Rep. Grindle: Legislators Facing Session Extension

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A legislative squabble whether to repeal, reform or place on referendum Florida's controversial service tax may extend next week's three-day special session and increase the chances of repeal.

Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs, said the House is falling into three camps: repeal with no money-raising replacement, repeal with some money-raising replacement or major restructuring of the tax. The legislature is set to meet for 2½ days starting Monday. The Senate is said to favor repeal and Martinez, who fueled the controversy by seeking a referendum on the tax, appears to be flip-flopping in the legislative heat.

Grindle also said that if the issue isn't wrapped up by Wednesday the 23rd, the legislature will probably have to reconvene the following Monday, Sept. 28. He said the special session probably would not be extended from Wednesday to Thursday because of the Jewish holiday Rosh Hashanah. Twelve percent of the House's membership is Jewish, he said.

Grindle said upward to 50 percent of the House is for repeal, but not solidly. "Things are pretty fluid," he said.

Grandfather Claims Child's Ashes

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

The cremated ashes of a five-year-old victim of child abuse soon will find a final resting place after storage in an Altamonte Springs funeral home vault since 1982.

The grandfather of Ursula Sunshine Asaid was located in Orlando Tuesday and signed a release to allow burial of the child's ashes. Raymond Asaid, the child's maternal grandfather, said he and his son, Tom, knew the ashes were stored in the Baldwin-

Fairchild Funeral Home, but he said they did not have the money for a burial.

Valerie Baumgart, founder of Citizens Concerned for Children, said she received many calls Tuesday from people offering to donate money, cemetery plots and grave markers for the child, who was the victim of torture and abuse.

State law requires that remains be released for burial only with written permission from the next of kin, and Ursula's father, who is working in the Bahamas working, could not be contacted.

Baumgart, of Fern Park, became aware of the case after reading a book about Ursula, "Death from Child Abuse ... And No One Heard."

Baumgart said the grandfather will be given preference as to a place of burial.

For two months prior to her death, Ursula was severely tortured, court record say. Her body was stuffed into a duffel bag after she died, weighted Citizens of Sanford today will have the opportunity to sign the Sanford Constitution at the Chamber of Commerce as part of Sanford's week-long celebration of the Bicentennial signing of the Constitution.

School children throughout Seminole County will join the celebration by reciting the pledge of allegiance at 1 p.m. The pledge will be led by President Reagan in a nationwide radio and television broadcast. Former Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren Burger, chairman of the national Bicentennial commission, will read and explain the Preamble of the Constitution. This program will be shown locally on WFTV, Channel 9.

Also, throughout the day all subjects and classes in Seminole County public schools will, in one form or another, discuss some aspect of the Constitution. A packet of information and suggestions on appropriate Bicentennial activities, prepared by the National Education Association, was sent to every elementary, middle and high school in the county to encourage participation in the "teach-in."

Witnesses Urge Charter Adoption

Study Panel Hears Pros, No Con

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Charter commission officers from three Florida counties, two which have adopted charters and one which has defeated a charter proposal, told members of the Seminole County Charter Committee Tuesday night that charter government is a definite improvement over the present form of county government.

The Seminole County committee was appointed by the county commissioner to investigate the pros and cons of charter government and recommend whether the county should appoint a committee to draw up a proposed charter.

Counties which adopt charters have complete home rule and can do anything, including changing their form of county government, unless prohibited by state law.

The three counties represented at Tuesday night's meeting, Orange, Lee, and Alachua, had different rationales for drawing up charters. Proposed charters had previously been defeated twice in referendums in both Orange and Alachua counties within the past 25 years, and were approved by the voters in 1986.

Lee county voters have twice rejected referendums, most recently in 1984.

Although representatives of all three counties strongly recommended charter government, Tom Wilkes, chairman of the Orange County Charter Commission, presented the most ardent argument in favor of charters, and was the most strongly critical of opponents of charter government.

Wilkes said, regardless of what some proponents of charter government say, "Charter government will not save money, nor will it solve the problems of rapid growth, but I think every county should have a charter to give citizens the right to determine their form of county government and adjust it to their local preference and needs."

"Amendments proposed by revision committees or others, whether bizarre or sensible, at least give people the opportunity to express their opinions of their county government through the ballot box," he said.

Wilkes criticized opponents of charter government, who he said, "are usually the same people who clamor about states' rights—yet they aren't in favor of taking power from the state government in Tallahassee and giving it to the local people. If a person is elitist and doesn't trust the local people as much as the state government, that is the only reason I can think of for a person to be opposed to charter government," he said.

Wilkes made his comments in response to questions from Seminole committee member Robert Webster's questions about whether county commis-

Commission Votes 90-Day Delay

Sanford Extends Moratorium On Transportation Impact Fees

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford will not collect from new development county transportation impact fees for growth-related road needs for another three months.

City Commissioners voted 4-1 Monday to adopt an ordinance extending the moratorium on all transportation impact fees.

The moratorium is a delay maneuver while the city and county continue to work out differences over the collection of transportation impact fees and the time schedule for road construction and improvements. City Manager Frank Faison said there have been staff-level meetings on the issue, but city and county commissioners have not met to discuss the collection of county transportation impact fees since last March.

Bill Simmons, engineering and planning director, said the city and county are opposed to each other on other issues such as annexation and water/sewage treatment and disposal. Simmons said conflict over these issues is the part of the reason why some city commissioners don't want to collect impact fees for the county.

"More communication between the city and the county is needed before (the transportation impact fee collection) issue can be resolved," Simmons said.

The ordinance adopted by the city commission also calls for repealing a March 3 ordinance which established a six-month moratorium on all transportation impact fees within the city limits.

The original ordinance directed that a study be conducted to determine the appropriateness of transportation impact fees within the city. Simmons said the projected traffic counts on area roads were included in the city's updated comprehensive plan. But it is not yet clear whether the city should level its own impact fees on new development and fix roads needing attention now or go along with the county.

At the August 24 meeting of the city commission, City Engineer and Planner Bill Simmons noted the moratorium was to expire Sept. 23 and recommended extending it for three months.

The county names some specific roads it plans to improve, but gives no timetable for the work.

The time frame is the problem as far as City Manager Frank Faison is concerned, Faison said

POLICE

High Speed Pursuit Recovers Shoplifted Shoes, Shirts, Shorts

Sanford police who pursued a shoplifting suspect from Ross department store, Seminole Centre, onto Lake Mary Boulevard, reported the chase was at speeds of 70 mph. Several cars were forced from the roadway to avoid collision with the suspect's car.

When the man's car was stopped in the school yard of Lake Mary Elementary School, Old Lake Mary Road, at about 12:40 p.m. Monday, police reported recovering three pairs of shoes, two pairs of shorts and three shirts, which were returned to the store.

Sonny Dale Anderson, 29, of P.O. Box 145, Osteen, was arrested on charges of fleeing police and retail theft. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Husband Charged With Battery

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported charging Gary J. Walkley, 28, of 4405 Sunset Lane, Oviedo, with battery/spouse abuse after he allegedly hit his wife on the leg, punched her in the stomach and hit her in the face with a telephone as she lay in bed at about 10:30 p.m. Monday.

The victim left her home and reported the attack from her parent's home, a sheriff's report said.

Walkley was arrested at his home at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Driving Under Influence Arrests

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Roger Eugene Gadsen, 21, of 2500 Howell Branch Road #203, Winter Park, at 10:37 a.m. Monday. In a nearby parking lot after he left the scene of an accident involving his vehicle on Howell Branch Road, Casselberry. He was also charged with leaving the scene of an accident and driving with a suspended license.

—Richard L. Sanford, 32, of Madison, Ohio, was arrested at 11:45 p.m. Monday after his car was seen traveling erratically on Interstate 4 at State Road 46, west of Sanford. He was also charged with speeding and with not wearing a seatbelt.

—Steven Dean McCartney, 37, of 105 High St., Lake Mary, arrested Saturday at 5 p.m. near the intersection of Moas Road and State Road 434 in Winter Springs. His arrest came after his vehicle swerved to avoid a police car at the intersection of SR 434 and Sheoah Blvd., and then barely missed the officer directing traffic beyond his police car. McCartney also was charged with failure to maintain a single lane and failure to notify (address) change. Bond was set at $500.

—Ronnie Howard Roop, 26, of Daytona Beach, arrested Monday at 12:43 a.m. on Interstate 4 near Lake Mary after his vehicle was clocked going 74 mph in a 55 mph zone. He was also charged with failure to produce a registration on demand. Bond was set at $500.

—Charles Mark Tindal, 26, of Orlando, arrested 12:05 a.m. Monday at I-4 and SR 434 after an officer saw his truck make a U-turn across the median on the Interstate and almost cause an accident with a semi-tractor trailer.

Indicted Teen In Psychiatric Unit

A 15-year-old girl who has pleaded guilty to manslaughter has been moved from detention to a psychiatric unit in a Longwood hospital because she has talked about suicide, the same act that took the life of a co-defendant last month.

Suzanne Phillips was moved from the Seminole County juvenile detention center to West Lake Hospital, Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton, who heard her manslaughter plea, approved the move Monday.

Phillips, and Edwin Bateman, 17, were indicted on first-degree murder charges in connection with the execution-style murder of Diane McGinnis, 39, a florist clerk in Forest City. Bateman committed suicide by hanging himself last month at the juvenile detention center. That incident is under investigation.

Attorneys for Phillips told Eaton that Phillips had talked about suicide and had picked at the flesh of her arm with a paper clip. They said they feared she would try to kill herself.

Phillips pleaded guilty shortly after Bateman's body was found. She is to be sentenced Oct. 9 and could receive from three to seven years in prison.

Man Enters Guilty Plea To Molestation Counts

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A 39-year-old Orlando man has pleaded guilty to 10 counts of molesting a girl and is set to be sentenced Oct. 28. It was one of three cases heard recently.

Van Joseph Rine, owner of the Orange Avenue Gym in Orlando, entered the plea before Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr.

Rine pleaded guilty to five counts of engaging in sexual activity with a child and five counts of lewd and lascivious assault on a child. Three charges were not prosecuted.

Rine is to enter the Seminole County jail voluntarily Monday to await sentencing.

He was arrested in August after being accused of forcing sex numerous times over the past two years upon a girl who is now 12.

The assaults occurred in Seminole County and were reported first to officials in another state where the girl was visiting her father, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

While visiting her father, the girl received a note containing apparent threats from Rine. Her stepmother asked the child about the threats and she told the woman about the attacks. Those incidents were reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies through agents of the state the girl was visiting, according to reports.

In a second court case, a Winter Springs man pleaded guilty to attempted possession of a controlled substance.

Robert Kent Burt, of 1210 N. Brassie St., entered the plea before Semi-Retired Circuit Judge Emory Cross. Cross set Oct. 28 for sentencing.

According to court records, Burt was one of two men sitting in a car in the parking lot of the House of Babea, U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park, who were confronted by deputies after the officers spotted a bamboo club in the car.

The club was sticking out from under the driver's seat where Burt was sitting, according to a report.

A search of the car also turned up a cigarette pack of cocaine.

In a third case, a Sanford man arrested on charges of battery to a police officer and resisting arrest pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of battery.

Ottis Holloway, 22, of 1505 W. 25th St., entered the plea before

Davis, who set Oct. 27 for sentencing. Holloway was arrested after he struggled with officers who went to the scene of a disturbance in June at 1310 S. Sipes Ave.

Local ABA Members Step Up To Prestigious Positions

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Two members of the Seminole Bar Association have been appointed to a national post or accepted a coveted educational opportunity.

Former Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi has accepted an appointment as chairman of the American Bar Association committee, according to the nationwide bar association.

Salfi, who left 16 years on the bench in January to return to private practice, has accepted an appointment as the chairman of the Lawyer Relations with Judiciary Committee of the American Bar Association Section of Economics of Law Practices. The committee is involved in training lawyers and law firm administrators to provide legal services more efficiently and at lower costs.

Salfi was appointed by Section Chairman Charles F. Robinson, of Clearwater. About 25,000 lawyers work in the section under Salfi's committee. The bar association has 323,000 members nationwide, representing about half of the lawyers in the world, according to the association. It is organized into 21 sections representing fields of legal interest. The economic section is the sixth largest.

Salfi's term started at the conclusion of the 1987 ABA annual meeting, which convened in August in San Francisco. Salfi is president and owner of the Legal Learning Institute in Altamonte Springs.

Salfi is a 1958 graduate of the University of Florida in Gainesville and received his law degree from the University of Florida.

A Maitland attorney has been selected into an international law program in London for the 1987-88 academic year.

Jim Lavigne, 36, is one of a dozen students accepted for the year-long Masters of Laws Program in International Law at the University of Notre Dame London Law Center. The program is limited to 12 to 15 students per year from throughout the United States and common law countries.

A resident of Casselberry, Lavigne has been a practicing trial lawyer in Central Florida for 12 years. Lavigne is a former Casselberry city councilman and has served in the Winter Park and Greater Seminole County chambers of commerce.

He is a 1975 graduate of the University of Florida Law School.

Drug Charges Dropped

A man charged with possession of marijuana after his daughter turned in his wife and him will not be prosecuted because his wife said the drugs were hers, not his.

Even though the girl told investigators that her parents, Alain and Kathleen Andriola, 35 and 30, had smoked marijuana for years, the state had to drop the case against Andriola after his wife said Tuesday the drugs found in their home were hers.

Mrs. Andriola had pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was sentenced earlier this month to three years' probation.

The couple were arrested in April after their 12-year-old told police they smoked marijuana.

An undetermined quantity of shoes, valued at at least $2,000, were stolen from Shoe Emporium, 5904 Red Bug Lake Road, Wipiter Springs, between Saturday and Monday.

Along with the shoes, about $100 was stolen from the business.

The store owner reported to sheriff's deputies that there was no sign of forced entry to the store. The shoes were taken from a stockroom.

Other burglaries and thefts reported by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department include:

• Nanci Fountain, 31, of 383 Nights Court, Lake Mary, reported that a man known to her entered her place of employment Sunday and took $1,000 from her purse. She said the money was from an insurance claim on her vehicle and the man had no right to the money.

• A Sanford woman, Angela Anita Ashley, reported that she suspects someone she knows took a handgun from the glove compartment of her car. The incident occurred around 9 a.m. Sunday. The .25-caliber automatic was valued at $125.

• Jerome Dufour, 44, of 684 Coachlight Dr., Casselberry, reported that someone entered the side bedroom window of his home and took two credit cards, $6 in cash and his wallet. The incident occurred Sunday around midnight.

• Jack Edward Herrin, 45, of Ocala, reported that while he was at the House of Babes in Fern Park early Monday, someone broke the window of his 1986 car and took a $189 radar detector.

• Two batteries, two wheel barrows and 30 boards with a combined value of $455 were stolen from a construction site at Geneva Elementary School, 275 First St., Geneva, between June 7 and Monday. A sheriff's report said the items belong to Mark C. Arnold Construction Co., of Maitland.

• A $15,000 forklift belonging to Cantwell Manning Erectors, Inc., of Pensacola, was stolen from a construction site at 355 E. State Road 436, Casselberry, Saturday or Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

• Sheriff's deputies said there is no sign of forced entry, but 10 office chairs with a combined value of $8,800 were stolen from Westinghouse Electric, 200 Park Road, Oviedo, between Sept. 10 and Monday.

• Harold S. Pomeroy, 44, of 1251 Forest Lake Drive W., Altamonte Springs, reported to sheriff's deputies a $450 video recorder, a $50 revolver, a $150 camera and $40 were stolen from his home Monday.

• Derek Southern, 17, of Maitland, reported to sheriff's deputies his $400 guitar was stolen from 2575 State Road 436 #2108, rural Winter Park, Friday or Saturday. The loss was reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies Monday.

• Almost 150 pieces of sterling silver flatware with a combined value of $16,000 were stolen along with about $150 in other items from the home of Charles Henry Stant, of 112 Longleaf Lane, Altamonte Springs, between Saturday and Monday, a sheriff's report said.

• Sheriff's deputies report that two compact disc players, a video recorder, a clock, $650 cash, compact discs and video tapes with a combined value of almost $3,000 were stolen from the home of Allen W. Spencer, 26, and Linda M. Alonge, 27, of 225 Heron Bay Circle, Lake Mary, on Monday.

• Betty R. Crawford, 52, of 107 Sunset Drive, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that jewelry, cash and other items with a combined value of $750 were stolen from her home Monday.

Man, Boy Arrested In Drug Deal

A 29-year-old Winter Springs man and a boy have been arrested in connection with a $35 marijuana sale to undercover City County Investigative Bureau agents.

Agents reported meeting the boy at Circle K, State Road 434, Winter Springs, where they discussed the deal. Then with the man's help, agents went to the man's home and picked him up. They proceeded to the Warren Avenue area of Longwood, where the man left the car with the agents' $35 and returned with marijuana, an arrest report said.

The agents drove back to the Circle K with the suspects and arrested them there. The boy was charged as a juvenile.

Paul Wayne Osborne, 29, of 143 Lori Ann Lane, Winter Springs, has been charged with sale and delivery and possession of marijuana and criminal conspiracy. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Pleas On Child Abuse, Officer Battery Given

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A man who was charged with battery on a law officer after an altercation at a bar has pleaded guilty to disorderly intoxication and opposing or obstructing an officer. It was one of two cases heard recently.

Michael Yelverton, age and address unreported, entered the plea before Semi-Retired Circuit Judge Emory Cross Jr. No sentencing date was set, according to court records.

Yelverton was arrested in June after he fought an officer to stay at Fitzgeralds, 503 N. Palmetto Ave., in Sanford. The fight occurred after bar workers and police tried to make him leave.

While waiting for guards to open the jail, Yelverton reportedly kicked the arresting officer in the knee, injuring him.

Sentencing is usually held about six weeks after a plea is entered. Since Cross is a visiting judge, definite dates are not set at the plea hearings, contrary to usual procedure.

In a second case, charges were dropped against a Sanford man arrested on charges of attempted aggravated child abuse.

Charges were dropped against Eugene Jeffery Jackson, 25, 36 Lake Monroe Terrace. He was arrested in April after police said they saw him holding a 12-year-old girl by her arms outside 56 Lake Monroe Terrace, Sanford.

The decision not to prosecute was made by the State Attorney's Office.

Police Catch Man Who Beat, Robbed Woman

When Beulah Copeland, 30, of Sanford, was walking to her car after getting off from work at Stromberg-Carlson, Rinehart Road, Lake Mary, at about 11 p.m. Monday, a man she knows confronted her in the parking lot and chased her back into the building.

The man followed her inside and allegedly hit Copeland in the face and leg and grabbed her purse. Security personnel and other employees came to the aid of Copeland and the man fled, but security officers later saw him walking in a hallway.

He left the building, followed by a witness who saw him toss the purse away about 1/4 mile from the building.

Lake Mary police, who had been called to the scene, stopped and arrested a suspect about 1/2 mile from Stromberg-Carlson, on Rinehart Road.

Copeland and other witnesses reportedly identified the suspect as the attacker, Isaac Fletcher Jones, 30, of 1802 Lincoln Ave., Sanford, has been charged with strong arm robbery, battery, theft and trespassing. He was being held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Police said that the purse was recovered and that Copeland's injuries, including a swollen face, were treated at a hospital.

Neighbor Notes Home Burglary

The neighbor of vacationing Lake Mary resident Clinton G. Farrell, upon checking on his friend's home over the weekend, reported that Farrell's home at 298 Main Road had been ransacked and burglarized.

Lake Mary police report entrance had been made into the home through the rear kitchen window. Police found evidence of attempted forced entry through the garage door as well.

The police report states all three bedrooms, the kitchen, and the family and living rooms had been ransacked during the crime. No estimate can be made of any property taken until Farrell has returned from his vacation.

Fingerprints taken at the home proved to be negative as evidence for the police's investigation.

In another Lake Mary police report, two Lake Mary residents reported that their mailboxes were damaged by an unknown person over the weekend.

Police report that Joan Hopkins, 104 Humphrey Road, and Kit Bidell, 428 Cardinal Oaks Court, both told police this weekend their mailboxes had been damaged after someone apparently struck them with a heavy instrument on the roadside.

Bidell reported $35 worth of damage to her mailbox and Hopkins said the damage to hers was about $15. Police are still investigating the incidents.

Study The Past; It Is Prologue

In a report released recently by the National Endowment for the Humanities on the state of humanities education in American public schools, NEH Chairman Lynne Cheney tells of visiting with a group of students at John Marshall High School in Los Angeles. The students had won the 1987 U.S. Academic Decathlon by becoming experts on the U.S. Constitution. They not only knew the basics about the Constitution, Cheney writes, they knew its origins in European thought. They knew about the framers' fascination with the classical world.

The intriguing thing about the John Marshall champions is that they represent a school where more than three-quarters of the student body learned English as a second language. Thirty percent of the students on the decathlon team were born in other countries. Cheney asked them why, given their diverse backgrounds, they had become devoted students of this country's founding. "They seemed to think this an odd question," Cheney writes, "but finally one of them answered, 'Because we're here.'"

Because we're all here together, a basic understanding of our collective past is vital; that would seem to be self-evident. Unfortunately, as the NEH report — titled "American Memory" — documents, the John Marshall students are exceptions. Many American schools are failing to teach students about their shared past and culture.

They seem to believe, Cheney writes, "that we can teach our children how to think without troubling them to learn anything worth thinking about," that "we can teach them how to understand the world in which they live without conveying to them the events and ideas that have brought it into existence."

The report alludes to a 1987 study conducted by the National Assessment of Educational Progress, which came up with disturbing, though not altogether surprising, information.

According to the study, more than two-thirds of the nation's 17-year-olds are unable to locate the Civil War within the correct half century. More than two-thirds cannot identify the Reformation or Magna Carta. By vast majorities, students were unfamiliar with Dante, Chaucer, Dostoevsky, Melville and other writers whose works are regarded as classics.

"American Memory" targets a host of culprits: curricula that focus on skills at the expense of knowledge; textbooks that are boring and irrelevant; a system of training and sustaining teachers that emphasizes how to teach rather than what shall be taught. The report recommends specific improvements in each of these areas.

Fortunately, students in the Seminole County school system have academic leaders who have recognized the problems and are implementing solutions. Programs are being developed to ensure that part of the school's curricula through the years of the education process is given to leading students in the thought process. Absorbing knowledge, yes, but more importantly, how to use that knowledge in a logical and productive manner.

National studies are vital in assessing the state of the national educational process. They are also valuable in establishing areas of problems and challenges, and determining solutions locally.

The attitudes and actions of our students during this Bicentennial celebration of the U.S. Constitution is evidence of the positive attitudes of Seminole County students towards our nation and its heritage. We can be proud of these students, and of the teachers and administrators who guide them.

Presidential Hopefuls Bid For Helms Vote

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the first stops on the political route South for Republican presidential candidates is North Carolina, home of one of the most conservative political machines in the country — Jesse Helms' Congressional Club.

In any other year, the North Carolina Republican presidential primary would delight practitioners and observers of byzantine politics, a show that may take second billing on "Super Tuesday" March 8 when 15 southern and other states hold primaries or hold caucuses.

Texas and Florida, with their far larger number of delegates, and some other states considered more deep South than North Carolina, will hog the limelight, very possibly shoving the Tar Heels into the wings.

That's unfortunate, because North Carolina Republican politics deserves more attention, blessed as it is with Helms' machinations and the activities of the Club.

North Carolina actually has two Republican parties — the more moderate wing led by Gov. James Martin and the very conservative sector led by Helms, and they are locked in a long-standing battle for supremacy.

Although the Martin wing currently controls the state power structure, the conservative wing can be very powerful when it backs a candidate. Certainly, it is the more fascinating element in the party.

With 54 delegates at stake, Vice President George Bush, Senate Republican leader Robert Dole and Rep. Jack Kemp of New York and the lesser-known GOP candidates are "working" the state.

A statewide survey by the Charlotte Observer in August showed Bush with a top-heavy lead, polling 47 percent, to 15 percent for Dole and 7 percent for Kemp.

But those figures may not reflect that the leaders of the Congressional Club are going with Kemp, Tom Ellis taking the role of national co-chairman and Executive Director R.E. Carter Wrenn as a senior political consultant.

That, however, does not include Helms and the belief is that Helms is not only the No. 1 leader of the Club but the personal hero of North Carolina and other serious conservatives.

Although Helms stayed out of last year's Senate Republican primary between Interim Sen. James Broyhill and Congressional Club candidate David Funderburk (Broyhill won), he is not averse to intervening in presidential primaries.

In 1976, Helms played a major role when Ronald Reagan beat President Ford in the North Carolina primary, getting 52 percent of the vote.

Four years later, Reagan, again with Helms' help, polled 68 percent to 22 percent for Bush on his way to the Republican presidential nomination.

An endorsement from Helms would be a big boost for any of the presidential candidates, which probably would extend beyond the boundaries of the state to conservatives around the country.

So far, Dole is not publicly concerned that Ellis and Wrenn and many other conservatives have skipped to Kemp in a state where the Senate Republican leader hopes to score — if for no other reason than his wife, Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole, is a native of North Carolina.

DICK WEST

Chance To Privatize Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The President's Commission on Privatization is different from The Privatization Council.

Earlier this month, President Reagan announced his intention of appointing such commissioners as David Linow of Illinois, Annelise Anderson of California and Walter Bish of West Virginia, among other household names.

Later this month, the council, which describes itself as a non-profit educational organization, will sponsor the "Second National Conference on Privatization Opportunities."

The council quotes a newspaper article to the effect that private businessmen are finding "a growing niche providing government services."

And some communities are looking to private industry to solve their prison problems. Even so, it seems to me the council may have overlooked one potentially profitable field.

I refer, of course, to national defense.

We already know from the Iran-Contra hearings some people are willing to part with their time and money when Congress cuts off funds for the rebel forces, as it did in Nicaragua.

Imagine what a private group could do should the House and Senate deny funds for additional research on the president's Strategic Defense Initiative, otherwise known as "star wars."

Talk about profits! If you thought the money rolled in after investigation of the arms-for-hostages deal with Iran, think what private industry could do if put in charge of SDI research.

And that is only the beginning. What a time privateers could have with the Persian Gulf operations, renaming foreign tankers and all!

The head of the National Security Agency recently recommended prosecution of news organizations that reveal certain intelligence secrets, complaining that his service had been beset by leaks.

The leaks presumably wouldn't stop with old military hands in charge of the NSA, the CIA and other federal bureaus. And I'm sure we could count on them to re-enlist if war broke out.

In fact, for that matter, why not privatize the entire Pentagon? That could be a golden opportunity indeed.

Secret Service Gears Up For Campaign

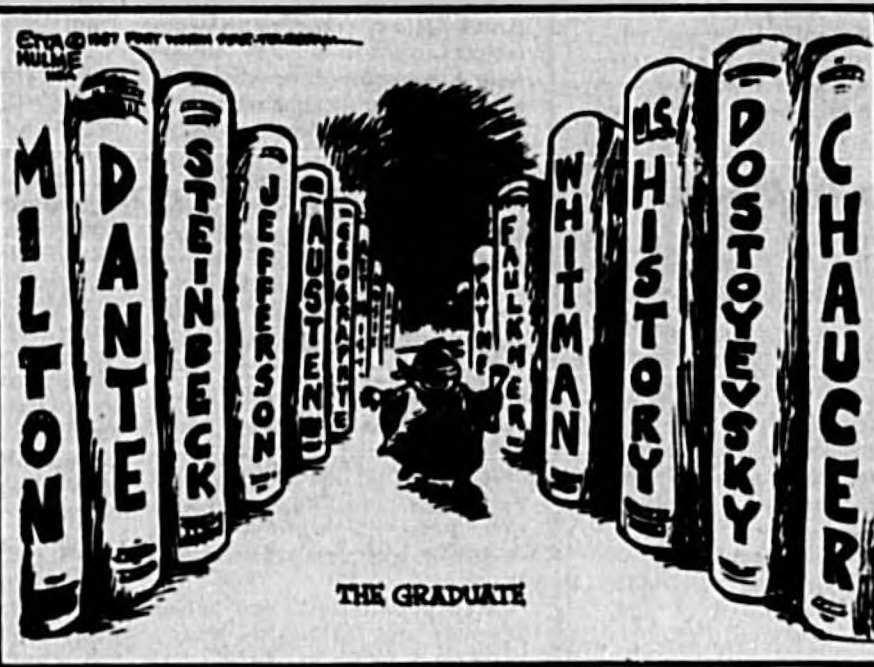

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — In special training camps, the U.S. Secret Service is preparing a small army of 1,500 agents to protect the biggest crop of presidential contenders in recent memory. And service officials are worried that even this impressive number of highly trained bodyguards may not be enough, according to agency sources.

With eight Democrats and six Republicans already planning to throw their hats into the ring, the Secret Service faces its biggest political protection assignment in history.

The reason for the large number of candidates is that this will be the first time since 1968 that an incumbent president isn't running. That was also the year when the assassination of Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., led President Lyndon Johnson (and then Congress) to order Secret Service protection for all "major candidates" for president.

That choice of words has given the resolutely apolitical Secret Service a judgmental role usually assumed by pundits and party

ROBERT WALTERS

Problems In Parks

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (NEA) — It's easier to find a parking space at a regional shopping mall on a Saturday afternoon than at the Logan Pass Visitor Center in remote Glacier National Park during the summer tourist season.

Visitors to the park's popular Avalanche Creek Campground are assigned tent sites so close to each other they can hear their neighbors whispering. That obviously doesn't do much to enhance the wilderness experience.

The discovery of oil and gas deposits in the region has produced pressure from petroleum companies to drill on three sides of the park — Arco and Chevron on the east, American Petrofina on the south and Cenex on the west.

On the north, not far across the Canadian border, a proposed open pit mine on Cabin Creek would produce 1.5 million tons of coal annually — and possibly contaminate the Flathead River drainage basin that also serves the park.

Like other national parks, Glacier is under increasing stress — from visitor loads it was not intended to handle, from development on its perimeter, and from a fierce political struggle at the National Park Service.

This year, 292 million people are expected to visit the 337 parks, monuments and other units administered by NPS. That figure is almost 4 percent higher than last year and represents the third consecutive substantial annual increase.

In a landmark 1980 report, NPS identified Glacier as the country's most threatened national park, but also cited dangers faced by Yellowstone, Yosemite, Everglades, Great Smoky Mountains and other major parks.

"Most of these great parks were at one time pristine areas surrounded and protected by vast wilderness regions," the NPS report noted. "With their surrounding buffer zones gradually disappearing, many of these parks are experiencing significant and widespread adverse effects associated with external encroachment."

In a report issued earlier this year, the General Accounting Office said NPS generally had failed to mitigate the threats it documented seven years ago. "Most problems remain," said the GAO analysis. "As long as the situation continues, there will be continued deterioration of park resources."

Within the Interior Department, NPS' parent organization, a major schism has developed over how to deal with those issues. On one side are Interior Secretary Donald Hodel and Assistant Secretary for Fish, Wildlife and Parks William Horn.

They generally view commercialization and industrialization as posing little danger to the parks. Indeed, they have encouraged entrepreneurs and have taken punitive action against NPS employees who don't share their views.

That led the National Parks and Conservation Association, a private group, to recently charge that senior Interior Department officials were waging a determined campaign to "harass, sabotage and politicize the park service."

The 1,583-square-mile park remains spectacularly beautiful — but to survive it must constantly cope with pressures from both within and without its boundaries.

Saving Heart Victims

By Paul A. Bashen

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Every year, about 600,000 Americans die of heart attacks, wildly irregular heartbeat and other cardiac crises, often because ambulances cannot reach them soon enough after their fatal seizures begin.

A new briefcase-sized device invented by a doctor at Deborah Heart and Lung Center in Browns Mills, N.J. may soon be bringing some of them life-saving help in the time it takes to make a telephone call.

The device, now awaiting approval from the federal Food and Drug Administration, is called the Medphone Telephone Defibrillator.

It is similar to the defibrillators regularly used by doctors to provide electric jolts to the chests of heart attack victims as a way of "jump starting" their failed hearts.

But the telephone defibrillator is a portable version that could be stored at the homes of high-risk patients, or at public places such as restaurants and movie theatres, to give victims nearly instant access to trained doctors.

"It's really like as good as having the doctor there, but it's about 95 percent as good," said health device, a patient who suffers a heart attack or an irregular heartbeat would plug the unit into any available telephone jack or have a friend or a relative do it. The receiving station would then be automatically dialed and reached within 20 seconds.

The doctor at the receiving station would call up the patient's medical records and other vital information on a computer screen, while sending an ambulance to the scene.

The victim or his companion, talking to the doctor through a speaker on the device, would then attach adhesive electrode pads to his chest which would both provide the doctor with an electrocardiogram reading as well as deliver any necessary life-saving jolts when the doctor gives the order.

"You're bringing the doctor into the scene very quickly," said Gessman's colleague at Deborah, Dr. Melvin C. White. "You can shave tens of minutes off accessibility" now available by ambulance alone.

"There are approximately 600,000 sudden deaths a year related to heart conditions, and theoretically most people could be saved by it (the device)," White said.

Senators Question Bork's Stance On Questions of Morals, Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senators have wasted little time in reaching the heart of Robert Bork's politically charged confirmation hearings, grilling the Supreme Court nominee on issues such as abortion, race and the right to privacy.

In what has shaped up as the biggest battle in years over a prospective member of the nation's highest court, Bork already has been called to defend his 25-year record as an arch-conservative legal scholar and federal judge.

The 60-year-old jurist was summoned today for a second round of testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee, where his opponents challenged him ferociously in an opening session that drew a large crowd and live television.

Today Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, was expected to question Bork's role as President Nixon's solicitor general who fired Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox in the 1973 "Saturday Night Massacre."

Summit Building Blocks Stacked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top-level U.S.-Soviet arms control talks, entering a second round today, have moved into a more intensive phase with negotiators putting together what could be basic building blocks for a superpower summit.

Amid a ceremonial opening day that included a treaty signing at the White House and a private dinner cruise on the Potomac River, Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze agreed to set up separate groups of experts before today's full slate of plenary sessions.

The working group on arms control issues promptly met into the night Tuesday, planning to report to Shultz and Shevardnadze before the pair sat down again this morning.

Both nations reported progress in the opening day of discussions, with Shultz describing an initial morning session as "thorough and constructive" and Shevardnadze telling reporters late in the day he saw "greater understanding" toward an arms control agreement seen as the key to another superpower summit.

Pope, Liberal Bishops To Meet

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pope John Paul II returned to the problem of his American "cafeteria Catholics" today in a critical meeting scheduled with the 300 bishops of the United States.

The closed meeting is the result of years of stress between John Paul's effort to restore the orthodoxy and the U.S. church's failure to control its theologians, priests, nuns and even its laity.

It is probably the most important ecclesiastical event of the pope's 10-day, nine-city tour of the United States. Four American bishops — all liberals — will speak to the pope on four of the most important issues between Rome and America.

On the agenda are Cardinal Joseph Bernardin of Chicago, who will discuss the elements of the relationship between Rome and national bishops' conferences; Archbishop John Quinn of San Francisco on moral teachings; Archbishop Rembert Weakland of Milwaukee on the role of women in the church and Archbishop Daniel Pilarczyk of Cincinnati on the decline of the American priesthood.

UAW-Ford Workers Seek Pact

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. and United Auto Workers union representatives bargained today toward a new national labor pact for 104,000 hourly workers amid indications a settlement would be reached "very soon."

Workers were on assembly lines today as the UAW and Ford bargainers met into the early morning under an extended contract in hopes of forging a three-year pact for hourly workers in 20 states.

Shortly before the Monday midnight strike deadline imposed by the union, UAW President Owen Bieber announced the day-to-day extension covering employees in 85 plants.

The negotiators had no official statement Tuesday, but a Ford spokesman said bargainers were involved in "lengthy and intense deliberations and would most likely bargain through the night."

Sanford Rezoning: 3 Yesses; 3 Noes

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford City Commissioners, following the recommendations of the city's Planning and Zoning Board, approved three rezoning requests and denied three others at Monday's regular meeting.

The commissioners voted 5-0 to deny a request for rezoning of property lying at the Northeast corner of the intersection of Magnolia Avenue and East 28th Place and a portion of the property lying at the southeast corner of the intersection of Magnolia Avenue and East 28th Place from a single family residential district to a multi-family residential dwelling district. The petitioners were James H. Benton and Maurice Lofsted.

In a memo to City Clerk H. N. Tamm, the board said it felt there was no reason to rezone and change the Comprehensive Land Use Plan when the same end could be accommodated with a conditional use request.

Commissioner A. A. McClanahan said he thought the petitioners would come back before the commission to request conditional use and he said he was surprised they had not done so.

Commissioners unanimously voted to deny the request to rezone from agricultural to multi-family residential dwelling property at the southwest corner of the intersection of Country Club Road and Bevier Road extended southerly and lying north of West 25th Street (C.R. 48A). Eliezer Choc submitted the request.

Bob Seigler, representing the owner, told the planning and zoning board their intentions were to get the residential portion of this property rezoned now and in the future decide what to do with the rest of this property. The objections of the neighbors were to traffic hazards and problems. Neighbors also said they did not want to see single-family homes encroached upon by multi-family homes. Taking these objections into account, the planning and zoning board recommended a denial of the request.

By a vote of 5-0, commissioners approved rezoning property lying between Airport Boulevard and Bevier Road and lying between West Third Street and Jewett Lane from a single family residential dwelling district to a restricted industrial district.

Patrick Talley, 707 Bevier Road, and Edwin Kennedy, 2820 Jewett Lane, were both present to protest the rezoning request.

Talley told the commission he was opposed to the rezoning because he was afraid it would lower property values and worsen the drainage problems in the area.

Kennedy said he didn't want an industrial area at his back door. The land is owned by Bryan Seigler and approval of the request was recommended by the zoning and planning board.

City commissioners voted 5-0 in favor of rezoning property lying west of and abutting Airport Boulevard and lying between West Fifth Street and Jewett Lane from a single family residential district to restricted industrial district. Owned by Marion D. Conway and James W. Marler, the rezoning was recommended because it was consistent with other industrial zoning in the area and complied with the Future Land Use Plan.

By a vote of 5-0, commissioners approved a request to rezone property lying between State Road 600 (Highway 17-92 and County Road 427) from an agricultural district to a general commercial district and property between County Home Road and Collins Drive from single family residential district to an agricultural district. The property is owned by Arthur and Phyllis Grindle and will be used for retail commercial and office purposes. The request was recommended by the zoning and planning board.

The rezoning of property lying at the southeast corner of the intersection of Sanford Avenue and East 29th Street from a single family residential dwelling to a multiple-family residential dwelling district was rejected by the city commissioners in a 5-0 vote. The rezoning request of the property, which is owned by Ilone Westmeyer, was not recommended by the zoning and planning board because it was felt that approval of the request would lead to spot zoning in that area and would not be in the best interest of the city.

Governor Signs Death Warrants

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Martinez Tuesday signed death warrants for three convicted murderers, including a Pinellas County man who boasted he had taken a 35-pound concrete block and "smashed the victim's head to mush."

Martinez signed warrants for Milo Rose, Anthony Bertolotti and Bobby Marion Francis. Department of corrections officials scheduled the three executions for 7 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 16.

The warrants are the first signed for each of the men.

Also Tuesday, Capital Collateral Representative Larry Spalding said he remains confident condemned killers Omar Blanco and James Armando Card will each be granted a stay of execution. The two men are scheduled to die in Florida's electric chair on Thursday.

Spalding has already asked the federal district court in Miami to grant a stay to Blanco. He said he had been informally notified the Florida Supreme Court will not give a stay to Card, and that he would file an appeal for Card at the federal court in Tallahassee as soon as the Supreme Court issues a formal ruling.

Card was sentenced to death for the June 1981 murder of a Western Union office owner Janis Franklin in Panama City. Blanco was convicted for the 1982 shooting of Dade County resident John Ryan.

Spalding is director of the state-funded agency that handles appeals for indigent death row inmates.

According to court records, Rose killed Robert Richardson in October 1982. Rose and Richardson, the son of Rose's live-in lover, had been drinking in a bar and got into a fight.

When police broke up the fight, the two left the bar together. Richardson, who had a blood-alcohol content almost double the legal limit, fell and either could not or would not get up, despite Rose's exhortations.

Rose got a 35-pound concrete block from a nearby vacant lot and repeatedly hurled it down on Richardson's head. He then hitchhiked a ride with some friends, and told them he "had smashed the victim's head to mush and that if he was not dead, he was a vegetable."

Bertolotti was sentenced to death for the September 1983 murder of Orange County resident Carol Ward. Bertolotti asked Ward if he could use her telephone and once inside her house produced a knife and robbed her. When Ward asked Bertolotti to put the knife down, he attacked her.

Ward was stabbed 14 times, and received numerous other wounds trying to defend herself. At some point, Bertolotti also stripped Ward and had sexual intercourse with her.

Francis was convicted for the 1975 murder of Titus Walters in Key West. According to court records, Francis and co-defendant Willie Orr went after Walters, a police informer who had helped convict Francis for dealing heroin.

ANTENNAS AND POWER LINES CAN BE A DEADLY MIX.

Ordinarily, power lines are quite harmless. But when you're putting up TV or CB antennas, keep them well away from power lines. Because if an antenna touches a power line, the combination could be deadly.

Always look up. Whether you're flying kites, picking fruit or pruning trees, or doing any activity that puts you in possible contact with overhead lines. Don't be a victim of your own carelessness.

'Celebration Of Citizenship' Theme At Lyman High

Students at Lyman High School, Longwood, will participate in a "Celebration of Citizenship" during a special assembly on today at 12:30 p.m. The "town meeting" program is a part of the school's observance of Constitution Week.

County Commissioner Sandra Glenn will be the guest speaker during the program, which will also feature a Longwood City Commissioner (to be announced) making a presentation of a copy of the Constitution to Bill Robinson, LHS student body president.

Also included in the program will be a live and drum presentation by the LHS band and U.S. Army representatives participating in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Greenwood Lakes Lofts Balloons

Greenwood Lakes Middle School, Lake Mary, will hold three programs in honor of the bicentennial of the Constitutions today, beginning at 1:50 p.m. There will be separate programs for each of the school's three grades.

The programs will culminate with the school's 1,300 students releasing helium filled balloons into the air. The balloons will contain letters explaining the bicentennial and the name and address of the student that released it.

Prizes are being offered to the student who receives the first response to the message in the balloons and the student with the balloon that travels the longest distance from the school. The prizes are being provided by the PTA and school advisory committee contributions to the school spirit fund.

Hastings Takes Impeachment Fight To Court

From Staff and Wire Reports
Keeping good on his promise to fight impeachment, U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings, an Altamonte Springs native, emerged in Washington with a partial victory in the latest round of a lengthy legal battle to clear his name and to derail impeachment proceedings against him.

Four years after a jury acquitted him of bribery, a federal appeals court Tuesday ordered a lower court to reconsider arguments that Hastings' due process rights were violated in a probe of his conduct as Florida's first black federal judge.

Hastings has told the Herald emphatically that he will not be impeached and that he will fight every impeachment effort until the issue is dropped.

He received a setback recently however, when the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upheld the right of a judicial panel that told Congress there are grounds for impeaching him from his lifetime post, an act Hastings says robs him of due process, the right to judicial review.

"We're disappointed in part, gratified in part," said Hastings' lawyer, Terence Anderson, after the verdict was announced.

Hastings was acquitted in February 1983 of charges he solicited a $150,000 bribe from a Washington lawyer to reduce the sentences of two racketeers, but six weeks later two fellow judges questioned his conduct during the trial.

Hastings first questioned the constitutionality of the 1980 judicial ethics law under which he was subsequently investigated in an appeal two years ago, but the same federal court in Washington found the challenge premature because the misconduct probe by his peers had not been completed.

When the U.S. Judicial Conference, a panel of colleagues led by the chief justice, concluded March 17 that impeachment might be warranted, Hastings renewed his constitutional challenge.

The misconduct probe focused on allegations by fellow judges that Hastings obstructed justice and lied under oath during his 1983 bribery trial. He argued that the ethics law violates the separation of government powers principle by giving judges legislative and executive powers and that it compromises their independence in cases where impeachment is considered.

The appeals court rejected Hastings' argument, noting the law does not compel the Judicial Conference to tell the House there are grounds for impeachment but merely makes that one of the panel's options.

DOT: Needs 100 Percent Spending Increase

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Martinez already is in a political controversy over taxes, but the Department of Transportation may be about to get him into another one.

DOT Secretary Kaye Henderson will say in a "Strategic Plan" to be released next month Florida needs another $5 billion for transportation over the next five years — almost a 100 percent increase over what it is spending now — and several times that over the upcoming decade.

He will offer a variety of suggestions on how the Legislature can raise the money, including a gasoline tax increase, an increase in license tag fees, greater use of tolls to finance newly-built highways, and recapture of $120 million a year in gas tax, aviation fuel tax and license tag money now going to public schools and other state programs.

"We're going to come up in a matter of days and say we need another $5 billion over five years. Folks, where can we get the money?" Henderson asked the House's Select Committee on Future Transportation Funding this week.

He told UPI in an interview the most practical way to raise such a large amount of money is through "a blend" of gas tax increases and some of the other options.

"We need every financial tool in our kit," he said.

While Henderson said he is unwilling "to put words in the governor's mouth," he expects Martinez to support the transportation funding increases, even though the administration is in big political trouble now for backing the consumer services tax.

"He is aware of the needs," the secretary said of his boss.

Martinez refused to support any transportation tax increases during the 1987 legislative session. He stuck by a pledge he made when appointing Henderson as DOT chief in January to make the giant roads agency a better manager of its existing resources before seeking additional ones.

"We're at that point," Henderson says.

DOT can handle almost twice the design and contracting work it could when the Martinez administration came into office nine months ago. It is whittling down an embarrassing backlog of money from a transportation taxes package enacted by legislators five years ago. The backlog peaked at $650 million last year. All of the money will be spent on road contracts by 1993.

Henderson calls the Strategic Plan, which will identify Florida's transportation needs over the next 20 years, "the most important document ever issued by DOT."

Lawyers Hound Survivors

BRONSON (UPI) — The Florida Bar is outraged at the conduct of "bloodsucker" lawyers harassing the families of those killed and injured in last month's crash of a Levy County school bus carrying handicapped children.

"This is a hellacious situation. Those people have been plagued ... by having lawyers call them up and harassing them while they try to bury their dead," said Robert Crumpkin, a lawyer in nearby Gainesville and member of the Bar board.

Five children and bus driver Edith Asbell, 59, died Aug. 28 when a flatbed truck driven by Scott Allen, 26, of Tampa allegedly ran a stop sign at a rural highway intersection and rammed the bus. Sixteen others were injured.

No charges have been filed against Allen, but the accident is under investigation by state prosecutors and the Florida Highway Patrol.

Asbell's daughter-in-law said she received a telephone call from a Miami lawyer just hours after the accident.

"He said he had just won a $3 million case and could help me," Sharon Asbell said. "He said, 'I'm not an ambulance chaser.' I said, 'Well what are you?' and hung up."

County school Superintendent Will Irby said nearly all the families have been contacted by lawyers, some of them appearing at hospitals or the family homes.

"The bloodsuckers," said James Hudson, whose 14-year-old son, Donald, died in the crash.

Florida lawyers have been allowed to advertise in broadcast and print for years and this year were given the option of mailing advertisements. But they are not allowed to speak directly to potential clients about their services.

"Nobody wants to clean up this kind of behavior more than the Florida Bar," said organization spokesman Jerry Butterfield, adding offenders could be disbarred.

Bar President Ray Ferrero Jr., in an open letter to the Levy County victims' families, said he is embarrassed and angered by the tactics of lawyers attempting to bolster their practices.

Parents Of AIDS Brothers Seek School In Sarasota

SARASOTA (UPI) — The parents of three hemophiliac sons who test positive for the AIDS virus and whose court-ordered admission to classes in neighboring DeSoto county resulted in turmoil, have asked the boys be admitted to school in Sarasota County.

Judith Kavanaugh, attorney for Clifford and Louise Ray, said the family will relocate in Sarasota County and School Superintendent Charles W. Fowler said the boys will be admitted to classes in whichever district they reside.

"It falls on the issue of housing," Fowler said Tuesday. "But I would hope by next week we'll have the kids ready to go."

The boys — Richard, 10, Robert, 9, and Randy, 8 — were admitted to classes in Arcadia when school opened but after one week which was climaxed by a fire that destroyed their home, they were taken out of school by the parents.

The cause of the fire is under investigation and officials have hinted at arson, but no findings have been reported.

DeSoto 'Legacy' May Be Bought

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida moved closer to acquiring "a legacy of vision, courage and cruelty" with the Trust for Public Land's purchase of Hernando de Soto's historic 1539 campsite, Trust President Martin Rosen says.

The 4.8 acre de Soto site, located barely a half-mile from the Capitol, was sold by the Tallahassee Development Corporation to the non-profit Trust at a Tuesday ceremony. The Trust plans to hold the land in reserve until it is purchased under the state's Conservation and Recreational Land program.

The de Soto site was discovered by construction workers in March, and later confirmed by state archaeologists as the site of both de Soto's winter campground and an abandoned Apalachee Indian village. Tallahassee Development Corporation postponed construction of an office building for months to allow excavation, and then agreed to sell most of the land to the Trust.

Rosen announced a $1,575,000 fundraising campaign to pay for the purchase and continued excavation. About half of that money has already been obtained, including a $600,000 loan from the Metropolitan Life Foundation.

Martinez Ousts Commissioner

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Walton County Commissioner Derward Owens, charged with stabbing another Walton man at a barbecue last week, has been suspended by Gov. Bob Martinez.

Owens, 49, a three-term commissioner, faces an aggravated battery charge for a Sept. 6 stabbing that resulted in injuries to John Frank Ward, 32, of DeFuniak Springs.

"The charge against Mr. Owens is quite serious," Martinez said Tuesday in announcing the suspension. "The people of Walton County must have confidence in the judgment of their county commissioners, and that confidence has been shaken."

Iran, Iraq Blame Each Other, Stalling U.N. Peace Initiative

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar's Persian Gulf peace initiative apparently stalled over bitter recriminations in Tehran and Baghdad over who started the 7-year-old Iran-Iraq war.

Perez de Cuellar left Baghdad Tuesday after a final round of talks aimed at arranging an end to hostilities under U.N. Resolution 598, calling for a cease-fire, withdrawal to international boundaries and peace talks.

During a stopover in Paris, the secretary-general said he could not discuss details of his mission until today, when he was to address the Security Council in New York.

"I received a very clear response and I will report on it tomorrow, Wednesday, to the Security Council," he said. "I do not want to give details before informing the Security Council."

Europe 'No. 1' With Space Launch

KOUROU, French Guiana (UPI) — Europe has soared past the United States to the forefront of the billion-dollar commercial space launch industry with the successful liftoff of an Ariane III rocket carrying two telecommunications satellites, Arianespace president Frederic d'Allest said.

The 147-foot-high rocket blasted off from the Guiana Space Center in northeastern South America at 8:45 p.m. EDT Tuesday night carrying a $60 million Australian telecommunications satellite and a $50 million European satellite.

"After the United States' withdrawal from the communication service, we are now No. 1 in the business of launching commercial satellites," d'Allest said at a noisy celebration after the launch. "It will take time for them to catch up. They will be tough competition to be sure."

The Ariane III launch was the first for the 11-nation European consortium since May 31, 1986, when the failure of a third-stage ignition system forced controllers to use a radio command shortly after liftoff to destroy an Ariane rocket and its $55 million satellite payload.

Israel Attacks Guerilla Band

HASBAYA, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli troops supported by tanks and helicopter gunships attacked a band of guerrillas north of Israel's self-declared security zone, incurring the highest number of casualties since withdrawing from Lebanon in 1985, police and defense officials said today.

The Israeli military said three Israeli soldiers were killed and four were wounded in the clash with pro-Syrian Lebanese and Palestinian guerrillas. The guerrillas gave no immediate accounting of their casualties, but one wounded guerrilla said the fate of 14 of his comrades was unknown.

The Israeli military said troops patrolling its 3- to 9-mile security zone inside Lebanon came across a guerrilla force attempting to infiltrate the zone in order to stage an attack inside Israel.

Israel Radio reported a small force discovered the guerrillas and called in reinforcements to crush the terrorist unit. Lebanese police sources and the state-run Israel Radio said helicopter gunships aided the ground forces, using flares to light up the area during the battles shortly before dawn.

Challenge Opens U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. General Assembly began its 42nd session as member states faced an agenda dominated by U.S.-Soviet relations, conflict in the Persian Gulf and the mounting debt of poor nations.

County Election Correction

The primary election for county commission candidates is scheduled for Sept. 6, 1988, to choose Democratic and Republican candidates for the general election.

A Sept. 11 Herald story incorrectly reported the primary would be March 8. So far only one seat, in District 5, has competition in the primary. Jennifer C. Kelley

Emmitt Breathes Life Into Gators' Attack

By Mike Dame
Special to the Herald

GAINESVILLE — The Florida Gators' 52-0 shellacking of Tulsa on Saturday afternoon was more than just a home-opening victory.

It was a rebirth. The man behind the rebirth was freshman running back sensation Emmitt Smith.

With a sizzling 68-yard touchdown run down the left sideline in the second quarter, Smith brought 72,173 fans screaming to their feet. He also gave the Gators' lackluster running attack renewed hope. Smith finished with 109 yards in 10 attempts.

"I think the run by Emmitt Smith set the tone for the afternoon," Florida coach Galen Hall said. "I think that excited everyone."

The run probably excited Heisman Trophy-seeking quarterback Kerwin Bell even more. "We needed something big to happen just to show that we can be explosive, like the '85 team."

In '85, Florida built a 9-1-1 season on the sturdy legs of All-Americans Neal Anderson and John L. Williams. Both were No. 1 draft choices: Anderson to the Chicago Bears and Williams to Seattle Seahawks. Anderson, Florida's all-time leading rusher with 3,234, rushed for 1,034 yards. Williams, third all-time with 2,409 yards, rambled for 659. Anderson had 14, 100-plus games and Williams topped 100 yards eight times.

Without those two athletes, Florida's running game was nearly nonexistent in 1986, contributing heavily to a mediocre 6-5 season. The Gators' running game was still in the doldrums against Miami in the season opener this year as Hall tried Cedric Smith (28 yards), Emmitt Smith (15 yards), Anthony Williams (12 yards), Octavius Gould (two yards) and Wayne Williams (zero).

Florida totaled 42 yards rushing against Miami, losing 31-4.

And for a while Saturday, it looks as if the pattern would continue.

"We were not pleased with the way we started out the game," Hall said about a measly field goal to show for one quarter and one-half. "We did not take advantage of the movement we got on the offensive side of the football.

"We fumbled down close, had an interception and a fumble on the punt return."

At the 8:19 mark of the second quarter, however, Smith broke free for his 68-yard TD jaunt and the Gators were reborn. "You can't describe that," Smith said of his first college TD. "I was in shock when I noticed I was in the secondary so quick."

"It felt great, as long as I didn't get caught. But if I had gotten caught, I would have felt real bad," Smith laughed.

Smith was the nation's most-recognized prep of '86. The Pensacola Escambia standout was named Prep Player of the Year by Parade Magazine and Offensive Player of the Year by USA Today. He finished with 8,804 yards and 106 TDs. Both rank third in prep history.

Smith's success also allowed Bell to effectively put together a passing attack, something which was lacking against Miami. Bell, who completed 11 of 14 passes for 148 yards, tossed his first TD of the season — an 11-yarder to tight end Walter Odom — early in the second half.

Backup quarterback Pepe Lescano also hurled a touchdown pass to a tight end in the third quarter — a 38-yarder to Mark McGriff who dragged a defensive back the final 10 yards for the score.

"These guys (Odom, McGriff) can catch the football and they can run with it after they catch it," Bell said. "I think we'll use them more as we go on during the season."

Hall feels that the progress of both running and passing games against Tulsa will give his team the confidence it needs for a tough upcoming road schedule. "I think we held our poise well," he said. "I'm very pleased with the progress of our running game (and Walter Odom's play right now)."

LANO UPDATE — Bill Lang, a redshirt junior from Lake Howell High, saw a good deal of playing time as much of the first string defense was replaced in the fourth quarter. Lang was credited with one tackle as a member of the punting team and another at the strong safety position. He also broke up a pass.

The Casselberry resident also signaled a fair catch on a punt return. Lang dropped the ball but the official ruled the coverage team was too close and flagged it for interference.

Godsend For Chuck — But Donations Still Very Important

Chuck Suggs, whose pitch to live with defective organs has been a 14-year struggle, received some good news Tuesday.

Children's Organ Transplant Association, a Bloomington, Ind. group which assists those in need of organ transplants, has offered to foot the bill for Chuck's heart-lung transplant. The operation, which must be performed by a London doctor who specializes in Chuck's problem area, costs $60,000.

Chuck has a 70 percent chance of recovery. The helping hand couldn't come at a more opportune time for Chuck, the son of Seminole Pony Baseball President Ed Suggs. An all-star first baseman as a Mustang and Bronco, Chuck's condition had worsened considerably in the past year, relegating him to a motorized wheelchair.

Doctors said that unless a transplant could be arranged — and soon — Chuck would die. Although the Indiana group was a godsend, the Suggs' family still desperately needs donations. Travel expenses to England will "cost at least $100,000," Ed, who hopes to leave next week, said today.

"And we may have to stay over there two or three months," he continued. "I was told there are two people ahead of Chuck on the list but we still have to find the right blood type (B positive). We could have the operation in a very short time or it could be months."

Lake Mary's Suggs, a family which is used to giving, is on the receiving end now. Sure, there was a sign of relief when the Indiana group volunteered to pay for the bill, but the family is by no means out of woods financially.

Ed said he has already paid over $100,000 for Chuck's recovery. Even though the Children's Organ Transplant Association is covering the operation, Suggs said "it is more like a loan."

He said the company is just two years old. "After it donates to an operation, the fundraisers in the area raise to money to replenish what has been used," Ed said. "So, it is important that people know, more money is still necessary."

Although Chuck has battled his problem head to head over the years, his condition took a turn for the worse two years ago. The major problem arose when no doctor in the United States would operate on Chuck due to surgery the courageous Lakeview Middle School eighth-grader had when he was 13 months old.

After the heart surgery, Chuck's chest became lined with extra blood vessels as he recovered. During a transplant operation, those blood vessels will bleed and no doctor in the U.S. has a method to stop the bleeding, which eventually would cause Chuck to bleed to death.

Dr. Magdi Yacoub, a London transplant specialist, has developed a drug which contains the bleeding during the operation. Ed said another doctor who had been treating Chuck, Thomas Carson, finally was able to contact Yacoub and inform him of Chuck's condition.

Yacoub agreed to the operation, if the Suggs could raise the $60,000 in advance. The Indiana group then agreed to pay for the operation.

"Basically, it's pretty good news," Ed said. "The money upfront is there, but we don't have a whole lot of funny in the fund. It will cost $300 a day for Chuck."

"The bills will be tremendous over there. Chuck is ready. He got out of (Florida South) hospital Sunday, and went back to Lakeview. He carries an oxygen tank at school and they've done a good job of taking care of him. Chuck's got a super attitude. That's a lot of it."

Suggs said the family has been overwhelmed by the support.

"The money situation and prayers and support of people has been tremendous," he said. "We have received a lot of letters with people praying for him. I really believe that makes a world of difference."

"But we just have to raise the money to go on. We need to get him on a medical flight. There are just so many things left to do that need money. We're hanging in there, though."

With a lot of help from friends, Donations can be made to Chuck Suggs Fund, Sun Bank, P.O. Box 262, Lake Mary, FL, 32746.

Farce To Force: Improving Lady Hawks Dust Off Pats

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — In the span of just two weeks, the Lake Howell volleyball team has gone from a farce to a force.

The Lady Hawks, a team loaded with talent and experience, were inconsistent at best in consecutive losses to Oak Ridge and Evans. Lake Howell looked better but still was off and on in victories over Seminole and Orlando Dr. Phillips.

Tuesday night, however, everyone who stepped onto the court for Lake Howell performed superbly as the Lady Hawks outgunned Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots, 15-12, 15-10 in a big Seminole Athletic Conference showdown before 101 fans at Lake Brantley High.

"We really came together tonight," Lake Howell senior Stormi Littrell, who served the deciding points in both games, said. "Communication is the biggest difference. We're communicating a lot better now than we did in those losses."

Lake Howell improved to 3-2 overall with its third win in a row and the Lady Hawks are currently tied for first place with DeLand, both 2-0, in the SAC. Lake Howell plays a non-conference game tonight at 6 against Merritt Island at Lake Mary High.

"This is without a doubt the best we've played so far," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "We were especially good in crucial situations tonight."

Lake Brantley, 3-2 overall, now stands at 1-1 in the league. The Lady Patriots are at DeLand Thursday.

"Lake Howell did a real good job tonight," Lake Brantley coach Stephanie Gance said. "We weren't moving like we should have been and we missed some big serves that we don't normally miss. We looked good in spurts but didn't play to our full potential."

Lake Brantley did get off to a good start Tuesday as Marianne Rodriguez served the first four points of the match, the fourth an ace. Lake Howell got two points back on Tammy Lewis' serve and took the lead when Littrell served three points. Carey Manuel's spike and Susan Hayden's block highlighted the rally.

Barb Billmyer came back with some solid serving for Brantley as it took an 8-5 lead but Lake Howell regained the lead behind the serving of Pam Jones. The lead went back and forth until, with Brantley holding a 12-11 lead, Littrell came on to serve four points to give Lake Howell the game.

Lake Howell kept the momentum going in the second game as it built a 7-3 lead behind the setting of Lewis and the net play of Hayden and Manuel. Lake Brantley, led by the all-around play of Wendy Vickery and Pam Wittig's hitting, came back within 8-7 but Hayden put down a rousing spike to stop the Brantley rally.

"I felt more confident tonight," Hayden said. "Lake Brantley has always been a rival so we were psyched up and that made us play better. I think we've got it going now and we'll be ready for everything from here on out."

Football

said Dallas Cowboys' President Tex Schramm, a member of the Management Council's executive committee. "It just shows they are not interested in trying to negotiate. For some reason they don't want to negotiate and don't want to try and make a deal. It is just a restatement of what they have said before and in some ways it is more unacceptable than their original proposal."

Schramm denied the owners were

"Quite the contrary," he said. "We want to talk. We would like to have something to talk about."

With a strike deadline less than a week away, Gene Upshaw, executive director of the NFL Players Association, handed the six-page offer to negotiators for the owners of the league's 28 teams. The document was the union's response to the rejected management proposal of Sept. 7.

Upshaw said: "We presented to them a counter-proposal we feel is a significant movement and a great step forward in the areas that we feel could bring a fair and fast conclusion to this collective bargaining process."

Jack Donlan, the executive director of the Management Council, left the room after receiving the plan and no date for the resumption of talks was scheduled. The Management Council said it would comment on the union offer at a news conference set for today in New York.

"I'm not going to say anything because anything I say will be the wrong thing," Donlan said through a spokesman.

DeLand Adds To Home Woes Of Lady 'Noles

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The word homesick is taking on a new meaning for the Seminole High volleyball team. Instead of yearning for the home court advantage, it seems the Lady Seminoles come unglued whenever they take to the floor of Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

"We have a real problem when it comes to playing at home," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "It's like the girls are scared to death every time they play on their own home floor. We played pretty well last week at Lake Howell but we came back home and couldn't do much of anything right."

Tuesday night, the Lady Seminoles dropped a 15-8, 15-9 decision to DeLand's Lady Bulldogs in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Seminole High. Seminole fell to 0-3 overall and 0-3 in the league while DeLand improved to 3-0 overall and 2-0 in the SAC.

Seminole will now try to regroup on the road as its next seven matches are away. The Lady Tribe's next match is Thursday night at Lyman. DeLand hosts Lake Brantley Thursday.

"If it's true that we can't play at home than we should really be set now," Corso said. "Because our next seven games are away. Hopefully, by then, we'll be over our problem with home games."

Seminole jumped out to a 6-2 lead in the first game Tuesday but DeLand scored the next 10 points for a 12-6 lead. Adrian Hillsman then served Seminole within 12-9 before DeLand served out the game. The Lady Bulldogs kept the momentum going into the second game in claiming the sweep.

Corso said junior Liz Long converted on five of eight spike opportunities to lead the offense while Hillsman and Kim Walsh both played aggressive all-around matches.

"We had a couple of players who did well but the others were not being aggressive," Corso said. "We can practice and put it together, we can scrimmage against some of our old players and put it together, but we can't carry it over into a match."

Seminole's junior varsity also fell to 0-3 Tuesday as it was swept by DeLand.

LAKE MARY BOPL LAMN

At Lyman High, Lake Mary solved its biggest problem area Tuesday night as the Lady Rams missed only three serves in two games in a 15-6, 15-9 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over Lyman's Lady Greyhounds.

Lake Mary, 1-2 overall and 1-1 in the SAC, has a non-conference match tonight at 7 at home against Merritt Island. Merritt Island and Lake Howell will also meet at Lake Mary tonight at 6. Lyman, 0-3 overall and 0-2 in the league, hosts Seminole Thursday night.

"The biggest highlight of the night for me was we didn't miss any serves in the first game," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "And we missed only three in the second game. That was a real nice thing to see since we had been averaging 20 missed serves a match."

Lora Splatt and Valerie Smith served up the most points for the Lady Rams while Henry said Gina Dawson had a good night on the front row with Splatt doing a good job setting.

"We looked very smooth and relaxed in the first game," Henry said. "But we didn't hold our intensity that well the second game. We have to be able to stay intense for the entire match if we're going to play with teams like Lake Howell and Merritt Island."

Lake Mary's junior varsity, despite missing its top player, improved to 2-0 for the season with a 15-6, 15-4 victory over Lyman. Sophomore Crissie Snow, the JV catalyst, was moved up to varsity this week.

Schramm: New Proposal More Acceptable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top NFL management official is branding the Players Association's new contract proposal "more unacceptable" than the union's earlier offer, not the important concession the union is touting.

The union Tuesday presented the NFL Management Council, the league's bargaining arm, with a plan that would limit unrestricted free agency to players with at least four years experience and impose stiff fines on teams that cut or trade union representatives.

"The document speaks for itself," said Dallas Cowboys' President Tex Schramm, a member of the Management Council's executive committee. "It just shows they are not interested in trying to negotiate. For some reason they don't want to negotiate and don't want to try and make a deal. It is just a restatement of what they have said before and in some ways it is more unacceptable than their original proposal."

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which fell 46.46 Tuesday, was down 17.46 to 2549.12 shortly after the market opened.

Losers led gainers 752-282 among the 1,451 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 38,497,000 shares.

Stocks posted widespread losses in slow trading Tuesday, losing ground in the face of a weak dollar and dropping bond prices.

Hildegard Zagoraki, analyst at Prudential-Bache Securities Inc., said the deterioration "could continue for a couple of days before the market. In a successful test of its lows, bounces and moves higher."

If the Dow continues to slide even after it falls to 2500, "we'll have to take another look around," Zagoraki said. "We really haven't considered that yet."

Michael Metz, portfolio strategist at Oppenheimer & Co., was less sanguine.

"We've reached a point where good news is bad news," said Metz. Metz said a strong economy will lead to higher bond yields, making bonds an "irresistible" investment that will attract money that otherwise might go into the stock market.

Metz said that the near unanimity of opinion that the Dow will go retreat to 2500 before it advances again has discouraged buying.

Dollar Drifts Lower; Gold Price Mixed

By United Press International

The dollar drifted lower in lackluster trading on major world currency markets today. Gold was mixed.

In the Far East, the dollar eased against the Japanese yen, closing at 143.80 yen, down 0.10 from Monday's close of 143.90 yen.

The Tokyo market was closed Tuesday for the national Respect for the Aged holiday.

Japanese Finance Minister Kiichi Miyazawa attributed the stable currency market to policy coordination efforts by major Western nations.

Currency traders noted they were hesitant to take large positions in the absence of fresh incentives and predicted the money markets would remain calm, until they see the outcome of a series of monetary conferences in New York later this month.

In European trading, the dollar began the day in Frankfurt at 1.8115 German marks, down from Tuesday's close of 1.8176.

In Zurich, the dollar opened at 1.5015 Swiss francs, down slightly from 1.5025, and in Paris at 8.0505 French francs, down from 8.066.

In early New York trading, the dollar was mixed against key foreign currencies in light trading.

the county's time frame (for improving roads that will affect Sanford) is too far off already and needs to be accelerated.

"We can't do this by blocking the county's ordinance [with an extension of the moratorium]," Faison said.

Faison said the county has targeted road improvements using the impact fees that will benefit the city and for this reason the moratorium should be lifted. City Commissioner A.A. McClanahan disagreed with Faison's position.

"Every time we play nice guys with the county, we finish last," McClanahan said. "I don't think the county should have impact fees within the city limits until the court says okay."

Seminole Jail Guard Fired

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County jail guard who didn't reveal his problem with alcohol or his past membership in the Ku Klux Klan when he applied for that job Feb. 27 has been fired. He is the sixth Seminole guard to be fired by Sheriff John Polk in less than two weeks.

A seventh guard has been demoted from the rank of sergeant after showing up for duty under the influence of alcohol Friday.

Polk said he fired Robert James Fotheringham Jr., after he learned of his past membership in an Orange County trial in which he was a key witness in a federal case against two Apopka men accused of making homemade fire bombs. Fotheringham was an informant in that case and had aided in the investigation. That case concluded with a hung jury.

Fotheringham, 35, was hired by Polk Aug. 18, and since Aug. 24 has been in training at Lake County Vocational Technical School. He was assigned to duty one day a week at the jail during his training. Polk said Fotheringham's salary was $13,600 a year.

Polk said his background was checked before he was hired, but Fotheringham did not reveal on his application his past problem with alcohol or his link to the KKK. He swore on his application that he had never belonged to such a group and was fired for falsifying that application.

The demoted sergeant, Michael Eline, who has been a jail guard since 1981, showed up for work Friday apparently under the influence of alcohol, but not drunk, Polk said.

A breath test to determine blood alcohol level (BAL) was administered to Eline two hours after he arrived at work. The test showed a BAL level of .013, less than the .10 the state considers intoxicated.

Eline's demotion means about a $3,000 cut in his annual pay. His pay is now around $20,000 a year.

Last week Polk fired guard Frankie Harris, 31, who was also a trainee. Harris was fired for failing to tell sheriff's representatives that he is awaiting trial on a charge of battery on a woman who accused him of fondling her when he worked at a Zellwood convenience store where that incident is said to have occurred.

Polk also fired four other guards Sept. 4 for neglect of duty and falsification of records after they neglected to watch over juveniles at the jail with scheduled 15 minute, document checks required by the state. That neglect of duty was disclosed in an investigation following the jailhouse suicide of a 17-year-old murder suspect who hanged himself in the jail Aug. 27. The boy, Edwin Bateman, of Forest City, was dead about four hours before his body was found by another guard.

Polk said it was unusual to have fired so many guards in such a short span of time. The jail is currently staff with about 92 guards and Polk said he expects to hire about 40 more in the coming year because of jail expansion.

...Charter

Commissioners under charter government have more power than they presently do because they can legislate more, yet also control administration through their power to hire and fire county administrators.

Webster filed suit in Orange Circuit Court to block that county's charter from taking effect. The suit was dismissed but that dismissal is being appealed.

Stephen J. deMontmolin, vice chairman of the Alachua County charter commission, also strongly supported charters.

"There is very little a charter government can do that the present form of county government can't do, but a charter gives county officials more flexibility to solve that county's particular problems," deMontmolin said.

"I think it is a good government that gives local people all the home rule power that is available," he continued. "If you have a situation like we do in Alachua County, where we have an intransigent county commission and an intransigent city commission who won't communicate or plan together, a charter government can help solve problems. The suggestion to combine services such as planning or fire protection, which can only be done under charter government, can open communication," he said. "Even if the proposals aren't adopted, at least they can be made, which initiates discussion and opens communication between the cities and county."

Both Alachua and Orange county charters contain provisions that give city ordinances precedence over county ordinances within cities.

Robert P. Henderson, vice chairman of the most recent Lee County Charter Advisory Commission, said a proposal to elect commissioners by district was the main reason voters rejected the charter.

By electing commissioners by district, the Republican Party, which controls most county offices, would have had its power diluted. As a result, the party, the most powerful political organization in the county, successfully opposed adoption of the charter, Henderson said.

He said the impetus for drawing up a charter was political turmoil in Lee County in 1983, resulting in a grand jury investigation and three county commissioners being convicted, or pleading guilty to criminal charges.

Despite the voters' rejection of the proposed charter, Henderson said he thinks the county would be better off with a charter. He said the county commissioners are so involved in the day-to-day administration that they don't have time to plan for the future, to the detriment of the county.

Both Wilkes and deMontmolin said local chambers of commerce provided the original impetus for drawing up charters for those two counties.

Grindle was critical of the "Armageddon hearings" held by the House Appropriations Committee. The committee's chairman, Sam Bell, told state agency heads Tuesday that repealing the tax would bring the release of prisoners, lower education standards and backsliding in the war on crime.

"What they are trying to do, in a parade as many horrors as they can before the public and the media," said Grindle.

He said the "horrors" touted by Bell are more fantasy than reality for much of the funding shortfall case by a possible repeal could be made up by cutting waste and administrative costs out of the state's budget. There are also millions of dollars available from the state's "Rainy Day" fund.

"We'll probably repeal the tax and replace some of it now or in the spring," he said. "My own feeling is that we're going to repeal, put in a small replacement, and between now and April we'll have a major effort to cut the cost of administrative government."

Martinez said Tuesday he might go along with reforms intended to save the service tax.

One House plan, still under preliminary discussion, would give voters a choice between an array of tax alternatives in a non-binding straw referendum, including the controversial services tax and a state personal income tax.

House Finance and Tax Chairman Bud Gardner, D-Titusville, continued work on a services tax reform bill that might include a $100 million exemption for advertisers. The exemption might silence some of the services tax's most vocal opponents.

Martinez, however, was cool toward the idea of exempting advertisers. "Removing someone from the tax base is not revision — it's just exemption," he said.

Martinez first proposed a referendum on the tax, then leaned toward repeal. But meetings with Senate President John Vogt Monday and House Speaker Jon Mills Tuesday convinced him to look at a reform package, the governor said.

"I still believe in tax reform," Martinez said. "I'll only be governor for so long, but I'll always be a Floridian."

Public opinion polls show up to 85 percent of the public is against the services tax.

House and Senate Republicans say they have the votes for repeal. But Vogt and Mills contest the claim. Mills is pressing legislation to revise the tax, possibly including the advertising exemption.

As currently written, the state requires service providers to collect the tax unless specifically exempted. The revised bill would create a presumption the provider is exempt, unless specifically targeted as a tax collector, Gardner said the change would eliminate inequities.

Tuesday marked the beginning of the week-long journey of the Sanford Constitution to different downtown locations so everyone will have a chance to sign it.

Florence Korgan, a member of the Sanford Constitution Steering Committee, said about 40 volunteers are involved in this project.

"The volunteers have been asked to dress in red, white and blue," Korgan said. "They'll be seated at tables set up at each location. The men and women who volunteered for this project come from the Pilot Club, the Women's Club of Sanford,

All Souls Sponsors Children's Fingerprinting, Videoprinting

Protecting children is the reason that the Missing Children's Foundation of Central Florida and Cahoon Productions, Casselberry, are joining forces on Sept. 19 at the All Soul's Catholic Church in Sanford, for an afternoon of fingerprinting and videoprinting.

From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., children of all ages are encouraged to come and be both fingerprinted and videoprinted, so adequate identification can be utilized should the worse happen to a child.

As a response to the needs of proper identification, the Missing Children's Foundation of Central Florida, sponsors "fairs," where children can be fingerprinted free of charge. This year, a new aspect has been utilized through the use of video. The program is called "I Love My Child," and has been developed by Cahoon Productions. A short videotape of the child is taken, which includes a close-up, a full profile and an action shot, plus documentation of the child.

This video tape is taken home by the parent, and can be updated at six month intervals if wanted. The fee for the videoprint is $5 per child at the fair.

Entertainment at the Protection Fair will be provided by nationally-known ventriloquist Anne Marie Weiss and her friend, Jingo. Both Anne Marie and Jingo are seen on the syndicated television program, "Something To Believe In."

All Soul's Catholic Church is located at 800 S. Oak Ave. in Sanford.

Cook Of The Week

Southern Hospitality Bows Out In Cuisine With Gourmet Touch

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

For someone who couldn't do much more than "cook scrambled eggs, and make toast and French fries" when she was a new bride, our Cook of the Week, Barbara Curtin of Lake Mary, has certainly expanded her knowledge of the culinary arts with recipes that are flavorful, uncomplicated and lean just a little toward the gourmet category.

"My mom was a real good cook," says Mrs. Curtin, "but she never used a recipe, and she didn't let me in her kitchen too often. I'd get in there and cook when she was gone. I'd make French fries. I lived on French fries for about a year one time," she said. "My mom and dad had a grocery store for a period of time, and they'd be there until late at night. I'd come home from school and my best friend across the street would come over and we'd make French fries for supper every night. But I never told Mom that's what I was doing every night!" Our Alabama-born cook learned the basics from her mother, but her real education came later, after marriage, when she began to experiment in the kitchen. "And when I hit a snag," she says, "I'd call Mom and she'd tell me what to do."

In her home town of Birmingham, Mrs. Curtin was a freshman cheerleader in high school and remembers wonderful times with a circle of friends who dubbed themselves a "sorority. It wasn't a sorority like in college," she explains, "but we just called ourselves a sorority. I saw two of the girls that I was in school and college with just recently, and they have been in my family over the years as well as my own family. They were in my wedding and I was in theirs."

It was at Auburn University that Mrs. Curtin met her husband, John, while working her way through a two-year secretarial course. Their December wedding took place two days after he graduated, and she recalls that he could "fry a mean steak" in their little newlywed apartment. "John could make pancakes, fry a mean steak, and cook on the grill," she says. "His dad used to tell him to sear the steak on both sides, take it out, and make gravy out of Worcestershire sauce, water and salt and pepper and pour it over the steak. And that's how we ate our steak." Another fond memory of their first year as husband and wife took place at Christmas time when Mrs. Curtin invited both families to dinner. "The first Christmas I invited everybody to our apartment," she says, "and I asked Mom to cook part of the stuff and I asked my mother-in-law to cook part of the stuff and bring it over. We didn't have a car, and I can remember John and I were at the grocery store and we each had a grocery sack and could hardly make it back because we had to walk and carry the groceries. But that was fun," she said.

After a move to Atlanta, Mrs. Curtin began working for the Travelers Insurance Company and her husband accepted a position with Smith, Kline and French Pharmaceuticals, starting out as a sales representative. "and he's been with them ever since," she says, "and is now a district sales manager."

The entire Curtin family are avid Auburn University supporters, including their son, Tim. "He's a junior at Auburn University," says his mother, proudly, "and has even chosen to pledge his father's fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon." Cristin, the Curtin's 16-year-old daughter, is a junior at Lake Mary High School and is a member of the Marionettes drill team. Sports are a big part of the Curtin family's itinerary and they all enjoy attending as many Auburn games as possible. "Since the first grade," says Mrs. Curtin,

"Tim has played every sport you can imagine, and my husband has been his coach most of the time, and, of course, I've been the team mother most of the time. He played soccer, basketball and football all the way through. He played with the YMCA and Little League, and then he played in high school. There was a year in there when we didn't have anyone in sports and John and I didn't know what to do with ourselves!"

When her husband's job brought them to Florida in 1982, our cook didn't lose any time in becoming active in the community. After living in Atlanta for 18 years, Mrs. Curtin admits that she really didn't want to move away. "No one did," she recalls. "except Cristin. I think she thought she was moving to Disney World to live! One way I got to meet people," she says, "was through Tim's sports programs. We're behind him one hundred percent and we go to all his games. We joined the Booster Club down here and helped build the stadium." Our cook is also involved as a volunteer at the LMHS clinic during the school year and likes being in contact with the young people. "If the kids come in sick and want to go home, or if they need a Bandaid, or if they hit their head on a locker, I try to take

With The Arrival Of Fall Comes Football Frenzy

The football frenzy is on. For many lovers of fine food, the football season is a time to look forward to a picnic in the vicinity of one's car in a stadium parking lot. Combine flavorful food, the excitement of anticipated rivalry and the aromas and the colors of autumn, and you have a tailgating party, a popular football game tradition.

Some like to tailgate like royalty — with elegant Irish linen cloths, silver champagne buckets, and haute cuisine on china plates. Others enjoy a relish-laden hot dog, sandwiched between hailing old school pals and conversation with tailgating neighbors. The key ingredients for either are good food and good friends.

When thinking of tailgate fare, simple and satisfying dishes are best, especially if the weather is uncertain. Score points with a hungry group of fans with a main-dish soup easily transported in a thermos. Hearty Stadium Beef and Vegetable Soup has a sustaining warmth that can keep sports lovers cheering. Enlivened with the addition of thyme, soy, and red pepper sauce this soup is guaranteed to satisfy the soul.

Soup is truly a centuries-old food, probably harking back to the discovery of fire and its first use for cookery.

Complete your tailgate feast with a basket piled high with perfect companion for soup. Cheddar cheese and red pepper sauce work flavor magic together in a biscuit that couldn't be easier to prepare or more convenient to handle outdoors.

Soup and scones can be made, wholly or in part, one or two days prior to serving to minimize getting-ready time on tailgating day.

care of them," she says. "We have ten women and we each take one day every other week. It frees the attendance office to go about their jobs, and Mr. Reynolds feels that it also gets more parents involved with the school."

For her own enjoyment, Mrs. Curtin joined the Lake Mary Woman's Club several years ago, and has taken an active part in the club's functions ever since. For the past four years she has held an important position with the organization and is the corresponding secretary. In the past, as fine arts chairman, Mrs. Curtin worked diligently with the other members to make the club's annual "Crafty Womens Showcase" a successful fundraiser for their pet charities.

At home in her well-equipped kitchen, Mrs. Curtin loves to prepare recipes for entertaining. "I like to have company over," she says, "and I'm constantly reading recipes and cutting them out. I take Southern Living and savor through that book. It's better than any cook book, I think. When I'm cooking for John and myself, I'll try out all those things, but when I'm cooking for company I like to have everything done and out of the way so that I can visit with them for the most part, unless we're grilling outside."

Many of Mrs. Curtin's favorite recipes have been collected on trips she has taken. "We went to San Francisco several years ago and I fell in love with Cioppino," she says. "You can make the basics things ahead of time and just add the seafood at the last minute. My son says it's the best thing in the world he's ever had. I use recipes, but then I change them all around to suit our tastes."

While her family is still young and active, Mrs. Curtin prefers to take short vacations not too far from home. "Of course, there's Auburn football, and we try to get to as many games as we can," she says, "but Auburn has been down here twice at the Citrus Bowl since we've been here." She sometimes will accompany her husband on a business trip, but most of her travels are right in her own neighborhood.

A s members of a neighborhood "Gourmet Dinner Club," our cook and her husband delight in joining 10 other couples for a monthly gathering at a different home. Each dinner usually follows a theme, according to Mrs. Curtin, of the hostesses's choosing. "We've had a Greek theme," she says, "and everyone wore togas. One theme was of the Great Gatsby era and one was Mexican and everyone dresses accordingly." The food is outstanding and many ideas in gourmet fare are exchanged during one of these gala affairs. Another neighborhood endeavor is the New Year's Eve progressive dinner that the Curtins enjoy taking part in. "We start out with hors d'oeuvres at our house," says Mrs. Curtin, "then progress to salads at another house, then to the main course, then desserts, then to party and champagne," she says.

The good eating doesn't end there as our cook continues to describe another kind of food-oriented outing. "I also belong to a gourmet lunch group," she says. "We sort of do this one alphabetically. We choose a restaurant and the one in charge makes all the reservations and we all go to that restaurant and have a meal." Of the eight women in the group, each takes a turn at choosing the restaurant and a great time is had by all. And to all that fine dining an occasional evening out with her husband and it can be said that our cook has experienced some of the tastiest meals in almost every category.

Since her husband does much of his work in his office at home, Mrs. Curtin also pitches in with her secretarial expertise. "I work for him a certain number of hours a month," she says, "so I do his typing and filing." That's sort of a little part time job and I'm his little secretary in the house here." They enjoy doing everything together. Mrs. Curtin says, "and since we've moved down here we've sort of become best friends."

Pleasing her family with tasty meals is one of Mrs. Curtin's top priorities and her choice of recipes is designed to make preparation as easy as possible, with no problems in locating the necessary ingredients. "One thing I tried to do when we moved to Florida," she says, "is get a lot of seafood recipes because of the easy access to fresh seafood here. A trip to Lombardi's will get you all the seafood you need." Her grilled sesame swordfish recipe is from a famous restaurant, and her delicious barbecued shrimp is from New Orleans. "The shrimp recipe is so easy for company," she says, "I like to serve that with a good sourdough bread."

Mrs. Curtin claims that she likes to eat so much that she certainly has to diet from time to time. "I'm always looking for low calorie recipes," she says, "and low fat recipes. The Portuguese pork tenderloin is a favorite of my daughter's and easy to prepare." She adds that the Spanish pork chop recipe is one that her son, Tim, learned and prepared for extra credits in his Spanish class when they lived in Georgia and has become a family favorite.

Below is Mrs. Curtin's selection of her best recipes that you will want to clip and save:

- 4 large cloves garlic, peeled and lightly crushed
- 3 pounds shrimp, approximately 20 per pound, unpeeled

Gently heat butter and olive oil in a heavy skillet. Add all remaining ingredients except shrimp. Simmer gently, stirring occasionally, for about 15 minutes. Remove from heat and let cool for about ¼ hour. Spread shrimp out in large, shallow roasting pan. Pour butter-spice mixture over the shrimp, and turn them so that they are thoroughly coated. Refrigerate for several hours, or overnight. Preheat oven to 400°. Place the shrimp, in the roasting pan, in the oven. Bake, stirring occasionally, until the shrimp are pink, about 15 minutes. Do not overcook! Serve in soup bowls with crusty bread for mopping up the sauce. Have empty plates on the table for the litter of shrimp shells, and lots of big napkins. The shrimp are best peeled and eaten with the hands and it gets messy. Serves 6.

PORTUGUESE PORK TENDERLOIN

- 2 pounds pork tenderloin, sliced
- Flour
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 onion, sliced
- ¼ cup dry white wine
- ½ pound sliced mushrooms
- ¼ teaspoon rosemary
- Season flour with salt, pepper and paprika. Roll tenderloins in seasoned flour. Sauté in butter until golden brown. Add sliced onion and mushrooms; saute for a minute or two. Add wine and rosemary. Cover and cook over low heat for 45 minutes, until tenderloins are done. Serves 4 to 6.

SPANISH PORK CHOPS

Brown 6 pork chops in oil. Remove and place in 11 x 14 inch casserole. Sauté one chopped green pepper and one large, thinly sliced onion until soft. Add one 16 ounce can tomatoes, one 6 ounce can tomato sauce, and ½ cup dry red wine. Salt and pepper to taste. Pour over chops. Cover with foil and bake in 350° oven for 1 hour. Serve with white or yellow rice. Serves 6.

CRABBIES

- 1 can (6 ounces) white crabmeat
- 8 whole English muffins
- 1 jar Old English sharp cheese
- 1 stick butter or margarine
- 3 shakes of garlic salt
- Toast muffins. Combine remaining ingredients; spread on muffins, ut each half into 4 or 6 sections. Freeze. When ready to serve, broil about 2 to 3 minutes.

CHICKEN AND SPAGHETTI

Heat 2 tablespoons butter and 1 tablespoon oil. Add 1 clove (or more) garlic, minced, one minced onion, one grated carrot, and one tablespoon parsley. Cook until onion is transparent. Add 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes, 1 can (8 ounces) tomato paste, and simmer, uncovered, ½ hour. Add ¼ teaspoon oregano, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Simmer another ½ hour. While sauce is simmering, cook spaghetti and saute 4 boneless chicken breasts. When chicken is done, melt 4 slices Mozzarella on top. Spoon sauce over chicken and spaghetti and pass the Parmesan. Serves 4.

Food for Thought

by Bill Painter

First pears of the season are super in a salad with bleu cheese and walnuts. Serve over tender lettuce and toss with shallot vinaigrette.

We think of cinnamon with dessert fruits, but in the Middle East, this spice scents lamb and chicken. Brown chicken breasts laced with cinnamon and cloves, salt and pepper. Then add onions and garlic, raisins, capers and a little orange juice, and simmer until done.

Sliced jicama stays crisp in salads, stir-fries — and as a cracker under hors d'oeuvres flings.

Make your own flavored oils and vinegars with herbs from the garden. Pick herbs mid-morning, bruise slightly, and place in bottle, then pour hot vinegar over. For flavored oils, just add herbs and spices to good olive oil.

Cool Days Ahead Will Call For Hot Soup

Cool days — hot soups, chowders, bisques... all of which combine meat, fish or poultry and vegetables to serve up nutritious, flavorful lunch and dinners that are economical.

Soup is a comforting food for body and soul, and I suppose we can all recall having homemade chicken noodle soup as part of convalescing from an illness. It is low in calories, nutritious, and easy to prepare with the microwave oven.

EASY CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP

- 1 1/2 pound chicken pieces (wings, thighs, backs)
- 2 large carrots, thinly sliced
- 1 small onion, sliced
- 4 cups hot water
- 3 tablespoons instant chicken bouillon
- 2 tablespoons snipped parsley
- 2 cups uncooked egg noodles
- 2 cups hot water
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Midge Mycoff

Combine chicken pieces, carrots, onion, celery, 4 cups water, bouillon and parsley in 3 quart microwave-safe casserole. Cover. M/W on 100% power 25-30 minutes or until chicken is tender, stirring once. Remove chicken and set aside to cool slightly. Add noodles, 2 cups water and pepper to broth. Cover. M/W on 100% power 10-12 minutes or until noodles are tender. Meanwhile, remove skin and bones from chicken and discard. Cut chicken into pieces. Add to soup; cover. M/W on 100% power 2-3 minutes or until heated through.

This chowder has a nice blend of flavors and is hearty enough for serving as a main course.

Man Has Searched 65 Years For Hiccup Cure

DEAR ABBY: There's a man in Anthon, Iowa, who's had the hiccups since 1922. His name is Charlie and he's about 95 years old by now.

I don't have all the details, but he's a very famous character in Anthon. A lot of folks have sent him remedies on how to cure his hiccups, but so far none of them has worked. Maybe a Dear Abby reader will see this and send Charlie a cure.

SIoux CITY READER

DEAR READER: I followed your lead and called the Anthon Herald. According to Shirley Nelson, who works at the newspaper, Charlie Osborne got the hiccups in 1922 when he tried to lift a 350-pound hog to butcher it.

It seems that Charlie is already a major celebrity, having appeared on the Johnny Carson and David Letterman shows. He's even hiccupped himself into the "Guinness Book of World Records." With that kind of exposure, he has received hundreds of letters from people offering suggestions on how to get rid of his hiccups. (None worked.) Charlie is willing to try anything. So if you have a cure for the hiccups, send it to Charlie Osborne in Anthon, Iowa. Although, after 65 years, he's learned to live with his hiccups, he would still appreciate a cure so he can get a good night's sleep.

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, a woman wrote to you saying that she had had an abortion, which she knew to be a terrible sin because she was Catholic. She said she didn't have the courage to confess her sin to the priest, so she turned to you. (She signed herself "Tormented Soul.")

Your answer to her helped me. Although my problem was not the same as hers, I was also a "tormented soul" — and a Catholic.

Please print that answer. It may help others.

CONNECTICUT CATHOLIC

DEAR CATHOLIC: Here's the answer — let's hope it works the miracle for someone else:

Dear Tormented Soul: Go to confession. The priest will not throw you out. A Catholic is forgiven the sin when he or she truly repents. If you lack the courage to face your own parish priest, go to another parish.

DEAR ABBY:

When I listened to the messages on my answering machine, I heard one that went like this: "Susan, it's Mom. Please call me right away. I am very sick. I need help!"

Click. Abby, some poor woman had dialed a wrong number and I had no way of letting her know. Please warn your readers to always leave their telephone number on an answering machine — especially in an emergency.

MISDIALED IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR MISDIALED: Consider it done. And thank you for a very important suggestion that would not have occurred to most people, including me.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it's appropriate that a 3-year-old child is allowed to answer the telephone?

Our friends, a middle-aged couple like ourselves, have a 3-year-old child who always answers the telephone when we call — even in the late evening hours. I am fed up and irritated with having to go through her every time I call. Sometimes I just hang up!

The husband is a professional man who must get business calls at home.

The child is not competent to take a message. She says, "Hi! Who is this? Who is this? Who is this?" Then she screams into the telephone, "WHO IS THIS?" without even listening.

What do you make of parents who would allow this? Or am I out of line for complaining?

FED UP

DEAR FED UP: These parents see their child as adorable and precocious. When it occurs to them that they are missing some important calls, they might discontinue this annoying practice.

Are you out of line? Not in my book.

DEAR ABBY: All women look ladylike and elegant in long gowns. Now they are showing tight, above-the-knees dresses for evening wear. They make a woman look like a tart. It's cheap and degrading. If the men who design women's fashions want to see knees, why don't they shorten men's pants above the knees?

My friends and I intend to wear the long gowns we have hanging in our closets. We refuse to buy those tacky, short ones with puff and ruffles across the part of our anatomy that doesn't need any padding.

We want elegance and figure-flattering apparel that gives us comfort and confidence. Thank you.

NO SLAVE TO FASHION

DEAR NO SLAVE: Just because hemlines are being shown four inches north of the knee does not mean that "every woman" must follow suit. Wear what you feel most comfortable in because, frankly, my dear, nobody really gives a damn.

Spermicides Can Effect Allergic Skin Reactions

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I heard of a case where a couple claimed that a contraceptive jelly caused birth defects in their baby. How long does it take for spermicide effects to disappear? Is there a safe spermicide?

DEAR READER — Spermicidal creams, jellies and inserts contain compounds that kill sperm on contact. In part, this reaction is aided by the high acidity of these products. Except for allergic skin reactions, spermicides are safe when used according to manufacturer's directions.

Ordinarily, spermicidal jelly is effective for an interval of about six hours. It is not absorbed into the body. However, when present in the vagina for more than a day, spermicidal jelly may encourage the growth of certain bacteria, leading to serious infection resembling toxic shock syndrome.

I do not understand how, in a healthy woman, spermicidal jelly could cause birth defects. The case you cite must be a very unusual one indeed.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My sisters and I were treated for congenital syphilis as teenagers. Our children have never been told of this history. They are now grown, with families of their own. Their children are normal and apparently healthy, but we have heard stories that syphilis can skip two or three generations and recur. Should we tell them?

DEAR READER — In my opinion, telling your children would serve no useful purpose and might actually create unnecessary anxiety. Syphilis does not skip generations: it is an infection that is transmitted by sexual contact or spread directly from a mother to her unborn child. When they obtained their marriage licenses, your children underwent mandatory blood tests to detect syphilis. They were free of the disease. Hence, personal information about their mother and aunts is not germane to the health of the children or their offspring.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have an elevated cholesterol reading and my LDL blood reading is poor. Would a trampoline help? I'm 75.

DEAR READER — A trampoline will not help. In fact, at your age, it might be downright dangerous. Although regular exercise — such as walking, swimming and biking — might lower your cholesterol and make you feel better, you should ask your doctor to put you on a low-cholesterol diet.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
It's a good idea for partners to clarify the meanings of special bids. Many players use weak jump overcalls (6-11 high-card points and at least a six-card suit), but does a jump overcall have the same meaning when made in the pass-out position? You must answer that for yourself, but I suggest you hold something like today's South hand (12-14 points and a six-card suit). With less, simply bid the six-card suit at the one-level. With more, make a takeout double and later bid your suit. After the two-spade bid by South, North upgraded his heart king to justify going to game. Declarer wisely ducked the opening lead to keep East off lead later. Diamonds were continued to dummy's ace. South came to his hand with a high trump, ruffed his last diamond, cached dummy's queen of spades and played a heart to his queen. West won the ace and returned a heart. Assuming the heart jack to be with West, declarer put in dummy's 10. East won the jack and played a club, setting the contract two tricks. South could do better. After winning the second diamond, he should play to the spade ace and trump a diamond, then come to the spade king and lead a low heart toward dummy's king. When West ducks, declarer wins the king and returns a heart to his queen. Of course the jack coming up solves the problem, but even if East's second heart were a low card, West would now be played, forced either to play away from that elusive heart jack or to play a club into declarer's king.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
SEPTEMBER 17, 1987
 Friends and social contacts will play extremely important roles in your affairs in the year ahead. People you know and like will help advance your ambitious objectives.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's best not to try to manage something for a friend today that you were not able to do effectively for yourself. It could end up a mess. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to restore the relationship. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH, 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your mate might not be sympathetic today to a joint venture you're seriously contemplating. Wait for a more appropriate time before bringing up the issue.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you're a person who sees things through, but today you might abandon an important project when it's only half-finished.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) When shopping today, it will prove wise to avoid stores that have expensive merchandise. There's a strong possibility you might spend more than you can afford.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Busy yourself with your own affairs today. Idleness could lead you to butt into another's business with unpleasant results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If your heart and mind aren't dedicated to your work today, you might as well take time off; you're not apt to get anything done anyway.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your real enjoyment will come from your family today. Outside activities might not turn out too well, and besides, they'll cost you money.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Don't start coasting today just because it appears you have everything running smoothly. Overconfidence could lead to indifference, which will greatly diminish your efficiency.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In a situation where you will be managing others today, be extremely careful not to abuse your authority. Don't try to look good at someone else's expense.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your ego may be a trifle enlarged today; be careful when involved with a person who has a glib tongue. This person will manipulate you through flattery.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You can realize an ambitious aim today, provided you do it on your own. In this instance, a partner could prove to be dead weight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You must be able to distinguish between genuine optimism or merely wishful thinking today. Unrealistic expectations could lead you down the wrong path.
