Hearing for youth

SANFORD — A detention hearing was scheduled for 1 p.m. today at the Seminole County Correctional Facility for 13-year-old Robert Cathers of Altamonte Springs, charged with one count of possession of a firearm on school property.

Cathers was arrested at Teague Middle School near Altamonte Springs yesterday after a fully loaded 357 handgun was found in his backpack. The youth reportedly took the gun from his father's dresser before leaving for school.

Sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough said Cathers did not threaten any student or teacher with the gun, however other students said Cathers had made verbal threats against his teachers over the last few weeks.

At today's hearing, the judge is to decide whether to keep Cathers at the Juvenile Detention Center or release him to the custody of his parents.

Possession of a firearm on school property is a third degree felony.

Winter Springs sued by owner of country club

By KELLIE WEBSTER
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — The Winter Springs City Commission Thursday night held an emergency meeting in order to discuss a recent development in the continuing Tusawilla Country Club saga.

The purpose of the meeting was to have commissioners vote to approve the hiring of a private legal firm to serve as special counsel to the city.

Tusawilla club owner, James Mikes, is allegedly being sued by his mortgage company, OATX Golf Capital, for non-payment of his loans. The case is filed in Hillsborough County, where Mikes owns another country club.

Mikes is currently in a battle with his mortgage company, the City of Winter Springs, and Tusawilla residents over proposed home building in the Tusawilla development.

Mikes wants to build 66 homes around the golf course and in the area where the tennis courts and pool now stand.

According to City Attorney Frank Kruppenbacher, Mikes has now filed two counter suits against the city and both Kruppenbacher and special counsel, Donna McIntosh, have been

3 men nabbed as cops foil burglary of ATM machine

From staff reports

LONGWOOD — In a cooperative effort between three law enforcement agencies, three persons suspected of burglarizing a convenience store near Longwood Thursday morning, have been taken into custody.

The agencies were the Seminole County sheriff's department, and Longwood and Lake Mary police departments.

According to sheriff's spokesman

Ed McDonough, the incident began at approximately 4:45 Thursday morning, when a Lake Mary police officer spotted three men trying to carry an ATM machine out the door of the Circle K store, 1823 Longwood-Lake Mary Road. The officer radioed the sheriff's department.

McDonough said when the suspects realized they had been seen, two jumped into a van and drove away, while the third attempted to flee on foot. He was apprehended within a few minutes by a deputy.

A K-9 unit tracked the other two suspects to a gas station in Longwood, where they were apprehended by a Longwood police officer.

The suspects, all from Orlando, were identified as James Marcado, 21, Symous Pantazoglou, 27, and Spiro Ojkuria, 20. McDonough said Ojkuria was born in Greece but is a citizen of the Bahamas. The other two were native born Americans.

Each of the three men was charged with burglary and grand theft, and being held under $5,000 bond at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

The ATM machine reportedly contained several thousand dollars. It was recovered at the scene with no loss reported.

The store's security camera video has been taken into custody to be used as evidence.

Heated debate Angry parents blast school system's desegregation order

By JEFF BERLWINKER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — It all started with a low rumble.

After a few minutes, it grew louder, and after about an hour, the noise sounded like the inside of a 747 engine.

That was the scene at Wilson Elementary last night as a packed house arrived to listen to Seminole County school officials discuss the proposed plan to merge the Wilson attendance zone with two other Sanford schools — the planned Wicklow Elementary and Idyllwild Elementary — to conform with a desegregation plan passed by the United States Justice Department in 1970.

Pine Crest, Midway and Hamilton Elementary Schools will adopt the same plan, with a higher percentage of black students.

Temper flared at Tuesday's school board meeting and few, it seemed had cooled off before the Wilson meeting last night. Attendees grumbled and shouted down speaker Sherry O'Leary as she attempted to explain the reasons for the plan. Wilson Principal Suzie Crook answered questions after the presentation.

Complaints were wide-ranging as speakers expressed concern that it would break up neighborhoods and force students, especially from Lake Mary, to travel even farther to school each day.

Parents from the Crossings community in Lake Mary said their children already were unable to attend the closer Lake Mary and Heathrow Elementary Schools.

O'Leary said the changes were necessary to comply with the 1970 decree and said issues such as school capacity and racial balance must be recognized.

She also pointed out options available to disgruntled parents.

For one, any black student enrolled in a school where the black enrollment exceeds 15 percent may transfer to any school in the county where the black enrollment is less than 15 percent, and the same applies to any white student in a white-majority district.

She also stated that the rule, set to be implemented in 1998-1999, would be grandfathered in so that current

Cleaning up at Wilson

Cleaning up the environment is a priority for the students at Wilson Elementary School in Sanford. Part of their efforts center on recycling those items that can be used again. In their recent celebration of Earth Day, students brought newspapers and aluminum cans to the school to be recycled. Helping with the collection of those items were Nancy Lowe and Linda Gurtis.

Sanford commissioners face packed agenda

By BOB PERFAUP
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — With city commission meetings scheduled only twice a month, and the Government in the Sunshine Law prohibiting commissioners from discussing matters between themselves other than at public meetings, there never appears to be sufficient time for discussion of various matters, and for solving problems.

Such is the case with the Sanford City Commission, scheduled to meet beginning at 3:30 p.m. Monday afternoon, in the city manager's conference room. Numerous items scheduled on the work session agenda have appeared several times in the past, and may possibly be carried on to even future meetings.

One involves discussion of the functions of the Citizens Advisory Board. The city has requested that a representative of a similar organization, the Seminole County Sheriff's Citizens Advisory Board, explain the functions of the group to members of the city's board.

Also scheduled for discussion, are replacements on the city's board for two members who have submitted their resignations, chairman Martha Yancey and member Lynn Stogner. The two were originally appointed by Mayor Larry Dale and Commissioner Kerry Lyons, who are

Charter school seeks students for next year

By WENDI BOGGS
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Not that they've gotten the green light to get their school up and running, the founders of the Rays of Hope Charter School are heading out into the community to find their first students.

The school will open in time for the 1987-88 school year at 1880 W. Airport Blvd. in Sanford (at the intersection of Airport Boulevard and 25th Street).

Students from across Seminole County will have the opportunity to apply for the chance to attend the middle school that will be geared toward students at risk of dropping out of school.

The students who attend the school will be given the opportunity to work in a smaller class atmosphere where teachers will have the chance for more one-on-one instruction with the students.

Sarah Jane Turner, the principal of the innovative school, said the institution will serve about 100 to 150 students in an intimate atmosphere when they begin classes on July 30.

The Rays of Hope Charter School is an independently operated school that is a part of the Seminole County Public Schools. Though it is under the jurisdiction of the school district, it is not confined by the constraints that often restrict the public schools from serving students with special needs such as those who need to learn in a special, smaller environment.

The students who will be accepted at the school will have to have a grade point average of less than 2.0 and test scores in the lower quartile in reading and mathematics.

According to Frank Merrick, chairman of the school's board of directors.

The school district will help the charter school with things like mass mailings to 2,600 middle schoolers who might be best served by the new school.

Those who get the mailings or who simply want to find out more about the educational opportunities of the school will have the chance to do so in a number of locations.

The meetings, which will be held at 7 p.m. in each instance, will be in the following locations:

• Monday, April 28 in the Media Center at Milwee Middle School in Longwood;

• Tuesday, April 29 in the Media Center at Casselberry Elementary School in Casselberry;

• Wednesday, April 30 in the Media Center at Indian Trails Middle School in Winter Springs; and

• Thursday, May 1 in the Fellowship Hall at the First Baptist Church of Sanford in Sanford.

'America' was a mistake at first

Today

Europe and Asia received their names from Vesputi. I am so relieved why my one should be the subject of calling this part America, the land of America. He believed the Italian navigator Vesputi had discovered the new continent, and wanted to honor him for his discovery.

So, in the first map of the world which he produced and published in 1507, he attached the name America. It first applied only to South America, but eventually was on all maps for both American continents.

Waldseemüller didn't learn of Columbus's voyage until several years after he had printed thousands of copies of the map. By then it was too late.

Who knows, had things gone right, we may not be calling the flag of the United States of Christopher or Columbus.

Earlier this week, we mentioned the floating holiday, Earth Day. Today is another one. Today is National Arbor Day. It is a day to plant trees and to care for the ones we have. In the 27 years, only half of the states have approved it, so we still have it whenever local officials say we will.

Here's a Thanksgiving story. On this day in history, a group of 800 colonists, with 8,000 head of livestock, ended a four-month journey, met with the local native Americans, and had a feast. It wasn't the Pilgrims Thanksgiving meal however.

That occurred on the east coast 23 years later. This happened in 1598 near El Paso, Texas, when Spanish colonists first arrived in that area. They still celebrate the event today, with food, fun, and festivities.

There are story telling festivals today in Columbia, S.C. and New London, Conn. It's also "A From Sponsor" day, and National Good Telephone Day.

On this date in 1802, Union General under the command of David Farragut took control of New Orleans. It was Farragut who said, "Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead, I don't want to miss the Saints' football game." (Or something like that.)

Other big events which you may want to miss include the Rattlesnake Derby in Johnson, Okla., the annual festival on Nantuxet Island and the Asparagus Festival in Stockton, California.

In historical birthdays, comedian Robert O. Lewis was born in 1920, and Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of the wireless telegraph was born in 1874.

For today's birthdays, former basketball player Meadowlark Lemon III, turns 66, and actor Al Pacino is 57.

Have a good weekend.

OK students, it's time for a history/trivia lesson. Why, is this continent called America? Not for whom, most people recognize the name America Vesputi, but who said it should be such? The man was Martin Waldseemüller, who was born in Germany about 1470.

The German was a geographer and a mapmaker. In a book published on April 25, 1507, he wrote, "Inasmuch as both

Student leaders shine at CECF competition

By GOURNEY LEFFEW

Seminole High Schools' Business Education students went to District 23 Contest for CECF, the Cooperative Education Clubs of Florida last month.

The contest was designed to test students in four areas: written business principles and management knowledge, applied technology performance knowledge, public speaking, and display of artistic and creative ability.

The contest also tests leadership, competitiveness, and ethical principles during business and applied technology classes.

District 23 is comprised of three counties including Lake, Sumter, and Seminole. This year, the contest was held in Eustis and tri-area business persons served as judges.

Rodney Leyer, from Seminole Printing in Sanford and Dr. Peter Berry, from Lyman served as judges from Seminole County, Seminole High School Auto Mechanics Technician Howard Butcher and Seminole High School TV Production Instructor Gay Beas served as technical advisors.

Seminole High brought home 24 trophies and awards with only 14 members attending. Students who placed first through sixth at districts are permitted to enter the

Earth Day awareness

The members of Girl Scout Troop 608 and 609 recently planted trees in Melville Park in Sanford in celebration of Earth Day. The group met at 1007 S.W. Collins Street. They have been involved in a variety of environmental activities throughout the year which culminated in the Earth Day celebration.

Plants found

Sanford police sheriff's deputies arrested Christina L. Cannon, 28, of 811 Sunset Circle, Sanford, at her residence Wednesday. Officers went to the home to serve a warrant issued against the woman. When they arrived, the arrest report Cannon was not at home, but the wife of Cannon was detected from the home. When she arrived, she was reportedly given consent to search the home.

Officers said they located under 20 grams of marijuana, and five plants. Cannon was arrested on charges of possession of under 20 grams of marijuana, cultivation of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. She was also served the warrant, issued in Volusia County, Georgia, for conspiracy to distribute cocaine.

Trespassing

Sanford police arrested Wanda Kelly, 28, listed as homeless. Officers of the QUAD-Squad said they were called regarding a woman reportedly attempting to beg down passing vehicles. When they arrived, they said they found Kelly standing on property in the 300 block of E. Fifth Street, a location where she had been issued a trespassing warning on April 10th. She was arrested on charges of trespassing after warning, possession of drug paraphernalia, and carrying a concealed weapon (knife).

Retail theft

Jean Washington, 45, of 165 Longleaf Pine Circle, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Wednesday at a retail store in the 3800 block of Orlando Drive. Officers said she was accused of attempting to take a $24 bottle of champagne from the store without paying. She was charged with retail theft.

John Doe

Sanford police arrested a man Wednesday who refused to identify himself. The arrest report said he was at an establishment in the 300 block of French Avenue, and refused to leave when asked to do so. He was arrested and booked as John Doe, on charges of trespassing after warning and resisting an officer without violence.

Burglary

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the burglary of a vacant residence in the 100 block of Heider Avenue near Sanford. The burglary is believed to have taken place between April 1 and April 21.

Items taken, including fishing equipment, compound bows, speakers, three guns and other items were listed, for a total value of $1,697. The owner of the property reportedly located the guns at a local pawn shop.

Sanford police reports

• An estimated $2,800 in tools and other items were reported stolen Wednesday from a storage building in the 2900 block of Park Drive in Sanford.

• A 1980 Lincoln was reported stolen early Thursday in the 400 block of Magnolia Avenue in Sanford. It was later located abandoned in the 1600 block of 13th Street.

• The theft of a 1990 Buick was reported Wednesday from a Nissan pickup truck, parked in the Seminole Towne Center parking lot.

• A trailer located in a compound in the 600 block of French Avenue, was reported burglarized Wednesday. An estimated $815 in items were said to have been taken. An attempt was also reportedly made to steal a truck of the same location. While the attempt was foiled, an estimated $250 damage was done to the vehicle.

• Five 2-way radios, valued at $150 each, were reported stolen Wednesday from a facility in the 1100 block of W. Lake Mary Blvd. in Sanford.

Volcano (R-12): Disaster movies should have a quota of warnings that describe the entire production. Volcano doesn't have that. In fact, there was no warning in the film that I felt the main characters were in any immediate danger.

Director Mick Jackson, who previously helmed two light comedies, Clean Slate and L.A. Story, takes a slow, passive approach to this material and it hurts. For instance, the initial lava flow passage is far too long and you may find yourself leaving the screen "O.K. Made your point. Move on."

Tommy Lee Jones (The Fugitive) plays Los Angeles Chief of Emergency Management, Mike Roarke. Roarke is a dedicated man and single father that must summon all his knowledge --and then some-- to combat, of all things, a volcano in the middle of L.A. With the help of a spunky seismologist named Dr. Amy Barnes (Ann Heche), Roarke is able to hold off the first blast from the volcano that is swelling from underneath Los Angeles. The first eruption takes place at L.A.'s most famous geological landmark, the La Brea Tar Pits.

But Barnes is worried that there may be a larger more devastating blast yet to come. And ground zero is at a hospital where thousands of patients are being treated from the first blast. Roarke forms a plan, but it could cost him more than just a few million dollars worth of city property.

Volcano is a vast production and fairly well made, but it lacks intensity. Since the successful Twister debuted, Hollywood is capitalizing on the disaster/special effect extravaganza. But when you decide to invest in such an endeavor, please make sure you secure a director that is more apt to deliver. Jackson just isn't that director. For example, the sequence where the city is in danger of the first lava flow is way too drawn out. You may notice that the flow always seems right up on our heroes yet they still maintain a safe distance and are able to formulate a plan for its eventual stoppage. That doesn't seem plausible.

The script, while being interesting, does have some noticeable flaws. For instance, a millionaire business man keeps pestering his doctor wife about being around people that may have some kind of disease or something. This puzzled me because I figure he would be more interested in his million dollar building the city is about to blow up! There are several scenes where people and animals are within inches length of the lava. Keep in mind that lava temperature starts at 800 degrees, but some in the movie come around it with no outward discomfort. Another sequence is where an L.A. cop arrests a young, black man during the crisis. This a terribly cheesy attempt to shed light on the controversial race relations in L.A. that is hotter than the volcano.

Tommy Lee Jones carries the movie with his versatile acting. He seems just right for this role as he did in his Oscar winning performance for The Fugitive. Ann Heche (Dennis Quaid) is a solid spide. And Dan Cheede (Dead in a Blue Dress) is worth mentioning as Roarke's right hand man.

Volcano, with its spectacular visual effects and large production, is still unimpressive. Mind you, it is not boring. It does seem to hold your interest. It just lacks that certain, shall I say, fire. Two and a half stars (out of four).

Paradise Road (R): Music, phenomenally, binds the world. It allows us to transcend certain barriers, certain conflicts that we may have with race, creed or personality. It can make you feel among the stars on a moonlit night or soar like a bird in flight. In music, we find a peace. Not just the peace that we find in ourselves and you, but a peace with each other as well. For the ladies depicted in

The City of Los Angeles battles its most formidable foe ever--Volcano.

Paradise Road, it is the common bond they shared and a thread of humanity their Japanese captors could not take from them.

Paradise Road tells the story of how women in a Japanese internment camp overcome their circumstances with the power of music. In the music, they find solace and even a bit of dignity.

Bombs interrupt a ball for service men and various aristocrats at the Raffles Hotel, Singapore. A courier tells the ball's participants that the Japanese are occupying the area and that, within hours, Singapore will fall to the Land of the Rising Sun.

Women and children are asked to evacuate via naval vessels. On the way to safe haven, a vessel is attacked by a Japanese air strike and sinks. The passengers by waves or by life boats drift to the shore of Sumatra. It is there that the Japanese take these women and children prisoners.

Life in the internment camp is brutal and harsh. Unimaginable for any human being -- or non human being for that matter. The women are from all corners of the world doing nothing in common. Resentment stirs resentment among them yet they all find common ground through a choir formed by two of the women, Adrienne Fargiter (Glenn Close) and Margaret Drummond (Pauline Collins). Some of the women feel that the choir is a stupid idea and will only further enrage their captors. Others love the idea and feel it is the only link they have to the freedom of the outside world.

Writer-director Bruce Beresford (Driving Miss Daisy) has a well made film here. Yet Beresford does not raise Paradise Road above the conventional prisoner of war film. Everything in this film has been done before. The acts of unspeakable torture, arduous labor, the personality conflicts among prisoners, the hopes the women have upon their release, et al.

Beresford has the luxury of a stellar cast. Glenn Close (101 Dalmatians) is still one of the most versatile actresses in movies. She allows herself to look almost like death and still conveys her character's strength and gentleness. And, wow, is that Pauline Collins

From the turkey Shirley Valentine? Collins portrays the passive, bespectacled missionary Mrs. Drummond with a certain sweetness notable for Oscar. Speaking of Oscar, Frances McDormand --fresh from her winning performance in Fargo-- makes an appearance as a German, Jewish doctor with sort of a corny German accent that is a bit of a cynic. McDormand is definitely fun to watch. She is an incredibly innovative actress. There are so many other exceptional actresses that also need mentioning but there is simply not enough room.

Beresford is an exciting director, and I'm sure he felt that this story had to be told. It is a wonderful, uplifting story no doubt about it. As is, however, Paradise Road sings the same old tune. Two and a half stars (out of four).

Get ready now for National Historic Preservation Week

You have less than three weeks to prepare for this, and preparation could take a great deal of work.

The week of May 11 through 17 will be declared Historic Preservation Week. It's not only a national observance, but the Sanford Historic Preservation Board is planning an all-out project with many special events, tours, and exhibits.

Even downtown merchants are being asked to get into the swing of things with special historically-related sales or other events.

While we would like to consider ourselves as modern, there is no question that Sanford has great historical significance. We have the historical events of the past, and the historical structures which are still with us.

Full details are not available yet, but there are expected to be walking tours of historic areas during that special week. Visitors to the city will be told where to see some of the most outstanding homes and businesses with historical pasts, and hopefully, in the top of condition.

Both the Sanford and Seminole County museums will be joining in this event, and many people will eventually be asked to assist in bringing this about as well as possible.

Many people have already been contacted. Others however, may wish to volunteer their services to assist in this observance. Businesses, home owners, local officials, hopefully everyone, will join in and become involved.

We'll have more to report in news stories during the coming weeks about Historic Preservation Week, especially those events and activities planned in Sanford.

In the meantime, think about it, and do whatever you can to help. Let's put Sanford into the memories of our visitors who will remember the city as being proud of its history, and proud to show off what is still left of the past.

ELLEN GOODMAN

Doctor-assisted suicide, part 3

This is the third of three columns by Ellen Goodman on doctor-assisted death in the Netherlands.

AMSTERDAM—It began with the oddest of rallying cries. People started talking about the "right to die" as if dying were not an inevitable human condition.

By the 1970's we had seen more than our share of people tied, tubed, and plugged in to a semblance of life. Gradually some began to wear the banner of patients' rights and reclaim power from medical technology and technocrats playing doctor.

But somewhere along the way the right-to-die movement went from asking about stopping treatment to asking for a doctor's help in dying. Now this is at the heart of the assisted suicide case before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Anyone looking for hints about the direction of this debate will find them here in Holland, a country that has struggled to both allow and control doctor-assisted dying.

What began here too as a patients' rights movement, has in some ways, cooled both more power and greater burdens to doctors.

When I first came here, my only mission was to receive the comfort that only a doctor's obligations to both patients and society can provide. I was not a doctor, but I was a doctor's suffering has ended up with more conflicts left at the doctor's hand.

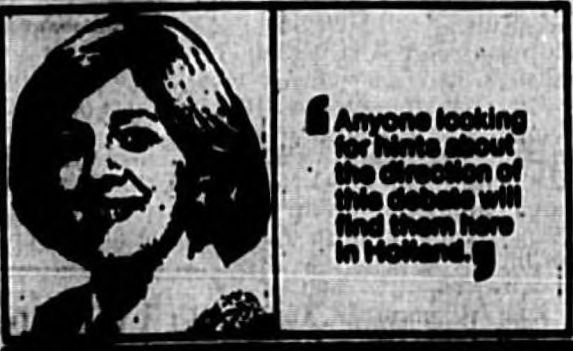

In Holland, euthanasia, defined as the termination of life by a doctor at the express wish of a patient, remains technically illegal. But it's permitted under strict guidelines in cases of "unbearable suffering." Here nearly 80 percent of doctors have been asked for euthanasia but nine out of 10 requests are turned away. And while the overwhelming majority of Dutch doctors believe that it is justified in some cases, only 22 percent have actually assisted in deaths.

One of these is Herbert Cohen, an articulate family physician from Rotterdam. Retired now, he teaches others who confront this issue routinely. I ask him what question troubles doctors the most and he says, without hesitation, "Is the patient suffering enough?"

The long government form that doctors are required to fill out after assisting any death asks whether "the suffering was of such a nature that he or she could experience it as intolerable." Simple enough, but as Dr. Cohen acknowledges, "There are no objective criteria for making such a judgment."

Indeed this thoughtful, bearded older admits that his own decisions were based on some reckoning of "How would I feel in such a situation."

Even though these judgments are made in consultation with another doctor, opponents of euthanasia are uncomfortable giving them the power of life and death. At Catholic University, in Nijmegen, Henk Ten Have, wondered aloud, "What is surprising to me is that people put so much trust in the medical profession."

This month in the United States, a Congress that has yet to provide health care to all children pre-emptively banned federal payment for "assisted suicide." But in Holland where everyone is covered and must have a longtime family doctor, there is no evidence that doctors are being punished.

Dr. Cohen says it's difficult to judge a doctor's performance on this subject or when he as a doctor says, "If you ever want to talk about euthanasia I won't blush." It is, he says, "the climbing a terrible mountain."

The burden on doctors may be even greater in countries like our own where the issue is still shrouded in mystery. Where doctors asked for help in dying cannot even talk to each other.

On my final day in Holland, Eugene Suterus, the chief lawyer who helped push his country to the frontier of doctor-assisted death, sits at an antique table in his sleek Arnhem office and looks back over the cases of patients' rights and doctors' conflicts that have marked his career.

I ask him where it all leads, and the intense, engaged man answers my questions with his own. "Will we look back and say, at the end of the 20th century we had that euthanasia thing—but how our doctors have learned to put their weapons down and we die in peace?"

"Or are we going through a cultural change to a new situation in which death will become a personal option?"

What we do know is that the long and public euthanasia debate has taken another turn. Dutch doctors are talking more fervently today about reducing suffering through palliative care. Time and again, crossing this small country, I was told the same thing: "euthanasia should remain a possibility but a last resort."

Indeed that may be the best balance. And the most difficult to maintain.

Many of the group's members have done professional theater in other cities and others are talented newcomers. New members are always welcome to join the group and audition for roles in upcoming productions, or to volunteer to help with costumes, props, sets, lighting, and special events.

Into the Woods is a musical centered around a group of new and old storybook characters who enter into a journey of growth and self-discovery. The fairy tale brings together Cinderella, Little Red Riding Hood, Jack from Jack and the Beanstalk, Rapunzel and a baker and his wife in a familiar lighthearted first act but sends them on a more pressing and sobering adventure in the second.

Into the Woods marks the second collaboration for the Pulitzer Prize winning authors of Sunday in the Park with George, Stephen Sondheim and James Lapine. It began as a workshop produced without costumes or sets in the summer of 1986. It has had several runs since then including an opening at the Martin Beck Theater on Broadway November 5, 1987, under the direction of James Lapine. The show went on to win the 1988 Tony Award for Best Best Score and Best Book in a musical.

Sponsored by Target and the Arts Services Council, the Wekiva River Players will take a up a collection for the Ronald McDonald House of Orange. For more information regarding donations and reservation of tickets, please call 335-1991. Tickets are also available at the door.

In addition, students who have siblings attending one of the schools would have priority to attend the same schools after the retesting.

"Once a child is entered into a school, it is his school," O'Leary said. "He can stay there."

O'Leary and Crook had to answer charges that parents were not given proper notice of the change in progress but O'Leary said it wasn't necessarily their fault.

"There were few people involved with the justice department," she said. "It had to be done very quickly."

O'Leary said all documents pertinent to the retesting would be made available to the public as soon as they were back from the printing service.

Another parent said that the issue shouldn't be a black and white matter.

"For those of us that are color-blind, this is insane," said Barbara Nehlen from The Crossings. "I don't know what the justice department is thinking."

O'Leary had a response that didn't go over very well.

"We live in an age of desegregation and live under a court order of desegregation," O'Leary said as the rumbly grow louder. "That's just a fact of life. Our schools have to be based on the laws and that's the way it is."

expected to name replacement members.

Politics, goals and objectives for the police and fire departments are also listed for the work session. These matters have been brought forward several times at past meetings.

Commissioner Emily Leonard is once again scheduled to bring back his proposal that city employees be required to live within the city. Previous discussion on this suggestion appeared to be leaning toward requiring that all new employees have a specific date. He also mentioned, with no change reported of employees already on the city staff. There have been however, other suggestions toward making the requirement only for employees of the city's police and fire departments.

With the renovation continuing at Sanford Memorial Stadium, an update on the progress of the work and additional work which is scheduled to be made.

Two old ordinances will be back. The city's proposed noise ordinance, and changes to the alcoholic beverage codes are listed as separate matters for discussion and/or consideration.

The city commission approved, on first reading, preliminary alcoholic beverage code changes at the April 14 meeting, but left blank certain distance requirements.

The past work session agendas have listed eight to twelve separate items for discussion. For Monday's work session, there are 31 wrap-up items on the work session agenda, several of them dealing with more than one matter.

The work session are held prior to regular city commission meetings, in the city manager's conference room, on the second floor in Sanford City Hall.

Monday's meeting is listed to begin at 3:30 p.m.

called to give depositions at the end of May. In addition to the attorneys, Winter Springs mayor Paul P. Partyska will also give a deposition on June 8.

Kruppenbacher, and City Manager Ron McLamere recommended the firm of Carter-Fields to handle the legal matter. Carter-Fields, stated McLamere, is a highly respected law firm.

"I have worked with this firm in the past and I highly recommend them," McLamere said.

"If I were being sued, I would hire Larry Watson and the firm without question," Kruppenbacher added. "They are triple-A-plus people."

Commissioners asked several questions concerning the financial aspects of hiring a firm that allegedly charges up to $600 per hour. Both Kruppenbacher and McLamere assured the commissioners that the approval of the law firm would initially last only until Monday night's regularly scheduled commission meeting.

Kruppenbacher told his constituents that he needed approval to allow the firm to review all of the aspects of the case and determine a budgetary figure on cost.

The motion was made and passed based on that contingency. On Monday night, the commission will review the proposed budget and approve or reject the firm.

National Day of Prayer observed

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

SANFORD - On Thursday, May 1, the 1987 "National Day of Prayer," a special observance will be held at 12 noon on the steps in front of the Orlando City Hall (on S. Orange Street in downtown Orlando). This prayer service will be held in conjunction with communities all across the United States who are joined together in "National Day of Prayer," petitioning God on behalf of America.

Americans are asked to join together heart and hand in order to do just that, pray. The annual National Day of Prayer, established by an act of Congress, signed into law by President Truman, amended and extended by President Reagan, is a prominent opportunity to acknowledge corporately, as spiritual sons and daughters of the founding fathers, our dependence upon the creator. It is a chance to cast our lot with God at this critically decisive moment in America's history. Prayer has made all the difference in the past; it is time to prove that it can make a difference today.

Abraham Lincoln put it this way, "Unless the great God who created (President Washington) shall be with me and aid me, I must fail. But if the same omnipotent, and Almighty arm, that directed and protected him, shall guide and support me, I shall not fail...Let us pray that the God of our fathers may not forsake us now."

Many Christians will never participate in a National Day of Prayer event because they are unable to attend a city-wide breakfast or get to a City Hall prayer gathering. They need a way a participant near, or at, their place of work, school or home. In order to allow more members of the community to take part in the observance of the May 1st "National Day of Prayer," and to publically proclaim the 1987 theme of "In God We Trust." A network of Central Florida area "Prayer Points" for the National Day of Prayer is being established. This "Prayer Point" plan is an answer to involvement. If one can hold (or post) a sign and are willing to pray for America participation is needed. This inclusive prayer strategy does not take extensive planning or preparation, just people willing to stand, pray and allow their to join them in prayer for our nation.

A "Prayer Point" is any place one or more people stop for prayer on Thursday, May 1. It can be on a street corner, at a bus stop, in a conference room at work, a neighborhood home, a church, a business...anywhere a sign can be placed and prayer can be held and hand out a prayer guide to others who come to pray with you.

A "Prayer Point" requires that you arrive, and pray... that is victory. All one must do is to hold or post the sign and pray. If the sign attracts others who will pray with you, that is "amazing grace." Offer them a prayer guide, and begin to agree in prayer for our nation, its leaders, etc.

The length of the prayer can be one minute, an hour or more. A lunchroom might be a "Prayer Point" during the lunch hour, with people praying before they eat, or lasting their lunch to pray. A street corner or bus stop might lend itself to small huddles, with constant coming and going of the flow. At home you could invite neighbors in for prayer, and a sign in front of your church or business will encourage people to come in for a few minutes to pray. One might even contact your pastor and offer to coordinate a prayer time at your church.

For more information call Christian Connection Hotline at 679-2645 x 6900.

Does someone have power over you

By SHARON WATSON
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Many are faced with the fact that they feel that someone other than themselves have a distinct power over them. Maybe that power is something instead of someone, but the simple idea that we are powerless is not a Biblical principle.

Some may feel "tormented" by a power-hungry, up-tight supervisor. Others feel pressure from fellow co-workers, spouses, friends, family or even their own children.

The devil has led a nation to believe that we are powerless over evil and must conform and go with the flow in order to survive. Psychologists tell us that the only advantage others have over us is the advantage "we allow" them to possess.

Battling with depression, sexual addiction, alcoholism, drug abuse or numerous other addictions can leave one spell-bound by the temptations. Whether a physical, emotional or spiritual problem, one can remain in the clutches of a state of helplessness and hopelessness.

But...we are told in the scriptures in Philippians 4:13, "I can do all things through Christ which strengthens me." Also II Timothy 3:16 tells us to avoid those who feel they have power. "This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy. With natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, Traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God. Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away."

Does that sound like someone you feel has power over you?

Rest assured that God knows your struggles and will not render you powerless against your enemies.

A dear and close friend of mine recently reminded me to remember to daily put on the whole armor of God before going out daily into battle. Ephesians 6:11 says, "Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against the flesh and blood, but against the principalities, against powers, against rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness; And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace; Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God: Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints."

So, we really aren't powerless against our struggles. "But up" in your spiritual defenses each day and the enemy can't have a strong hold over you.

The only real power here is God. Don't let others fool you. A brief reminder in Proverbs 16:17 we are told, "Finds grace before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall." So rest assured that your offender will not also be eye-laden with their power.

Another scripture my friend shared with me is Psalm 55. This chapter gives us the added assurance that God is with us. Because we realize that Romans 8:31 says, "...If God be for us, who can be against us?" Romans 8:38 says, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose."

Rest in His arms and know when you follow Him. He is our source of power and strength. He will protect and guide you through the storms, temptations and trials of life.

Lions lose leads, game

By TOMY DeGOSSEN Herald correspondent

DeLAND — For the Oviedo Lions, Thursday's game with the DeLand Bulldogs at Conrad Park was one they'd like to just as soon forget.

Giving away not one, but two leads, the Lions (19-7) saw the Bulldogs (15-11) rally from a 5-1 deficit by scoring five runs in the bottom of the sixth, then two more in the bottom of the seventh to pull out an 8-7 win.

Rob Kenyon's flare double just past the glove of a diving Jay McFarlane in right field scored pinch-runner Brandon Rickert with the game-winning run.

"We're not playing very good baseball right now," said Oviedo coach Kenne Brown. "We're making mental mistakes that we shouldn't be making at this point in the season, not with the district tournament next week."

Oviedo, which closes out its regular season with a home game tonight at Midler Field against Florida Air Academy (7 p.m.), is the No. 2 seed in the 6A-District 4 tournament and will play Lake Mary next Wednesday at Lake Mary.

Exploiting five DeLand errors, the Lions built a 5-1 lead going into the bottom of the sixth inning. That's when the Bulldogs, taking advantage of an Oviedo error, rallied for five runs to knock Oviedo starting pitcher Ben Knapp from the game and grab a 6-5 edge.

Oviedo came back in the top of the seventh. With two out, Dave Devito ripped a triple off the center field wall. Knapp followed by blasting a 1-2 pitch over the left field wall for a two-run home run and a 7-6 Oviedo lead.

Troy Boutwell, Oviedo's third pitcher, struck out the first two batters he faced. But a single, another Lion error, a walk, and Kenyon's second double of the game translated into two more DeLand runs and a Bulldog victory.

Knapp gave up five runs (three earned) on four hits through 5.1 innings, striking out three and walking one. He also had an RBI single to go with his two-run home run.

Devito had a triple, double, run, and an RBI. Justin Holmes doubled, singled, scored a run, and had an RBI. Scott Ferrell had a single and a run. Jay McFarlane also had a single. Jeremy Frost scored two runs while Boutwell scored once. Andy Neufeld saw his 16-game hit streak end, but did have an RBI.

Kenyon had two doubles, two RBIs, and a run scored to lead DeLand. Todd McBride hit a double and a single.

SEMIOLDS PAST LYMAN

SANFORD — Ninth-ranked Seminole overcame a slow start and rallied to break a three-game losing streak with a 7-5 victory over Lyman in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest at Alumni Field Thursday night.

The Greyhounds took a 4-0 lead with two runs in each of the first two innings, but the Fighting Seminoles took the lead by piling five runs in the bottom of the third inning.

Lyman pulled back into a tie at 5-5 with a run in the fourth inning, but the Tribe pulled out the win with single runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings.

Brad Jenkins overcame the shaky start to finish with a route-going eight-hitter and ran his personal record to 9-4.

Contributing to a 12 hit Seminole attack were Clyde "CS" Williams (2-for-3, RBI), Paulo Silva (2-for-4, two RBIs), Chris Louwama (1-for-2 with a double, two runs, RBI), Phillip Eubanks (1-for-3 with a double, run, two RBIs), Tim Raines Jr. and Rob Denison (both 1-for-3 with a run scored), Chas Lytle and Andy Hall (both 1-for-3) and Bill Johnson (two runs scored).

Providing the offense for the Greyhounds were Clyde Chaney (3-for-4, three runs), Jason Ware (2-for-4, two RBIs), Tyler Carr (1-for-3 with a double), Kevin Nease (1-for-4 with a double) and Jose Torres (1-for-4, two runs).

The Fighting Seminoles are now 19-10 on the season and will go for win No. 20 tomorrow as they host Lake Mary at 1 p.m. at Alumni Field in the final regular season game. Seminole will open play in the Class 5A-District 6 Tournament on Monday night, taking on St. Cloud at Osceola County Stadium (between Kissimmee and St. Cloud on Highway 192) starting at 7 p.m.

The Greyhounds close out their regular season schedule today, playing at University High School starting at 4 p.m. Lyman will play Lake Howell in the first round of the Class 6A-District 4 Tournament next week.

THREE TEAMS FALL

SANFORD — The Seminole High School tennis teams did not exactly end the regular season as they would have liked as both squads fell to Flagler Palm Coast from Bunnell at Sylvan Lake Park Thursday afternoon.

Eddie Vargas was the only Fighting Seminole to win as the boys fell to the Bulldogs 6-1 and finished the regular season 1-14.

Aubrey Nelson and Katrin Graeve each won their singles match, then teamed up to win No. 1 doubles, but that was it for the Tribe as Flagler Palm Coast edged Seminole 4-3. The Tribe is now 13-2 on the season.

Lake Mary wins game, but Tribe impressive

By KILLIAN WOODS Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Quite appropriately, the last game of the regular season pitted the town's two biggest rivals against each other.

Last night under the lights at the Seminole High School Softball Complex, Seminole hosted Lake Mary to cap off the softball season. Lake Mary pounded the Lady Noles, 8-1.

However, Seminole Head coach Dave Rogers got exactly what he wanted from his players.

"I am very proud of them," Rogers said. "They (Seminole) played hard and gave 100-percent. I told them that if they keep that level of intensity, they have a good shot at winning districts."

At least they don't have to face Lake Mary in their district tournament. Lake Mary plays in Class 6-A, while Seminole plays in 5-A.

Lake Mary appears to be in good shape to take a shot at their tournament.

Head softball coach, Jeannie Fisher, was not as pleased as Rogers with her team's performance.

"The girls were very sluggish," Fisher said. "It's the last game of the season and they were looking ahead to districts instead of giving this game the intensity they should have. We hit really well, though, and that kept them on a roll."

That's an understatement. Carissa Sica drew first blood with a run in the third, scoring on a sacrifice bunt by catcher, Jill Wolcott. Sica would find her way home twice more in the game.

A hitting explosion occurred in the fifth, with pitcher Sarah Smith, Wolcott, and Sica scoring. Sica and Wolcott crossed the plate again in the seventh.

Another home run was added to Eric VanSwearingen's achievements, and her slam over the center field fence brought Haile Sowarda in for the eighth and final run of the evening.

Pitching had a lot to do with the evening's events. Seminole pitcher Maria Duval struck out only one batter and allowed 10 hits in the game, while Smith allowed six hits while striking out eight Fighting Seminoles.

Saving her team from a shut out was Jennifer Wilson, who had on one of Seminole's hits and scored in the sixth inning thanks to a double by teammate Kelly Langton.

Both teams begin district play next week. Lake Mary will need to continue smashing the ball and Seminole will need to continue giving all they have if they want to watch each other play at the state tournament.

Sophomore Sarah Smith hurled a six-hitter and struck out eight to lead Lake Mary to an 8-1 victory over Seminole Thursday night. Smith raised her personal record to 8-1, while the Flame finish the regular season 19-6.

Grand slams carry Bambino winners

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — It's not only the local high school that hits grand slams. Seminole High School has made a habit of hitting grand slams this season, blasting five of the four-run home runs. But the Tribe had nothing on the Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth Baseball Bambino League on Thursday night as the winning team in both teams hit "granmas."

Winning pitcher Michael Schwarz hit a grand slam to break a 2-2 tie and the TEC Mortgage Pirates went on to beat the Neth & Son Roofing Marlins 11-6 at Roy Hollar Field despite getting out hit 11-4.

But the Pirates made the most of the four hits, all of which went for extra bases, as they drove in eight of the team's 11 runs.

Facing the Pirates were Chance Tubbs (two

Leading the Diamond Backs were Erik Brown (grand slam, two singles, three runs, four RBIs), Fred Howard (double, single, two runs, three RBIs), Jeff Burnett (triple, two RBIs), Levi Gibb (double, two runs, two RBIs), David Jones (single, run, RBI), Roger Brown (single, three runs), Mike Towers (single, two runs), Mike Dean (two runs) and Mike McKenzie and Dekwan Deboe (one run scored each).

Is estrogen treatment unwise?

DEAR DR. GOTT: At menopause, I was prescribed the estrogen patch. This led to a low-grade malignancy in my uterus, requiring a hysterectomy. Now my doctor wants me to take Provera along with the patch, but I'm not sure why.

DEAR READER: Neither am I. The use of estrogen (without Provera) in a woman with a uterus is associated with a statistical risk of uterine cancer. Provera reduces this risk but is associated with continuing monthly bleeding.

Once a woman has had a hysterectomy, the benefits of Provera fall to zero. In such cases, using estrogen alone is acceptable and will reduce the risk of heart disease, help prevent osteoporosis and improve sexual functioning. Therefore, a woman without a uterus can safely be prescribed estrogen alone.

However, your case is somewhat unique. I am not at all sure that you, having had cancer, should take any female hormones. Estrogen may stimulate uterine cancer cells to grow. While I'm sure that your gynecologist removed all the malignant tissue and you are now in good health, it is possible that before the hysterectomy, a few undetected cancer cells may have spread to the lymph glands in your pelvis.

In this situation, taking estrogen could be akin to pouring gasoline on a fire. Although I am not a gynecologist, I am uncomfortable enough about your continued use of estrogen (with or without Provera) to urge you to seek a second opinion from another gynecologist.

Perhaps I'm just being fussy and over-cautious, but I don't recommend that women with a history of uterine cancer take estrogen, any more than I would advise a man with a history of prostate cancer to take male hormones. The risk of stimulating hidden cancer cells is just too great. Once you obtain a second opinion, let me know what you decide to do.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Menopause." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10138. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My friend recently died of a colon blockage. What is this and why is it fatal?

DEAR READER: It is a biological imperative that no living thing can exist for very long in its own waste. The same is true of humans.

Fecal waste enters the colon from the small intestine. After moisture has been removed from the residue, it is excreted through the rectum. The body is very sensitive to any disruption of this normal process.

PETER GOTT, M.D.

If there is an obstruction in the colon (for example, from infection or cancer), evacuation is affected, gas accumulates, the colon swells and distends, causing severe pain and a medical emergency.

If the colon is not decompressed and the blockage removed within a matter of hours, the patient cannot rid his body of waste and will die.

As you can imagine, the surgical treatment of such a dangerous situation is fraught with risk. These patients are usually very ill and are often far from being ideal surgical candidates. Therefore, there is ample chance for complications (such as shock and bleeding) to set in.

Still, the surgical rule is: Without the operation, the patient will certainly be lost. Hence, in this situation, an operation — although risky — is mandatory.

I don't know whether your friend died of the colon blockage or from the surgery itself. But I do know that without surgery, he would have succumbed without a chance for survival. This is the reason why intestinal blockage (which is diagnosed by special X-ray tests) is such a serious disorder.

Look more closely at the spots

By Phillip Alder

As some wag wrote, "Have your eyes ever been checked?" "No, Doctor, they've always been blue."

Many players are guilty of not looking closely at the actual spot-cards in the key suit. Take today's deal as an example. How would you play in three no-trump after West leads the club queen?

As always, start by counting your top tricks. Here, you have eight: three spades, three hearts and two clubs. You could generate the ninth trick from diamonds, but it would take too long. By the time you were ready to cash that ninth trick, the opponents would have collected two diamonds and three clubs for one down. You must turn to spades. Many players would unblock the king and queen, cross to dummy with a heart, and cash the spade ace. When East discards, they would grumble about never seeing a favorable split.

However, they have overlooked the power of dummy's eight and nine of spades. It is much better to cash the spade king, overtake the spade queen with dummy's ace, and lead the spade nine. The heart ace is still in the dummy as an entry to what will hopefully be two spade winners resting there.

The first line wins whenever the spades split 3-3 or an opponent holds the doubleton jack-10. The alternative line wins in these cases and when either opponent has the jack- or 10-doubleton. This increases the a priori probability from 36.7% to 64.6% percent. Not bad, eh?

Yes, all right, if the spades are 3-3, you have blown an overtrick. But that's a small price to pay for greatly increasing your chance of seeing a game bonus.
