF SERVICE

Badcock Home Furnishing Centers, with 234 stores in Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Alabama, is celebrating its 82nd Anniversary this year. From its modest beginnings in 1904, the firm has become one of the Southeast's largest distributors of furniture, appliances, floor covering, and home entertainment items.

With $1.78 of his own in his pocket and $100 from his father, 22-year-old Wogan Stanhope Badcock, Sr. became the proud owner of his own furniture store in 1920.

His father, Henry Stanhope Badcock, who founded the business 82 years ago in Mulberry, Florida turned over the Mulberry store for a $9,000 purchase price, payable when ever possible.

The younger Badcock is now chairman of the board of Badcock Corp., the parent company of the 234 home furnishing centers, which are mostly dealer-owned and operated. Twenty three stores were added during the last 12 months.

Wogan Badcock carried on his father's traditions and slogans by continuing to back up his business transactions with the words, "Badcock Will Treat You Right."

In the early years it was rather difficult to convince any of the larger manufacturers to pay much attention to him while visiting the furniture markets. But they finally recognized his future business potential and the Badcock furniture expansion began.

The first Badcock store faced the railroad in Mulberry, a small, two-room building with the family home in back. Wogan Sr.'s first expansion was to Ft. Meade, Fla.

For many years, trucks and route men had served customers scattered throughout the county, taking orders and delivering weekly.

Business grew and more stores opened, so it was soon necessary to operate an entire fleet of trucks, not only for delivering furniture, but for trips to pick up merchandise from manufacturers.

Badcock originated a system for establishing new stores that is still in use. This unique plan is unlike any other in the nation operating today.

The company's objective is to combine the advantages of centralized buying, warehousing and distribution with the advantages of the local retailer to provide customers with quality merchandise, courteous service, convenient credit terms, reasonable prices and prompt delivery at the hometown level.

Badcock Corp., still headquartered in Mulberry, helps put the dealer-owners into business, then provides them merchandise on a consignment basis.

"We find that a person is more motivated as an owner rather than as a manager for a large corporation," said Chuck Cooper, Badcock's advertising manager, Cooper noted that the corporation likes dealers to become involved in the communities in which they live.

According to Ardell Willis, who owns and operates the local Badcock Home Furnishings Center, the corporation offers several thousand name brand items, to each dealer. The dealers cannot stock every item, but they can special order the merchandise for delivery on the regular weekly run.

The corporation, with large distribution centers in Mulberry and Live Oak, Florida, and Thomson, Georgia, having several million dollar inventories provides the merchandise delivery to the stores, auditing, a credit system and dealer assistance.

A 41,000 square foot bedding manufacturing facility in Mulberry provides the corporation with ample production capacity to supply the expanding bedding market.

Bedding is the only product currently manufactured by the corporation. "We're still a success because our customer's needs are uppermost in our business philosophy," Cooper said, noting the corporation expects to continue its planned, solid growth.

Wogan Sr. turned over the reins as president to his son, Wogan Jr. in 1965, following a very active business and civic career.

He is especially known for his generous support of countless community programs.

In 1979, Badcock was honored with the highest award made annually by the International Home Furnishings Representatives Association, its "Pillar of the Industry" award. It was the first time a retailer/wholesaler ever received the honor.

Willis extends a cordial invitation to everyone to visit his store at 2306 South French Avenue and see the many new items he's showing for Summer.

U. S. Pilots Find Targets Getting Scarce In Reich

Fluidity Of Lines Make Pin-Pointing Vital 11 Objectives Hit

LONDON, Apr. 11. (AP)—Despite the diminishing number of targets for strategic bombing, the United States 8th Air Force sent out 1,200 heavy bombers, escorted by 750 fighters, and attacked eleven military installations within the Reich today.

The points attacked included four railroad yards, three airfields, two ordnance depots, an oil storage center and a repair factory for jet-propelled planes. Because of the narrowing area between the Russian and British-American fronts, and because of the fluidity of the ground situation, few areas remain open to heavy bombing with safety to our own troops. Pin-point targets are almost all that are left to the Flying Fortress and Liberators.

They attacked several of these today against negligible opposition. Three Messerschmitt 109's rose to intercept with attacks, and all three were shot down by pilots of the 28th Army Air Group, one of the outstanding units in the Army Air Force, destroyed by strafing.

The four railroad yards attacked were located at Stendal, Plauen, Hof and Eger. The airfields were at Schatzdorf, Uster, Sauerbach and Roth. The two ordnance depots were at Beyrowitz and Grafenwehr, the oil depot at Furth.

All the targets attacked were in central Germany west of Berlin and south of Nuremberg. Visibility was ideal except over the railroad yards at Plauen, where the bombing was done by instrument through clouds. The results were reported by returning pilots flying over at Schatzdorf, Uster, Sauerbach and Roth.

At Furth, where the bombing had to be done through an open line in the clouds, incendiary incendiary fire was encountered, but elsewhere it was meager or entirely absent.

Stettinius Is Next In Line For President

Congress long ago provided for a Presidential succession ranging through seven Cabinet positions. In event of the death, removal or resignation of a Vice President who has succeeded to the Presidency, the line is this: Secretary of State, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of the Navy, Secretary of the Interior.

Stout-hearted Joe Bonikowski, a right-handed pitcher who started the season as a question mark, took the matter in his own hands last night and blasted a two strike pitch far over the centerfielder's head to gain a 3-2, extra inning victory over Daytona Beach.

The win gave Sanford a split of the doubteheader. Daytona Beach took advantage of a couple of bad throws in the opener to whip the Greyhounds and Jim Cundari, 1-0 in a thriller.

It marked the fifth straight brilliant pitching performance by Sanford hurlers. In three games new, the Greyhounds have allowed only one earned run.

The second game victory also gives Sanford a mark of four wins and one loss in its last five games, something this team has not been able to do this season.

Bonikowski pitched probably the best game seen at Memorial Stadium this season. An error by shortstop Leavel Vento paved the way for a couple of unearned runs in the first inning, but even this didn't unnerve the Sanford right-hander.

He got better as the game progressed and at one time had retired 11 batters in a row. Only three men reached base off him after the second inning.

Bonikowski walked Torres and Baumber to open the game. Maldonado then lashed a perfect double play ball to Vento which he dropped trying to make the throw to second. Staffani then hit into a double play, with Torres scoring. Wilson slapped a single to score Baumber.

Sanford got one of the runs back in the fourth when Conrado Lescano singled and scampered around to third on Bob Keyes' solid base knock. It looked for a minute as if Daytona would escape without a run but Lescano and Keyes executed a fine double steal, with Lescano sliding under the throw at home plate.

The Greyhounds knotted the score in the fifth on a single by Vento, a sacrifice and Jim Alessi's blast into left field for another single.

The win was the final run of the game until Bonikowski settled the issue in the ninth. Russ Buhite opened the eventful ninth with a double down the line. Vento then lifted a long fly to right field, which went for a two-base error when the rightfielder dropped the ball.

Bonikowski worked to a 2-2 count before connecting with a fast ball. Then it was all over. Bonikowski's blow probably would have been a triple, but it didn't matter since the winning run crossed the plate before he could round first.

Cundari deserved a better fate than he received in the opening game. Daytona scored the only run of the game when Staffani singled to open the fourth inning.

He broke for second on the first pitch to the batter and Charlie Johnson's throw, trying to nab him, bounced into center for an error. Staffani then broke for third.

Keyes quickly picked up the ball in center and threw it high and far over the third baseman's head for another error. This enabled Staffani to scamper home with the winning run.

Sanford missed a chance in the fifth and sixth innings to tie up the game. The Islanders cut down Bill Watkins in the fifth trying to go all the way from first to third on a single.

Then in the sixth, Vento singled, went to second on a sacrifice and might have scored when Watkins

Eight Americans In British Golf

By HENRY THORNBERY
SANDWICH, England (UPI)—Eight Americans, a smaller number than expected, went today to two rugged rounds of competition in the British Amateur golf championship.

A total of 64 survivors teed off in the third round of match play this morning, with the fourth also on tap this afternoon to cut the list down to 16 by nightfall.

The eight Americans left included four members of the Walker Cup team and four military servicemen stationed in Europe.

Charley Cox, U. S. amateur champion from Oklahoma, and captain of the victorious U. S. Walker Cup team, heads the "name" group of players along with team members Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, Bill Hyndman of Abingdon, Pa., and Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md.

M. Sgt. Harold Ridgely of Haverhill, Pa., runner-up in this tournament two years ago, was the only American serviceman considered a serious threat.

Others are Lieut. Bill Gibson of Louisville, Ky., Bob Magee of Newton Highlands, Mass., and Maj. W. D. Henderson of San Francisco.

Still in contention as the third round began were all of Britain's "big guns", including Joe Carr of Ireland who is second choice behind Cox in the betting.

St. Louis Cardinals have signed the Walter brothers of Wagarville, Ala. to minor league contracts. Dennis, a first baseman, will play with Daytona Beach of the Florida State League, while Powell, an outfielder, will see action with Wytheville, Va., of the Appalachian League.

Pitches Greatest Game Ever And Still Beaten

By FRED DOWN
United Press International
Little Harvey Haddix occupies a special niche in baseball history today as the man who pitched the greatest major league game ever—and lost.

They're not even sure whether the final score was 1-0 or 2-0 but it's certain the 33-year-old lefty from Medway, Ohio, will be remembered as baseball's all-time "hard luck pitcher."

And his Pittsburgh Pirates teammates can never forget the night they couldn't score a run for the man who pitched a 12-inning "perfect game."

Wen's Appear Officially
Haddix' supreme effort won't appear officially among the perfect games, of course, because the Milwaukee Braves won out in the 13th inning but it will be included with a special notation.

Along the route that eventually led to defeat, Haddix achieved the following:

—The first nine-inning "perfect game" in modern NL history.
—The first extra-inning "perfect game" in baseball history.
—The longest string of perfect innings ever put together in a

Harvey Haddix Calls Near Perfect Tilt Another Loss, Just Hurts More

By RAY W. DOHERTY
MILWAUKEE (UPI) — For a few moments, Little Harvey Haddix stared into his locker in the Pittsburgh Pirates clubhouse. He slipped a beer. Reporters pressed in for the questions of the man who had achieved likely immortality in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown.

"Wait a minute," he asked one of them. A few more moments of silence, and then he turned, smiled, and said he was ready for the questions on 12 innings of perfect baseball and a 2-0, one-hit defeat by Milwaukee.

"It's just another loss, but it hurts a little more."
"No, I wasn't sure I had a perfect game. When you go that long, it's hard to remember any baserunners."

"Knew I Had Something"
"From the third inning, I knew

Major League Game

The amazing spell ended at the start of the 13th inning when Felix Mantilla reached first base on a throwing error by third baseman Don Hoak. Eddie Mathews' sacrifice forced Haddix to issue an intentional walk to Hank Aaron in order to face lead-footed Joe Adcock with a potential inning-ending double play situation set up.

Then came Adcock's fence-clearing drive—the only hit off Haddix — the resulting confusion when Adcock passed Aaron in the base-line—the question of whether the final score was 2-0 or 1-0 — and finally Haddix' post-game comment: "It's only another loss; it just hurts a bit more."

Another Hard-Luck Effort
In all baseball history there is only one "hard luck" pitcher who might be compared to Haddix — Harry McIntire of Brooklyn, who pitched a no-hitter for 10 2/3 innings against Pittsburgh, Aug. 1, 1906, and eventually lost, 1-0, in 13 innings after giving up four hits. All "official" modern perfect games—by Cy Young, Addie Joss,

Shower Without a Word

When the sting finally wore off, he muttered: "It was a damn silly one to lose."

Haddix' only sign of bitterness, and it was slight, came when he talked of a pitch to Felix Mantilla in high with a slider. He really welcomed it.

The questions kept coming, and Haddix patiently answered each. The Braves were happy, but not boastful about the victory. They knew they were fortunate, particularly Braves' right-hander, Lew Burdette who hung around the full 12, giving up 12 hits.

"Greatest Game"—Hasey
Manager Fred Haney, like everybody who saw it, heard it and will read about it today, called it "the greatest game I've ever seen pitched."

Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh, sat sans clothes for 10 minutes in front of his locker, then got up and trooped to the rest

First U.S. Astronaut Space Flight A 'Success'

'A Beautiful View'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Astronaut Alan B. Jr. jauntily into space aboard the Mercury capsule at 9:34 a. m. today and reported "everything okay" after a smooth landing at sea a few minutes later.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration jubilantly pronounced the flight "a success."

It was the first time an American had gone into space and it was the first time in history that anybody of any nationality had had a helicopter over the motions of a spacecraft.

A helicopter plucked the capsule from the Atlantic waters and placed it on the deck of the carrier USS Lake Champlain.

Shepard climbed from the capsule as soon as it was opened—then went back inside to get his helmet.

Shepard was plucked out of the water by helicopter at 9:58 a. m. and a few minutes later was put down on the deck of the Lake Champlain, main ship of the down-range recovery fleet.

Shepard was in constant radio communication with the Mercury control center here or with the recovery forces throughout his historic flight.

Alan Shepard

Hundreds lined First St. in downtown Sanford this morning watching to see Astronaut Alan Shepard's space rocket blasted from the pad at Cape Canaveral at 9:34 a.m.

Watchers could see the vapor trail passing in and out of the banks of clouds as the first American pioneered his way into outer space and back, safely, in full control of the capsule all the time.

"Up and down the street, cries of 'God Bless Him!' and 'There he goes!' could be heard, as every eye was glued to the sky and ears to portable radios.

His first reported words 200 seconds after liftoff, were "what a beautiful view." He could see the curving earth north to Cape Hatteras, N. C., he reported. As he climbed out of the helicopter aboard the carrier, 30 minutes after he left the launching pad, the word from the recovery ship was that "he is under his own power and doing very well."

The space agency announced at 10:10 a. m.:

"A Project Mercury spacecraft carrying astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. on the nation's first manned space flight landed in the Atlantic Ocean about 302 statute miles from here at 9:49 a. m.

"The craft reached an altitude of about 115 statute miles and a speed of approximately 5,100 miles an hour. The suborbital flight of the Mercury-Redstone 3 required 15 minutes. Preliminary data indicates the pilot performed satisfactorily during the flight."

Shepard had awaited a wait of three hours and 27 minutes on his back in the capsule atop the Redstone before the launching.

Shot time had been planned for about 7 a. m. and the final countdown had started at midnight. But seven "holds" in a little more than 9½ hours delayed the launch.

The 37-year-old Navy commander had been sealed in the capsule since 6:07 a. m.

At the zero second, smoke belched from the rocket's big nose, and the space vehicle rose slowly, majestically into a bright blue sky. Even in the intense sunshine, the flame from the rocket's tail appeared a bright orange.

Gradually the rocket gained speed, its engines still flaming. Then, as it hit the atmosphere a snow-white condensation trail streamed off behind. It passed quickly through the condensation zone, and high winds swept the vapor trail into a corkerew shape.

Seconds later the vehicle faded to a dot in the sky, then disappeared.

People on the beach cheered. Many remained, talking, long after the rocket had gone out of view.

The tough, 160-pound astronaut jested the space trail for Americans on a shock-absorbing contour couch in a cramped cabin smaller

Kennedy Prepared To Send U.S. Troops To Viet Nam If Necessary

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today was believed prepared to send U. S. troops to South Viet Nam if necessary to save that country from Communist conquest.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Thursday the President was increasing military aid to South Viet Nam. His statement came as American officials sought by diplomatic means to salvage something from the disaster in neighboring Laos.

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, J. B. BAKER, MAYOR of the City of Sanford, do hereby proclaim the week of May 7 through May 13 as Hospital Week."

Weekend Truce Called In Redistricting Fight

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A weekend truce has been called in the legislative fight to redistrict Florida for four new congressmen authorized by the 1960 census.

If anything, the lawmakers are farther from agreement now than they were when the Legislature convened. That fact emerged from a Senate Committee meeting Thursday.

Eight South Florida senators combined forces to oppose the committee's tentative plan to reshuffle the counties in their areas. The group, led by freshman Sen. Ted David of Hollywood, produced his own plan for redistricting the 20 southernmost counties.

There isn't any agreement in North Florida either. A group of senators charged with dividing up 14 north and north-central districts reported they had been unable to get together on a proposal so far.

Further complicating the picture was an entirely new redistricting plan offered by Sen. B. C. Pearce of Palatka.

Things got so muddled during the discussion that Pearce and Sen. Charles Johns of Starke threw up their hands and suggested the Legislature step aside and let the

Zoners Ask Joint City Meet To Avoid 'Break'

In an effort to avoid an open break with the City Commission, the Zoning and Planning Board Thursday authorized Chairman Clifford McKibbin to set up a joint meeting with both boards to "discuss the concepts of zoning."

Two weeks ago, the City Commission agreed to hold a public hearing May 6 on zoning property at Elm Ave. at 25th St. from residential to commercial.

Although the zoning board had opposed the move, the city group said they saw no objection to the zoning change and called for the public hearing.

Zoning board member Robert Karna called for the joint meeting to discuss zoning and "see that we are agreed on the same thoughts about zoning or," the city commission might as well get a new zoning board.

In other business, the board set May 18 to meet with Police Chief Roy Williams to discuss one way streets in the downtown area for cross traffic flow.

Approved subdivision regulations as recommended by City Planner George Simons and gave its "unofficial" approval to Simons' supplementary plan for the city.

Regulate Rail Flow, Council Is Asked
Mayor A. R. Lormann strongly urged the Longwood Town Council Thursday, to pass an ordinance which would regulate train traffic through the town.

His request asked that the ordinance limit the speed of trains through the area to 25 mph; limit the number of cars to a 120 maximum and include a provision that the crossings be closed no longer than 15 minutes at a time.

He said that the poor condition of crossings and the speed and length of trains passing through shows "disrespect for the town."

He called condition of rights of ways "disgraceful" and said that the council "owes it to the people to enforce a regulation with fines or jail sentences for violators."

"I'll see that its enforced if you pass it," he assured.

Council, after considerable discussion, voted to refer to an ordinance drawn, but never passed, several years ago before turning the matter over to the attorney for further action.

Walt Disney: Wish You Were Here

By PAT LEMNER
Associated Press Writer
William Windsor, his wife and two small children slept all night in a Volkswagen behind the gas station outside Walt Disney World to be the first visitors today to the $400 million vacation spectacular.

"When I was a little kid, I always dreamed about going to Disneyland in California, but I never, never made it," said the 31-year-old Lakeland father.

"I did it for these two little guys," he said as the gates swung open at 7:35 a.m., nearly three hours before the scheduled opening.

"It's the most wonderful scene in the world," said his wife, a perky 22-year-old blonde dressed in slacks and holding Lee, 1½, who didn't seem the least bit awed by the fanfare.

Eleven-year-old Marsha Parker of Winter Park stood behind the gate disappointed she wasn't the first celebrated visitor. "I saved for two years," she said. "I have $40. I wanted to be first."

The Windsors drove the 40 miles from their central Florida home Thursday afternoon.

"It was cramped sleeping in that car but it was worth it," said Windsor.

"I'll tell my sons about it over and over," he said, raising Ray, 1, up on his shoulder.

The Disney band struck up a celebration salute heralding the official opening under sunny skies—weather almost made to order.

The Windsors rode a steam train around the Magic Kingdom before parading down Main Street, trailed by other visitors, to saddle up on the gleaming white 90-horse merry-go-round.

Their toddlers were more taking his nose and shouting, "Mickey! Mickey!"

"They are enjoying it," Windsor said. Then he conceded, "But I must admit I'm enjoying it more."

"Every night at bedtime," the Lakeland apartment house owner said, "Ray says at the end of his prayers: 'God bless Mickey Mouse.'"

A cavalcade of motorists wound along the five-mile Disney entrance way starting at 7 a.m. Officials permitted a string of cars into the parking lot early to avoid possible traffic tieups on Interstate 4.

Tramways are used to take visitors from the parking lots to the turnstile entranceways.

About 300 persons jammed outside the turnstiles about 7:30 a.m. when Disney officials permitted the Windsors inside for a special ceremony. The gates were then closed again until the official opening time of 10 a.m.

Report Of Rape Proves Imagination

By BILL SCOTT

The call came at 9:24 p.m. Thursday to the Sanford police department.

A sobbing, distraught mother blurted out between heavy breathing, "Someone tried to rape my 14-year-old daughter!"

The dispatcher listened carefully, then asked, "What's the address please?"

WEATHER — Yesterday's high 92 low

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI
The old, very old joke about Custer's last stand goes something like good-ole-George saying, "Where did all these Indians come from?"

As Henry Schumacher, Bill Vincent and I flew over Disney World this morning around 9:15, I can't help but feel that more than a few of their executives were wondering, "Where are all the customers?"

Now don't go reading anything into that... other than most people were frightened away, expecting such a colossal traffic jam that they preferred to wait "until another day"...

Remember, this is the trial-run period... 30 days before the "grand opening", to get all the kinks out of their system.

While flying over both I-4 and I-75 and seeing so few cars on the roads, I would hazard a State Attorney Holds:

Schools' Practice Illegal

It may come as a shock to many county school officials and board members but, according to a legal opinion by Rivers Buford, Florida Education Board attorney, collecting fees from students and charging for such educational items as gym suits and materials is illegal.

Buford said at Tallahassee that all materials must be supplied to students free of charge, including all books, special materials and gym suits. The attorney added, "The state Constitution mandates that the school system be free and public."

A State Education Department aide said the legal opinion would make "a lot of superintendents mad and a lot of parents happy."

In Seminole County, Walter Teague, assistant school superintendent, was advised of the Buford opinion and agreed that schools cannot legally charge fees but can request parents to buy certain things, which are needed in school and agree to obtain these items.

When advised that a ninth grade student at Lyman South was "flunked" by his physical education instructor because he did not have white socks in which to dress out, Teague said, "That's illegal," and advised "parents cannot be forced to buy any gym items."

Buford's opinion is against what is an established practice in some Seminole County schools in that parents are required to purchase gym suits under threat of the physical instructor of "flunking" the student from the classes by prohibiting them from taking part in the activities and thus failing them for not wearing what the PE instructor considers to be proper gym wear.

Physicians' Opinion Due On Seminole Hospital

An opinion is expected soon from a board of doctors affiliated that group voted not to renew the contract of Dr. Fred Ionata.

Cook Of The Week

Some Of Her Recipes Are Her Own Creations Of 'Good Tasty Stuff'

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

Our Cook of the Week is a remarkable lady whose courage and cheerfulness is an ever-present part of her daily life. A long-time Sanford resident, Ruth Boye's roots began in the farmlands of Virginia, and her cooking skills are reminiscent of her mother's good, hearty meals.

"My mother was a wonderful cook," says Mrs. Boye, "and both my sisters were, too. She didn't really teach me how to cook, but she would allow me to help her. I think that because we had such tight times, she was afraid I would waste, perhaps. Anytime you're learning you're going to waste, you're not going to get it perfect from the beginning. Mother was confined to bed for about a year before she died, and I just about wore out the floor between the kitchen and her bed asking her how to fix this and how to fix that."

Laughing at a complimentary remark once given to her by her brother, Harold Powers, Mrs. Boye says, "I don't remember how long Mama had been gone and he ate with me, and he said, 'I'll say one thing for you. You either did a whole lot of observing, or you've learned in a hurry.'"

Tapping her memory, Mrs. Boye recalls moving to Florida as a 14-year-old girl and attending high school on French Avenue at what is now the Sanford Middle School. "We came to Lake Mary to start with, but I went to school in Sanford because there was no high school in Lake Mary then," she says. "After high school," says Mrs. Boye, "I worked in a canning plant for two years and peeled grapefruit for $1.50 a day the first year. The second year, they put us on piece time. I always made more than the $1.50, the most I ever made was $2.10 a day, which represented peeling five grapefruit every minute for ten hours!" During those depression years, Mrs. Boye recalls being the sole support of her family. "My father was a carpenter, but people just weren't having any carpentry work done," she says. "It was just hard times, and people did whatever they could to make a dollar. My father had a school bus then," she remembers.

"Back in those days the buses were owned by individual people and rented out to the county. I was only about eighteen or nineteen years old at the time, and I picked up eighteen women and carried them to work in his bus, then delivered them home again."

When Ruth Boye met her first husband, Archie Smith, Sr., she was a drugstore clerk, and he was a widower with three young children. "He had seen me, but I hadn't noticed him," she says. After a two-year courtship, and getting to know his children, Ruth and Archie were married in 1939 and increased their family by having three more children of their own. "Archie built the Sanford Boat Works out by the Osteen Bridge," says Mrs. Boye, "when he came to Sanford in 1925." Mrs. Boye's son, Archie Smith, Jr., still manages the boat works near Indian Mound Village that his father started. Though scattered far and wide, Ruth Boye shares a close and loving relationship with her children and stepchildren. Tommy Smith lives in Georgia, while Samuel Smith and Mary Hall live in Jacksonville. Sylvia Reinhardt resides in West Palm Beach, and Arlene Redmer lives in Virginia Beach. All have families and have given Mrs. Boye twenty grandchildren and "a whole slew of great-grandchildren. It's either twenty four or twenty five," she laughs. "I'd have to stop and count them up again."

After raising a fine family and enjoying a 45-year career with the Spencer Corset Company, Ruth was widowed in 1979. And, even though she has conquered several major illnesses of her own, her faith was never shaken. "I've been through lots and lots, but I feel that God allows me to have experiences so that I have compassion for other people. That's why I feel that my experiences are to help somebody else," says Mrs. Boye.

A second chance at happiness came in 1981, when Ruth and Roland Boye became newlyweds. Looking forward to their fifth anniversary in September, Mrs. Boye says, "I never realized there was such a thing as a second love. When I invited him for dinner, he was always so appreciative, kind, and considerate and had so many good qualities that I really liked. And we always had a lot of fun. He's a nut, and I'm a nut, too."

Mr. Boye, a volunteer counselor at the Seminole County Correctional Facility, is a member of the Good News Mission of Arlington, Va., and dedicates himself to ministering to the needs of the inmates, teaching literacy, discipleship, and helping with Bible lessons.

Together, the Boyes are members of the Sanford Alliance Church where Mrs. Boye is head Deaconess and Mr. Boye is an Elder. Sharing some very personal philosophies, Mrs. Boye explains that she uses some favorite Bible verses as her guidelines for daily living. Three of them are Philippians 4:8, James 5:16, and II Timothy 2:15.

At home, the Boyes put a great deal of love and effort into their home and garden. "I never knitted or crocheted," says Mrs. Boye, "but I love to fish and do embroidery. And I love my yard work." Greeting you at the front door is a colorful Bird of Paradise, and her garden is abundant with exotic lilies, nun orchids, roses and azaleas among others. Mrs. Boye's spring vegetable garden was bountiful this year with collards, lettuce, peas, okra, onions, and more.

"I love to cook," says Mrs. Boye. "My husband declares that he's never seen anybody who loves to cook the way I love to cook. I'm not a gourmet cook, but I just love to cook good, tasty stuff." Some of her recipes are her own creations and offer a variety for the new or experienced cook.

Listed below are Mrs. Boye's delicious favorites:

BANANA BREAD (My own original recipe)

3 ripe bananas, mashed and set aside
 ¾ cup sugar
 ½ cup solid Crisco shortening
 1 egg
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 ¼ teaspoon salt
 ¾ teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon (rounded) baking powder

1 cup flour
 ¼ cup chopped pecans (dredged in some of the flour and added last)

Cream together the first five ingredients until smooth. Add dry ingredients to the creamed mixture and stir until just blended. Add the mashed bananas and blend in. Then add the dredged nuts and lightly stir just to mix well. Grease and flour an 8- or 9-inch square pan. Pour batter into prepared pan and bake at 350° for 30-35 minutes or until cake leaves sides of pan and springs back when touched in center with finger. If you want to make cupcakes and cook in microwave, add two more tablespoons of flour. Use cupcake liners in pan and cook on full power for 1½ minutes. Turn pan half-way and cook for 1½ minutes more. Makes 18 cupcakes.

BANANA PANCAKES (Another original)

1 teaspoon vanilla
 1 egg
 ¼ cup Wesson oil
 1 cup milk

Beat above ingredients together with a fork or wire whisk.

1 cup flour
 ¾ teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon (rounded) baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt
 3 tablespoons sugar
 1 ripe banana, mashed and set aside

Sift together dry ingredients and add to milk mixture, stirring just until well blended. Add banana. Mixture will be lumpy. The batter is ready to fry just as you would your own favorite pancakes. (These are more filling and stay your hunger longer than regular pancakes.) You may substitute another fruit of your choice, or the banana may be added to your own favorite pancake recipe.

POTATO AND ENGLISH PEAS CASSEROLE (My husband's favorite)

1 can (16 ounce) English peas
 4 tablespoons flour
 4 medium-sized potatoes, sliced thin
 1½ teaspoons salt
 1 medium/large onion, chopped fine
 3 tablespoons margarine
 1½-2 cups milk

Put flour into bottom of two-quart glass casserole; add salt and mix. Drain a little of the peas' juice into the flour and gradually stir and add juice to make a thin paste. Add peas, potatoes, onion, margarine and milk and stir to mix well. Cook on full microwave power five minutes. Take out and stir well, especially from the bottom. Cook five minutes more on full power and stir well again. Return to oven, still on full power, and cook five minutes more or until satisfactorily thickened. Serves 4 to 6.

CANDIED SWEET POTATOES (From my niece in Jacksonville)

5 medium/large sweet potatoes, boiled and peeled
 While potatoes are cooking, make a sauce of the following:

2 cups water
 1 cup sugar
 1 stick margarine
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 3 tablespoons tapioca
 ¼ teaspoon salt

Bring to a boil in saucepan, stirring to blend. Remove from heat, then add one tablespoon vanilla. Cover the bottom of a 9x13-inch casserole with part of the sauce. Cut sweet potatoes in half, lengthwise, and place cut side down in casserole. Pour remaining sauce over potatoes and bake at 350° for 25 minutes, or until bubbly all over and thickened. Serves 6.

SOUR CREAM COFFEE CAKE

2 cups yellow cake mix
 2 eggs
 ¾ cup dairy sour cream
 ¼ cup milk (or enough to make batter spread easily)
 1 package coconut pecan frosting mix (dry)
 2 tablespoons margarine
 With a spoon, mix cake mix, eggs, milk and sour cream just until well blended. Do not beat.

Tips To Make Your Grocery $ S t r e a c h

Are you frequently concerned with getting the most for your grocery dollar? The following tips come from Lizett Murphy, extension consumer food marketing specialist, IFAS, University of Florida, Gainesville.

No matter what your favorite foods are, they are likely to be in good supply. Plentiful supplies of summer fruits are available, many earlier than usual. And the retail meat offerings should provide ample choices.

MEATS — Beef supplies are good, but retail prices may move higher. Wholesale beef prices have already increased, although retail prices do not yet reflect the change. Some features are likely to include a wide variety of cuts — loin steaks, ground beef, roasts — suitable for outdoor cooking. Hot dogs, bratwurst, sliced luncheon meats, and corned beef are also being featured in many supermarkets. Pork supplies are adequate, but almost 12% lower than last year at this time.

Consumer demand has been good, and seasonal favorites like spareribs are likely to be promoted. However, higher wholesale prices may decrease the featuring of pork cuts.

POULTRY — Broiler-fryers, despite wholesale price increases, many stores will be featuring broilers at attractive prices. The best buys in chicken continue to be whole fryers, legs or leg quarters and family packs.

Many new boneless chicken and turkey items are being widely promoted, and lend themselves to easy, quick cooking in a variety of ways.

DAIRY PRODUCTS — All dairy products are in abundant supply—no change in prices. Milk in 1935 sold for 10 cents a quart and the average factory worker received 50 cents per hour. Fifty years later the price averages 80 cents per quart and the worker earns $5 an hour. On a real wage basis, isn't milk cheaper today?

FRESH VEGETABLES — July is the down month for most Florida grown vegetables but a peak supply month coming in to the state as the growing season moves north for tomatoes, snap beans, green peppers, sweet corn, eggplant, and summer squash. Supplies of iceberg lettuce, celery, and cabbage are generally good. Cucumbers, green onions, and potatoes are in good supply, but not at peak.

FRESH FRUITS — Florida limes and mangoes are expected to be in heavy volume and lower prices. Avocado supply will show an increase. Coming from out-of-state, summer tree fruits from California are earlier than usual, including nectarines, peaches, and plums. This is the peak supply month for Bing cherries which are in excellent supply and at lower prices.

Strawberries will continue to be available, but supplies will drop off sharply. Blueberries are just starting, but continue to be available into September. Cantaloups, honey dew, and watermelon will be in abundant supply. Table grapes, particularly Thompson seedless, Perlettes and Red Flame seedless are in good supply. Lemons are in good supply.

Have Physician Check All Of Your Symptoms

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My present weight is 115 pounds and I am 5 feet 5. I would like to gain a few pounds, since I'm most comfortable at 125-128. I feel nauseated a lot, have no appetite and am exhausted all the time. Is there a medical reason for this (I am not anemic) or is it simply due to bad eating habits?

feet tall and weigh 80 pounds. I find that if I eat more than 1,100 calories a day, I gain weight. Do I have a thyroid problem?

DEAR READER — That is a good possibility. Your caloric requirement may simply be lower than normal or you may be burning up calories too slowly.

Ninety pounds seems a little on the light side to me. Would you feel more comfortable at 110? Perhaps your body is telling you to eat more, that you need more weight. I suggest that you check with a doctor who can not only evaluate your thyroid function but also your whole nutritional status.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio, 44101.

DEAR READER — Nausea, loss of appetite and exhaustion raise the possibility of a medical condition. Many different diseases can cause the symptoms you describe. Get checked by a doctor. Even if you simply have an eating problem, a physician may be able to straighten out the situation and help you feel better.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My daughter is only 7, but when she sweats she gets a terrible perspiration odor. I bathe her every night. Could the soap be causing this problem? What can I do for her?

DEAR READER — Body odor can be a difficult problem. Rather than switching soaps and experimenting on your own, take your daughter for an examination by a pediatrician. That way, you can get some expert professional advice.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am menopausal and have systemic allergies, but am basically a pretty upbeat sort of person. The problem is that I get so exhausted that I have to use a cane. Have you ever heard of someone reacting to the change of life this way? I take estrogen.

DEAR READER — Menopause can cause weakness and loss of energy in some women. These complaints aren't common, but they can occur. The estrogen you are taking should counteract the menopausal symptoms, so I think you need a thorough medical evaluation to make sure there isn't another cause for your problem. Thyroid deficiency, anemia and glandular imbalances can cause exhaustion, as can a host of medical ills. Ask your gynecologist to refer you to an internal-medicine diagnostician — and please let me know the outcome.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 18. 5

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
The Smith echo is a defensive signal enabling defenders to show enthusiasm for the opening lead suit. The signal is given in the suit that the declarer first attacks. A high spot by a defender tells his partner to continue the suit initially led by the defenders. A low spot-card would suggest a shift. Let's see how this would apply today.

But what if East originally held J-9-5 of hearts and the declarer started with K-Q-7? And let's interchange the spade ace and king in the East and South hands. Declarer's play will be the same as before. However, East will have no reason to signal for a heart continuation and will play the lowly two of diamonds (a discouraging Smith echo with respect to the heart suit). Because West should then know his partner does not have the queen of hearts, he should shift to a spade to get the second round of hearts led through the declarer.

After the standard fourth-best lead, declarer wins East's heart jack with the king and plays a diamond to dummy. Using Smith signals, West plays the nine and East plays the 10. Each defender is showing strength in the suit of the opening lead — hearts. Declarer now loses the club finesse. Knowing that East liked the opening lead, West gets a low heart to East's queen, and the defenders cash out their hearts to set the contract.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JULY 31, 1986

Some splendid opportunities will be offered you in the year ahead, both through business and social contacts. You will reap success, provided you exercise your best judgment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Others aren't apt to help you with material needs today if they think you've been too wasteful or extravagant recently. Have you? Major changes are ahead for Leos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Verbal agreements aren't apt to count for much today. If there is an important arrangement you want to work out with someone, get it down on paper.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Duties that you sweep under the rug today in order to take an early weekend are going to catch up with you sooner or later. It may not be worth it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be on your very best behavior at social gatherings. If you make a spectacle of yourself, you'll be the topic of conversation all next week.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take nothing for granted where business is concerned today. You may not be as lucky as usual in situations that normally come off without a hitch.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Thoughtless statements you make today could be blown out of proportion and later cause you unnecessary mental anguish. Weigh every word.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Investment proposals must be thoroughly examined in every detail today. What looks good on the surface may be ridden with decay below.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In partnership arrangements today, each partner must be able to contribute what the other lacks. Without this balance the enterprise could crumble.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Guard against tendencies today to think that duties that require attention will somehow take care of themselves. Unfortunately, they won't.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Conditions in your friendships are a trifle unusual today. Both you and your chums may expect more from one another than you should.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Sparks from that domestic fire that started yesterday are still smoldering. Be careful you're not the one who fans the flames.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be wary of signing agreements today. If you commit yourself to a bum deal, you won't be able to slip out of it.

Microwave Magic

not melt the paraffin in the microwave oven.

For long-term storage of jams and preserves, they should be processed in a boiling water bath (conventional method).

I'm going to the North Carolina mountains soon. If I'm lucky I'll gather some blackberries or wild raspberries and use the recipe to make jam.

BERRY JAM

(Makes 4 cups)

3 cups fresh berries, washed and drained
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 package powdered pectin
2 1/2 cups sugar
Place berries in a deep bowl. Stir in lemon juice and pectin. Microwave on 100% power 10-15 minutes, stirring several times or until mixture comes to a full rolling boil. Stir in sugar.

Microwave on 100% power 5-7 minutes or until mixture returns to a full boil and reaches "sheet" test. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Peach jam or peach butter is really easy to make with the help of a food processor and the microwave oven.

FRESH PEACH JAM

2 cups coarse peach puree (peel peach and chop in food processor to desired consistency)
4 tablespoons powdered pectin
2 1/2 cups sugar
Measure 2 cups puree into a 2-quart batter bowl. Stir in pectin. Microwave on 100% power 2 minutes. Add sugar and microwave on 100% power 3-4 minutes stirring several times. Use "sheet" test for doneness. Stir 5 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars.

If you like your jam spiced a little add 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1/4 teaspoon allspice and 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

This jelly can be made any time fresh fruit is not an ingre-

CINNAMON OR APPLE JELLY

2 cups apple juice
2 1/2 cups sugar
1 package dry fruit pectin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup red cinnamon candies
Combine apple juice, sugar and dry pectin in a 2-quart batter bowl. Microwave on 100% power 5-7 minutes or until mixture boils. Add remaining ingredients and stir until candy dissolves. Microwave on 100% 5-10 minutes or until "sheet" test shows doneness. Skim and pour into sterilized jars and seal. Reduce power level during cooking if needed to prevent "bubble-up, boil-over."

If you prefer plain apple jelly without cinnamon, omit the candies and reduce the dry pectin to 1/2 package.

Now is a great time to make pepper jelly. The peppers are available and inexpensive. You may even have some in the garden. This is a favorite anytime.

GREEN PEPPER JELLY

(Makes 4 cups)

2 medium bell peppers
3/4 cup cider vinegar
3/4 cups sugar
2 tablespoons fresh hot pepper - cayenne or jalapeno
3 ounces liquid fruit pectin
Green food coloring
Remove seeds from peppers. Chop fine in food processor. Mix with vinegar and sugar. Microwave on 100% power 5-10 minutes or to a rolling boil. Add liquid pectin and continue microwaving until mixture comes to a full rolling boil again; cook for 1 minute. Spoon off foam and add a few drops of green food coloring. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

The difference between a jam and a conserve - the conserve has nut meats added. This conserve can be served with a pork roast or used on a breakfast toast.

PLUM CONSERVE

1 pound plums, pitted and chopped
1 orange, seeded and chopped
2 tablespoons thinly sliced orange peel
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped walnuts or pecans
Microwave plums, sugar, oranges, and orange peels, covered tightly with plastic wrap on 100% power 8 minutes, stirring once. Stir in nuts, re-cover and microwave on 100% power 2 minutes longer or until peel is transparent. Let stand covered 5 minutes. Chill.

...Cook

Grease and flour an 8- or 9-inch square pan. Lightly spread some of batter onto bottom of prepared pan. Gently sprinkle with dry frosting mix to cover batter, then add remaining batter, spreading evenly, then cover with remaining frosting mix. Dot with margarine. Bake at 350° for 30-35 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm. Do not cut with knife. Break with cake breaker or a fork. This recipe is quick, easy and delicious. (Not my own recipe, but I altered it).

CORN BREAD

(My own recipe 'from scratch')

Mix together:
1/2 cup Wesson oil
1 egg
3/4 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1/2 cup water
Sift together:
3/4 cup flour
3/4 cup white corn meal
3/4 cup yellow corn meal
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon (rounded) baking powder
3 tablespoons sugar
Add dry ingredients to liquid and stir until well blended.

Grease and flour an 8- or 9-inch square pan and bake at 350° 35 to 40 minutes until browned and bread leaves sides of pan. Can be baked in muffin pans with paper liners in the microwave on full power for 1 1/2 minutes, turning pan half-way around, and baking 1 1/2 minutes more. Makes 18 muffins. (If I bake corn bread, I'd better be sure to put the butter and syrup on the table!)

FRESH BROCCOLI SALAD

(From a friend in Orlando; I revised it some)
4 cups broccoli flowerettes, broken up fine
2 tablespoons sugar (or less, according to your taste for sweetness)

1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 medium onion, chopped fine
8 slices bacon, fried crisp and crumbled

Trim and wash broccoli and let drain. Make dressing of remaining ingredients. At least two hours before serving time, toss dressing and broccoli together, being sure to coat each piece of broccoli good with dressing. Store, covered, in refrigerator; stir thoroughly each half hour. Any left over is still good later. Serves 8.

Grandmother Wonders How Close Is Coed's Close Friend

DEAR ABBY: My granddaughter, "Annette," 18, just graduated from high school. She was a straight-A student. She's been accepted by the college of her choice for pre-med and plans to pursue a medical career. In filling out the form for a roommate, she wrote the following: "I would very much like to share my room with 'Cecille,' as we are close friends and have been cohabitating."

Dear Abby

this can be.

UP TO HERE IN DOWNER'S GROVE

I'm sure she didn't mean for me to see it, but I am paying for her housing and the form was with the housing contract. I told her I thought she had made a poor choice of words as someone might think that she and Cecille were lesbians. I received no answer. I don't know whether she changed the wording on the form, but when her father reached for it, she grabbed it and informed him that it was "personal."

Abby, these two girls have been close friends through grammar and high school. Annette has never been involved with any boy, but I assumed it was because her father was so strict he scared them away.

I wouldn't be surprised if there is something between these girls. Neither looks the part, but who can tell? I want to warn my granddaughters about the dangers of this sort of relationship. Please give me some idea of how to approach it.

ANONYMOUS PLEASE

DEAR ANONYMOUS: I don't know what kind of "dangers" you foresee, but I think it would be inappropriate for you to approach the subject of your granddaughter's sexuality. She's 18, and is entitled to privacy. Furthermore, she's asked for no discussion, so "if it ain't broke, don't fix it."

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about my pet peeve, which I have never seen aired in your column. It's people (usually senior citizens) who talk to bank cashiers, grocery clerks, salespeople, etc. about their aches and pains, the weather, etc., while others are lined up waiting to be helped.

I am often in a hurry because I am on my lunch hour or have an appointment, and when I am held up by one of these characters, I could scream. Yesterday I stood in line behind a woman at a busy supermarket checkout counter while she showed the cashier pictures of her grandchild!

Please print this for people who don't know how frustrating

DEAR UP: Most people who serve the public know a variety of ways to get such folks to move along. It takes only a moment to dismiss a proud grandmother with a kind word and a smile. Slow down.

DEAR ABBY: I've wanted to do this for years. I should have written long ago to compliment you, rather than waiting until criticism was the order of the day.

However, "Confused" wrote to say that when her 3-year-old child was killed by a hit-and-run driver, she donated the child's organs without the consent of the baby's father. She asked if she was wrong, and you said "No."

Abby, you missed the point entirely. No matter how commendable her desire to save lives by such a generous gesture, she had no right to do this without the consent of the baby's father. This was his child, too. Giving such consent without his permission was inexcusable. Doing so surreptitiously and against his forcefully expressed wishes was probably actionable by law.

Once again, I agree with her idea, but the way she accomplished it was fraudulent and borders on the criminal. Sign me ...

A FATHER IN BAYTOWN, TEXAS

DEAR FATHER: You might be interested in knowing that my mail is running 3-to-1 in your favor.

DEAR ABBY: I need to know something about homosexuals, and I can't ask anyone I know for fear of exposing my husband. We have been married for 25 years, and in all that time I have never suspected him of homosexual behavior. I've suspected a couple of his friends, but never him.

My husband has had ulcerative proctitis for the last 20 years. Yesterday I mentioned this to my friend and she said, "Oh, that's a homosexual disease." This left me very upset and suspicious of my husband, and I need some answers before this totally destroys my marriage.

Please ask your medical experts if ulcerative proctitis is a homosexual disease.

NAGGING DOUBTS

DEAR NAGGING: I consulted Dr. Williams C. Bernstein, senior consultant in colon and rectal surgery at the University of Minnesota Hospitals, and he assured me that ulcerative proctitis is NOT a homosexual disease.

For further reassurance, you should discuss the matter of your husband's physical condition with his physician. And questions concerning your husband's sexual activities should be addressed to your husband.

DEAR ABBY: "Afraid to
