Woman Abducted, Forced To Withdraw Bank Funds

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford woman, abducted at noon at gunpoint from the Sanford Plaza, was forced to take money from her savings account and give it to robbers.

According to a Sanford police, Towanna Thompkins, 18, of 126 Bethune Circle, was shopping at the Sanford Plaza Monday during the noon hour when she returned to her car to find a man and a woman in it.

Miss Thompkins said her unlocked car, a Z-28 Camaro, has tinted windows and she didn't notice anybody in the car until she opened the door.

Inside were a man and a woman sitting in the back seat.

When Thompkins asked "What are you doing in my car?" the woman, on the passenger's side, pointed a shiny black handgun at Miss Thompkins and replied "Get in," Miss Thompkins said.

The 18-year-old, who had left her car only for a few minutes, said at that moment she considered running.

"I thought about running, but she might of shot me as I ran so I got in the car," Thompkins said.

The woman, who along with the man had rifled the car discovering the savings account book, ordered Miss Thompkins to drive to the First Federal of Seminole, 312 W. 1st St. Sanford.

There, with the backseat bandits walking with her, they entered the lobby of the bank and Miss Thompkins, just a few feet from her kidnapers as she stood at the teller window, withdrew $145 from her savings account. While in the bank, the woman kept the short revolver in her brown leather purse.

Earlier she had told Thompkins that if she did what she was told she wouldn't get hurt.

Once back in the Camaro, the woman said "Robert. We did it," according to Miss Thompkins.

Miss Thompkins said the man didn't say anything throughout the robbery and just smiled when they trio got back in the car.

"I guess he was her flunky or he was letting her do it on her own," Thompkins said.

After taking the money withdrawn plus $15 dollars Miss Thompkins had with her, the pair drove back to the plaza, got out of her car, and left the area.

After leaving their victim, they drove away, possibly in a blue compact, a vehicle Miss Thompkins noticed when she drove in the plaza.

Police are looking for a well-dressed black couple in their 30s. The man is described as about 5-feet, 6-inches tall, of slender build and was wearing a mustache, straw hat, beige shirt and dark beige slacks. The female described as 5-feet, 7-inches tall, approximately 130 pounds, of light complexion. She was wearing a tan shirt and tan skirt.

Miss Thompkins, a Seminole High School graduate and a recent student at Seminole Community College, said she could identify the couple.

"I can see them in my head now," she said.

Body Parts Origin A Mystery

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Soft-tissue body parts found Saturday dumped in a plastic bag and buried in a shallow grave in the Geneva Cemetery are apparently the by-products of an autopsy. But their origin remains a mystery.

The illegally disposed human flesh, which "was badly decomposed and practically in a liquid state," according to sheriff's spokesman John Spolski, was uncovered about 9 a.m. Saturday by Seminole County sheriff's deputies who had been called to the cemetery by two women who said they had stopped at the graveyard to clean it up, a sheriff's report said.

Yvonne Olliver, 39, of Route 1 Box 320, Oviedo, and Barbara Ganey, 47, of P.O. Box 425, Geneva, said they were suspicious when they spotted an area in the center of the cemetery where the ground had been disturbed and what appeared to be a piece of tarp or cloth was sticking out from beneath the loose soil.

Sheriff's deputy Dan Prast arrived at the gravesite at about 8:50 a.m. Saturday and found the two women there along with cemetery caretaker Evans Bacon and another man. Bacon reportedly told the Prast that the last official burial at the graveyard had been about four weeks ago and Prast began to probe the suspicious area.

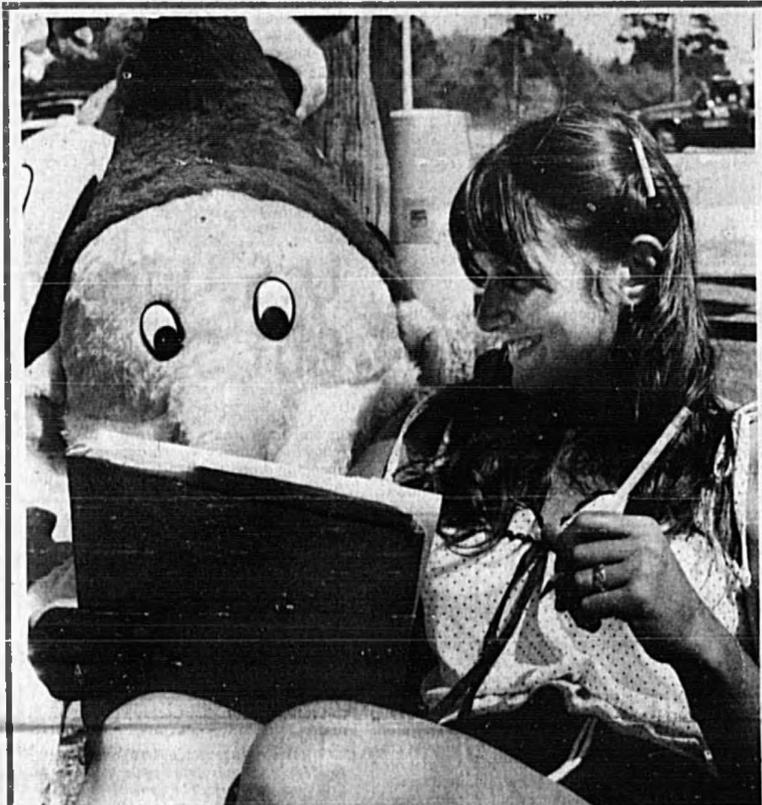

He dug into the grave and discovered several empty bottles that had contained embalming fluid and several pairs of surgical gloves about six inches beneath the surface of the soil. Prast noticed a foul odor coming from the 3-by-4-foot area and called sheriff's patrol supervisor Sgt. Glenn Trombly who told Prast to dig deeper into the hole to see if there was anything there, the sheriff's report said.

Prast continued to dig and after he uncovered a tarp labeled "Cent. Fla. Reg." the smell became stronger and he waited for investigators to arrive before continuing to uncover the buried materials.

Although the label on the tarp might indicate that it came from Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, hospital spokesman Kay Bartholomew said that CFR does not transfer bodies to funeral homes in a marked tarps. The hospital, she said, places human remains in disposable shrouds and she is unaware of a labeled tarp being used for any hospital function.

CFR keeps a log of any human tissue removed through surgery or autopsy county medical examiner Dr. G.V. Garay said. He said he is not aware he said of any tissue missing from the hospital or any tissue that has not been properly disposed. Organs removed in autopsy Garay said are returned to the body and transported to a funeral home for disposal. Surgically removed tissue he said is ## 911?

Officials Study Feasibility Of Universal Crisis Number

By Britt Smith
Herald Staff Writer

It's late at night and you're driving home along a little traveled stretch of road when you happen upon a bad accident.

The cars are badly mangled. Passengers, including children, are trapped inside the wreckage. No one else is around. You rush to a nearby pay phone and dial.... who?

Who do you call? The police? Fire department? An ambulance?

Seconds are crucial. People's lives are at stake. Make up your mind! Who do you call?

Such a frustrating, potentially fatal, scenario might be avoided by a 911 emergency telephone system. With the system, persons in need of help could call that easily-remembered three-digit number and be quickly switched to the proper agency.

Representatives of Seminole County law enforcement, fire and government agencies met with Southern Bell and United Telephone officials Monday to kick off a study of the feasibility of a local 911 system.

The study is expected to be completed by early June. But even if a prompt go-ahead is given, it would be 18 months before the system would be operational, according to Southern Bell marketing manager Dennis Thornton.

No cost estimates have been made, but a part of the study will not only be a cost analysis of the project, but also identifying possible funding sources.

There are two different forms of 911. In the basic system, a caller telephones the 911 number and gives pertinent information like address, telephone number, and nature of the emergency to a 911 operator who determines to which agency the caller should be directed. The call is either transferred to that agency or the caller is given the proper phone number.

In the so-called enhanced 911 system, which Orange County uses, a call is automatically routed to the proper police or sheriff's department depending on the caller's address which is located instantly by computer. The caller's phone number is displayed on a screen, eliminating the time needed to obtain that information or allowing an emergency vehicle to be dispatched if the caller is unable to talk or gives the wrong address.

Another advantage of 911 is that the number can be dialed from a pay phone without a coin.

Nationwide, 911 has been in use since 1968. In Central Florida, Orange, Volusia and Brevard counties have some form of a 911 system.

Local reaction to the 911 proposal has been mixed. Just prior to Monday's meeting, Assistant Sanford Police Chief Herb Shea was skeptical, likening 911 to central dispatching and pointing out that when the sheriff's department handled the city's dispatching in 1974, there were often delays, sometimes as long as 8-12 minutes.

Shea also said that Seminole's seven municipalities may be unwilling to give up part of their autonomy by going to a 911 system.

"Each little bit you give up eventually leads to a metro system," he said.

After the meeting, however, Shea didn't seem quite so opposed. While noncommittal, he said the system "has merit."

Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski is a strong 911 supporter. "The number is easier to remember than several emergency numbers. It's quicker, and it can save lives."

He said the system would reduce the number of misdirected calls, persons phoning several different agencies trying to find the proper one to help them, and could cut into deputies' average six-minute response time.

For those reasons, "I don't see how any one can oppose it," Spolski said.

GOP Official Pleased With Ruling

A Seminole County man who will be one of nine GOP party officials from the 5th congressional district to choose delegates for the Republican National Convention said today he is pleased the U.S. Supreme Court rejected a move to set aside the way delegates are chosen in Florida.

"It doesn't come as a surprise," said Fred Streetman, Seminole County's Republican state committeeman, of the high court's refusal to hear an appeal from three members of the Florida state Republican Committee to give counties with majority Republican voter registration more delegates.

Streetman said the Florida Supreme Court earlier ruled against the weighted vote concept demanded in a lawsuit filed against the state committee.

Meanwhile, Streetman, Seminole's State Committeewoman Maryanne Morris and local party chairman Bill Kinane are slated to caucus with their contemporaries from Lake and Orange counties at 10 a.m., Saturday at the Quality Inn, State Road 434, near Interstate 4 in Longwood.

At the caucus, four delegates and three alternates from the 5th congressional district are to be selected as representatives to the GOP National Convention to be held in Dallas in the summer.

Jackson Bid, Chicago Feud Cloud Illinois Primary

By Laurence McQuillan
UPI Political Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) — The fates of Walter Mondale and Gary Hart in today's crucial Illinois primary hinge on a host of political variables — including a bitter Chicago feud — clouding the outcome of the Democratic battle.

The long-shot presidential candidacy of Jesse Jackson, the Chicago civil rights activist, may have its most decisive impact in this showdown — with his appeal to blacks a crucial factor in shaping the outcome.

The result of the Illinois contest — in which 171 delegates will be chosen to attend the party's national convention this summer — may rest on a clash between Chicago's black mayor and the vestiges of the political machine put together by legendary boss Richard Daley.

Mayor Harold Washington has been trying to turn out a large black vote in local contests to topple City Council leader Edward Vrdolyak's power base.

Polls show blacks are favoring Jackson rather than Mondale — who has received their backing in other states. Blacks are 40 percent of Chicago's population.

Results released Monday night on ABC's Nightline from an ABC-Washington Post poll give both Hart and Mondale 39 percent of the votes in today's Illinois primary while Jackson is projected to win 17 percent. The three-day tracking poll carries a five percent margin of error.

Jackson told a Chicago rally Monday that Mondale "has a good civil rights record. I have a better civil rights record."

"We keep reaching out and broadening the base. We're trying to mend fences and pull people together," he said. "We're talking about long-range change."

Mondale complained about Hart's continuing to run television ads linking the former vice president to the white-dominated faction in Chicago's racially split Democratic leadership — even though Hart had said the commercial would be stopped.

The ad tied Mondale to Vrdolyak, who has endorsed the former vice president, and claimed "bosses" are trying to force Mondale on the people.

"Chicago suffers sadly from division," Mondale said Monday. "I love that city, and I try to get elected by playing on those divisions. I think, is not the proper

Blast Blows Out Windows At IBM Office Building

PURCHASE, N.Y. (UPI) — A powerful bomb blast, reverberating 10 miles away, blew out windows and caused structural damage to an IBM office building late Monday and a group opposed to South Africa's racial policies and U.S. intervention in Latin America claimed responsibility.

There were no injuries in the 10:40 p.m. explosion at the IBM administrative office building on the main street of the town, which is located 10 miles north of New York City.

Police sealed off the area and waited for daylight to continue their investigation. The county bomb squad, local police and FBI agents from the Joint Terrorist Task Force were investigating.

Westchester County Executive Andrew O'Rourke, who visited the scene within an hour of the blast, said authorities told him the explosion appeared to be the work of the United Freedom Front.

Smoking Ban Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A consumer group says it may challenge the Civil Aeronautics Board decision not to ban cigarette smoking on most commercial flights in the United States.

The board agreed Monday not to prohibit smoking on large airplanes during flights lasting less than one or two hours.

At the same time, the agency decided to ban smoking on planes with 30 seats or less and prohibit cigar and pipe smoking on all U.S. commercial aircraft.

"There may be some legal remedy," John Banzhaf, executive director of Action on Smoking and Health, said in an interview. "We had hoped the board would ban smoking on short flights."

Woman Wins $10 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — A grandmother who won a $10 million state lottery jackpot — the largest prize ever won by just one person — said the money will not change her lifestyle but her husband can probably quit his second job.

Lula Aaron, 54, claimed her prize Monday by turning in the winning ticket for the St. Patrick's Day drawing.

She will get her first installment of $476,190 in two weeks and will receive that amount annually for 20 years.

Mrs. Aaron, who jokingly described herself as "domestic engineer," said her new wealth would not change the comfortable lifestyle she enjoys with her husband, Robert — but maybe now he can quit his second job.

Aaron works 66 hours a week as a freight handler and a security guard for a Bronx firm.

Prayer Vote A Nailbiter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate votes today on a constitutional cliffhanger — whether to approve President Reagan's amendment allowing children to pray aloud in public school.

Senate Republican leader Howard Baker said the vote looks too close to call. The contest is so close that Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., embroiled in a tough primary fight, will fly back from Illinois Tuesday to cast his vote in favor of school prayer, then hurry home.

"There are not yet enough votes to win and not enough votes to defeat," Baker said. But Sen. Lowell Welcker, R-Conn., leading the opposition to organized school prayer, said the constitutional amendment will fall a few votes short of the two-thirds of those present and voting needed to send it on to the House.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A deadly winter storm stalled over the middle of the country flung snow, freezing rain, drizzle and fog from Kansas to Michigan today despite the official arrival of spring at 5:25 a.m. EST. More than 100,000 people in Kansas and Missouri remained without power today after the storm coated lines and transformers with inches-thick ice. Missouri Lt. Gov. Kenneth J. Rothman declared a state of emergency, and Kansas power company spokesman urged people to seek shelter with friends or relatives because of widespread power failures, which might last for days. At least 21 people have died in weather-related accidents since Saturday, as winter threw a last punch at the Midwest, piling up as much as 21 inches of snow in some areas of Nebraska.

After investigators John Thorpe and Chad Barton arrived at the cemetery Saturday the contents of the grave were removed and after a preliminary examination the plastic bag of tissue was picked up by Wilson-Eichelberger Mortuary, Sanford.

The tissue was burned at the mortuary, as required by law, Spolski said.

The body parts appeared to be the by-products of an autopsy and Spolski said investigators are trying to lift fingerprints from the tarp and other items found at the site with the hope that they will be able to trace the material back to their source, which he said is most likely a funeral home.

The dumped tissue did not present a safety hazard that he knew of, Spolski said, based on sheriff's department experience in dealing with a similar case in January 1982, when embalming materials were found dumped behind Evergreen Cemetery, off W. 25th Street, Sanford. Those materials were traced back to Brown's Paradise Memorial Chapel, 935 W. 13th St., Sanford. The dumping of such materials is a misdemeanor, Spolski said.

In the closing hours of the Illinois campaign, Mondale and Hart also exchanged salvos over the value of experience — which Mondale has made the cornerstone of his drive.

Mondale told voters he possesses "the necessary experience to be president," because of his three decades in government.

"The experience issue cuts both ways," Hart countered in Chicago. "The question is what you learn in those experiences."

Economy GNP's Looking Healthy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. economy is roaring ahead again with a 7.2 percent rate of growth for the gross national product in the current first quarter, a jump from the 5 percent pace at the end of last year, the government projected today.

The economic expansion under way is surprisingly robust compared to the expectations of many leading forecasters.

The figures, expressed in seasonally adjusted annual rates, were contained in the "flash report," a tentative forecast of current economic growth based on partial data made four times a year by the Commerce Department.

The 5 percent growth in the fourth quarter of 1983 represents a small upward revision from the last-reported 4.9 percent rate. The flash for the fourth quarter was first projected at 4.5 percent.

The latest evidence of economic strength is based mainly on an exceptionally vigorous January. In terms of both sales and income, following a December weakened by bad weather, analysts say.

In addition a renewed housing boom that began in January is creating a strong demand for construction supplies, furnishings and labor.

But enthusiasm for 1984's strength is being tempered by higher interest rates and there are fears on Wall Street that an overheated clash of credit demands will prematurely top off the expansion.

Major banks raised their benchmark prime rate of interest Monday by half a point to 11.5 percent, the first increase since August.

The gross national product is the value of all the nation's goods and services, a healthy total marred only by the loss of production overseas reflected in record trade deficits. Monday the department reported the "bottom line" balance of payments for 1983 was in deficit by a record $40.8 billion.

The latest GNP projection makes the first quarter the strongest since last year's third quarter, which grew at a 7.6 percent annual rate, following an even stronger second quarter, the recovery peak, that expanded at a 9.7 percent rate.

The latest GNP report also showed corporate profits after taxes declined 0.8 percent in the fourth quarter after a 13.3 percent increase in the third quarter.

Profits were pulled down by losses among financial corporations, from insurance corporations to commercial banks, the figures showed.

Foreign subsidiaries of U.S. corporations, other than oil companies, also helped pull down the total.

But the auto industry was in the black by a big margin, accompanied by most of heavy industry. Even the steel industry, having weathered seven consecutive quarterly losses, left its red ink behind as 1983 came to a close, the report indicated.

U.S. Income Up, But Spending Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. personal income in February climbed 0.7 percent following January's record surge, but spending dropped for the first time since August, the Commerce Department said Monday.

"The report on personal income and consumption is quite a bit stronger than it appears on the surface," said department chief economist Robert Ortner.

January's revised 1.5 percent boost for income benefitted from the month's 3.5 percent pay raise for federal civilian and military employees.

But last year's figures also became stronger in the latest revisions, so spending increased at a 6.5 percent rate through the fourth quarter instead of the last reported 5.7 percent rate.

"If other things don't change to offset it, that (revision) alone could raise the gross national product growth roughly half a percentage point in the fourth quarter" from the 4.9 percent last reported, Ortner said.

A slowdown in auto purchases was the biggest factor pulling February spending down, the department said.

February's personal income, pay before income taxes but after Social Security taxes, increased $20.9 billion, at an annual rate, to $2,922 trillion.

January's level, at $2,901 trillion, gained $13 billion in the latest revision. Disposable income, after income taxes, was also up 0.7 percent in February.

With income up but spending down, savings accelerated to a rate of 6.1 percent of disposable income in February, compared to a 5.3 percent average for the preceding three months.

February's level of disposable income, that actually available to spend, would amount to an annual income of $10,619 for every American, up $73 from January. January's level was $156 higher than December.

Increases in both the number of employed workers and their hourly pay raised factory payrolls at an annual rate of $4.4 billion compared with a $7.7 billion rate in January.

Farm income went up $4.8 billion in February, when figured yearly, compared with $14.1 billion in January.

Large increases in farm income in recent months reflect increases in government subsidy payments to farms under the payment-in-kind program.

IN BRIEF

Mondale, Hart, Jackson Get Florida Delegates

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Official Florida presidential primary results being certified to Secretary of State George Firestone this week give Walter Mondale 61 delegates and Sen. Gary Hart 35.

Hart, who led the "Super Tuesday" primary last week, can bolster his delegate count by picking up many of the delegates elected on former Gov. Reubin Askew's slate — as well as some of the 20 officially unpledged delegates who will go to San Francisco next summer representing Florida.

The Florida delegation will hold its first pre-convention caucus in Tallahassee May 5.

The official breakdown of delegate votes, apportioned Monday, showed Mondale with 61, Hart with 35, Askew with 24 and Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, with two. Glenn dropped out of the race last Thursday.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, still fighting Mondale and Hart for the presidential nomination, won one Florida delegate.

Less Punishment Urged

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Legislature and Department of Education should examine last year's education reforms to see if tougher graduation requirements are prompting more border-line students to drop out of school, according to a special education task force.

The panel also concluded county school districts shouldn't be required to perform corporal punishment on unruly students if elected school board members don't want the practice.

The Task Force on Truancy and Discipline said districts should try to reduce the rate of corporal punishment and suspensions.

When Are Police Justified In Using Deadly Force?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has agreed to consider whether police may kill to stop a suspect from fleeing, even if he hasn't committed a serious crime.

The justices Monday said they will hear arguments this fall by the state of Tennessee and the Memphis Police Department appealing a lower court ruling that struck down Tennessee's "fleeing felon" law.

The law allowed officers to "use all the necessary means to effect the arrest" of someone fleeing or resisting arrest.

The case was sparked by the Oct. 3, 1974 shooting death of a 13-year-old boy who was a suspect in a $10 burglary.

A neighbor alerted police that a burglary was in progress. Officer Elton R. Hymon and his partner saw a figure run from behind a house in suburban Memphis to a cyclone fence enclosing the backyard.

Hymon ordered Edward Eugene Garner, who was unarmed, to "halt." Garner paused, then jumped to the top of the 6-foot fence as the officer started toward him. Hymon fired his service revolver and shot Garner in the right side of the head.

The officer later testified he fired at Garner because he knew that once the boy went over the fence, he would be unable to capture him. Garner, who died of the gunshot wound, had $10 in cash and jewelry on him. The unoccupied house Garner fled had been ransacked.

Garner's father, Cleamtee Garner, filed a $2 million suit against Hymon and the police department in April 1974 for wrongful death. He filed the suit in federal court, charging the shooting constituted a civil rights violation.

He lost his case at trial in August 1976. The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the lower court's finding that Hymon was not liable but returned the case to lower courts to reconsider the city's liability for the shooting.

The lower court reviewed the case and upheld the state "fleeing felon" law.

Last June, the appeals court ruled the "fleeing felon" law unconstitutional because "it authorizes unnecessarily severe and excessive, and therefore unreasonable, methods of seizure" of a person.

"A state statute or rule that makes no distinctions based on the type of offense or the risk of danger to the community is inherently suspect because it permits an unnecessarily severe and excessive police response that is out of proportion to the danger to the community."

Ruling Could Mean Refunds For Natural Gas Users

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has let stand a ruling that could bring natural gas customers $1 billion in refunds and save them hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

The federal government and Exxon Corp. had appealed a lower court ruling that scuttled federal officials' efforts to implement a new method for measuring the energy content of natural gas for pricing purposes.

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission adopted the new measurement rule after Congress passed the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978.

The new rule more accurately measures the energy content of gas at the wellhead as it is actually delivered for sale to pipeline companies. It results in a higher energy ratings — and, consequently, higher prices — than the old method.

Natural gas pipeline and distribution companies challenged the new method of energy measurement.

Last August, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia threw out the rule. The court said the rule changed gas pricing in a substantially different way than Congress had envisioned in enacting Natural Gas Policy Act.

In January, the government and the oil industry asked Chief Justice Warren burger to prevent the ruling from taking effect. They said it would reduce the amount paid to producers for their gas and "would have a substantial impact on the entire natural gas industry."

The immediate effect, they said, would be to "require gas producers to refund revenues paid to them" under the 1978 rule.

Gas distribution companies and the government estimate refunds to consumers who use natural gas for heat and cooking could total $1 billion. And Frederick Moring, a lawyer for the distribution companies, projected it would further save consumers $300 million a year on natural gas bills.

Unless the Supreme Court steps in, the government warned, "gas producers would have to pay refunds to interstate and intrastate gas pipelines which, in turn, would be obligated to pass on these refunds to their consumers."

Elderly May Lose Jobless Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has let stand a lower court ruling forcing states to reduce unemployment benefits to millions of elderly workers by the amount of their private pensions and Social Security payments.

The justices refused to review federal regulations on unemployment benefits for elderly persons who receive retirement benefits from Social Security or private pension plans.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco upheld the federal regulations requiring state unemployment benefits to be reduced by the amount of any private retirement benefits a claimant receives.

Balance Of Payments Worst Ever

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's "bottom-line" balance of payments showed a record $15.3 billion fourth-quarter shortfall, bringing 1983's loss to foreigners to $40.8 billion, the worst year ever, the government says.

Monday's report by the Commerce Department confirmed that the U.S. current account, by which nations compare balance sheets, is eroding faster because the surplus in the sale of services is no longer nearly large enough to make up for the worsening deficit in merchandise trade.

The money listed in red ink on the current account goes across the border and stays there, a drain on national wealth that, if sustained, can eventually trigger basic realignments in currency values, interest rates and the composition of industry.

The previous annual record for a balance of payments deficit was $15.5 billion in 1978. The balance of payments deficit was $11.2 billion in 1982.

The 1983 deficit was the result of a $60.6 billion merchandise trade deficit, itself a record, offset by a $28.4 billion surplus in the sale of services, from insurance to engineering.

Government officials have said this year's current account deficit will be even worse, a view reinforced by the report of January's record monthly deficit in merchandise trade, $9.5 billion.

The increasing rush of dollars overseas has split analysts into optimists and pessimists, both of whom see the foreign exchange value of the dollar weakening but who disagree on whether the change will be abrupt and damaging or gradual and therapeutic.

The optimists hope the dollar will continue a gradual slide, eventually helping American industry sell more products for less overseas and shrinking the trade deficit.

The pessimists see a sudden loss of confidence in the dollar that could shake the international financial system and place unbearable strain on its weakest links, like the debt-burdened economies of many developing nations.

Hart More Conservative Than Mondale?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The liberal Americans for Democratic Action and the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action say Gary Hart is more conservative than Walter Mondale on economic, social and military issues but more liberal on civil rights.

A comparison of the two top Democratic contenders' congressional voting records shows Mondale scoring higher than Hart among liberals, especially on economic issues.

ADA, a liberal lobbying group that has endorsed Mondale, gave its candidate a 92 percent lifetime rating, while Hart got 79 percent.

ACA, a conservative group that favors less government intervention in economic affairs, gave Hart a higher lifetime rating than Mondale — 15 percent to 3 percent, respectively.

Both groups monitored Mondale's votes when he served as senator from Minnesota from 1965 to 1976 and Hart's 1975-1983 votes as senator from Colorado.

According to the ADA, Mondale beat Hart in lifetime liberal votes on the economy, 94-72; social services, 91-76; consumer and environmental issues, 90-88; and foreign policy, 96-81.

But while the group touted Mon-dale's "leadership on behalf of the 1965 Voting Rights Act," Hart got a perfect lifetime score on civil rights to Mondale's 92 percent.

Conservatives gave Hart his highest score — 36 percent — in 1980, when he voted with conservatives in nine of the 26 votes monitored.

Mondale's highest conservative score was 9 percent in 1971, based on two "correct" votes out of 24 the 24 votes monitored — against allowing the federal government to guarantee $250 million in bank loans for Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and in favor of a $21.3 billion defense bill.

1984's Rite Of Spring Is The Biggest One Ever

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Florida's annual rite of spring will be one of the biggest ever this year as record numbers of vacationing college students head south for sun, surf and a near-legendary prospect of good times.

Spring officially began at 5:25 a.m. today but for Daytona Beach and Fort Lauderdale, spring is nearly synonymous with an eight-week stretch from the beginning of March through late April when, this year, an estimated 650,000 students will pour south for week-long vacations.

Fort Lauderdale police Sgt. David Geyer said Sunday 60,000 or 70,000 collegiates had come to town since college spring vacations began two weeks before.

"It is the largest spring break in about 18 years," Geyer said.

The young men and women who take part in the spring break ritual are drawn by the promise of sunny shorelines, freely flowing beer and sex.

"You can't ask for anything more. This is it. Fort Lauderdale — our home away from home. It's the party capital of the world," said University of New Hampshire freshman Chris Mastrino, 18.

Brewers, distillers and cigarette manufacturers promote the party image, sponsoring daily concerts and roadside welcome centers in a marketing war for student tastes and loyalties. At the Playboy College Expo '84 in Daytona Beach's Plaza Hotel, students pick up free T-shirts and play the Moosehead beer ring toss, the Heineken beer Trivia Bowl and the Kahlua liqueur twister.

Airplanes trailing signs over the beaches advertise two-for-one specials and ladies' nights to lure vacationers into bars.

"Bars and beach. That's all we do. And there are a few concerts and parties we go to and we throw the frisbees around."

said Doug Robbins, 19, of the University of Wisconsin.

The money flows as freely as the alcohol. Daytona Beach merchants estimate the average student spends $353 over a six-and-a-half-day stay.

"You'd be amazed at how many of these kids have got the bucks," said Helen Sondheim, a desk clerk at a Daytona Beach Howard Johnsons. "There's a lot more independent kids and many more are travelling coed."

Emma Owens of Daytona Beach's Thunderbird Motel also noted the trend toward mixed rooming.

"When coed dorms got more popular, so did coed rooms," Mrs. Owens said.

Police said the spring break crowd generally is a well-behaved lot, despite problems with water bombs, recreational use of fire extinguishers and vandalism in motel rooms.

"Generally speaking, the students have been real good. There haven't been too many instances where they have been unruly," Geyer said. "The basic problem is too many people with too much beer."

Sgt. Ronald Matthews of the Daytona Beach Department said police cut back on days off and enlist the help of reserve officers to keep a tight rein over spring break festivities.

"We have to," he said.

Medical facilities also have their hands full as pale northerners expose themselves to the potent Florida sun, said Lynn Gonzalez, director of emergency services at the Halifax Hospital Medical Center.

"The Yankees come down and they turn all red," she said.

The water poses another hazard. Daytona Beach lifeguard David Dickinson, 28, said he expects lifeguards to make about 200 rescues during spring break, mostly of drunken victims.

The Time To Plan For Growth Is Now

We all know the problems we have as motorists trying to light the steady streams of traffic during peak hours along state roads 436 and 434. And it's certainly something we need to watch closely to avoid creating a similar situation along Lake Mary Boulevard as the inevitable growth and development for that section of Sanford and Lake Mary takes hold.

Proper planning, that's the key. And the right timing, that's another important element. Plans are best made to accommodate such growth well in advance of that occurrence, and if anyone has the foresight, the vision to take action when the timing's right, it's Jenio Paulucci.

Paulucci is, of course, developing Heathrow west of Interstate 4 just off Lake Mary Boulevard. Heathrow, a high-class development that is expected to house 10,000 population on completion, will be only one step toward the eventual massive population growth and commercial development that will one day come to the Sanford-Lake Mary area, especially along the I-4 corridor. Planning today to develop Lake Mary Boulevard to accommodate that growth is the best way to avoid the traffic nightmare often seen on state roads 436 and 434.

Paulucci, a well-known developer and entrepreneur, isn't wasting any time. He's spent the last several days in Washington with Reagan administration officials to find a solution to Seminole County's road problems.

Paulucci wants to speed up, if he can, the planned construction of a cloverleaf intersection at Lake Mary Boulevard and Interstate 4, as well as explore the possibilities of another interchange at I-4 and state Road 46A.

"I want them (federal officials) to come down here and see the traffic problems on state roads 434 and 436 to know what may happen to Lake Mary Boulevard," says Paulucci. A few such visits by those officials at the right times of day and night should convince them quickly that the right time for doing something to prevent the same thing along Lake Mary Boulevard is now.

Paulucci isn't restricting his efforts to prodding federal officials in Washington; he's also going to appeal to state transportation bigwigs.

We suggest anyone in county or city government in Seminole County, dedicated to seeing that growth in the area of the Lake Mary-Interstate 4 sector, as well as along Lake Mary Boulevard is accommodated, give Paulucci any help he might need.

Iran Violates Treaty

The report that Iraq has used poison gas in its war with Iran is disturbing.

The prohibition of the use of poison gas has been almost universally observed throughout the world since 1918. It has been the single great success of the arms control process. Those who support control of nuclear weapons can point to the success in controlling poison gas and hope that nuclear arms can be controlled likewise.

There doesn't seem to be much doubt that Iraq has recently fired mustard gas artillery shells at Iranian troops advancing in a "human wave" attack in the deserts and marshes along the Tigris River. Victims have been taken to European hospitals, where their symptoms are unmistakable.

Iran signed the Geneva protocol, agreeing not to use poison gases in war, on Sept. 8, 1931. The present government of Iraq has never, so far as we know, abrogated that agreement. It must be held to be bound by the act of its predecessor government. Otherwise, in this world of unstable governments, no treaties could be relied upon.

The Ayatollah Khomeini in Iran is no friend of ours. His regime is savage, merciless and reactionary. But his troops are human beings. Nothing justifies the use of an inhumane weapon against them.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Our projected winner of the 1988 presidential elections coming up after these messages."

By Donna Estes

While Colorado Sen. Gary Hart had no visible campaign in Seminole County, nor did former Vice President Walter Mondale for that matter, Hart carried 65 of the 72 precincts here during Super Tuesday voting a week ago.

Supporters of the Rev. Jesse Jackson had something of an organization, holding a political rally in Sanford's Fort Mellon Park two days before the election.

In only one case — Precinct 70 in the Longwood area — was Mondale's tally even close to Hart's. There, Hart's victory margin was only one vote.

Of the remaining seven precincts, Jackson captured six while Mondale barely took one.

Jackson carried precinct 4, Altamonte; precinct 41, Longwood-Altamonte; 3 in Midway; 21, 62 and 29 of Sanford, all largely black precincts.

In all the precincts that went for Jackson, Mondale came in second and Hart third.

Mondale was able to carry only one precinct, 66 in Forest City, and even that win was marginal. He received 11 votes.

while Hart received 9 and Ohio Sen. John Glenn got 9.

Seminole County was virtually ignored by the presidential candidates prior to the election.

It was only a few years ago that presidential hopefuls, Jimmy Carter, Hubert Humphrey, Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson, and New York Mayor John Lindsay all campaigned in this county.

And back while Mondale was vice president, he appeared at a gathering at the Sanford Airport trying to raise money for Carter's re-election campaign.

Humphrey was here several times while he was vice president and afterwards and Mrs. Humphrey also visited here many times.

During Carter's first campaign, his wife, Rosalyn, son Chip and daughter-in-law, Karen, both campaigned in Seminole.

This time around, the closest any of the Democratic candidates got to Seminole was the Orlando International Airport.

Then, one must remember that a Democratic presidential candidate has not carried Seminole in a general election since 1948 when Harry Truman was the man in the White House.

Republican presidential candidates or family representatives who have come to Seminole over the years include: First Lady Nancy Reagan; Vice President George Bush, Mrs. Bush and a son; perennial presidential candidate, Harold Stassen; John Connally of Texas and Mrs. Connally; and U.S. Rep. Phil Crane of Illinois, his wife and father.

FOOTNOTE: Seminole Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard's office ran like a well-oiled machine in pumping out the election results Tuesday, beginning with the absentees at 7:05 p.m. and ending with final results at 8:34 p.m.

There were no glitches, no problems.

A member of U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum's, R-Altamonte Springs, staff will be at the Seminole County Courthouse county commission chambers from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Wednesday to meet with persons who need congressional assistance or have questions about matters related to the federal government.

No appointment is necessary.

FARMING WORLD

Cotton Is King Again

By Sonja Hillgren

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. agricultural exports, on which American farmers are heavily dependent for their livelihood, continue to be sluggish this year, but cotton is an exception.

Government analysts now estimate that American exports of cotton may total nearly 6.9 million bales, slightly more than an estimate made only a month ago and one-third more than 1982-83 exports.

"Strong weekly export movement in January and February, coupled with continued bleak prospects for Soviet and Pakistani trade, point to an improved U.S. export outlook," the Agriculture Department said in a new world cotton situation report.

Exports of other key crops are expected to do no better than hold their own this year and soybean exports may decline about one-fifth because of drought-reduced supplies and higher prices.

Overall, the volume of U.S. farm exports, buffeted by the strong dollar and world recession, is expected to fall for the fourth consecutive year to 140 million tons, compared to a 1979-80 record of 163.9 million tons.

Higher prices will raise the value of U.S. farm exports to $37.5 billion, up from $34.8 billion last season but below the 1980-81 record of $43.8 billion.

The Agriculture Department said that U.S. cotton exports in the first half of the current season reached the highest level since 1979-80. Exports of 2.8 million bales from August through January were 24 percent greater than during the same period a year earlier.

While shipments to South Korea declined, markets increased in Japan, Yugoslavia, Italy and West Germany.

In January, cotton exports of 696,000 bales reached the highest monthly level in almost two seasons.

In the four weeks from Feb. 2 to March 1, exports climbed even higher to 769,000 bales.

American analysts believe that the United States will capture 35 percent of world cotton trade in fiscal 1984, up from 28 percent last year.

Pakistan and the Soviet Union generally are competitors of the United States, but this year they will be markets for American sales.

The Pakistani crop is now estimated at 2.1 million bales, 43 percent less than a year ago and the smallest crop since 1978. The crop was plagued by adverse weather and pest infestations.

The increased sales has raised the price of better quality American cotton, and the brisk business is regarded as good for the cotton business. But the exports are not always welcomed by the American textile industry because some of the cotton returns to the United States in the form of clothes manufactured abroad.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Liberal Preening Costs

NEW YORK (NEA) — For some years now, American critics of South Africa, having no better way of venting their spleen against that country's white-dominated government, have conducted a campaign to force American colleges and universities to rid their investment portfolios of all stocks in American companies that do business in South Africa. Recently the campaign has been expanded to include public pension funds, and bills were introduced last year in 24 state legislatures to compel such "divestment."

This gesture, which appeals to college students (and may also appeal to some state legislators, under pressure from white liberal or black constituents), has, of course, no effect on the corporations involved — other than, perhaps, to make their stock transiently available at agreeable lower prices to would-be purchasers as it comes onto the market.

Within South Africa, its principal effect is to discourage slightly any effort to improve the conditions of black employment. U.S. corporations there have generally been in the forefront of such attempts, and indirect efforts to force them out of the country merely lower the competitive pressures for reform. That — and the knowledge that black employment would suffer most if American business in fact ever withdrew from South Africa — are undoubtedly why "divestment" is opposed by virtually every black spokesman, and every white liberal, political leader, in South Africa.

None of this, however, stops the liberal and leftist clamor for disinvestment here — naturally, since those who are creating it are far less interested in the real welfare of South Africa's blacks than in cutting a fine figure for "compassion" in front of their own mirrors every morning.

Recently, however, studies have revealed that "disinvestment" would, if carried out in a serious way, entail major costs for the American institutions involved. And that sheds a new and different light on the whole campaign.

Forced to divest, an investment manager (who is usually limited to investments in corporations listed among Standard & Poor's 500) would find himself prohibited from investing in: any major chemical, drug, multinational oil, or electric-electronics firm; 81 percent (by market value) of all aerospace stocks; 82 percent of all auto stocks; and 73 percent of all bank stocks. Altogether, 50 percent of Standard & Poor's 500 companies, representing $500 billion in market value and 30 percent of the U.S. equity market, would be off-limits.

If you think this wouldn't hurt investment programs, consider just its effect on the $20 billion Ohio pension fund. On the conservative assumption that the fund's investment income would drop from 11 to 10 percent, one recent study calculated that in 30 years it would have suffered a loss of $100 billion — quite a price tag to hang on a preening display of liberal compassion that its supposed beneficiaries actively oppose as harmful to their best interests.

By now America is used to seeing liberals' ideas for improving things blow up in their faces. One spectacular recent example was the passage in the early 1970s of new legislation calculated to increase the clout of political action committees — a measure that seemed bound to benefit liberals disproportionately, since by far the biggest PAC around at the time was the AFL-CIO's. Now there are hundreds of the critics, most of them designed to chase liberals out of public office altogether, and liberals are lobbying futilely against their own brainchild. If they manage to get anywhere with "divestment," the ensuing havoc among college and pension fund portfolios will make them wish they had never heard of South Africa.

WASHINGTON WORLD

Stratton: 'What's The Use?'

By Elliot Brenner

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At times there is no love lost between some members of the House committee that says how much money may be spent for defense and the committee that actually puts the money into the Pentagon's hot little hands.

Virtually everyone agrees that it's a complicated congressional budgeting process, the first panel — the Armed Services Committee — sets out what it thinks the spending limit should be. The second — the Appropriations Committee and its defense and military construction subcommittees — actually approves the spending of the money.

Rep. Sam Stratton, D-N.Y., pointed out the Armed Services panel's frustrations recently when the committee adopted its recommendation on how much should be spent for defense. The committee decided defense spending should grow by 7.5 percent in 1985.

Noting that the recommendation goes to the Budget Committee, which can trim the amount even before the Appropriations Committee begins its work, Stratton made a point of getting in a dig at the Appropriations Committee.

His motion stipulated that the Budget Committee tell the Appropriations Committee that it should go no lower than 7.5 percent. Virtually everyone on the committee agreed that by the time the Appropriations Committee finishes the figure will be 5 percent or less, and the money may not end up in the same categories where Armed Services originally put it.

Once the Budget Committee makes its recommendation on a growth figure, the Armed Services Committee then writes a budget authorizing spending, but the Appropriations Committee sets out what can be spent and usually comes in under the Armed Services figure.

Congressional sources suggest the complaints of Stratton and others may be prompted by the fact that the Armed Services panel traditionally has been far kinder to the Pentagon than other committees and credit for budget cuts may have gone to the Appropriations Committee, even though the Armed Services Committee has made cuts of its own.

"They may be saying, 'Why do we keep doing this if Appropriations gets the credit,'" said a source.

Stratton lent credence to that theory when he told the committee, "I don't see why this committee should suffer heartburn and shed blood" writing a defense budget authorization package only to see the other panel "do as they please."

Informant Victim Of Agency Bickering

WASHINGTON — One of the government's most valuable and respected informants on international gun-running appears to have become the victim of a bureaucratic turf battle within the Treasury Department. Result: He has been indicted on 16 counts of illegally transporting weapons. His trial is scheduled to open tomorrow in Salt Lake City.

The informant is Don Walsh, whose undercover work has helped build several important cases for the Customs Service and the Justice Department over the past decade.

Walsh's supporters say his prosecution is the result of a vendetta by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms — which, like customs, is a part of the Treasury Department. They say ATF agents resent the fact that Walsh cooperated with other federal agencies rather than ATF.

A customs special agent who has worked with Walsh told my associate Indy Badhwar: "It's a case of one branch of Treasury out to bag an informant of another branch."

He said ATF agents posing as gun buyers had tried on several occasions to set Walsh up, but had failed. "We advised Walsh that each time undercover ATF agents tried to set him up he should report them to ATF," the customs man said.

Once ATF went after Walsh for lending a pistol to a customs officer for a "false sale" to gun-runners; ATF even threatened to confiscate the weapon from customs' evidence vault. Customs, which won its case against the gun-runners, indignantly rebuffed ATF's attempt.

Walsh is a nationally recognized, reputable manufacturer of small arms. As such, he was invited to speak at a conference in Las Vegas last April sponsored by Defense and Foreign Affairs magazine.

Walsh took along for display four cases containing a handful of small arms, including silencers manufactured by his Virginia-based company, Interrand. Before he left Washington, Walsh filled out the paperwork and registration forms required by ATF, and placed copies in the weapons cases.

When he arrived in Las Vegas after changing planes in Salt Lake City, Walsh discovered his baggage was missing. Airline employees in Salt Lake said the destination tags had come off, so they forced open one of the cases in hopes of identifying the owner. When they saw gun silencers, they called ATF agents, who seized some of the weapons.

Walsh's attorney, Steve Bailey, said ATF agents made what he called the "ridiculous" claim that the guns were being taken to mobsters in Las Vegas. When Walsh tried to reclaim his weapons, he was told he would be indicted — and he was.

The main charge is that two silencers had no serial markings on them.

"At the very worst, this was a small technical violation," said Harry Diffendal, a former Reagan-Bush campaign counsel who has business dealings with Walsh. "Putting on the serial number is the last step in manufacturing, and he was going to do that before exhibiting the weapons. The marking kit to stamp on the serial numbers was in his bag."

Walsh hadn't stamped on the numbers because the silencers had only been completed that morning, and he left in too great a hurry, Diffendal explained.

"They're dumping on a guy who has been helping the government, and who has put his life in danger," Diffendal said. The most recent example of this was an attempt by renegade U.S. intelligence agents to buy 1,000 silencers from Walsh, supposedly for a covert U.S. operation but actually for the Syrians and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Even though the Justice Department warned Walsh that his life was in danger, he volunteered to continue working with the government, Diffendal said.

Since his arrest, several private and government institutions have given Walsh glowing character references. They include the State Department, National Museum of American History, University of Pennsylvania, the Army's Fifth Special Forces Group (Airborne) and of course the Customs Service.

Footnote: The office of the U.S. attorney in Salt Lake City told us, "They have decided to go forward with the case."

Sanford Man Accused Of Hitting Woman With Hot Iron

A Sanford man accused of hitting a woman in the face two times with a hot iron has been charged with aggravated battery and released from the Seminole County jail after posting $1,500 bond.

Jimmie Lee Dozier filed a complaint with police alleging that she was assaulted at the suspect's home at 7 p.m. March 3. She was hospitalized for treatment of severe burns on the right side of her face, a police report said.

Willie Lee Wright, 27, was arrested on state Road 46 at Center Street, Sanford, at 5:24 p.m. Saturday. He is scheduled to appear in court April 6.

CORRECTION

Sanford police have determined that a man arrested March 14 on a grand theft auto charge gave an incorrect address when he was questioned by police. Gary Sager Hudgins, 49, does not live at Route 3, Box 540, Sanford, as was reported in the Herald on March 15. Hudgins posted a $1,000 bond and was released from jail. Police have not determined Hudgins' address.

CRIMINAL MISCHIEF

A Mount Dora man told police that while he was at a Sanford restaurant someone did $1,000 worth of damage to his car by scraping its paint.

Mark Giannelli, of 1700 Sanford Drive, Mount Dora, told police that while he was parked at Captain D's restaurant, 2514 S. French Ave., someone with a sharp instrument scraped paint from around his 1976 Datsun 280-Z and off its roof.

The officer noted the incident occurred between 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

HIDDEN PISTOL

A Sanford man, suspected of shooting inside a dwelling, was arrested after allegedly reaching for a handgun he had hidden behind the fly of his pants.

At 9:59 p.m. Friday, Sanford police officers responded to a call about a shooting at 1215 Magnolia Ave. On arrival at the scene, the officers spoke with a man who lived in the apartment where the reported shooting occurred. He had opened the apartment door partially to talk with the officers but refused to let them in the home. When police pushed the door open, they noticed bullet holes in the ceiling and empty casings on the floor.

During questioning, the man sat at a table and drank a beer, a police report said. When officers asked the man to stand up for a search, he grabbed for his crotch where the officers located a .25-caliber automatic weapon.

Arrested for shooting in a dwelling and carrying a concealed firearm was Albert Eugene Capps, 31.

He is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

VALIUM AND POT

An Orlando man who could not produce a registration for the van he was driving was charged with illegal possession of Valium and marijuana.

An Altamonte Springs officer learned by a computer check that the license plate on 1972 van in the parking lot of the Hot Line Bottle Club, 803 West Altamonte Drive, was supposed to be on a 1974 Volkswagen.

Action Reports

- ★ Fires
- ★ Courts
- ★ Police

The driver of the vehicle could produce only a partial Pennsylvania license and no registration, the officer's report said. He had a title to the vehicle but there was no name on it. The driver gave the officer permission to search the van and a small amount of green leafy vegetation was found. When the man emptied his pockets, he had a prescription bottle not made out to him with Valium tablets in it plus the remains of marijuana cigarettes and an unidentified brown tablet.

Arrested and charged with possession of less than two grams of Valium, possession of marijuana, and switching license plates was Richard Lawrence Grabowski, 23.

He was released from the county jail on $5,000 bond.

THOROUGHLY MODERN THIEF

A Longwood home was burglarized by a thief that took only contemporary appliances and equipment.

According to a deputy's report, the thief that broke into the home of Donald Eugene Slate, 55, of 202 Cottesmore Circle West, took $2,000 worth of items between March 12 and Friday including a computer, two televisions, and a microwave oven.

Nothing was removed from a jewelry box, according to the deputy's report.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Karin Ann Killmer of Orlando was arrested at 2:01 a.m. Monday after her car was involved in an accident on state Road 426.

Pickup Stolen From Service Station

A $3,000 pickup truck tops the list of stolen items recently reported to the Seminole County sheriff's department.

Robert D. Fancis, 56, of #32-D Orienta Ave., Altamonte Springs, reported that his 1981 truck, which was left with keys in the ignition, was driven away from the Exxon station at 90 E. state Road 436, Fern Park, around 11 p.m. Saturday.

Steve G. Klingler, 42, of 101 Cherry Hill Circle, Longwood, gave deputies the name of a suspect who may have taken over $200 worth of clothes and other items from his home on March 13.

Toros V. Khachathorian of 103 Longhorn Road, Winter Park, reported that his $200 motorcycle was stolen by a man who paid a $90 deposit on the vehicle at 2:30 p.m. Friday, but did not return within an hour with the cycle or the balance of the money. Deputies have the name of a suspect.

A $300 canoe was stolen from the backyard of John David Woodruff, 51, of 3545 Mellonville Ave., Sanford, at about 6 a.m. Sunday.

A calculator and other items valued at $250 were taken from the truck of Bruce Stram, 27, of 1950 W. Lake Brantley Road, Longwood, between March 13 and 15, when the vehicle was parked at his home.

'Keep Kid Killers Behind Bars'

BOSTON (UPI) — A group of parents, relatives and friends of children slain by other children are urging passage of a state law that would make it mandatory for youthful murderers to be tried and sentenced as adults.

"The juvenile centers are a joke. They're like country clubs to those kids," said Merrill Lee, whose 5-year-old son, Kenny Claudio, was murdered in October near his home in Boston.

Ms. Lee was one of about two dozen people who marched in front of the State House over the weekend, carrying signs that said "Kids get away with murder" and "Youth is no excuse."

"These kids should be tried as adults," Ms. Lee said. "They're killing our children. They deserve mandatory sentences."

A 14-year-old neighbor pleaded guilty in Kenny Claudio's slaying, and was ordered held in a youth detention center until he turns 18.

Ms. Lee and others are pushing for passage of a proposal expected to be introduced soon in the House that would make it mandatory for any youth, aged 14 to 17, who is charged with first-degree murder, manslaughter or vehicular homicide, to be tried and sentenced as an adult.

William and Margaret Kelly of Reading were among the parents marching in the light rainfall. Their daughter, Michelle, was 14 when she was murdered in 1978 by a neighbor her own age.

"It was premeditated murder," Mrs. Kelly said. "He strangled her, and now he is in college in Texas. I don't want to see children serving time in Walpole (State Prison), but I would like to see them placed in secure facilities."

Marilyn Abramofsky, Kenny Claudio's aunt and with whom the child lived, read a statement condemning current juvenile laws:

"My Kenny is dead. Your children are so far alive and I hope you never have to go through what I am going through," she said. "The juvenile justice system has got to change, so you and your children will be protected. Keep murderers behind bars, whatever age they are."

State law permits juveniles convicted of murder to be held in detention centers until they turn 18, at which point they usually are set free and no criminal record is kept, according to Boston University law professor Julius Levine.

In rare cases, Levine said, a judge may reserve the right to try a juvenile as an adult in a murder case.

Lang, Canfield Long-Ball Tribe

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Bill Lang hammered a solo home run and John Canfield unloaded a three-run shot to spark Lake Howell's Silver Hawks to a five-run fourth inning and a 8-3 victory over Sanford's Fighting Seminoles in Five Star Conference action Monday afternoon at Lake Howell High.

The victory lifts the Hawks to 10-7 overall and 4-3 in the conference. Seminole fell to 7-8 overall and 3-4 in the conference. Lake Howell will go with either Bill Lang, Van Golmont or Damon Marlette Wednesday in a key conference battle at Lake Mary. Seminole will send either Brian Sheffield or William Wynn to the mound Wednesday as the Tribe travels to Apopka.

After a scoreless first inning Monday, Lake Howell broke on top with three runs in the bottom of the second. Victor Roberts and Canfield led off with back-to-back singles off Seminole starter James Hersey and Paul Plaughter laid down a perfect bunt which went for a single and loaded the bases.

Jeff Poindexter then lifted a fly ball to right center to drive in Roberts with the first run. Lang was then hit by a pitch and Jay Robey drew a walk to force in Canfield. Plaughter came across on a wild pitch, but Lang was tagged out at the plate on the same play.

Seminole got back two runs in the top of the third to cut the Hawks' lead to 3-2. With one out, Brian Rogers singled to left off Lake Howell starter Todd Hicks and Hersey reached on an error, sending Rogers to third. Hersey stole second and, with two outs, Larry Thomas smacked a single down the third base line to drive in both Rogers and Hersey.

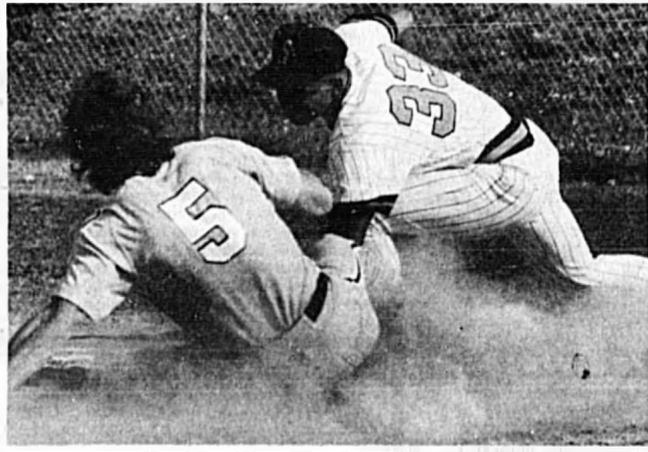

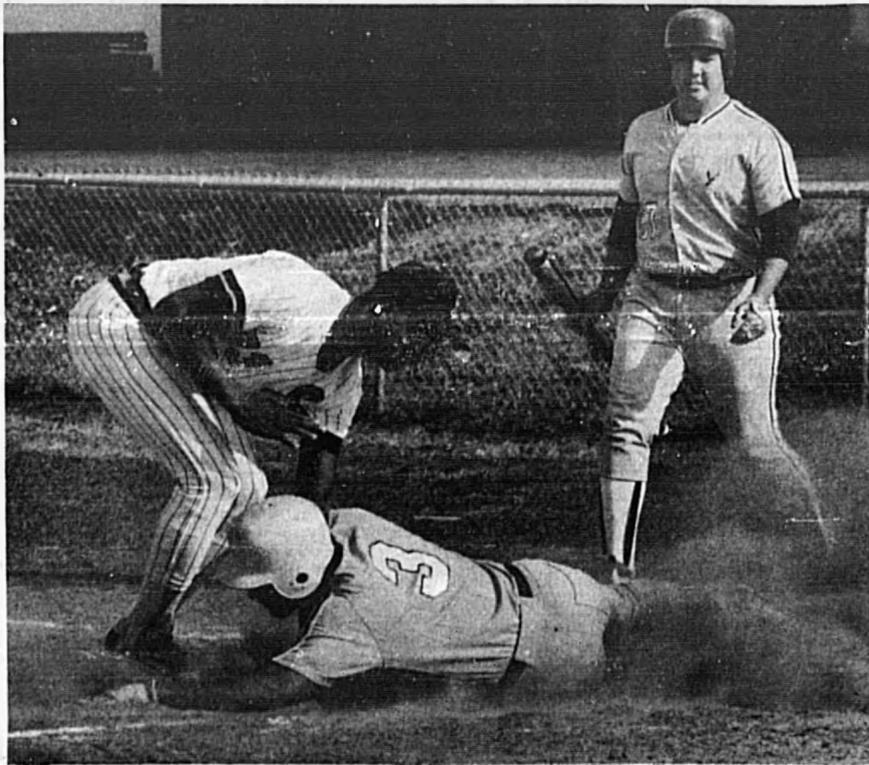

Seminole evened the score at 3-3 in the top of the fourth as Steve Dennis led off with a single, stole second, and scored as Rogers beat out a high chopper to Golmont at third. Dennis' stolen base gives him 27 for the season — he has not been caught stealing yet — one short of Tim Raines' and Brett Von Herbulis' single-season school record.

The Silver Hawks bounced back with five runs in the bottom of the fourth to take a 8-3 lead. Lang, who was fed a steady diet of curve balls by Hersey the first two times he was up, let the first curve go by for a ball then got just what he wanted, a fast ball right in his wheelhouse. Lang jacked Hersey's fastball well over the left-center field fence for a 4-3 Lake Howell lead.

With one out, Scott Munson drew a walk. Golmont reached on an infield single and Terry Gammons walked to load the bases. Roberts then drove in Munson with a sacrifice fly bringing up Canfield. Canfield took an inside fastball and deposited it over the left field fence for a three-run homer, an 8-3 Lake Howell lead, and the hook for Hersey.

Glenn Landress came on in relief for the Seminoles and did just what a reliever isn't supposed to do, walked the first two batters he faced. Lang then stepped up for his second at bat of the inning and ripped a shot to the Seminole pitcher James Hersey, above, didn't get the tag down in time to catch Paul Plaughter as he slides across the plate with Lake Howell's third run as Scott "Thurman" Munson looks on. At the left, though, Hersey is in time to catch Bill Lang for the second out of the inning. Lang later belted a home run to help the Silver Hawks to an 8-3 victory.

Beams' HRs Derail Rams

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Sophomore Mike Beams crashed two long home runs and Brad Dunn added a two-run shot as the Lake Brantley Patriots brought Lake Mary's Rams back to earth with a 12-6 Five Star Conference victory Monday afternoon at Lake Brantley High.

The victory snapped an eight-game winning streak for the Rams, 11-4 and 6-1, and dropped them one-half game behind Apopka in the Five Star race. The Blue Darters, 14-1 and 7-1-1, tripped Seabreeze, 6-3, Monday. Lake Mary faces Lake Howell at home (3:30 p.m.) Wednesday before a crucial game at home (1 p.m.) Saturday against Apopka. The Patriots, 7-6 and 4-3, host Seabreeze at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday. They have won three straight.

"We were derailed," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle. "They really came after us and played some aggressive baseball."

Lake Brantley was aggressive from the get go. The Patriots jumped on starter and loser Eric Hagen for three runs in the first and three more in the second. A walk to Scott Anez and a single by Scott Salmon set the stage for Beams. The powerful center fielder then launched a Hagen fastball beyond the left-center field fence, 385 feet away.

In the second, starting pitcher Kenny Chapdelaine walked and Dunn, not known for his power, swatted a fastball over the left-field barrier for a 5-0 lead. Kevin Bass followed with a walk and when Anez dropped perfect bunt, speedy pinch runner Lee Bernbaum motored all the way to third. He then scored when Pinckes walked and broke for second and then got hung up in a rundown. A bad throw allowed Bernbaum to trot home. Tuttle then called in righthander Greg Rue.

"I thought if we put the pressure on them, we could beat them," said Lake Brantley coach Gary Smith who had his Patriots running and bunting all day long. "They have a good club with the capability to come back, but we just never let up with the pressure."

Down, 3-0, Lake Mary started its comeback in the second when Rod Metz, Ron "Nate" Natherson and Kevin Hill all singled. Donald Grayson, batting an .087 batting average, lashed a single up the middle to score both runners.

After Brantley added three more in the second, Lake Mary picked up another one in the third when Barry Hysell ripped a two-out single and Metz socked a double to left center to score him.

The Rams finally chased Chapdelaine in the fifth with two more runs to pull within 6-5. Letterio walked and Underwood singled, but Mike Schmit struck out on an inside-corner curveball. Hysell forced Letterio at second, but Metz walked to load the bases and signal Chapdelaine's exit.

Kevin Gross, who is on the mend from a sore shoulder, was summoned. Natherson, who had three hits for the

Successful SCC Baseball Sends 4 To SEC Bulldogs

The Seminole Community College baseball program is one of the most successful junior college programs in Florida. The most notable ex-SCC player is former Montreal Expo and current Texas Ranger? Larry Parrish.

SCC has sent a lot of players on to major colleges and four former coach Jack Pantelias products are now playing for coach Ron Polk at Mississippi State, a Division I national powerhouse.

Bob Parker, former Lyman High standout, is the starting shortstop and was recently named co-team captain going into his second year with the Bulldogs. Parker hit .292 with four homers and 42 RBI as a junior last season. Parker was featured on the cover recently of "Dawgs Bite," a sports publication at Mississippi State.

Former Oviedo High standout Sammy Duda along with former SCC standouts Bobby Thigpen and Pete Frantzis are also members of the Mississippi State team this season. Duda is an outfielder while Thigpen is an outfielder-first baseman and Frantzis a lefthanded pitcher. Thigpen had the distinction of hitting a grand-slam homer on the first pitch thrown to him of his college career.

Frantzis is one of two famous pitchers out of Springstead High School in Spring Hill. The other threw his last pitch about five years ago though. His name, Chris Flister.

Although Frantzis holds most of the pitching records at Springstead a few of mine still stand and probably will for a long time. One is a state high school record if not a national record. My record is for most consecutive career pitching losses at 32. I lost three games as a freshman, 12 as a sophomore, 12 as a junior and five as a senior without a win.

However, my earned run average was not that bad (4.50 for my career). It's just that my fielders didn't give me much support, they averaged 12 errors per game the first two years, then seven a game the last two. Another of my records that still stands is 22 walks in one game but I won't go into any details on that one...

In Seminole County and Five Star Conference softball action this afternoon, Sanford's Lady Seminoles will try to snap a two-game losing streak as they host DeLand at 4 p.m.. Lake Mary goes for its fourth straight against Lyman at Lyman also at 4 p.m.. Lake Howell looks to rebound after Friday's loss to Lake Mary as the Lady Hawks travel to Daytona Beach to take on Mainland at 7:15 and Oviedo's Lady Lions, who whipped Leesburg, 8-2, Monday, go for their fifth straight Orange Belt Conference win as they host Orlando Jones at 4 at Red Bug Park...

The Five Star Conference Decathlon-Heptathlon, originally scheduled for today and tomorrow at Lake Mary High, has been postponed until Spring Break due to nine-week exams...

I'm starting a list of things that I am getting sick of, reading the list this week include television news portcasters (particularly ones on channel 6), movies with one word titles (i.e. Footloose, Reckless, Tank) and anytime anyone says "Where's The Beef."

Hutsell, Henley Help Greyhounds Snap Skid, 2-1

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Senior Steve Hutsell pitched out of a bases-loaded, no-out situation in the sixth inning and then threw a game-ending double play ball in the seventh as the Lyman Greyhounds snapped a three-game losing streak with a 2-1 Five Star Conference victory over DeLand Monday night at Lyman High.

The victory pushes the 'Hounds over the .500 mark with a 8-7 record. They are 4-3 in conference, two games behind Apopka. DeLand fell to 8-6 with its third straight loss and 2-4 in the league.

"Steve came in and did a good job," said coach Bob McCullough. "He threw strikes which is what you have to do in that situation."

Hutsell preserved sophomore Byron Overstreet's fourth win in six decisions after Overstreet, who yielded just four singles over five innings, couldn't get anybody out in the sixth.

"I was a little nervous," said Hutsell after the game. "But I was throwing pretty good in the bullpen, so I thought

Prep Baseball

I'd be all right."

After Eddie Corbett reached on an error to open the sixth, Paris Hayden walked and Kevin Weickel pushed a perfect bunt single past Overstreet. A walk to Troy Blevins forced home the run and finished Overstreet.

Hutsell came on and induced Frank Hillmeyer to pop out to short left field. Wayne Hayden then lifted a short foul ball near the screen which catcher Mike Henley snared with a nice running catch. Pinch-hitter Scott Clemens then grounded out to second to end the inning.

Henley, who has thrown out five runners in the past eight days, nipped three more speedy Bulldogs Monday to keep Overstreet out of trouble in the early innings. The junior receiver gunned down Chuck Graham in the first. Paris Hayden in the fourth and Wayne Hayden in the fifth.

Overstreet, who struck out four and walked seven, also got a sparkling play from third baseman Derek Livermo in the fifth to escape a jam. Livermois gobbled up a slow roller to his left and fired a strike to first to barely beat the runner.

Lyman only had three hits, but the Greyhounds used walks and sacrifice bunts to carve out their two runs. Overstreet drew a walk leading off the third, moved to second on John Drinkwater's bunt and scored when the left fielder overran Paul Alegre's liner for a three-base error.

In the fifth, the same combo worked again. Overstreet walked and Drinkwater again moved him up with a nice bunt. Alegre, hitting a robust .429 entering the game, then slammed a double to deep left center for the game-winning RBI.

DeLand's last gasp came in the seventh. Graham walked and Rood moved him to second with a bunt. Corbett also walked. Paris Hayden then hit a sharp ground ball to Greg Lorenz at shortstop, who flipped to Robbie Robinson for the force. Robinson's relay to first sacker Clint Baker completed the twin-killing.

Lyman hosts Spruce Creek Wednesday at 7 p.m. McCullough said righthander may be recovered from his sore shoulder to pitch. Lyman completes the week at home Friday against Seabreeze.

In Orange Belt Conference baseball action today, the Oviedo Lions host St. Cloud at 4 p.m. Oviedo coach Howard Mable will send righthander Darrin Reichle against the Bulldogs.

Reichle has struggled so far this year, posting just a 1-3 record. He was a late starter because of basketball and has yet to find his control. "Darrin's still struggling, trying to find his rhythm," said Mable.

Rookie's Clutch Single Impresses Brewer Boss

By United Press International

Mike Felder may be a rookie, but he's got a veteran's knack of coming through in the clutch. And that's sure to impress Milwaukee manager Rene Lachemann.

Felder, an outfielder bidding to head north with the Brewers, rapped a two-out bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday to give the Brewers a 9-8 exhibition victory over the Seattle Mariners at Sun City, Ariz.

Felder's hit climaxed a game that saw the two teams exchange the lead five times before the ninth.

With one out in the ninth, Ted Simmons and Roy Howell singled off Seattle loser Dave Beard. Marshall Edwards and Juan Castillo entered as pinch runners and advanced to second and third on a fielder's choice.

Eddie Romero received an intentional walk and Felder stroked a 1-2 pitch into left field for the game-winner.

In other exhibitions:
At Dunedin, Lloyd Moseby drove in five runs with two homers and a sacrifice fly and Willie Upshaw added a two-run shot to lead the Toronto Blue Jays to a 9-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. Winner Mike Morgan combined with relievers Roy Lee Jackson and Stan Clark on a four-hitter.

At Bradenton, Amos Otis singled home Marvell Wynne in the sixth inning to snap a 9-9 tie and the Pittsburgh Pirates went on to defeat the New York Mets 10-9. Reliever Chris Green picked up the win and reliever Craig Swan took the loss.

At West Palm Beach, three Montreal pitchers blanked an Atlanta team which featured only one regular player for a 1-0 victory. With the bulk of their squad in Puerto Rico for two games with the Cincinnati Reds, the Braves dressed 14 players. Rafael Ramirez was the only player in his regular position.

At Fort Myers, Lynn Jones singled home pinch runner John Wathan in the 10th inning to rally the Kansas City Royals past the Chicago White Sox 3-2. Guy Hoffman, the fourth White Sox hurler, took the loss.

Cuba Offers Conditional Troop Removal In Angola

HAVANA (UPI) — Cuban President Fidel Castro says he would withdraw his 30,000 troops from Marxist-ruled Angola if South Africa did the same and if other conditions were met, the official Cuban news agency Prensa Latina reported.

Castro and visiting Angolan President Jose Eduardo Dos Santos signed a communique calling for "the execution of a gradual withdrawal of the Internationalist Cuban contingent," the report said Monday.

The communique said the Cuban pullout was dependent on the "unilateral withdrawal of South African troops from Angola." Currently, there are 30,000 Cuban troops in Angola.

Pretoria already has agreed to withdraw its soldiers under a U.S.-mediated cease-fire pact it signed last month with the Luanda government on South West Africa, or Namibia, which has been controlled by South Africa for 55 years, currently in violation of a United Nations resolution.

Mine Closings Protested

LONDON (UPI) — Striking coal miners said they persuaded another 100 fellow miners to stay off their jobs today and a local miners union said it would go to court to stop massive police actions to halt militant traveling pickets.

Pickets and police today lined roads leading to most coal mines in Nottinghamshire, where miners voted to continue working in defiance of the miners' nationwide job action to protest government plans to close unproductive mines.

The mines in the Nottinghamshire area about 100 miles north of London are some of the country's most efficient and are not threatened by the plan, which would shut 20 of Britain's 174 coal mines and lay off about 20,000 of Britain's 175,000 miners. The strike closed all but 11 mines last Friday. On Monday, the government-controlled National Coal Board said 117 mines were idle and 13 partly manned.

Jets Hit Iranian Targets

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Iraq said its jets pounded Iranian targets east of the Iraqi port city of Basra as United Nations experts assessed Iranian claims Iraq used chemical weapons in the Gulf war.

"Iraqi air force jets raided Iranian targets east of Basra, scoring direct and effective hits, and then returned all safely to base," the Iraqi military said Monday of fighting in the previous 24 hours.

Iraq said Iran continued shelling Basra and the border town of Mandali, wounding three civilians and setting fire to a mosque.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency said Monday the U.N. team of experts investigating charges Iraq used chemical weapons had left Iran for Geneva, Switzerland, where they planned to compile a report for U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

Sanford Man Found Guilty Of Resisting Arrest

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford man was found guilty Tuesday of resisting arrest without violence, a misdemeanor, though the state had tried to prove he was guilty of battery on a law enforcement officer, a felony.

Howard LaFair, 36, of 2600 Georgia Ave., was arrested Oct. 13 by Sanford police for driving with a suspended driver license.

LaFair said during the trial before Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. he knew the police had spotted him — and that he was driving without a license — so he parked his car near the 300 block of South French Ave., and began walking.

He said the Sanford officers stopped him and during the arrest placed him in the traditional spread-eagle position against the car. LaFair, a tall heavy set man, said one officer then kicked his left leg outward to spread the legs more, causing LaFair to turn and tell them "You don't have to kick me. I'm no animal." He said when he turned he may have hit the officers with his body.

The police said that LaFair shoved them during the 15-second episode which concluded with LaFair being held down while being handcuffed.

LaFair said he didn't resist the arrest because he had been arrested several times and knew how to behave. At the time of the incident, LaFair was on probation, according to court testimony.

The four-woman, two-man jury deliberated just over an hour returning the verdict of resisting arrest without violence.

For the misdemeanor conviction LaFair could receive up to one year in the county jail and a $1,000 fine.

If or how the conviction affects his probationary status is to be determined before his sentencing date scheduled May 10, 10:45 a.m. at the Five Points Courtroom.

In other court action, an Indiana man arrested in Sanford for burglarizing a and petty theft was sentenced to five years probation and 90 days in the county jail.

Melvin Dean Orr, 18, of 127 Country Club Road, Sanford, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Robert McGregor in the case which was decided by a jury guilty verdict Feb. 8.

According to court records, on the morning of Nov. 5 a clerk at a quick-shop market asked a Sanford officer to follow him to a bank while he made a deposit. En route, the clerk stopped and told the officer his car had been burglarized and gave him a description of someone he saw near his car just before leaving to deposit the money.

Orr was stopped a short time later while riding a bike near the Pinehurst Baseball Park. He was identified by the clerk and placed under arrest at 3:11 a.m.

Survey: Amendment 1 Would Cut School Revenue

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Voter approval of Amendment 1 would cut county school revenue by 25 percent in some of Florida's fastest-growing counties, according to a legislative study.

The financial impact for fiscal 1985-86 would average out to about $629 per student statewide — with some urban counties losing more than $1,000 per pupil because of mandated property tax rollbacks.

The legislative Division of Economic and Demographic Research said Monday per-pupil reductions would range from $407 in Brevard County to $1,649 in Monroe County.

Amendment 1, placed on the November ballot through a petition campaign, would require all taxes to be cut to their 1980-81 levels. Future growth would be limited to two-thirds the inflation rate increase, except for new construction in a county, and local governments could exceed the cap only by popular vote.

For the state government, the passage of the constitutional amendment would mean a 22 percent — or $2.4 billion — revenue reduction. The amendment is being pushed by land developers, seeking property tax cuts, and is vigorously opposed by Gov. Bob Graham and other state leaders who fear it would leave Florida unable to meet rapid population expansion.

"This analysis discovered that the 1985-86 direct revenue impact of Amendment 1, on all school districts, as 18.5 percent," said the legislative report. "Total revenues, across all 67 school districts, will need to be reduced by over $1 billion in 1985-86 if Amendment 1 is approved by the voters."

The legislative analysis said school districts with rapidly growing student population, but stable property tax bases, will see a much more severe reduction in the amount of money they have available for each student's education.

"Districts that have experienced high student enrollment growth since 1980-81 will experience larger reductions. Many school districts will be required to reduce funding for education by over $1,000 per student," said the study.

"Eighteen school districts will lose 25 percent or more of their expected 1985-86 revenues," said the report.

Broward County would lose $123.1 million in total school revenue, the study said, and Dade would lose $102.5 million. Other major losers under Amendment 1 would be Hillsborough County at $84 million, Duval County at $64.6 million, Pinellas County at $62.4 million, Orange County at $56.5 million, Escambia County at $33.5 million, Palm Beach County at $37.9 million and Polk County at $36.9 million.

Meanwhile, it was estimated nearly 37,000 students would be forced to drop out of state universities if the proposed revenue-slashing Amendment 1 gains voter approval in November, a former Florida regent said.

Former state Rep. Murray Dubbin made the charge Monday during a debate with George Schulte, co-author of Amendment 1, before the Miami Elephant Forum, a Republican club.

Schulte called the contention "hogwash" and accused opponents of using scare tactics to frighten voters.

Dubbin, who recently finished a four-year term on the Board of Regents and served as its chairman for a year, said projections show 37,100 students would have to be eliminated from the rolls of the state's nine public universities if Amendment 1 passes.

Fighting Rages In Beirut; Talks Stalemated

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Army troops backed by tanks battled Moslem rebels in Beirut's shell-scarred commercial center early today in fighting that has persisted through a week-old cease-fire and killed at least 47 people.

The violence raged as leaders of Lebanon's warring factions, meeting for peace talks in Lausanne, Switzerland, were stalemated over a proposed peace accord that offered only limited reforms and seemed to satisfy almost no one.

Druze leader Walid Jumblatt, who had predicted an agreement would be reached Monday night, said later, "These old men are not able to understand the new realities on the ground" in and around Beirut.

Jumblatt is one of nine Lebanese leaders, including President Amin

Gemayel, who have been meeting since last Monday in the palatial Beau Rivage hotel, trying to hash out a new power-sharing accord between Moslems and Christians.

The conferees last Tuesday announced a cease-fire for Beirut, but fighting has continued almost unabated. Security reports filed since the opening of the talks eight days ago showed that at least 47 people have been killed and 160 others wounded.

The latest round of violence began Monday, when four people were killed in shell fire that rained mainly on the Christian neighborhoods in east Beirut and on Moslem neighborhoods in the western half of the city.

In southern Lebanon, an Israeli soldier was killed and another wounded Monday when an explosive charge blew up as an army convoy passed by, the Israeli military command announced in Tel Aviv.

The soldier's death brought to 577 the number of Israeli soldiers killed during and after the 1982 Israeli invasion of Lebanon.

Fighting in Beirut continued through the night with the Lebanese army using U.S.-supplied M-48 battle tanks to shell rebel positions in the once-prosperous financial district, left in ruins by battles in 1975-76, security sources said.

The Moslem-controlled Voice of Arab Lebanon radio said the shelling was part of a small offensive in which the army hoped to seize new ground further west of its positions along the Green Line dividing Christian east Beirut from western Moslem areas.

But, the radio said, Shiite and Sunni Moslem rebels holding the western side of the Green Line repulsed the army assault.

A committee comprising representatives of the four major factions formed to enforce the truce in Beirut failed to meet Monday for a third straight day, although Beirut radio said the panel had not abandoned its efforts.

Sources said committee members arrived as scheduled at a former Beirut park known as the Foret Des Pins. But the two Moslem representatives refused to meet in a building on the Christian edge because of security concerns.

Army Battles To Clear Voting Area

By United Press International

A current Salvadoran army offensive aided by U.S. reconnaissance flights will wrest control of enough territory from rebels to allow 95 percent of the population to vote in presidential elections this week, a military source says.

In Nicaragua, Junta coordinator Daniel Ortega said 13 Nicaraguan troops and 18 U.S.-backed rebels died in heavy fighting near Nicaragua's border with Honduras.

The Salvadoran military official, who requested anonymity, said Monday that leftist rebels would probably be able to hold areas north of the Torola River in Morazan Province and of pockets in northern Chalatenango.

Other areas, such as the western part of Cabanas Province, were still contested, he said, but only 5 percent of the population was expected to be under rebel domination during elections scheduled for March Sunday.

"The military initiative rests with the government forces," the source said. "All the actions in the past week were initiated by friendly forces," he said, emphasizing rebels "got out of the way fast" in the face of the army's pre-election sweeps.

Meanwhile, President Reagan, pushing for more military aid to El Salvador, warns that leftist guerrillas there will resort to violence to prevent a free presidential election Sunday.

States has not slackened its support for the El Salvador government.

At an East Room gathering with about 200 Cuban-Americans, Reagan said tying human rights conditions to military aid to El Salvador invites communist victories in Central America.

A top Salvadoran army commander said U.S. Air Force reconnaissance flights over El Salvador were providing vital information in the Salvadoran army fight against Marxist-led guerrillas.

"This is helping us a lot," said Lt. Col. Domingo Monterrosa, commander of the 3rd Infantry Brigade and responsible for the war-ravaged eastern third of El Salvador.

Monterrosa said the Salvadoran army "coordinates" offensives near its border with the Honduran army but emphasized,

"They put their troops on their edge of the frontier, nothing more." Rebels often flee into Honduras and have charged the Honduran army fires on them or enters El Salvador to attack.

Monterrosa, considered by U.S. advisers to be El Salvador's most effective commander, said the army was braced for a major rebel push aimed at disrupting the elections.

"We are expecting them to try something," he said.

A U.S. Embassy source criticized the guerrillas' weekend blockades of highways in eastern El Salvador during which they took national identification books from travelers. The books are required for voting.

Illegal Bullion Dealers Probed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State investigators want Congress to beef up federal agencies to help state officials move in on unscrupulous bullion dealers who bilk unsuspecting investors out of millions.
 Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., who heard testimony on the problem Monday, estimated that about 8,000 firms nationwide, most in Florida, California or New York, con investors out of as much as $1 billion a year.
 The firms use telephone bank "boiler rooms" with high-pressure salespeople, sell contracts on gold or silver and then go bankrupt or fold their tents when investors start looking for the bullion.
 In one case, said a trustee of a bankrupt fund, all investors found were wooden bars painted gold.
 The hearing of the permanent investigations subcommittee of the Governmental Operations panel was the first of two this week.
 Wednesday, the wife of Alan Saxon is scheduled to testify. Saxon committed suicide in September when it became known there were irregularities at his firm, Bullion Reserve of North America.
 A New York official told the panel Monday that Saxon, later identified as Alan Margolis, "frittered away tens of millions of dollars on high living, expensive sports cars, jewelry for his wife and girl friends and speculation in commodities with major U.S. commodities brokers."

Rocking Chair Needlecrafts Has Many New Items In Stock

If you haven't been to the Rocking Chair Needlecrafts shop in Driftwood Village Shopping Center at 549 W. Lake Mary Boulevard lately, stop by soon to see all the great new items they have in stock.

Bring along your husband, because owners Barbara E. and Barbara I. Bartelt, a mother-daughter team, have prepared a special men's corner out front of the shop with a bench, smoking stand and supply of men's magazines to keep them occupied, while you look around. They also have a corner inside where young children can entertain themselves.

Looking for ideas for Easter items you can make for gifts or decoration? Hop on down to Rocking Chair where you'll find gingham and calico baskets and woven baskets covered with calico, and wooden baskets all ready for personalizing with needlepoint and cross-stitch. There are eggs for cross-stitching with the child's name and the date, and books with Bunnykin and Peter Rabbit designs and patterns for a variety of nursery items.

It's not too soon to get your items for Mother's Day and Father's Day gifts. For Mom, Rocking Chair has Moon Bags—a new purse line made of ultra suede and butter-soft calf skin with areas for needlepoint, pot covers for cross-stitching and a new line of clothing with Aida cloth inserts for cross-stitching. For dads they have men's ties and designs to go on them.

There are also a variety of baby items such as kimonos, buntings, and diaper stackers.

Among the new items are needlepoint tennis shoes, gift wrap designed specifically for stitchers, and a new line of country wood products.

The Barteltes celebrated the first anniversary of their business by getting a new electronic cash register and computer, which will enable them to better serve their customers.

They are constantly updating their supply of yarns and they have Florida weight yarns. An expert knitter is available at the shop on Tuesday and Thursday to help you with any problems with knitting or crocheting you may have. There are new needlecraft pattern and instructional books.

The shop is open Tuesday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Collins Florist Shop Has Flowers For Every Occasion

Is there a wedding in your future? Collins Florist, located in the Village Market Place at 3824 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford (corner of Highway 17-92 and Lake Mary Boulevard) invite you to come in and see their wedding display.

Collins does silk and fresh flower arrangements and bouquets customized to meet your wishes.

They also have a complete line of rental items for weddings such as arches, candelabra, aisle runner, flower arrangements and kneeling benches.

Right now Collins is featuring cash and carry special for long stem roses from South America for only $15 a dozen and carnations for $9.95 a dozen.

Collins Florist has been serving Sanford and Lake Mary for more than 10 years. The atmosphere is relaxed, warm and friendly and the number one priority is pleasing the customer. "We take all of their requests into consideration when designing arrangements," said the manager, Irene Merrell.

Irene has been associated with the business for five years. Nancy Strickland joined the staff as a floral designer and the latest addition is Mike Dixon, who formerly owned his own shop in West Virginia.

They make and deliver flower arrangements and plants for all occasions and can deliver world wide via wire service. They are affiliated with the Florist Telegraph Delivery (FTD).

Call 323-1204 to place your order or drop in. It is not too early to order your special flowers for Easter and Mother's Day gifts.

Collins accepts Visa, Mastercard, and American Express credit cards.

"We want to thank all of our customers, who were so understanding and cooperative recently when our business records and equipment were taken in a burglary of the store," said Irene.

HEARING TESTS SET FOR SANFORD/CASSELBERRY AREA
 Electronic hearing tests will be given free at the Orange Hearing Aid Ctrs. 2701 S. Orlando Dr., Sanford (Monday only) and 120 S. Hwy. 17-92 Casselberry, Monday-Friday this week. H. Powers and B. Fisher, certified by the National Hearing Aid Society will be at these offices to perform the tests.
 Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding is welcome to have a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular loss.
 Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them can find out about the latest methods of hearing corrections.
 The free hearing test will be given Monday thru Friday—this week at the Casselberry office and Monday at the Sanford location. Call the number below and arrange for an appointment, or drop in at your convenience.

Skinny Woman Lays Blame On Smoking

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 46-year-old woman and as skinny as I am tall. I started smoking when I was 14 and still smoke today. Now I have emphysema, but I'm physiologically hooked on tobacco. I hate to admit defeat, but I can't beat it. I started smoking so young that my body never had a chance to develop. My legs are thin and my bottom is as flat as the floor. I can't even fill out a bathing suit or blue jeans. Are there any exercises or surgery that would round out my behind and build up my legs?

DEAR READER — I can't say it was the smoking that prevented you from having normal muscular development. A certain amount of body fat is essential, particularly in women. From a physiological point of view, But you have a more serious problem than just being thin. Your lung disease will get progressively worse unless you stop smoking. Cigarette smoking ages people before their time. One study showed that facial wrinkling, particularly around the eyes, occurs 10 years earlier in people who smoke. Exercises help develop muscles, but you must have the proper nutritional support for results. And you must have good health, particularly good circulation and oxygen delivery — another reason to kick the cigarette habit.

smoking. You also may consider a health club to use equipment for strength training. I've discussed the main health problems associated with tobacco in the Health Letter 19-6, The Tobacco Problem, which I'm sending you. I hope it will motivate you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Does an electrocardiogram show angina pectoris? If the electrocardiogram is normal, should one be taking cardiac medications such as calcium or beta blockers?

DEAR READER — An electrocardiogram merely shows the electrical impulse passing through the heart. It can be perfectly normal in patients who have coronary artery disease. During an actual attack of heart pain, such as angina, it may show alterations, but between such attacks it may be normal. Since calcium blockers and beta blockers are used for high blood pressure and control of heart irregularities, and since electrocardiograms can be normal between attacks of angina, it's not uncommon for patients who have normal electrocardiograms, and heart problems, to take calcium or beta blockers.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 21, 1984
If you begin to plan properly now, your chances of taking a long trip that you've always desired can become a reality before your next birthday.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your judgment is quite good today, yet you might suffer delays because you'll question the merit of your decisions. Have faith in your views. Major changes are in store for Aries in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today: Mail #1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. To find out to whom you're best suited romantically, send an additional $2 for your Astro-Graph Matchmaker set.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your commercial dealings today get right to the point. Don't beat around the bush. Nothing will be gained by circumventing the facts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Place friendship above personal gain today if you have to negotiate a tricky matter with a pal. Give him or her the benefit of the doubt.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Career conditions look favorable today, provided you can do things at your pace. Don't permit sluggish associates to cut down your speed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're quick at grasping overall concepts today, but you could overlook some significant details. The gears won't mesh smoothly if some teeth are missing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If there are some important changes you want to make today, don't use half measures. For satisfactory results you must go all the way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Agreements you make today may not withstand the test of time unless the intent of both parties is sincere. Be sure each understands this.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There is financial opportunity around you today, but there is also a chance you may not exploit it to the fullest degree. Go all-out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have the ability to competently handle difficult situations today. However, you might not fully use this skill in your financial affairs.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A trying matter you've been hoping to resolve can be concluded successfully. Self-doubt is the only factor that could hold you back.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Some of your friends might be tempted to gossip today about a pal who isn't present. You can put a stop to it by having only nice things to say.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your financial prospects look more encouraging than usual over the next few days. Give matters that could add to your holdings top priority.

Check with your nearest American Cancer Society or American Heart Association for a program that can help you stop

If spades break 5-0, he can complain about bad luck. He has a problem only when spades break 4-1. He ruffs the heart lead in dummy and now should take out insurance against a 4-1 spade break. How does he do that? He simply leads a low spade and ducks it. Now the defense is helpless. South has a trump left in dummy to ruff a second heart lead. In other words he has guaranteed his contract against the possible 4-1 trump break at the expense of 30 points if spades break 3-2. This type of play is well known, and almost every one of us must have seen it in some form or other. The bidding is quite interesting. There must be any number of ways to get to that spade slam, but how about those players who wind up at seven clubs? There are lots of ways to play seven clubs, but the four-one spade break will upset all of them.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

In this Rubens-Lukacs hand, South blasts into six spades. The contract is a pretty sound one. If spades break 3-2, South will make seven with no trouble at

The signal SOS does not stand for "Save Our Ship" or "Stop Other Signals." It is merely the most easily understood and the most easily transmittable signal — only coincidentally translatable as SOS.
