

Proposed Psychiatric Hospital Passes First Hurdle

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

A proposed 80-bed psychiatric hospital to be built in southeast Seminole County, passed its first hurdle at a Health Systems Agency of East Central Florida (HSA-ECF) public hearing Monday night and will go before the agency's project review committee Thursday night.

The application to build and operate the private hospital was submitted by Health Care Corporation of Chattanooga, Tenn. It is scheduled to be reviewed by the full HSA board on June 25. Their recommendation will then go to the state for final approval or denial by the end of July.

A need for a long-term psychiatric facility in the greater Orlando area has been identified by the HSA-ECF and the bed allocations applied for by Health Care Corporation are separate from 80 other hospital beds which the HSA has indicated are needed in Seminole County.

Those bed allocations are being sought by Florida Hospital, Hospital Management Associates of Ft. Myers and Hospital Affiliates International of Nashville and Atlanta. Florida Hospital is seeking 50 beds for cancer patients at its Altamonte facility. Hospital Management Associates wants to build a 78-bed facility in Longwood and Hospital Affiliates International has filed a letter of intent to build a hospital with 150-200 beds in the same area.

For the proposed psychiatric facility, Health Care Corporation has an option on a site located on Howell Branch Road at State Road 426 in the Goldenrod area. Dr. Nat Winston, executive vice president for professional relations for Health Care Corporation, said today he thinks "Chances are excellent the application will be approved, because the need is there."

"Orlando is the only metro area in Florida that does not have a free standing psychiatric care facility (not connected with a medical hospital)," he added, "and it would be a valuable asset and serve a need."

Dr. Winston said that 40 of the 80 beds applied for would be for adolescents, 20 for geriatric problems, 10 for alcoholic and drug treatment and 10 general psychiatric patients.

The adolescent program would include a sub-program for the treatment of true adolescent drug and alcohol addiction, he said.

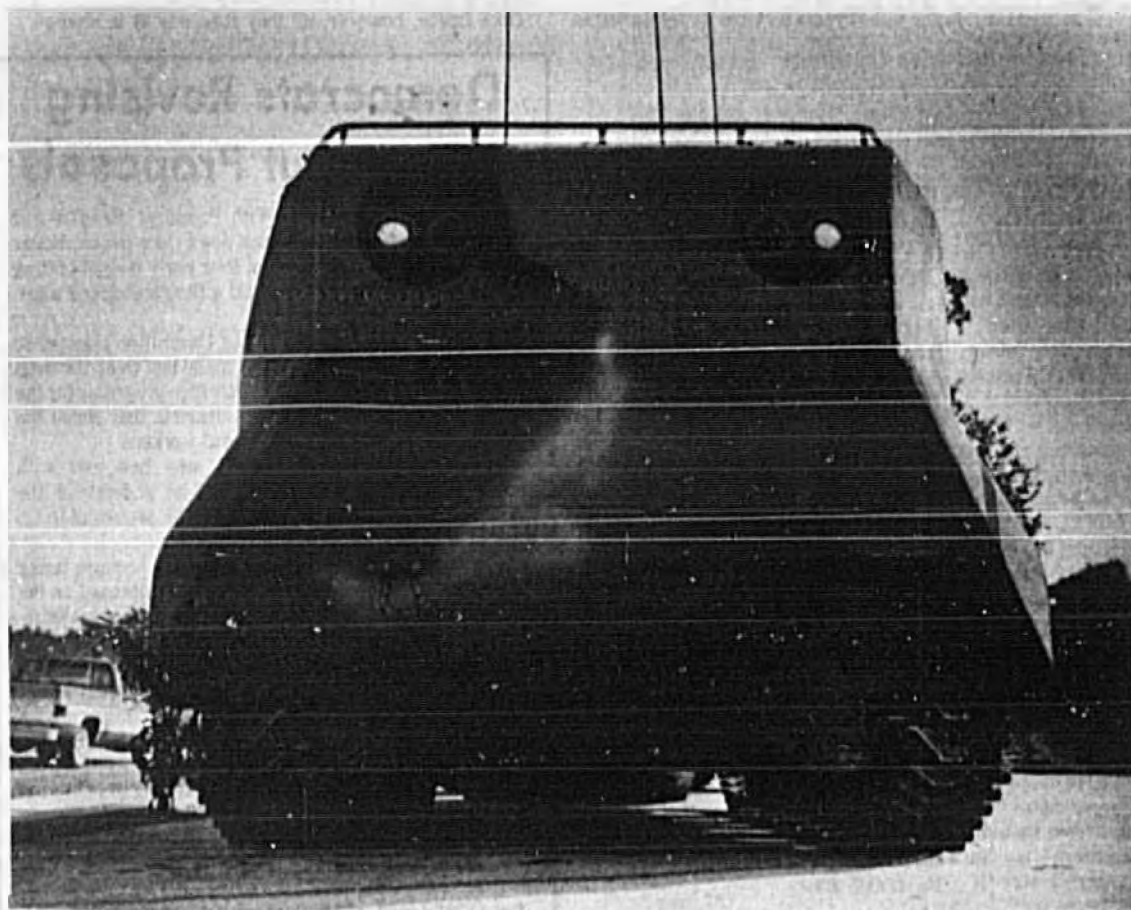

Winston defined 'long-term' as anything over six months, but added the proposed facility would not be for permanent care. The average stay would be under a month, he said.

He said the advantage of a free-standing psychiatric facility would be that the sole emphasis is on treating psychiatric problems and treatment won't become diluted by other hospital programs. Also, the facility can have a swimming pool, gymnasium, and tennis courts for the use of the patients.

Winston said all physicians in the greater Orlando area were contacted about the facility, and 10 local psychiatrists have indicated they will serve on the staff.

There would be approximately 150 employees and "most if not all" of these would be from this area, he said.

Senate Approves $9.4 Billion Budget

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Senate today by a 90-9 vote approved a $9.4 billion compromise budget adopted earlier by the House and sent the spending plan to Gov. Bob Graham, who has threatened to veto it.

The budget, passed by the Senate after a low-keyed debate, raises the minimum property tax rate for school funding but contains no major new statewide taxes.

The House adopted the plan Tuesday night after secretly clearing it with Sen. Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, and his conservative coalition, which earlier had wrested control of the Senate's budget position from Senate President W. D. Childers.

House members then adjourned and left town. Childers and his supporters could have blocked the Senate's taking up the plan as a two-thirds vote was needed but Childers, his voice subdued, brought the measure to the floor without a fight.

After adopting the budget, the Senate adjourned, ending the special session at 10:51 a.m.

Senate Appropriations Chairman Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, noted that the only unresolved budget questions between the House and Senate concerned a proposed engineering school and other projects at the University of West Florida, in Pensacola, Childers' home town.

"That's really not much of a difference," Gordon said, but added he still opposed the spending plan.

"I don't think it's an adequate budget," he said. "The people of Florida have asked us to come up here and not do business as usual," said Minority Leader Jim Scott, R-Fort Lauderdale, in supporting the budget.

He said the spending plan succeeds in readdressing the state's spending priorities, particularly in the area of transportation.

Barron thanked Childers for bringing the budget to a vote and said he was proud "we have been able to meet all the requests of the chief executive of this state" concerning law enforcement, education and transportation without raising taxes.

Both houses rejected proposals to raise the sales tax or gas tax. The approved property tax increase would be negligible for most homeowners but could reach as high as 17 percent on the school portion of the tax in some counties.

Although the House's action had the appearance of being a "take it or leave it" message to the Senate, Barron's endorsement of the spending plan signified that majorities in both houses were behind the compromise plan.

Barron, in fact, coatless and wearing a vest, appeared on the House floor as Haben pounded his gavel at 8:13 p.m. to end the special session as far as the House was concerned.

The Senate was due to take up the budget today but its action could prove moot if Gov. Bob Graham vetoes the spending plan, as he has threatened.

The governor declined to meet with reporters after the House vote, but said earlier Tuesday the budget was "inadequate" and threatened to call another special session.

The House rejected several tax increase proposals put forth during the session, including sales and gas tax hikes Graham argued were needed for law enforcement and transportation programs.

Rather than imposing new taxes, the House chose to balance the budget by cutting the amount of sales tax collections big retailers are allowed to keep as a service charge for collecting the tax and by using $63 million in unexpected tax revenues economists now project for the current fiscal year.

House Rules Chairman Sam Bell called it a "historic moment" for the House to adjourn before the Senate.

Ironically, Barron was Senate president when the Senate approved a state budget in 1978, threw it in the House's lap and left town.

Asked if the House's action Tuesday night was a smart political move, Barron said, "I think so. I invented it."

Barron's forces needed a two-thirds vote to bring the House budget to the Senate floor. Barron conceded Childers could block it but said if the measure reached a vote, it would carry. Childers had blocked final approval of the budget in the Senate, insisting on several projects for his hometown, Pensacola, including money to convert an old air base into an industrial park and sophomore and freshmen and engineering programs for the University of West Florida.

House members agreed to the $2.5 million for the industrial park in the budget they hoped to force the Senate to accept, but not the UWF expansion.

About Graham calling a special session to raise taxes, Barron said, "That's a tough political decision the governor must make...I would be careful about it."

House Minority Leader Curt Kiser, R-Clearwater, agreed: "That would be a good political situation for us (Republicans) to be in."

The House approved the budget and four related measures with virtually no debate by wide vote margins. One bill was identified only by number before its passage within 60 seconds of its introduction.

"I have served here for nine years and I have never seen a body that sticks together like this body," Haben said.

Democrats Plan Tax Cut Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says he won't retreat any farther on his tax cut proposal, but House Democrats say they plan to make all the changes for him.

An official Democratic task force on personal income tax reductions planned a closed meeting today to continue work on a tax cut aimed at lower- and middle-income Americans, rejecting the president's across-the-board approach.

Another task force on business tax cuts, appearing before the full House tax-writing committee, planned to make recommendations that would scale down the administration's accelerated depreciation proposal and reduce the top corporate tax rate — something that was not in the administration's plan.

During a news conference Tuesday, the president said he backed off his original three-year, 30 percent tax cut "in order to create a bipartisan package" that would attract the support of conservative Democrats.

Reagan defended the concessions he made on his tax proposal, but he said he would go no farther. "I can't retreat and I don't think the people want us to."

Meanwhile, the Democratic-dominated House Ways and Means Committee began work Tuesday that likely will result in a tax cut bill substantially different from what Reagan wants.

"A lot of us are not particularly happy that the bill is being written by Democrats," said Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y. "But this is a position the White House put us in" by rejecting the Democrats' offers to compromise.

He said the millions of Americans earning less than $15,000 "are in no way compensated for 'bracket creep' and Social Security increase" under the administration's proposal. "We started out with the premise that is the least we can do," he said.

The task force also plans to skew a bulk of the tax cut to middle-income Americans earning between $15,000 and $50,000.

Floods Could Be EOC's Waterloo

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's $472,000 emergency operations center at Five Points, built to withstand tornadoes and the high winds of hurricanes and even nuclear disaster could meet its Waterloo if a heavy rain storm comes to the county.

In a downpour over a short period, the partially underground facility could flood.

As partial proof, during a 4½-inch rainfall soon after the one-of-a-kind building opened a year ago water seeped into the kitchen area.

Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser told county commissioners Tuesday an additional $14,000 must be spent on the facility to upgrade underground "sump pumps" to keep water out of the facility during heavy rainfall.

Commissioners for the second time, however, delayed action to look for another solution. In the next few days the commissioners are to view the problem at the Five Points complex.

Kaiser told commissioners the majority of the $14,000 expenditure is not the cost of the new pumps. The major cost is for running electrical, wiring and conduit, and installation of larger discharge pipes in the plumbing. To accomplish these tasks, "a lot of steel-reinforced concrete "16-17 feet underground will have to be broken out for the installations and then replaced.

Kaiser said the existing pumps are not adequate to meet the maximum projected rainfall for the Orlando area and do not provide a safety margin. He said the architect of the facility misunderstood specifications.

According to what was desired, the two pumps were to each have the capacity for pumping eight inches of rainfall daily. Instead the two pumps combined can pump eight inches daily.

Record rainfall for the Orlando area, Kaiser said is 9.67 inches. He said upgrading the pumps would include a manual control override in case of electrical power failure as well.

Kaiser said the building was originally supposed to have gravity drainage to take water from the site across County Home Road to a swamp, but such a plan proved too expensive.

Economists Optimistic Anyway

Housing Starts Drop, Production In Lull

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housing starts in May were at their lowest level in a year. Also that month, U.S. industrial production was barely growing.

Those two reports Tuesday — and other recent ones showing nearly zero growth in retail sales in May and a slight rise in unemployment to 7.6 percent — might lead to the conclusion the economy is in bad shape.

But a sampling of economists around the country produces grounds for optimism.

The consensus is the economy is in a lull, but things will pick up in a few months.

The Commerce Department said housing starts fell 14 percent in May to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,152,000. That was the lowest since the last housing recession hit bottom at 938,000 in May 1980. But it was still 23 percent above that low point.

The Federal Reserve said industrial production grew only 0.3 percent in May, and much of that was not due to sales but to the auto industry building inventories to tide itself over during close-downs for model changes later in the summer.

In New York, Citibank and Bankers Trust lowered their prime rates to 19½ from the prevailing 20 percent. Monday, Chemical Bank lowered its prime to 19, and some market analysts had hoped other banks would match that level.

Herman Smith, a Fort Worth builder and president of the National Association of Home Builders, said, "Until interest rates come down to a level that accurately reflects the true cost of money we see housing continuing to limp along at its current depressed level."

"I think we're seeing a temporary lull in the economy," said economist David Ernst of Evans Economics, a Washington-based forecasting firm. "The economy should begin pick up steam over the remainder of the year because of a number of positive developments."

David Cross of Chase Econometrics, a forecasting firm located near Philadelphia, says the economy is in a "holding pattern" with no significant real growth during the next three or four months. But he too believes President Reagan's program will boost both consumer confidence and business investment.

Robert Gough of Data Resources Inc. in Lexington, Mass., says the reports for this year's second quarter are coming out so gloomy largely because the first quarter was so strong. In other words, the first quarter was in part borrowed from the second.

"The economy ran so fast in the first quarter, it's got to slow down and catch its breath," Gough said. "This means the latter part of the summer should show strong improvement, particularly as the Reagan program becomes more known."

And Gough believes 1981 as a whole, compared to 1980, "is going to be a very good year."

Toenail's His Turn-On
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Battery charges may be filed this week against the University of Southern California's phantom pedicurist, dubbed Leonard da Toenail by campus police.

Investigators said the suspect, whose name has not been disclosed, has been crawling underneath library tables and painting the exposed toenails of unsuspecting female students.

Campus police were first notified of "Toenail" when a female student complained she walked into Doheny Library with pink nails but walked out with green ones.

The city attorney's office will decide Friday whether to file misdemeanor battery charges against the man.

County Eyes 5 Percent Tax Increase

County revenues are expected to go down in the new fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 and county property taxes may go up by five percent, County Administrator Roger Neiswender told county commissioners Tuesday.

Neiswender said because county revenues will drop from the $31.1 million, received during the current year, to $30.9 million in fiscal 1982, the property tax rate will have to be increased.

In his budget message Neiswender is recommending an increase from the current $5.24 per $1,000 assessed property value to $5.51.

Commissioners were presented with the packet of department budget requests Tuesday and will begin reviewing the documents Monday.

The major cause of the decrease in revenues and increase in taxes, Neiswender said, is an increase in homestead exemptions of $133.9 million above the current year.

According to a constitutional amendment, approved by the voters in 1980, homestead exemptions will increase from $15,000 this year to $20,000 in the new fiscal year. Homestead value is exempt from property taxes.

At the same time, the county's taxrolls in the 1982 budget year will include new properties valued at $164 million which may be taxed. But the taxes on the new construction will not be sufficient, Mrs. Hastings said, to make up the loss from the homestead exemptions, and costs of inflation and cost of services to the newly constructed properties.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Israeli Commandos Blow Up House In South Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A combined force of Israeli commandos and rightist militias blew up a house in south Lebanon's U.N. peacekeeping buffer zone today and exchanged machine gun fire with Lebanese army regulars stationed there, Beirut radio said.

The state-run radio said the Israeli unit entered the village of Qantara, 5 miles from the Israeli border and blew up the house of Abbas Mohammed Abbas.

"The Israeli militia force exchanged machine gun fire with Lebanese army regulars before retreating," the Beirut radio broadcast said.

Qantara, in the Nigerian zone of the United Nations peace-keeping forces in the south, is one of the main positions of the Lebanese army in the region.

The broadcast said there were no immediate reports of casualties and that the machine gun exchange was "brief."

There are some 1,000 Lebanese army regulars stationed in the frontier's buffer zone alongside the U.N. peacekeeping force.

Afghans Burn Soviet Airbase

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Afghan guerrillas set fire to the Soviet airbase north of Kabul, detonating ammunition and fuel and forcing Russian jet fighters and helicopters to flee the flames, a Western diplomat said today.

The dramatic attack June 9 was one of several incidents marking the anniversary of the death of Abdul Najib Kalakani, known to Afghans as the "Robin Hood of Afghanistan" because his raids were said to benefit the poor.

The guerrillas "poured gasoline in the drain ditches leading into the airfield and set it on fire," the diplomat said. "All sources agree large amounts of ammunition and petroleum stores exploded in the resulting fire."

"Soviet MIG jet fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships at the base took off shortly after the first explosion to escape the flames," the Western diplomat said.

Afghan authorities executed Kalakani June 8, 1980, because his 3,000-strong rebel band — the Sarna — were assassinating Russians and had roused the people of Kabul to rise.

Base Bani-Sadr In Hiding

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Iranian President Abolhassen Bani-Sadr was in hiding today fearing for his life as the radical clergy-dominated parliament assembled for a debate that could force the moderate head of state from office.

As Islamic authorities rounded up moderates and the beleaguered president slipped away to a hideout after a bomb explosion at his home, Iran's parliament voted Tuesday to debate Bani-Sadr's competence for his job.

While the Majlis voted, about 3,000 God's Party adherents outside shouted "Death to Bani-Sadr." Hundreds of other fundamentalists across Tehran chanted "Bani-Sadr the traitor should be executed."

A petition from 120 members of the 270-man Majlis had requested today's debate, which ended with a vote on Bani-Sadr's impeachment — a vote he would have no chance of winning in the clergy-dominated body.

Casselberry OKs Commercial Zoning Despite Protests

Despite protests from a community representative of the Indian Hills subdivision, the Casselberry City Council voted unanimously to rezone a 23-acre parcel of land from residential to commercial at their regular meeting Monday night.

In a public hearing conducted before the final vote, a spokesman for residents in the area denounced ComBank Trust Properties' request, stating that many Indian Hills homeowners purchased property on the assumption that no commercial zoning would be allowed at the subdivision's entrance.

Bill Doster, a representative for ComBank Trust Properties, said the council was obligated to approve his client's zone change request since a comprehensive zoning plan had already been approved for the area, designating commercial zoning.

"The city is obligated to bring the area into compliance with the comprehensive zoning which has already been put into effect," he said.

All sides of the land, situated on State Road 436 and stretching along the Kiwani Trail, were already zoned commercial before the council took action Monday night.

Residents had fought the commercial zoning change since public access would be given to the area, they said. The "residential quality" of the entire Indian Hills area, would decline, the spokesman added.

Although officials granted the change, a condition was inserted which stipulates that a 75-foot buffer will exist all along Kiwani Trail where no commercial building would take place to preserve its natural quality.

This area will be used for landscaping, water retention, and utilities, either sub-surface or overhead, "all akin to commercial C-1 (commercial) uses."

With the zoning's passage, ComBank Properties agreed to a "deed restriction" whereby the city would be assured that although the land still belongs to developers, no commercial building would be done in the buffer area.

Furthermore, ComBank Trust Properties must get permission from the council to implement any activity on the buffer site. —SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY

Sanford Man's Conviction Overturned

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

It appears as if Clifford Milliken Jr. of Sanford will be tried for the second time in a year for allegedly sexually assaulting an 11-year-old girl.

Following a Fifth District Court of Appeals decision overturning Milliken's 1980 conviction and 100-year prison sentence, Assistant Seminole State Attorney Randy Kramer today said he plans to take the case to trial, but he hasn't decided exactly when.

Milliken, of 422 San Marcos Ave., was convicted last July 1 on four counts of sexual battery including allegations he took nude photographs of his victim. Now retired Circuit Judge Volle Williams Jr. sentenced Milliken to four consecutive 25-year prison terms.

Milliken's public defender appealed the conviction, citing state law which prohibits any persons from being tried for a capital felony — a crime which carries the possibility of life imprisonment or death — without first being indicted by a grand jury.

The state contended that Milliken's crimes did not warrant prosecution as capital felonies, and therefore no grand jury indictment was necessary.

The appellate court disagreed and remanded the case to the State Attorney's Office for possible retrial.

The second time around, Milliken will probably be charged only with four counts of committing a lewd assault on a child,

Kramer said, an offense which carries a maximum penalty of 15 years imprisonment per count.

The lesser charge also will not necessitate a grand jury indictment, he said.

DEPUTY DIES IN PARKING LOT

Harry Lewis seemed fine just before it happened, laughing and joking with fellow Seminole County sheriff's deputies. His only complaint was that he thought he had pulled a chest muscle assembling a swimming pool.

That supposed pulled muscle turned out to be something far worse — a heart attack. Lewis, 44, had just come on duty Monday and was sitting in his patrol car talking to deputy Leonard Conley when he was stricken about 3 p.m. As he lay in the sheriff's office parking lot, paramedics worked furiously on him for nearly a half hour, but were unable to revive him, primarily because his veins had collapsed and there was no way to inject medication into his blood stream.

A retired U.S. Marine with 21 years service, Lewis started as a part-time Seminole deputy in April 1978 and moved up to full-time status in August of that year.

Lewis is survived by his wife Gretchen.

TRIO ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY

Three Sanford men were in the Seminole County Jail today charged with robbing a 78-year-old man of his wife's Social Security check.

Being held under $5,000 bond on charges of strongarm robbery and assault were: Eddie Smith, 18, of 615 Palmetto Ave.; Wilbert Williams Jr. 20, of Lincoln Street; and Arthur Mitchell, 20, of 501 Sanford Ave.

The trio is accused of robbing Louis Sarron of Bram Towers, Sanford, about 12:45 p.m. Monday as he walked along Second Street near Chapman Avenue. Sarron told police the three men grabbed him and snatched an envelope from his pocket containing his wife's $28.80 Social Security check.

Working with descriptions provided by witnesses, police were able to apprehend the men about an hour after the robbery.

BIG TROUBLE, LITTLE HAUL

Somebody went to a lot of trouble for very little this week when they broke into the Big 10 tire store at 2650 Orlando Drive, Sanford.

According to a police report, burglar(s) entered the store between 6 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. Tuesday by removing the screen from an exhaust vent, bending back the fan blades and crawling through the vent and into the store.

Once inside, however, all they stole was $4 in change.

Nuclear War 'Frightening Possibility,' Reagan Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says the fact both superpowers have nuclear weapons is a deterrent to their use, but he acknowledges a U.S.-Soviet nuclear conflict remains a "frightening possibility."

Reagan, in his first formal give-and-take with reporters since March 6, touched on a wide variety of topics during 34 minutes of questioning Tuesday. Topics ranged from Israel's raid on Iraq to the future of Soviet communism to concessions on his tax-cut legislation.

Through the verbal jousting, Reagan remained cool — smiling easily and offering an occasional quip. His voice was steady and, recalling the attempt on his life March 30, he said, "If I'm a medical miracle, I'm a happy one."

The president also chastised Democrats in Congress for delaying work on his tax cut legislation and by passing reductions in federal spending "they know can't be made."

"The people of this nation have asked for action," Reagan said in an opening statement, "and they deserve it now, not somewhere down in the misty future."

Reagan also termed "sheer demagoguery" House Speaker Thomas O'Neill's charge that the president and his economic program are out of touch with the working American. The president said he had a poor childhood and "got what education I got all by myself."

In response, O'Neill accused Reagan of trying to dictate his program to Congress. "I'd have to say the honeymoon is over," said the speaker.

But while Reagan talked about domestic issues, reporters evidently were more interested in his foreign policy.

Reminded of earlier comments that communism is "a sad, bizarre chapter in human history," the president said events in Poland and reports on Russian youth show "communism is an aberration, it's not a normal way of living for human beings.

"And I think we are seeing the first beginning cracks, the beginning of the end."

Should a limited, but direct, struggle ever erupt between the Soviets and the United States, Reagan agreed it would be difficult to keep it from spreading to what a reporter called "a thermonuclear war."

"It's a frightening possibility and history bears it out," Reagan answered. He said he hoped the mutual possession of such weapons would preclude their use, but "as I say, history seems to be against that. There comes a moment in desperation when one side tries to get an advantage over the other."

On another aspect of the nuclear question, Reagan said Israel had "reason for concern" in attacking a nuclear power plant in Iraq more than a week ago. The Israeli charged Iraq was using the plant to build a bomb for use against the Jewish state.

They Scheduled An Execution, But No One Came

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) —

Apparently everyone forgot convicted murderer James William White was supposed to die by lethal injection Monday. Late Tuesday a judge tipped to the missed execution date issued a stay and blamed the mixup in part on a computer error.

A trial court had ordered that White, 24, of Gentry, Ark., be executed June 15 for a double murder.

"There seems to have been a problem in communications," said Nancy Nunally, Corrections Department information officer.

Tom Brett, presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, ordered the stay of execution for White Tuesday evening after United Press International called to ask about his status.

At first Brett said court files showed no one by that name was awaiting execution. He said later that was because no one had filed the automatic appeal required under Oklahoma law for review of all capital cases.

"Later, we confirmed White was awaiting execution, and Judge Brett issued the stay," Ms. Nunally said.

Telephone Hoax Spreads South

MIAMI (UPI) — The series of telephone hoaxes involving sexual assault has spread south to north Dade County, authorities reported Tuesday.

The calls began earlier this year in south Broward County where police said a female prankster would call the parents of a young girl, pretending to be her, and screaming she was being raped.

Dade County communications sergeant Robert Jenkins said police are getting about 10 reports a day of such calls.

Mine Construction

Workers Hit Agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The soft coal industry was returning to full-scale production today for the first time in nearly three months following a tentative agreement on a new contract for mine construction workers.

Officials of the United Mine Workers union predicted pickets by 11,000 mine construction workers who have been on strike 83 days would come down quickly as word of the tentative agreement reached the coal fields.

The pickets had prevented many of the UMW's 100,000 soft-coal miners from returning to work after they ratified a separate agreement 10 days ago. Estimates of the number of miners who stayed off the job because of the pickets ranged from 50,000 to 95,000.

Court 'Chaperones' Woman

SAGINAW, Mich. (UPI) — A woman convicted of killing her boyfriend who beat her frequently, will have to be extremely judicious in her love life for at least the next five years.

Judith E. Miller, 37, can neither marry nor live with a man without first getting court approval.

In effect, she must answer to a "chaperone" in the form of her probation officer until 1986. That's when her probationary period for killing her boyfriend ends.

Ms. Miller was convicted in the Jan. 27, 1980, slaying of her live-in boyfriend, Richard Collins, 34. Testimony at the trial showed Collins frequently beat Ms. Miller during an on-again, off-again relationship.

FAA Updates Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Administration is updating its contingency plans in anticipation of a strike by air traffic controllers Monday, FAA chief J. Lynn Helms says.

Most long-distance commercial flights still would operate during a strike, but few, if any, private aircraft would fly, Helms said.

IN BRIEF

Quintuplets Surprise Parents In Ft. Lauderdale; 3 Survive

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Linda and Elliott Rogge expected triplets as a result of the fertility pill she took. The quintuplets that were born — two of them stillborn — were a complete surprise, to the Rogges and their doctors.

"Two were under the other three, and they didn't show up" on soundwave tests doctors took of Linda Rogge during her pregnancy, Elliott Rogge said. "We had for virtually the entire pregnancy been expecting triplets. At no time was anyone aware there were quintuplets."

The three surviving infants struggle for life today at the Broward County General Medical Center — one, Monica, doing well; the other two, Tamara and Eric, in critical condition.

How Dry They Are

CHIPLEY (UPI) — Clay Washington County, the only one of seven dry Florida counties that has never asked its voters if they want to buy booze legally, has scheduled a wet-dry vote July 28.

The County Commission set the election Tuesday after Supervisor of Elections Marie Mitchell said she had certified 2,543 signatures on petitions calling for a vote on alcohol. Signatures of 2,323 voters were required to force the question to the ballot.

Coptic Church Members Tried

MIAMI (UPI) — Closing arguments were slated today in the federal drug conspiracy trial of nine members of the Ethiopian Zion Coptic Church accused of involvement in a large scale marijuana smuggling operation.

Late Tuesday, U.S. District Judge William Hoeveler acquitted defendant Gregory Lancivotti on grounds that prosecutors had presented insufficient evidence against him in the nine-week trial.

Hoeveler also severed the trial of Anne Mary Morrison, the only female member of the sect charged in the case, and ordered her tried along with Thomas Reilly, the head of the church, at a later unspecified date.

Charges against the defendants, all members of the Jamaican-based cult that uses marijuana as a religious sacrament, include conspiracy to distribute, conspiracy to import and conspiracy to possess marijuana.

Worst Year For Forest Fires

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner says normal summer showers have relieved the situation, but 1981 is still the worst year in recorded history for forest fires in Florida.

Conner said 446,000 acres have been burned — eight times the 56,202 acres burned over in the same period last year. Only 138,327 acres were burned during the full 12 months of last year.

Jury: Drug Ring Too Big

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The statewide grand jury looking into drug smuggling in north Florida has indicted 45 people on drug-related charges since last November, but Tuesday it decided a $50 million smuggling ring in Taylor, Dixie and Levy counties was too big for it.

So the grand jury directed that the investigation be turned over to federal authorities. Assistant U.S. Attorney Lydia Kent said a federal grand jury meeting in Tallahassee next week probably would get the case.

County Plans To Cash In On New Investment Idea

An innovative approach to investing county "float money" on a daily basis could bring Seminole County an additional $137,000-to-$187,000 in revenues annually.

The Seminole County Commission Tuesday, on the advice of Clerk of the Circuit Court Arthur H. Beckwith Jr., authorized that negotiations begin with the Atlantic National Bank of Seminole in Sanford leading to a contractual arrangement on the investments. The county plans to have the new program underway by Sept. 1.

The commission determined that the Sanford bank offered the lowest bid on fees which are to be charged the county for the service.

Beckwith said currently upwards of $1 million is "sitting in local banks" in funds called "float money", which is used for operating various county departments on a daily basis.

In exchange for the money being kept in the banks, the county is not charged for certain services, such as checks clearing from accounts. Beckwith, however, has found that an up and coming thing in the banking industry is contractual arrangements whereby the funds could be invested daily and the county would pay for services like any other banking customer.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff said Atlantic Bank offered the lowest fee for services at about $12,600 annually. Meanwhile, the investment of daily funds could earn between $150,000 and $200,000 annually minus the fees.

Beckwith said County Attorney Nikki Clayton has given the opinion that the county can have the contractual arrangement with the bank for the service charge and the investment.

"I feel this is a good thing," Beckwith said. "I know the banking industry is interested and all the banks I've contacted agree this is a correct approach."

But Crew May Have Been High

Navy Denies Nimitz Fliers On Drugs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy denies three crew members of a warplane that crashed aboard the aircraft carrier Nimitz used drugs, but left open the possibility sailors on the flight deck had smoked marijuana.

Fourteen men died in the fiery crash of an EA-6B Prowler electronic warfare jet aboard the angled deck of the super carrier May 26. Autopsies indicated six of the dead had used marijuana, Rep. William Whitehurst, R-Va., said Tuesday.

Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y., said traces of drugs were found in the bodies of a majority of those killed in the accident and called for a hearing Thursday by his House defense appropriations subcommittee.

The allegations of marijuana smoking aboard the Nimitz raised anew the thorny issue of drug use in the U.S. armed forces. A 1980 study of worldwide drug abuse in the services said 58 percent of Navy personnel had used marijuana or hashish within the past year.

Addabbo said if any of the men involved in the landing operation were high on drugs, it "would be tantamount to a death sentence" for the aircraft's crew and others on the flight deck.

But Whitehurst, in what amounted to a defense of the Navy, said his congressional colleague was jumping to a "false conclusion" if he thinks "they were smoking pot on the flight deck of the Nimitz that night."

Stunned, the Navy reacted immediately to the charges and said Addabbo's "information is inaccurate." Navy Secretary John Lehman denied drug use contributed to the crash of the Prowler.

"There was no trace whatsoever of any kind of drug in the recovered remains of the air crew of the EA-6B aircraft," a Navy statement said. The plane, which seats four, carried a crew of three.

But, the Navy said, whether traces of drugs were found in the bodies of 10 crew members on the flight deck "is still under investigation." An 11th sailor on the flight deck was knocked overboard.

Whitehurst said the men on the deck "may have been (smoking on duty), but odds are probably not."

The late-night May 26 accident, which happened 60 miles off the Florida coast in the Atlantic, was the worst peacetime accident on a carrier. In addition to the 14 killed, 47 crewmen were injured, four planes were destroyed and another 16 damaged. The cost was set at cost more than $200 million.

"I can categorically state that drug use or abuse did not contribute to the tragic crash," Lehman said in a letter to Addabbo.

In his letter to Addabbo, Lehman referred to his experience as a bombardier-navigator aboard a carrier-based A-6 Intruder, the same type of plane that crashed on the Nimitz.

"I have personal knowledge of flight deck operations and I can tell you that these crews are well supervised, superbly trained and that if an individual does not appear able to perform his duties in a professional manner his superiors will remove him from the flight deck immediately," Lehman wrote.

Reagan's Remarks Stir Arab Anger At U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Delegates worked into their fifth day today in a search for compromise wording that would censure Israel for its raid on an Iraqi reactor but avoid a Washington veto.

U.S. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick canceled a scheduled statement before the Security Council Tuesday to confer with Western European delegates and U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim.

She said she would take the floor as late as possible, possibly today, to deliver the U.S. statement on Israel's raid 10 days ago that destroyed the French-built reactor near Baghdad.

The United States has made it clear it will veto any resolution imposing mandatory sanctions against Israel for its lightning raid on the $275 million reactor.

The U.S. stance has left the Council with the alternatives of a tough resolution calling for mandatory sanctions which was certain to be vetoed or a unanimous moderate censure of the Jewish state.

In the fluctuating diplomatic efforts Tuesday, the non-aligned delegates that dropped the sanctions demand moderating their original eight-point resolution but restored it in the late afternoon when the United States insisted on further changes.

The latest version of the non-aligned resolution would "strongly condemn and censure" Israel for its "act of aggression" and "decide" that all U.N. members "refrain from any military, economic and technical cooperation with Israel which encourage it to pursue its policy of expansion and aggression."

But by the time the Council adjourned Tuesday night after the fourth day of debate, chances for a consensus were considered slim, with Arab delegates indicating they would not agree to merely a mild condemnation of Israel's action.

The Arab delegates' stance hardened after President Reagan at a Washington news conference said "Israel might have sincerely believed" the raid on the reactor was "a defensive move" and "one had to recognize that Israel had reason for concern with Iraq."

Arab League Ambassador Clovis Maksoud said Reagan's comments indicated a "lingering bias" for the Jewish state and reinforced "the widespread impression in the Arab world that the U.S. has given the green light for Israel to undertake its various strikes."

Tuesday afternoon, Zehdi Labib Terzi, permanent representative of the PLO, accused the United States of collusion with Israel, saying the Jewish state had "escalated aggressions" in the past few months, starting "almost precisely with the advent to power of the new administration."

Relief, although temporary, for the sting of the bee is as near, according to the British medical journal Lancet, as your aspirin bottle. The journal reported aspirin, rubbed into the skin over a bee sting, is safe and helps in reducing redness, swelling, pain and itching. A paste made by crushing an aspirin tablet and mixed with a small amount of water can be applied and moistened again when dried to prolong the effect. Although the immediate relief may be due to evaporative cooling, the more sustained reduction of inflammation probably results from absorption of the aspirin into the sting site.

Local Exchange Telephone Rates are partly based on the number of telephone subscribers that can be called without having to pay a toll charge. The present Sanford rate schedule is based on being able to call more than 55,000 but less than 120,001 telephones toll free.

The number of telephone users in Sanford has grown to the point that subscribers may now call more than 120,310 telephones without a long distance charge.

Southern Bell Telephone Company has petitioned the Florida Public Service Commission for approval to apply in the Sanford exchange the rate schedule applicable to those subscribers who may call from 120,001 to 195,000 telephones without a toll charge, in accordance with their approved grouping plan.

The following basic rate schedule will become effective on the first billing cycle following approval by the Florida Public Service Commission:

Residence	Classes of Service
	Ind.	2-Party	4-Party
Present	$10.25	$7.90	$6.45
Proposed	10.65	8.25	6.70

Sandinista Arms Build Up

Washington's worst fears about revolutionary Nicaragua go something like this: The neo-Marxist Sandinista government purges its remaining moderates, completes the country's transformation into another Cuba, builds an overpowering military armed with Soviet weapons, and then launches a series of paramilitary campaigns that topple Central America's pro-Western governments.

This worst-case scenario isn't yet a foregone conclusion. But neither does recent news from Nicaragua offer any grounds for comfort.

The Reagan administration is particularly alarmed over a flood of reports that the Sandinistas are continuing to expand a Cuban-trained army that is already the largest in Central America. Even more disturbing are reports, as yet unconfirmed, that Soviet tanks, artillery, and MiG fighters are arriving under cover of night aboard ships from Cuba.

Secretary of State Alexander Haig is known to believe that some Soviet-built tanks have, in fact, reached Nicaragua. That would explain why the Sandinistas have constructed a tank-training range similar to those used in Cuba and the Soviet Union.

Current construction work that would enable at least one Nicaraguan airfield to accommodate advanced MiG fighters suggests that the Sandinistas plan to acquire an air force as well.

Indeed, a Soviet instructor team is ready in Nicaragua to train helicopter pilots. And at least 100 Nicaraguans are believed to be in Bulgaria learning to fly MiGs.

The Sandinistas' revolutionary army already numbers about 55,000 well-armed regulars, a force that dwarfs any other in Central America. The Nicaraguan junta plans to add as many as 40,000 additional regulars, plus a militia that may ultimately total 100,000.

By comparison, neighboring Honduras maintains a regular military of only 11,000 men. El Salvador, fighting a bloody Marxist insurgency, fields barely 16,000 troops and police, although its population is twice that of Nicaragua.

And Nicaragua's neighbor to the south, Costa Rica, has no army at all.

No plausible threat to the Sandinista regime, including that posed by anti-Communist rebels operating along the Honduran-Nicaraguan border, justifies the military machine the junta is building.

The Sandinista leadership denies most of the evidence of its military building, and describes what cannot be concealed as defensive measures only. That won't wash.

The most logical conclusion to be drawn from the militarization of the Sandinista regime is that Nicaragua, like Cuba, plans to become increasingly active in fueling Marxist revolution beyond its border.

By BRITT SMITH

What the Robert Preston Jr. murder trial needed all along was a voice of reason, a note of explanation. It finally got one last Wednesday, the final day of the week-long spectacle, when a soft-spoken black man — Dr. Gerald Mussenden — showed up in a dark, three-piece suit to strip Preston's case, figuratively speaking, of course, for the world to see.

But Mussenden couldn't be so lightly dismissed. He's no professional defense witness. He has testified for the prosecution in several criminal cases in Florida, his testimony helping put some very bad guys behind bars.

Oh sure, the defense paid his expenses, and they hoped what he said would somehow elicit some sympathy from those 12 men and women deciding Preston's fate. But by the time Mussenden got to speak, it was too late. Preston had already been convicted of first degree murder, robbery, and kidnapping.

Mussenden's comments, then, served only to help the jury decide whether Preston should live or die. Either because of what he said, or in spite of it, the seven men and five women who sat on that jury recommended that Preston should pay for his crimes with his life.

It wouldn't have mattered which way the jury went; what Mussenden had to say was worth hearing regardless. The picture he painted of the newest addition to Florida's Death Row was not a pretty one.

The Brandon psychologist noted the "historical instability" in the Preston home, pointing out that the man of the house left for parts unknown when Robert was only 7 years old. After that, "there was a significant lack of supervision in his life," he said. "The mother was out of the house for days at a time. There was no discipline."

Preston was allowed to "run wild like an animal. When he did something wrong, there was no one there to say, 'No' and explain why." Mussenden alluded to Preston's record of juvenile delinquency as "early indicators of problem behavior that wasn't dealt with."

In short, Robert Preston Jr.'s 23 years on this earth were wasted. It didn't have to be that way. "Robert is a highly intelligent person," Mussenden said. A high school dropout, "he could have gone to college and earned a degree with no problem."

"But there was never any encouragement to continue his education," he said. "There was never any encouragement to get any training and seek steady employment. He was allowed to just drift."

Due in large part to his upbringing, Mussenden said Preston early on developed an inferiority complex and a self-perpetuating sense of failure. Heavy drug use (Preston was stoned on a powerful depressant the night he knifed a convenience store clerk to death) "was his way of coping with that failure."

Also, because of the lack of a suitable role model and early direction, Preston's conscience never fully developed, he said. "Robert has little feelings of guilt or remorse."

So much for the crash course in contemporary psychoanalysis as it relates to 20th century adolescence. What I think the good doctor was trying to tell the court was that when parents act like kids, it's a tom-fool abdication of authority that leads nowhere and could get somebody hurt.

Somebody like Earline Walker who Preston stabbed 20 times with a knife. And somebody like Robert Preston Jr. who faces the very real possibility of getting zapped with a few thousand volts in Florida's electric chair.

What's Big Deal In Mideast?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I keep running into people who profess themselves muddled over the Middle East. I feel sorry for them.

Anyone who doesn't have a clear picture of what is happening in the Middle East simply is not getting all there is to get out of life. This may be partly the fault of those of us in the communications media.

In the latter vein, I have prepared a basic Mid-East primer that puts the whole thing in perspective. Anyone who masters these rudiments should have no trouble grasping the implications of the next development in the area.

Basic Mid-East Primer
For orientation purposes, countries in this region of the Orient may be divided into two main groups: those that have oil (see Footnote 1) and those that pack political clout in America (see Footnote 2).

There also are four rather important sub-groups.

The largest sub-group has neither oil nor U.S. political clout. Its members are generally regarded as troublemakers. (See Footnote 3).

The second important subgroup is composed of countries that have neither oil nor political clout but are friends with Israel. (See Footnote 4).

The third important subgroup is composed of countries that don't really exist. (See Footnote 5).

The fourth important subgroup is Lebanon. (See Footnote 6).

Generally speaking, countries that have oil are friendly toward those that don't really exist and unfriendly toward those that have political clout in America. (See Footnote 7).

America would like to be friends with them all, particularly those that have oil. However, some would rather have friendships with Russia. Others are unfriendly toward both Russia and America. (See Footnote 8).

Two of the countries that are the unfriendliest toward America are fighting each other. (See Footnote 9).

This brings us to Lebanon, which basically is fighting itself but which is occupied by Syria and Palestine. Consequently, it is frequently attacked by Israel.

Saudi Arabia shares the pro-Palestine views of pro-Russia Jordan, Syria and Iraq but is itself unfriendly toward Russia. For the latter reason, it is friendly toward America.

So there you have it — the Middle East in a nutshell. (See Footnote 10)

- (Footnotes)
- 1—Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia.
  - 2—Israel.
  - 3—Syria, Jordan, etc.
  - 4—Egypt.
  - 5—Palestine.
  - 6—Which may not exist much longer.
  - 7—Also, generally speaking, countries that don't have oil have friends that do.
  - 8—Iran.
  - 9—Iraq and Iran.
  - 10—Cashew.

Carter-Vesco Involvement Covered Up

WASHINGTON — Twice in seven years, federal grand juries probably would have indicted the president of the United States if the Justice Department had not dissuaded them.

The first president to arouse a grand jury's suspicion, of course, was Richard Nixon in the Watergate case. By a 10-0 vote, the grand jury named Nixon as a co-conspirator but refrained from indicting him after the prosecutors strongly advised against it.

The second president to become involved in a criminal investigation was Jimmy Carter. In the Robert Vesco case, "the Justice Department told the grand jury there would be no indictments," the former reported to the judge, "because they would sign none." But the grand jury flatly refused to exonerate anyone, including the president.

The grand jury had received evidence that Carter was implicated, perhaps unwittingly, in a $10 million attempted political fix. The evidence is contained in Justice Department documents, intended for official eyes only, which my associate Indy Badwar has examined. Here are the highlights:

— The notorious Vesco, an international swindler on the lam from the law, gave some Georgians a $10 million cut of his allegedly stolen stocks. In return, they promised to use their influence with the Carter White House to get the federal government off Vesco's back.

SAY, REMEMBER THE GAS SHORTAGE?... PERFUME MY ASHTRAY, PLEASE... HOW I STOOD IN LINE FOR HOURS... A LITTLE COGNAC IN THE BATTERY, WILL YOU?... PAYING ANY JACKED-UP PRICE YOU ASKED... SPIT-POLISH THE HEADLAMPS, OKAY?... PUTTING UP WITH YOUR RUDENESS... KISS MY TIRES, WON'T YOU?... TOO BAD ABOUT THIS OIL GLUT...

Reagan's Hard Ball

We are living at a great moment of history, when things really change.

It must have felt like this in 1933 for young intellectuals associated with the New Deal, for Adolf Berle and Rex Tugwell and the rest.

Reagan is changing things, and he is playing very hard political ball.

He is now exercising tough political leadership in a way he either could not or would not earlier in his career.

It is likely that, sitting in the governor's office in the state capitol in Sacramento, Reagan did not really have the political clout to roll over the Democrats who controlled the state legislature. But the political fact is that during his two terms as governor he was repeatedly frustrated by Democratic control of the legislature and the power of special interests.

But it's a whole new ball game now. Imagine how the debate in the "Democratic controlled" House of Representatives has changed.

The negotiation has not been about whether there should be a sharp tax cut, but about just how big the tax cut should be.

There is going to be a sharp tax cut. Reagan is playing the political split in the Democratic Party the way Arthur Rubinstein played the keyboard.

Tip O'Neill is, technically, the Speaker of the House, with its Democratic majority. As is fair, he manipulated the appointments to key committees after Reagan's victory to try to stem the Reagan program.

But there are some 30 Democratic votes in the House that will go with Reagan — if only they can save face. It's not so much that they love Reagan. It's more that he carried some of their congressional districts in 1980 by 80 percent. He's now making deals whether or not to oppose them in those same districts next year. As Dr. Johnson said in his oft-quoted remark, the imminence of execution wonderfully sharpens the mind.

The numbers don't matter all that much. Reagan's proposal was a tax rate reduction of 10 percent per year for three years. He and his close advisors believe that is necessary to shock the economy into rapid growth. Now Reagan, plus his swing conservative Democrats, seem to be settling for a 5-10-10 tax reduction — about the same thing — plus some other tax relief.

Ways and Means chairman Dan Rostenkowski has one problem. Speaker O'Neill has a quite different one.

It tells you something about history that the terminations of political careers are almost always sad.

O'Neill is through. In his entire career as an important force in Congress, he has never bothered to come up with any sort of plan for economic revitalization. He has seen inflation mount, and productivity decline. Now, at the end, he still has no ideas. All he can do is try to fight Reagan.

But Rostenkowski is young and ambitious. He would like to be Speaker of the House someday, maybe aim even higher. But Rostenkowski is like a desperate poker player on the run. Instead of 10-10-10, he bids 5-5-5. Reagan says no. Rostenkowski says 5-10. Reagan says three years and picks up swing Democratic votes with 5-10-10.

When the British surrendered at Yorktown, the bands played "The World Turned Upside Down." The liberal Democrats must be whistling the tune today. Reagan has suddenly changed the debate from one over whether the public sector should be shrunk to a debate over how much and how fast.

Shortly before John F. Kennedy took office, his friend the economist John Kenneth Galbraith published a best-seller called "The Affluent Society," which argued that we were privately rich and publicly poor.

Twenty years has reversed all that. We are publicly bloated, and now George Gilder has produced the intellectual response in his supply-side best-seller "Wealth and Poverty."

Reagan, living up to his campaign promises in an unprecedented way, is sweeping away the debris left over from Kennedy and Johnson.

ROBERT WAGMAN

Battle Of The Background

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The silly season started early this year.

This period usually begins in late July when the Congress and the administration flee Washington for cooler climes and the less fortunate reporters are left behind to scrounge up stories. It's traditional during this season that major coverage is given to some controversy that normally would not merit even a paragraph on page 20.

This year's controversy began in mid-May with T. Timothy Ryan — or "T. Tim," the unnamed source, "as he has become known to the Washington press corps."

Last month the Labor Department began a series of press briefings on regulatory changes contemplated by the Reagan administration. One of the sessions was to address the subject of employer regulations, including affirmative action.

Some 20 to 25 reporters gathered at the appointed hour for that briefing. Also in attendance were Raymond Donovan, the secretary of labor, and Robert Collyer, the deputy under secretary for employment standards.

It was then that a Labor Department press official announced a ground rule for the briefing: Everything was to be "on background," which meant that the speaker could not be identified by name or title.

Background briefings are used frequently by the State Department and the Pentagon and occasionally by the White House and the Justice Department. But after duly voicing their objections, the reporters settled back to hear what was so important that it could be said only on background.

The speaker turned out to be not Donovan or Collyer but T. Timothy Ryan, the department's solicitor and a leading expert on employer regulations. His presentation was described by one reporter as "about the most boring" that he had ever attended. Ryan not only said nothing new but refused to comment on many possible changes that the reporters knew were being considered.

The result of this non-event was interesting, however. One wire service, not wishing to give the story background status, reported not a word on the briefing. The Washington Post did carry a story — illustrated with a large picture of Ryan above the caption "Labor official who briefed reporters under the condition that his name not be used."

Likewise, one television network ran a brief sound report from the briefing; the speaker was identified as "a Labor Department official who wanted to remain nameless." The story in The New York Times attributed all statements to "a spokesman who specified that his name not be used" but noted that the department had invited reporters "to a scheduled briefing by T. Timothy Ryan."

Needless to say, the Labor Department was not happy with the media's coverage of the briefing.

Lee, who had been asked by Vesco to halt extradition proceedings against him.

Shortly thereafter, the extradition proceedings were halted, though there is no evidence that Lee ever spoke to the attorney general. It is quite clear, however, that the president never sought an investigation of the bribery plot. Rather than investigate Lee, the president appointed him to a judicial nominating committee to help select federal judges.

The Carter administration tried to diminish the Robert Vesco case as merely "a little bit of influence peddling." This was reminiscent of the Nixon administration's attempt to characterize the Watergate case as a "third-rate burglary."

It took an uncompromising federal judge, a determined special prosecutor and a relentless investigative press to bring the Watergate conspiracy into the open. Except for my own modest effort, which at least forced a grand jury investigation, none of these pressures were brought to bear on the Robert Vesco case.

This made it easy, in the words of the grand jury foreman, for "the cover-up activities (to be) orchestrated within the Department of Justice under the concept that the (Carter) administration must be protected at all costs."

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

Do Men At The Top In TV Fear Take-Charge Women?

Hollywood reporter Rona Barrett, who left "Good Morning America" only to run into problems with Tom Snyder as co-host of "Tomorrow," compares her situation to Harry Reasoner's resentment of Barbara Walters when they co-anchored the ABC "World News Tonight."

Men at the top of the television industry feel threatened by take-charge women, she told Redbook magazine, adding, "Most of them have wives who are figurines. Oh, yes, they may talk to them. Oh, yes, they may sleep with them, but God forbid the women should come into their arena."

The solution? "The day women take charges of finances is when they will really be in control and have power."

Town Remains Dullsville

What do you do when your town is voted the most boring place in Britain? That's what happened to Grantham, England — birthplace of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher — when BBC radio listeners this year voted the Lincolnshire town on the east coast the nation's most uninteresting place.

Former Mayor Paddy Perry hoped to change all that by proposing a summer festival and invited 150 local organizations to take part. Only two ho hum even bothered to reply. So the boring town of Grantham, yawning slightly, canceled its summer festival for lack of interest.

Search And Seizure

Jan Jackson failed to convince a New York federal appeals court police illegally searched the trunk of his car to discover evidence he was the driver of a getaway car in a Buffalo bank robbery. One of the things police found in Jackson's car was the bank robber, Edward Dixon.

He was hidden in the trunk, along with his gun, the loot and bank wrappings. In a split decision the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals in Manhattan ruled police officers had reason to believe the Jackson car was involved in the crime. They opened the trunk, the court said, because as they approached they heard noises within. It was Dixon, trying to hide the loot in the tire well.

'Rebecca' Revisited

Novelist Daphne Du Maurier, 73, has quit writing and doesn't even read much these days, reports a new tabloid titled Romantic Times ("For Readers of Romantic Fiction"). In a review of the British author's "The Rebecca Notebook and Other Memories," the magazine quotes her as saying, "I don't write now, but I do read. Jane Austen is the only writer I do read these days."

Glimpses

Evangelist Billy Graham says he and his wife are enjoying life more than ever now their five children are grown. "We're fulfilling all our fantasies," he said with a smile on The John Davidson Show. Arlene Alda, wife of actor Alan Alda, told Gary Collins on Hour Magazine how they've kept the marriage alive for 24 years: "We listen to each other, laugh a lot together and ... we've learned to negotiate." ... Singer Pat Boone is in London to begin his first European tour in 10 years. It will take him to Dublin, Copenhagen, Vienna, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Oslo, Helsinki, Munich and Hamburg. ... Billy Jean King will be in London for the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis championships that begin June 22. ... Kevin Dobson, who played Det. Bobby Crocker on the old "Kojak" series, now is making a Mickey Spillane — Mike Hammer CBS television movie, "Murder By a Dainty Hand" ... Princess Maria-Teresa, wife of hereditary Grand Duke Prince Henri of Luxembourg, is expecting a baby by the end of the year. Connie Bernman, Dolly Parton's official biographer and new executive editor of Forum magazine, says she was born to journalism—in Media, Pa. ... Denver oilman Marvin Davis now is sole owner of 20th Century Fox Film Corp., thus becoming the first movie mogul since Hollywood's golden era of Sam Goldwyn, Harry Cohn and the Warner Brothers. The takeover by Davis, for a reported $722 million, ended 46 years of public ownership for the company.

True Britt: There's Nothing Dull And Dreary

Britt Ekland wants to get a part on a TV series: "I think that I am far better TV material than many of the actresses who have parts on series now. A lot of the women I see on TV are so — ugh! — dull and dreary. And the men are no better."

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Britt Ekland calls her autobiography "True Britt." You have to take her word for that, because, of course, nobody but Britt really knows just how truthful she has been. On the surface, though, it looks like she has come clean.

There is all the dirt about her marriage to Peter Sellers and her other affairs, such as the one she had for a long time with singer Rod Stewart. Britt says that her daughter, Victoria Sellers, has read the book.

"At least she says she has read it," Britt says. "Of course, with kids today you never know."

Was she concerned about having her daughter read all about her mother's love affairs? "What should I be concerned about?" she asks. "Should I be concerned about her finding out about my relationships? Why? She was there. Should I be concerned about her reading about the sexual act? Why? I don't pretend to be something I'm not. I'm not sneaky."

She says she wrote the book — which was first published in England, where it was very successful — to stop some of the gossip. She says much of what had been written about her overseas was untrue.

"In Europe, for years and years and years," she says, "they have been writing endless tales about me. I thought it was time to tell the true story. And I have told the truth."

She thinks it is curious how the press, particularly in Europe where she is far more famous than she is here, has treated her. The Swedish-born blonde is one of the darlings of the European press, mostly because she is always doing something, or being seen with somebody, of note.

"The media is very funny," she says. "When I was married to Peter Sellers, they wrote nice, civilized things about me. Very sweet. But once I started living with Rod Stewart, they began writing horrid things — even wrote horrid things about the Sellers marriage. Why would they do that, 10 years after the fact?"

Maybe because Britt asks for it. She is flashy — inclined toward outrageous behavior and outrageous statements and outrageous costumes — and anybody who is different invites trouble.

She was wearing shorts and boots when we talked, surely an unusual combination, though they looked good with her great figure.

Her career, perhaps because of her autobiography, is picking up. She is living here now. She has just finished doing a part in the remake for TV of "Valley of the Dolls." She wore a brunette wig in the picture, her first since she played an Italian girl in "After the Fox," with Sellers.

"I live here now," she says. "If I live anywhere, I live here. I sold my flat in London and moved here permanently in '75. My kids are thoroughly Americanized."

Now that she is living in America, she would like to do what the American actresses do — get a part on a TV series. She thinks her work in "Valley of the Dolls" — "I play your average French mistress type" — could help her achieve that end.

"I think," she says, "that I am far better TV material than many of the actresses who have parts on series now. A lot of the women I see on TV are so — ugh! — dull and dreary. And the men are no better."

There's nothing dull and dreary about Britt Ekland.

Business Leader Sees Skilled Worker Shortage In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman for the nation's business community has a career tip for this year's high school graduates: learn a skill.

"There is a shortage of skilled workers," said James Campbell, president of the Mississippi School Supply Co. and chairman of education and training for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, in an appearance Monday before the Senate Labor Committee's Employment and Productivity subcommittee.

"It is now harder to replace a good secretary than a good executive," he said.

Campbell testified the United States may have only 20,700 new journeyman machinists and machine operators by 1990 — 5 percent of what is needed. He said 10,400 tool and die makers, 58,000 machine repair people, 11,000 draftsmen and 23,000 engineering technicians will be needed — "and there are too few people going into any of these fields."

"What has surfaced indicates a serious and growing problem which will be aggravated by any economic recovery and increased capacity utilization."

Subcommittee Chairman Dan Quayle, R-Ind., asked how the nation had failed to promote skilled labor.

"We've been short in paying enough attention in career counseling," Campbell replied. "We don't tell our young people of the opportunities or expose them to them while they are in high school."

Campbell was one of several witnesses at Quayle's oversight hearing on 12 employment and training programs up for renewal this year. Quayle repeatedly asked what role the federal government should play in such programs.

Most said the government's job training programs have done little to ease the shortage of skilled workers. They said the programs should be expanded to the entire work force.

Lloyd Hand, senior vice president of TRW Inc. and former White House chief of protocol, said, "The United States' economy is at a critical historical juncture. After almost two decades of declining productivity, the margins of competitiveness we once possessed are being exhausted in industry after industry."

"...if opportunities and training are not made available to the structural unemployed, America will create a permanent underclass which will be frozen into economic limbo."

Plenty Of Atomic Waste... But What To Do With It?

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A government report says millions of tons of atomic waste — including 99,000 tons of highly radioactive spent fuel — will have piled up in the nation by the year 2,000, but the study does not say how to safely get rid of the festering problem.

Environmentalists and antinuclear leaders charged Tuesday the Department of Energy report points up the "foolishness" of pushing ahead with nuclear power when no decision has been made on what to do with the waste.

The DOE report, obtained Tuesday from officials at the agency's Oak Ridge, Tenn., national laboratory, also projects that by 2,000 the nation's nuclear generating capacity will be only 180,000 megawatts.

This figure is down significantly from the early 1970s when nuclear energy officials projected the U.S. would have an atomic generating capacity of more than 1 million megawatts by 2,000.

One anti-nuclear scientist said the DOE projections on generating capacity was "good news, in a sick sort of way" because planned reactor units are being canceled.

"What the report says is that we are going to have a hell of a lot of waste and yet we do not have a plan for disposing of it," said Dr. Cancey Keplford of the Environmental Coalition on Nuclear Power. "They don't even have the solution right now of disposing of what we have."

DOE officials indicated the report was the first time the total amount of accumulated waste had been brought together in one study. The officials said the data would likely be used in formulating a national waste program.

The study was prepared by officials at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory. It projects by the year 2,000 there would be 321,300 spent fuel assemblies and 99,000 tons of spent fuel that will have to be stored.

At the end of 1980, U.S. reactors had generated some 28,300 fuel assemblies weighing 8,200 tons.

A nuclear reactor's fuel unit consists of a cluster of uranium fuel assemblies. Periodically, the fuel in a power reactor must be changed. The spent fuel will remain radioactive for thousands of years and must be isolated. The most common way is under water in deep pools.

The report also showed the amount of high-level and low-level waste. High-level wastes are materials classified as being highly radioactive and requiring long-term isolation, while low-level wastes are a variety of items such as mops and clothing contaminated with low amounts of radiation.

The report said at the start of 1980, the estimated volume of high-level waste in storage at DOE sites totaled 290,000 cubic meters, but by the year 2,000 the volume should stand at 320,000 cubic meters.

A cubic meter of waste would almost fill up a household refrigerator.

31 Hospitalized After Inhaling Chlorine Gas

ATLANTA (UPI) — A green cloud of suffocating chlorine gas seeped from a truck parked in a downtown garage, forcing occupants of a high-rise hotel and a bank building to evacuate.

Thirty-one of the people who inhaled the deadly fumes were in the hospital today.

The greenish gas, used in swimming-pool water treatment systems, leaked from a 150-pound cylinder on a truck in the garage of the 25-story Hilton Hotel.

Authorities evacuated the garage, the hotel lobby, one of its convention areas, and the entire 22-story Trust Co. bank building and garage next door, Tuesday.

Nearly all the injured were firemen who rushed to the scene to help contain the gas. Six originally were listed in critical condition, but late Tuesday night their condition was changed to stable. However, they remained in intensive care. Two others were treated and released.

W. H. Bearden, a spokesman for Grady Hospital, said the gas burns the skin and lungs, causing instant pneumonia and such severe swelling of the bronchial tubes the victim suffocates. The gas began leaking during the evening rush hour, and police blocked off four major downtown streets. Guests at the Hilton could enter and leave their rooms with outside elevators, but office workers from the bank building had to wait for three hours before they were given access to their cars in the garage.

Police said the chlorine cylinder, intended for use in the swimming pool's water treatment system, "ruptured." But a fireman at the scene said the gas had corroded the cylinder to the point it began leaking.

Firefighters wearing oxygen tanks and masks used hoses to wash the gas cloud from inside the garage into the streets where it slowly evaporated, leaving behind the faint chlorine odor common to most swimming pools.

Police spokeswoman Beverly Harvard said the evacuations were ordered so that experts could make sure the gas had not reached the air-conditioning systems in either building.

KKK In Financial Bind: Newsletter

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Legal expenses have put the Ku Klux Klan in such financial difficulties that Imperial Wizard Bill Wilkinson has issued a secret order banning confrontations with police, The Tennessean reported today in a copyrighted story.

The newspaper, which obtained copies of a secret Klan newsletter, said Wilkinson also ordered his followers to stop displaying weapons in public and avoid legal challenges to local authorities who deny parade or solicitation permits.

Wilkinson's organization, called The Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, is the largest of several KKK factions in the United States.

"We must raise money fast or we are in trouble," Wilkinson wrote in one newsletter.

"In the past, we have marched and passed out literature in open defiance of local officials, knowing that our chances of being arrested were extremely high," he wrote in another. "In a number of cases, as you know, we have had arrests and as a result it has cost us thousands of dollars in legal fees."

"It has been agreed upon by myself and all grand dragons that we must avoid any future confrontations which might be likely to result in arrests, even if we feel we are right," he wrote. "Only when we are free of these debts and have a substantial defense fund in the bank shall we knowingly place ourselves in jeopardy of going to jail."

In another "Klan Action Bulletin," Wilkinson ordered Klan members to stop displaying weapons, but to "make no announcement of this policy to the media."

"It shall be our policy from this moment, until further notice, that there shall be no open display of firearms at any public Klan function," Wilkinson wrote.

The Klan has been hit by a number of costly legal actions, both criminal and civil. Wilkinson said in one newsletter that efforts to raise a legal defense fund from Klan ranks had garnered only $7,667 by the end of April.

As a result, Wilkinson wrote that he may have to forsake his Klan duties to raise the needed money.

Atlantic Bank Vaults Past First Federal 11-4

Waisanen Clubs Key Home Run

By BENTON WOOD
Herald Sports Writer

Things have rolled along pretty smooth this year for First Federal. The tide was in its favor again Tuesday night until Atlantic Bank cashed in for seven runs to steal the first game of the Sanford Little Major League championship 11-4 at Ft. Mellon Park.

Trailing 3-1 in the bottom of the fourth, Atlantic decided it was time to break down the door. Clean-up hitter Clay Hickman and left-fielder John Shuler chiseled away with consecutive singles to start the inning.

After a fly out and a fielder's choice, it looked as if losing pitcher Craig Dixon was going to escape the inning. He worked the count to 1-2 on Scott Waisanen, the number eight hitter in the Atlantic line-up, before Waisanen cracked the safe with his first home run of the year for a 4-3 lead.

A bloop single by right fielder Brian Benson, a walk to leadoff hitter Les Thomas and a wild pitch put two more Atlantic prowlers in threatening spots. First baseman David Rape rapped First Federal with a bad hop single off second baseman Bernard Burke's shoulder for two more runs.

Winning pitcher Eddie Korgan helped his own cause by following with his 14th homer of the year to give Atlantic a 8-3 advantage.

Atlantic deposited the loot in the bottom of the fifth with three more runs. Five walks, a passed ball and a wild pitch did the damage in the inning as First Federal dropped its third, decision in 19 outings and finds itself in a do-or-die situation in game two tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Korgan used the skill of John Dillinger and the brutality of Baby Face Nelson in breaking down First Federal Bank to just four hits while fanning 13. He upped his mound record to 10-2 on the year.

First Federal got to Korgan early for a 2-0 lead. Dixon led off the second inning with a base on balls and moved to third on a double to right field by shortstop Calvin Davis. Both runners scored on passed balls.

Davis supplied First Federal with its only other runs of the night. He lined his fourth round tripper of the year over the left-field fence in the top of the fourth for the short-lived 3-1 lead.

After the damage had been done, Davis walked to lead off the sixth, moved to third on a pair of wild pitches and scored on an RBI single to left by center fielder Willie Walton.

Dixon breezed through the early innings, retiring five of the first seven Atlantic outs via the strikeout. However, eight walks mixed in with seven hits crushed Dixon who dropped his second consecutive pitching decision after winning his first nine.

Clay Hickman will play Jesse James tonight and try to shut down First Federal for good while Calvin Davis will stand guard and try to send the series to the limit Friday night. Neither Hickman (6-0) nor Davis (5-0) has suffered a mound loss this year.

Chicago Tribune Purchases Cubs For $20.5 Million

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Cubs will be sold to the Tribune Co., owner of the Chicago Tribune and other properties, by chewing-gum magnate William Wrigley whose family controlled the ballclub for 60 years through three generations. The purchase price for the oldest continuously operating major-league franchise is $20.5 million. The ballclub, facing a 1981 deficit estimated at $3 million, has a net worth of $2.2 million.

The sale, announced Tuesday by the Tribune Co., includes Wrigley Field but not the land on which it is situated. The club has a lease on the land running through the year 2012, and Tribune Co. has an option to buy the land when the lease expires.

A spokesman for the Tribune Co. said no decision has been made on whether to install lights in Wrigley Field — the only major-league park which does not have them.

The sale, approved later in the day by the Cubs' board of directors, must still be approved by stockholders and by the National League. Because Wrigley holds a majority of the stock, approval by the shareholders is considered a formality.

Wrigley controls about 81 percent of Cubs' stock, which he inherited in 1977 from his father, Philip K. Wrigley. Philip Wrigley's father, also named William, bought into the Cubs in 1915 as part of a coalition, using profits from his chewing-gum company. He gained a controlling interest in 1921.

The sale — a surprise to most of the baseball world — was announced in prepared news releases. Neither Wrigley nor Tribune Co. officials would comment or respond to questions.

Stanton H. Cook, president and chief executive officer of the Tribune Co., said Tribune Co. newspaper and broadcast subsidiaries would continue independent coverage of the Cubs "consistent with the company's editorial tradition."

Cook also announced that Andrew J. McKenna, president of the Chicago-based Schwarz Paper Co. and an investor and former director of the Chicago White Sox, will become chairman of the board of a Tribune subsidiary formed to purchase and operate the Cubs.

HAWK HIT

Lake Howell's Doug Chiodini lines a single to drive in two runs in the Altamonte Springs American Legion team's 16-14 loss to Orlando Sunday at Lyman High School. Teammate Charlie Miller is poised down the line at third base waiting for the ball to drop. Altamonte travels to Apopka today for a 5:45 game.

King Offers Benitez $1 Million For Duran

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wilfred Benitez, who has won three boxing championships in the last five years, was offered $1 million by promoter Don King to defend his WBC junior middleweight title against former lightweight and welterweight champion Roberto Duran.

In a telegram sent Tuesday to Jimmy Jacobs, Benitez's manager, King proposed the fight be held sometime in the fall at a mutually agreeable site, possibly New York's Madison Square Garden.

Benitez only recently declined a large purse to fight champion Thomas Hearns for the World Boxing Association welterweight title and decided instead to move up in weight class and try for the WBC junior middleweight crown — which he won by knocking out Maurice Hope of England on May 23 in Las Vegas.

The junior middleweight championship is the third won by Benitez, a native of the Bronx, N.Y. who grew up in Puerto Rico.

Briefly

Coffey Brews Three Homers, Eight RBI in Bronco Play

The price of coffee continues to go up, even in the Five Points Bronco League.

Band of Brothers' Mark Coffey saw his stock rise with three home runs and a single, good for a whopping eight runs batted in as the Band surrounded Cee Bee Air Systems of Forest City 10-4.

In addition to Coffey's awesome power display, he pitched a three-hitter and struck out six. He also scored four times. Jason Bray singled and homered for two RBI. Jimmy Waring scored three times on two doubles and a walk.

Evan Perez drove in all of Cee Bee's runs with a home run and a single.

In another Bronco contest, Lake Mary Pharmacy finally whipped Casseberry Amick Construction 8-6. Kirby Swinehart and Tom Carpenter combined to shut down the construction crew.

Scott Bevin socked a two-run double in the bottom of the sixth inning to provide the game-winning runs. John Flath had a mammoth three-run homer for Amick who finished 21-3. Lake Mary finished 7-17. Carpenter struck out the side in the seventh.

Elsewhere, Sean Flaherty continued to swing a hot bat as Casseberry Smith Insurance downed H. D. Realty 9-2 in Bronco play.

Flaherty homered and singled twice producing three RBI for winning pitcher Eddie Taubensee, who singled and tallied two runs.

Josy McLaugh singled and doubled and drove in a run, while Keith Dial scored three times. Mike Garant had a double and a run batted in and Brent Abney scored once.

Causseaux Power Show

Rich Plan's Don Causseaux put on a power show last week in the Sanford Men's Softball League at Pinehurst Field.

The slugging first baseman walloped three straight homers as Rich Plan smothered Oviedo Auto Parts 10-1 in the first game of a double-header in the "A" League.

Causseaux followed his awesome show with two more circuit clouts in his first two at bats in game number two. Despite the two blasts, Oviedo Auto Parts rebounded for a 12-6 victory.

The city's three "A" teams are in a close second ball battle for first place. Rich Plan is 4-4, Oviedo is 4-4 and Sunniland is 4-5. Tonight, Rich Plan and Oviedo Auto Parts go at it again at 6:45. Sunniland plays the second game.

Spurs Trade 'Captain Late'

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — The San Antonio Spurs said it was not an easy decision, but they traded away the last team member from their days as the ABA Dallas Chaparrals.

Veteran guard James Silas, known as "Captain Late" because of his late-game heroics, is going to Cleveland along with the signing rights to 6-foot-10 center Rich Yehakor. The Spurs will receive the Cavaliers' 1982 second-round draft choice and an undisclosed amount of cash.

No Progress In Baseball Negotiations

NEW YORK (UPI) — The participants in baseball's labor dispute made no progress at the bargaining table Tuesday, but signs of restlessness on both sides are beginning to surface.

For example, three owners met with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Tuesday to solicit his help in ending the five-day baseball strike.

George Steinbrenner of the New York Yankees, Edward Bennett Williams of the Baltimore Orioles and Ed Giles of the Texas Rangers indicated they might be ready to take a more aggressive role in efforts to settle the dispute, which already has forced the cancellation of 63 games.

The players aren't exactly happy with the way things are proceeding either. After the season held Tuesday, with no progress reported, one of the Players Association negotiators, Mark Belanger of the Orioles, admitted he was disappointed.

"I'm losing money and all ballplayers are losing money," Belanger said. "I don't think we should be here. The owners have been in the same position the last 18 months. The players will be going on the offense pretty soon. We'll put some demands on the table."

Other players included in Tuesday's negotiating session were Bob Boone of the Philadelphia Phillies, Steve Rogers of Montreal and Pete Rose of Philadelphia.

Federal mediator Kenneth Moffett said Tuesday's talks were friendly but not very productive. He said the two sides would meet again Wednesday, beginning at 2 p.m., EDT.

"I would characterize the talks as amicable, but certainly they were without progress toward settling the strike," Moffett said. "We explored the past history of how we got into this situation and where we are now ..."

Ray Grebey, chief negotiator for the owners, thought there was some positive vibrations to come out of the two-hour meeting.

"We had a brief meeting but it was a good meeting. It was an effort to clear the air. We'll be back tomorrow and be at it," he said.

Grebey made it clear that under no circumstances would the owners allow the strike issue to be settled through binding arbitration, which has been suggested as a quick solution to the strike.

"Binding arbitration doesn't really solve the collective bargaining problem," said Grebey.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, continued to stay away from the bargaining table. He has said he wants management to deal directly with the players.

"Marvin is one of the top negotiators in the country," Moffett said, "but he feels that some owners have considered him a roadblock."

Talks broke off June 12 when players and the owners' negotiating committee failed to reach an accord on compensation for free agents, the issue that has polarized owners and players.

Baseball: Sorely Missed

NEW YORK (UPI) — I was coming to work this morning and I heard something that made me listen a little closer.

Two well-dressed men in their 50s were playing a game that some of us did when we were kids.

One of the men would come up with the name of a bygone baseball player and the other would try to identify him by calling out his position and the team with which he played.

The two came up with a variety of names from different eras. Stan Hack ... Joe Kuhel ... Gee Gee Walker ... Harry Agganis ... Rudy Regalado ... Ferris Fain ... and Pete Whisenant.

"Now I'm gonna give you my special super-save," one of the men said. "Roberto Estalella."

The second man thought a moment, then correctly identified him as the one-time Cuban outfielder who played for the Washington Senators, St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia A's.

Listening to them, it was clear that both had grown up following the game and missed it considerably now because of the strike. The two men are far from being alone.

Part of the extent to which baseball is being missed all over the country can be measured by the number of newspapers that have taken to publishing stories of games long past, by the way some radio stations have begun recreating such contests and by the way at least one TV network, KSPN, is carrying games in the three top minor leagues in the absence of major-league competition.

If this strike, now approaching a week old, has shown nothing else, it has proved, despite periodic argument from other quarters, baseball still is the first game of the land.

"I'm going crazy," one suburbanite confessed to me. "I couldn't take my kids to the ballgame last weekend. I can't get the games on radio or TV when I go home from work every night and I miss the boozers in the paper. I feel like I'm going cold turkey."

Even some women are expressing a sense of deprivation, which shouldn't be considered unusual since their attendance at ball parks has increased appreciably in the past 20 years and from talking with players and owners since the strike began last Friday, I know both miss the daily competition also.

Baseball is not so much a business or a sport as it is a trust, and the failure of both sides to resolve their differences before a strike even resulted, it seems to me, was an arch betrayal of that trust.

Here you have a perfect example of unremitting intransigence with innocent fans being victimized. The players and owners don't seem to care.

They've brought in a federal mediator, a federal judge and the National Labor Relations Board and still they can't agree.

I find it hard to get particularly worked up for either side.

For years the players were exploited terribly by the owners. But, by the same token, I think the players have gotten out of line now with some of their demands.

One of the arguments the players and Marvin Miller frequently use is they can never give anything back because that isn't the way it's done in negotiations between labor and management. Who says they can't give anything back? If someone gives me too much change, I give it back and thought everybody else did, too.

Remember when George Steinbrenner signed Dave Winfield as a free agent? After they had agreed on terms, Steinbrenner look another look at the contract, felt he had given up too much and informed Winfield's agent, Al Frohman. No sweat, Frohman assured him, something could be worked out. And part of the money agreed on was given back to Steinbrenner.

Since he's paid by the player, Miller naturally always sees their side, which is what he's doing now regarding the issue of compensation for a free agent.

What about the other side, though? A club like the San Diego Padres had a substantial investment in Winfield — close to $2 million. Aren't they entitled to something for their investment when the Yankees get him as a free agent?

For Winfield, the Padres received the Yankees' pick in the amateur draft, a young catcher, Frank Castro, from the University of Miami. And the Padres had to pay him $50,000 to sign with them.

Now you have some idea why the owners feel the way they do about getting some added compensation. I can see their point. As soon as the players do, we'll have more baseball.

Rogers Becomes Sainly

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Heisman Trophy-winner George Rogers confirmed he will sign a contract with the New Orleans Saints today.

Rogers and attorney Jack Mills, contacted early today in New Orleans by ABC radio sports, said terms had been agreed upon and a contract signing was scheduled later at a meeting with team officials.

"I'm really excited to have finalized my contract," Rogers said. "Jack Mills has gotten me a fantastic deal and I'm very happy to be playing in the NFL."

Mathis, Barons Top Twins

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Writer

For six innings Tuesday no one could blame Orlando's Steve Douglas for feeling like the Lone Ranger.

While leading off the bottom of the first in the O-Twins 5-2 setback to Birmingham at Tinker Field, Douglas smashed a Ron Mathis fastball into left center for a double.

Two more walks loaded the bases until third sacker Gary Gaetti lined into a double play shortstop to second. After that, it was all Mathis until the seventh inning.

The 5-6 right hander retired the next 15 Twins in order. Along the way he struck out six. In the seventh two walks and a cheap double over the first baseman's head signalled his departure. Steve Quealey came on to get Lance Hallberg on a fly ball to right which scored Scott Uilger with the inning's second run. The first tallied on catcher Tim Laudner's chip shot down the line which scored Randy Bush, who had walked.

The seventh inning output was the usually awesome O-Twins only scoreboard appearance of the night. The Barons, meanwhile, pushed across two in the first inning.

Glenn Wilson singled and went to second on a wild pitch by starter John Hobbs, who lost his third straight game to fall to 3-4. Barbaro Garbey followed with a base hit to score Wilson. Designated hitter Jeff Kenega then chased home Garbey with a double and a quick 2-0 lead before most of Tinker Field's 716 patrons had settled into their first beer.

The big blow also came in the third. After Kenega flew out, Hobbs jumped ahead on the count to Howard Johnson before losing him on a 2-2 to a walk.

Shortstop, Vern Followell, who had an impressive spring training with the Detroit Tigers, followed well with a line drive home run to left field to complete the scoring for the Barons.

Hobbs exited after the fifth. Rookie left hander Frank Viola (St. John's University) and right hander Steve Green stifled the Barons on one hit.

Tonight and Thursday the O-Twins travel to Jacksonville for single games before returning home for "Pepsi Night" Friday against the same Suns.

Cook Of The Week: Nancy Thornton

Homemaker's Lifestyle Centers Around Family

By LOIS SMITH
Herald Correspondent
"I believe in the so-called old fashioned standards and in family unity," states Nancy Thornton.
Having lived in the Central Florida area all her life, Nancy says she takes pleasure in calling Sanford her home for the past eight years.
She and her husband, Nelson live at 110 Temple Drive with their two children, Stuart, 13, and Rebekah, 8. Nelson is a security representative with Southern Bell.
Nancy says, "I am a homemaker and I enjoy it even though that doesn't seem to be a popular statement today."

"Our lifestyle centers around our family. I believe a family should be involved with one another as much as possible" explains Nancy.
"We enjoy community activities, as a family, and like to feel we contribute to the area too. Nelson is one of the Town Board chairmen of Seminole Pony Baseball and I am a team mother," she said.
"We think education should be a vital area of concern among parents. Since we have children in two different schools, Nelson is more active with Stuart at Sanford Middle School, where he is the P.T.A. treasurer. I am with Rebekah at Idylwild, says Nancy."
She is a classroom mother at Idylwild and has served with the Dividends School Volunteer Program there during the last four years.

Nancy is also a member of the advisory board at Idylwild. Additionally, she participates in the Dividends Program at Sanford Middle School.
"Our cabin in North Carolina on the Callasaja River is very special to us, Nancy smiles. The entire family looks forward to the time we get to spend there. We enjoy fishing and tubing on the river, hiking and the wildlife in the mountains."

WATERGATE SALAD
19 oz. container Cool Whip
1 small box pistachio pudding mix, dry
1 20 oz. can drained pineapple, crushed
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 cup miniature marshmallows
Mix all ingredients together, spread into shallow bowl. Refrigerate. Yield: 6-8 servings.

IMPOSSIBLE PIE
2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup biscuit mix
4 eggs
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup coconut
Combine milk, sugar, biscuit mix, eggs, butter and vanilla in electric blender container. Cover and blend on low speed for 3 minutes. Pour into greased 9 inch pie pan. Let stand about 5 minutes; then sprinkle with coconut. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Serve warm or cool.
EASY PEACH COBBLER
1 - Slice 2 cups of fresh peaches, (may use 1 can (2 cups) of any fruit with juice of choice). If fresh peaches are used add 1 cup sugar and let stand to make syrup.
2 - Beat together: 2-3rd cups sugar; 1 cup flour; 1/4 cup milk
Pour into baking dish (2 quart). Do not stir. Spoon peaches over batter using all the syrup. Bake for 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Yield: 6 servings.
CREAMY BAKED PORK CHOPS
1 - Brown and salt and pepper 4 to 6 thick cut pork chops on both sides.
2 - Top with 1 can cream of mushroom soup mixed with 1-3rd cup water.
3 - Bake 45 minutes
In skillet, brown chops on both sides. Transfer to a 13 1/2 inch x 8 3/4 inch casserole dish. Mix the cream of mushroom soup and 1-3rd cup water together. Pour mixture over the chops and place in 350 degree oven and bake for 45 minutes. Yield: 4-6 servings.

ENGLISH PEA CASSEROLE
1 pound ground beef
1 large onion, chopped
1 can (16 oz.) English peas or early June peas
1 can mushroom soup (undiluted)
1 spear of celery (2 if you like celery)
2 or 3 slices of buttered bread (cut up into small pieces)
Saute onion and ground beef. Cut up celery into small pieces. Place onion, meat, peas and celery in alternate layers in a buttered (2 quart) baking dish. Pour soup over the top and bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Sprinkle bread crumbs over top and return to oven to brown.

RICE-BROCCOLI-CHEESE CASSEROLE
3 cups cooked rice (equals 1 cup uncooked rice)
1 box (10 oz.) chopped broccoli (cook until thawed only)
1 (8 oz.) jar Cheez Whiz (cheese spread)
Chopped onion (optional)
Cook rice and put into 2 quart casserole dish. Add broccoli and cheese spread; drain broccoli and reserve water. Mix ingredients together; if mixture needs to be more moist use the broccoli water (just a small amount). Put into 300 degree oven and bake for 20 minutes. Yield: 4-6 servings.

STRAWBERRY PIE
1 envelope dry whipped topping
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1 8 oz. cream cheese
1/2 cup sugar
1 baked 10 inch graham cracker crust, cooled
13 oz. package strawberry gelatin
1 pint frozen strawberries
Prepare dry whipped topping as directed on package. Whip cream cheese until soft. Beat in sugar and blend in whipped topping mix. Pour into crust and mold. Put in refrigerator. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Drain juice from berries and add water to make 1/2 cup. Add berries and juice to gelatin. Let chill until slightly thick, spoon into crust and refrigerate until firm. If desired, save some of the topping mix to put on top.

Stemper Grotto Officer

The Rev. William Stemper Jr., a resident of New York City, and a native of Sanford, was recently designated national executive secretary of the Grottoes of North America — 50,000 member fraternity comprised of Master Masons.
Stemper, who studied at Stetson, Emory and Oxford Universities, is an associate minister of St. Bartholomew's Church, Park Avenue, New York City, and an assistant to the Bishop of New York for Corporate and Business Liaison.

He founded and heads the Forum for Corporate Responsibility, Inc., of the City of New York, and lectures widely at New York City universities and churches on corporate and business ethics.
Stemper is active in a variety of Masonic-related organizations, including the Knights Templar, Royal Arch Masons, Shrine, Scottish Rite and the Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem. He is a member of Sanford Lodge, No. 62, and the 100F.
He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stemper and the grandson of Sr. Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wells, all of Sanford, and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stenstrom of Longwood.

The 91st Annual Meeting of the Grotto, called the Supreme Council of the Mystic Order of the Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm will be held in Orlando, June 25-27. The Grotto engages in extensive work on behalf of children with cerebral palsy and operates a Humanitarian Foundation on Dentistry for the Handicapped.

Travelers Advised To Label Luggage

DEAR ABBY: I work in the baggage department for Eastern Airlines. Today I am sending an unclaimed piece of luggage to our tracing center in Miami because there is no identification in or on it. It is filled with small antiques and personal items. I'm sure the emotional loss to the owner will be enormous. I completely unpacked the case, hoping to find a clue that would lead me to the owner. There was none. This case will join thousands of other unidentified pieces of luggage in our warehouse to be auctioned off eventually.

Abby, please tell your readers to put ID tags on their luggage (outside and in), and also on their carry-on items—cameras, eyeglasses, raincoats, books and company documents! So many beautiful unidentified items are left on airplanes and not even missed until the plane is 1500 miles away.
Travelers spare no expense to buy nice clothes, costly souvenirs and gifts on vacation trips, pack them into expensive luggage, and don't bother to label anything! I hope you will think this is important enough for your column. It's heartbreaking to see so much valuable property lost forever.

DEAR DONNA: Thanks for a timely contribution to this column. (Now, where did I put my nametags!)
DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old, reasonably attractive girl. I live at home and work in a large office.
How can I refuse a date without hurting the man's feelings, and at the same time keep him from asking me again? If I say I am busy, he asks me again, or worse yet he'll ask for my first free evening, and then I am really stuck.

Dear Abby

You see, I don't want to date anyone outside my own religion. I'm not that hung up on religion, but my parents are so much against it, I decided it would just eliminate lots of arguments at home if I just dated men of my own faith. My parents have been wonderful to me and I don't consider it too big a sacrifice if it will make them happy.
So, how can I politely turn down a date without appearing rude, and at the same time discourage that fellow from asking me again?

THERESA

DEAR THERESA: What's wrong with telling him the truth?

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (35 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Pretty Dessert Also Tasty

Looking for a dessert that's pretty to look at, delicious but light to eat, and best of all, easy to make? Consider the recipe for Lemon Foam which appears below and was developed by the home economists from KitchenAid for their line of solid state food preparers.

LEMON FOAM
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon lemon peel, grated
1-3rd cup lemon juice
2 egg whites
In a bowl place gelatin, sugar and boiling water. Stir with a spoon until gelatin is completely dissolved. Add lemon peel and lemon juice to the bowl and stir until mixed. Chill mixture, stirring occasionally until it thickens.
Place thickened gelatin and egg whites in bowl. Gradually turn to whipping speed and whip for 5 to 7 minutes or until mixture is light and fluffy and begins to hold its shape.
Pour into 5-cup mold and chill until set.

Ambrosia: A Shower Treat

Festooned with slices of canned pears and succulent table grapes, this cheese-cake is lovely enough to please the ladies and hearty enough to please the men, if the party adopts the new mode of including both sexes at the bridal shower.

Part of the excitement of a wedding is the bridal shower. The hostess knows that the fun of opening gifts (without breaking the ribbons!) will be hard to top. Ambrosia, the food of the gods, should keep the high spirits going. This Pear-Grape Jewel Ambrosia is a luscious version of everyone's favorite dessert — cheesecake.

PEAR-GRAPE JEWEL AMBROSIA

- 1 can (16 oz.) Bartlett pear halves
  - 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
  - 3 eggs, separated
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 3 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
  - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
  - 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 6 tablespoons sugar
  - 1 cup dairy sour cream
  - Coconut Crust
  - 1/2 cup green, red or blue-black grapes, halved and seeded if necessary
- Glaze
Grape clusters
- Drain pears; reserve syrup. Set aside 3 halves for garnish; chop remaining pears. Soften gelatine in 1/2 cup reserved pear syrup; stir in beaten egg yolks and milk. Cook and stir over boiling water in double boiler 5 to 10 minutes or until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Cool 10 minutes. Beat cream cheese, lemon juice and peel and vanilla until smooth; slowly add cooled gelatine mixture. If necessary, chill mixture until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually beat in sugar until stiff peaks form. On low speed of electric mixer, beat egg whites and sour cream into cream cheese mixture. Fold in chopped pears; turn into crust-lined pan. Refrigerate at least 4 hours. Several hours before serving, slice each reserved pear half in fourths; arrange pears and grapes on cheesecake. Spoon glaze thinly but evenly over all. Refrigerate until glaze is firm. Run warm knife around edge of cheesecake then remove sides of springform pan. Garnish with grape clusters. Makes 16 to 20 servings.

Coconut Crust: Combine 1 1/2 cups flaked coconut, 1/2 cup finely chopped almonds and 1/2 cup butter or margarine in 8 1/2 or 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 15 minutes or until golden; stir occasionally. Press over bottom of pan. Cool completely.

Glaze: Combine 2 teaspoons cornstarch and dash salt. Add water if necessary to remaining reserved pear syrup to equal 1/2 cup liquid; gradually stir into cornstarch mixture. Cook and stir until thickened and clear. Stir in 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Cool slightly.

Fruit pie is almost too pretty to eat.

Appealing Platter Pie Stars Fruit

Eye appeal enhances the enjoyment of the food we eat. With that in mind, look no further. A fruit platter pie concocted on a shallow pastry crust appears almost too pretty to eat. And yet, the flavor even out-rials the appearance.

Use ripe natural fruits that are in season and top them with a clear glaze made of corn starch which allows the fruits' colors to shine through.

Extra glaze is whipped into heavy cream for a flavorful pie topping.

For a most decorative looking fruit platter pie, arrange each fruit in its own row starting with the outer edge and filling pie crust to the center. One suggested filling is bananas, strawberries, nectarines and blueberries.

FRUIT PLATTER PIE

- 1 cup sugar
  - 1/2 cup corn starch
  - 1 cup water
  - 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
  - 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
  - 1 cup orange juice
  - 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- Assorted fresh fruit, such as apple, banana, peach or pear slices, strawberry halves, seedless green grapes or blueberries

1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

In 3-quart saucepan, stir together sugar and corn starch. Gradually stir in water until smooth. Stir in orange juice. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice, orange rind and lemon rind. Turn into bowl; cover surface with waxed paper or plastic wrap. Cool to room temperature. Arrange fresh ripe fruit in season decoratively on pastry. Reserve 1 cup of the orange glaze; spoon remaining glaze over fruit. Refrigerate pie and reserved glaze until ready to serve. Just before serving, fold reserved glaze into whipped cream. Serve with pie. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 12 servings.

PLATTER PIE PASTRY

In large bowl, stir together 2 cups minus 2 tablespoons unsifted flour and 1/4 teaspoon salt. With pastry blender, or 2 knives, cut in two-thirds cup margarine until fine crumbs form. (Do not be afraid of overmixing.)

Sprinkle 3 tablespoons cold water over mixture while tossing to blend well. Press dough firmly into ball with hands. If mixture seems crumbly, work with hands until it will hold together. On lightly floured surface, roll out pastry to 16-inch circle. Fit loosely into 14-by-14-inch pizza pan. If necessary, trim dough to 1/2-inch beyond rim of pan. Flute edge. Pierce with fork. Bake in 450-degree oven 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool completely on wire rack.

Short Sips

Like a quick pick-me-up that's not sweet? That's Blushing Buttermilk: Mix one half cup chilled tomato juice with one-half cup cold buttermilk. Stir in enough salt for seasoning, about one-half teaspoon or less.

The first cheese made in America was cottage cheese. In fact, it was probably made in the Mayflower's galley during the crossing.

Separation is natural for yogurt as it sits in the refrigerator, awaiting use. Before serving, simply stir the liquid gently into the solid portion.

If you have a microwave oven, use it for softening freezer-hard ice cream to serving temperature. Place the ice cream on a plate to prevent excessive melting at the bottom. A pint softens in 30 seconds on defrost, while one-half gallon will take about one and one-half minutes.

Wedding At Home

Beautiful Foods Honor Bride And Groom

Today's bridal couple sees marriage as a very personal commitment, and the wedding is often shared only with their families and closest friends. To keep this intimate atmosphere, home weddings have become increasingly popular and elegant simplicity prevails.

The beautiful bridal buffet featured here captures the spirit of the occasion perfectly. Whole poached salmon from the icy waters of Alaska shimmers in aspic, and it's a subtle flavor contrast to the rice salad flavored with curry.

Bountiful enough to serve 20 guests, this menu can be prepared a day or so ahead. The bride may do it herself, if she wishes, as her very personal "Thank you!" to those sharing her day.

POACHED SALMON WITH MUSTARD MAYONNAISE

- 1 (4 to 6 lb.) whole fresh or frozen, thawed salmon
- 2 tablespoons butter
- one-third cup each chopped onion, carrot, celery and green pepper

- 2 1/2 quarts water
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 sprig parsley
- 5 peppercorns
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- Scored cucumber, thinly sliced
- Garnishes:
  - Watercress or parsley
  - Small clusters fresh grapes
  - Mustard Mayonnaise
- Rinse salmon; remove head and tail, if desired. Melt butter; saute onion, celery, carrot and green pepper 5 minutes. Add water, lemon juice and seasonings; heat to boiling. Wrap salmon in cheesecloth leaving long ends on the cloth to serve as handles for removing from poaching liquid. Immerse salmon into boiling liquid; add additional boiling water, if necessary, to cover salmon. Cover, reduce heat and simmer gently. Allow 8 to 10 minutes per pound or 10 minutes per inch thickness of fish. Remove salmon from liquid; gently remove skin while still warm. Strain liquid; cool completely. Soften gelatin in 2 cups cooled liquid; heat to dissolve gelatin completely. Chill until mixture barely starts to thicken. Spoon gelatin mixture over salmon, using just enough to coat salmon completely. Chill. Decorate salmon with cucumber; spoon a thin layer of gelatin mixture over decorated salmon. Chill. Garnish platter as desired. Serve with Mustard Mayonnaise. Makes about 20 servings.

Mustard Mayonnaise: Combine 2 cups mayonnaise, 1/4 cup minced parsley, 2 tablespoons each minced onion and Dijon mustard and dash white pepper. Chill thoroughly. Makes about 2 cups.

CURRIED RICE SALAD

- 2 tablespoons curry powder
- one-third cup butter
- 6 cups chicken broth
- 3 cups uncooked rice
- 1/4 cup each chopped green pepper and green onion
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 cups mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 1 cup frozen, thawed peas
- 1/4 cup toasted slivered almonds
- Parsley

Saute curry in butter several minutes. Stir in chicken broth; bring to boil. Add rice and green pepper; cover and simmer 20 minutes or until all liquid is absorbed. Stir in green onion and lemon juice. Chill thoroughly. Combine mayonnaise and milk; blend well. Stir into rice mixture along with peas and almonds. Garnish with parsley. Makes about 20 servings.

SPICED PEAR WEDDING CAKE

- 1 can (16 oz.) pear halves or slices
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 1/4 cup each sugar and packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup each shortening and softened butter
- 1 1/2 teaspoons each baking soda and salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon each baking powder, ground cloves and allspice
- 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
- Powdered sugar

Drain pears, reserving two-thirds cup syrup; puree pears in blender or food processor. Combine all ingredients except nuts and powdered sugar in large mixer bowl. Beat at low speed 30 seconds, scraping bowl constantly. Beat at high speed 3 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Fold in nuts. Pour into greased and floured 10-cup tube or bundt pan. Bake at 350 degrees F. 50 to 55 minutes or until wooden pick inserted near center of cake comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan and finish cooling on wire rack. Dust with powdered sugar. Decorate with fresh or silk flowers. Makes 16 to 20 servings.

CHAMPAGNE GRAPE PUNCH

- 3 cups green, red or blue-black grapes, halved and seeded if necessary
- 1/4 cup orange liqueur
- 3 fifths champagne, chilled;
- In punch bowl, combine grapes and orange liqueur; let stand 30 minutes. Pour champagne over grapes and liqueur. To serve, ladle punch and a few grapes into each glass. Makes about 24 punch cup servings.
- Recipe may be doubled or tripled.

Food Industry Is Listening

Have you ever had a question or complaint about a food product and wondered how to express your thoughts to the very people who most need to hear them? Food companies are as anxious to hear your comments as you are to express them!

Consumer correspondence provides a valuable communications link between the industry and the general public. Since the consumer ultimately influences the success or failure of a product, what the consumer thinks is considered a vital element in the development of new products, the improvement of existing products and the expansion of services.

At Kraft, Inc., for example, there is a Consumer Service Department just to handle customer letters and telephone inquiries. When you have a comment, question or complaint about a particular food product, Kraft's Consumer Service Department offers these suggestions for getting a prompt and satisfactory response:

- Write to the manufacturer directly with a clear, concise statement about the information desired or problem encountered.
- Send a legibly typed or written letter and include your name and address on both the letter and the envelope.
- In your letter, answer the following questions, as they apply:

- What is the product involved?
- What is the brand name?
- What was the price and size?
- When and where was it purchased?
- Where is the product now?
- What was its code date or freshness date?
- How was it stored, prepared and used?
- What was the nature of the problem?
- When did it occur?
- What action has been taken to date?

Whenever product information or assistance is needed, don't hesitate to contact the manufacturer directly. It's best way to get action and attention.

To learn more about the American food industry and food product development, write for a free copy of "A Food Product... From Concept to Consumer" from Kraft, Inc. Send a postcard with your name and address to "Food Product" (L8), Box 802, Dept. MR, South Holland, IL 60473.

Ice Cream:

Make Your Own In A Loaf Pan

Temporarily cold, creamy-smooth, wonderfully delicious — ice cream's the irresistible treat!

And the richer it is, the better it sells at dipping stores, ice cream parlors and supermarkets. Last year, the market for deluxe premium ice creams soared 17 percent. This despite the fact that the luxury ice creams carry a hefty price.

Now you can enjoy luscious, premium ice cream along with the satisfaction of making it right in your own kitchen. For considerably less money, it's amazingly easy to turn out your own unique ice cream flavors without having to use an ice cream freezer. You won't need to bother with crushed ice, salt or cranking. All you do is combine a few ingredients, pour the mixture into a loaf pan, and place it in the freezer compartment of your refrigerator.

This is velvety-smooth, super-delicious ice cream, made with natural ingredients including pre-cooked, pre-blended sweetened condensed milk. Its low freezing point limits the formation of ice crystals, so there's no guesswork — just delicious, satiny-smooth ice cream every time you make it.

And you'll make it often, once you try these ice creams and the equally fabulous sauces shown. (You might even want to feature them at a "Make-Your-Own-Sundae" party.)

Blueberries are the all-American fruit, a part of everybody's memory of things homey, wholesome and good. Add this recipe for Blueberry Lemon Ice Cream to your collection of favorite blueberry recipes and make memories for another generation of Americans. The big, beautiful blues lend distinctive tart tingle and dramatic color when pureed and swirled through the ice cream mixture. Top with blueberry 'n' Spice Sauce for a treat to repeat often during the summer — and off season, as well, when dry-pack frozen blueberries replace the fresh in the recipes.

NUMBER-ONE-NUT!

One of the great flavor combinations in the ice cream repertoire is mocha pecan. There just isn't a tastier nut than the pecan (a recent nationwide survey showed it's the number-one flavor choice). Pecans provide a lot more than flavor and crunch, too — they're a dandy source of protein, vitamins and minerals. So use them generously in both Mocha Pecan Ice Cream and Praline Sundae Sauce — two partners which make an extraordinarily good dessert.

Also included are America's favorite flavors — chocolate and vanilla — along with refreshing mint chocolate chip.

They're all easy, they're all quick-to-fix — and they're all going to disappear very soon after you serve them!

BLUEBERRY LEMON ICE CREAM
(Makes about 1½ quarts)

1 cup fresh or dry-pack frozen blueberries, rinsed and drained
3 egg yolks
1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
2 cups (1 pint) whipping cream, whipped
In blender container, blend blueberries until smooth; set aside. In large bowl, beat egg yolks; stir in sweetened condensed milk and lemon rind. Fold in whipped cream. Add blueberries, gently swirl with knife or spatula. Pour into aluminum foil-lined 9x5-inch loaf pan or other 2-quart container; cover. Freeze 6 hours or until firm. Scoop ice cream from pan or remove from pan, peel off foil and slice. Return leftovers to freezer.

Use only Grade A clean, uncracked eggs.

BLUEBERRY 'N' SPICE SAUCE
(Makes about 1-2 1/2 cups)

½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ cup hot water
2 cups fresh or dry-pack frozen blueberries, rinsed and drained.
In small saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and nutmeg; gradually stir in water. Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Stir in blueberries; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Simmer 5 minutes. Serve warm over ice cream or cake. Refrigerate leftovers.

MOCHA PECAN ICE CREAM
(Makes about 1½ quarts)

1 tablespoon instant coffee
2 tablespoons water
3 egg yolks
1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
½ to ¾ cup chopped pecans
4 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 cups (1 pint) whipping cream, whipped
In small bowl, dissolve coffee in water. In large bowl, beat egg yolks; stir in sweetened condensed milk, pecans, vanilla and coffee mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into aluminum foil-lined 9x5-inch loaf pan or other 2-quart container; cover. Freeze 6 hours or until firm. Scoop ice cream from pan or remove from pan, peel off foil and slice. Return leftovers to freezer.

Use only Grade A clean, uncracked eggs.

PRALINE SUNDAE SAUCE
(Makes about 2½ cups)

¼ cup margarine or butter
1½ cups firmly packed light brown sugar
2-3 cup light corn syrup
3-3 cup light cream
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans
In small saucepan, melt margarine; stir in sugar and corn syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil; remove from heat. Stir in cream and pecans. Serve warm or cold over Mocha Pecan Ice Cream or vanilla ice cream; stir before serving. Refrigerate leftovers.

EASY HOMEMADE CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM
(Makes about 1½ quarts)

1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NO evaporated milk)
2-3 cup chocolate flavored syrup
2 cups (1 pint) whipping cream, whipped
In large bowl, stir together sweetened condensed milk and syrup. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into aluminum foil-lined 9x5-inch loaf pan or other 2-quart container; cover. Freeze 6 hours or until firm. Scoop ice cream from pan, peel off foil and slice. Return leftovers to freezer.

French Vanilla: In large bowl, combine sweetened condensed milk, 2 tablespoons water, 2 beaten egg yolks and 4 teaspoons vanilla extract. Fold in whipped cream. (For variation, stir in ½ cup chopped pecans.)

Mint Chocolate Chip: In large bowl, combine sweetened condensed milk, 2 teaspoons peppermint extract, 3 to 4 drops green food coloring and 2 tablespoons water. Fold in whipped cream and ½ cup small dark chocolate-flavored baking chips.

Try it. You'll like it.

Lucky Catch: Fish Fillets Are A Rich Protein Source

Whether you buy frozen fish fillets or your lucky fisherman comes home with a prideful catch, fish fillets are a rich protein source.

Often these are baked or poached with butter and lemon or in white wine. However, stuffed rolled fillets served with a creamy mustard sauce give you the feeling of eating out at your most expensive local restaurant. The secret, once again, is not to overcook the fish. Check it before the recommended cooking time elapses. If the fish flakes, it is done.

Serve with fresh garden green beans and a grapefruit-avocado salad. If you want to blow this lower calorie menu, however, serve a triple chocolate cake with ice cream for dessert.

AROMATIC STUFFING FOR FISH

- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 1/2 cups bread crumbs
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon sage

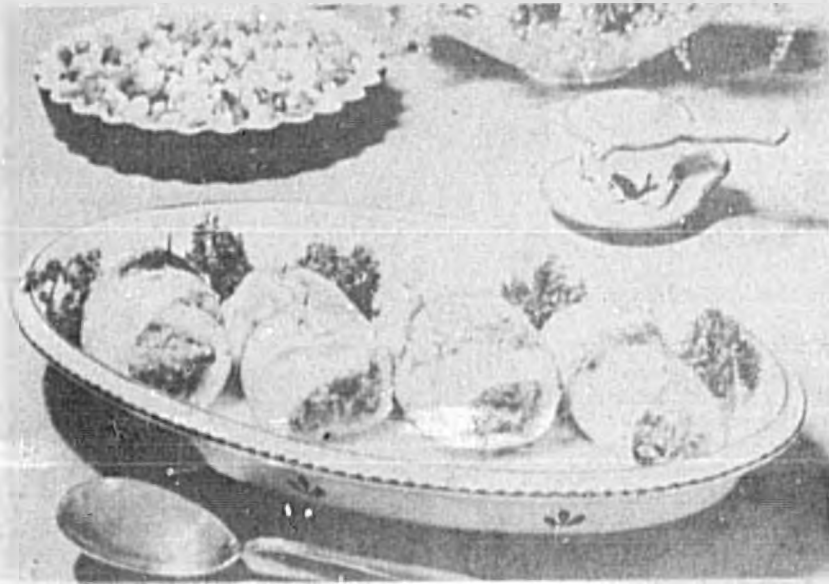

- 1/4 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters
- 1/2 cup chopped walnut meats
- 4 large fish fillets
- Salt
- Pepper

Cook onion and celery very slowly in butter for about 10 minutes. Pour over bread crumbs. Add salt, sage, aromatic bitters and walnut meats and mix lightly. Season fillets lightly with salt and pepper and spread with stuffing. Roll fillets and fasten with toothpicks. Place in shallow greased pan. Pour 2 or 3 tablespoons water into pan and dot fillets with additional butter. Bake at 375-degrees for about 45 minutes. Serve with Creamy Mustard Sauce (directions below). This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4-6 servings.

CREAMY MUSTARD SAUCE

- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters
- 1 cup hot, medium cream sauce

Stir prepared mustard, lemon juice and Angostura aromatic bitters into hot, medium cream sauce and serve.

Stuffed fillets with mustard sauce is a simple, yet elegant, dish that has lots of class.

POTPOURRI Dumpling Wraps Up Fresh Peach

In the 18th century Charles Lamb wrote that "A man cannot have a pure mind who refuses apple dumplings." Had he lived today, Lamb may also have included peach dumplings. Wrapped in a golden pastry blanket, a whole fresh peach makes a dish to warm the heart of any dessert lover.

FRESH PEACH DUMPLINGS

- 1 recipe double crust pastry
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 4 peaches, peeled, pitted, halved
- 1 tablespoon margarine, cut into 4 pieces
- 1 cup dark corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons margarine

On lightly floured surface roll out pastry, 1/4 at a time, to 7-inch square. For decorative edge, cut with pastry wheel. In small bowl stir together sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Place a peach half in center of each pastry square. Fill center of peach half with about 1 1/4 teaspoons sugar mixture. Dot each with 1 piece of margarine. Top with other peach half. Bring each corner of pastry square to top of peach. Moisten edges with a little water and pinch edges together firmly to cover peach.

Place dumplings in greased 13 x 5 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in 425 degree F oven 25 minutes or until lightly browned. Meanwhile, in 2-quart saucepan stir together corn syrup, water and 2 tablespoons margarine. Stirring frequently, bring to boil over medium heat. Pour over dumplings. Bake 5 minutes longer, basting occasionally with syrup mixture. Immediately remove dumplings from pan to serving dishes. Spoon syrup mixture over dumplings. Makes 4.

PEPPERMINT ICE CREAM

- 4 Florida eggs
- 2 1/4 cups sugar
- 8 cups Florida milk
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 Tablespoons vanilla
- 1/4 cup crushed peppermint candy

Beat eggs. Add next 5 ingredients and mix well. Refrigerate mixture overnight or several hours before freezing for a smoother texture. Place in can of 1 gallon freezer and freeze according to manufacturers direction. At the very last moment add the crushed peppermint candy. Adding earlier will result in the candy melting and leaving sticky streaks instead of crunch. Yield: 4 quarts

MOLDED VEGETABLE MEDLEY

Yield: 8-8 Servings

- 3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons seasoned salt
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- 4 drops hot pepper sauce
- 1 cup drained cooked peas and carrots
- 1 cup finely chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons thinly sliced green onion

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over low heat. Combine gelatin and milk. Fold in sour cream until well blended. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Stir in vinegar, salt, horseradish and hot pepper sauce. Stir in vegetables. Pour into oiled 3-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens and serve with cheese and cold cuts. (FRN)

COCONUT COOKIE SNOWBALLS

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons unsifted confectioners sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1-one-third cups (about) angel flake coconut
- Confectioners Sugar Glaze

Cream butter. Add sugar and vanilla; beat until light and fluffy. Add flour, all at once, and blend well. Mix in two-thirds cup of the coconut. Chill 15 minutes; then shape into 1-inch balls. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake at 350 degrees for 18 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool. Tint remaining coconut with food coloring as directed on package, if desired. Dip cooled cookies in Confectioners Sugar Glaze, then in the United coconut. Makes 1 1/2 dozen.

Confectioners Sugar Glaze. Add 1 tablespoon (about) hot milk or water to 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar in bowl. Makes one-third cup.

CHEESE 'N CHIVE TREATS

(about 1 dozen)

- 2 cups enriched self-rising flour
- 2 tbsp. sugar
- 2 tbsp. dehydrated chives
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 cup (8 oz.) small curd creamed cottage cheese
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup milk

Stir together flour, sugar and chives. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Combine cottage cheese, egg and milk. Add to flour to make a thick batter, stirring only until flour is moistened. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake in preheated 450 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until done.

Sweet, Sour Dish Always Reliable

If you have a deep saucepan or deep fryer, you can become a whiz at preparing sweet-and-sour pork, American style. You may not be into regional Chinese cooking or have a raft of authentic Chinese utensils at your disposal, but crave this favored dish. Your yearnings are answered.

The sweet-and-sour sauce is easy to make and deep frying the chunks of pork takes a few minutes.

Beginning cooks will find sweet-and-sour pork a reliable item to add to their recipes to serve guests. It's also a good dish for singles to prepare when they want to entertain, because it may be frozen and reheated — although there probably will be little need to think of leftovers.

Serve with rice, crisp noodles, mandarin oranges and almond cookies for dessert.

SWEET-AND-SOUR PORK

- 1 tablespoon corn starch
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 egg yolk, well beaten
- 1 pound boneless pork, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 1 quart (about) corn oil
- one-third cup corn starch

In medium bowl, stir together 1 tablespoon corn starch, soy sauce, sherry and pepper until smooth. Stir in egg yolk. Add pork; toss to coat well. Let stand 30 minutes. Pour corn oil into heavy 3-quart saucepan or deep fryer, filling no more than one-third full. Heat over medium-high heat to 375-degrees. Sprinkle pork with one-third cup corn starch; toss to coat well. Fry, a few pieces at a time, 3 to 4 minutes or until pork is golden. Drain on paper towels. Prepare Sweet and Sour Sauce. Before serving, reheat corn oil to 375-degrees. Fry pork, a few pieces at a time, about 1 minute or more until very crisp. Drain on paper towels. Serve immediately with Sweet and Sour Sauce. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 to 6 servings.

SWEET AND SOUR SAUCE

- 1 can (8 ounce) pineapple chunks in own juice
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons corn starch
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup ketchup
- one-third cup cider vinegar
- 3 tablespoons water
- 3 tablespoons corn oil
- 2 green peppers, cut in 1-inch squares
- 2 tomatoes, cut in 1-inch cubes

Drain pineapple; reserve juice. In small bowl, stir together sugar, corn starch and salt. Gradually stir in reserved juice, ketchup, vinegar and water until smooth. In large skillet or wok, heat corn oil over medium-high heat. Add green peppers and tomatoes. Stirring constantly, cook 1 minute or until tender-crisp. Add corn starch mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Stir in pineapple. Serve over pork. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 3 cups.

Chocolate cream filling turns ordinary pound cake into a luscious treat.

Rich Filling Dresses Up Pound Cake

A homemade filling dresses up a pound cake and turns it into a dessert that friends will insist was made from scratch. Slice store-bought pound cake horizontally into thin layers, brush with sherry and fill with a rich chocolate cream. Frost cake with whipped cream.

COCOA CREAM CAKE

- one-third cup unsweetened cocoa
- one-third cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons corn starch
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1-one-third cups milk
- 3 tablespoons margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 loaf (12 ounces) pound cake
- 1/4 cup dry sherry
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

In small saucepan, stir together cocoa, sugar, corn starch and salt. Gradually stir in milk until smooth. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in margarine and vanilla. Cover; refrigerate until chilled. Slice pound cake lengthwise into 4 layers. Brush each layer with sherry. Put bottom layer on serving plate. Spread with one-third of the cocoa mixture. Repeat with remaining layers and cocoa mixture, ending with cake layer. In small bowl with mixer at high speed, whip cream and confectioners' sugar. Frost cake with whipped cream. If desired, garnish with candied violets. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 8 servings.

Strawberries Put Up A Batch Of Freezer Jam

Going to market today? Take a good look at the fresh ripe strawberries for your own homemade Strawberry-Almond Jam. Breakfast breads, coffee breaks and snacking can take on new excitement, and with minimal effort, because this easy-to-make freezer jam isn't cooked — just mixed with almond extract, sugar and powdered fruit pectin. It's the pectin that assures a good "set" and helps capture more of the fresh fruit flavor.

If you're a creative cook who often deviates from a recipe, don't when you prepare this or any other jam. It's essential to follow the recipe accurately for a good "set," paying close attention to the correct proportions of sugar, acid and pectin. And if you ask "Why commercial pectin?" keep in mind that the powdered fruit pectin compensates for the loss of natural pectin in strawberries as they ripen.

There's nothing complicated about this streamlined recipe. The prepared fruit mixture with pectin is stirred for 3 minutes and quickly ladled into containers and covered with lids. After standing about 24 hours, containers can be stored in the freezer up to six months. Jam, either freshly made or thawed from freezer storage, can be stored in the refrigerator up to at least three weeks.

If you're economy minded, enjoy the "plus" of reusing small containers, not over a pint in capacity, with tight-fitting lids. Dishwasher-safe plastic containers or glass jars should be prepared as directed on the pectin package insert.

After "putting up" a batch of this freezer jam, you'll want to expand your jam-making expertise with other seasonal fruits. A recipe leaflet tucked inside the package of powdered fruit pectin offers a wide range of recipes for cooked and "not cooked" jams and jellies.

STRAWBERRY-ALMOND JAM

- 2 cups prepared fruit (about 1 qt. fully ripe strawberries)
- 2 teaspoons almond extract
- 4 cups (1-1/2 lb) sugar or raw sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 box fruit pectin

First prepare the fruit. Stem and thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 1 quart strawberries. Measure 2 cups into large bowl or pan. Add almond extract.

Then make the jam. Thoroughly mix sugar into fruit; let stand 10 minutes. Mix water and fruit pectin in small saucepan. Bring to a full boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir into fruit. Continue stirring 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Ladle quickly into scalded containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours; then store in freezer.

Makes about 4 1/2 cups or about 6 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Sweets Really Make Young Person Sick

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column about low blood sugar and it sounded like my symptoms. I'm 20 years old and for the past 12 years when I eat or drink anything sweet in the morning I break out in a sweat, get nauseated, turn pale and have pains in my arm. I'm drained of all energy. I have to lie down for a couple of hours.

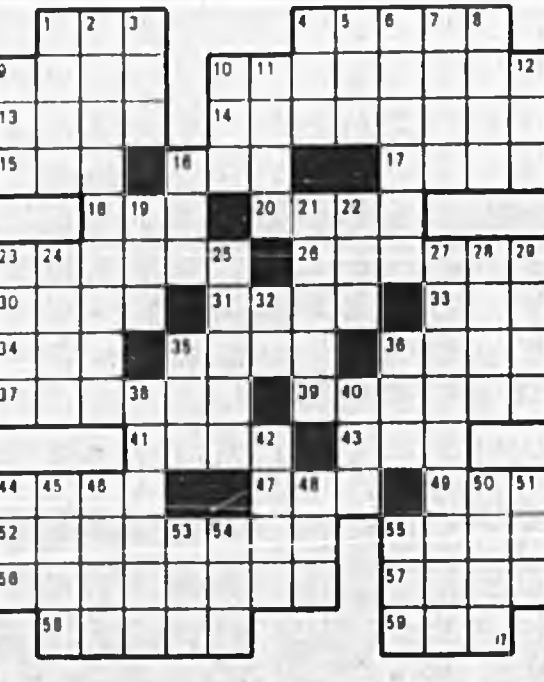

Last summer I worked at a camp for the handicapped and drank apple juice for breakfast. I had to ask the other counselors to care for my kids and it was 1 p.m. before I could take over.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is the name for the slight head tremor? What is the cause of it and what can be done for it? A friend has this problem.

DEAR READER — It is just called a tremor. There are all kinds of tremors and they involve almost any part of the body. The head can shake from a familial tremor. Even though it is inherited, it may be brought out by emotion. Or a person may have a senile tremor involving the head, or any of a variety of diseases of the nervous system that can cause head shaking.

The head may nod in response to damage of the aortic valve in the heart, a condition called De Musset's sign. The forceful pulsation each time the heart ejects blood up the neck arteries causes it.

All of which should tell you that the best way to find out what is causing a tremor of the head is to have an examination. How it is treated depends entirely on what is causing it. Obviously, head nodding from a bad heart valve is treated a lot differently from familial tremor activated by emotional reactions.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

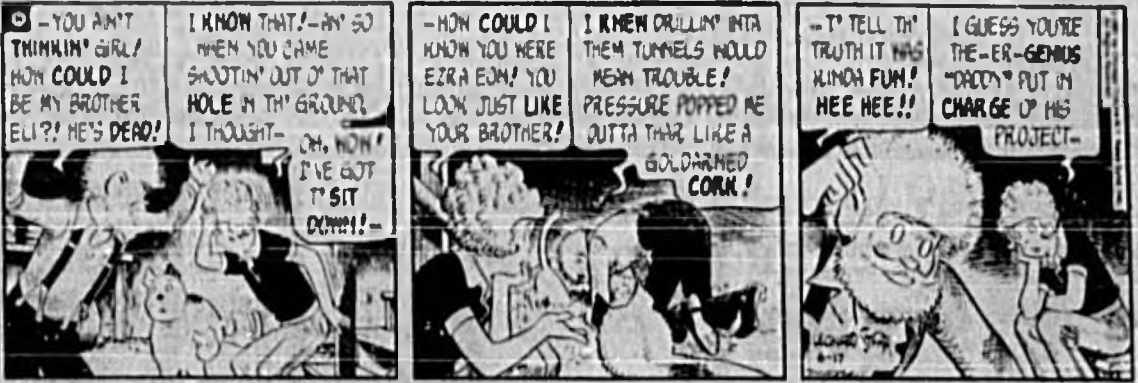

For Thursday, June 18, 1981

June 18, 1981
This coming year you should be able to make certain changes which you have been unable to make this far. One could be quite beneficial where your work or career is concerned.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There are possibilities for gains today from joint ventures. However, what you reap may not be too large, nor is it apt to come too easily. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Companions today will reflect your treatment of them. To win their cooperation you must first show a willingness to be cooperative yourself.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even though you've been working a bit harder than usual lately, there are still some tasks which you've failed to handle and should take care of today.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) When participating in fun activities today, relax and enjoy yourself. If you worry about things you feel you should be doing, you'll spoil a good time.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A slow start is likely today, but your determination grows as you become more involved, especially if there is something you want completed.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You have the ability today to determine that which is practical and that which is wishful thinking. Adhere to your logical assessments.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your material prospects are encouraging today, but you could be disappointed if you expect more than you're entitled to. Strive to be grateful, not greedy.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your chances for success are greater today if you are able to operate independently. Free yourself from things or persons who encumber you.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Sometimes it's helpful to get off alone so that one can sort things out privately. Today a little solitude will help you collect your thoughts.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) This is a good day to spend some time with friends of long standing, especially if you haven't seen much of them lately. Let them know you still care.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Beware of tendencies today to make that which you hope to accomplish more difficult than necessary. You won't sail to success over choppy seas.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Some of the choices you may have to make today may not be easy ones. Nevertheless, do what is best, not merely what is most expedient.

Here is another of Tony Friday's 1945 hands. You are rather disappointed with the dummy. It would have been nice to see five trumps and maybe a singleton in one of the black suits, but you have to play with what you have. You see two trump entries to dummy and can finesse in both black suits, but West's double suggests that he will hold back black kings and probably four trumps as well. You think about setting up dummy's diamonds but abandon that play. It won't get you your 13 tricks. You win the first trick in dummy and decide to try a black suit finesse. "Uter," which one of two? Obviously the spade to take advantage of that 10 spot. You lead it. West takes his king and leads a second trump. Now you win in your hand, cash your ace-jack of spades to discard a club from dummy and lead ace and queen of clubs for a ruffing finesse against West. He plays his king. You ruff, return with the king of diamonds and make the last three tricks with your two trumps and the jack of clubs. You have played well, but you give mental thanks to West for his rather silly double. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
