Daughters Of Wesley Have Xmas Party

The lovely and spacious country home of Mrs. Thomas L. Sullivan on Cameron Avenue was the scene of the annual Christmas party of the Daughters of Wesley Sunday School Class on Tuesday evening. The party rooms were beautifully decorated with Christmas arrangements, using silver and blue as the color scheme.

The large silver Christmas tree with blue lights and blue balls was placed in the north end of the living room, with a bright fire in the fireplace. The mantle was centered with an arrangement of silver plant leaves with a cluster of small blue balls in the center, surrounded by silver ligustrum leaves and Brazilian peppers which was reflected in a large mirror in the background.

Arrangements of Margaret Fulton gladioluses and silver pittosporum leaves were placed throughout the rooms. A lovely Christmas scene consisting of figurines placed among Brazilian peppers was on the buffet.

Mrs. M. R. Strickland presided over the business session which was opened by the group singing the class song led by Mrs. Claude Herndon, followed by Mrs. J. C. Davis reading the Christmas story from the Bible.

Mrs. Strickland introduced guests, Mrs. E. W. Brown, Mrs. R. C. Monroe's aunt from Hamlet, N. C., Mrs. Stella Woosman guest of Mrs. Margaret Edwards from Indiana, Mrs. J. A. Howard, and Mrs. Reuel Robison as new class members. She also announced that a class member, Mrs. C. E. Mckee, is ill at the Florida Sanitarium and that a member of long standing, Mrs. Helen Schultz, has moved to Deland to make her home.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to the members having birthdays during the month, they in turn donated to the birthday bank which was opened and the contents turned into the courtesy fund. Mrs. Herndon reported that she had sent four cards, one bouquet, made three visits and also with her committee served a dinner in McKinley hall. The class will supply two needy families with food and clothing at Christmas time.

Mrs. S. G. Harriman read "The Boy Who Laughed at Santa Claus," "Story of Silent Night" and "A Letter to Santa Claus." Later Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts to all present.

Mrs. Sullivan and her co-hostesses Mrs. O. M. Estridge, Mrs. W. L. Harrison, Mrs. Fred Strange, Mrs. E. C. Williams, Mrs. Zeb Ratliff and Mrs. Homer Price served a congealed salad, fruit cake and coffee, with a miniature Santa Claus made from an apple and marshmallow on each plate as favors.

Those attending were Mrs. W. W. Honeywell, Mrs. M. R. Strickland, Mrs. Stella Woosman a visitor from Indiana, Mrs. W. E. Raines, Mrs. Zeb Ratliff, Mrs. Roy Tillie, Mrs. L. J. Boyette, Mrs. W. L. Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8—(AP)—Hollywood has its own man of mystery and his name is Howard Hughes.

The 44-year-old millionaire Texan becomes more of a legend every day. His usual operation of RKO studios has given rise to a wealth of stories.

Most of the RKO workers have never seen their fabulous boss. A few jokingly deny that he even exists. For some unexplained reason, he maintains his office at Samuel Goldwyn studios, two miles away. Orders concerning studio operations filter down through assistants and secretaries.

One of Hollywood's favorite stories maintains that Hughes has only visited the RKO lot once. That was shortly after he bought controlling interest in the studio.

Hughes was supposed to have dropped in at the studio at an early morning hour. The studio manager showed him through every darkened building, every empty stage. Hughes said nary a word until he was about to leave. Then he turned to the manager and uttered two words: "Paint it."

The story has never been confirmed, but studio workers observed that the entire studio was painted shortly afterward.

Hughes apparently has a liking for late hours. No word is issued from his office before 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Hughes employees are accustomed to being awakened at three and four in the morning by a message from the boss.

He reportedly looks at film in a Goldwyn projection room for hours at a time in the early morning. He can sometimes be seen in the daytime, sleeping in his modest automobile parked outside his office.

Many of his top stars have never seen Hughes, although they may have talked to him on the telephone. Robert Mitchum is one of those.

Jane Russell sees him only once a year. That is the time when her contract comes up for option. On that day she reportedly sits outside his office for anywhere from one hour to six. Finally, Hughes appears, the contract is signed and that is that.

The Hughes mode of releasing pictures is also cause for wonderment. The classic example is "The Outlaw," which he showed in two locations until he ran into censorship trouble. Then he held the film for seven years before releasing it generally.

He just now is releasing the Harold Lloyd film, made five years ago, and "Venetia," which was remade four or five times over as many years. He has announced no plans to bring out two Jane Russell films produced two and three years ago.

Hughes is also noted for his long-running contracts. Jane Russell, Jack Beutel and Faith Domergue have been kept on salary from five to eight years without acting in a picture. The careers of all three have been activated recently, however.

The most recent of Hughes' amazing adventures in movie-making was "Two Tickets to Broadway." The picture was announced to start last spring. The entire watch. Rehearsals were held for six months until the picture finally started a few weeks ago.

RKO dance rehearsal hall, where sets and all, was moved to Goldwyn studios, where Hughes could waited, possibly for hours, for his quarry.

The blast hit Rummel in the neck and police doctors said he was dead instantly. They fixed the hour at about 1:30 A. M., but the body was not found until six hours later.

The slaying came only two weeks after Cohen picked two other attorneys to represent him before the U. S. Senate committee investigating crime. Asked about the slaying, Cohen gave reporters only a vague answer.

"Sammy just represented me in that other case," said the gambler who has seen two other associates killed in two years and thinks another pair, long missing, have been slain.

The Senate committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D. Tenn.), tried to find out from Cohen who runs big time crime in this county of four million people. Cohen didn't say, but denied that he is the big boss, but testified that he's practically broke from having been roasted so often by police.

The suave Rummel long had been a close associate of Cohen. He occupied a $50,000 home on a densely wooded estate in fashionable Laurel Canyon, which runs from Hollywood through the Hollywood Hills into the San Fernando Valley.

He was credited with getting Cohen out of trouble last year when the gambler was accused of using abusive language to two policemen who came to his door. He also represented Cohen and several of his henchmen when they were charged with conspiracy in the shooting of radio repairman, A. J. Pearson, Cohen's four associates and two police officers who were accused of helping Cohen's escape from jail after a pair of robbie patrolmen picked them up.

Rummel himself was the victim, police reported, of an arson attempt Aug. 2, 1949. The arsonist said a fire within 100 yards of the house had been set with kerosene. Flames burned close to the home before they were extinguished.

His death brought to three the number of Cohen's associates killed since 1948. Harry (Hooky) Rathman was blasted as he sat in Cohen's sunset strip, haberdashery, apparently a victim of an assassination try against his boss.

Edward (Neddie) Herbert was slain in a Cohen ambush outside a cafe in 1949, which wounded his boss and two others.

In addition, Cohen, lieutenant Frank Nicoll, 38, and Dave O'Neil, 29, have been missing for months and Cohen has expressed the view that they have been killed.

Cohen himself has escaped assassination attempts six times in four years, including an explosion which blew a ray much of his expensive home in west Los Angeles.

The maximum penalty provided for violation of the state game law forbidding killing deer does is three months or $300 fine. Taking of game in the breeding grounds is a federal offense. No charge has been made on that count.

Thurmond, who has been located here with the U. S. forest service for several years, is slated to be transferred to Atlanta Dec. 24.

Moslems Riot

father mother and her Moslem schoolteachers husband.

Then thousands of fanatical moslems raged toward the Catholic convent, where the girl and her Dutch mother were reported in hiding.

They threatened to kidnap the child and burn the convent "if it took all night."

After eight hours, the mob still were throwing stones and bottles, leaving up Europeans, especially Dutchmen and attacking vehicles.

Several European women were attacked with bottles and sticks, and a police officer said there were reports some white children had been kidnapped as hostages for Bertha.

Shots were fired and tear gas became used as police battled to break up the mob. Thousands of Moslems flocked to the big Sultan Mosque where priests told them the court decision giving custody of Bertha to her Dutch mother affronted and violated the Mohammedan religion.

Authorities feared the religious outbreak, at a time when the entire Far East is in a ferment, would gravely endanger security and offer an opportunity for Communist sabotage.

Bertha was turned over to Mrs. Adeline Hertogh nine days ago by the Supreme Court after a prolonged hearing in which Malaysians, Indians, and Chinese displayed great interest. The court also annulled the marriage of the child to a Mohammedan.

The mother claimed she gave the child to the Aminah, Malayan staffmen working on a story of the H-Bomb material plant to be built in this area returned to New York today after being manhandled by a group of Ellen-ton citizens.

Police chief John E. Steed said he didn't have first hand information on the fracas yesterday in front of the Baptist Church. But he said that some people "have been confused and hardly responsible for their actions" since it was announced they would have to move their homes to make way for the $250,000,000 H-Bomb project.

There were conflicting versions of the squabble involving the magazine staff members—photographer, his Vern and writer Boston Herndon.

Herndon said in a telephone call to New York that he and Vern had been in the area about a week, talking with people and making pictures. They had arranged with the pastor to photograph people in front of the church after the service.

The way Herndon explained it: "A door opened and a group of men came out. They seemed to be in a hurry. A husky, stocky man was in the lead. The next thing I knew they were slugging Vern. He tried to protect his camera. I went to Vern's assistance. The first thing I knew on the Santa Fe's engineers and geologists took over. Thomas Evans, chief mining engineer for the railroad, told Barton there are some exceptionally rich scattered deposits in the area. Evans added that "a more conservative view, until more is known, is that in the six-mile stretch of limestone already examined, the rock will run from a tenth to a quarter of one per cent in uranium oxide, or from $5 to something over $15 a ton."

Some ore will run to one per cent of 400 a ton, Evans added.

Patton reported on the Americanism Commission. Mrs. M. J. Crandall presided at the Auxiliary meeting and members were welcomed by Mrs. M. E. Baker of Unit No. 53.

Karl H. Baarsing, Legion research specialist of Washington, D. C., declared that we are fighting an enemy that thinks in five dimensions, and termed Communism a world-wide criminal conspiracy bent on the total destruction of the rest of the world.

"It is not merely a new economic theory as founded by Marx, but one of the most perverted, fanatical religions man has ever been cursed by," he asserted. He was introduced by Bryant Patton. Paul Crouch, a former member of the Communist party, who has been aiding the government in investigating Communist activities, warned that there are about 200 dues paying Communists in Florida of whom 50 to 75 are in the Tampa area, the same number in Miami and 25 to 50 in Duval County. The Orlando area has about 12, he said. Pointing out the infiltration of Communists into the AFL among the cigar makers in Tampa, the Progressive Party and other groups in the State, he declared that there are not less than 26,000 members of Communist fronts in the state, forming a fifth column, and prepared for sabotage.

"The next 10 years will determine the fate of humanity," he stated, "and whether our children will grow up as slaves or in freedom and democracy." "The Legionnaires Are Marching," a new song by Harry Wester and Willard Connolly, was sung at the banquet by Stanley Bramley, with Wester accompanying.

National Emergency

Indications were piling up that the Administration was swinging to the thought that action in the wage-price field must be taken without much further delay. There were hints that something may be done before the week's end.

The White House said the questions of declaring a national emergency were discussed at a forenoon meeting of Mr. Truman and his Democratic congressional lieutenants and would be gone over also at an afternoon meeting with top economic advisers.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), one of those at the morning meeting, told reporters the whole matter "is in the stage of discussion and consideration". He wants to get the reaction of the Democratic-Republican congressional group before announcing a committee included Mrs. Joel Field, Mrs. W. E. Hollyhead, Sr., Mrs. D. S. Whidden, Mrs. C. E. Cole, Mrs. W. R. Beecher, Mrs. Joe Garrett and Miss Edna Chittenden had charge of the business session.

In charge of registration were Mrs. E. J. Routh, Mrs. C. E. Hunter, Mrs. Roy Tillis and Mrs. C. F. Proctor. Mrs. Henry McLaughlin, Jr. headed the banquet committee of the Auxiliary with Mrs. Bertha Newsome and Mrs. R. L. Miller assisting.

decision. Besides the afternoon meeting with economic advisers, Mr. Truman also scheduled a meeting with the National Security Council. This is his top advisory board on steps needed for defense of the nation.

In addition, Stephen Early, acting presidential press secretary, said Mr. Truman and his staff have been discussing the idea of a nationwide broadcast by the President some time this week to acquaint the American people with the situation demanding drastic government action. There had been reports a broadcast was under consideration. Early confirmed them in response to questions.

Also at this meeting were Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Alan Valentine, economic stabilization director; Michael V. Disalle, price administrator; and Cyrus C. King, chairman of the wage stabilization board.

Collet told a reporter the idea was for the "old timers" to review some of the problems they ran into. Early said Mr. Truman's conference with his economic advisers would be "limited to the questions of wage and price controls and methods and procedures of applying such controls." He said these wage-price matters were gone over at the meeting with the Democratic congressional "Big Four" and that Mr. Truman also discussed with them the question of issuing a declaration of national emergency.

Early refused to indicate when a decision as to putting on wage-price controls would be made, although other White House sources said Mr. Truman now regards them as inevitable. These sources, asking not to be named, said a declaration of a national emergency probably would be made later this week.

Early, asked if the President believes wage and price controls are inevitable, replied: "I would say that there is a large school of thought that price and wage scales are inevitable."

Colonel Resists Impulse To Burn Down Scarred Pyongyang City Hall

SOUL, (AP)—One of the last Americans to leave Red Pyongyang had to fight a battle to prevent the burning of the city hall. Colonel Charles R. Munke, military governor of the North Korean capital, had spent six weeks organizing a new city government and restoring the city's water and power supply.

There was no rioting or looting—everything was kept under control and the city hall was not burned down. The city hall was a symbol of the new government.

Korean War

inary press pad during the flight back from Korea, to newsmen at Haneul airport.

MacArthur said "the tactical withdrawal forest upon us by overwhelming superiority of enemy numbers have been conducted with skill by the field commanders and the display of much gallantry by all forces concerned."

"They have been made in good order and with unbroken cohesion among the various components. Every possible advantage has been taken of the fortunate premature disclosure of surreptitious enemy buildup operations designed to encompass our destruction by one massive stroke."

"This enemy plan has failed. All our units at Haneul and the losses inflicted on the enemy have been staggering—estimated by local commanders in the field as high as 10 to one compared to our own."

"The enemy's claims of United Nations losses in men and material are fantastically exaggerated. We are being forced to give ground but our fighting capacity has suffered little general impairment."

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead reported from Seoul that MacArthur landed at nearby Kimpoo Airfield and conferred there with Lt. General Walton H. Eighth Army and Maj. General Walker, commander of the U. S. Far East Air Force.

General MacArthur conferred with both of his field commanders, Walker in the west and also with Maj. General Edward M. Almond, commander of the U. S. 10th Corps in the northeast.

He saw both of these men a few days ago when he summoned them to Tokyo for an emergency conference.

It was evident that MacArthur was concerned seriously about the conditions of his forces, particularly the U. S. First Marine Division and units of the Army's Seventh Infantry Division which had battled through a frozen, Chinese-landed hell for two weeks on both sides and south of the Changjin Reservoir in northeast Korea.

A Marine spokesman said the last elements of the 25,000-man escape force completed the hazardous, winding descent from snow-bound mountains rimming the big hydroelectric reservoir to the coastal plain leading to Haneul.

The bitter 50-mile retreat—the longest and one of few in the history of the spirited Marine Corps—began Nov. 28. The spokesman estimated the Leathernecks alone killed 15,000 Chinese in breaking through the series of traps.

With the Marines were the 31st and 42nd Regiments of the Seventh Infantry and about 100 British Royal Marines. They joined forces Sunday with a combined task force of the U. S. Third Division after a vital bridge blown by the Chinese, was repaired.

One grimy, leathery Leatherneck, huddled in his battered tent probably expressed the feelings of all of them with this comment:

"It was tough. That's all—tough!"

A Marine medical officer compared the Leatherneck casualties to those the Corps suffered in taking the tiny atoll of Tarawa in World War II—3,168 men. But total Marine and doughboy casualties were higher.

AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth, the only wire service newsmen who was with the trapped force, said more than 4,000 wounded

Tender Vegetables

Most of the wounded were Marines there was no estimate of American dead, but MacBeth said the number would be high.

The Chinese, he said, watched nearly 200 bodies being carried into a big grave by a bulldozer. There was no time for more elaborate arrangements.

MacBeth called the withdrawal "one of the fightingest retreats in military history." He said the Leathernecks "waited out of 12 days of freezing hell, full of light after a gory nightmare of death in Korea's icy mountains."

Temperatures at times plunged to 25 degrees below zero.

The Marine retreat began Nov. 28 from the five-mile village of Yudam west of Changjin Reservoir. Three Red Chinese Divisions and one regiment attacked the two Marine regiments.

Five days later the Marines, badly battered, reached Hagaru south of the reservoir. They joined other Marine units and soggy troops who had fought down from Changjin's western slopes.

They pushed out at Jaykarak for Koto, six or seven miles south. For 24 hours, MacBeth said, they fought one of the bloodiest battles of the Korean war. They slipped into Koto—blood frozen in their skins; their clothes stiff with grotesque dead men lying across trailers and stretchers; live men stumbling along, grimacing from frostbite, using their rifles as crutches."

Then on Friday morning they began the retreat from Koto, up a high mountain plateau, then down a snow-choked river gorge to the valley floor 12 miles away.

They linked up with a north-bound rescue column early Sunday. Somewhere north of Haneul was another American force, 8,000 to 8,000 men of the Seventh Division's 17th Regimental Combat Team.

The regiment's withdrawal from the Manchurian border at Hyesonjin still was cloaked by a security silence. Its retreat route stretched over more than 100 miles of mountainous, Red-dominated territory.

On the far northeast coast, elements of two Republic of Korea (ROK) Divisions, the Third and the Capital, were retreating southward toward Haneul and its part of Hangeul. Some of the ROKs were removed by sea.

But the two cities still are threatened. A force of two Chinese Red divisions—up to 25,000 men—was reported moving toward Haneul from the northwest.

A 10th Corps spokesman said American troops were in wait for them.

U. S. warplanes continued hammering Chinese troops and supply arteries throughout North Korea.

Marine and Navy pilots from the carriers, Leyte and Stetson, reported killing more than 2,400 Chinese Sunday in a single sector north of Haneul. Fifth Air Force pilots estimated 1,900 Chinese were killed or wounded in northwest sectors.

B-29s blasted five Red military centers—P'yongyan, the Korean Red capital; Kunu, Huihuan, Sunchon and Keungyo. The bombs landed and burst in flames and fire.

Except for one burst with six Russian-made MIG-15 jet fighters, the Allied planes again were pre-

Nobel Prizes Are Presented To Four American Winners

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 11 (AP)—Nine men were presented Nobel prizes yesterday at a resplendent twin ceremony here and in Oslo, Norway. It was the 54th anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite and creator of the war.

Winners of the prizes, totaling nearly $200,000 in cash and representing the world's foremost honors for contributions to humanity, included four Americans:

Mississippi novelist William Faulkner, awarded the 1949 literature prize, $39,987.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the first Negro ever to be so honored, who received the $31,674 peace prize for his work as United Nations mediator during the Palestine war.

Dr. Philip S. Hench and Dr. Edward C. Kendall of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., $19,571 each for their research in hormones, including the discovery of cortisone, a powerful agent in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

The other recipients—two Britons, two Germans and a Swiss—were:

British philosopher Bertrand Russell, 1950 prize for literature $31,715.

Prof. Cecil F. Powell of Britain's Bristol University, physics prize, $31,715, for his work on cosmic rays.

Dr. Otto Diels and Prof. Kurt approval of the Communist nations.

Knowland said the United Nations last June took a firm stand against aggression by North Korea, but now is confronted with aggression by 500,000 Red Chinese.

"How can the U. N. maintain that aggression by a small nation is aggression but by a big nation is not aggression?" he asked.

"The U. N. is on trial," Smith said "we still believe that might does not make right."

Adler, German teacher-student team who shared the $31,715 chemistry prize for their discovery of the Diels synthesis, a method to produce odors and complicated chemical compounds artificially.

Dr. Taddeus Reichstein of the University of Basel, Switzerland, who received $10,571 along with Dr. Hench and Dr. Kendall in the three-man medical award.

section with investigation of their loyalty. As part of its inquiry the grand jury sought the names of officers of the Communist Party of Colorado and books and records showing the party membership.

High Court also held an oral hearing on the American citizenship of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ackermann, whose wartime writings at Taylor, Texas, indicated sympathy for Adolf Hitler.

During the last year the U. S. District Court in San Antonio revoked the couple's naturalization certificates on the ground they had falsely sworn allegiance to the German Reich.

Justice Minton announced today 5-3 decision in behalf of Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed, Jackson and Burton.

Justice Black wrote a dissent in which Justices Frankfurter and Douglas concurred. Justice Clark took no part.

In other action today the High Court agreed to rule, in a number of separate cases, on the scope of the Taft-Hartley law's ban on secondary boycotts, in such boycotts, labor unions seek to win disputes by trying to compel other companies to stop doing business with the firm directly involved in the dispute.

Cases accepted by the tribunal for review concern a group of Louisiana Rice Mills, a specialty store in Chattanooga, Tenn., a Port Chester, N. Y., electrical contractor, and a general contractor at Denver.

Challenged: Four Americans, F-80 jets took on the Red fighters in a five-minute dogfight. One Red jet was shot down. The others fled to the safety of Manchuria.

Concentration plane pilots spotted an enormous exodus of North Korean refugees toward South Korea. An air summary reported: "Estimate populations of North Korea towns are seemingly migrating southward in the face of the Chinese Communist advance."

The Senate also passed a bill today to permit the union shop and the check-off of union dues for railway and airline workers.

The measure, passed by voice vote, now goes to the House. A similar bill has been bottled up in the House Rules committee for several months.

The measure is an amendment to the Railway Labor Act, which now prohibits both the union shop and the check-off of dues in the railway and airline industries.

Under a union shop agreement workers are required to join a union after being employed. The pending bill calls for joining within 60 days.

The check-off system provides for deduction of union dues and other assessments from wages.

President To Talk To Nation On War Threat

Unnamed White House Source Indicates Wages And Prices To Be Controlled

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Declaration of a National Emergency by President Truman probably would require wage and price controls immediately, Senate Majority Leader Lucas said today after a closed meeting of Democratic Senators.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP)—President Truman is arranging to address the American people by radio Friday or Saturday night on the world situation, and the home front steps he believes are necessary as a result of the threat of war.

This was learned today from high White House sources, unobtainable by name.

At the same time, there was official word of the broadening of the conference Mr. Truman called for tomorrow with congressional leaders of both parties.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance Committee was added to the group of Senators and representatives Mr. Truman will consult at 10 A. M. tomorrow on plans for the proclamation of a National Emergency—a step expected to be preliminary to a rapid series of moves placing the country's economy on a war footing.

Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Marshall and Secretary of the Treasury Byrd also were asked to be present for tomorrow's meeting with the congressional group.

White House officials, who did not want to be identified, said that the president's address will be made to speed establishment of the machinery to put them into effect as early as possible.

They said it will take thousands of people to administer and enforce price control regulations and that there is no way of saving at this time how soon the controls can be put into effect.

More Publicity Is Coming To Sanford

Sanford, the Mayfair Inn, and Florida Fashions are being placed prominently before people all over the United States and in some foreign countries, according to a report from Max Rogel, Public Relations Counsel, who came here recently with the group of writers and photographers from New York City.

The releases also have gone to Union Radio of Havana and TUP, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The pictures have been shown on the CBS-TV, NBC-TV and DuMont networks on their news photo-TV show.

Mr. Rogel also said, "Telephone calls and letters have been constantly coming into the office from the people who had such a good time on the trip and who thought that all the arrangements made for them there in Sanford were excellent throughout."
