Shooting

SANFORD - William Wynn, 28, of Sanford, turned himself in at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility at 8 a.m. today. Wynn has been charged with aggravated assault and one count of shooting into an occupied building. According to sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough, Wynn reportedly fired a 9mm round at Len Sutton, 30, outside Sutton's home on Coolidge Street on July 27th. The bullet missed Sutton and struck the front of the house.

McDonough said Wynn is a patrol officer with the Orlando police department, and Sutton is the vice principal of Sanford Middle School.

Wynn has aiready been released on $2,000 bond at 9 a.m. this morning.

Party Machine building

SANFORD - The future fate of the former Party Machine, 2544 Park Drive, remains undecided. The building was badly damaged by fire last year.

Sanford fire investigators originally declared arson as the cause of the blaze. So far, no arrests have been made and the case remains open.

The City of Sanford ordered the building to be condemned in November of last year, but a number of extension dates have been issued number of extension dates have been issued since that time. The most recent extension would have ended this Friday, Aug. 12. The matter was discussed during this past Monday's City Commission meeting. Although City Manager Bill Simmons had suggested a 90-day extension to allow time for roof joists to arrive and begin installation, the City Commission agreed unanimously to approve another 30-day extension. City Building Official Gary Winn had received a letter from Charles Namey, who has been conducting removations of the building. Namey had reportedly ordered structural steel for the roof, and was presently waiting for the roof, and was presently waiting for the manufacture and delivery of the steel. In approving the 30-day extension, commissioners indicated that amount of time would be sufficient to allow the roofing reconstruction to get underway.

GENEVA - Once feared to become the site of another borrow pit, Camp David Hedrick will now be preserved for all residents of Seminole County.

County commissioners unanimously approved the $650,000 purchase of the 182-acre boy scout camp on State Road 426 yesterday. The Central Florida Council of the Boy Scouts of America had sought to sell off the camp for about three years to raise money for new scout offices in Maitland.

The scouts had sought $995,000 for the property. Also, commissioners agreed unanimously to purchase the 233-acre HI Oaks West site on the Econlockhatchee River for $3.5 million. The site represents a portion of a controversial 900-acre development site in one of the most diverse environmental communities in the county. Negotiations are underway for the remaining property. which lies east of the Econ.

Geneva-area scouts had fought for the preservation of their local camp since 1991, when the central council posted the property for sale.

Initially, the council planned to develop the camp further and expand a pond on the site for boating. but amid opposition from area residents, they retreated.

Expressway builders Hubbard Construction Co. once considered the site for a borrow pit. They backed off, but not before the county cited them, for damaging native vegetation while they were conducting their surveys.

Scout council officials say they needed the money to replace their aging offices in Orlando. Bee Nature, Page 5A

Riverboat casino measure won't be on the ballot

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD - Port of Sanford director Dennis Dolgner said he was disappointed this morning to find he may lose a potential large new tenant, a riverboat casino.

"That's the way it goes in busi-ness." said Dolgner. "We knew there were a lot of hurdles to overcome going in.'

Proponents of riverboat gambling at the port and 20 other locations throughout the state lost their bet Tuesday to be placed on the Nov. 8 ballot. Safe Bet for Florida sought to have 21 gambling cruiseboats throughout the state. Although they had collected more than 600,000 names for the proposal, only 368,539 had been officially OK'd by county elections supervisors.

A Leon County circuit judge rejected requests by Safe Bet at-torney Lew Oliver and another petition group to extend the 5 p.m. deadline. Oliver argued some super-visors refused to count gambling signatures. Oliver said he was considering an appeal of the decision.

According to Sanford Police Commander Dennis Whitmire, the stabbing reportedly occurred at 9:59 p.m. Tuesday night. He said officers found Thomas' body on the living room floor near the front door.

"We took Kinney to the Sanford police station for questioning." Whitmire said, "and she told us Thomas, an old friend, had come to her apartment around 6 p.m., with a bottle of gin." "She told us that after a while. Thomas fell asleep on the sofa, but awoke later and got into an argu-ment about money." Whitmire continued. One escapee still at large IMMOKALEE — The last of the seven inmates who escaped from Hendry Correctional Institution into alligator- and mosquito-infested swampland was still at large early today.

Two thirsty escapees were caught Tuesday after they were seen drinking out of a cattle trough 30 miles from the state prison, said prison spokesman Dick Vollmer. A woman living near Clewiston called Hendry County sheriff's deputies after two men came to her door asking for water, Vollmer said.

Captured were murderer Hector Carballo and convicted rapist Juan Delarco, who escaped Sunday with five other inmates.

The only missing escapee was Caswell Crawford, 38, who was serving 25 years for armed robbery. The inmates overpowered a guard and scaled two 12-foot fences to get free. Three were tracked down by dogs within hours, and one was caught Monday.

Man sentenced in beating death

FORT LAUDERDALE - A man has been sentenced to 16 years in state prison for his role in the beating and kicking death of a Vietnamese-American college student who objected to racial slurs at a party.

Luyen Phan Nguyen, 19, a pre-med student at the University of Miami, died two days after he was attacked when he and others left the party in suburban Coral Springs to settle the dispute.

His mother, who was near tears in court, said she regretted only seven people were charged in the August 1992 attack because witnesses reported more than a dozen were involved. The melee started when a man slapped Nguyen, and a second youth pushed or punched him in the chest.

Christopher Madalone, 23, of Tamarac was the only defendant to plead guilty in the case, admitting a charge of second-degree murder.

During Tuesday's sentencing, prosecutor Peter Magrino asked for a 20-year term for Madalone, but Circuit Court Judge Richard Eade opted for the lighter sentence of 16 years.

An appeals court already has upheld a 50-year term for a co-defendant in the killing, citing that man's escalating pattern of violence.

Florida Bar files challenge

FORT LAUDERDALE - The Florida Bar wants to have former U.S. Rep. Larry Smith, free from prison after serving time for tax evasion, disbarred for life rather than a recommended two years.

The bar filed papers last week with the state Supreme Court to challenge a Palm Beach Circuit judge's recommendation for a two-year suspension.

The five-term representative decided not to seek re-election in 1992 after questions mounted about his finances.

Smith pleaded guilty last year to felony counts of income tax evasion and lying about a $10,000 campaign fund disbursement. He was sentenced to three months in prison and two years probation.

He also was cited in the House bank probe for overdrafts

The also was check in the noise bank probe for overthalds totaling more than $49,000. Freed from prison in December, Smith has joined a Washington public relations firm as a political consultant. He was chastised in June by House Speaker Tom Foley for abusing his privileges as a former member to lobby in the House clogkroom.

Governor asked to replace board members

By IKE FLORES Associated Press Writer

LEESBURG - Unwilling to wait for the November elections, a citizens' group is calling on the governor to remove three Lake County School Board members who adopted a policy teaching that American culture is superior to all others.

Gov. Lawton Chiles has the power to remove the "extremist members" for malfeasance in office, said Co-Chairman Mary Pringle of the nonpartisan group People for Mainstream Values.

The ultraconservative voting bloc repre-sented by School Board Chairwoman Pat Hart and members Judy Pearson and Claudia Ramsey will be broken up this fall when voters select three members.

But, "We're trying to take the three of them out now so that the stagnation and damage will not continue," said Keith Mullins, the group's other co-chairman.

"They've been engaged in a series of highly questionable policies, but they've finally done something that's illegal and not just irresponsible." Mullins told a news conference Tuesday.

The board, in a 3-2 vote last May, committed a "flagrant violation of Florida law" and violated the fundamental rights of students and teachers in the county, said Ms. Pringle.

The three usually vote together on issues supported by the ultraconservative Christian Coalition.

Mrs. Hart announced last month she would not seek re-election. Voters have a chance to fill her seat and those of the two minority members. But Ms. Pearson's and Ms. Ramsey's terms run for another two ycars.

The policy written by Mrs. Hart calls for teachers to instill in children the concept that American values and culture are superior to those of other nations.

Tuesday's appeal to Chiles was supported by President Gail Burry of the Lake County Education Association, a teacher's union that has filed a lawsuit against the board challenging the policy.

State Education Commissioner Doug Jamerson has agreed that the policy violates state law, which requires the teaching of cultural diversity.

Leaders of the county group of business leaders, parents and teachers said they were acting now to head off any "possibly irreversible damage" by the board majority before its philosophical and political makeup changes this fall.

The nonpartisan citizens' coalition is supporting five "mainstream candidates" out of 16 people seeking election.

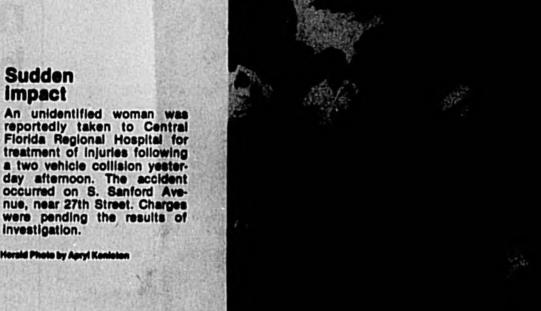

Mullins denied the group was playing politics by calling on the governor to act now.

Among the current proposals that could be pushed through before the November elections, Mullins said, were a reduction in school taxes, a revamping of sex education in the schools and rejection of plans to build needed schools for the growing county.

Mrs. Hart did not return phone calls to her home in Groveland on Tuesday. Ms. Pearson and Ms. Ramsey could not be reached through the school board offices.

One of the 11 candidates who was not endorsed by the mainstream coalition, Matthew Modica, attended the press conference and criticized the group.

"There's a lack of credibility for a mainstream, bipartisan, grassroots organi-zation to exclude me and other candidates," said Modica.

said in imposing the sentence Monday. Daniel Jakeway, a 43-year-old St. Petersburg lawn mainte-nance worker, broke into the minister's home last year and threw a sheet over the woman's head.

Jakeway dragged the woman through her kitchen into the bedroom, where he threw her face down on a bed. He used a knife or scissors to cut off a large amount of her hair before fleeing.

Only two weeks earlier, Jakeway had poured glue on her hair and offered to help her remove it, prosecutors said. The woman believed he had poured it on her head by accident. She declined his offer to help clean it and told him to leave, prosecutors said.

At the time of the crimes, Jakeway was on four years probation for a similar attack three years ago.

The group also plans to file a lawsuit on behalf of officers who claimed they were unfarily denied advancement. State Attorney Harry WASHINGTON - Many of the nation's top economists believe rapid inflation is at most a distant threat and predict this year's increase will be unchanged from 1993's modest 2.7 percent.

But they contend rising prices could accelerate dangerously if the economy were to grow too fast, if unemployment fell too far or if capacity utilization rose too high. The consensus forecast of 50 economists surveyed early this month was unchanged from both June and July and 0.1 percentage point below the 2.8 percent inflation forecasts from January through May.

The 2.7 percent inflation rate in 1993, as measured by the government's Consumer Price Index, was the smallest since a 1.1 percent rate in 1986. The monthly survey, released today, is conducted by Blue Chip Economic Indicators, a Sedona, Ariz., newsletter. The publication said the consensus prediction was that the CPI would rise 3.2 percent in 1995, down 0.1 percentage point from the June and July surveys and below the level the economists fear would signal rapid acceleration.

"While there was a wide range of views, it's the consensus opinion ... that a year-over-year rise of 3.4 percent in the CPI should be considered an 'unacceptable upper limit."" said Robert J. Eggert Sr., an economist who conducts the monthly surveys and edits the newsletter. Eggert said in an interview that price increases of 3.4 percent and more are viewed as possibly signaling a return to the double-digit price increases of 1979 and the early 1980s.

If the economy were to grow at an excessive rate, it could generate demand that would push up prices. The GDP grew 3 percent in 1993, but it was expanding at a 3.7 percent annual rate in the second quarter of this year.

The utility has 185 connections in Fern Park.

At press time, Irven had not calculated what the savings would be to Seminole County customers under the uniform rate vs. stand alone rates.

Rates for, about 100,000 .customers in 23 counties will be affected if the PSC upholds the regulatory agency's staff rec-ommendation.

The precedent-setting regula-tory scheme provoked enough complaints to persuade commissioners to revisit their decision more than a year ago to impose statewide rates for more than 120 utility systems owned by Southern States Utilities Inc.

After the review, the com-mission's staff urged the PSC on Tuesday to stick with uniform rates.

They said the rates would make service more affordable for a larger number of customers and prevent the "rate shock" that some customers would experience if they returned to system-by-system rates.

The PSC is scheduled to reconsider its decision on Aug. 18.

Opponents said they didn't believe customers in some water and sewer systems should subsidize the operating costs of other systems. They said customers in each system should be responsible for the costs of repairing and maintaining equipment.

The commission originally approved the uniform rates in February 1993 and the new rates took effect in September.

The cost of water for the average residential customer using 10.000 gallons a month would be $17.15 with uniform rates. The cost of the same service would vary from $8.86 to $155.85 a month under standalone rates.

Refugees are not just local problem

" Florida Governor Lawton Chiles has expressed concern over a possible invasion of Cubans fleeing from the Castro regime. He ynade his comments in a speech in Miami carlier this week.

The governor has ordered state agencies to review their role in feeding, housing, and ¹providing medical care to the refugees in an event of another Marial-like boatlift.

Last year, the Coast Guard picked up over 5,000 Cuban refugees. Last weekend alone, 230 more were picked up.

? We are glad the governor is concerned. We hope however, that the concern is carried forward to the federal government as well.

As we continue to have an influx of refugees from the island nations, and if the predicted flood from Cuba comes about, it is our tax dollars that will be paying the entire tab.

¹ This is where an international problem has a direct local relationship. Florida will have to come up with financing for food, housing. medical treatment, and many other necessities which will be needed. And there will be a need, as these refugees will need plenty of care.

In almost all cases, people boating to freedom come without clothing or personal belongings. They have nothing. Unfortu-nately, some even suffer the loss of family members and friends who take the risk, but are unsuccessful.

These people are betting their very lives on completing that treacherous journey. It stands as proof that the life-style promised for Cubans by Castro many years ago is not working. Freedom has been eliminated. most logical is Castro's overthrow. Even then however, the economy of Cuba has been so destroyed, it may take financial help from other nations including the United States, to get people back into the position in life they crve.

Washington August score card

It's August round-up time in Washington. The Republicans will make big gains in the Congress congress is trying to move ahead on some this fall, it is likely that an incremental reform Congress is trying to move ahead on some legislation and get home to do some politicking. You'll be seeing them soon. They'll tell you everything about America and the world, through partisan lenses. Objectivity is needed. Here is my status report:

A huge $30 billion crime bill looks as if it will pass. It's not a bad bill. Is there pork in it? Sure. But remember it started life as a Senate bill to accommodate both conservatives -- who wanted more punishment -- and liberals -- who wanted more prevention. The bill has both. (Some, not all, of the prevention is pork.)

But the important part is that $9 billion will be spent on new prison space, and it will be keyed to tougher state sentencing provisions. That keeps more thugs off the streets, where they can hurt you.

No one knows whether a health care bill will pass this Congress or what form it will take. I lean toward a major, but incremental, insurance reform measure including "portability" and coverage of "pre-existing conditions." That could still happen this session, as opposed to Clinton's more grandiose scheme.

But there could be no bill at all. What happens then? If you assume, as predicted, that the

It doesn't look as if there will be time to pass a new welfare bill this session. In any event, Clinton's bill is too soft to meet his pledge to "end welfare as we know it." But, again, if Republicans gain scats, next year's negotiations could yield a tougher bill. There is the potential of a grand politi-cal trony forming. It is possible that a Republican congreasional victory this fall will help Clinton pase and justifiably. There is a big argument about the growing political role of the "Religious Right" in American politics. There are extremists in every movement, and it is not hard to find scary quotes. But most rank-and-file members seem to be decent citizens reacting against what appears to be a social breakdown, some of which is at least partially caused by government, on many levels, including school boards. Most important, let us remember that it is good, not bad, when more people enter politics. Effectiveness in politics means forming coali-tions. That tends to buff the rough edges off the participants. That is already happening. Thus, on the crucial issue of abortion, the Religious Bight has made source and a source in a source of the so Right has made common cause in campaigns with conservatives who are pro-choice. problem. They do need to be told however, that Floridians are fed up with this lack of support and endless delays, and are not going to stand for it.

We have many former Cubans in our Central Florida area. They are good citizens and are just as much a part of our society and daily routins as anyone cise.

If we can't handle an influx of thousands more however, we, not Castro, will be in the most trouble.

May we finish our road together

WASHINGTON - Sometimes, it takes wat-ching somebody sobbing over a bottle of "Concy Island Cotton Candy" nail polish - or reading the postcard you picked up on a whim - to remind you:

When it comes to learning, what you need to know is often found outside a classroom.

Thank goodness. Because in Atlanta at Unity '94 — the first joint meeting of the national organisations for journalists of African, Hispanic, Asian and Native American descent -1 panic, Asian and Native American descent -1couldn't seem to get near class. At Unity, "class" mean workshops. As a black writer who's always inspired by attend-ing seminars and panels at meetings of African American journalists. I was thrilled by the possibilities offered by Unity's diverse gather-ing of 5,000 journalists. Workshop topics ranged from the media's continued use of offensive sport team names, to Aprile actors continued international and the second secon journalists from other cultures. J was just about to get depressed. Then I knoked at what I was learning outside of class. Bome leasens were inevitable, like the one in a black colleague's description of a lively ression on "Mythe and Stereotypes." At times, she felt tension between the various groups such as when a Hispanic journalist saked. "Why is it that when the media discuss racism, it's so often about black and white — and not brown?" and not brown?"

At such moments, my friend said, "people feit very separate."

feit very separate." There were other lessons as well, as in how, during an auction of photographs by minority photojournalists, African Americans bought photos of Asian subjects, Latinos purchased prints highlighting Native Americans, Asian Americans acquired photos by blacks. One of my most memorable lessons on the pain of prejudice came from a woman who was neither black, Latino, Asian nor Native Ameri-can - my manipuried.

Sitting, my hands dipped in sude, I listened to Inna, a 30-th Russian immigrant who'd been in the United States for four years. In accented English, she said thousands of Russian immigrants have recently settled in Georgia.

After the collapse of the Boviet government. Inna explained, life in the majority-Muslim city of her birth became increasingly tough for Christians and Jews. (Inna, who is Jewish, is married to a Christian.) When she, her husband and toddler daughter began receiving threats, she said, they applied for asylum in the United States.

Inna looked up from the pink "Cotton Candy" polish she was applying. "When I was, growing up, everyone got along. Nobody cared what religion you were." Buddenly, she was crying, "I'm sorry," she said, dabbing her eyes with a towel. "It was my home."

I felt deeply for Inna - even as I shook my head over how so many citizens of a nation we once reviled could resettle in one state, while black Haitians face a virtual tribunal.

There were issons to be learned from a cocktall reception chat with columnist Bill Wong, of the Oakland Tribune, who sat on a panel on Asian stereotypes. Few of the journalists who write about Asian American street gangs, he said, mention the poverty, "cultural dislocation" and historical context — including the Vietnam War — of the kids who join them.

When it comes to learning, what you need to know is often found outside a classroom.

Time magazine Managing Editor James Gaines, a member of a panel I was on examining media coverage of the O.J. examining media coverage of the O.J. Simpson case, took responsibility for the infamous computer-darkened mug shot of Simpson that appeared on the cover of the news weekly. Accepting audience members' outrage and ribbing with equanimity. Gaines said his purpose for attending Unity was to hire people — journalists who might one day prevent such a mistake.

So many leasons. Everywhere I turned, I new people meeting, joking, disagreeing — not as many in mixed groups as I would have liked, but a lot.

By the last night of the conference, I was exhausted from learning. Waiting with friends for a table at a restaurant, I wandered into a gift shop and picked up a postcard. Reading its inscription — a prayer from the Laguna Pueblo tribe — I had to smile. "I add my breath to your breath, that our days may be long on the Earth," it read.

"That the days of our people may be long, that we shall be as one person. "That we may finish our road together."

grants at the turn of the century. The reason for the bridge, he says, is to save families the cost of the 86 ferry ride it now takes to visit the island.

McCain considered the project little more than election-year largess, and took to the Senate floor with an amendment to eliminate Lautenberg's footbridge. Besides the backing of most of his Republican colleagues, Mc-Cain's endeavor was supported by the normally partian New York congressional delegation, which doesn't want to cede control of Ellis Island to New Jersey.

In fact, the only people who seem to favor the bridge are Lautenberg and his colleagues in the New Jensey congressional delegation. The project has been opposed by groups ranging from the National Parks Service, which maintains Ellis Island, to the National Trust for Historic Preservation and Citizena Against Government Waste, among other groups.

McCain had unwittingly broken one of the cardinal rules of Senate protocol: Thou shalt not meas with thy neighbor's pork. Lautenberg, apparently incensed that his bridge was being challenged by a senator from the distant state of Arisona, struck back at McCain by attacking Arizona's most treasured landmark, the Grand Canyon.

"Perhaps we ought to reduce (the Grand Canyon) to its earlier status and not have bus traffic, automobile traffic, lodges, restaurant facilities, helicopter flights through the Grand Canyon," a visibly angered Lautenberg said. "Maybe we should... return the Grand Canyon to its natural state so that people can understand what it was like to see the Grand Canyon in its early days, with Native Americans living there, and have the full natural experience."

In the heat of battle, Lautenberg apparently forgot that American Indians are still living in the Grand Canyon. McCain wasted little time in correcting Lautenberg's lapse: "So I also say to the senator from New Jersey for his edification, that we do have Native Americans living in the Grand Canyon. I encourage him to visit them."

Shortly after the debate, a Lautenberg staffer retreated to the Senate Clerk and Recorder office, where floor action is transcribed for inclusion in the Congressional Record. In the middle of the classroom-sized office is a table, where sensiors and staffers are free to correct grammatical mistakes and, in Lautenberg's case, factual errors. A Lautenberg spokesman told our associate Jan Moller that the Record is routinely revised for grammatical errors and misstatements. McCain's efforts to kill the bridge project ultimately proved futile. His amendment lost by a vote of 56-45.

"Why is our society willing to allow people to experience the degradation of begging for care after a lifetime of work and personal responsibility?" Mitchell demanded.

"There are people in great need in America," rejoined Senate Minority Leader Bob Tuesday evening with a litany of Dole, but the problem is figuring out "how to help those people without damaging the greatest health care system in the world."

Dole threw his own 619-page bill in the legislative hopper. It would outlaw many current insurance practices and offer subsidies to people up to 150 percent of the poverty line, but avoid new taxes or any requirement for businesses to pay for insurance.

The $3.5 million purchase removes another major development from an environmentally-sensitive site. Approved in 1990 for 197 single-family homes and 643 apartments, the proposal - and approval - was controversial because the property lies within the Econ basin. Simmons also stressed that Sanford had not raised its millage rate for the past six years. Most of the cities have been able to maintain the same millage rate except Oviedo, which climbed from 4.3750 to 5.3750 this year, which is Oviedo's millage cap level.

"People come to us all the time demanding to know why our millage rate is so high," he said, "but when you consider that we don't have the expensive housing and developments some of the cities around here have, yet we must still provide police and other services, it's easy to see how our tax structure must be formed."

enough signatures and satisfied the court. Although twice as many peti-

Groups had proposed changing the state constitution as it deals with taxes, casinos, fishing nets, Everglades restoration, gay rights, prisons, property rights, wages and the election of sheriffs and utility regulators.

One of the two dozen other campaigns that were doomed this year included a proposal to levy an extra penny in sales tax to build prisons and finance other crime-fighting programs. The prison-penny measure has gotten approval from the court and supporters said the proposal would go before voters in 1996. Insurance Commissioner Tom Gallagher served as its spokesman until he announced his bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The group had 282,968 signatures when the 5 p.m. deadline hit, Joyce said.

Three citizen initiatives that were rejected by the state Supreme Court would have levied a penny-per-pound tax on sugar to raise money for Everglades cleanup, banned any state or local law that extended anti-discrimination protection to gays and required that most prisoners serve 85 percent of their sentences.

Changing with the times SSC Eagles going fastpitch this fall

From Staff Reports

FIVE POINTS - There's nothing like a change of pace to keep things fresh.

The Seminole Softball Club's Eagle Division (14-and-Under), which produced the National Softball Association's Youth World Series champions this summer, will be making the switch from slowpitch to fastpitch for its fall league.

According to the August edition of the club's newsletter, Seminole Softball Chatter, the change is being made to help prepare girls who may want to play softball in high school.

"Our high schools started playing fast pitch last year and it is our responsibility as a club to introduce our Eagle Division to the game," explains the story announcing the change. "Eighty to 85 percent of them will be trying out for a high school team in a year or two. With your (the parents) help, this transition wil be a smooth one.

To further the instructional mission of the league, umpires will be assigned to the games to help the players gain a better feel for the game and the rules differences between slowpitch and fastpitch. The SSC's time limits, run rules, and clubhouse rules will continue to exist.

Teams, which will be assigned based on the middle schools that the girls attend, will be limited to 12 players to promote high participation and exposure to the "new" game.

The Eagles will be the second SSC division to switch to fastpitch. Last year, it was the Falcons (15 through 18) who played a fastpitch schedule in the fail. This fail, the Falcons will play a competitive fastpitch season.

Also, a fastpitch rules clinic has been sched-uled for Sunday, Aug. 28, at the Five Poinys complex. The clinic is for managers, coaches, and league members interested in participating in the Eagle and Falcon divisions this fall. Other divisional coaches are welcome to attend.

The club's three other age groups - Sparrows (8 and Under), Starlings (10 and Under), and Hawks (11 and 12) - will play instructional slowpitch seasons this fall.

Registration for the fall season, which is scheduled to begin Saturday, Sept. 10, and end Saturday, Nov. 19, will be available beginning this Saturday and be conducted daily through Sunday, Aug. 21.

Players may register at Seminole Softball Club complex on State Road 419 (between U.S. 17-92 Bee Softball, Page 2B

Florida suspends Winter Park's Foy

Associated Press

GAINESVILLE - Sophomore running back Terrenor Foy will miss the entire season for disciplinary reasons. Florida coach Steve Spurrier said Tuesday.

Assistant Athletic Director Norm Carlson clarified Spurrier's statement by saying Foy, a graduate of Winter Park High School, has been suspended indefinitely.

Foy was expected to miss only the first five games after breaking team rules this past spring for the second time in a year. Spurrier did not say whether Foy's suspension was the result of a more recent violation or the one that occurred in the spring.

"Terrence Foy is incligible for games," Spurrier said.

"He is eligible to practice. From what I understand, he's been suspended for the year. It's university policy."

Foy played in five games in 1993, finishing with 104 yards and two touchdowns. Foy missed two late-season games for breaking team rules a first time.

In spite of his suspension, Foy was expected to challenge for the starting tailback position in the spring. But he got into even more trouble and was forced to miss several days of practice so he could concentrate on school work. At the conclusion of spring practice, it was announced that a second rules violation would cost him five games of eligibility this season.

Florida is now left with just three scholarship tailbacks - two redshirt freshmen and one true Ireshman. None of the three has any game experience.

outduelled fellow pole sitter Pete Orr for the point. Burkett held the lead until lap 11, when he relinquished it to Orr. Five laps later, Burkett regained the advantage with a high-groove pass.

For the next 30 laps, Orr, Daniel Keene, and Balough, running in single-file formation, tried to overtake Burkett.

On lap 43, Balough moved into third. Two laps later, he got by Orr. On the following lap, Balough overtook Burkett.

With Balough on the point, the battle for second place seesawed between Keene, the evening's fastest qualifier, and Burkett. Orr was running in third until he spun into the infield and later withdrew to the pits.

Girls lead increase in prep sports participation

Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - The increasing number of girls in high school athletics has boosted overall participation to the third-highest level in 24 years, the National Federation of State High School Associations said Tucsday.

The group reported that participation in high school athletics increased for the fifth straight year in 1993-94. The federation has conducted the survey since 1971.

The survey is based on figures from state high school associations across the country. It found there were 5.614.980 athletic participants during the last school year, the highest since the baby boom figure of 6.5 million in 1977-78.

The 1993-94 figure is up by 201,102 from the previous year - 127.266 in girls' sports, 62.141 in boys' sports and 11,695 in coed sports. The survey said there were 2,124,755 participants in girls' athletics, more than 41,000 ahead of the record set in 1977-78.

Bruce Howard, a federation spokesman, said that athletic participation by girls is up in part due to an increase in opportunities. "Participation has, perhaps, plateaued for boys. For girls, in fast-pitch softball and soccer. for example, more and more schools are starting those sports," Howard said. "So, you have a continual increase in chances for girls to participate."

Basketball remained the most popular sport among girls with 412,576 participants. Pastpitch softball registered the biggest gain with an additional 1.088 schools and 31.480 participants nationally.

Girls soccer continued a rise in popularity, with participation increasing by more than 17,000 in the past year. Participation has increased from 23.475 in 1975 to 166,173 last year.

The top 10 girls' participation sports in 1993-94 were basketball, 412,576; outdoor track and field, 345,700; volleyball, 327,616; fast-pitch softball, 257,118; soccer, 166,173; tennis, 136,239; cross country, 124,700; swimming and diving. 102,652; field hockey, 53,747, and slow-pitch softball, 41,118.

Football continued to be the most popular sport for high school boys and it registered the biggest gain - 17,727 - in the number of participants.

The federation said interest in boys' soccer parallels the growth in the girls' competition. Participation was up by 13,443 over the previous year to 255,538. Participation in the sport has almost doubled since 1979 when there were 132.073 participants and has pushed it ahead of tennis, cross country and wrestling in popularity.

The top 10 boys' participation sports in 1993 were football, 928,134; basketball, 530,068; baseball, 438,846; outdoor track and field, 419,758; soccer, 255,538; wrestling, 233,433; cross country, 162,188; tennis, 135,702; golf, 131.207, and ewimming and diving. 61,328.

There were sizable increases in the number of schools offering each of the top 10 sports except tennis.

"While schools have budget problems and some sports have been cut, schools are finding ways to keep programs afloat. The numbers are continuing to increase," Howard said.

In the listing of athletic participants by state, Texas was tops with 567,470. California followed with 489,617; New York, 296,438; Ohio, 277,526; Michigan, 261,573; Illinois, 253,408; Pennsylvania, 220,552; New Jerney, 180,613; Wisconsin, 159,951, and Florida, 157,325.

Aussies hammered by Dream Team II bombs

By BILL BARNARD AP Basketball Writer

TORONTO - Dream Team II is averaging three points per minute, which is entirely appropriate the way it was hitting 3-pointers against Australia.

After being criticized for miss-ing 13 of 16 3-pointers against Brazil on Sunday, the Americans greased their shooting arms Tuesday night, making 14 of 22 3-pointers in a 130-74 rout at the World Championship of Basketball.

"It shows our versatility." coach Don Nelson said. "We can go big or small and be devastating." Devastating indeed.

The spectacular outside shooting display was part of Dream Team II's 71 percent shooting overall, pushing its four-game average to 62 percent. The Americans are 1-0 in the three-game quarterfinal roundrobin.

The U.S. team is averaging 120.5 points in the 40-minute games, which are eight minutes shorter than a regulation NBA game. In a 48-minute game, the Americans are scoring at a 144-point pace.

Reggie Miller scored 23 of his 31 points in the first 11 minutes of the second half. It was a performance that reminded him of his 25-point fourth quarter in the playoffs against New York this year, when heckling from Knicks fan Spike Lee inspired Miller.

"I might have had a Spike Lee flashback," Miller said. "The day off (Monday) helped. Our legs got heavy against Brazil. I know my legs were heavy. We rested and got away from basketball for a little bit."

Miller and Mark Price both took six 3-pointers, and each made five of them.

and State Road 434) during the following times: Saturday, Aug. 13 and 20 - 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Sunday, Aug. 14 and 21 - 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.; Monday, Aug. 15, through Friday, Aug. 19-6 to 8 p.m.

PALCONS: League ages are 15 through 18 (birthdates be-tween Sept. 1, 1976, and Aug. 31, 1980). Girls who are league age 14 and are freshmen in high school may opt to participate in the Falcon division, which will play a competitive fastpitch season. The league fee is $65.

Price finished with 17 points and made six of seven shots overall, while Dan Majerle scored 14 points and Dominique Wilkins 13 on 5-for-5 shooting. All 12 members of Dream Team Il are now shooting better than 50 percent from the field, and they have surpassed Dream Team I's 117.3 average in the 1992 Olympics.

"We've got some great shoot-ers," Majerie said. "We'll dump it inside as much as possible, but if they double-down inside, we'll shoot it."

Andrew Gaze scored 23 points and Mark Bradtke 16 for Australia, which finished second behind Croatia in its preliminary pool.

Shaquille O'Neal, who went into the game leading the team with a 20.3 average, did not play in the second half and finished with six points in 11 minutes. He has been bothered by a stiff back.

In the final minutes, the crowd chanted "We want Shaq! We want Shaq!" but O'Neal shook his head.

Nelson said O'Neal kiddingly tried to get back into the game.

"With six, seven minutes left I sent a message to him through my assistant that it didn't warrant his playing." Nelson said. "He sent a message back that he wanted one dunk. As the head coach, I decided not to accomodate him."

Next up for the United States. which beat China by 55 points earlier in the tournament, is Puerto Rico, a 101-85 loser to Russia on Tuesday, as the quarterfinals continue tonight. The Americans face Russia on Friday, followed by the semifinals on Saturday and the gold-medal game Sunday.

The other quarterfinal pool resumes play Wednesday night with Croatia playing Canada and Greece facing China.

slot after he and Burkett swapped a little paint coming out of turn four. Despite a late-race charge, Keene was not able to close on Balough. "Ronnie and I got together when we were doing some three abreast racing with a lapped car," said Keene, a former All-Pro Series champion. "We touched just enough for me to knock the toe-in out of whack." Keene took the checkers less than three car lengths behind Balough. The lead pair was followed to victory lane by Burkett, Ricky Wood, and Joe Buono.

"We were in the race for about the first 40 or 50 laps," said Burkett, who hadn't raced at the Oriando speedplant in almost seven months. "We made a bad judgement call and elected not to put any sway bar in the car. Toward the end of the race, with the track being slick, the car went away on us. About a quarter turn of the bar might just have helped us tonight." Other drivers also found the track slick due to rain earlier in the day.

"It was a little tough getting around on the outside." said Wood, the current FASCAR Late Model points leader. "Everything considered, though, I feel good about finishing fourth. Even though the car developed a little miss halfway through the race, it still ran pretty good." Orr wasn't as fortunate.

"Boy, what a week," said Orr. a two-time Late Model Triple Crown champion. "It started on Wednesday. I was testing David's (Russell, Orr's Horsen Around Farms teammate) car at New Smyrna Speedway and I dropped the rear end.

"Tonight, we were running real good and the ignition went on us. I feel like I've been jinxed. Good things have to happen now.

Rounding out the field behind the top five were Bruce Everett. Eddie Perry, John Smith, Joe Yarbrough, Tuffy Hester, Mack Hanbury, Hal Perry, Orr, Bobby Lyons, Ted Head, Ed Meridith. and Jim Groff.

The race, which saw six caution periods and three lead changes, took 35 minutes to complete. Balough picked up $2,000 for his win.

Other feature event winners were Meridith (Modifieds), Bobby Scars (Mini Stocks), Bobby Stevens (Bombers). Barbara Pierce (Sportsman). Gary Schlichter (Limited Late Models). John Pregont (Run-Abouts), and Larry Wilson (Mini-Bombers).

Cook of the Week Expectant mom learns recipe for waiting SANFORD - Cook of the Week Cheryl Houck believes in the phrase "Good things come to those who walt." And, she has good reason as she is expecting her first child. As she awaits her Dec. 13 due date Houck says, "I'm nervous and excited both at the same time."

Houck is originally from Massachusetts, however, she has been a Floridian for the past 21 years. She has made Sanford her home for the last 12 years. She and her husband, Chad, are presently "house hunting" hoping to purchase a home before the baby arrives. "We have a two bedroom now," as she speaks about her apartment. "But we're both really ready for a place of our own." "We've grown tired of apartments." Houck continues to explain how she feels that "It's OK for awhile but it's nice to think about getting a nursery ready in our own home."

Houck is employed with Choo-Choo Car Wash in Sanford. She's been their order clerk for 31/2 years. "I plan to continue working as close to my due date as I can," says Houck. Her husband has been employed with Greenview Lawn Care for the past year-and-a-half. Houck enjoys spending the quiet time she knows she won't have too much longer, writing poetry and short stories. She also does sketchings that correlate with her writing. "I'm not a professional yet, however, I really do love writing my poems," says Houck. The Houcks spend most of their free time with friends and family as they await the arrival of their baby. "This is my mother's second grandchild and it's my husband's parents first grandchild. So everyone is very excited and anxious," Houck says. One of the recipes that Houck shares today is a childhood favorite. "Summer Slush was a great cool treat that my mom made for me and my sisters when we were younger and still living at home," says Houck. "It's really easy to make."

Another favorite is her recipe for Ambrosia Salad. "It seems like every time I make this salad I will have to bring some to work. My friends at work just love it. That truly is every woman's best compliment when it comes to her cooking." Houck concludes.

I live in south Florida, and there are a lot of retired seniors living here.

I was having dinner at a famous Miami Beach dell when an elderly woman with a cane passed my table. I overheard her ask a waiter where the ladies' room was. He pointed to a very steep staircase and walked away. I knew this lady would need some assistance, so I asked my waiter to offer her mine. She accepted, and I invited her to join me for dinner.

Over the next 21/2 hours, I learned about her life of 92 years. She had been a widow for 25 years, and had four children and 12 grandchildren. Only two of those people had remembered not. If you grow vegetables in your garden that you plan on cating, you've got your own health food store.

Plant your own health food store, harvest benefits

Studies have shown that fresh-grown produce can be much higher in vitamins and minerals than store bought produce. Part of the reason for this is that nutritional content declines over time, and when you pick your produce from the garden just before you eat it, the vegetables retain higher levels of nutrients. Take the tomato, for instance. A freshpicked, vine-ripened tomato can have up to three times the ascorbic acid (vitamin C) content of a supermarket tomato, depending on how it was grown. "The fresher the better" really is true.

Another advantage of garden fresh vegetables is the absence or at least the knowl-edge of what pesticides may have been applied. When produce comes from your garden, you know exacity what has been used to control any pests or diseases.

Cool your cukes

Whether you realize it or not. If you grow vegetables in our garden that you plan on ating, you've got your own up to 50 percent of their vitamin C content after 24 hours. Refrigeration at 43°F. slows that loss down to about 10 percent over 10 days.

Health experts (and mothers) are constantly remothers) are constantly re-minding us to est lots of fresh vegetables, and that often means we have to get them at the supermarket, which is fine. But during the summer, home gardens can provide fresh picked vegetables that can yield higher nutrient levels. You probably grow vegcan yield nigher nutrient levels. You probably grow veg-etables because you thought they simply tasted better. Well, they do, and they also are better for you; so take advantage of the summer's hervest. To help you realise how smart you are for cultivating your own health food store, the following is a list of some scential vitamins and minerals and the food sources they come from. Listed are the common garden vegetables you can grow and harvest for your healthy est-ing. For each element listed,

The yellow-pink color is appealing to the eye as the flavor is to the palate Frank peaches are different palate. Fresh peaches are readily available during July and August. With this in mind, enjoy them as often as possible while they are in their prime. They are great served as is or added to pudding or ice cream. They also make tasty additions to salads, cobblers, shortcakes, other desecrts, and add wonderful flavor to jams. Combine with other fruits such as raspberries or blueberries; they make delicious compotes, pies, crisps and

American family is no longer Ward, June, Wally and the Beav

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - For many Americans the memory of family life may resemble Ozzie and Harriet, but real life is beginning to look more like Murphy Brown.

Less than half of all American families these days have children under 18 living at home, and of those that do, one-third are single parents.

A new Census Bureau study of families and households found one tradition that still holds. though - when there is a single parent, it's usually Mom.

The annual analysis of households and families, released Tuesday, recorded 96.4 million households as of last year, including 68.1 million family households. That means families constitute about 71 percent of households, down from 81 percent in 1970.

And of the 68.1 million families, 33.3 million have children under age 18, while the majority, 34.9 million, had none under 18 at home.

By contrast, in 1970 America had 51.5 million family households, including 28.7 million with children and 22.7 million without.

"The Ozzie and Harriet or Ward and June Cleaver family has probably never been a majority of American households at any time in the past, but it certainly has declined," in recent decades, said Census researcher Steve W. Rawlings.

"When we are asked what is the typical family, we usually waffle and say we don't define it." Rawlings said. "Families come in many varieties." and the bureau doesn't want to say that is typical, traditional, normal or average.

If the perky two-parent family with kids that filled TV screens decades ago is passe, TV show "Murphy Brown," whose main character is a TV newswoman, reflects a modern trend - the single parent.

The bureau found 10.9 million single parents raising children last year, up from 3.8 million in 1970. That included 9.3 million women and 1.6 million men, up from 3.4 million and 393,000 respectively. The 86 percent of single-parent families headed by mothers hasn't changed much since 1970, when their share was 90 percent.

"Most people become single parents through births out-of-wedlock or divorce," Rawlings said. "A much smaller share is accounted for by separation or widowhood." "This was really something that came to center stage ... during the decade of the 1970s," he said, and it has "resulted in a pretty profound change, in terms of day-to-day life experiences of parents, relatives, children and society at large."

Blacks have a greater share of one-parent families, although white one-parent families outnumber blacks 7.2 million to 3.4 million.

Single-parent families constitute 24.5 percent of all white families with children, while 63 percent of black families with children live with only one parent. The corresponding proportions in 1970 were 10 percent for whites and 36 percent for blacks.

Hispanics, who can be members of any racial group, have 1.3 million single-parent families, 35 percent of all families with children. Figures for 1970 were not available.

A family is defined by the Census Bureau as a group of two persons or more who are related by birth, marriage or adoption and residing together. A household consists of all the persons who occupy a housing unit, whether related or not.

Other findings of the report: "Household and Family Characteristics: March 1993," included: -There were 28.2 million non-family households in 1993, most of which were people living alone. The increase in people living alone leveled off between 1992 and 1993, but Rawlings declined to see any trend in one year's figures. .-The median age of householders was 45.9, up from 45.3 in 1990 but below the median of 48.1 in 1970.

The median age had been dropping as the massive postwar baby boom generation began forming households. It has now begun to edge up as that group ages and the smaller group behind them forms their own households.

DENVER - On some nights at Smiley's Laundromat on Denver's East Colfax Avenue, you can hear poetry over sloshing suds and the spin cycle. ,

As feedback squeals through an amplifier, a dozen would-be poets lean against vibrating washers, dragging on cigarettes and waiting to stage up to the mike.

cheering. The spectators are prone to rapid mood swings. The slam phenomenon began at Chicago's Green Mill Tavern in 1984. It is now all the rage in 25 states, especially with the Honest and intellectual to someone.

I call myself an alarm clock; To prove I'm asleep." Henry Alarmciock, 22, is a regular on the slam circuit. He and Christie both have won Denver slams and have qualified for the national slam championship this summer in Asheville, N.C.

Christie likens slams to other art competitions - Battle of the Bands, Comedy Sports. The fast pace keeps the attention focused, she said.

Critics say the slam is not necessarily every poet's forum. "Ego, style identification, put-ting somebody up as No. 1 ...

poetry slams have all those things that Americans love, but really aren't conducive to community, inclusivity," said Cyn-thia Payne, who has read at

While Payne describes the scene as a melting pot, it mirrors the Beat tradition of being mostly male.

"There's a friendly confrontation going on within the younger poets who are saying. 'Hey guys, yeah, you're great, but there's another side to the coin here. and that's women."" In nearby Boulder, the Naropa

Institute and its Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics are celebrating their 20th anniversary this summer with a tribute to Allen Ginsberg. "Beats & Other Rebel Angeis" also features Marianne Paithfull, Philip Glass and Lawrence Ferlinghetti.

Naropa's Ivan Suvanjieff said much like the Beat posts, the new poets of the so-called "Gen-eration X" are outsiders defining life on their terms.

"Poetry is about looking for something real," said Suvanieff. "I think sizes, these new forms like spoken word, it's all marketing to lure this new generation," he said. "They think back to high school teachers who get up there and bore people to death with poetry."

And with large crowds showing up at slams, what Ferlinghetti said in the '50s could be true today: "My whole kick has been oral poetry. The poets today are talking to themselves. They have no other audience. We're trying to cap-ture an audience."

Weighing the risks of disc surgery

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm scheduled to have repair of a double radiculopathy soon. I'm naturaly apprehensive and wonder if this will eradicate the pain in my neck, shoulders and arm. A neurosurgeon is to do the pro-cedure and assures me I will be back to normal activity in three weeks. Your comments?

DEAR READER: When spinal nerves are pinched, tingling. numbness and pain may result. If the pinching is caused by a herniated disc, surgery to repair the disc may cure the condition.

If your neurosurgeon assures you that all will be well after the operation, I believe that you should proceed as planned. Of course, no one can guarantee you a favorable result from such serious surgery but, when properly performed, these operations carry a high rate of suc-CCSS.

To ease your apprehensions, you may be relieved to get a confirmatory opinion from an orthopedic surgeon or another neurosurgeon.

To give you more information. I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach to Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long. self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Two of my three children have a skin condition referred to by their pediatrician as "chicken skin." The medical term. I believe, is keratosis pilaris, characterized by small bumps on the cheeks, arms and tops of the legs. It isn't bothersome except for the ap-pearance. Please explain the condition and its treatment. Will it go away in time? DEAR READER: Keratosis pilaris is a common skin disorder of unknown cause, marked by multiple, small, pointed plugs that fill the hair follicles, usually on the cheeks, upper arms. thighs, and buttocks. They are worse in the winter and improve in the summer.

The main problem is cosmetic. The condition is harmless and patients often outgrow it.

Treatment, which is usually unnecessary and often unsatisfactory, consists of the application of moisturizing creams and lotions.
