

Sunken British Sub Still Unlocated; Search Is Shifted

Large Patch Of Oil Is Found Upon Water
Which Might Have Tragic Significance

PORTLAND, Jan. 28. — (A.P.)—Practically the entire flotilla of the British Navy which is searching for the British submarine M-2 which sank in the British Channel Tuesday moved to a new location today eight miles from the spot previously searched, although hope for the rescue of the three score members of the crew is almost entirely abandoned. The shift was made because of the possibility the search may have been conducted in the wrong place. A new search was begun at the spot where Captain Howard of a steamer said he saw a submarine go down, although he did not know at the time of the tragic significance of its disappearance. Meantime, seaplanes discovered a large patch of oil on the water which pilots believed might indicate the presence of a submarine. Pilots reported the oil was constantly coming to the surface and covered an area four or five square miles, three miles south of here.

The mine sweeper Teiworth, equipped with special deep-sea diving appliances for deep sea diving was suddenly ordered to come from Davenport with extra divers. This gave rise to a suggestion that the M-2 might have been found, but there was no confirmation from the searchers.

The cables of mine sweepers, searching for the missing submarine with its 32 men—of their bodies—located the object of the admiralty reported.

PARENTS TELL OF FAMILY INSANITY IN JUDD DEFENSE

Counsel Says It Proposes To Establish Mental Deficiency

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 28. — (A.P.)—Striving to save the daughter from the gallows, the parents of Winnie Ruth Judd testified in her murder trial yesterday of a strain of insanity in the family and of signs of mental instability in the defendant.

Defense counsel informed the court they proposed to establish Mrs. Judd was insane on Oct. 10, 1931, the day she is alleged to have killed Agnes Ann Lelton and Hedvig Samuelson, the women whose bodies were shipped to Los Angeles in trunks.

The trial was interrupted by the illness of a juror during the afternoon. Adjournment was taken until this afternoon.

Herman Lewkowitz and Paul Schenck, defense counsel, produced depositions from eastern relatives of Mrs. Judd to corroborate the testimony given by the Rev. and Mrs. J. McKinnell, the parents.

Mrs. Judd struggled to hold back tears when her father, a retired Indiana miner, told of his knowledge of insanity of his father's mother, his father's brother, his sister's son, of two second cousins of Winnie Ruth, and of "queerness" on the part of another cousin.

His wife told of the mental disorders of the two second cousins of her daughter.

Both parents related idiosyncrasies of Winnie Ruth's childhood, including a business for dolls, fabrications concerning a "baby at our house" disappearance, once clad only in night clothing, and of her fear of the difference between night and day.

Each testified their daughter's statements regarding her possession of a child, told by previous witnesses, were untrue so far as they knew.

"She has had no child," said McKinnell, "but when she was crying once when I visited her in the jail here, she said they are trying to take my baby away from me."

Aside from this display of what he said was fancied grief, the father expressed himself as "amazed" at his daughter's attitude.

"I cannot," he declared, "understand her."

As he left the witness stand and passed within arm's reach of Mrs. Judd's chair, he smiled at her. She was busy contemplating the face of her ship, a pucker from between her eyes, and did not see it. The accused woman appeared unable to meet her father's frequent glances throughout his testimony.

HUGE FINANCE CONCERN HAS GOT UNDERWAY

President Signs Bill
Giving Half Billion
To Railroads, Banks
And Farm Interests

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. — (A.P.)—The huge Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday received the money with which it will begin its work of reorganizing business, but was told it must wait until today for formal Senate approval of the men who will guide its activities.

President Hoover signed an appropriation bill giving the agency $500,000,000 to lend to railroads, agriculture and financial institutions. Meanwhile, Senator Blaine of Wisconsin forced a day's postponement of Senate action confirming the appointments of Charles C. Dawes as president and of Harvey C. Couch and Jesse H. Jones as directors of the corporation.

Senate leaders were at work on the next problem arising from the economic situation, that of extending help to the denizens of closed banks. A bill proposed by Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, to accomplish this and bring about widespread changes in the banking laws was returned to a subcommittee for reworking. The administration wants it extensively revised. Features which some felt would counteract the present drive in deflation were the subject of the new study.

Senator Glass asked to some of the technical modifications suggested and expressed confidence that the measure would come before the Senate.

Moves have been made to put ahead for emergency action that provision of the bill for the relief of the unemployed.

Assurances Given Lake Shore Road Is In Building Budget

To set at rest a long apprehension now voiced at the Chamber of Commerce office, the citizens who have taken a deep interest in the construction of the lake front boulevard and bridge, trade body officials have released a copy of a letter from Karl Larsen, acting secretary of the State Road Department, in which positive assurance is given that the road and bridge has been included in the tentative budget for 1932.

Numerous persons read a copy of the tentative budget, printed in various state newspapers today, in which is the information that $150,345.30 has been set aside on the list of projects on first preferential system roads to be constructed, for the "Monroe Bridge-Sanford". This amount, together with the title of the project itself has led several persons to believe that the road is not being provided for, that the appropriation covers only the rest of the bridge.

A further examination of the budget reveals that the appropriation listed is the state's share of a 4.24 mile road and bridge. A similar appropriation is forthcoming from the United States Road Department.

The letter from Mr. Larsen reads as follows: "We are pleased to advise that the bridge and lake shore road on State Road No. 3 has been placed within the tentative budget, and we sincerely trust that the Department will find it possible to consider early action in the matter."

It is understood that the Road Department will meet at Lakeland Feb. 15, for the purpose of officially adopting the budget. A large delegation will be recruited from this and adjoining counties to be present in behalf of the road.

Sanford And Orlan do Elks Meet To Hear Talk Of Grand Exalted Ruler

To the history of progressive Central Florida Elks was added last night an inspiring contribution in the presence at the First Street club rooms of the Sanford Elks of more than 15 members of local and out-of-town lodges, including high state officers.

More than 50 Sanford Elks met with a dozen state officials who had gathered, uncollected, to hear an address by District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler M. O. Overstreet, Orlando, who was paying his first official visit to the lodge.

His address stressed the fundamentals of the Grand Lodge, the importance of all lodges in Florida functioning as successfully as the Sanford lodge, and the need for a constant recalling of the Elks code of ethics whenever personal or lodge's interests needed same, careful thought.

While his address was the feature of the meeting, short talks by several visiting Elks, who had heard of the special meeting in honor of Mr. Overstreet, also proved of interest to the members. Talks were made by Fred Davis, Tallahassee, former attorney-general of Florida and now a member of the Florida Supreme Court; Harold Collier, St. Augustine, former president of the State Elks Association, holder of many titles in his home lodge, and now secretary of the State Association; G. Tributaries Of Mississippi Are Still Flooding

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 28. — (A.P.)—Flood-burdened tributaries of the lower Mississippi continued to pour water over the lowlands of sections of Mississippi, Arkansas and Northern Louisiana yesterday, but more encouraging reports were heard from the flood zones.

Caraway and Lester, on the upper St. Francis River in Arkansas, are under from two to three inches of water, and backwater from the swollen stream has reached the outskirts of Lepanto and Marked Tree, but United States engineers here say the situation along the St. Francis is not yet alarming.

More than 200 Arkansas landowners and tenant farmers are fighting to save a weak levee at Big Lake, swelled by waters from Missouri drainage ditches, and the situation there is somewhat improved.

Laborers and convicts appear to have won their fight to save Helms from the rampaging Yazoo River and its backwaters as levees to the north and south continue to hold. Red Cross headquarters crowded with refugees.

Flood waters are pouring through a break in the drainage ditch dam near Carter, south of Deaton, menacing villages in the Atchafalaya Basin. Carter is under a foot of water and engineers believe the water will reach the lower edge of Yazoo City in the next several hours. Yazoo City, itself located on a high hill, is safe from floods. The new break will cover thousands of additional acres.

MIAMI BUSINESS MEN POOH-POOH AT 'BLUE' LAWS

SAY THEY WON'T CLOSE Despite Word Laws WILL BE ENFORCED

MIAMI, Jan. 28. — (A.P.)—Termination of two Dade county officials to enforce state "blue laws," passed in 1932 and in 1929, by closing all amusements and many business places on Sunday, without yesterday a barrage of pooh-poohs hurled by businessmen of the county.

The official, Sheriff M. P. Lehman and County Solicitor Fred Fine, stuck firmly to their statement that operators of movie theaters, golf courses, filling stations, street cars, taxicabs, soda fountains and the like would be arrested if they carried on between midnight Saturday and midnight Sunday. They attributed their action to wide-spread demand for enforcement of all laws during the winter tourist season.

The rest of their campaign of law enforcement, which included closing of all alleged gambling houses in metropolitan Miami and its outskirts, went by the board so far as public attention was concerned. (Continued on Page Four)

Plot Is Revealed To Bomb Officials In Alabama Capital

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 28. — (A.P.)—A letter from an English, Ala., mechanic disclosing a purported plot to bomb four state officials caused a special police detail to be assigned to the Alabama capital yesterday.

The letter written by A. H. Donaldson, employee of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company to State Auditor John Brandon, was made public by Governor Miller yesterday and said Donaldson overheard four men plotting the bombing at Birmingham.

Donaldson came here Tuesday and was stationed among more than a dozen plain clothed men on the lookout for the quartet whom the mechanic wrote planned to "get everything ready" for the bombing either Tuesday or yesterday.

In the letter Donaldson related he overheard the conversation Jan. 19 and that Governor Miller, William F. Peach, director of the convict department and John Peach, the governor's legal adviser, were mentioned as intended victims.

He said the men planned to plant either "dynamite or a bomb" in the automobile of the executive and "blow them up." He said two of the men lived at Carlin Hill, Ala., and that he was certain he could identify them.

Governor Miller, other than to release the letter, would not discuss the affair. His life and the lives of several state officials have been threatened in letters and telegrams bearing on the Scottsboro death sentences against eight negroes and the whipping of a war veteran prisoner at a state farm.

AUGUSTINE GOLF TOURNAMENT LOOMS AS LARGE EVENT

Club Title Holders Already On Hand To Practice For Meet

ST. AUGUSTINE, Jan. 27.—Preparations for holding one of the largest and finest amateur golf tournaments ever promoted at St. Augustine links were given a substantial boost here yesterday with the arrival of three club title holders all of whom wish to enter the amateur-pro as a preliminary to the national amateur championship of club champions to start Monday, Feb. 1. The amateur-pro will be held on Sunday.

Three arrivals, who are already ranking on their games include T. Caldwell Thomas, Troy, N. Y. county club champ who last year carried Carl Morris, Jr., a former holder of the national club title, to 20 holes in the second round of match play; G. Dudley Ward, Oak Hills Country Club, Rochester, N. Y., and Robert W. Wilson of the South Shore Country Club, Chicago. All three will play daily and take instructions from Johnny and Jimmy Farrell in order to learn-out several points missed by enforced absence from play.

Two of the most formidable pairings for the amateur-pro Sunday include that of Johnny Farrell and T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion and second ranking American amateur today. Jimmy Farrell, who has been playing some wonderful golf here of late, will pair with Tommy Goodwin, Monroe, N. Y. Country Club youngster who romped from medal to championship in the recent Florida East Coast men's tournament. The two should make an ideal pair with the audaciousness of youth and the caution of the seasoned professional veteran working in nicely.

At least a score or more club title holders will arrive in St. Augustine Saturday for the event with the remainder of the out of the state entries expected Sunday and Monday.

Because of the fact that there will be far more amateur material here Sunday than professional, the tournament committee has arranged the tournament so that any two amateurs who desire may play together.

The play will be over the 18-hole route with no handicaps.

While the amateur-pro event is occupying immediate attention, the national amateur championship of club champions for the Walter J. Travis Memorial trophy looms as the next sporting event of supreme importance on the national sports calendar. Like the national amateur and the open, this tournament has gained so rapidly in importance in the golf world that a year has now gone by but that all the winners have returned to seek another leg on this huge trophy. Last year Howard Tyron, Detroit, amateur, was unable to enter because of illness but he will be on hand this year as will T. Philip Perkins, defending champion, Carl Morris, Jr., of Orlando and Robert E. Wingate, first winner from Jacksonville.

In addition to these there will be at least 50 more who have sent in their entries and are now expected.

Note Written Two Years Ago At Sea Is Now In St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 27.—A note, written two years ago by the captain of the freighter, Santa Ana, when he believed his ship would go down during a Caribbean storm, was picked up recently by Harry Parker, Key West fisherman, in Gulf Stream waters, near this city, and sent to Commander Leroy Robinson of the local Coast Guard base.

The note had been enclosed in a bottle and tossed overboard on the morning of Dec. 21, 1925, and was signed "Mildred" mother of the craft. It explained that some of the ship had opened, pumps could not handle the leaks and the vessel had failed.

"Good bye," it concluded. Coast Guard officials said they learned that the disabled freighter was taken in tow the day after the note had been written, and sent to Grand Cayman, a tiny island 200 miles south of Cuba.

When the vessel had carried the note into town, a pilot 100 miles south of Cape Corrientes, Cuba, he struck the vessel and took it into the Gulf Stream.

Orlando Noses Out Sanford Quintet In Close 26-25 Game

Coach Leonard McCluskey's Seminole High School basketball squad climaxed its 1932 season by suffering a thrilling 26-25 defeat at the hands of the Orlando High School quintet.

Freddy Chance, star forward of the Orlando five, swept through a mass of Sanford and Orlando players in the last 10 seconds of play, dropped the ball in the basket for the two points which gave his team victory.

Sanford had a six point lead at the end of the first half, only to see the Orlando outfit come from behind in a great show of speed. For the last few minutes of the game, the lead held by Sanford was never more than two points.

Murray Kanner and Fulton Hester played the best games of their year, each scoring 10 points for their team, and being head and shoulders above all players on the court.

Chance and Williams were Orlando's best contributions to the game, each starting consistently.

Youth Kills Self To Find Out What Future Promises

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Jan. 27.—(A.P.)—After writing a friend he "could wait no longer to find out what the future holds, Charles E. Butts, 25, of Governor, N. Y., University of Alabama freshman, was found in his room early yesterday, critically wounded.

A pistol bullet entered Butts' chest just above the heart and attending physicians said his recovery was doubtful. Police said the communication addressed to Lester Story, of Governor, removed all doubt that the youth had attempted suicide.

"Dear old pal," the note began. "You know we have discussed the hereafter and many other things; also you know we have made a pact that the first one to go would come back and talk to the other if possible.

"Now I am going to hold you to this promise. I will be dead long before you get this letter. I am not crazy as everyone will say, but I am discouraged as life does not hold very much for me since I came back Christmas. * * * I will be branded as every other suicide—"crazy"—not so. I can wait no longer to find out. * * * We will meet again in the fourth millennium."

Butts was enrolled in the school of engineering and fellow students said he had been in excellent humor recently. They told police they knew of no reason why he should attempt to take his life.

Men, Stranded In Glades, Reported Needing No Help

MIAMI, Jan. 27.—(A.P.)—Commander R. D. Wilson of the Good-year dirigible Puritan, yesterday said five men sighted yesterday with a stranded tractor in the Everglades were in no immediate need of assistance.

The men are attempting to reach an All-American Airways plane forced down in the Glades Jan. 7 when Art Rigney, pilot, flew it toward Miami with J. I. Escalante of Tampa as a passenger. Rigney and Escalante were rescued the next day by the Puritan.

Wilson and others aboard the Puritan sighted the men and the tractor yesterday on a slight rise in the place where the plane is stranded. First reports said there were only two men near the tractor, but Wilson today said there were five.

The men signalled they were

SENATOR GLASS AGAIN RIDICULES SECRETARY HYDE

Accuses Government Official Of "Culpable Pettifoggery"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(A.P.)—Senator Glass yesterday accused Secretary Hyde of "culpable pettifoggery," and again disputed the cabinet officer's claim that the Wilson administration's post-armistice loans to Europe were illegal.

The Virginia Democrat, who as a secretary of the treasury under Woodrow Wilson administered some of the two billions in loans to the Allies, quoted from the language of the Liberty Loan and Victory Loan acts to prove there was authority for the advances.

before an attentive chamber in which no response was made to his argument, Glass concluded amid laughter, by likening the secretary of agriculture to a "turnip head."

He quoted the reasons given by the late Henry Arthur Jones, of Great Britain for not pursuing an argument with H. G. Wells. In that statement by Jones, quoted by Glass, were the words: "The round head wagged and shook with obstinate denial of fact and argument. I paused for a moment and looked at a sudden illumination I became aware that it was not a head at all, but a turnip, a veritable turnip placed on the top of his neck and shoulders."

The Senator added: "An old Bishop John Early of Virginia, used to say, the Senate may note the phraseology and mark the application."

"I'm Cook enough to Know..."

"WHAT I know about making cigarettes...doesn't amount to anything at all! But I'm a good enough cook to be sure of this...You can't get a thing to taste good...unless you use fine ingredients.

"And what's more...you have to know just how to combine them.

"It must have taken an amazing knowledge of tobacco flavors...to work out that recipe for Chesterfield's good taste.

"Just as in a pudding...the proof of any cigarette...lies in the taste.

"Recently I tried Chesterfields for the first time. Right away, I knew that such taste and fragrance had to come from grade A ingredients...to say nothing of a carefully worked out recipe for combining them.

"Then, too, I found Chesterfields milder. I didn't know a cigarette could be so mild and at the same time so good-tasting.

"And have you noticed the paper? Pure white. I'm told it's the purest paper that can be bought.

"Even the package is whiter and cleaner-looking. Little things, I suppose, but I'm cook enough to know that purity and cleanliness must count in cigarettes too."

John Gilbert Stars In Picture At Milane

John Gilbert makes a dashing American vaquero in "West of Broadway," his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, which opened today at the Milane Theatre.

Beginning with a glimpse of Gilbert in A. E. F. uniform, reminiscent of his role in "The Big Parade," the new offering brims with striking action and dialogue. Gilbert's characterization is most impressive. El Brandel heads the supporting cast as Gilbert's Swedish man-Friday and Lois Moran scores as the leading lady.

Most of the picture was filmed on the western desert and mountain stretches and the pictorial enjoyment is appreciated. The story concerns a rich young man who returns from war, broken in health from wounds, to discover himself jilted by the girl he thought waiting for him. He draws his sword he gets drunk and marries the first girl he meets in a night club. Later, to cast her off, he goes to his ranch in Arizona, not realizing that she really loves him and wants to make him happy. But the heroine proves herself equal to the emergency and by an unusual plot twist the pair are eventually reunited.

Harold Loring Will Give Indian Program

On Saturday evening the Women's Club of Sanford will present Harold Loring, nationally known authority on the American Indian, in a program entitled "The American Indian in Story and Song."

Mr. Loring is making a coast to coast tour and has appeared in several of the principal Florida cities and will next week be on the coast at the Daytona Beach auditorium. He has lived many years among Indians, speaks the Sioux tongue, understands the sign language and he recited many of the tribal melodies. His programs are not lectures, but are humorous and educational, besides being musical. Mr. Loring is a recognized concert artist.

On last Tuesday morning Mr. Loring spoke at the Senior High School in Sanford and was received with enthusiasm by the students. He will present programs in over half the states this season and has made several tours to the Pacific Coast, appearing before universities, colleges and clubs throughout the country.

Canning Industry Needs Collective Thinking, Is Advice

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. — More collective thinking, translated into individual action, instead of every man for himself, was the formula given the canning industry for overcoming its difficulties by Nils A. Olsen, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, at the annual meeting of the National Canners' Association which opened here recently.

The canners came together with stabilization of the industry, action to meet changing conditions and preparation for getting their share of prosperity when it returns as the primary objective.

Daytona, Ralph Ebling, Daytona Highlands, and Dr. A. W. Egan, Sanford; Arthur Gura, Narragansett Pier, N. Y., and Ralph Stewart, Sanford; George Tuttle, McKegon, Mich., and Carl Dann Jr., Orlando; Elmer Carlson, Miami, and F. P. Morse, Deland; Alex Low, Holly Hills, and an announced partner, and Allan Stewart, Sanford, and G. W. Spencer.

Mr. Stewart anticipates the several teams of Sanford and Daytona will enter the tournament. He stated that the amateur club handicap has been increased from one third to one half, a fact which should insure the entry of numerous golfers.

He also announced that the annual City championship tournament will begin next week. In spite of several requests that it be delayed, the tourney is being held at the present time, no exception, because the temperature is causing a recently planted ryegrass to be smothered by weeds and Bermuda grasses which are growing profusely. The greens and fairways are in ideal condition for tournament play at the present time. Mr. Stewart said, but they may be harmed if the weather remains as it has been for several days.

Qualifying rounds for men must be played by next Wednesday night, with match play beginning on Thursday morning. Leon LeRoy, 1931 champion, is expected to defend his laurels, as is Mrs. Vivian Speer, 1931 women's champion who will play in the women's tournament which will be staged about a week after the men's tournament. Women golfers will not be obliged to qualify this year, he said. A small entry fee is asked of each entrant.

Trophies will be awarded winners of each tournament, with prizes going to the runners-up. Members of the Association are busy making plans to stage the first Annual Central Florida Women's Championship tournament, Feb. 17 to 20, inclusive has
