For this is what all the First Primary campaigning is all about. Failure to nominate on Sept. 8th would force the run-off Second Primary on Sept. and state offices where none had existed before.

Interpretation of the registration statistics is already in full sway at all campaign headquarters. This year that crystal-hall gazing is more intense than otherwise as a major drive to persuade conservative registered Democrats to switch to the GOP

Fostered by the candidacy of former Federal Judge Harrold Carswell, whose nomination for the U.S. Supreme Court was denied approval by the U.S. Senate for a seat in that very body, it has had the formidable backing of Gov. Claude R. Kirk, Jr. and Yet it is shown to have been far from a success.

But in 1969 the GOP total was boosted by 112,000. Emergence of more registered Republicans was bound to take place as the GOF became a real political competitor and produced candidates for county This interpretation of the registration totals is more an exercise in the numbers game than in the

Kirk is not a comparitive unknown and untested political figure as he was in 1966 when intra-party feuding within the Democratic party opened the doors for a Republican victory. He is an incumbent governor seeking re-election. No one who has watched the Kirk performance during these past years would expect that his campaign would be either responsible or substantial. Thus it is not to be wondered at that he has, so as to whether or not they want a Second Primary toit appears, decided to ask for the nomination with

This has caused political observers in Florida to wonder if the Republicans could possibly be so enchanted by this performance - brilliant in promises, lacking in accomplishments — to be fooled. His "White Papers" in 1966 were appealing. Now they have been resurrected by such knowledgeable writers as John McDermott of the Miami Herald who wonders if they will not come back to haunt

It can be expected that his major rivals for the GOP gubernatorial nomination - Jack Eckerd, top rank business executive and Senator L. A. It would also allow the registered Republicans to decide on the basis of facts

Walking To Work

Emphasis on physical exercise is rampant. This is true especially of jogging and walking. But, strangely enough, people ride to golf courses, and may go round the links on carts. And hardly anyone, even in small towns, walks to work today. The idea of walking to work seems as appalling to the average man as most everyone walked to work in the days when parking and traffic were not problems. The lone exceptions were the doctors, obviously, and the stories and grandiose lizy-janes in his railed off sanctum, at the bank, with the adjoining mourner's bench, without being subjected to

PORT OF SANFORD

The Port of Sanford is located on the St. Johns River at Lake Monroe, on the Intercoastal Waterway System. Controlled depth is 12' 0". The newly constructed barge berth facility provides all of central Florida with a long-required modern, sheltered harbor and protected port complex.

An active focal point of marine activity in bustling central Florida the Port will see large increases in activity when the Cross Florida Barge Canal is completed. Extension of this vast waterway network east of Sanford will provide entrance and exit through the St. Johns River. Indian River Canal to Port Canaveral located at Florida's sprawling space center.

Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA), the agency representing the Port of Sanford, has long recognized the necessity of a barge port in central Florida — a facility to service the ever increasing demands of a tremendous industrial growth and population explosion. Progressive interests generated the required financing and work was begun. Completion of buildings and facilities in July, 1970 provides early use for organizations trading on the Intercoastal Waterway and St. Johns River prior to completion of the Cross Florida Barge Canal.

The central Florida area which will be served by the Port of Sanford, Cross Florida Barge Canal, St. Johns / Indian River Canal has evolved into a dynamic action center of all of Florida. Farming and citrus have given way to heavy tourism attractions such as Walt Disney World and industrial giants in the electronics field which serve the huge NASA effort at Kennedy Space Center, and other defense plants now located within a few miles.

The rapid industrial growth of metropolitan central Florida created the strong demand for low-cost water-borne transportation so that shipment and handling of raw materials and commodities could be made to a geographically central location. The Port of Sanford provides this vital link from central Florida to the rest of the world.

Be there tomorrow at the port - see the facility and help us welcome featured guest RAY OSBORNE, Lieutenant Governor of Florida. Time: 11:30 A.M. Come bring a friend or a group!
